MONEY FOR ELECTIONS ON USELESS ORDINANCES; NONE FOR GOOD ROADS

Commission Will Order Referendum Vote on Hicken Code.

But City Lacks Funds to Build Road to Steel Plant.

Contract for First Fifty Houses of Model Town Will Be Let.

The petition for the referendum on the Hicken liquor code is to be presented to the council at a meeting which has been called for 3 o'clock this afternoon.

Mayor Prince and Commissioner Hicken, father of the ordinance, stated this morning that they desire a special election called at the earliest possible moment to pass upon the ordinance. Their belief was that the other commissioners would indorse that view.

Yesterday afternoon Commissioner Murchison stated that no street car line will be built to New Duluth this year as the city has no funds with which to finish putting the roadway in shape.

Today the officials of the Minnesota Steel company announced that work will be started at once on the foundations for fifty new houses, which will form the nucleus of the "Model City" which the steel corporation will build at the steel plant. Bids have already been advertised for the grading of the streets and the laying of sewer, water and gas mains, costing approximately $100,000.

Commissioner Murchison estimates that $2,500 will be required to finish putting the road to New Duluth in shape for the laying of street car tracks.

The cost of the special election which the commissioners would hold without loss of time would be approximately $1,500, according to City Clerk Charles S. Palmer.

No Money for Roads.

The city has no money to spend in

HE WILL RUN AGAINST GAYNOR FOR MAYORALTY

JOHN PURROY MITCHEL, Nominated to Head Fusion Ticket in New York City.

J. P. MITCHEL HEADS TICKET

Nominated as Fusion Candidate for New York Mayoralty.

Whitman and McAneny Also Given Places on the List.

New York, Aug. 1.—John Purroy Mitchel, collector of the port of New York, was nominated for the office of mayor of New York early today on a fusion ticket.

Mr. Mitchel, a Democrat, 33 years old, was chosen by a committee of Republicans, Progressives and Independents organized to fight Tammany Hall at the coming city election.

District Attorney Charles S. Whitman, a Republican, defeated by Mitchel for the mayoralty nomination by a narrow margin, was renominated for the office of county prosecutor.

The rest of the city ticket chosen by the fusionists was:

Comptroller—William A. Prendergast.

President board of aldermen—George McAneny.

Borough presidents: Manhattan, Marcus M. Marks; Brooklyn, Lewis H. Pounds; Bronx, Cyrus C. Miller; Queens, Robert W. Higbie; Richmond, George Cromwell.

Since the Fusionists have no legal standing as a party, these candidates will be officially placed in nomination by petition.

Made Action Unanimous.

Mr. Mitchel was nominated by the fusion committee of 107 shortly before 2:20 o'clock this morning. Mr. Mitchel received 45 votes to 43 for Charles S.

CALUMET PRISONER TRIES TO SET DYNAMITE OFF IN GUARD HOUSE

MORE FUSSING OVER MULHALL

Lawyers Are Given Two Hours More for Cross-Examination.

Lobbyist Is Unable to Explain Some of His Stories.

Washington, Aug. 1. — The senate lobby committee started out again today with another disagreement about the cross-examination of Martin M. Mulhall.

After an executive session, the committee decided that the attorneys for the National Association of Manufacturers should have an additional two hours to examine the witnesses. The committee, however, put the questions.

The lawyers began to direct the inquiry to the National Council for Industrial Defense. Mulhall previously testified that a collector for that organization had told him it raised between $500,000 and $700,000 for lobby work. He stuck to his story that the organization was solely a paper one, in which a few officials of the National Association of Manufacturers became members.

Worried By Lawyers.

The lawyers worried Mulhall by asking him about a blacklist of congressmen put in the record two weeks ago. He could not explain the names of several Republicans alleged to have been put on the list by the Republican whip of the house.

When the committee questioned Mulhall on claims in his letters about naming chairmen and committees and placing friendly congressmen, the lawyers tried to pin him down to direct answers on how he expected to do

Twenty-Nine Arrests Have Been Made in Copper Strike.

Threats of Violence Are Likely to Prevent Troops' Removal.

Calumet, Mich., Aug. 1.—(Special to The Herald.) — A man arrested here last night was dispossessed of a stick of dynamite fitted with a detonation cap and a time fuse. The non-commissioned officer who arrested this man said the prisoner had tried to strike a match as the party approached the guardhouse. On this report there was based a belief that the man had intended to hurl the dynamite into the quarters of his captors.

A large revolver was found in the pocket of another prisoner.

The sheriff's office late this morning arrested Lygner Malkovich, a Croatian, in Calumet as one of the leaders in the first day's riots at the Calumet & Hecla shops and No. 2 shaft of the Conglomerate. The charge is felonious assault, conviction on which carries a penitentiary sentence. This makes twenty-nine arrests in connection with strike rioting. The prosecuting attorney's office has arranged no dates for examinations as yet, and is being criticized therefor.

Union Protests Arrests.

Eight arrests were made at the Red Jacket shaft near Calumet, search of one of the prisoners revealing a capped and fused stick of dynamite. News of the arrests brought immediate protests from union headquarters, the Red Jacket prisoners being the first taken exclusively by the militia.

Friends of the arrested men gathered in such numbers about the shaft that Capt. Blackman of the Jackson company notified brigade headquarters. A squad of mounted signal men, armed with riot sticks was sent to the place on the trot, instructed to keep the crowds moving.

Infantry reinforcements were held in

HARD COAL TRUST IS ALLEGED IN MEASURE PRESENTED IN HOUSE

Murray Charges Seven Related Railroads Control Product.

Claims Government Already Has Data to Prove Charges.

Wants Immediate Investigation of Alleged Combine.

Washington, Aug. 1.—Investigation of the hard coal "trust" was proposed in a resolution today by Representative Murray of Massachusetts. It calls on the department of commerce, the department of labor and the interstate commerce commission for information as to the ownership of anthracite land, by railroads, and as to prices and cost of production.

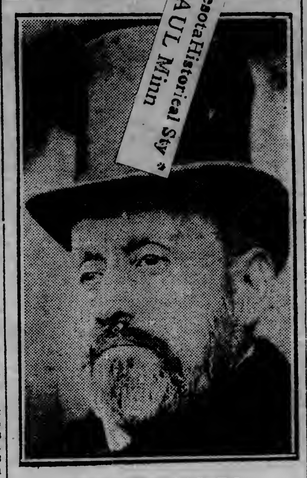
In a statement accompanying the resolution, Representative Murray declared facts in possession of the departments would prove one of the most complete monopolies in existence.

"I have every reason to believe," he said, "that there now is in the executive departments enough data to show that more than 90 per cent of the available anthracite and between 85 and 90 per cent of the anthracite shipped yearly is in the control of the seven railroad systems which form the only means of transporting the coal to market.

"These roads are so bound together by common interests, by interlocking directorates, and by agreements of various kinds, that they act as a unit in controlling the price of anthracite coal."

The department of justice has been conducting an independent investigation for some time.

STORMY PETREL OF SOUTH AMERICA BACK ON JOB



CIPRIANO CASTRO, Exiled Ex-President of Venezuela.

MAIL CARRIER GIVES MURDER CASE CLEW

Says He Saw Negro in Army Uniform Near Scene of Crime.

Chicago, Aug. 1.—Information which it is hoped may be of use to the police in their search for the murderer of Bennie Holstein, the 14-year-old Morgan Park boy, whose body was found last Monday, was supplied today by David Herriet, postmaster of the village.

Mr. Herriet said that one of the mail carriers in his office reported to him that he had seen three strange negroes on the day the finding of the Holstein boy's body, walking away from the place where the body was afterward found. One of the negroes wore an army hat and khaki trousers.

Big Canadian Mill Burns.

Cranbrook, Can., Aug. -.—The Standard Lumber company's mill two miles south of here, one of the largest mills in Western Canada, was completely destroyed by fire early today. The loss is $50,000. The fire started from an overheated machine.

MAN 80 YEARS OLD IS ACCUSED OF DESERTION

Arrested in Kansas for Leaving Bride After One Year.

Medicine Lodge, Kan., Aug. 1.—William Brown, 80 years of age, was arrested here charged with wife desertion. He married a woman 50 years old in Denver a year ago. They separated after a few months and he returned to his home here. He is believed to be the oldest man ever arrested in Kansas for the offense charged.

ZION CITY COUNCIL EXPELS ALDERMAN

Declares Dowie Protege "Unfit" to Sit With "Honest Men."

Zion City, Ill., Aug. 1.—By a vote of 6 to 2 the city council last night expelled Alderman Arthur Stevenson of the Second ward, charging that he was "unfit" to sit with "honest men."

The action was taken after the body had listened to the testimony of a number of witnesses who accused the alderman of fraud in connection with the handling of returns at the municipal election last April. Stevenson was one of the committee of three which handled the returns.

The resolution attacking the moral character of Alderman Stevenson and declaring him to be "unfit" to sit with "honest men" was introduced in the city council by Alderman Theodore Booker.

Stevenson made no effort to defend himself before the city council.

He was brought to Zion City from England ten years ago by the late Dr. Alexander Dowie and for several years was manager of the Zion City lace works.

HOUSE COMMITTEE WANTS TO HEAR ABOUT MEXICO, TOO

Decides to Ask Ambassador to Tell His Story Once More.

President Is Unmoved By Report Made By Diplomat.

Washington, Aug. 1.—The house foreign affairs committee today decided to ask Ambassador Henry Lane Wilson to appear and outline his views on Mexico. The ambassador may meet the committee tomorrow.

Chairman Flood made it clear that the administration was determined not to recognize the Huerta government and that Secretary Bryan contemplates an attempt to get a valid, binding election.

That it might proceed immediately and intelligently if the necessity for legislative action should arise the committee decided to inform itself accurately as to the conditions in Mexico.

The determination of the committee to call Ambassador Wilson developed considerable difference of opinion on whether his testimony in view of the wide variance between his views and those of President Wilson and Secretary Bryan, might not prove embarrassing to the administration.

Some Want to Wait.

Some members of the committee, strongly inclined to give the president and the state department a free hand in the situation, believed Ambassador Wilson should not be called until Secretary Bryan and the president could be consulted.

With that situation in mind, Chairman Flood will confer with the secretary and the president and an attempt

PHOTOGRAPHER SHOT BY FATHER OF GIRL

Two Wounds in Chicagoan's Abdomen May Not Be Fatal.

Chicago, Aug. 1.—The condition of Henry L. Gronimus, an elderly photographer who was shot twice in the abdomen last night by E. J. Duprey, was reported favorable today at a local hospital to which he was taken.

Duprey, who accused Gronimus of wronging Stella Duprey, daughter of the former, disappeared after the shooting and detectives have not yet been able to find him.

RATTLESNAKE KILLS GIRL BERRYPICKER.

La Crosse, Wis., Aug. 1.—Mary, 7-year-old daughter of Anton Erickson of the township of Bristow, near here, died today from the effects of a rattlesnake bite. The child was attacked by the reptile while she was picking blackberries and though medical help was prompt it failed to save her.

REAL ESTATE MEN REACH SASKATOON

Five Hundred and Seventy-Five Are on Tour of Western Canada.

Saskatoon, Sask., Aug. 1.—The delegates to the National Association of Real Estate Exchanges, whose convention was held in Winnipeg this week, today were given a great reception here. Five hundred and seventy-five delegates are on the trip, which is to cover the wheat belt of Western Canada.

An automobile tour of the city occupied the visitors early today, and at noon they were guests of the city at a luncheon. They will leave later in the day for Moose Jaw, which will be reached late tonight.

E. C. Kennedy of Memphis, Tenn., is continuing his campaign to obtain the convention at Memphis in 1916.

CASTRO LEADING FORCE OF INVADERS INTO VENEZUELA

President Gomez Calls on State Troops to Crush Movement.

Cruiser Des Moines Ready to Sail for That Country.

Caracas, Aug. 1.—In consequence of the outbreak of the revolution in Venezuela and the invasion of the country by forces under the leadership of Former President Cipriano Castro, the Federal council today constitutionally authorized President Juan Vicente Gomez to assume dictatorial powers until the movement is crushed.

President Gomez on Wednesday night sent the following telegram to the governors of all the Venezuelan states:

"Gen. Cipriano Castro, impelled by ambition and the craze for power, has provoked a revolution in this republic by ordering his partisans to arm themselves against the constitutional government.

"Already rebel forces in several localities have disturbed the public order.

"It is necessary for you to be alert and to act rapidly and energetically in assisting the government to crush the rebels.

"The peace of the country which conscientious Venezuelans are obliged to nourish, cannot be left at the mercy of adventurers who possess no idea of decoruin.

"I trust you will fulfill your duty."

The governors in their replies prom-

THIRD ATTEMPT AT SUICIDE SUCCEEDS

Mrs. Newman, Wife of Cleveland Banker, Shoots Herself.

Cleveland, Ohio, Aug. 1.—Mrs. Nellie Mae Newman, wife of Edward E. Newman, assistant secretary of the Cleveland Trust company, committed suicide early this morning by shooting herself at their home. She was 29 years old. She had suffered from melancholia. Twice within three months she attempted to kill herself.

HUMAN LIVES SNUFFED OUT

Milwaukee Has Ten Violent Deaths in Forty-Eight Hours.

Four Suicides, Four Drownings and Two Railway Fatalities.

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 1.—Three bodies were taken from Lake Michigan and one from Milwaukee river early today, making a total of ten violent deaths here within the last forty-eight hours. Besides four drownings there were four suicides and two deaths in railroad accidents.

The steamer Sheboygan picked up the body of a man about 55 years old, and the body was no sooner taken to the morgue than the second victim, Joseph Wesley, aged 25 who has been missing since Monday was found. Soon after another unidentified body was found in the lake.

Woman's Body Recovered.

The body of Mrs. Josephine Cook, which District Attorney Edward J. Yockey last night made ineffectual efforts to recover when he dove to the bottom of the Milwaukee river with his clothes on, also was taken from the water today.

The police today decided that an unidentified dead man who was found in a clump of bushes at Whitefish bay committed suicide. He was middle-aged, well dressed and wore an expensive watch and chain. A revolver was found at his side.

Another dead man was found 100 feet away. His body was propped against the bank on the lake and his coat was wrapped tightly about his head so as to muffle the sound of the revolver which was found within the coat.

BANGOR, PA., SUFFERS $750,000 FIRE LOSS

S. Flory Manufacturing Co. Plant Is Destroyed.

Bangor, Pa., Aug. 1.—Fire which started here late last night and threatened to destroy the Bangor business district was extinguished early today. The entire plant of the S. Flory Manufacturing company, operating machine and foundry shops, was destroyed with the exception of one small building, and the mill and grain elevator of the Flory Milling company also were burned. The total loss is estimated at $750,000.

The fire started in the plant of the Flory Manufacturing company and spread rapidly because of a scarcity of water. Assistance was summoned from Pen Argyl and Easton.

The Flory company manufactured farming implements, stationary engines and a general line of manufactures and mouldings. It did special work for concerns all over the country, and the patterns for this work were completely destroyed. The patterns alone were valued at $200,000. The Flory plant was located here when Bangor was a mere village.

CURRENCY LAW WAYS SMOOTH

Representative Palmer Is Confident There Will Be No Hitch.

Senator Tillman Urges Temporary Emergency Legislation.

Washington, Aug. 1.—Representative A. Mitchell Palmer, chairman of the house Democratic caucus, who was an early White House caller today, predicted smooth progress for the administration currency bill.

"The house caucus," he said, "at its meeting Aug. 11, will adopt the administration bill without material change, and will ask the banking and currency committee to report it quickly to the floor of the house. The bill will be passed and submitted to the senate just as soon as that body passes the tariff bill. I think the bill will become law during this session."

Tillman in a Hurry.

Currency legislation of a temporary nature, as a rider on the tariff bill, was urged upon President Wilson today by Senator Tillman as highly desirable. Upon leaving the White House, Senator Tillman made this explanation of his visit:

"The purpose of my visit to the White House was to suggest to the president the advisability of preparing an amendment to the tariff bill which would give us immediately money in the South and West for moving the crops, and jam both through the senate by night sessions if necessary. I told him the Republicans seemed to object more strenuously to currency legislation than to tariff legislation, and I felt the people of the country would applaud if we gave them a dose of both and held their noses until they swallowed it."

TODAY IN CONGRESS

SENATE.

Met at noon and resumed general debate on tariff bill.

Lobby committee continued cross-examination of Martin M. Mulhall.

Senator Catron opposed free wool and reductions in woolen manufactures.

CLIMAX TO LARK O' LAKE

Venetian Fete and Automobile Parade Features of Last Program.

Promises to Be Best of the Six Carnivals Staged.

The Lark o' The Lake will come to a grand climax tonight and tomorrow, with what is expected to be by far the best programs yet offered, in any of the six week end carnivals.

Tonight the Venetian fete will be held at the Boat club, and tomorrow night the automobile parade is expected to be fully as elaborate and beautiful.

Duluth's Venetian fete is the nucleus around which the Lark o' The Lake was built, and the committee is trying to make the automobile parade rival it for beauty.

The three judges for the automobile parade will be Mayor Prince, Commissioner Hicken and G. Roy Hall. The parade will assemble at London road and Superior street at 7:45 Saturday night and move promptly at 8 o'clock. The automobiles will be given their positions in the order in which they appear. Each auto owner will be given a number and be registered on his arrival. The parade is open to all kinds of cars, including commercial trucks and pleasure vehicles, the only requirement being that they be decorated. The committee has fifteen valuable prizes, and three cups for the winners in the different classes. Many of the cars have been registered in advance, but those that have not been will be admitted to the parade if they are on the ground in time to be registered.

BOOZE AND MARRIAGE LAWS ARE EFFECTIVE

Connecticut Liquor Men Will Test Anti-Free Lunch Statute.

New Haven, Conn., Aug. 1.—The law abolishing the free lunch in saloons, passed by the last Connecticut legislature, became effective today. The state liquor dealers' association proposes to test its constitutionality.

Another law which went into effect today makes five days' advance notice necessary to the issuing of a marriage license. It is provided, however, that any magistrate or minister called on to perform a ceremony may, if he deems it public policy or the physical condition of either party warrants an immediate marriage, order the town clerk to issue a license without delay.

Legation Bills Reported.

Washington, Aug. 1. — Chairman Flood of the house foreign affairs committee today presented favorable reports on bills to establish separate legations in Paraguay and Uruguay, and to make the legation at Madrid an embassy. Both bills were indorsed by the Democratic caucus yesterday and have passed the senate.

LOAN SHARK FINED $1,000 IN NEW JERSEY

Daniel H. Tolman, 61 Years Old, Is Put on Probation.

Trenton, N. J., Aug. 1.—Judge Gnitchel, in the Mercer county court, today fined Daniel H. Tolman of Montclair, N. J., $1,000, and placed him on probation for three years on a charge of conducting a so-called loan shark business in violation of the New Jersey law.

In passing sentence on Tolman, who is 61 years old, the judge said that if he had conducted a similar business in any part of the United States or Canada, the court would consider the probation broken and would cause his arrest and enforce the sentence.

Tolman's activities have been the cause of investigation in numerous cities and have given him the sobriquet of "King of the Loan Sharks." He has made a fortune out of his business.

TRAINS FOR RANGE TOWNS

D., M. & N. Announces Improved Service for Eveleth and Biwabik.

Running Time Between Virginia and Duluth Is Also Shortened.

A change in the passenger train schedules of the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railroad, to take effect next Wednesday, will give Eveleth and Biwabik each one more train daily.

The running time between Virginia and Duluth will be shortened thirty-five minutes under the new arrangement.

The train leaving here at 7:58 p. m., beginning next Wednesday, will proceed to Eveleth, arriving there at 10:20 p. m. This train does not now go to Eveleth. When it makes that town it will be the third train daily to Eveleth.

The same train will go on to Biwabik, arriving there at 11:08 p. m. The town then will have two instead of one train daily. The other train leaves here at 7:40 a. m. and arrives in Biwabik at 11:20 a. m.

Coming back, the afternoon train will leave Eveleth at 4:28 p. m. and will arrive in Duluth at 6:46 p. m. The morning train out of Virginia will leave at 7:30 a. m. instead of 6:55, and will arrive in Duluth at the old time, 10:30 a. m.

The new arrangement will give the range towns more service and it will improve the service between Virginia and Duluth. The changes have been made to satisfy the wants of the people on the ranges who have business in Duluth. The new schedule also will make it easier for residents of Eveleth and Biwabik to come to Duluth to shop and return the same day.

Anoka, Minn., Aug. 1.—One man was killed, five were injured, one fatally, and twenty more narrowly escaped when the walls of an excavation being made to install a new boiler in the state asylum for the insane caved in late yesterday. Johnson was crushed to death beneath fifteen feet of debris.

NEW YORK TAXICAB ORDINANCE HELD-UP

Avalanche of Injunctions Secured By Hotel and Restaurant Men.

New York, Aug. 1.—An avalanche of injunctions served on the police today virtually prevented the enforcement of the new taxicab ordinance, which went into effect at midnight. The ordinance reduced fares about one-third and abolished the private stands operated by the larger hotels and restaurants.

The injunctions were obtained by the hotel and restaurant keepers, who hold that they are unable to give their guests proper cab service unless they furnish private stands for the taxicab companies.

FIGHTS BLIND PIG; HOUSE IS DESTROYED

Incendiaries Burn Home of Mayor Severson of Highwood.

Chicago, Aug. 1.—The home of Mayor Severson of Highwood, Ill., was destroyed by fire today. It is believed to have been due to incendiarism, supposed to have been incited by the mayor's recent opposition to "blind-pigs" in the village.

Mayor Severson and members of his family were obliged to flee from the burning house scantily clad. Two empty cans, which had contained kerosene, were found near the buildings.

Highwood is near Fort Sheridan, headquarters for several thousand United States soldiers.

SEEK TO FIX CRIME ON THE DEFENDANT

Prosecution Continues Its Case in Phagan Murder Trial.

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 1.—After having devoted four days to presentation of evidence intended to show that Mary Phagan was murdered in a room on the second floor of the National Pencil company's plant, the state today directed its efforts toward fixing the crime upon Leo M. Frank, now on trial.

Mrs. Arthur White, wife of an employe of the factory, testified that when she visited the plant on the day before Mary's body was found, she saw Frank, the superintendent, and that he appeared nervous.

Mrs. White said that Frank was in his office, and that she asked where her husband was. The witness declared that Frank "jumped" when she spoke to him, and that she was compelled to repeat her question several times before he appeared to grasp her meaning.

FIND POSTOFFICE SAFE ALL LOADED

North Dakota Yeggmen Scared Away Just as Fuse Is Ready.

Kindred, N. D., Aug. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Oscar Swenson, passing the postoffice late last night, noticed an unusual light, and called R. Evingson, the postmaster. They entered and found the safe soaped and packed with nitro-glycerine and a fuse ready for firing. Some stamps and a small amount of money had been taken from the till before the yeggmen were frightened away.

LAY CORNER STONE.

Grand Forks Masons Hold Some Impressive Services.

Grand Forks, N. D., Aug. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Corn, an exemplification of plenty, and oil, exemplifying peace, were scattered and poured over the corner stone of the Masonic temple, laid with simple ceremony under the direction of W. L. Williamson, grand master of the state lodge. W. L. Stockwell, grand secretary, assisted in the ceremony, and he was one of the speakers.

The new home will not be completed till some time next year. It will be erected at a cost of about $200,000.

To Remove Co-operative Store.

Stady, N. D., Aug. 1.—The co-operative store at Howard is to be removed to some point farther West as a result of the differences of the farmers who own the store. They appear to have disagreed over the management and it is possible the store may be sold to a private owner to prevent further bitterness and dissension in that community.

In your hand you hold a five-cent piece.

Right at the grocer's hand is a moisture-proof package of Uneeda Biscuit. He hands you the package—you hand him the coin. A trifling transaction?

No! A remarkable one—for you have spent the smallest sum that will buy a package of good food; and the grocer has sold you the most nutritious food made from flour—as clean and crisp and delicious as it was when it came from the oven.

CONFERENCE OF SWEDISH BAPTISTS

Big Gathering of Churchmen Will Be Held Next September.

One of the largest gatherings of church people in the northwest during the present year will be held here from Sept. 9 to 14, when the annual conference of the Swedish Baptist churches of America will meet at the First Swedish Baptist church, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street.

More than 500 delegates from the United States and Canada will be in attendance at the conference, while from 400 to 500 members of the church living in the vicinity of Duluth will come here for the sessions. This will be the first time that the conference has been held in the state of Minnesota.

Arrangements for the gathering are now being made by Rev. Swaney Nelson, pastor of the local church, who is chairman of the committee in charge, the other members of which are: Andrew Bergquist, Charles Person and Louis Bergquist. The various societies of the church are also aiding in the work, while the Ladies' Aid society will serve refreshments during the conference.

The delegates will be cared for by West end residents, as was done during the annual convention of the State Sunday School association held here early in the spring. Meals will be served in the church basement by the women of the local congregation.

At the sessions to be held here during the conference the general missionary work of the church will be the chief business to be taken up. The church now has over 30,000 active members in the United States and Canada. Each church will be allowed one delegate for the first members and one delegate for every 100 members above that number.

The present officers of the conference are: Rev. Mr. Engstrand, Brooklyn, N. Y., president; Rev. Swaney Nelson, Duluth, vice president; Rev. J. O. Becklund, Boston, secretary, and Rev. C. W. Anderson, corresponding and financial secretary.

WILL ORGANIZE TO SUPPORT ORDINANCE.

With the filing of the referendum petition yesterday afternoon, temperance and church organizations of the West end propose to start an active campaign in behalf of the saloon ordinance, passed by the city commission on July 3.

It is planned by prominent workers to secure the services of A. C. Rankin of Chicago, who is now making a tour of the country. Mr. Rankin is a national figure in temperance work, and in addition to speaking in behalf of the ordinance, he will also organize a new temperance society in West Duluth.

Johnnson of Rock Island, Ill., a theological student, who has been in charge of the school.

PUBLIC MARKET TO OPEN SATURDAY.

The public market at Twenty-first avenue west and Superior street will be officially opened for the season tomorrow morning. The market place will keep open every day of the week, and farmers are urged to bring fruits and vegetables whenever they can. In this way at least two or three farmers will occupy the stands each day in the week.

CLOQUET'S LIBRARY IS VERY POPULAR

Seventh Annual Report Shows That Institution Gains in Favor.

Cloquet, Minn., Aug. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The seventeenth annual report of the Cloquet public library has just been completed by Miss H. Louise Lowe, the librarian. The institution has grown from a very small nucleus begun by benevolent men and women of the city in its early days to its present possessions, a brick building and grounds, the equal of any library in a city of this size in the state; nearly 5,000 books, a large number of periodicals, and exceptional service to the public. The present report shows the circulation to be the largest ever, 25,627 books having been issued, a gain of 3,000 over the largest previous circulation. Forty per cent of the whole amount was non-fiction a gain of 6 per cent over last year's non-fiction record. The average daily circulation was 84. Forty-seven per cent of the library's books are issued to boys and girls.

During five months of the year there was a circulating library of twenty-five Swedish books, and during three months the library has owned thirty-four Swedish books. The circulation for these during the eight months was 286. The Finnish books circulated 544 times, and the Norwegian books 680 times. The French books from the state library commission, twelve in number circulated ninety-three times. Two hundred and sixty-five books were issued on the teachers' special privilege cards.

Big Hely to Community.

During the year the library has been an immense help in the community as practical books on heating and plumbing, easy English for foreigners, books for farmers, books of interest to women, and books on potato growing and on many agricultural subjects have been secured and distributed. Talks on books for children were given before the Mothers' club, and also talks on books in all the grade schools, both public and parochial, and these will be continued the comin school year. The city libbary is coming to be more and more a place not only to seek entertainment in the way of reading, but a source of information on all practical subjects which interest the community.

Nine hundred and twenty-four books were added during the year, at a cost of $734.85. Sixty-eight dollars was paid out for repairs on books, and $658.66 for repairs and improvements on property. One of the improvements was an entire new low pressure steam heating plant.

TAX SUIT SETTLED.

Backus Interests and Koochiching County Have Reached Compromise.

International Falls, Minn., Aug. 1.—Koochiching counuty will receive $85,760 back taxes in settlement of the suit with the Minnesota & Power company, owned by the Backus' interests of Minneapolis, including the big dam and paper mill here.

The state tax commission and the attorney general recommended the settlement to County Attorney Jevne. The only compromise was in regard to the power company's real estate valuation, which was reduced from $690,000 to $600,000.

This puts an end to all litigation. The settlement represents all of the delinquent taxes of the Backus interests, with the exception of those in process of settlement.

The assessment of the International Bridge & Terminal company is pronounced invalid by the attorney general owing to the fact that it pays a gross earnings tax.

The total taxes which this settlement gives will amount to approximately $100,000 and will give financial relief to every village, township and school district in the county. In the stipulations of the settlement it is expressly stated that the basis of valuation used at this time shall be no criterion for future assessments.

SOUTH SHORE WRECK.

East Bound Passenger Train Ditched at Sanborn, Wis.

Sanborn, Wis., Aug. 1.—No one was injured when the east-bound passenger train of the South Shore railroad was ditched here Wednesday night and all cars except the sleeper left the track and traffic was badly tied up for nearly a day. Trains were detoured through Ashland while a special train from Duluth late Wednesday picked up the sleeping car and passengers here and going back to Ripon went over the Omaha and Northwestern tracks to Saxon, where they were turned over to the South Shore.

RUNAWAY VICTIM.

Father of Duluth Nun and Polk County Pioneer, Killed.

Crookston, Minn., Aug. 1.—Former County Commissioner Remi Fortier for thirty-five years a resident of Polk county is dead as the result of injuries sustained Tuesday evening in a runaway here. He was 69 years old, and came to Polk county thirty-five years ago, locating at Gentilly and moving to Crookston several years ago. He leaves a wife and a family of eleven children, by a former marriage, as follows: Remi, Isadore, Medric, Mrs. Paul Charbeneau and Josephine, of Crookston; Anne (Sister Blase), a nun at Duluth, who arrived Wednesday evening, Joseph of Pullman, Wash., Mrs. Fred Toupin of Fort Francis, who is now visiting in the city, Mrs. Mose LaFave and Mrs. Joseph Amiot of Fairfax township, and Stanislaus of Gentilly.

KENOSHAN FATALLY STABBED IN BRAWL.

Kenosha, Wis., Aug. 1.—Otto Langenbach, 29 years old, widely known in Kenosha, died at a hospital as a result of injuries received late Wednesday night, when he was stabbed in the heart by Peter Jarvie, 18 years old, employed on the farm of State Senator Isaac T. Bishop in the town of Somers.

Benjamin Bishop, a son of the senator is also in custody, but no formal charge has been preferred against him.

The stabbing came as a result of a quarrel which started in the barroom of a local hotel.

FARGOAN ALSO "STUNG."

Reported to Have Traded Wisconsin Lands for Arizona Horses.

Fargo, N. D., Aug. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—J. F. Brauer of Fargo is reported to be among the large number of Dakotans and Minnesotans alleged to have traded land for horses in Coconio county, Ariz. Mr. Brauer was in Minneapolis on business which took him by the stockyards, where he became acquainted with the horse dealer. Brauer had some land in Wisconsin and it is said the trade was made in the office of a Minneapolis professional man who was a personal friend of Brauer and claimed to know that the horseman was honest. Brauer will probably seek the co-operation of this friend in straightening matters out. Brauer was more foresighted than Halvorsen of Hettinger and others alleged to have been "stung," as he secured a clause in the bill of the sale to the effect the traders would round up the horses for him; but if there are no horses, he does not expect a great deal of advantage from that. The alleged swindle is being investigated by a number of North Dakotans who now hold bills of sale for horses for which they have given deeds to lands.

WILL ADD TO ELKS' CLUB

Either Two or Four Additional Stories Will Be Built.

Gymnasium, Swimming Pool and Rooms for Transient Elks.

The Elks are planning an addition of two or four stories to the present building, next to the board of trade.

The building is now two stories high but it has a foundation and a heating plant large enough to take care of a seven-story building. This was provided for when the building was built as at that time it was predicted that Duluth would need a larger home for her Elks and the visiting members of the order.

It is the purpose of the board to convert the additional floors into sleeping rooms for transient Elks. A swimming pool and gymnasium will also be provided. The cost for two floors is estimated at $20,000.

With the Kitchi Gammi club going out to Ninth avenue east and Superior street and with the few rooms at the Commercial club permanently occupied, Duluth Elks say there is need for more accommodations in the down town district. Visiting Elks now have no other place to go than the hotels for accommodations and the Duluth lodge intends that they shall have the use of the new home. The rooms in the addition would not be rented to resident Elks for permanent occupancy but would be kept available for the visitors.

The addition will satisfy a long felt want to traveling Elks and to the Duluthians who have tried to make the visits of their brothers here as pleasant as possible. It will afford the visitors a better chance to get acquainted with the local members of the lodge and will furnish a place that is more homelike for the transients than the hotels.

Minneapolis Elks have recently erected a magnificent new home and Elks from all parts of the country came to view it. It has facilities for taking care of transient guests and has the best appointments in cafe service.

Duluth wants the same kind of a home and the board of trustees is working toward that end.

William Burgess, W. H. Alexander and J. L. Crawford are the members of the board of trustees for the Duluth lodge.

FITZGERALD PARTLY WINS ECONOMY FIGHT

Gets Public Buildings Bill Defeated in House Caucus.

Washington, Aug. 1.—Leading an economy fight against more appropriations for public buildings, Chairman Fitzgerald of the house appropriations committee emerged from a Democartic caucus with a half victory over Chairman Frank Clark of the public buildings committee. The latter's resolution to direct the appropriations committee to report a public building bill was defeated 68 to 64, but a tentative agreement was reached later that public building appropriations will be given immediate consideration by the appropriations committee with a view to recommending further expenditures.

The Democrats agreed to let down the bars for the passage of several important bills at this session of congress. These include the so-called Hetch Hetchy bill, authorizing San Francisco to use part of the Hetch Hetchy valley for a water reservoir; the bill to elevate the American legation at Spain to the rank of an embassy, and the bill to provide for an American minister to Paraguay.

Democrats who supported Mr. Clark in his fight for public building appropriations declared congress had authorized the projects in a previous bill and should be willing now to appropriate money for the beginning of these authorized buildings.

The caucus was marked by some strong political discussion.

MORGAN TO BE SUED FOR AUTO ACCIDENT.

New York, Aug. 1.—J. Pierpont Morgan will be sued for $5,000 damages by Solomon Kuntsler, whose 14-year-old son, Jacob, said that he was knocked down by Mr. Morgan's automobile on the street here last month. The car was driven by Mr. Morgan's sister, Mrs. Herbert L. Satterlee. Kuntsler was authorized by the court to bring the suit on behalf of his son.

WOMAN INDICTED FOR HUSBAND'S DEATH.

Chicago, Aug. 1.—An indictment charging Mrs. August Dietz and George Nurnberg with the murder of George Dietz, the woman's husband, has been returned by the grand jury. Dietz was found murdered in his home here on the morning of April 14. His skull had been crushed. Mrs. Dietz was held to the grand jury by a coroner's jury, but Nurnberg was exonerated at that time.

QUIT FEDERAL JOBS.

Several Officials Make Way for Their Successors.

Washington, Aug. 1.—Yesterday was quitting day for several government officials. James A. Fowler of Knoxville, Tenn., retired as assistant to the attorney general after a two-year record-breaking "trust-busting" campaign under both Wickersham and McReynolds. G. Carroll Todd of New York has been nominated as his successor.

James F. Curtis of Boston stepped out of the treasury department as assistant secretary in charge of customs after nearly a four-year term, during which the customs service has been revolutionized and reformed. Charles Sumner Hamlin of Boston succeeded Mr. Curtis today.

Frank Cole of New York resigned as private secretary to Attorney General McReynolds, a position which he held during the entire four years' term of Former Attorney General Wickersham. His successor has not been chosen.

M'KENZIE COUNTY SETTLERS MEETING

Farmers' Protective Association Working Against Cattle Men.

Schafer, N. D., Aug. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The recently organized Farmers' Protective association will meet here tomorrow in its first regular session. M. F. Higgins is president and P. G. Arnstad, secretary-treasurer. There are vice presidents in several localities in McKenzie county to increase the present membership of sixty-five to several hundred.

Cattlemen vs. Settlers.

The organization is the outgrowth of the old fight between the settlers and the cattlemen. Many cattle range wild and do immense damage to the crops of the settlers. Differences over these depredations have resulted in many mixups. The settlers finally concluded an effective organization was the best method of controlling the situation. They will make an effort to enforce the herd law.

Another object of the meeting is to interest the county commissioners in a plan to make a levy, under the new law for that purpose, for improving farming conditions. It is probable the local association will become affiliated with the North Dakota Better Farming movement.

NEWSPAPER WINS IN ADVERTISER'S SUIT

Right to Reject Trading Stamp Ads Offered Is Upheld.

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 1.—That newspapers have the right to decline objectionable advertising matter submitted to them under advertising contracts is the effect of a decision handed down in district court by Judge Quinn of Fairmont, Minn., who sat in Ramsey county district court last spring.

J. C. La Bossiere, proprietor of a local department store, tendered under a yearly advertising contract, advertising matter to the St. Paul Dispatch and Pioneer Press which was deemed objectionable and which was refused on the ground that it contained references to trading stamps.

Suit was brought by the Dispatch Printing company to recover moneys due under the advertising contract. J. C. La Bossiere claimed that the yearly contract was void and that the Dispatch and Pioneer Press had broken it by rejecting the advertising copy referring to trading stamps.

The court held the contract valid and that the reservation to the publisher of the right to reject objectionable advertising did not render the contract void for uncertainty or lack of mutuality.

The court held that the publisher had the right to reject the advertisement in question upon the ground that its contract provided that it could reject objectionable advertising, and also upon the further ground that there existed a well known custom in St. Paul that daily newspapers would not accept trading stamp advertising and that Mr. La Bossiere had full knowledge of this custom when he entered into the contract.

STATE TREASURER TO OFFER CERTIFICATES.

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 1.—On Monday Aug. 11, the state board of control will offer for sale to the general public $100,000 in educational building certificates, running for three years and bearing 5 per cent interest. The sale will be conducted by State Treasurer Smith and the certificates will be sold in denominations of $100 and multiples thereof.

The action of the board of control is a result of its failure to secure bids when these certificates were offered for sale on June 16.

FIVE GIVE BLOOD BUT PATIENT DIES.

New York, Aug. 1.—Five offerings of blood by members of the wealthy Middleton family failed to save the life of Leigh Bourne Middleton. For ten days he had been at death's door with aplastic anaemia, or poverty of blood, which frequent transfusions were unable to appease. His father, brother, wife, cousin and a college mate all poured their blood into his veins within ten days.

Young Middleton was first stricken while on his wedding trip, two months ago. His bride gave 15 per cent of her blood supply and his mother wanted to add a quantity of her blood to that already sacrificed, but physicians forbade it.

"LOST BRIDE" IS CLOSED INCIDENT.

Neodesha, Kan., Aug. 1.—Officers here have notified the sheriff of Allen county that they could arrest H. M. McCord, the alleged bride abductor, if he is wanted. The sheriff refused to authorize the arrest, saying the matter probably will be dropped. Mrs. Mary Armstrong Dean, the lost bride, and her husband are reconciled and living together, and the excitement is over.

Escanaba Teamster Killed.

Escanaba, Mich., Aug. 1.—Oscar Bomain, a teamster, was found in an unconscious condition in the barn of his employer C. Nee. It is supposed he received injuries from being kicked or stepped on by one of the horses. He died shortly after being found.

Injured Doctor Dies.

Des Moines, Iowa, Aug. 1.—Dr. Charles E. Heintzman of Metamora, Ill., who was seriously injured near Grinnell, Iowa, recently when his car turned turtle, died at Mercy hospital yesterday. His daughter, Mary, was instantly killed at the time of the accident.

Quits Draying to Farm.

Cloquet, Minn., Aug. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Carl E. Johnson has sold his dray line and business to Peter Olson, for several years in charge of the freight warehouse at the union depot. "Carl's Dray Line" has been a successful business in the city for five years and the owner, who came here seventeen years ago as a young lad, has been a prominent business man. Mr. Johnson expects to engage in farming and contract work.

BILLION MARK WAS REACHED

Dominion's Foreign Trade Attains Figures That Pleases Canadians.

Labor Strikes Last Year Cost the Country Over $18,000,000.

Ottawa, Ont., Aug. 1.—The department of trade and commerce has issued a bulletin giving an analysis of Canada's trade for the last year. For the first time in the history of the country the billion mark has been reached. The total trade for the year was $1,079,934,078, as against $879,611,-838 for the previous year, an increase of over $200,000,000. The total imports were $678,587,617 and the exports $401,-346,401, while the amount of duty collected was $115,641,977. During the year the value of settlers' effects from the United States was placed at $10,-296,265. This bears testimony to the large influx of immigrants from the United States and the great value they are to Canada. Turning to Great Britain, it is observed that the amount of settlers' effects was $4,900,274, or less than one-half of that from the United States. The imports from the United States, as compared with Great Britain, are still more marked. From the United States the imports were valued at $442,213,343, an increase over the preceding year of over $75,000,000. The imports from Britain were $140,-177,842, or nearly $22,000,000 of an increase over the previous year. The total exports were $401,340,401. Of this amount, Great Britain purchased to the extent of $183,734,820 and the United States $158,605,800.

It will, therefore, be seen that while Canada's purchases from the United States are soaring upwards, the amount that the United States buys from Canada is comparatively small, being only a little more than one-third. On the other hand, Britain buys more from the United States than Canada buys from the motherland. It is all very well to talk of imperial trade, but there is no getting over the fact that the close connection of the two countries—Canada and the United States—makes for greater trade than any tinkering with the tariff can offset. While the trade figures for the current year may not be so large, on account of the money stringency, they will hold their own.

Labor Troubles.

The labor strikes in Canada for the last twelve years cos the country over $18,000,000. This is the estimate made by the labor department. During the twelve years there were in all 1,319 labor strikes, in which 319,880 men figured. Estimating that the average value of a working day was $2, the loss to the country is put at $18,000,000. The report throws a new light on the subject of strikes and emphasizes the great loss which they cause the country. As a result of this, it is quite possible that some new legislation may be proposed in the very near future dealing with the whole subject. Since the organization of the labor department and the more recent appointment of a minister of labor, much useful work has been done in preventing strikes and bringing the employes and the employers into closer relations than in the past. Another subject which the department has been actively engaged in is that of the high cost of living. Much material has been collected and published in this connection. At the present moment the minister of labor, Mr. Crothers, is visiting the Pacific coast for the purpose of inquiring into labor disputes in that province.

One complaint against the labor department by the labor unions is that the Dominion government through the immigration department is bringing to Canada artisans and laborers from the old countries, who go to the cities and join the ranks of unemployed. These men are brought here as agricultural workers, although they never did any farm work and have not the slightest intention of doing any. There is no doubt such men have a perfect right to come to Canada if they so desire, but what the representatives of labor in this country say is that the immigration department has no right, legally or otherwise, to aid in bringing them here. In some of the larger cities in Canada, particularly in the West, there are many unemployed, and, therefore, it is wrong to add to their numbers. Of course, the policy of the government is only to assist agricultural laborers coming to Canada, but a large number of those who offer as such have no knowledge of the farm. But it must be admitted on the other hand, that many who had previously no agricultural experience are doing exceedingly well on the land in the Canadian West.

Chinese Immigration.

In connection with the question of immigration, it might be pointed out that the large influx of Chinese is again creating some stir in Canada, particularly on the Pacific slope. Some years ago the government increased the poll tax from $100 to $500 per head. For a time this was a prohibitive tax, but during the last few years the employment agencies operating in this country, have neutralized its effect and the increase of arrivals from China has reached large proportions. Several suggestions have been made to counteract this. One is that a prohibitive act should be passed by the Dominion parliament. This is, of course, not a new idea, as it has always found advocates among labor representatives. Another suggestion is that the Chinese government should prohibit the export of its people under somewhat servile conditions. A third proposition put forward is that an understanding be reached between the Canadian and the Chinese governments along the lines of the Lemieux agreement with Japan. The agreement with Japan works out very satisfactorily. There has been no departure from it on the part of Japan, and it has now been in existence for a number of years. If China would agree to a similar arrangement, and there is no doubt it would, as the head tax is rather offensive to the authorities and the people of that country, it would reduce the influx of Chinese from several thousand a year to a paltry 400 or 500. At all events, the only remedy to shut out the influx of Chinese is either prohibition of an understanding with Japan. The agreement with Japan made applicable to China would be one that the people generally would favor, and therefore both countries would adopt it with very good results. In this way British Columbia to all intents and purposes might be made a white man's country. That cry has been the slogan of the west for over 30 years.

HORSE THAT KNOWS ITS MAIL ROUTE

Katy Makes No Mistakes and Gets Off in a Hurry.

Milwaukee, Wis, Aug. 1.—Katy is her name; she possesses unusual intelligence for one of her type, is eight years old, and ordinary looking. She is in the Milwaukee mail collecting service, the property of D. J. McCarthy. Katy, a white horse, is well known by sight to many Milwaukeeans, for she daily covers a large part of the downtown district north of the postoffice.

She knows the location of every mail box in her territory and needs no guiding rein to find them. In fact, she is capable of guiding a new collector over the route without assistance when her regular driver is off duty. She never misses a box, no difference how severe the weather, and always is patient and careful in going over the route and finds the mail box despite snow, rain, hail or sleet.

Her master says she learned where the mail boxes were after being driven only a few weeks. Now she knows what the traffic policemen's signals mean and observes them of her own accord, stopping and starting in the proper place. Her master takes considerable pride in her ability to do this, but adds that it took considerable sugar to get her started on this feat.

Katy keeps her master on a fast clip in collecting mail for she is always off in a hurry for the next box when she hears the one just visited closed and locked, be it around the corner, accross the street or a block distant, and though she often does this before her master regains his position in the wagon, she never has a collision with other vehicles, nor does she cause trouble to pedestrians. Her master says he has not had one accident or smash-up, all due to the sagacity of Katy.

John Vonier, another mail collector, has a horse that is trained along the same lines. His horse is a little more reckless and disregards street cars and other vehicles with utter abandon when heading for mail boxes without a guide. This horse has surprised many a pedestrian on Humboldt avenue, because of his manner of criss-crossing the street to reach boxes. He disregards all traffic ordinances.

SHE WILL NOT BE FOOLED AGAIN

Once Did Not Know Law and It Cost Her Heavily.

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 1.—The fall of 1909 saw the De Witt-McDonough fabric mills of Philadelphia running to capacity business so that Miss Margaret De Witt, who acted with power of attorney for her aged father in the business, decided to accept a position as instructor in the Westport High school in Kansas City. It was a fatal mistake. Now, after four years, three of which were spent in an arduous study of the law, Miss De Witt is ready to rectify this mistake and once and for all clear the name of De Witt from the roster of failures.

Miss De Witt has scarcely become acclimated to this city when she received word that her father was being pressed by creditors. The daughter had in the meantime, signed a contract as a teacher. Working through a lawyer in this city, she was stemming the tide against the mills when she suddenly received notice that her power of attorney had been revoked.

Ignorant of the fine points of interstate law, Miss De Witt was completely at sea. She had bought some property in Kansas City. She immediately turned this collateral into cash. With some of this cash, she states, she bought out Mr. McDonough, her father's partner, so that she could face the trouble unhindered.

But the case had gone too far. The creditors forced the mills into the hands of a receiver. Two weeks later Mr. De Witt died. It was thought the trouble had hastened his death.

Miss De Witt has just received the degree of LL.B., cum laude, from the Kansas City School of Law. The only woman graduate in the class of 48, Miss De Witt passed second highest, with an average of 95 per cent for the entire three-year course.

"I do not for a moment doubt," said Miss De Witt, "that if I had known then the law I know today, receivers never would have been appointed. It was a pure case of taking advantage of an old man.

"Of course," she continued, "this was not my only reason for taking a law course. I am always seeking information. It was this trait of mine that caused me to take a summer course at Oxford university, England, some six years ago.

"Yes, I expect to return to Philadelphia this summer. Of course, graduating from the school is but the first step. I will take the bar examination in the near future.

"When I get to Philadelphia, I intend to do my best to have the trouble at the mills reopened. They are still in the hands of a receiver. If I can do nothing else, I will close up the entire business.

"I have always liked teaching. It was this liking that made me accept the position in this city, when I should have stayed with my father."

Miss De Witt's mother died when she was still a child. She has always taken an active interest in her father's business affairs.

FAT MEN REDUCING WEIGHT BY DANCING.

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 1.—Dr. Otto Zeh of this city has a class of business men doing Salome dancing every morning to reduce fat and build up unusual muscles. His star pupil is Frank W. Schuster, a wholesale grocer, importer and club man, who weighs somewhere between 350 and 400 pounds—according to how regularly he does his dancing.

Dr. Zeh advised Mr. Schuster to take it up and Schuster complied. He found that when he went at it strong enough he could take off from five to ten pounds in a single dance.

Dr. Zeh observing the success of the experiment (the possibilities of which are said to have been discussed in medical circles for more than a year) advised others of his patients to take it up, with the result that he soon had a class of enthusiasts.

Some of them reported difficulties with their families, having been discovered in their dancing by uncomprehensive ones.

TO BE WEDDED AT LAST.

Broken Promise of Twenty-Three Years Ago to Be Redeemed.

New York, Aug. 1.—Passengers on the Minnetonka from London were much interested in the romance of Miss Bee Mann of London, who came to this country to wed her sweetheart of long ago, James Russell Ross of Islip, L. I.

When Mr. Ross left England twenty-three years ago he promised to return after he had made his fortune and marry Miss Mann, but he succumbed to many pins have I wasted during that did not go back.

Some time ago his wife died and he wrote to Miss Mann and asked her if she would let him redeem his broken promise. She came right over. She is 41 years old, but doesn't look it, and they are to be married at St. Mark's church in Islip, Aug. 3.

Mr. Ross met her at the pier. She did not recognize him and he had to introduce himself. There was nothing distant or chilly about their greetings after that, however.

APRICOTS TO GO OUT SOON

Season for Various Fruits Is Drawing to a Close.

Meat Prices Hold Up With Light Receipts By Packers.

The last of the apricots for the season are on the market today and those who wish to get them will have to hurry. The season is drawing to a close for various kinds of fruit and the thrifty housewife has but a short time to get her supply for the coming winter. The famous Deerwood raspberries are on the market now but will waft themselves away before long. At the present time they rule supreme in the raspberry market for they are famous for their fine quality.

The market is firm in plums but peaches are weaker than they were last week. Sour cherries are practically gone, some from Montana being the last. Lemons are stronger in price because of the hot weather, and the finest kind of cantaloupes are on the market now; coming all the way from Arizona. New apples are going fast and are of good and attractive quality. In the realm of potatoes the home grown spuds are just now the best value for the money asked for them.

Those who read the price list of the produce market will note that blackberries are available, the first this season and investigation will show that they are surprisingly good. Soon thimble-berries will follow and about that time the berry season will draw to an end. There has been something of a shortage in the berry market this year, for the reason, it is claimed, that the excessively hot weather has prohibited the usual growth. Vegetables are similarly affected, for almost all over the country where the large supply of vegetables usually come from, the drouth has been marked all season and the result is that there has been a scarcity all along the line.

Duluth has fared better than most places in this regard and where other cities have been groaning over a famine of some favored edible in the vegetable list, Duluth has not been restricted in the least. In some cases the supply has not been as ample as in other years, but generally speaking this city has been in a favorable position. In the matter of lemons, for instance, the Twin Cities were publishing reports a short time ago that they were in the throes of a lemon famine. Inquiry here gave evidence that Duluth had plenty of the citrus family, and that there was no danger of a famine.

Meats show no signs of declining, on the contrary, there is every indication that a further advance will come before long. The stockrooms of the various packing houses in Duluth, are almost empty all of the time, as receipts are unusually light, and have been for four weeks now. In fact there are days when there is not a pound of beef to be found in the storerooms, and it is claimed that receipts at the packing houses are fully as light. No reason worth mentioning is offered for this shortage. Hogs are also scarce and the price of pork is on the ascent.

Poultry also holds up well, for receipts are not what can be called liberal. Eggs remain firm at the present price and the indications are for a change upward. Butter is steady and there is no probability of a change in the near future.

STORY OF RESCUE WAS EXAGGERATED

The story of a daring rescue from drowning of two persons by a young man who could hardly swim, collapsed this morning after Mrs. John L. Ryan, 521 West Second street, saw an account in a morning paper of her rescue from drowning. The newspaper story stated that Mrs. Ryan and a young boy had been saved from drowning in Lake Nebagamon yesterday by Rudolph Shogran.

"In the first place," said Mrs. Ryan, "I was not at Lake Nebagamon yesterday. I was there Tuesday with a picnic from the First Methodist church. Then, too, I did not get out in the lake beyond my depth. And furthermore, if Mrs. S. W. Russell and I, with the help of some other women, had not shoved a raft out to Shogran and the little boy who was beyond his depth, neither would have got to shore. So, far from being rescued myself, I was instrumental in bringing Shogran and the little boy ashore.

"It was true that Shogran went out after the little boy who was in deep water and he brought him to the surface but as Shogran could swim but little he needed help to bring the lad in. The women came with the help in the shape of a raft."

MacDONALD FREED OF MURDER CHARGE.

Juneau, Alaska, Aug. 1.—Joseph MacDonald, general manager of the Consolidated Mining & Milling company of Guanajauto, Mex., and former superintendent of the Treadwell mine here, was acquitted by the jury that tried him on the charge of having murdered N. C. Jones, a mission worker, on May 14, 1906.

Mrs. MacDonald fainted when the verdict was announced.

MacDonald pleaded self-defense. His trouble with Jones was over Jones' insistence that the Treadwell mine be closed on Sunday. A coroner's jury exonerated MacDonald, but a grand jury indicted him and he paid his own extradition expenses from Mexico, where he was arrested.

He will return to Guanajauto with his family, except one daughter, who goes back to school in Massachusetts. MacDonald is one of the best-known mining men in the West.

ARRESTED FOR ROUT.

Twelve Illinois Strikers Face Common Law Charge.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 1.—Twelve striking shoe workers at Belleville, Ill., were arrested yesterday on a charge of "rout," an almost forgotten offense under the old English common law.

The offense of rout consists of the assemblage of men under a conspiracy to do an unlawful act. If the conspiracy is carried out the offense may be riot. If it is not carried out the offense is rout. The striking shoe workers are charged with conspiracy to injure August Reeder, a shoe worker.

Rout is punishable by a fine of $100 or four months' imprisonment.

No Women on Ohio Juries.

Springfield, Ohio, Aug. 1.—According to an opinion by Attorney General Lucey, women cannot serve on juries in this state. The opinion was given in answer to a letter written by Justice of Peace Robinson of Virginia, who inquired whether women could sit on juries in justice of the peace courts.

STREET CAR MEN ARE AWARDED MORE PAY

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 1.—Four thousand employes of the Metropolitan street railway of this city will receive a 5 per cent increase in salary as the result of an order made by Federal Judge Hook here. Judge Hook ordered the receivers of the company to grant the increase, which goes into effect today.

The action of the court was a surprise to the receivers, as there had been no recent demand for an increase from the employes. Seventy-two thousand dollars a year will be added to the salaries of the employes as the result of the order.

Cambridge, Minn., Aug. 1.—Carl R. Erickson of Isanti was committed to the detention hospital at Rochester Wednesday. The cause of his mental derangement appeared to be heat prostration. Erickson is about 23 years of age. He was examined in probate court and taken to Rochester by Sheriff Johnson and Deputy Andrew Dahlgren.

MEN STRIKE FOLLOWING FATAL ACCIDENT ON DOCKS

Two Killed and Five Injured When Ore Trains Collide.

Dock Workers Say Switching Crew Intentionally Bumped Cars.

Also Claim Five More Men Are Buried Under Ore.

No work is being done at the Allouez ore docks today as a result of an accident last evening by which two men were killed, one fatally injured and four others seriously hurt when a switch engine struck the cars on which the men were working.

The employes at the dock demand that new switching crews be employed and stricter discipline enforced. They say they will not return to work until their demands in that respect are met.

A startling note was given the discussion of the accident today when the men charged that the switching crew intentionally bumped the cars on which the men were working, the action being the result of a feud between the train crews and the laborers. Supt. Morrill and other Great Northern officials are conducting an investigation and they say if the men's story is substantiated they will request the authorities to take action against the switchmen for manslaughter. District Attorney Archie McKay and Coroner Downs are also investigating. The switchmen disappeared after the accident and have not reported since.

Five More Missing.

The dock laborers also claimed today that five more men are missing and the bodies must be in the ore or in the bay. Great Northern officials say a thorough search has been made and every man accounted for.

The fatal accident occurred at Allouez at 9 o'clock last evening. The cars on which the men were working were struck by a string of cars being shunted by a switch engine.

The dead:
NICK LIBEST.
JOHN KOSKI.

Fatally injured:
Isaac Wesa, leg cut off; will die.

Seriously injured: John Koshlo, Charles Stenholm, Reno Eskitine, and an unidentified man.

The men involved in the accident were working on cars standing without an engine on the dock. A switch engine shunted a string of cars on the same track. The cars were ahead of the engine and the engineer evidently misjudged his distance, the moving train striking the standing cars. The men working on the cars were thrown into the ore pockets with quantities of ore.

Rescue work began immediately after the accident, and when all were removed from the pockets, it was found that two were dead and five badly hurt. Wesa is at St. Mary's hospital and is expected to die.

readiness at brigade headquarters.

Sheriff Hepting of Keweenaw county made his first direct request for militia aid to Col. Heckel, in command of the Mohawk district, last night. The sheriff said a powder house there was in danger of attack and he asked that it be guarded until the explosives could be removed.

Expect Statements.

It was expected that the chief developments today would be the publication of the text of the answers of the mining companies and Federation of Miners to Governor Ferris' request that they each send a committee of five men to Lansing to confer with him and each other on their differences. It is admitted on both sides that the fate of the strike depends largely on what action Governor Ferris decides to take after considering these replies. It is unlikely the text of the replies and the governor's contemplated action will be made known before night.

Gen. Abbey this morning decided that in view of the strained situation at Calumet and the repeated discovery of dynamite plots the military forces at this point must be strengthened, and accordingly has armed and mounted the hospital corps of the Third infantry and will do the same with that of the First. One platoon of Battery A artillery moved here this morning from Quincy with fifty men and two guns, making 160 men and six guns at Calumet.

Further attempts at burning the houses of witnesses in riot cases were made last night at Superior and Palmesdale, but failed.

Troops Will Stay.

All hope of the federation that the governor could be induced to withdraw the troops was brought to an end last night when eight men, bearing federation membership cards and loaded with guns and dynamite, were arrested by the militia at the Red Jacket shaft, and with the arrest of four others this morning at South Hecla on a charge of threatening to dynamite company and private property and kill non-strikers.

Gen. Abbey says further plots of this sort will mean martial law. Sheriff Cruse has been informed of the shipment into the district of a large quantity of dynamite, and a quantity was stolen from the guarded powerhouse at the Hancock mine last night. The Dupont and Senter Powder works are being doubly guarded today.

All powder at the shafts in the Calumet district has been seized by the militia.

There is said to be no possibility of the Federation's securing an injunction to prevent the troops making arrests without civil warrants.

The number of men employed in the shops of the Calumet & Hecla Mining company at Calumet were about doubled today, and several hundred others are looking for work, among them being members of the Federation. Sentiment in the Federation against a continuance of the strike is daily growing stronger, and Federation officials are having a hard time to keep the men lined up. Every day when marches are held more and more members of the union refuse to march; and the swamps about Ahmeek, Allouez and Calumet are filled with hiding men during the hours of daylight.

Three more arrests were made later this morning as a result of alleged threats of dynamiting.

Mine Guards Redoubled.

Shipping of dynamite by strikers caused redoubling of the guards at most of the mine workings today. The mining companies probably will organize an armed force among the workmen who apply for labor, but for whom no work is available as yet.

The shops of the Baltic, Trimountain and Champion mines of the Copper Range Consolidated reopened today with a large force of men, and pumping was resumed at Tamarack No. 1 shaft. Victoria mine now has a larger force of men than ever before in its history. This mine is in an isolated portion of Ontonagon county, and the ranks of the workers are being swelled by mine workers from Houghton county. Full mining operations are under way at that property, which the strikers have not yet bothered with.

MONEY FOR ELECTIONS ON USELESS ORDINANCES

road improvements which would give a greater impetus than any one other factor to further the development of the western end of the city, but the commissioners would hasten to call a special election to pass upon a useless ordinance, ordering an expenditure of $1,500.

The head of the works division states that funds are not available to make improvements which would insure a street car line to a part of the city which has been growing apace in the last two or three years and which is developing at an increased rate every month, yet the council would not lose a minute to call a special election to get an expression of opinion upon a liquor code which can serve no practical purpose, as the liquor traffic can be regulated to the last turn with present laws and the powers now vested in the commission. There is cash for an election which can in no way aid the welfare and development of the city, but there is no cash for improvements which would produce untold benefits in making Duluth a bigger, better and more prosperous municipality.

The number of signers to the referendum petition is not definitely known, but it is reported that the petition has about 1,500 names. The number necessary to secure the referendum is 1,029, or 10 per cent of the number of votes cast at the last municipal election.

After the referendum petition has been presented to the council it will be referred to the city clerk, who will examine it to determine whether it has the signatures of the required number of qualified electors. He will then attach his certificate of sufficiency and return it to the council. That body will then reconsider the ordinance and if it is not repealed will call a special election, although the ordinance could be held in suspension until the next regular city election, at which time it could be submitted without causing any additional expense, according to statements made at the city hall. The council cannot call the election sooner than forty days, however. Judging from the statements this morning the election will be called for some time in the latter half of September. There is little prospect that the council will repeal the ordinance.

First Fifty Houses.

Contracts will be let Aug. 10 for the construction of fifty houses of the model city. The specifications call for the completion of the buildings before winter sets in.

In all there will be 170 houses built. By "houses" are meant single homes, double houses and flat buildings. According to early estimates the cost of the construction of the 170 homes will amount to between $500,000 and $600,000. Work on the construction of the fifty houses to be completed during the fall months, will be started immediately after the letting of the contracts. Duluth contractors have some of the plans in their hands at the present time and are preparing their bids just as rapidly as the plans of the houses are being given to them.

The completed plans of the work will call for nine different kinds of model homes. Each of the homes will have a bath and a modern heating plant. The houses will average about six rooms, while some of the flats will be of three and four rooms. The construction is to be thoroughly modern, according to the plans, and the variety in construction promises to prevent monotony.

In addition to the big contract that will be let on Aug. 10, there will also be a contract let on Aug. 5 that calls for the entire excavation and sewerage work for the steel plant city.

There will be over 100,000 cubic yards of excavating done on this contract alone, and in addition there will be all of the shovel work. Early estimates on the probable cost of the job are $100,000 or over.

Engineers and other workers of the big plant are coming here this fall, and the plans for the construction of the fifty model homes call for the completion of the work as soon as possible, as the steel plant workers will be housed in the model city before snow begins to fly, if the present plans of the officials of the Minnesota Steel company do not miscarry.

Streets will be surveyed out and will be graded as much as possible in connection with the big excavation work. As much work will be done as it is possible to carry out before the frost sets in.

In addition to the street and sewer work the water system will be completed this fall.

those things. Mulhall said he was not clear about it now, but thought Attorney Emery was to make the arrangements.

Attacked His Story.

The Manufacturers' attorneys late yesterday attacked Mulhall's story told in his correspondence and his examination, along several lines. They sought to show that he was discharged and did not resign from the association. They produced statements in a newspaper that published his letters before the committee took up the investigation, alleged to have been made by the witness, which he denied; and they questioned him to show that he tried unavailingly to dispose of his documents to many magazines and newspapers without success. An effort to go into Mulhall's private life was not allowed by the committee.

The lawyers were just getting to the question of the motives back of Mulhall's "exposure" when the committee adjourned.

The witness had time, however, to deny that he had "knifed" the late Senator McComas of Maryland several years ago, working against the senator for re-election while posing as his friend. He admitted that he sent out circulars to business men in Baltimore while seemingly still a friend of McComas; but swore that he did this under orders of Marshall Cushing, at that time secretary of the association.

Members of the committee asked Mulhall about items in many of his expense accounts for the sum of $80, paid to two party workers in a New Jersey campaign, which appeared almost weekly in his statement for a long period of 1910.

Mulhall swore the money was paid to Frank Feeney, a Philadelphia labor leader. He denied that he had had a serious disagreement with General Manager Bird and Attorney Emery about these items, or that this disagreement had anything to do with his "resignation."

J. P. MITCHEL HEADS TICKET

Whitman, district attorney of New York county. The nomination of Mr. Mitchel was afterwards made unanimous.

The fusion ticket is to oppose Tammany hall in the coming municipal election.

Chief interest centered in the mayorality selection. The candidates considered, beside Mr. Mitchel, a Democrat, who until he took his present Federal office was president of the board of aldermen and whose friends claimed for him President Wilson's support, were District Attorney Whitman and George McAneny, president of the Manhattan borough.

Nearly two hours after midnight no choice had been reached. The sixth and seventh ballots gave Mitchel 36, Whitman 32, McAneny 20.

The McAneny supporters withdrew for a caucus. They returned with the announcement that they could not decide whether to support Mitchel or Whitman. The eighth ballot was then taken, and Mitchel lost one vote to McAneny.

Understood at White House.

Washington, Aug. 1. — When Mr. Mitchel recently was appointed by President Wilson collector of the port of New York, the understanding was that if he desired to enter the mayoralty contest he could do so without resigning until he felt ready to do so.

While the White House made no comment on Mr. Mitchel's selection, it was apparent that officials there were pleased.

ised unqualified support of the government. Some of them requested the dispatch of additional arms and ammunition.

It was rumored yesterday that Cipriano Castro was on board a steamer off Coro, but the government received no definite news of his landing on Venezuelan territory.

Invaders Driven Back.

Official dispatches state that an invading force from Colombia under the command of Gen. Rosario Gonzalez has been driven back steadily on the frontier of the state of Tachira, where Col. Romero, in command of the state troops, has forced the rebels to abandon their positions.

On the other side of Venezuela, revolutionists commanded by a nephew of Castro attacked the city of Macuro on Tuesday and were defeated, it is claimed, by government troops led by Gen. Zayago.

No troops have yet been sent from Caracas to meet the rebels, as the government believes the state troops strong enough to deal with them.

Lid Off the News.

Th president announced today that all news of hostilities would be published, whether favorable or unfavorable to the government. He says he feels he can safely do this because of his splendid army and also because public opinion is with the government.

Telegraphic communication between the capital and the rest of the republic is maintained.

Hernandez in Washington.

Washington, Aug. 1.—Gen. Jose Manuel Hernandez, Venezuelan Nationalist Liberal leader, now a political exile, arrived in Washington today and called upon Acting Secretary Roosevelt of the navy. His call was unofficial, and after a brief visit with Mr. Roosevelt, he went to the state department to pay his respects to Secretary Bryan.

The Venezuelan exile, popularly known as "El Mocho," is opposed both to Former President Cipriano Castro, instigator of the present revolution, and to President Gomez, against whose government the uprising is aimed. He declared his present attitude was one of observation and that he believed both Gomez and Castro were destined to political retirement.

Castro, whose whereabouts hitherto have been indefinite, has landed at Corro, in the Gulf of Venezuela. This information was cabled to the state department today by Amercian Consul Thomas W. Voetter at La Guaira, the port of Caracas.

The cruiser Des Moines is being held at Grunswick, Ga., in readiness to sail today for Venezuela. She probably will put in at La Guaira to look after Americans and their interests.

Landing Is Confirmed.

Willemstad, Curacos, Aug. 1.—Corroboration of the report of Cipriano Castro's landing at Coro, Venezuela, was received here today from Puerto Cabello.

Gen. Simon Bello, Castro's brother-in-law, with a number of adherents, left here last night in a sloop for Venezuela.

may be made to reconsider today's action.

Secretary Bryan today asked the house to appropriate $100,000 to care for destitute Americans in Mexico, who may find it necessary for their safety and well being to leave and who are unable to pay for their own transportation.

President Is Unmoved.

President Wilson has made it clear to those who discussed the Mexican situation with him that he had not been swayed in the least degree by the arguments of Ambassador Henry Lane Wilson in favor of recognition for the Huerta government in Mexico. He let it be known that his analysis of the condition, from official and unofficial reports, and his judgment of what should be done, had not been altered by the ambassador's statements.

The president is formulating a policy which he told his callers today involves nothing that is not entirely friendly to Mexico. He has not yet announced what his program will be, but he is emphatically and unalterably opposed to the recognition, under any circumstances, of the government set up by Provisional President Huerta through the events in which President Madero and Vice President Suarez met tragic deaths.

Desert Arabassador's Side.

Democrats in the senate are concurring in this view, and further discussion of Ambassador Wilson's statement before the senate foreign relations committee brought out a general sentiment of opposition to the suggestion of the recognition of the Huerta government.

Senator Bacon, chairman of the committee of foreign relations, is of the pronounced opinion that to recognize the Huerta government would be putting a premium on revolution in Mexico.

Under No Pressure.

After a conference with President Wilson today, Secretary Bryan declared that the United States was in no way being pressed for action in Mexico, and issued the following statement:

"The statement which appeared in some of the morning papers to the effect that European governments are bringing pressure to bear on the United States to compel aggressive action in Mexico is entirely without foundation."

Administration officials were pleased to observe reports from Mexico City that a reform element in the Mexican chamber of deputies was planning to submit peace proposals to both factions in the revolution. So far as is known the policy of the American government will be to await the outcome of negotiations of this character.

Hard to Find President.

The chief difficulty in negotiating peace, it is admitted by Mexicans of all factions, is the selection of a non-partisan provisional president. The suggestion was made today by some prominent Mexicans here that on account of the scarcity of men of ability who had not taken part in the Mexican disputes and changing politics, it might be expedient to select one of the veteran diplomats now representing Mexico in posts abroad. Men of such character, it was pointed out, had no political affiliations and would give the situation the benefit of their experience in fields of diplomacy. Senor Corrvarubias, at present minister to Russia, and Senor Gilbert Crespoy Martinez were being mentioned.

RUSSIA TO HAVE NO EXHIBIT AT EXPO.

Germany Is Expected to Take Action Along Same Line.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 1.—The Russian government today decided not to participate officially in the San Francisco exposition.

Germany Likely to Decline.

Berlin, Aug. 1.—Although the German secretary of the interior declared today that Germany had not yet taken any action in regard to the question of participation in the Panama-Pacific exposition at San Francisco in 1915, the opinion is freely expressed in official circles that the German empire will not be represented there.

It was pointed out today that the British government's decision not to participate settles also the action of Germany, as the only factor which might have induced the German government to bring pressure to bear on unwilling business men to exhibit was the fear of unfavorable comparison with Great Britain.

Business men in the majority of cases, declare themselves tired of the expense connected with frequent expositions, and say they see no prospect of financial returns should they exhibit at San Francisco.

Austria May Decline.

Vienna, Austria, Aug. 1.—A commission of representatives of the Austro-Hungarian government and of the local chambers of commerce is about to go to Toronto to visit the exposition there, and will subsequently proceed to San Francisco. On this commission's report depends the reply of the Austro-Hungarian government as to participation in the Panama-Pacific exposition.

The question is largely one of finance. The government hesitates to appropriate a sum sufficiently large to assure representation on a scale commensurate with the dignity of the empire.

TAKEN TO IOWA.

Man Arrested at Mankato on Charge From Hawkeye State.

Mankato, Minn., Aug. 1.—George Webber, hailing from Mexico, was arrested here yesterday by Chief of Police Eli Klugherz, on the suspicion that he had something to do with the theft of $41 from a remittance envelope at the Great Northern station at Perkins, Iowa, about two weeks ago. Webber had been working for the Widell company on some railroad construction work near Perkins, Iowa. It is said that he and the agent were good friends, and that he was at the depot quite often and slept there at night. It is claimed that $41 were taken from the agent's remittance envelope while that official was gone to supper, and Webber was the only man in the depot at the time. Special Agent Bixler took Webber to Orange City, Iowa, the county seat of Sioux county, in which Perkins is also situated.

MORE CARE IN PACKING

Freight Shipments Must Be Securely Packed and Plainly Marked.

Rules 7 and 8 Covering This Point Are Now Made Mandatory.

Beginning today, freight shipments from Duluth, and in fact from all other shipping points in the country, will be carefully inspected to see that they conform to the rules of Western Classification No. 51, governing the packing and marking of freight.

The Western Weighing and Inspection bureau, of which the majority of railroads are members, has been instructed to see that all packages are securely made up and that the addresses are legible and accurate.

Rules 7 and 8 of the Western classification have been approved by the interstate commerce commission and are now mandatory. These are the rules that deal with the packing and marking of freight. The inspection bureau is instructed to direct agents to refuse to take freight for shipment if it does not conform to these rules.

Letter to Shippers.

The following letter has been sent out to local shippers by G. Roy Hall, traffic commissioner of the Duluth Commercial club:

"To Members: Following is copy of letter just received from the Western Weighing and Inspection bureau, representing all carriers certering in this market:

"The General Managers' association has unanimously adopted the following resolution: Resolved, That the subject of standardizing shipping containers and the enforcement of the rules for marking and packing freight be referred to the executive committee of the Western Weighing and Inspection bureau and to the Joint Rate Inspection bureau, with the recommendation of this association that the enforcement of such rules be undertaken by those bureaus and that such additional force as may be necessary to properly conduct the further handling of this work be employed. Resolved further, that in making the foregoing recommendation this association pledges its support and earnest co-operation in the work.

"We have received instructions from Supt. A. S. Dodge to assume the policing of this work Aug. 1, in order to see that all less-than-carload-lot and carload-lot freight delivered to carriers' freight houses fully meets with the requirements of rule No. 7. It has occurred to us that you might wish to advise your members in advance in order to anticipate any delay or inconvenience to them in having their goods handled at the receiving doors, as there will be uniform action at all freight houses in Duluth as well as at all other stations, to strictly enforce the requirements of rule No. 7.

"'Western Weighing and Inspection Bureau.'

Vital Point for Shipper.

"The proper packing and legible marking of freight, that it may be safely transported and promptly delivered at destination in good condition, is one of the most vital topics that confronts the shippers and transportation companies at the present time.

"Duluth wholesalers' and manufacturers' best solicitation for trade maintenance and extension is to have goods reach customers promptly and in as good condition as upon forwarding, and the transportation companies wish to co-operate in every way possible to that end. The initiative, however, falls on the shipper and makes it absolutely necessary that he properly prepare his goods before offering them for shipment.

"We therefore subm't the following suggestions for your guidance:

"First—Packing heavy freight in containers of sufficient strength to transport safely with ordinary handling.

"Second—Fragile freight should be securely packed, and boxed or crated to insure safe transportation.

"Third—Thoroughly re-cooper second hand cases, secure with metal straps entirely around ends, as otherwise they can be opened and re-nailed without detection.

"Each piece or package should be marked with full name of consignee and destination, and in case destination is not on a railroad, the station at which delivery will be taken should be shown.

"Freight billed to shipper's order should be so marked and correspond in every particular with the address and marks on the bill of lading.

Erase Old Marks.

"All old marks should be erased or entirely removed, as two marks on a package will send it to either destination in case of astray freight, as in many cases the old mark is just as liable to be taken as the new.

"To the end that claims due to improperly packed and loss due to improperly marked packages may be reduced to the lowest possible minimum, we ask the hearty co-operation of all shippers. By helping each other, we both help ourselves: In the one case by avoiding claims and in the other by delivering shipments in perfect condition, thereby making satisfied customers for the shippers.

"An investigation into the methods and corrections of shipping rooms, will, we believe, bring good results.

"The Western classification rules having been legally published, formally accepted by the interstate commerce commission are therefore mandatory, and they hold out little, if any, discretion for the local freight agents, but in that they make for the good of consignor, consignee and carrier alike, uniform observance becomes manifest duty.

"The foregoing is in conformity with Rule No. 7, as shown on pages 15 and 16 in supplement 6 to Western Classification No. 51, copy of which you received from this association. After careful investigation, this ruling received indorcement by the interstate commerce commission, and its inforcement therefore becomes necessary; its operation should inure equally beneficial to both shipper and carrier.

"G. ROY HALL,
"Traffic Commissioner."

Railroad men see only beneficial results from the enforcement of the rules. They say the railroad does not evade any responsibility in the way of claims because it is up to the carrier to refuse to accept shipments if they are not properly prepared. If they are damaged after they are accepted the railroad would be liable just the same as before. The rule will lessen the claims, however, and will do away with delays to consignees, they say.

MINNESOTA MEN PLAN THEIR STUNTS

Gopher University Will Be Well Represented at College Day.

Tentative plans for the third annual College day to be celebrated Saturday, Aug. 9, at the Oatka branch of the Duluth Boat club, were made this noon by twenty Minnesota men, who gathered at the Spalding hotel for luncheon.

Following lunch those present discussed the suggestions for the downtown parade and the carnival to be held at the boat club grounds. Walter F. Dacey, president of the Northern Minnesota Alumni association, acted as chairman and appointed the following committee to take active charge of all the arrangements for the day, in behalf of the Minnesota men: W. W. Huntley, chairman; Laird Goodman, W. H. Pryor A. B. Kapplin, Phil Ray and Alfred H. Moe.

The committee will hold a special meeting at 5:30 o'clock Monday afternoon at the Y. M. C. A., when the final plans for the Minnesota stunts will be arranged. It is proposed to have two features in the downtown parade and at least three sideshows at the "pike." A meeting of all the Minnesota men in Duluth will be held next Wednesday evening.

Over 100 Minnesota men, it is expected, will take part in the festivities of the day.

SUCCESS IN TENNIS.

Raymond D. Little in Outing: One and one makes two, and perhaps some people think that the problem of forming a good doubles team is as simple as the arithmetical problem of adding one and one to that, by the mere process of playing on the same side of the court, two good singles players make one good doubles team. There are several reasons why this is not the case, the first being that the two games differ in theory to a far greater extent than is immediately apparent. And not only do they differ, but they oppose each other, the best thing to do in the one case being frequently the worst in the other. So that a wonderful singles player may be only an ordinarily good doubles player, just as a great first baseman may play second base competently rather than brilliantly.

CHILD TESTIFIES AGAINST FATHER

Annie Staff State's Star Witness in Towner, N. D., Murder Trial.

Towner, N. D., Aug. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Sensational evidence was given by little Annie Staff in the trial of her father, charged with the murder of his wife, in progress here.

That her father had, a few days previous to the shooting, exhibited cartridges in one hand and a bottle in another to his wife, declaring the bullets were for her and the bottle for himself, was a striking feature of the girl's story. An attempt to identify a bottle of poison, taken from Staff a few minutes after the shooting, failed, the witness saying she could not remember distinctly.

On the morning of the shooting, she said she was afraid of trouble, and she saw her father aim and fire into the barrel, knowing her mother to be there. She said she had been afraid to warn her father, because she believed he meant to harm her mother.

Corroborates Other Testimony.

She also corroborated the testimony of John Pelkos relative to the loading of the weapon just before the shot was fired.

Adam Wilk, a cousin of Mrs. Staff, testified that Staff, on purchasing the shot gun April 3, this year, had brought it home, showing it to his wife and telling her he got it for her.

The prosecution completed its case today, while the defense probably will continue the presentation of evidence till Saturday or Monday.

Continue County Seat Case.

Bowbells, N. D., Aug. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Burke county seat location case, set for this afternoon, was continued till Monday on the motion of interested attorneys. Judge C. W. Buttz of Devils Lake is here to try the case, acting in behalf of Judge Leighton, disqualified.

Lignite and Bowbells seek the county seat honors, Bowbells being the present holder. Lignite contests the election by which Bowbells was chosen on the plea that the votes in certain precincts were illegally thrown out.

BURIED AS PUBLIC CHARGE

Duluth Boy Killed in Vancouver---Mother Here Unable to Learn Details or Recover the Body.

Roy York, 23 years old, was killed at Keefer, B. C., about eighty miles from Vancouver, last Friday and buried Tuesday afternoon as a public charge, while his mother, Mrs. V. V. York of 103 Mesaba avenue, has been making every effort to secure the body.

George Wolk, a brother-in-law of the dead man, has been communicating with the police at Vancouver and the officials at the Northern Construction company's plant, where the young man had worked, for three days, but he has been unable to learn the details of the accident or to have the body shipped here for interment. Mr. Wolk has been assisted by Chief Troyer, but they both learned today that the young man has already been buried.

Mrs. York, mother of the young man, proposes to take the matter up with the authorities at Vancouver and see if the body cannot be exhumed and shipped to Duluth. She is very anxious to give her only boy a decent burial and is almost frantic at the thought that he should have been buried as a public charge.

York was born in Duluth and had lived here up to two years ago, when he went to Portland with his father. He was a graduate of the Adams school here and a high school graduate at Shewanee, Wis. The elder York died at Portland seven months ago. The son later left for Vancouver and had been employed as a sifter with the construction company. It is believed that he fell from a scaffold while at work on some building, although the details of the accident are not known.

Mrs. York and her daughter, Mrs. Wolk, first heard of Roy's death on Monday afternoon, when they were informed by the police of Superior. The officials over there had received a telegram in the morning from Thomas Garrity, a fellow worker of York, telling of the latter's death in an accident.

Mr. Wolk immediately wired to Vancouver and has since sent several telegrams, but has so far failed to obtain definite information regarding the accident, or why the body was buried when the young man has relatives here in Duluth.

M'ADOO PLAN IS PRAISED

Bankers Say Duluth May Not Need Help in Moving Crop.

But Fact That Money Is Available Will Have Good Effect.

The plan proposed by Secretary McAdoo of the treasury to facilitate the financing of the crop movement is interesting bankers and grain men in Duluth.

Just what the effect of the plan will be to Duluth could not be estimated by bankers and grain men today. They said that ordinarily the Northwest has been able to handle its grain crop without any signs of financial stringency although interest rates have been high some years. Until they have time to consider the secretary's suggestion and determine its probable effect, the bankers were not ready to say today whether any of the deposits would be asked for by Duluth banks.

According to H. S. Macgregor, cashier of the City National bank, the principal merit in the secretary's plan, from the Northwestern point of view, is that the money will be there and will be available if it is needed.

"My impression is that very little aid will be required from the government for the crop movement in the Northwest," said Mr. Macgregor. "But the fact that the secretary of the treasury stands ready to supply the money if it is needed will allay fears of stringency and create a feeling of confidence that will be a great factor in the commercial situation. The Northwest has always been able to finance its crop movement and undoubtedly will be this year, but the fact that government aid is offered is a helpful factor even if none of the money is called out."

W. G. Hegardt of the American Exchange National bank commended the secretary's plan.

"I haven't had time to consider it, but I should say off-hand that the plan is an excellent one and will greatly facilitate the crop movement," he said. "Whether any of the money will come to the Duluth banks cannot be determined now. We do not know that any will be needed, but it is well to have the money there if it should be needed."

A. L. Ordean, president of the First National bank, declined to be interviewed on the subject.

Grain men on the board of trade look upon the proposal of the secretary of the treasury as a great help, especially in allaying fears. They believe too that interest rates will be held down if plenty of money is available. The fact that the government stands ready to supply the demand for money will, in their opinion, bring out supplies from private sources that are not now available. On the whole they believe the Northwestern crop will be moved without financial difficulties.

NEW MARRIAGE RECORD FOR JULY

Permits to Wed Issued to 113 Happy Pairs.

Wily Dan Cupid has broken all records for the month of July in the matrimonial business. The little blind god chalked up 113 trips to the altar to his credit and in doing so, not only set a new pace for the seventh month but threatened to tread upon the laurels of June, which holds first honors as the month of brides.

Just to show that little Dan was on the job all the time, it might be stated that the marriage license figures for July, 1913, are within seven of the combined number of permits issued during July of the last two years.

During July of last year, sixty-eight marriage licenses were taken out and during the same month for 1911, the clerk of the court's records show that but fifty-three permits were granted. Except for June, when 132 licenses were issued, July is the heaviest of the year so far.

BRING SUIT FOR FIRE LOSSES

Two Policy Holders Seeking to Recover Through the Courts.

Insurance companies are made defendants in two civil actions filed this morning with the clerk of the district court in which recoveries are sought on policies covering loss by fire.

Katherine Ferguson, owner, and Maggie McKeag, mortgage holder of a house at 211 Minneapolis avenue, this city, are suing the Northwestern National Insurance company of Milwaukee on a $1,000 policy. The house was destroyed by fire on May 14 last.

Frank Coppoletti is plaintiff in an action brought against the Phoenix Fire Insurance company of Hartford, Conn., in which he seeks to recover $900 for the loss of a building at Bovey, covered by a Phoenix policy. He claims that the actual loss was $2,550.

WOLF TRAPPERS GET $405 IN BOUNTIES.

July was the best month in the wolf killing industry of St. Louis county since March. During the past month County Auditor Odin Halden paid out $405 in bounties. Twenty-seven full grown animals were brought in and $15 each was paid out in bounties.

Otis Gaslin, a trapper in the vicinity of Hibbing and N. D. Fairbanks of Goodland are tied for first honors this month. Each brought in the hides of eleven animals. The other five wolves were killed by other settlers and trappers.

Bounties paid out for wolves this year are as follows: January, $1,215; February, $1,155; March, $795; April, $315; May, $135; June, $359; July, $405.

GIVEN LICENSE LONG AFTER HOURS

Young People Are Lucky in Search for Wedding Permit.

Although the closing time for the clerk of the court's office at the courthouse is at 5 o'clock every evening, John Joseph Harback and his bride-to-be, Emily Frances Nelson, were not disappointed in the quest for a marriage license about 8:15 p. m. last evening.

It was pure luck for Harback and his intended that they found the door of the clerk's office open after they had climbed several flights of stairs last evening. Miss J. S. Moody, a deputy clerk of the court, happened to be working in the office at that time and she was able to accommodate them with the necessary permit.

Harback stated that he could not leave his work in the daytime to get a license. After securing the license they started out on a hunt for a minister.

NCE IS THE WINNER; APPEAL WILL BE TAKEN

Cant Files His Decision in City Election Contest.

lds Preferential System; Voters' Intent the Important Point.

CISION IN A NUTSHELL.

ficial count at the April election resulted as follows: Prince, McEwen, 3,120. Prince's six votes.

spectors appointed by the after contest proceedings instituted reported the following result: Prince, 3,050; McE, 3,047. Prince's lead, three votes. Entire vote in First precinct of Third ward and 219 other rated ballots not included.

ter tuking the disputed ballots into consideration, Judge finds the count to be: Prince, McEwen, 3,141. Prince's eight votes.

dge Cant upholds the constitutionality of the charter provision for a preferential system voting, attacked by Marcus L. Fay, contesting candidate who lived the greatest number of choice votes.

Appeal will be taken to the Minsupreme court from the decisterday afternoon of Judge W. t in the Prince-McEwen mayorection contest. The decision was ublic at 5 p. m. and the first t of it appeared a half hour n a Herald extra.

e Cant holds that William I. was legally elected mayor at pril municipal election and that rightfully exercising the duties rivileges of the office at the t time. The decision gives the to Mayor Prince by a margin of votes, the court's count being m I. Prince, 3,149; William E. en, 3,141.

e Cant's decision also disposes Prince-Fay contest. Marcus L. he mayoralty candidate who re the greatest number of first votes, rested his appeal from ficial count on the contention e preferential system of voting vided in the charter is unconstiional. The court, however, holds the city charter provision is reviewing the case, the court deeply into the subject of the ection of election laws and decstrongly in favor of placing the intent ahead of the letter of w. Judge Cant points out that idely different views are entertby the courts of various states. courts insist upon a rigid conon and compliance with the letthe law. Others declare the rule that the intent of the voter e given its fullest effect, if it e clearly ascertained from the "Our state has been in the latss," states Judge Cant. He reveral decisions to support the tion.

e Cant, along this line, declares here the good faith of the voter ermined and his intention is tined, technicalities in direct with the letter of the law be overlooked. Says the court: lection law cannot be converted iares and pitfalls by the schemnl dishonest to deprive honest of the right of suffrage."

or W. I. Prince was represented contest case by Attorneys O. J. and Neil Beaton, William E. McEwen by Attorneys Walter F. Dacey and Warner E. Whipple, and Marcus L. Fay another contestant by Attorney John B. Arnold. As soon as an appeal can be perfected, according to Attorneys Dacey and Whipple, the case will be carried to the supreme court for a final determination.

Judge Cant attached a lengthy memorandum to his decision, in which he reviews the entire case and discusses every point raised by the contestants. The memorandum in full follows:

The Memorandum.

In the construction of election laws two widely differing views prevail in different jurisdictions. Some courts go great lengths in discouraging all kinds of possible fraud which may be anticipated, and to that end insist upon a strict construction of and compliance with all provisions of the law, regarding the rights of the bona fide individual voter as of subordinate interest and importance. The courts in other states where perhaps election frauds have been less frequent, incline quite as clearly in the other direction and declare the rule to be that where there has been no fraud in fact, the intent of the voter must in all cases be given effect if that intent can be ascertained from the ballot itself, and has not been expressed in a manner prohibited by some positive rule of law. Our state has always been of the latter class, and the underlying principle in the determination of this case has been to effectuate the intent of the voter in all cases where that can be done under this rule.

The contestant, Marcus L. Fay, rests his case upon the contention that the charter provision for second and additional choices on election ballots is invalid and that only first choice votes should be counted. It is conceded that if all choices must be counted, Mr. Fay cannot succeed in his contest. He received the greatest number of first choice votes for the office of mayor at the election in question. My opinion is that the charter provision for the preferential ballot in valid, and therefore that the contention on behalf of Mr. Fay must fail.

As indicated in the findings hereto attached, the count as made by the court gives the remaining candidates for the office of mayor the following number of votes, to-wit: William E. McEwen, 3,141, and William I. Prince, 3,149. In disposing of the 219 disputed ballots which were referred to the court, weight was given to the following considerations:

One Ballot Identified.

1. The court should be slow to construe unusual or unnecessary marks on a ballot as identifying marks unless they were so intended or unless the natural inference from the marks themselves was such that they must have that effect. We have no identifying marks in this case except the single ballot signed on the back thereof by the voter casting the same. This was exhibit number 194 and the crossmark thereon opposite the name of William E. McEwen cannot be regarded as a valid vote.

2. Irregular crossmarks have been counted for all parties. They are still crossmarks, still indicate the intent of the voter, and can be disregarded only on the theory that they were intended for purpose of identification or that the natural inference to be drawn therefrom was that they had that effect. Lights are often dim in voting booths, pencils are sometimes poor, and there are infirmities of sight and of touch on the part of voters. The inference against the validity of such ballots as are here under discussion is not fairly justified.

3. Crossmarks included in parentheses or other similar marks have been counted. The observations already made as to irregular crossmarks apply here. The instructions to voters at the head of the ballots display the crossmark inclosed in a parentheses. This might easily mislead. Some voters have attempted to follow the instructions and have tried to make the mark indicated at the head of the ballot, parentheses and all. Where they have done this as to a part of the names and have used the crossmark alone as to others, the votes have still been counted. These ballots represent good faith attempts at compliance with the statute. They do not fall within subdivision 7 of section 302 revised laws 1905.

4. Where a voter has used crossmarks to indicate his choice as to a part of the names on the ballot and has used other marks to indicate his choice as to others, the last cannot be counted even though the intent be clear. This is because the statutory provision seems to clearly so indicate. Such provision must be observed.

Revised laws 1905, section 302, subdivision 7. We have one such ballot only, exhibit number 97, and the mark thereon opposite the name of William I. Prince cannot be regarded as a valid vote.

5. Exhibit No. 122 requires special mention. The voter who cast that ballot evidently intended to place a cross mark in each column for the candidates he favored for mayor and commissioners. Two such cross marks are clearly in the second and third column respectively following the name of Morris Kaplan for mayor. While the upper part of the cross mark in the first column is opposite the name Morris Kaplan, the lines actually cross below the line which separates the names of Morris Kaplan and William E. McEwen, and in the space opposite the name of Mr. McEwen. It has been seriously urged that this should be counted for Mr. McEwen. In my opinion that would be making the ballot speak contrary to the intent of the voter. Voters often begin their cross marks in the proper space and marking downward run below the base line, as did the voter with each cross mark on the ballot in question. The lines frequently cross very near the base line. (See exhibits 19, 111, 193 and 202, counted for Mr. McEwen.) Sometimes they cross squarely upon it. (See exhibit 87, counted for Mr. McEwen.) It is easy to conceive of cross marks where the cross marks are practically all above a certain base line and in the proper space, but where, for some reason, through infirmity or otherwise, they have been made to cross at their extreme lower ends and just below the base line. It would never do to count such mark for the candidate in the space below. That would be especially true where there were other indications of the voter's intent, as is the case here.

Follows Voter's Intent.

6. Where cross marks have been found to the left of the first choice column, in the space or column where the names are printed, they have been regarded as first choice marks and the succeeding columns as second and additional choice marks. This might involve some possible difficulty in case a ballot should be found with marks in each of the four columns. No such ballot is involved here. The test would still be the intent of the voter. Such ballots were probably prepared by men who were familiar with the principle of the preferential ballot and the use of the several columns thereon, but who, because of illiteracy or poor eyesight, were unable to read the headings of the columns and treated the space or column in which the names were printed as the first choice column. It might occur also through the inadvertence of the voter in failing to notice the headings.

7. There is some doubt about exhibit 192, which has been counted for Mr. McEwen.

Under the rule laid down as to exhibit 16 in Truelsen v. Hugo, 81 Minn. 73, at page 75, exhibit number 56 should possibly be counted for Mr. Prince, but the intention of the voter has not seemed sufficiently clear.

Upon the face of the count as above indicated, it is urged on behalf of the contestant William E. McEwen that certain corrections should be made. This claim is based upon three grounds, one of which appears on the face of the ballots and two others do not.

1. It is claimed that where two or more crossmarks appear in either the first or the second choice column, while they cannot be counted as first or second choice votes, they should all be accounted as additional choices for the several candidates opposite whose names such crossmarks appear.

There are various reasons which may be urged in favor of a charter provision to that effect. The charter of this city, however, provides as follows: "If a ballot contains either first or second choice votes in excess of the number of offices to be filled, no vote in the column showing such excess shall be counted."

Charter, section 44, subdivision B.

This language is clear and must be given effect unless it contravenes the constitution or the general laws of this state. It contravenes no such provision. On the contrary, the theory of the preferential ballot contemplates and is designed to encourage, if possible, a selection through the first choice votes only, and if that should fail then through the first and second choice votes. As applied to either of those columns the provision in question serves the same purpose as subdivision 1 of section 302 revised laws 1905 when applied to elections governed by that law, and the plural votes in such columns may properly be rejected since they fail to indicate an intelligent exercise of the elective franchise.

2. A number of votes cast by persons who registered by affidavit on the day of election has been attacked because of alleged irregularities or defects in connection with such affidavits.

Irregular Affidavits.

Many defects and irregularities are urged. Some of the affidavits were not signed in the proper place; some were not correctly filled out; some were not properly certified, and some were not certified at all; in some the corroborating witnesses did not in fact appear and make oath before the judges of election, although the affidavits are complete on their face. In some a corroborating witness was not a freeholder in the election district in question.

What is to be done with the various questions which may arise in this connection? On the one hand it is urged that the charter provision as to the affidavit for registration on election day is directory only; on the other hand it is urged that this is something required of the voter himself, and that the provision is mandatory to the last degree.

The charter provision should not be given an enlarged or unwarranted meaning. (See section 38.) It adopts the provisions of the general law as to registration and qualification of voters, and provides that those not registered may not vote. This adds nothing to the general law. It then goes further and allows those who have not previously registered to register on the day of election, on delivering to the judges an affidavit conforming to certain requirements therein set forth. For any irregularities or defects connected with the registration on election day no penalty or consequence is provided differing in any respect from cases of registration in an irregular manner, as, for instance, failing to swear the voter, on the regular days for registration.

All affidavits used at the election in question were upon blank forms which had been approved by the attorney general of the state, and which had been furnished by the city of Duluth for the use of the voters and officers who should participate in such election. While the charter reads that the affidavit is to be delivered by the voter to the judges of election, the latter were authorized to administer the oath in such cases and had general supervisory power concerning the entire matter, and they assumed in many instances not only to administer the oath but to direct the manner in which the affidavit should be prepared. In some cases they advised the voters as to who were properly qualified corroborating witnesses, and in one precinct at least they, in effect, directed the voter to procure the signatures of certain corroborating witnesses and that they, the officers, would see that the affidavits were properly completed. In such matters the voters generally have confidence in the judges of election and follow the directions which they give. The evidence shows that they did so, even so far as to sign the affidavits in the body thereof instead of at the end, although the voter felt sure that this must be a mistake.

In respect to any matter where the officers of election rightfully assumed to act, and considerable latitude must be allowed to them in this respect, it would never do to hold that a failure on their part to properly perform their duties would result in disfranchising an otherwise duly qualified voter where all were acting in good faith. That would be converting the election laws into a series of snares and pitfalls for honest voters and would often make it easy to disfranchise them as the result of schemes and fraud on the part of designing and unscrupulous men.

Voters in Good Faith.

In three of the precincts corroborating affidavits were made by men who were not freeholders in the precinct. In such cases and also in the cases last referred to, where the voter was produced in court and testified that he was a qualified voter, that he acted in good faith and believed, in the one case, that the affidavit was proper and sufficient or would be made so by the election officers, and in the other that the witness was a qualified corroborating witness, the court did not require the voter to testify for whom he voted. This was upon the theory, not that the charter provision is what we term directory, but that the evidence clearly showed in each case that the voter made a bona fide attempt at substantial compliance therewith. In this state that is sufficient.

Truelson vs. Hugo, 81 Minn., at page 75; Pennington vs. Hare, 60 Minn., 140.

In the latter case it is said, at page 150: "There is a clear distinction between the provisions and prohibitions in election laws which are personal to the elector, which, if he violates them, it is his own fault, and those which apply to elective officers, over whose conduct he has no control. In the former case they are to be construed as mandatory, as a general rule, and his vote will be rejected if he intentionally fails to comply with them, while in the latter case they are to be construed as directory, unless otherwise expressly, or by necessary implication, so declared by statue." This language is quoted in Truelson vs. Hugo, 87 Minn., at page 144.

The heart of this statement is that even where the duty falls upon the voter and may be considered mandatory and he fails of performance, he is not to lose his vote unless it is fairly inferable that "it is his own fault" and that he "intentionally fails to comply with" the law.

As already indicated, the irregularities in respect to the form of the various affidavits and in the failure, if any, to administer oaths had to do with duties assumed and properly assumed by the election officers. Speaking of such irregularities it could not in any event be said of the voter that it was his own fault or that he intentionally failed to comply with the law.

The charter provides that the corroborating affidavit must be signed by two freeholders and electors in the election district where the affidavit is offered. To what length must the voter go to assure himself that the statement in that behalf made and signed by the corroborating witnesses is true? The qualifications of these corroborating witnesses offers much debatable ground. Must the voter make independent investigation as to the birth and ancestry of the corroborating witness and as to the length of his residence in the state and precinct? and the residence meantime of his family, if any he has; and whether for some reason he has forfeited his right to vote? And must he examine the records to ascertain the nature of the estate in lands which he holds? These matters abound in all manner of complications. Must the voter consult counsel? But counsel often differ, and should they agree the courts might reach a different conclusion should the question be submitted to them. A corroborating witness may in good faith be mistaken either as to his right to vote, or as to his estate in lands, or as to both. He may willfully state what is false. Must the vote of an otherwise qualified elector acting in good faith, be in peril of such matters as these? That is hardly a possible view of the law. It would be applying the strictness of mathematics to conditions which have none of the qualities of numbers and would result in the constant sacrifice of substantial rights. If the voter in good faith believes that the statements of the corroborating witness as to property and as to his right to vote are true and the affidavit is accepted by the election of officers, that is sufficient. The voter has made a bona fide attempt at a substantial compliance with the law.

Ballots Not Marked By Voters.

3. A number of ballots were actually marked by someone other than the voter by whom they were cast. As to these it is claimed, (a) that some of the voters were not sworn as to their inability to mark their own ballots, and (b) that two ballots were marked by a man who was not a voter in the precinct where the ballots were cast. The number of all such ballots is not sufficient to change the declared result of the election.

(a) It is not admitted by the contestee that the voters in question were not sworn. The presumption is that the officers performed their duty and that the voters were sworn. In some cases a particular person has testified that he did not see them sworn. This is unsatisfactory. It is common experience that with such assurances as this we are constantly finding the contrary true. Moreover, several of these voters were registered on election day. They were sworn to tell the truth. This, doubtless, was often in a rather informal way, as in State ex rel vs. Gay, 59 Minn., 6, at page 21: "You swear now to this: that what you have told me is true?" This oath, such as it was, was doubtless understood as extending to all that the voter said in connection with his voting, including what he said as to his disability. As to such voters the situation was different from those who had registered previously and who were not sworn on election day. In one case, at least, where a witness testified that the voter was not sworn as to his disability and that his ballot was marked for a certain candidate, the voter himself testified that he was sworn and that the witness in question who marked his ballot told him that the ballot was marked for another candidate. This shows the unsatisfactory character of this ground as a basis for changing the declared result of any election. The evidence in support of the claim that the voters in question were not sworn is sufficient.

(b) It is clear from the evidence that two ballots were marked by one not a voter in the precinct where they were cast. The provision requiring the person who marks the ballot of a disabled voter to be a resident of the precinct is doubtless that the election judges who have supervisory control may have the assurance through the employment of one whom they are likely to know that the voter will not be imposed upon but will have his ballot marked as he directs. The provision also makes it impossible for a man or set of men to systematically go about marking ballots and perhaps even soliciting the privilege so to do. If objection had been seasonably taken, the judges would have been obliged to deny the privilege to the nonresident. But no such question was raised. It does not appear that the voters knew that their assistant was disqualified to act, and without serious question the votes should now be counted.

MAKING THE GOVERNMENT USEFUL TO THE PEOPLE.

There will be no money stringency in crop-marketing sections this year.

William G. McAdoo, secretary of the treasury, yesterday announced that he will immediately deposit in national banks in the West and South, during the crop-marketing season, from twenty-five to fifty millions of government money.

On top of that comes the startling but pleasing innovation that prime commercial paper, approved by clearing houses and the treasury department, will be accepted as security for these deposits along with two-percents at par and other Federal bonds as well as state and municipal securities, for the first time in the history of the nation.

This is making the government useful to the people, and it is conducting public business with common sense and sound business judgment.

Truly, before this modern conception that government is intended for the service of society, precedents are having a shocking time of it.

Evelyn Nesbit Thaw is going back on the stage. Inasmuch as she proposes to appear under another name than Thaw, it might readily be inferred that she is also going back on Harry.

THE INTENT OF THE VOTER GOVERNS.

In deciding that Mayor Prince is entitled by law to the election certificate which he received as a result of the first city election under the commission plan in Duluth, Judge Cant of the district court bases his judgment on the policy which is well established in this state, that the intent of the voter shall govern.

Though the policy of some other states is otherwise, this is the settled policy of Minnesota, and it is wise and sound.

The purpose of an election is to find out what men the voters wish to put in office. Ordinarily, therefore, the man for whom the most people vote should get the place he seeks. This is to be departed from only when palpable fraud is shown. Merely technical defects in voting, easily to be accounted for and not unfairly or dishonestly disturbing the purpose above stated, should not upset the results of the canvass.

It must be admitted that there is unusual unanimity in the present government service. We have President Wilson, Secretary Wilson and Ambassador Wilson, and Secretary Bryan, Senator Bryan, Representative Bryan and Diplomatic Attache Bryan.

THE CREDIBILITY OF MULHALL.

There are some inescapable evidences that Lobbyist Mulhall is not invariably a stickler for the truth.

The stories of a man employed as he confesses to have been employed have to be weighed more carfully anyway than those of a man engaged in a more respectable business.

But the documentary evidence he has furnished of the business in which the National Association of Manufacturers has been engaged, and of the suspicious secrecy with which it carried on that business, is on a different basis.

So far that evidence stands unchallenged—a tremendous indictment of Big Business.

Nor is there anything in the instances where Mulhall has laid himself open to a charge of falsehood that betters the situation of the National Association of Manufacturers.

Evidently Mulhall, in making his reports to his employers, put the best face on it. He didn't underestimate his activity or his influence, or the amount of work he was doing for pay. If he had a word with a congressman, he expanded it in his report to a long and confidential interview. Maybe he reported interviews where there were none. Some of the congressmen say so, anyway.

But it is hard to see where that helps his employers any. Whether or not he did the things he claimed to have done, obviously he wouldn't have claimed that he did them unless his employers were paying him to do those very things.

And humanity is such that it's hard to find much sympathy for those rich Newporters whose jewels were stolen.

LEMON, LEMON, WHO IS TO GET THE LEMON?

Speaking in behalf of the California lemon grower and pleading for a duty on lemons, Senator Works of California says that his constituents cannot deliver lemons in the Eastern markets for less than $2.72 a box, while Italian growers can deliver them in the same markets for $1.21.

Therefore, he argues, there should be a duty on lemons that will put the California grower on a par in the Eastern markets with the Italian grower.

Of course that couldn't be done unless the tariff tax were heavy enough on Italian lemons to make them cost as much as California lemons.

If what Senator Works asks were done, of course Eastern consumers would have to pay twice as much for their lemons as they need to pay.

Or, putting it another way, if there is no duty on lemons the Eastern consumer can get two lemons for a nickel, but if there is a duty that would be satisfactory to California the Eastern consumer will have to pay a whole nickel for one lemon.

Something like a hundred million people consume lemons. A few thousands produce lemons.

Mr. Works's idea is that the hundred million people ought to pay two prices for their lemons for the sake of the few thousand lemon growers of California.

Mr. Works, intending to demonstrate that there should be a duty on lemons, has demonstrated conclusively that there should NOT be a duty on lemons.

Also, he has put the case against the tariff tax about as concretely and as convincingly as it could be put.

Over in Europe they are sterilizing milk by means of electricity. Maybe that's all that a thunderstorm does is to sterilize it—and here people have been living in ignorance all these years.

BANKERS MAY ADVISE, BUT NOT CONTROL.

By an amendment to the pending currency and banking bill, offered as a result of a conference with the administration and adopted yesterday by the house committee, provision is made for an advisory board of twelve bankers to aid and advise with the Federal reserve board, which is to have full control of the banking and currency system created by the bill.

This concession to the wishes of the bankers of the county is wise, wholesome and harmless to the public interest.

While The Herald has taken the stand throughout the discussion of the currency question, beginning when it was the Aldrich bill that was before the country, that the public interest, through government, should have full control of whatever system is created by financial legislation, it has also taken the stand that the advice of experienced bankers should be freely consulted, and that provision should be made for securing such advice.

The bankers, of course, would have preferred to dominate the reserve board, as they would have done overwhelmingly under the terms of the Aldrich bill. That, however, is impossible and unthinkable.

The provision for an advisory board of bankers to consult at frequent intervals with the Federal reserve board is dictated by good common sense, and it does not in any possible way infringe upon the principle of complete public control.

Mulhall doesn't seem to have made much of an impression the first time a lot of these men saw him. But they'll remember him now, maybe.

NO RECOGNITION OF HUERTA.

It will be no surprise to those who have formed a clear judgment of President Wilson's character to learn that he has made it plain that he has no present intention of recognizing the Huerta government in Mexico.

Doubtless this is highly disappointing to Ambassador Henry Lane Wilson, who has acted as a partisan in Mexican affairs rather than as a representative of the United States, and who manifestly is inclined to boast that he personally brought about the ascendancy of Huerta. If he did, he did something that he had no business to do, and that he should be sharply reprimanded for doing. And his conduct since his return to this country has made it easy to believe him capable of any foolish conduct, however incredible in a diplomat.

Recognition of Huerta, with his hands stained with blood and his heart blackened by treachery of the foulest type, is unthinkable.

As has often been remarked, it's peculiar what a difference a single letter will make. If you doubt it, try the difference between candid speech and candied speech.

A CORD OF WOOD.

To the Editor of The Herald:

What is the legal measure for sixteen-inch wood in Minnesota? I read in The Herald or in a St. Paul paper where a cord of 128 feet was cut into sixteen-inch wood that it was decided 105 cubic feet was a cord. Is that right? Yours truly,

A. L. LORD.

Solon Springs, Wis., July 30.

The last legislature decreed that the term cord shall mean 128 cubic feet in four-foot lengths, and if the sale is of "sawed wood" a cord shall mean 110 cubic feet when piled and 160 cubic feet when thrown loosely into a wagon. If the wood is sawed and split it shall be 120 cubic feet piled and 175 feet when thrown loosely into a heap. —The Editor.

OLD FAVORITES.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I was very much delighted on seeing those old pieces of poetry in your paper "Curfew" and "The Leigh Valley." I inclose the words of my grandmother's favorite song, and I would like to get the words of the song, "The Pretty Maid Milking Her Cow," if any reader knows them.

WILLIAM LEE.

Proctor, Minn., July 31.

I've a tender recollection
That I cherish all my life,
And the memory grows dearer day by day.
It's the memory of my childhood days,
That seems to fill my heart
And the kind mother that I loved has passed away.
I remember in the evening
When the fire was burning bright,
She called me to her side and said to me,
Be brave, my boy, and truthful
And never be ashamed
Of the teachings that you've learned on mother's knee.

CHORUS.

She was gentle and so kind
And I'll always bear in mind
The many golden lessons she taught me.
I have wealth and earthly power,
Yet I'd give all for one hour
For the teachings that I've learned on mother's knee.

How her gentle words would cheer me
In the evening when I came
From toiling in the meadows all the day.
Each word has brought me comfort,
But that voice is silent now,
And the mother that I loved has passed away.

THE CRANE AT THE BOAT CLUB.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Yesterday morning a beautiful crane, measuring some five feet from tip of wings, hovered over the Main house of the boat club. Many spectators watched its flight; then one of the employes of the club took a rifle from the motor boat of a member and shot at the bird after it lighted on the water back of the clubhouse. The first shot wounded the bird and after four more it was still alive, so he went out in the boat and killed it. The Herald stated it was wounded before this man shot it, which is untrue, as many could witness. And great indignation was felt by all who were present, on shore and at the club.

Will man never allow any wild creature to come in our midst? So many visitors hear of our wild visitors and are disappointed never to see them. What an attraction it would be for the city if they would come oftener and were protected. Surely, the greater majority of people desire to see these creatures unmolested; and have these people not a right to insist upon the city limit law, which forbids shooting, enforced? The police were notified of the affair yesterday, but no action was taken.

This specie of bird is rare and will soon be extinct at the present rate of destruction. The Federal law just passed forbids shooting of any migratory bird, and this comes under that head. A CITIZEN.

Duluth, Aug. 1.

A Woman Who Understands

Somewhere she waits to make you win,
Your soul in her firm white hands—
Somewhere the gods have made for you
The woman who understands.

As the tide went out she found him
Lashed to the spar of despair—
The wreck of his ship around him,
The wreck of his dreams in the air—
Found him, and loved him, and gathered
The soul of him to her heart;
The soul that had sailed on uncharted sea—
The soul that had sought to win and be free—
The soul of which she was part;
And there in the dusk she cried to the man:
"Win your battle—you can—you can."

Helping and loving and guiding,
Urging when that was best;
Holding her fears in hiding
Deep in her quiet breast;
This is the woman who kept him
True to his standards lost—
When tossed in the storm and stress and strife,
He thought himself through with the game of life
And ready to pay the cost;
Watching and guarding—whispering still,
"Win—you can—and I know you will."

This is the story of the ages;
This is the woman's way;
Wiser than seers or sages,
Lifting us day by day;
Facing all things with a courage
Nothing can daunt or dim;
Treading life's path wherever it leads—
Lined with flowers or choked with weeds,
But ever with him—with him;
Guardian, comrade, and golden spur,
The men who win are helped by her.

Somewhere she waits, strong in belief,
Your soul in her firm white hands;
Thank well the gods when she comes to you—
The woman who understands.

The Next Step.

Life: "I see that our leading bankers are trying to reform the currency. That shows progress."

"Yes. The next step will be to reform the leading bankers."

Lincoln's Prayer for Victory

Interview with Gen. Sickles in the Baltimore American.

"You didn't know there were three claimants for the honor of winning the battle, did you?" the general asked. "There were," he went on, answering his own question. "There was Meade and myself and there was another more powerful claimant—Lincoln.

"I remember very well the day the president told me of it. I had been taken to Washington after being wounded and losing my leg on the field. It was Sunday, July 5, three days after the terrific fighting which had been the lot of the Third corps under my command.

"I was in my lodging house on F street, opposite the Ebbitt house. I was still lying on the stretcher when the president arrived. My wound was paining me terribly and I was weak from the loss of much blood. I could not rest, though I had been lying there since 5 o'clock in the morning. The soldiers had tumbled my landlady out of bed at that early hour. She looked out of her third-story window and inquired about the fuss below.

"'Who's there?' she cried.

"The officer in command shouted up that Gen. Sickles was the man whose features were hid by a handkerchief thrown over his face.

"'Oh, dear me!' she exclaimed. 'Is he dead?'

"I snatched the handkerchief from my face and said:

"'No, auntie, not quite dead yet. I'm only dozing a little.'

"When the president arrived, he asked many questions about the battle, all of which I answered as well as I could. In spite of my wound I felt like joking him a bit about the anxiety which had been felt in Washington during the days of the battle at Gettysburg, and I said:

"'Mr. President, we heard at the front that you were all very anxious about us; that, indeed, you were all packing up and getting ready to get out.'

"'Well, Sickles,' he said, 'some of them may have been packing up and getting ready to flee, but I wasn't.'

"And then he told me about God's share in the success of our army at Gettysburg. He paused a moment or two before he spoke, and lowered his head. When he looked at me again I saw that strange, weird expression in his eyes. I had seen it before. He seemed to be searching within for his thought.

"'I will tell you why I didn't pack,' he said. 'I am speaking rather confidentially, for I don't like these things to get into print.

"'I confess I did feel a great deal of anxiety about Gettysburg. I felt that we could not endure another defeat, above all on northern soil, in one of our own free states. I felt that I had done my best to help our cause, but that the burden had become too great for me. I could not see my way out.

"'I did not know my way out, but I knew that if we were defeated at Gettysburg there was great danger of European intervention; that England and France would probably recognize the Southern Confederacy, and that would be the end of the Union.

"'I went to my chamber; I got down on my knees and I prayed. I prayed more fervently, more earnestly than I had ever prayed before. I said: "Dear Father in heaven, this is your cause, this is your war, this is your nation; we are your people. Pray help us, pray help me. I am almost crushed with the burden that I have carried up to this day. We cannot endure, we cannot hear another defeat. It would be out ruin. Come to us. Do help us. O Lord; help us, and we will try to serve thee better than ever before!

"'When I arose to my feet, Sickles, I felt a comforting relief in my soul. I felt that my prayer was heard and answered; I felt that God was with us and would help us, and after that moment I had no fears about Gettysburg.'

"So you see," the old general smiled, his half-closed eyes glowing with fire only partially dimmed by age, "I not only had Lincoln with me, but I had the Lord with me, and it is no wonder that we held Longstreet and his tremendous army for two and one-half bloody hours while they brought up the Fifth corps and the Sixth corps and made ready for the battle of the next day, when the last futile charge marked the high tide of the Confederacy."

Fewer Acres, Better Tilled.

Savannah Press: The Farm and Fireside magazine tells a true story with a real moral. It is about a man who paid $8,500 for a farm of 160 acres, and after working it for ten years and getting a good living from it all along, sold it for $48,000.

Now, the increase in land values during the ten years he owned the farm was responsible for some of this gain, of course, but over and above the increase of land values, as measured by other lands in this farmer's vicinity, there was an enormous gain to be explained only by the fact that the farm had shown a persistent upward trend in the returns it brought in year after year.

The secret of this young farmer's success was simple. While other farmers near and far were following the old rule of buying more land to grow more corn to raise more hogs in order to buy more land to grow more corn to raise more hogs, and so on, this young farmer, was developing for himself the theory that it was good practice to extend one's acres downward.

He kept his acreage down and kept his soil up. The result was larger and better crops year after year with less expenditure for lands, but solid investment in the quality of the land.

The fact that the lands were much more fertile and productive on the day that he sold them than on the day he bought them—after having yielded handsomely for ten years—was the reason why this young man made a small fortune as well as a steady income out of his farm.

This is common sense and business acumen applied to farming. This is what the Southern farmer needs to find out. Get the highest possible yield from the acre. Build up your soil; don't exhaust it. Concentrate your labor; don't spread it out. Diversify your crops so that your farm gives you a living and makes your cotton bring you the luxuries.

Our Eyes Tint the World.

William Makepeace Thackeray: We view the world with our own eyes, each of us; and we make from within us the world we see. A weary heart gets no gladness out of sunshine; a selfish man is skeptical about friendship, as a man with no ear doesn't care for music.

Some Strawberries.

Cook County News-Herald. While at Cornwall farm in Colvill township the other day we saw some very fine specimens of Cook county strawberries. Some of them are so large that they will have to be cut up to be put into an ordinary fruit jar.

Love Makes the Homes Look Cozy

Youth's Companion.

Little Mrs. Ritchie hammered the last tack into the lounge that she was covering, and then put her head down upon the nearest chair and cried.

"It just looks like one big botch!" she sobbed.

Little Mrs. Ritchie was wrong. Although there were in it a few unprofessional puckers, and the gold headed tacks were not set with mathematical precision, it did not look like a botch. It looked like a friendly lounge, prepared to make you happy and comfortable—a lounge that was on pleasant terms with everything else in the sunny, homelike room.

The doorbell of the little apartment stopped Mrs. Ritchie's sobs suddenly. She gave a dismayed glance at the clock. Half past three! It might be a caller! Mrs. Ritchie's upholstering was unprofessional in the time it took as well as in the puckers! There was nothing to do, however, except to go to the door—for Mrs. Ritchie came from a town where no one ever dreamed of being "not at home;" so she hastily pushed hammer and tacks under the lounge and went to admit her guest.

The caller was an elderly woman, dressed with the quiet elegance that only wealth makes possible. Little Mrs. Ritchie gave a gasp of dismay—to be caught so by Mrs. Munroe of all people! But she was too courteous to apologize, and her pretty welcome lost nothing by its half-shyness as she led the way to the parlor.

Mrs. Munroe stood a moment in the doorway. "My dear," she said, "it isn't polite to make remarks, I know, but I can't help it. It is such a charming room!"

"Oh, do you think so?" Mrs. Ritchie cried, flushing with pleasure. And then before she realized it she was telling the whole story—how long she had saved for the new covering of the lounge, and how happy she had been in the thought of it until Mrs. Inglis had called her in to see her new one, just come from Davenport's, and how it made hers look so botchy; how the puckers would come, and how the tacks would not go in evenly.

Mrs. Munro smiled down into the flushed face.

"My dear," she said, "never mind the tacks; the room—and the lounge—looks loved, and the finest upholsterer at Davenport's couldn't put that in. It grows out of the planning and saving, the dreams and the work that you and your husband have put into things. Rooms always respond to love. I am tempted to hope that you will always have to do your own upholstery!"

Little Mrs. Ritchie drew a long breath. "Oh, I am so glad you came in!" she cried.

Down to the Sea in Ships

Walt Mason in Collier's: For several years Col. W. R. Nelson, editor of the Kansas City Star, has spent his summers on the Massachusetts coast, and it occurred to him one day that he ought to have a yacht. Having made up his mind to indulge in a yacht, he determined to build one that would embody his ideas of comfort and safety. He wasn't so anxious to have a boat that would walk the waters as a thing of life; he wanted one with a good stone foundation that would defy the elements. He interviewed the Gloucester fishermen, whose boats are built for safety, and finally made his plans.

Then he tried to hire builders who would follow his plans and specifications, but no builders of reputation would tackle the job. They said they couldn't afford to have such a boat as the colonel's plans called for plrooting around over the raging deep. The advertisement would bring them into ridicule and disrepute. They advised the colonel to buy a second-hand corncrib and put a gasoline engine in it. Such a craft would give better satisfaction than the boat he contemplated.

The colonel had fifty-seven kinds of a time getting that boat built. Artisans would work on it for a while and then throw up their jobs, saying they were being ostracized by polite society for having anything to do with it. Finally it was found necessary to send to Kansas City for carpenters, and these merry men completed the job. The launching of the boat created a sensation. Seafaring men went down to the shore and looked on, and some wept, while others burst into hysterical laughter. The yacht looked more like a Chautauqua tabernacle than a ship. But the intrepid owner was well pleased with it, and said that one of the dreams of his life had been realized.

For a few days the yacht wallowed around in the most pleasing way, and then the Eastern Yacht club came to that neighborhood for the annual race. Col. Nelson had friends in the club, and they insisted that he should enter his yacht, which had been christened the Hoosier. They thought the boat would add a comedy feature to the event. In vain the owner protested. He said his boat wasn't a greyhound of the deep, and couldn't travel much faster than a wheelbarrow. He yielded to the entreaties of his friends, and on the appointed day the Hoosier loomed up for action. Among the contending yachts were two former cup defenders, one of them the Puritan. It happened that just after the start was made a heavy squall came up. The wind blew like a campaign orator for several hours. The swift boats had to take in sail to avoid being swamped, but the grand old Hoosier, being built like a soap factory, carried every rag she had on board, and went humping along so fast that the water smoked under her, and the skipper had to hold his whiskers on with both hands. She simply walked away from all the crack boats. The result was that when Col. Nelson returned to Kansas City, he took along a beautiful trophy—a silver water pitcher; for the Hoosier had won the race. And never before was a yachting trophy carried so far inland.

Advanced Girls.

Los Angeles Times: "The girl of the period," said Richard Le Gallienne, the poet, "reads Strindberg and Nietzsche, Shaw and Wells. She discusses free love as nonchalantly as her mother, at her age, used to discuss knitting.

"The girl of the period, in boots and breeches, rides astride. Bathing abroad, at Ostend or Trouville, she wears a lad's bathing suit of jersey cloth, skirtless and tight, that leaves arms and legs bare.

"The girl of the period smokes a cigarette with her coffee at the Ritz-Carlton. She takes a cocktail before dinner, champagne with dinner and a liqueur after dinner. But all that alcohol doesn't prevent her from discussing very clearly and lucidly with the man beside her the latest feminine doctrines of Ellen Key."

Mr. Le Gallienne smiled and shook his head.

"When you meet a girl of the period," he ended, "you are apt to become a man of the exclamation point—or even of the question mark."

Minnesota Opinions

Comments of the State Press.

Source of Wonder.

Brown's Valley Tribune: Northern Minnesota has thousands of acres of idle virgin soil, especially suited for dairying and stock raising that is being passed by today by the rush of emigrants looking for farm homes, who are going into Montana and other Far Western points. Some day it will be wondered at why this Northern Minnesota could have lain dormant for so long.

All Can Make Good.

Biwabik Times: There are more and better business opportunities in Northern Minnesota than any other section of the country. Young men of character, physical strength and push cannot fail to make good.

There's no Peace.

Fairmont Sentinel: The farmer never goes to bed at night with dead sure knowledge that he will wake up in the morning to find his crop intact. There is a good deal of nerve wear in the peaceful pursuit of farming.—Elk River Star-News.

True; and true also of practically every other business. The man who loans money on real estate is about the only chap who has an immortal cinch on things financial.

Grudging Assent.

Elk River Star-News: The new normal school provided for by the last legislature has been given to Bemidji by the committee provided to designate the location. So long as we have to endure another normal school it is well to have it at a town with the necessary facilities for getting in and out.

Hope for the Railroads.

Austin Transcript: The 2-cent passenger rate on railroads in Minnesota became the legal rate on Monday. The freight charges will also be reduced from 20 to 33 per cent, depending on the classification. Now the railroads may expect to make money in increased patronage. It has worked that way in Colorado and other states.

Man on the Job Needed.

Albert Lea Tribune: The Mankato Free Press says "what Minnesota needs more than any other thing at the present time is the application of economy." As Mankato is the home of our present governor, perhaps Editor Reynolds might use his influence upon his excellency to persuade him to give up some of his traveling and spend a little time looking after the affairs of state long enough to get in touch with its business. The Free Press suggests that a commission form of government might be a good thing for the state. Possibly. But to a man up a tree, it looks as though the election of a man to the governorship who would stay at home long enough to get acquainted with the business of his office and familiar with the problems which are confronting the state, would be a great improvement. A traveling commission would be exactly as bad as a traveling governor. What Minnesota is badly in need of today is a "man on the job."

It's Conceded.

Anoka Union: Minnesota is the greatest and best state in the Union and everybody is fast learning to admit it.

Credit for Mackenzie.

Sandstone Tribune: Beltrami county, where Secretary W. H. Mackenzie of the Northern Minnesota Development association lives, will be the first to organize a $20,000 corporation to guarantee clearing expenses for settlers and to help farmers get better stock. His idea is to have these corporations in every county possible, and Pine county is among the number where one is expected to materialize. The corporations will not be money-making combinations; the money invested in them will only serve as a revolving fund. Mr. Mackenzie is entitled to a lot of credit for the great work he is doing for the settlers and development.

Little Stomach.

(Inside Information.)

Little Stomach wakes up bright,
Feeling good—slept well all night;
Master sends his breakfast down—
Bacon, eggs and coffee brown;
Little Stomach goes to work
To digest without a shirk;
Breakfast scarcely finished when
Here comes lunch for two brave men!
Little Stomach onward rolls
Thro' the fricasseed and broils;
Then, as it to get his goat,
Comes a dinner, table d'hote;
Everything from soup to nuts;
Master is the King of Mutts;
Dinner measures two hours long—
Twixt the courses, wine and song;
Not the sparkling champagne drink,
But a wine a la red ink;
Little Stomach buckles down
To his task without a frown;
Works like fury there below
While good master sees a show;
Table d'hote is stowed away;
Little Stomach's earned his pay;
"Now I'll rest till morn," says he;
But, alas, that's not to be!
Just as he curls up to sleep
Comes a high ball broad and deep,
Crying, "Cheer up, Little 'Tum!'
More to follow! Here I come!"
[illegible]lands on top of that,
[illegible] Brothers Gin stand pat;
[illegible] Gordon are their names;
[illegible]rious are their fames;
[illegible]lad is the next;
[illegible]mach is quite vexed;
[illegible]e! Hang Haman high!!—
[illegible] quart of extra dry!
Little Stomach now is peeved,
Hurt, indignant, sorely grieved;
Joke's a joke, when it's at par;
But this joke has gone too far;
Little Stomach thus doth quoth:
"By my sacred stomach oath,
I'll get even with this gink
For this too excessive drink!"

L'ENVOI.

(The Morning After.)

"Oh, my poor, dear, aching head!
Would to goodness I were dead!
Oh, so very sick am I
Joy 'twould give me just to die!"
Little Stomach laughs with glee:
"Serves him right! Ho-ho! Tee-hee!"

"But that is not the question, my boy," said the father. "Can you live with her?"

MAKING THE GOVERNMENT USEFUL TO THE PEOPLE.

There will be no money stringency in crop-marketing sections this year.

William G. McAdoo, secretary of the treasury, yesterday announced that he will immediately deposit in national banks in the West and South, during the crop-marketing season, from twenty-five to fifty millions of government money.

On top of that comes the startling but pleasing innovation that prime commercial paper, approved by clearing houses and the treasury department, will be accepted as security for these deposits along with two-per-cents at par and other Federal bonds as well as state and municipal securities, for the first time in the history of the nation.

This is making the government useful to the people, and it is conducting public business with common sense and sound business judgment.

Truly, before this modern conception that government is intended for the service of society, precedents are having a shocking time of it.

Evelyn Nesbit Thaw is going back on the stage. Inasmuch as she proposes to appear under another name than Thaw, it might readily be inferred that she is also going back on Harry.

THE INTENT OF THE VOTER GOVERNS.

In deciding that Mayor Prince is entitled by law to the election certificate which he received as a result of the first city election under the commission plan in Duluth, Judge Cant of the district court bases his judgment on the policy which is well established in this state, that the intent of the voter shall govern.

Though the policy of some other states is otherwise, this is the settled policy of Minnesota, and it is wise and sound.

The purpose of an election is to find out what men the voters wish to put in office. Ordinarily, therefore, the man for whom the most people vote should get the place he seeks. This is to be departed from only when palpable fraud is shown. Merely technical defects in voting, easily to be accounted for and not unfairly or dishonestly disturbing the purpose above stated, should not upset the results of the canvass.

It must be admitted that there is unusual unanimity in the present government service. We have President Wilson, Secretary Wilson and Ambassador Wilson, and Secretary Bryan, Senator Bryan, Representative Bryan and Diplomatic Attache Bryan.

THE CREDIBILITY OF MULHALL.

There are some inescapable evidences that Lobbyist Mulhall is not invariably a stickler for the truth.

The stories of a man employed as he confesses to have been employed have to be weighed more carfully anyway than those of a man engaged in a more respectable business.

But the documentary evidence he has furnished of the business in which the National Association of Manufacturers has been engaged, and of the suspicious secrecy with which it carried on that business, is on a different basis.

So far that evidence stands unchallenged—a tremendous indictment of Big Business.

Nor is there anything in the instances where Mulhall has laid himself open to a charge of falsehood that betters the situation of the National Association of Manufacturers.

Evidently Mulhall, in making his reports to his employers, put the best face on it. He didn't underestimate his activity or his influence, or the amount of work he was doing for pay. If he had a word with a congressman, he expanded it in his report to a long and confidential interview. Maybe he reported interviews where there were none. Some of the congressmen say so, anyway.

But it is hard to see where that helps his employers any. Whether or not he did the things he claimed to have done, obviously he wouldn't have claimed that he did them unless his employers were paying him to do those very things.

And humanity is such that it's hard to find much sympathy for those rich Newporters whose jewels were stolen.

LEMON, LEMON, WHO IS TO GET THE LEMON?

Speaking in behalf of the California lemon grower and pleading for a duty on lemons, Senator Works of California says that his constituents cannot deliver lemons in the Eastern markets for less than $2.72 a box, while Italian growers can deliver them in the same markets for $1.21.

Therefore, he argues, there should be a duty on lemons that will put the California grower on a par in the Eastern markets with the Italian grower.

Of course that couldn't be done unless the tariff tax were heavy enough on Italian lemons to make them cost as much as California lemons.

If what Senator Works asks were done, of course Eastern consumers would have to pay twice as much for their lemons as they need to pay.

Or, putting it another way, if there is no duty on lemons the Eastern consumer can get two lemons for a nickel, but if there is a duty that would be satisfactory to California the Eastern consumer will have to pay a whole nickel for one lemon.

Something like a hundred million people consume lemons. A few thousands produce lemons.

Mr. Works's idea is that the hundred million people ought to pay two prices for their lemons for the sake of the few thousand lemon growers of California.

Mr. Works, intending to demonstrate that there should be a duty on lemons, has demonstrated conclusively that there should NOT be a duty on lemons.

Also, he has put the case against the tariff tax about as concretely and as convincingly as it could be put.

Over in Europe they are sterilizing milk by means of electricity. Maybe that's all that a thunderstorm does is to sterilize it—and here people have been living in ignorance all these years.

BANKERS MAY ADVISE, BUT NOT CONTROL.

By an amendment to the pending currency and banking bill, offered as a result of a conference with the administration and adopted yesterday by the house committee, provision is made for an advisory board of twelve bankers to aid and advise with the Federal reserve board, which is to have full control of the banking and currency system created by the bill.

This concession to the wishes of the bankers of the county is wise, wholesome and harmless to the public interest.

While The Herald has taken the stand throughout the discussion of the currency question, beginning when it was the Aldrich bill that was before the country, that the public interest, through government, should have full control of whatever system is created by financial legislation, it has also taken the stand that the advice of experienced bankers should be freely consulted, and that provision should be made for securing such advice.

The bankers, of course, would have preferred to dominate the reserve board, as they would have done overwhelmingly under the terms of the Aldrich bill. That, however, is impossible and unthinkable.

The provision for an advisory board of bankers to consult at frequent intervals with the Federal reserve board is dictated by good common sense, and it does not in any possible way infringe upon the principle of complete public control.

Mulhall doesn't seem to have made much of an impression the first time a lot of these men saw him. But they'll remember him now, maybe.

NO RECOGNITION OF HUERTA.

It will be no surprise to those who have formed a clear judgment of President Wilson's character to learn that he has made it plain that he has no present intention of recognizing the Huerta government in Mexico.

Doubtless this is highly disappointing to Ambassador Henry Lane Wilson, who has acted as a partisan in Mexican affairs rather than as a representative of the United States, and who manifestly is inclined to boast that he personally brought about the ascendancy of Huerta. If he did, he did something that he had no business to do, and that he should be sharply reprimanded for doing. And his conduct since his return to this country has made it easy to believe him capable of any foolish conduct, however incredible in a diplomat.

Recognition of Huerta, with his hands stained with blood and his heart blackened by treachery of the foulest type, is unthinkable.

As has often been remarked, it's peculiar what a difference a single letter will make. If you doubt it, try the difference between candid speech and candied speech.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters must not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

A CORD OF WOOD.

To the Editor of The Herald:

What is the legal measure for sixteen-inch wood in Minnesota? I read in The Herald or in a St. Paul paper where a cord of 128 feet was cut into sixteen-inch wood that it was decided 105 cubic feet was a cord. Is that right? Yours truly,

A. L. LORD.

Solon Springs, Wis., July 30.

The last legislature decreed that the term cord shall mean 128 cubic feet in four-foot lengths, and if the sale is of "sawed wood" a cord shall mean 110 cubic feet when piled and 160 cubic feet when thrown loosely into a wagon. If the wood is sawed and split it shall be 120 cubic feet piled and 175 feet when thrown loosely into a heap. —The Editor.

OLD FAVORITES.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I was very much delighted on seeing those old pieces of poetry in your paper "Curfew" and "The Leigh Valley."

I inclose the words of my grandmother's favorite song, and I would like to get the words of the song, "The Pretty Maid Milking Her Cow," if any reader knows them.

WILLIAM LEE.

Proctor, Minn., July 31.

I've a tender recollection
That I cherish all my life,
And the memory grows dearer day by day.
It's the memory of my childhood days,
That seems to fill my heart
And the kind mother that I loved has passed away.
I remember in the evening
When the fire was burning bright,
She called me to her side and said to me,
Be brave, my boy, and truthful
And never be ashamed
Of the teachings that you've learned on mother's knee.

CHORUS.

She was gentle and so kind
And I'll always bear in mind
The many golden lessons she taught me.
I have wealth and earthly power,
Yet I'd give all for one hour
For the teachings that I've learned on mother's knee.

How her gentle words would cheer me
In the evening when I came
From toiling in the meadows all the day.
Each word has brought me comfort,
But that voice is silent now,
And the mother that I loved has passed away.

THE CRANE AT THE BOAT CLUB.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Yesterday morning a beautiful crane, measuring some five feet from tip of wings, hovered over the Main house of the boat club. Many spectators watched its flight; then one of the employes of the club took a rifle from the motor boat of a member and shot at the bird after it lighted on the water back of the clubhouse. The first shot wounded the bird and after four more it was still alive, so he went out in the boat and killed it. The Herald stated it was wounded before this man shot it, which is untrue, as many could witness. And great indignation was felt by all who were present, on shore and at the club.

Will man never allow any wild creature to come in our midst? So many visitors hear of our wild visitors and are disappointed never to see them. What an attraction it would be for the city if they would come oftener and were protected. Surely, the greater majority of people desire to see these creatures unmolested; and have these people not a right to insist upon the city limit law, which forbids shooting, enforced? The police were notified of the affair yesterday, but no action was taken.

This specie of bird is rare and will soon be extinct at the present rate of destruction. The Federal law just passed forbids shooting of any migratory bird, and this comes under that head. A CITIZEN.

A Woman Who Understands

Somewhere she waits to make you win,
Your soul in her firm white hands—
Somewhere the gods have made for you
The woman who understands.

As the tide went out she found him
Lashed to the spar of despair—
The wreck of his ship around him,
The wreck of his dreams in the air—
Found him, and loved him, and gathered
The soul of him to her heart;
The soul that had sailed on uncharted sea—
The soul that had sought to win and be free—
The soul of which she was part;
And there in the dusk she cried to the man:
"Win your battle—you can—you can."

Helping and loving and guiding,
Urging when that was best;
Holding her fears in hiding
Deep in her quiet breast;
This is the woman who kept him
True to his standards lost—
When tossed in the storm and stress and strife,
He thought himself through with the game of life
And ready to pay the cost;
Watching and guarding—whispering still,
"Win—you can—and I know you will."

This is the story of the ages;
This is the woman's way;
Wiser than seers or sages,
Lifting us day by day;
Facing all things with a courage
Nothing can daunt or dim;
Treading life's path wherever it leads—
Lined with flowers or choked with weeds.
But ever with him—with him;
Guardian, comrade, and golden spur,
The men who win are helped by her.

Somewhere she waits, strong in belief,
Your soul in her firm white hands;
Thank well the gods when she comes to you—
The woman who understands.

Lincoln's Prayer for Victory

Interview with Gen. Sickles in the Baltimore American.

"You didn't know there were three claimants for the honor of winning the battle, did you?" the general asked. "There were," he went on, answering his own question. "There was Meade and myself and there was another more powerful claimant—Lincoln.

"I remember very well the day the president told me of it. I had been taken to Washington after being wounded and losing my leg on the field. It was Sunday, July 5, three days after the terrific fighting which had been the lot of the Third corps under my command.

"I was in my lodging house on F street, opposite the Ebbitt house. I was still lying on the stretcher when the president arrived. My wound was paining me terribly and I was weak from the loss of much blood. I could not rest, though I had been lying there since 5 o'clock in the morning. The soldiers had tumbled my landlady out of bed at that early hour. She looked out of her third-story window and inquired about the fuss below.

"'Who's there?' she cried.

"The officer in command shouted up that Gen. Sickles was the man whose features were hid by a handkerchief thrown over his face.

"'Oh, dear me!' she exclaimed. 'Is he dead?'

"I snatched the handkerchief from my face and said:

"'No, auntie, not quite dead yet. I'm only dozing a little.'

"When the president arrived, he asked many questions about the battle, all of which I answered as well as I could. In spite of my wound I felt like joking him a bit about the anxiety which had been felt in Washington during the days of the battle at Gettysburg, and I said:

"'Mr. President, we heard at the front that you were all very anxious about us; that, indeed, you were all packing up and getting ready to get out.'

"'Well, Sickles,' he said, 'some of them may have been packing up and getting ready to flee, but I wasn't.'

"And then he told me about God's share in the success of our army at Gettysburg. He paused a moment or two before he spoke, and lowered his head. When he looked at me again I saw that strange, weird expression in his eyes. I had seen it before. He seemed to be searching within for his thought.

"'I will tell you why I didn't pack,' he said. 'I am speaking rather confidentially, for I don't like these things to get into print.

"'I confess I did feel a great deal of anxiety about Gettysburg. I felt that we could not endure another defeat, above all on northern soil, in one of our own free states. I felt that I had done my best to help our cause, but that the burden had become too great for me. I could not see my way out.

"'I did not know my way out, but I knew that if we were defeated at Gettysburg there was great danger of European intervention; that England and France would probably recognize the Southern Confederacy, and that would be the end of the Union.

"'I went to my chamber; I got down on my knees and I prayed. I prayed more fervently, more earnestly than I had ever prayed before. I said: "Dear Father in heaven, this is your cause, this is your war, this is your nation; we are your people. Pray help us, pray help me. I am almost crushed with the burden that I have carried up to this day. We cannot endure, we cannot hear another defeat. It would be out ruin. Come to us. Do help us. O Lord; help us, and we will try to serve thee better than ever before!

"'When I arose to my feet, Sickles, I felt a comforting relief in my soul. I felt that my prayer was heard and answered; I felt that God was with us and would help us, and after that moment I had no fears about Gettysburg.'

"So you see," the old general smiled, his half-closed eyes glowing with fire only partially dimmed by age, "I not only had Lincoln with me, but I had the Lord with me, and it is no wonder that we held Longstreet and his tremendous army for two and one-half bloody hours while they brought up the Fifth corps and the Sixth corps and made ready for the battle of the next day, when the last futile charge marked the high tide of the Confederacy."

Fewer Acres, Better Tilled.

Savannah Press: The Farm and Fireside magazine tells a true story with a real moral. It is about a man who paid $8,500 for a farm of 160 acres, and after working it for ten years and getting a good living from it all along, sold it for $48,000.

Now, the increase in land values during the ten years he owned the farm was responsible for some of this gain, of course, but over and above the increase of land values, as measured by other lands in this farmer's vicinity, there was an enormous gain to be explained only by the fact that the farm had shown a persistent upward trend in the returns it brought in year after year.

The secret of this young farmer's success was simple. While other farmers near and far were following the old rule of buying more land to grow more corn to raise more hogs in order to buy more land to grow more corn to raise more hogs, and so on, this young farmer, was developing for himself the theory that it was good practice to extend one's acres downward.

He kept his acreage down and kept his soil up. The result was larger and better crops year after year with less expenditure for lands, but solid investment in the quality of the land.

The fact that the lands were much more fertile and productive on the day that he sold them than on the day he bought them—after having yielded handsomely for ten years—was the reason why this young man made a small fortune as well as a steady income out of his farm.

This is common sense and business acumen applied to farming. This is what the Southern farmer needs to find out. Get the highest possible yield from the acre. Build up your soil; don't exhaust it. Concentrate your labor; don't spread it out. Diversify your crops so that your farm gives you a living and makes your cotton bring you the luxuries.

Our Eyes Tint the World.

William Makepeace Thackeray: We view the world with our own eyes, each of us; and we make from within us the world we see. A weary heart gets no gladness out of sunshine; a selfish man is skeptical about friendship, as a man with no ear doesn't care for music.

Some Strawberries.

Cook County News-Herald. While at Cornwall farm in Colvill township the other day we saw some very fine specimens of Cook county strawberries. Some of them are so large that they will have to be cut up to be put into an ordinary fruit jar.

Love Makes the Homes Look Cozy

Youth's Companion.

Little Mrs. Ritchie hammered the last tack into the lounge that she was covering, and then put her head down upon the nearest chair and cried.

"It just looks like one big botch!" she sobbed.

Little Mrs. Ritchie was wrong. Although there were in it a few unprofessional puckers, and the gold headed tacks were not set with mathematical precision, it did not look like a botch. It looked like a friendly lounge, prepared to make you happy and comfortable—a lounge that was on pleasant terms with everything else in the sunny, homelike room.

The doorbell of the little apartment stopped Mrs. Ritchie's sobs suddenly. She gave a dismayed glance at the clock. Half past three! It might be a caller! Mrs. Ritchie's upholstering was unprofessional in the time it took as well as in the puckers! There was nothing to do, however, except to go to the door—for Mrs. Ritchie came from a town where no one ever dreamed of being "not at home;" so she hastily pushed hammer and tacks under the lounge and went to admit her guest.

The caller was an elderly woman, dressed with the quiet elegance that only wealth makes possible. Little Mrs. Ritchie gave a gasp of dismay—to be caught so by Mrs. Munroe of all people! But she was too courteous to apologize, and her pretty welcome lost nothing by its half-shyness as she led the way to the parlor.

Mrs. Munroe stood a moment in the doorway. "My dear," she said, "it isn't polite to make remarks, I know, but I can't help it. It is such a charming room!"

"Oh, do you think so?" Mrs. Ritchie cried, flushing with pleasure. And then before she realized it she was telling the whole story—how long she had saved for the new covering of the lounge, and how happy she had been in the thought of it until Mrs. Inglis had called her in to see her new one, just come from Davenport's, and how it made hers look so botchy; how the puckers would come, and how the tacks would not go in evenly.

Mrs. Munro smiled down into the flushed face.

"My dear," she said, "never mind the tacks; the room—and the lounge—looks loved, and the finest upholsterer at Davenport's couldn't put that in. It grows out of the planning and saving, the dreams and the work that you and your husband have put into things. Rooms always respond to love. I am tempted to hope that you will always have to do your own upholstery!"

Little Mrs. Ritchie drew a long breath. "Oh, I am so glad you came in!" she cried.

Down to the Sea in Ships

Walt Mason in Collier's: For several years Col. W. R. Nelson, editor of the Kansas City Star, has spent his summers on the Massachusetts coast, and it occurred to him one day that he ought to have a yacht. Having made up his mind to indulge in a yacht, he determined to build one that would embody his ideas of comfort and safety. He wasn't so anxious to have a boat that would walk the waters as a thing of life; he wanted one with a good stone foundation that would defy the elements. He interviewed the Gloucester fishermen, whose boats are built for safety, and finally made his plans.

Then he tried to hire builders who would follow his plans and specifications, but no builders of reputation would tackle the job. They said they couldn't afford to have such a boat as the colonel's plans called for pirooting around over the raging deep. The advertisement would bring them into ridicule and disrepute. They advised the colonel to buy a second-hand cornerib and put a gasoline engine in it. Such a craft would give better satisfaction than the boat he contemplated.

The colonel had fifty-seven kinds of a time getting that boat built. Artisans would work on it for a while and then throw up their jobs, saying they were being ostracized by polite society for having anything to do with it. Finally it was found necessary to send to Kansas City for carpenters, and these merry men completed the job. The launching of the boat created a sensation. Seafaring men went down to the shore and looked on, and some wept, while others burst into hysterical laughter. The yacht looked more like a Chautauqua tabernacle than a ship. But the intrepid owner was well pleased with it, and said that one of the dreams of his life had been realized.

For a few days the yacht wallowed around in the most pleasing way, and then the Eastern Yacht club came to that neighborhood for the annual race. Col. Nelson had friends in the club, and they insisted that he should enter his yacht, which had been christened the Hoosier. They thought the boat would add a comedy feature to the event. In vain the owner protested. He said his boat wasn't a greyhound of the deep, and couldn't travel much faster than a wheelbarrow. He yielded to the entreaties of his friends, and on the appointed day the Hoosier loomed up for action. Among the contending yachts were two former cup defenders, one of them the Puritan. It happened that just after the start was made a heavy squall came up. The wind blew like a campaign orator for several hours. The swift boats had to take in sail to avoid being swamped, but the grand old Hoosier, being built like a soap factory, carried every rag she had on board, and went humping along so fast that the water smoked under her, and the skipper had to hold his whiskers on with both hands. She simply walked away from all the crack boats. The result was that when Col. Nelson returned to Kansas City, he took along a beautiful trophy—a silver water pitcher; for the Hoosier had won the race. And never before was a yachting trophy carried so far inland.

Advanced Girls.

Los Angeles Times: "The girl of the period," said Richard Le Gallienne, the poet, "reads Strindberg and Nietzsche, Shaw and Wells. She discusses free love as nonchalantly as her mother, at her age, used to discuss knitting.

"The girl of the period, in boots and breeches, rides astride. Bathing abroad, at Ostend or Trouville, she wears a lad's bathing suit of jersey cloth, skirtless and tight, that leaves arms and legs bare.

"The girl of the period smokes a cigarette with her coffee at the Ritz-Carlton. She takes a cocktail before dinner, champagne with dinner and a liqueur after dinner. But all that alcohol doesn't prevent her from discussing very clearly and lucidly with the man beside her the latest feminine doctrines of Ellen Key."

Mr. Le Gallienne smiled and shook his head.

"When you meet a girl of the period," he ended, "you are apt to become a man of the exclamation point—or even of the question mark."

Minnesota Opinions

Comments of the State Press.

Source of Wonder.

Brown's Valley Tribune: Northern Minnesota has thousands of acres of idle virgin soil, especially suited for dairying and stock raising that is being passed by today by the rush of emigrants looking for farm homes, who are going into Montana and other Far Western points. Some day it will be wondered at why this Northern Minnesota could have lain dormant for so long.

All Can Make Good.

Biwabik Times: There are more and better business opportunities in Northern Minnesota than any other section of the country. Young men of character, physical strength and push cannot fail to make good.

There's no Peace.

Fairmont Sentinel: The farmer never goes to bed at night with dead sure knowledge that he will wake up in the morning to find his crop intact. There is a good deal of nerve wear in the peaceful pursuit of farming.—Elk River Star-News.

True; and true also of practically every other business. The man who loans money on real estate is about the only chap who has an immortal cinch on things financial.

Grudging Assent.

Elk River Star-News: The new normal school provided for by the last legislature has been given to Bemidji by the committee provided to designate the location. So long as we have to endure another normal school it is well to have it at a town with the necessary facilities for getting in and out.

Hope for the Railroads.

Austin Transcript: The 2-cent passenger rate on railroads in Minnesota became the legal rate on Monday. The freight charges will also be reduced from 20 to 33 per cent, depending on the classification. Now the railroads may expect to make money in increased patronage. It has worked that way in Colorado and other states.

Man on the Job Needed.

Albert Lea Tribune: The Mankato Free Press says "what Minnesota needs more than any other thing at the present time is the application of economy." As Mankato is the home of our present governor, perhaps Editor Reynolds might use his influence upon his excellency to persuade him to give up some of his traveling and spend a little time looking after the affairs of state long enough to get in touch with its business. The Free Press suggests that a commission form of government might be a good thing for the state. Possibly. But to a man up a tree, it looks as though the election of a man to the governorship who would stay at home long enough to get acquainted with the business of his office and familiar with the problems which are confronting the state, would be a great improvement. A traveling commission would be exactly as bad as a traveling governor. What Minnesota is badly in need of today is a "man on the job."

It's Conceded.

Anoka Union: Minnesota is the greatest and best state in the Union and everybody is fast learning to admit it.

Credit for Mackenzie.

Sandstone Tribune: Beltrami county, where Secretary W. H. Mackenzie of the Northern Minnesota Development association lives, will be the first to organize a $20,000 corporation to guarantee clearing expenses for settlers and to help farmers get better stock. His idea is to have these corporations in every county possible, and Pine county is among the number where one is expected to materialize. The corporations will not be money-making combinations; the money invested in them will only serve as a revolving fund. Mr. Mackenzie is entitled to a lot of credit for the great work he is doing for the settlers and development.

Little Stomach.

(Inside Information.)

Little Stomach wakes up bright,
Feeling good—slept well all night;
Master sends his breakfast down—
Bacon, eggs and coffee brown;
Little Stomach goes to work
To digest without a shirk;
Breakfast scarcely finished when
Here comes lunch for two brave men!
Little Stomach onward toils
Thro' the fricasseed and broils;
Then, as if to get his goat,
Comes a dinner, table d'hote;
Everything from soup to nuts;
Master is the King of Mutts;
Dinner measures two hours long—
Twixt the courses, wine and song;
Not the sparkling champagne drink,
But a wine a la red ink;
Little Stomach buckles down
To his task without a frown;
Works like fury there below
While good master sees a show;
Table d'hote is stowed away;
Little Stomach's earned his pay;
"Now I'll rest till morn," says he;
But, alas, that's not to be!
Just as he curls up to sleep
Comes a high ball broad and deep,
Crying, "Cheer up, Little 'Tum!'
More to follow! Here I come!"
Cockt[illegible] lands on top of that,
[illegible] Brothers Gin stand pat;
[illegible] Gordon are their names;
[illegible]strious are their fames;
[illegible] salad is the next;
Little Stomach is quite vexed;
[illegible]ike! Hang Haman high!!—
Splash! A quart of extra dry!
Little Stomach now is peeved,
Hurt, indignant, sorely grieved;
Joke's a joke, when it's at par;
But this joke has gone too far;
Little Stomach thus doth quoth:
"By my sacred stomach oath,
I'll get even with this gink
For this too excessive drink!"

L'ENVOI.

(The Morning After.)

"Oh, my poor, dear, aching head!
Would to goodness I were dead!
Oh, so very sick am I
Joy 'twould give me just to die!"
Little Stomach laughs with glee:
"Serves him right! Ho-ho! Tee-hee!"

Lippincott's: Mr. Dustin did not approve of his son's choice of a wife, and was trying to persuade him to see things as he did.

"Yes, you are quite right, Father," said the son. "Mabel has her defects, she is vain, full of pretensions and grand ideas, with a very difficult character. But, father, in spite of all, I simply adore her. I can't live without her."

"But that is not the question, my boy," said the father. "Can you live with her?"

MILLIONS TO MOVE CROPS

McAdoo Will Put Up to $50,000,000 in Banks' Hands.

Prime Commercial Paper Will Be Taken as Security.

Washington, Aug. 1.—Twenty-five to fifty million dollars of government funds will be deposited in the national banks of the South and West at once by Secretary McAdoo to facilitate the movement of crops. Federal, state and municipal bonds and prime commercial paper will be accepted as security for the money, upon which the banks will pay 2 per cent interest.

The move of Secretary McAdoo in establishing th's policy is to anticipate the money stringency in the late summer and fall which invariably accompanies the marketing and movement of crops, especially when they are unusually large, as the harvest now beginning forecasts. He intends to take time by the forelock and prevent or minimize the usual tightness of money.

Two Twos at Par.

In a statement, the secretary made the significant announcement that government bonds would be accepted at par as security for the new deposits, and that the additional money would be placed only with banks which have taken out at least 40 per cent of their authorized circulation.

The United States 2 per cent bonds, serving as security for most of the national bank circulation, have been depressed recently to new low market records, dropping to 95¾ during the last few days. The secretary's willingness to accept these bonds at par as security for the twenty-five to fifty million of promised deposits and the inducement to the national banks to increase their circulation up to the 40 per cent limit, is expected to help in restoring the parity of the depressed twos by creating a new market for them

First Time in History.

For the first time in history, the government will accept prime commercial paper as security for deposits. This privilege will be granted, announced the secretary, in order to make these special deposits available to banks on securities readily within their reach.

"The commercial paper submitted," added Mr. McAdoo, "shall first be passed upon and approved by the clearing house committees of the cities in which banks offering this paper may be located. All commercial paper and bonds must finally be passed upon and accepted by the secretary."

Approved commercial paper will be accepted as security for the deposits at 65 per cent of its face value, and high class state, municipal and other bonds, exclusive of government bonds, at 75 per cent of their market vaule.

The additional deposits will be placed with the national banks in the two or three principal cities in each of the states where harvesting is now in progress, and where the demand for money for moving the crops most conveniently can be met.

Repaid in Instalments.

The banks will be required to return the money to the public treasury when the crops have been moved. The present suggestion is, Mr. McAdoo said, that 15 per cent be repaid in December; 30 per cent in January; 30 per cent in February and 25 per cent in March, next.

"Steps are now being taken to carry out the plan," added the secretary, "so that the funds may be promptly available for the movement of the crops."

The names of the banks to receive the deposits and other details of the arrangement will be announced later.

With net balance in the general fund yesterday amounting to nearly $132,000,000 Secretary McAdoo has taken this stand that the government should anticipate the situation by placing deposits where and at the time they are needed. If the full $50,000,000 is deposited, this step will temporarily nearly double the government's deposits with the banks, which at the present time hold $58,000,000 of Federal funds.

Tillman Makes Appeal.

Just as Secretary McAdoo was announcing his plan, Senator Tillman of South Carolina was issuing a statement declaring that unless congress acted quickly to provide an emergency currency, the cotton planters of the South would lose $100,000,000 on account of the inability of Southern bankers to get money from New York "pirates." He urged that some kind of resolution be put through immediately to afford temporary relief and that the house banking and currency committee "stop squabbling" and allow permanent currency legislation to be enacted. He expressed the hope that the committee would work out a practical scheme to inspire confidence in the business people of the coutry so that they would lend money to the banks at 3 per cent on satisfactory collateral.

"Secretary McAdoo is well informed as to the business conditions in the United States, and I am willing to leave it to his good judgment as to what collateral shall be required," said the senator. "Right now there is an emergency, and unless congress acts promptly within the next sixty days the Southern cotton planters will be robbed of $100,000,000 or more by the fall in price of their principal crop, due to the inability on the part of the Southern banks to get money from New York at any price or any collateral.

"The New Yorkers have our people by the throat, as they have had them all these years since the war, and only congress can give relief."

SUN DOES HATCHING WHEN THE HEN DIES.

Massillon, Ohio, Aug. 1.—The recent protracted heat hatched out a brood of chickens, the mother of which died long before the peeps were to leave their shells on the chicken farm of Lee Shilling, who teaches a country school near here.

Shilling, when asked about it, said: "The hen had been dead a week when I visited her nest and found ten Minorca chicks that had hatched out during the hot weather, without hen or incubator. There were as lovely a lot of peeps as ever I saw."

Shilling expressed wonder, not so much because the blazing sun had hatched the eggs, which require a temperature of 103 deg., as he did that the eggs hatched without the daily turning process practiced by hand in artificial incubation and done by the hen herself in natural incubation.

Mitchell, S. D., Fire.

Mitchell, S. D., Aug. 1.—Fire here early Thursday destroyed a number of business houses with a loss of $35,000. A high wind made fire fighting difficult and for a time the flames threatened to destroy the entire business section.

Say Boy Is From Boston.

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 1.—The authorities of Eden Valley, Minn., today asked the local police to aid in a search for relatives of an unidentified youth killed there several days ago by a train. Articles found in the boy's clothing indicated, the authorities say, that he came from the family of a Boston, Mass., police official.

SYRIAN BRIDE OF 13 DOES NOT LIKE SPOUSE.

Mankato, Minn., Aug. 1.—Elizabeth Neim, a 13-year-old Syrian girl, is being cared for by Sheriff Osten at his residence, until he and other officials can investigate her story, that she was married May 10, last, by a Syrian priest named Father Abound of Omaha to another Syrian named Charles Buckley of this city, without her knowledge or consent.

According to the story of the girl, she was told to join hands with Mr. Buckley and heard the priest recite some words in Syrian, but did not know their meaning but later learned that she had taken the marriage vow. Since that time, up to about a week ago, she says that she has been living with the parents of Mr. Buckley, but not as his wife and she refuses absolutely to live with him.

Mrs. Buckley insists that she will kill herself before she will live with Mr. Buckley. The authorities are considering the situation and it is understood that Bishop P. F. Heffron of Winona has been communicated with.

TRAIN HITS CATTLE; FIVE MEN KILLED.

Parry Sound, Ont., Aug. 1.—Two locomotives hauling a long line of freight cars on the Grand Trunk railway plowed into a herd of cattle at Beatty's Siding, thirteen miles east of here yesterday. The train was wrecked and five members of the crew were killed and two injured. The dead include three firemen and an engineer.

Could anything be stronger than this commendation?

"Pure food must be the foundation upon which the health of the nation is built, and you have one of the best illustrations of what can be done in feeding th' people along the right lines with the right kind of food here in the Northwest in the dining service of the Northern Pacific Railway. "The food served and its preparation should be a model for every railroad and hotel in America. It is superior to anything I have ever before found in a public eating place. Most of the food which they serve comes from their own model farms, and the way in which it is prepared should be copied by others who wish to serve the public food that is healthful."

Vines for Home Decoration.

Some Frenchman has truly said: "The home without vines sees the man without a soul."

The humblest vine-clad cottage has a beautiful home-like atmosphere unknown to the stately mansion whose walls are bare of nature's greenery. One is a home; the other is a house. Vines speak of grace and beauty in every line—they are restful to the eye and bring peace to the soul.

Among the hardy climbers for rapid and effective work in covering porches, old fences and rock work, the ampelopsis quinquefolia or woodbine comes first. The ampelopsis englemanni is of more slender growth and somewhat finer foliage giving a smoother appearance. Both of these vines are absolutely hardy and when once established will grow to any height desired. There are specimens of the englemanni in Duluth covering rock walls fully fifty feet high.

I have often wondered that the people of Duluth do not make more use of the clematis paniculata. It easily ranks among the best things which we have introduced from Japan. This vine will grow ten or fifteen feet in a season and become a perfect mass of tender green foliage. In September, the vine is literally covered with great panicles of white star-like flowers, having a most delightful fragrance. It dies down in the fall, and the roots should have some winter protection, but it is fully as easy of cultivation as most of our hardy perennials.

The clematis Virginiana is our native clematis and is perfectly hardy. It resembles the paniculata, is of somewhat stronger growth and blooms about a month earlier. The flower panicles are much smaller than those of the paniculata, but they are followed by purple feathery seed pods which are very beautiful. Both of these vines are invaluable in effective landscape work.

The Beta grape is another hardy vine worth while both on account of its beauty and its fruit. It is a cross between our native wild grape and the Concord. The fruit is about two-thirds the size of the Concord and the vine needs no winter protectio[n]...

I spoke to one minister about a particular foreigner who is there who has no one to talk to of his own nationality, and the reply from the minister was, "But that man is not a Methodist."

It is just that lack of Christian sympathy which makes it hardest for them out there, and the public should do something.

Secretary Resigns.

Mrs. Julia Barnes, who has been recording secretary of the council for a number of years, sent in her resignation, which was accepted with expressions of regret and a vote of thanks for her services.

Routine reports were given of other work and in speaking of the municipal lodging house, an appeal was made for pictures, magazines and a few of the things which will make it more "homey" for those who are there.

Mrs. Barnes reported that the Duluth Dental association is working for the establishment of the free dental clinic here next fall and a free dental inspection in the schools.

Amusements

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

LYCEUM—Kinemacolor.
EMPRESS—Vaudeville.

Amusement Notes.

William Montgomery and Florence Moore, who opened at an amateur night in New York five years ago, and headlined Hammerstein's the following week, and whose vaudeville and musical comedy appearances ever since have been one of the big comedy sensations of the American stage, cancelled a $40,000 contract to engage under the management of Lew Fields in his all-star "Hanky Panky," which will be seen at the Lyceum theater for two nights, Aug. 4 and 5.

They had signed with Martin Beck for a tour of forty weeks over his Orpheum circuit, at a net salary of $1,000 a week, (their standard vaudeville stipend). After the contract had been signed, Miss Moore called upon Mr. Fields to request permission to use "Oh, You Circus Day," (an interpolated song in "Hanky Panky") in vaudeville.

Mr. Fields regretted that such permission was impossible, and laughingly suggested that if Miss Moore thought so well of the song, she could sing it in "Hanky Panky."

This led to serious negotiations, as a result of which Miss Moore was back in the Orpheum circuit offices before the ink was entirely dry on the contract, and with tears and pleas, such as only a temperamental comedienne can extort from her system when she wants something very feverishly, induced the good natured vaudeville magnate to postpone the time of her vaudeville appearances.

Miss Moore, in addition to being a comedienne of pronounced individuality, who was denominated by Miss May Leslie, the famous Chicago dramatic critic, as "the most amusing thing that ever trod the stage in skirts," is an aviatrix whose daring flights in Boston, during the engagement there of "Hanky Panky," kept the newspapers in close touch with her movements during a series of aerial performances, in which two serious falls did not alter her ambition to fly.

Vaudeville returned to the Empress theater yesterday, with the midweek change, and it will hold the boards for the remainder of the week.

William Lytell and company headline the bill with their comedy sketch. It tells the story of the efforts of a father and son to explain their absence from home one evening. Mr. Lytell's was one of the best comedy bits on the entire bill. An excellent mystery act is furnished by Madame De Mela, with the assistance of two trick cabinets. In one part of her act she is tied in a sack placed in a tank with a glass front, and water is poured in until the tank is half full. The curtain is drawn, and in a flash she appears, while in the tank and the sack is a small child. It is a very clever piece of trickery, and completely mystified the audience yesterday. The act is not without its comedy features. One of the members of the committee, supposedly secured from the audience, provides a most amusing line of patter.

Virginia Dare sings character songs, some of them humorous and some tragic, and also entertains with some piano selections.

While Sam Mylie does not boast of an extraordinary voice, he has a collection of songs and nonsense that made a big hit yesterday. He is a natural comedian, and the audience was loath to see him go.

The usual good motion pictures are shown. One film shows the rowing regatta held recently at St. Paul, in which the Duluth crews were victorious, and the other shows some pictures descriptive of a child's dream.

CURRIE HAS RECORD.

Man Convicted at Rochester, Minn., Known in North Dakota.

Grand Forks, N. D., Aug. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Investigations made here by Minnesota authorities have revealed an unusual career of crime as the work of Charles Currie, sent to Stillwater penitentiary several days ago from Rochester, Minn., where he pleaded guilty to burglary.

Currie has served time in the North Dakota penitentiary, and in the Walsh, Pembina and Grand Forks county jails and charges on which he has been convicted from time to time include burglary, arson, forgery, larceny and blind-pigging.

At one time Currie and his father, the latter then within a month of his 90th birthday, spent Christmas together in the Walsh county jail, both being charged with blind-pigging.

NEW POLES WILL NOT BE ALLOWED.

Complaint was made to Mayor Prince this morning that the Duluth Telephone company is erecting new poles on Twenty-seventh avenue west instead of putting its wires underground, as required by the order of the old council.

The mayor stated that this will not be allowed and that the wires of the Bell company must be put in underground conduits. He asserted that the city will go to the limit to have the order obeyed.

The Zenith Telephone company has already placed its wires underground, as required by the council. The work cost the Zenith company approximately $3,000. Twenty-seventh avenue is now being paved and the residents want the wires removed at the same time.

DAY NURSERY IS INSPECTED

Duluth Women Visit Rooms Which Will Be Opened in New Patrick Factory By King's Daughteres.

A large number of women interested in the work planned by the King's Daughters in their day nursery which will be opened next Monday at the new Patrick factory at Twenty-ninth avenue west and Superior street, visited the rooms there yesterday at the opening reception planned by the girls of that society with calling hours from 3 to 9 o'clock.

"We can accommodate about thirty children here," said Miss Dorothy Olcott, chairman of the day nursery committee in telling about the plan, "and we already have about fifteen mothers who plan to leave their little ones here while they are away at work during the day. We have arranged to have a matron here who is a competent nurse and then two girls from the society will be here every day to amuse the children and help in their care."

Visitors saw the big playground with its lovely sand piles; the pretty play room with pretty furnishings, and window boxes filled with flowers, the big empty box "for playthings and toys," the shiny white bathroom; the kitchen where they will have the use of a gas stove; and the little sleeping rooms with a row of eight little while iron beds "where they will have their naps" said the hostess. "We shall have to sleep them in relays," she explained and did say that they could use a few more little beds.

A clever little scheme worked out charmingly for the furnishing of things still needed. Signs put up around the rooms simply suggested the needs and before the day was over everything was signed for by visitors who were interested in helping. Some of the signs were, "We may have cold feet if we do not have hot water bottles." "A canary bird would go beautifully here." "We have a playground, but we have no playthings." "Have you a swing you do not want?" Other wants were made known by the signs.

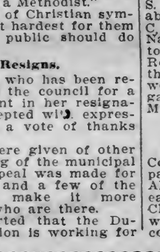
A fireless cooker has been donated which will aid much in cooking the oatmeal and other foods which they will prepare for their little charges.

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

What One City Does to Help Wayward Girls.

Just now there is considerable agitation in numerous quarters for the appointment of women as policemen, with the special mission of aiding young girls who constantly are facing pitfalls and dangers. A few cities, I believe, already have adopted the plan, as an experiment, and others doubtless will follow.



In Boston, a different plan has been followed. Mrs. Thomas H. Tyler has just completed her first six months' service as street matron. She is not a city official, but was appointed by the Florence Crittenden League of Compassion to have charge of this branch of their work.

This organization is a worthy one, and has a splendid record. It has been long engaged in rescue work, and has now taken this step in advance, to supplement salvation with prevention. A much better plan, is it not?

This league rented a comfortable apartment, and established Mrs. Tyler there in homelike surroundings. From that place, night after night, she has gone about the streets and parks, into the theaters and cafes, and has silently and graciously given girls her aid when needed. Wearing no badge of authority, she does her good work by sheer force of her friendly and kindly personality. Her services run from helping a simple country girl safely onto the right car, to plucking back from the final misstep some other girl with her face set downward. Her formula of service is expressed in her own phrase: "She saw I was her friend."

Mrs. Tyler is not hampered in her services by any red tape. The society provides her with the home and the funds and leaves her alone. She invites those girls to the Shelter—the name of the home—and there makes them feel that they are indeed welcome, not as inmates, but as guests. So she wins their confidence, and has done a wonderful work so far in helping girls who need some kind head and heart to guide them.

What a splendid example this is for other cities! Of course, instead of one woman of the kind, there should be scores of them. Is not this better than policewomen, and police matrons? Is it not better to halt girls before they start on the wrong road, than to let them start and then give them advice and try to comfort them? And girls will accept advice from a woman who wears no badge or coat of authority quicker than otherwise. Such a plan is well worthy of trial in other cities.

Could You Use Another Room?

Few people these days have enough rooms in their homes and when the over-night visitor comes it is a case of crowding and this in many cases causes the guest to feel as though he was a nuisance and often shortens his stay.

Lake Superior Tax Association Would Enjoin City of Ely.

Would Protect Mining Companies From Alleged Unfair Taxation.

The Lake Superior Tax association, an organization comprising all of the mining companies with interests on the Mesaba range including the Oliver Iron Mining company and several of the independents, is responsible for the injunction suit which the Oliver Iron Mining company has brought in district court against the City of Ely, in which a question of assessments for street improvements is involved.

In district court bofer Judge Dancer today, attorneys representing the city officials of Ely are appearing on an order to show cause why a temporary injunction should not issue restraining the city officials from paying more than one-third of the total expense for certain street improvements now in progress from the general permanent improvement fund. In another action, the Oliver Iron Mining company is seeking a mandamus compelling the city to make a special assessment against the property owners. It is claimed that certain contracts have been let for improvements which have been paid for or which are being paid for out of the general fund, in direct violation of the charter provision which specifies that the general fund shall not be drawn upon to the extent of more than one-third.

The Oliver Iron Mining company pays about 80 per cent of the taxes which go into the city treasury of Ely and is suing to protect the fund from withdrawals to cover the cost of improvements, which it claims should be paid for through special assessments. It objects to more than one-third of the cost being paid out of the general fund.

The Lake Superior Tax association was organized less than a year ago. It has taken an active part in protecting the rights of the mining companies as taxpayers in a number of instances. This is the first instance that suit has been brought.

THREE MEN GET A DUCKING

Launch Overturns and They Spend the Night in the New Duluth Police Station.

What might have been a drowning, but resulted in only a ducking and a prolonged case of shivering, happened last night to three young men, well known in Duluth, whose names charity demands suppressed. This all happened up the St. Louis river and had a moving picture machine been used, a film of real action pantomime profanity and strenuous endeavor would have been taken.

One of the young men, connected with The Herald, owns a launch, which almost debars him from the business for no newspaperman is supposed or entitled to possess enough money to own one of the craft; but at any rate, he owns it and is quite liberal with his invitations. Yesterday afternoon he inveigled one of his fellow reporters and another friend, who is prominently connected with the municipal court, to take a launch ride with him up to New Duluth.

Late in the afternoon the trio sought the launch again. Thoughtlessly they all stepped on the port gunwale at the same time, and as the two newspapermen are far from being in the lightweight class, the launch, although a sturdy craft, cringed under the combined assault and shipped enough water to sink her. The three mariners of the brineless shallow were precipitated most unceremoniously into the river.

One of them did not know that he could walk in, and, imagining that the water was deep, struck out valiantly to get away from the rocking boat and reach the shore. When he discovered his companions standing about waist deep in the water and laughing, he made remarks about them, the depth of the water and conditions in general which threw his companions into further convulsions and made the ambient air quiver. Then the work of bailing the boat out had to be gone through with and the three stood to their waists in water and worked the pumps and the buckets. After the hull had been emptied it was found that the engine would not work, so the whole thing was passed up and the trio sought lodging in the new police station at New Duluth. They arrived in Duluth today still soaking and with their ardor dampened, but not enough to keep them from putting the blame on each other.

ANNUAL PICNIC OF ODD FELLOWS

Duluth and Superior Members Will Have Outing at Cloquet.

Complete plans for the tenth annual Odd Fellows' picnic to be held next Friday at Cloquet were made last evening at the West Duluth lodge rooms, delegates being present from all the lodges in Duluth and Superior.

Governor A. O. Eberhart, it was announced, has accepted an invitation to be the principal speaker of the day and he will address the gathering at Cloquet on "Interstate Fellowship." Besides the governor, prominent members of the lodge in Minnesota and Wisconsin will speak, among those being: C. A. Johnson of Virginia, grand patriarch of the Minnesota grand encampment; A. S. Bolton of St. Paul, grand secretary of the Minnesota grand lodge; A. W. Anness of Windom, Minn., grand master of Minnesota; S. S. Sherrin of Marshfield, Wis., grand master of Wisconsin; and Dr. John Clark of Superior, grand patriarch of Superior.

A special train of ten coaches will leave the union station at 9 o'clock next Friday morning and will also stop at the West Duluth station for the local delegation at 9:25 o'clock. The picnickers will arrive at Cloquet at 11 o'clock, following which they will go to the picnic grounds and have dinner. In the afternoon the program of speeches will be rendered, together with a musical program by the Third Regiment band, which will accompany the party. The field sports and races will conclude the afternoon program. The special will return to Duluth about 9 o'clock in the evening, the train leaving at any time the picnickers are ready.

It was announced last evening that all the business houses in Cloquet will be closed during the day, the mayor of the town having declared Friday a holiday. The Commercial club of Cloquet, together with the business men, has joined with the Odd Fellows there in arranging for the day's program. Prizes for the races have been donated by the different business men of the lumber town.

BIG CROWD EXPECTED AT SOCIALIST PICNIC

More than 2,000 people are expected to attend the Socialist picnic at Fairmont park Sunday afternoon.

Arrangements for the affair have already been made by local Socialists and the program includes several addresses, declamations and songs, music by the Zenith City band and a series of races and field sports.

Edwin T. Harris of Superior, Socialist candidate for mayor there at the last election, will deliver the principal address of the day. He will speak on the proposed recall of Mayor Konkel. Leo Laukki will speak in Finnish; Edward Miller in Polish, and I. Jaffe in Jewish.

WANT SUPERIOR STREET EXTENDED.

At the regular meeting of the Oneota and Hazelwood Improvement club to be held this evening at the Merritt school, Fortieth avenue west and Fifth street, a plan will be discussed to request the city commission to connect Superior street, at Thirty-fourth avenue west, with Halifax street, at Thirty-eighth avenue west.

The proposal would mean the condemnation of all the property from the D., M. & N. tracks, where the car turns, through the northeast corner of the ball park and the property lying in the ravine up to the end of Halifax street. The street will then be changed to Superior street, according to the plan.

The matter will be taken up at the meeting this evening for the first time, and a committee will be appointed to represent the club before the city commission. The Superior street extension would open that section of the city lying northwest of the ball park to a direct thoroughfare entering the city.

In addition to the proposed extension, the campaign for factories will be started this evening. It is planned to invite manufacturers from all parts of the Northwest to come and locate in Oneota. John Roswell is chairman of the committee, which has been investigating the plan, and he will make his first report this evening.

The meeting will be open to the general public.

The principal business to be taken up at the regular meeting of the West Duluth Commercial club this evening will be a discussion on the bridges in this end of the city. RUMSEY JEWEL LOSS NOW PUT AT $125,000

No Trace Found of Gems Stolen From Newport People.

Narragansett Pier, R. I., Aug. 1.—The disappearance of $275,000 worth of jewels from two residences in the summer colony was unexplained today, though a small army of detectives has been diligently at work on the mystery since last Saturday night.

Mrs. John Hanan, who sustained more than one-half of the total loss, was indisposed as a consequence of the disturbance of her household, combined with the serious illness of her husband. The latter was said to be showing some improvement.

According to Charles S. Rumsey, the original estimate of the losses at his cottage was much too small and the figure is now placed at $125,000.

Detectives here continue the line of the generally accepted theory that a gang of professional thieves committed both robberies after ingratiating themselves with servants or others familiar with the habits of the two families.

FARRELL MAY LOSE OUT ALSO

Prediction of Attorneys Based on Decision in Mayoralty Case.

Constitutionality of Preferential System Is Upheld By the Court.

While attorneys are not anxious to forecast the outcome of the Farrell-Murchison-Hicken commissionership contest which is waiting for a decision from Judge Cant in district court, some who are in touch with the situation have ventured the opinion that James A. Farrell, defeated candidate for the office of short term commissioner, has lost out a second time.

The opinion is based largely on the position that the court has taken on the constitutionality of the preferential system of voting in deciding the Prince-McEwen mayoralty contest. It has been generally understood in the Farrell contest that the whole question practically hinged on this point. Judge Cant has already decided this issue in the Prince-McEwen-Fay contest.

In the mayoralty election contest the court upholds the constitutionality of the charter provision for the preferential system of balloting in the following language:

"The contestant, Marcus L. Fay, rests his case upon the contention that the charter provision for second and additional choices on election ballots is invalid and that only first choice votes should be counted. It is conceded that if all choices must be counted, Mr. Fay cannot succeed in his contest. He received the greatest number of first choice votes for the office of mayor at the election in question. My opinion is that the charter provision for the preferential ballot is valid, and therefore that the contention on behalf of Mr. Fay must fail."

Mr. Farrell also led the two successful candidates in the number of first choice votes and this fact was set up by him in his claim for the office. A number of disputed ballots are also to be considered by the court, but attorneys for Mr. Hicken and Mr. Murchison declared that by applying the court's rule in the mayoralty case the final results will not be disturbed to any great extent by the court and that the main prop on which Mr Farrell rested his case has fallen.

GRONNA AGAIN RAPS TARIFF

Assails Agricultural Schedule of the Democratic Bill.

Catron Arraigns Schedule K. and Lippitt Asks Cotton Duties.

Washington, Aug. 1.—Senator Gronna of North Dakota continued his assault in the senate today on the Underwood-Simmons tariff bill, renewing his criticism of the agricultural schedules. He compared the proposed rates on all agricultural products with the tariffs of other countries, and asserted that in everything the farmer raises he will be put at a great disadvantage.

Senator Catron, Republican, of New Mexico, opposed free raw wool and the reductions in woolen manufactures in a speech today.

"If this bill is carried into law," Senator Catron declared, "a blow will be given to the sheep industry which will extinguish it unless those people interested in sheep shall do as they did in 1894 and 1895—buy all the holdings of the small owners and carry the large flocks into what would be denominated by the party in power as a trust or monopoly."

Fears Foreign Monopoly.

The senator further asserted that the proposed law would close the woolen mills. A foreign monopoly would, he asserted, intervene to keep the prices up and prevent cheapening the cost of living through the free listing of wool and 50 per cent reduction in wool manufactures.

Senator Lippitt introduced as a substitute the cotton schedule of the Dingley law of 1897, less 20 per cent.

Senator Brandegee asked Senator Simmons if he had been able to get any understanding with house leaders as to when the new wool rates were to become effective.

"I conferred with Representative Underwood, who was not authorized to reach any agreement. I cannot see any remedy in the matter except the speedy passage of the bill," replied the finance committee chairman.

OLD LUMBERJACK EXPIRES IN SWAMP

William McIntosh, or "Billy North" Victim of Alcoholism.

Cass Lake, Minn., Aug. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The body of William McIntosh, aged 45, was brought here this morning, having been found in a swamp yesterday twelve miles southwest of Cass Lake. He is supposed to have died of alcoholism. McIntosh has been spending the last few years in Cass Lake doing odd jobs and was addicted to drinking. Three weeks ago he went to the country to work. He was very nervous the three days he spent there and did not sleep nights but spent most of the time walking around. He left the place the third night and that was the last seen of him alive. The body was found near a swamp, one leg being imbedded in the mud to the hip and the other to the knee.

McIntosh has spent most of the past fifteen years in Northern Minnesota lumber camps and was known by almost every lumberjack as "Billy North." Two brothers survive, one being an engineer in the Northern Pacific shops at Brainerd and the other living in Nova Scotia. The body is being held here awaiting word from McIntosh's brothers.

NEW CALLS ON SCANT FUNDS

Commission Must Find Money for City Hall Repairs.

Misdemeanor for Passengers to Misuse Street Railway Transfers.

Two appropriation ordinances for improvements to the city hall will be given their first reading at the meeting of the city commission this afternoon.

One will appropriate $1,180 from the very much embarrassed permanent improvement fund for the painting and decorating and the other will appropriate $502.32 from the general fund for vault fixtures.

The ordinance making it a misdemeanor for passengers or street car employes to misuse transfers will be given its third reading and passed. This measure is being passed in consideration of the agreement of the street car company to carry firemen and policemen in uniform.

An ordinance appropriating $240 for a garbage wagon will be introduced. Commissioner Hicken has made a deal whereby part of the cost of a new wagon will be allowed on an old chemical of the fire department. For the chemical $90 is being allowed, which reduces the cash payment to $150.

This morning the remodeled garbage cart was rented to a private collector at $2 a month. The officials figure that this will pay the interest and the wear and tear. The lessee takes his old wagon out of commission, thus reducing the number of the obnoxious wagons which have been making themselves unpleasant throughout the city. Commissioner Hicken states that the odorous wagons must go and plans to help the owners get rid of at least two more of them by renting them city carts. Whenever the city installs the municipal collection of garbage these carts will be immediately available.

THREE MEN GET A DUCKING

Launch Overturns and They Spend the Night in the New Duluth Police Station.

What might have been a drowning, but resulted in only a ducking and a prolonged case of shivering, happened last night to three young men, well known in Duluth, whose names charity demands suppressed. This all happened up the St. Louis river and had a moving picture machine been used, a film of real action pantomime profanity and strenuous endeavor would have been taken.

One of the young men, connected with The Herald, owns a launch, which almost debars him from the business for no newspaperman is supposed or entitled to possess enough money to own one of the craft; but at any rate, he owns it and is yuite liberal with his invitations. Yesterday afternoon he inveigled one of his fellow reporters and another friend, who is prominently connected with the municipal court, to take a launch ride with him up to New Duluth.

Late in the afternoon the trio sought the launch again. Thoughtlessly they all stepped on the port gunwale at the same time, and as the two newspapermen are far from being in the lightweight class, the launch, although a sturdy craft, cringed under the combined assault and shipped enough water to sink her. The three mariners of the brineless shallow were precipitated most unceremoniously into the river.

One of them did not know that he could walk in, and, imagining that the water was deep, struck out valiantly to get away from the rocking boat and reach the shore. When he discovered his companions standing about waist deep in the water and laughing, he made remarks about them, the depth of the water and conditions in general which threw his companions into further convulsions and made the ambient air quiver. Then the work of bailing the boat out had to be gone through with and the three stood to their waists in water and worked the pumps and the buckets. After the hull had been emptied it was found that the engine would not work, so the whole thing was passed up and the trio sought lodging in the new police station at New Duluth. They arrived in Duluth today still soaking and with their ardor dampened, but not enough to keep them from putting the blame on each other.

ANNUAL PICNIC OF ODD FELLOWS

Duluth and Superior Members Will Have Outing at Cloquet.

Complete plans for the tenth annual Odd Fellows' picnic to be held next Friday at Cloquet were made last evening at the West Duluth lodge rooms, delegates being present from all the lodges in Duluth and Superior.

Governor A. O. Eberhart, it was announced, has accepted an invitation to be the principal speaker of the day and he will address the gathering at Cloquet on "Interstate Fellowship." Besides the governor, prominent members of the lodge in Minnesota and Wisconsin will speak, among those being: C. A. Johnson of Virginia, grand patriarch of the Minnesota grand encampment; A. S. Bolton of St. Paul, grand secretary of the Minnesota grand lodge; A. W. Annes of Windom, Minn., grand master of Minnesota; S. S. Sherrin of Marshfield, Wis., grand master of Wisconsin; and Dr. John Clark of Superior, grand patriarch of Superior.

A special train of ten coaches will leave the union station at 9 o'clock next Friday morning and will also stop at the West Duluth station for the local delegation at 9:25 o'clock. The picnickers will arrive at Cloquet at 11 o'clock, following which they will go to the picnic grounds and have dinner. In the afternoon the program of speeches will be rendered, together with a musical program by the Third Regiment band, which will accompany the party. The field sports and races will conclude the afternoon program. The special will return to Duluth about 9 o'clock in the evening, the train leaving at any time the picnickers are ready.

It was announced last evening that all the business houses in Cloquet will be closed during the day, the mayor of the town having declared Friday a holiday. The Commercial club of Cloquet, together with the business men, has joined with the Odd Fellows there in arranging for the day's program. Prizes for the races have been donated by the different business men of the lumber town.

BIG CROWD EXPECTED AT SOCIALIST PICNIC

More than 2,000 people are expected to attend the Socialist picnic at Fairmont park Sunday afternoon.

Arrangements for the affair have already been made by local Socialists and the program includes several addresses, declamations and songs, music by the Zenith City band and a series of races and field sports.

Edwin T. Harris of Superior, Socialist candidate for mayor there at the last election, will deliver the principal address of the day. He will speak on the proposed recall of Mayor Konkel. Leo Laukki will speak in Finnish; Edward Miller in Polish, and I. Jaffe in Jowish.

WANT SUPERIOR STREET EXTENDED.

At the regular meeting of the Oneota and Hazelwood Improvement club to be held this evening at the Merritt school, Fortieth avenue west and Fifth street, a plan will be discussed to request the city commission to connect Superior street, at Thirty-fourth avenue west, with Halifax street, at Thirty-eighth avenue west.

The proposal would mean the condemning of all the property from the D., M. & N. tracks, where the car turns, through the northeast corner of the ball park and the property lying in the ravine up to the end of Halifax street. The street will then be changed to Superior street, according to the plan.

The matter will be taken up at the meeting this evening for the first time, and a committee will be appointed to represent the club before the city commission. The Superior street extension would open that section of the city lying northwest of the ball park to a direct thoroughfare entering the city.

In addition to the proposed extension, the campaign for factories will be started this evening. It is planned to invite manufacturers from all parts of the Northwest to come and locate in Oneota. John Roswell is chairman of the committee, which has been investigating the plan, and he will make his first report this evening.

The meeting will be open to the general public.

ARRESTED ON CHARGE OF BEATING WIFE.

George Oven was arrested this morning by Lieut. Wilcox on the charge of assault, the complaint for his arrest having been made out by his wife, who claims Oven struck her Tuesday evening with a stick of wood.

The Ovens live in Merrill and Ring row and Wednesday morning Mrs. Oven came to the police with the story that her husband had beaten her the night before. A warrant was sworn out for is arrest, but Oven had disappeared in the meantime and was not found until this morning, hiding in the West end.

Oven will be arraigned before Judge Lanners this afternoon on an assault charge.

FUNERAL OF MIDWAY WOMAN SUNDAY.

The funeral of Mrs. Emma Helmer, 46 years old, wife of Vitalis Helmer of Midway, who died Wednesday morning at the St. Luke's hospital following a short illness, will be held at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon from the residence and at 2:30 o'clock from the Midway church. Interment will be at the Midway Lutheran cemetery.

Mrs. Helmer had been a resident of Midway for the past thirty years and was very well known in this section. She is survived by three sons and four daughters, besides her husband. They are: Mrs. C. J. Johnson of Proctor, Mabel, Phoebe, Lillian, Arthur, Canard and Leonard, all of Duluth.

Will Discuss Bridges.

The principal business to be taken up at the regular meeting of the West Duluth Commercial club this evening will be a discussion on the bridges in this end of the city. Local residents have complained several times about the condition of two or three bridges and it is probable that a committee will be appointed to take the matter up with the city commission.

RUMSEY JEWEL LOSS NOW PUT AT $125,000

No Trace Found of Gems Stolen From Newport People.

Narragansett Pier, R. I., Aug. 1.—The disappearance of $275,000 worth of jewels from two residences in the summer colony was unexplained today, though a small army of detectives has been diligently at work on the mystery since last Saturday night.

Mrs. John Hanan, who sustained more than one-half of the total loss, was indisposed as a consequence of the disturbance of her household, combined with the serious illness of her husband. The latter was said to be showing some improvement.

According to Charles C. Rumsey, the original estimate of the losses at his cottage was much too small and the figure is now placed at $125,000.

Detectives here continue the line of the generally accepted theory that a gang of professional thieves committed both robberies after ingratiating themselves with servants or others familiar with the habits of the two families.

FARRELL MAY LOSE OUT ALSO

Prediction of Attorneys Based on Decision in Mayoralty Case.

Constitutionality of Preferential System Is Upheld By the Court.

While attorneys are not anxious to forecast the outcome of the Farrell-Murchison-Hicken commissionership contest which is waiting for a decision from Judge Cant in district court, some who are in touch with the situation have ventured the opinion that James A. Farrell, defeated candidate for the office of short term commissioner, has lost out a second time.

The opinion is based largely on the position that the court has taken on the constitutionality of the preferential system of voting in deciding the Prince-McEwen mayoralty contest. It has been generally understood in the Farrell contest that the whole question practically hinged on this point. Judge Cant has already decided this issue in the Prince-McEwen-Fay contest.

In the mayoralty election contest, the court upholds the constitutionality of the charter provision for the preferential system of balloting in the following language:

"The contestant, Marcus L. Fay, rests his case upon the contention that the charter provision for second and additional choices on election ballots is invalid and that only first choice votes should be counted. It is conceded that if all choices must be counted, Mr. Fay cannot succeed in his contest. He received the greatest number of first choice votes for the office of mayor at the election in question. My opinion is that the charter provision for the preferential ballot is valid, and therefore that the contention on behalf of Mr. Fay must fail."

Mr. Farrell also led the two successful candidates in the number of first choice votes and this fact was set up by him in his claim for the office. A number of disputed ballots are also to be considered by the court, but attorneys for Mr. Hicken and Mr. Murchison declared that by applying the court's rule in the mayoralty case the final results will not be disturbed to any great extent by the court and that the main prop on which Mr Farrell rested his case has fallen.

GRONNA AGAIN RAPS TARIFF

Assails Agricultural Schedule of the Democratic Bill.

Catron Arraigns Schedule K. and Lippitt Asks Cotton Duties.

Washington, Aug. 1.—Senator Gronna of North Dakota continued his assault in the senate today on the Underwood-Simmons tariff bill, renewing his criticism of the agricultural schedules. He compared the proposed rates on all agricultural products with the tariffs of other countries, and asserted that in everything the farmer raises he will be put at a great disadvantage.

Senator Catron, Republican, of New Mexico, opposed free raw wool and the reductions in woolen manufactures in a speech today.

"If this bill is carried into law," Senator Catron declared, "a blow will be given to the sheep industry which will extinguish it unless those people interested in sheep shall do as they did in 1894 and 1895—buy all the holdings of the small owners and carry the large flocks into what would be denominated by the party in power as a trust or monopoly."

Fears Foreign Monopoly.

The senator further asserted that the proposed law would close the woolen mills. A foreign monopoly would, he asserted, intervene to keep the prices up and prevent cheapening the cost of living through the free listing of wool and 50 per cent reduction in wool manufactures.

Senator Lippitt introduced as a substitute the cotton schedule of the Dingley law of 1897, less 20 per cent.

Senator Brandegee asked Senator Simmons if he had been able to get any understanding with house leaders as to when the new wool rates were to become effective.

"I conferred with Representative Underwood, who was not authorized to reach any agreement. I cannot see any remedy in the matter except the speedy passage of the bill," replied the finance committee chairman.

OLD LUMBERJACK EXPIRES IN SWAMP

William McIntosh, or "Billy North" Victim of Alcoholism.

Cass Lake, Minn., Aug. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The body of William McIntosh, aged 45, was brought here this morning, having been found in a swamp yesterday twelve miles southwest of Cass Lake. He is supposed to have died of alcoholism. McIntosh has been spending the last few years in Cass Lake doing odd jobs and was addicted to drinking. Three weeks ago he went to the country to work. He was very nervous the three days he spent there and did not sleep nights but spent most of the time walking around. He left the place the third night and that was the last seen of him alive. The body was found near a swamp, one leg being imbedded in the mud to the hip and the other to the knee.

McIntosh has spent most of the past fifteen years in Northern Minnesota lumber camps and was known by almost every lumberjack as "Billy North." Two brothers survive, one being an engineer in the Northern Pacific shops at Brainerd and the other living in Nova Scotia. The body is being held here awaiting word from McIntosh's brothers.

NEW CALLS ON SCANT FUNDS

Commission Must Find Money for City Hall Repairs.

Misdemeanor for Passengers to Misuse Street Railway Transfers.

Two appropriation ordinances for improvements to the city hall will be given their first reading at the meeting of the city commission this afternoon.

One will appropriate $1,180 from the very much embarrassed permanent improvement fund for the painting and decorating and the other will appropriate $502.32 from the general fund for vault fixtures.

The ordinance making it a misdemeanor for passengers or street car employes to misuse transfers will be given its third reading and passed. This measure is being passed in consideration of the agreement of the street car company to carry firemen and policemen in uniform.

An ordinance appropriating $240 for a garbage wagon will be introduced. Commissioner Hicken has made a deal whereby part of the cost of a new wagon will be allowed on an old chemical of the fire department. For the chemical $90 is being allowed, which reduces the cash payment to $150.

This morning the remodeled garbage cart was rented to a private collector at $2 a month. The officials figure that this will pay the interest and the wear and tear. The lessee takes his old wagon out of commission, thus reducing the number of the obnoxious wagons which have been making themselves unpleasant throughout the city. Commissioner Hicken states that the odorous wagons must go and plans to help the owners get rid of at least two more of them by renting them city carts. Whenever the city installs the municipal collection of garbage these carts will be immediately available.

BANK EXCHANGES' SHOWING REPORTED

New York, Aug. 1.—Dun's review tomorrow will say: Bank exchanges this week make a somewhat indifferent exhibit, the total at all leading cities aggregating only $2,392,285,815, a loss of 3.6 per cent, as compared with the same week last year. The contraction is largely owing to the falling off at New York.

AMAZING GROWTH OF DULUTH'S GRAIN TRADE

Receipts and Shipments Triple Those of Last Crop Year.

The crop year of the Duluth board of trade ended yesterday and the report of Secretary Charles F. Macdonald of the board is now in the hands of the printer.

That Duluth has grown as a handling market there is no doubt anyway, but the figures furnished in the report of the crop year just ended are rather amazing to even the most sanguine. Take the tables given below and it will be seen that the increases of the most recent crop year in receipts and shipments are extraordinarily large in every instance. In the matter of grains of all kinds, it will be noticed that the receipts for the first five months of the last crop year was almost double the entire receipts for the crop year previous, while the total was almost three times as much.

Over twice as much flax was handled here during the year just ended as during the former year and the market is growing. It is now the leading flax market of the world.

Wheat shows a tremendous increase also. But the best evidence are the tables themselves, and they follow, giving a complete report of receipts and shipments of all grains:

SCANDAL ACCOMPANIES WEDDING OF PRINCE

Laundry Woman Claims Interest in Rich Girl's Husband.

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 1.—Mrs. Clara Melcher, proprietress of a laundry in Vienna, appeared today before Charles T. Connell, United States immigration inspector, and was questioned relative to her coming to this country and to the claims she declares she has against Prince Stanislaus Sulkowski, a nephew of the grand duke of Berlitz, a scion of a noble Austrian house. The prince was married last Monday night to Miss Marie Louise Freede, daughter of a retired millionaire, with a quiet ceremony, plans for a brilliant church wedding having been suddenly changed.

An attorney who was first approached by Mrs. Melcher, and then retained by the prince, said today he had suggested to Mr. Freede, the prince's father-in-law, a payment of $5,000 or $10,000 in settlement of the woman's claims, but Mrs. Melcher, through her lawyer, declared she must have not less than $50,000.

In the meantime the prince and his bride are on their wedding trip, but where no one outside the Freede family knows.

Inspector Connell declined to comment today on the case, saying merely that it had been brought to him for investigation under the Federal law prohibiting importation of women.

The prince came to this country six months ago, and it was said then that he was looking for a pretty American wife. The prince is an Austrian of Polish descent. He is a prince of the holy Roman empire. His uncle, the grand duke of Berlitz, has a fortune of $6,000,000 which the prince may inherit. So strict are the requirements of the Austrian court that though the prince is received there, his wife will not be recognized socially.

DULUTH HAS BEEN PICKETED

Efforts Made to Prevent Strike-Breakers Being Recruited.

Duluth employment offices and trains to the Copper Country are being watched by representatives of the Western Federation of Miners, as efforts to obtain strike-breakers here and on the ranges are feared. Cards warning workers of the strike in the Copper Country have been circulated throughout Duluth and the ranges, and local union labor leaders are doing personal work to prevent strike-breakers being recruited here.

CORN PRICES UP 7 CENTS THIS WEEK

Excitement in Pit Advances Them More Than 2 Cents.

Chicago, Aug. 1.—Excitement in the corn market whirled prices up more than 2c a bushel today. This made the advance equal to about 7 cents in the last week.

Reports were at hand indicating that the corn crop as a whole had suffered a loss of 200,000,000 to 300,000,000 bushels in the last month, owing to damage from lack of the normal amount of moisture. The greater part of the injury has been in Kansas, Oklahoma, Missouri and Nebraska, but the outlook for a greatly enlarged area of damage today was regarded by many traders as dangerously threatening.

DIGGS-CAMINETTI DEBATE FINISHED

Clayton Replies to Attack By Mann on McReynolds.

Washington, Aug. 1.—The Diggs-Caminetti debate in the house wound up today with Republican Leader Mann delivering an attack upon the administration and Attorney General McReynolds for postponing the prosecutions, and Chairman Clayton of the judiciary committee replying with a spirited defense.

"The Republicans have fallen down utterly in their attempt to make a scandal out of this case," Representative Clayton said. "They have not been sustained by the facts, so the gentleman from Illinois adopts the tactics of a police court lawyer and weeps his way out of court."

The house tabled Representative Kahn's resolution calling for information which Attorney General McReynolds already has supplied, 93 to 57.

STOLEN IN ATHENS---FOUND IN AMERICA

GREEK BUST.

Fifteen years ago an antique marble bust disappeared from the royal museum at Athens, and its whereabouts remained a mystery which possibly has been solved by the discovery of this bust in a cellar at Baltimore. The Greek legation at Washington believes the bust unearthed in Baltimore is the missing work of art, and experts examining it have said that it was apparently of the period of Pericles. It will be sent back to Athens.

WHEN THIEF MEETS THIEF

How Red Porter Learned How Little He Knew About the Fine Points of His Profession.

Pearson's Weekly: Red Porter, burglar of the first class, stared at the newspaper he was holding, made a readjustment of its distance from his vision and stared again. Then he breathed forth an exclamation such as burglars use in moments of astonishment.

That at which he stared was an advertisement, conspicuously displayed, and read:

WANTED—An expert burglar on a job with little or no risk; references not necessary; come with tools prepared to go to work. Address Confidence, this office.

"I suppose that mug thinks he's funny!" muttered Mr. Porter. And he threw down the paper with an air of disgust. Then he gulped the drink at his elbow and picked up the paper again.

"Wonder what's the game, anyway? Who's the joker?"

Mr. Porter scratched his head. He ordered more beer and drank it off with one movement; but that did not soften the knots in the problem.

"I'll Take a Chance."

Finally he murmured: "I give it up; but I'll take a chance."

Mr. Porter was always willing, even anxious, to take a chance. Taking chances was, indeed a part—a very considerable part—of his chosen profession.

With much time given to thought, and much labor an answer was indited to the advertisement. In it a meeting was assigned in the same back room of the public house wherein Mr. Porter was now still puzzling over the outcome of his reply.

"It couldn't 'a' been no 'tec' who wrote that ad," he thought as he got up to post his letter. "An' if it was, what's the difference? He couldn't cop me, as I ain't got nothin' to show. W'en I tells him I writ the answer for a joke, what's he goin' to do about it? Nothin'."

On the following evening our enterprising burglar was lounging in the taproom of the public house when a stranger to the place and vicinity came in with a nervous hesitancy and peered about, a frightened look on his pale face.

"Pardon me," he said in a voice that quavered. "Pardon me, but do you know a gentleman named Mr. Porter? I was to meet him here. This is the place, I think."

To "Size Up" His Man.

The stranger drew a letter from his pocket, as though to consult it; but the barman broke in:

"This is the place ,all right. Mr. Porter was expectin' a gent. He's upstairs. He'll be down in a minute."

This delay had been planned in order that Porter might have a chance to "size up" the man who wanted to put a burglar to work. While he was addressing the barman, Porter never took his eyes off him, and the scrutiny was evidently satisfactory; for now Porter came forward.

"I guess I'm the chap you're lookin' for," he said. "Come in here."

The stranger followed the burglar into the back room, not without some hesitation, and took a seat facing him. He took out a card and passed it timidly across the table to the burly ruffian opposite.

Porter gave the card a careless glance. "You're the fellow what puts that ad in the paper wantin' a burglar —ain't yer? What's the lay?"

"As you see by my card, my name is Roderick Brooks."

The stranger paused and looked around the room. It was empty, save for himself and the burglar. "I have a business proposition to make to you," he lowered his voice, "but it wouldn't do to have it overheard."

"Yer safe enough here," Porter assured him. "They ain't nobody around. An' if they was, it'd make no difference. Nobody in this pub never hears nothin' he ain't wanted to hear. Yer can bet on that. What's the game?

A New Kind of a Pal.

Brooks moistened his lips and, leaning over the table, said in a low, tense voice:

"I think I can trust you. What I am about to say to you would place me in your power." He paused.

"Yer don't have to say it," broke in Porter. "Not unless yer want to. But I can put yer wise to one thing—Red Porter never squealed on a pal."

"I think I can trust you," repeated Brooks. "You and I meet on a common equality. I, too, am a thief."

Porter leaned back against the wall and laughed.

"An' yer lookin' fer a pal," he burst out, "An' yer has the nerve to advertise fer one. You—I'd like to have a plecan like you on the lookout if I was on a job."

Porter thought this such a rich joke that he burst out into another noisy laugh.

Brooks waited for the other to compose himself.

"You mistake me entirely. I have a very different proposition to make to you. Here it is. I am the cashier of the South Bingham bank. I have—"

Porter interrupted him with a quick look. "Oh, that's the lay? I'm on. Ye've been dippin' inter the bank's till."

"For more than a year," Brooks went on hurriedly. "I have been helping myself to the bank's funds. I am in its debt 10,000 pounds or more. I have lost it all in speculation. There is no possible chance for me to return this sum. Sooner or later the discrepancy will be found out, and then I will be a ruined man."

The Game Looks Good.

The other thief of other methods nodded assent to this, and remarked: "Yes, an' you'll be all togged out in a nice broad arrowed suit, an' have nothin' to do for a few years. But what do yer come to me for? Where do I come in?"

"You can save me."

"Me save yer? What the—"

"You can save me," reiterated the cashier, "if you will. And at the same time put more money in your pocket than you ever saw. And without any risk. With absolutely no risk to you."

Porter looked puzzled. "This is a new one on me. But go ahead."

"There is in the bank's vaults now more than one-half a million. Thirty thousand is in cash—in banknotes. Would you like to have those banknotes?"

"Don't talk like an ass!" blurted forth the burglar, now intensely interested. "Would I like to have 'em? I'd croak yer this minute fer a tenth of 'em. What's yer game? Reel it off; it looks good now."

Brooks spoke rapidly. "You know, South Bingham is a small town, and the people go to bed early. If you will come up there and break into the bank and get away with all the money and securities in the vault, the robbery will cover the money I've taken. No one will ever know then that I took any of the bank's funds, and I will be saved. Even if you cannot negotiate the securities, you will have $30,000 in cash—enough to keep you luxuriously anywhere for the rest of your life, without the necessity of your taking any further risks in the pursuit of your profession."

The burglar's small eyes glittered, but he spoke calmly. "Yer said somethin' about no risk in this job. What was that?" now! and I'll"

No Risk Involved.

"I will leave the door of the bank so that you can get in without any trouble. I will also have the watchman out of the way at midnight tomorrow. The vault doors I will leave so that you can get to the money drawers. All I ask is that you make some show of breaking into the bank. Drill a hole in the safe and use a little powder or whatever it is that you employ. You see, so long as it looks like a real robbery, it will be my salvation." Brooks bent forward, with tense eagerness. "What do you say! Will you do it?"

Porter sprang to his feet. "Will I do it? Rather!"

The strong thief grasped the weak one by the hand, making him wince with the pressure he put upon it.

"You can bet yer life on it that I'll turn the place upside down. Red Porter never let a pal down, and yer the best one I ever had."

It was a dirty night in South Bingham when Red Porter skulked in the shadow of a doorway and waited for the town clock to toll the hour.

"It's an even bet the coppers is under cover," he muttered. "Why don't that bloomin' clock strike?"

As though in answer to his wish, the stroke of a bell cut in above the noise of the storm.

"There she goes. Now for it." Porter began fumbling at the outside door of the bank. "He's a funny cove, that cashier. It's a wonder he didn't want me to split with him. But he's so scared o' bein' found out an' sent to choky, he's willin' to let go everything."

The door yielded readily to his hand, he stepped inside and closed it softly. Then he drew a revolver from his pocket and waited, with his ears strained.

He reviled the storm which drowned all other sounds. The minutes passed; but still Porter stood in the darkness, his hand clutching his weapon, and listened. Not a sound.

The "Swag" in the Vault.

"Brooks was on the square, all right," he muttered.

Then he closed the door, bolted it and flashed his lantern. He found no difficulty in reaching the vault, and made his preparations to "break" into it. It never occurred to him to get the money in a hurry and escape where delay might mean detection and the loss of a fortune—to say nothing of imprisonment and perhaps death. He had given his word to put the burglar sign on the vault, so that his partner in this crime would not be found out as a thief, and he was going to do it. There was nothing else for him to do but that. That was the bargain.

So Red drilled a hole in the safe and ripped off the combination lock. Then he searched the inner boxes for the bank notes — the thirty thousand pounds in cash—and the securities. All the doors of the vaults inside were wide open. They had been left open for him.

Suddenly a hoarse cry broke from his lips, a cry that might have been heard above the rattle and swirl of the storm outside. It was a cry not good to hear. Nor would it have been well for the cashier to have been forced now to look upon the fury of that face, glaring with bloodshot eyes into the open vault.

The vault was bare, save for one or two 5-pound notes which lay conspicuously on the floor.

That morning all South Bingham was startled by the discovery of the bank burglary. The loss was so great that the bank was forced to suspend payment, and it never resumed. Brooks, the chief cashier, took the wreck so much to heart that the good folk of South Bingham started a subscription fund for him. His all was in the bank. He told them, with tears streaming down into his Vandyke beard, that he could no longer remain to look upon the scenes where his life work had begun and had so cruelly ended. He must go away to begin anew, if, indeed, the shock did not end his life.

And, far away from South Bingham, Brooks began a new career—with the bank's capital—while his partner, the burglar, returned to his haunts, to meditate on how little he really knew regarding the fine points of his profession.

LOGGERS ARE SEEKING HELP

Operations in Woods Around Bemidji Hampered By Lack of Men.

Official of Big Lumber Company Can Employ Men Right Off.

Bemidji, Minn., Aug. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—While an over-abundance of men have poured into the harvest fields of the Dakotas, logging operations in Northern Minnesota are badly crippled because of the lack of labor.

E. W. Lakin of this city, superintendent of the log and land department of the Crookston Lumber company, has issued urgent appeals throughout the country for men.

"Our camps at Kelliher can take care of a large number of men, and common labor commands a salary of $35 to $40 a month, board and lodging furnished," said Mr. Lakin.

"But can these ordinary laborers, who have flocked in on the Dakota farmers, do your work in the woods?" Mr. Lakin was asked.

Can Use All Kinds.

"We can use almost any kind of labor. Of course, for skilled labor we pay a good deal more than $35 a month," replied Mr. Lakin.

A traveling man from Grand Forks told of having seen many men at different North Dakota stations that could not get work because the farmers there had a sufficient supply of labor by the time they arrived.

While these men are thus lying idle, the lumber camps are issuing a persistent call for them to come this way, and in addition to 'three squares a day,' prepared by expert chefs, highest cash wages are offered.

"Seldom have we experienced such a shortage of men and at a time when we are busy with our operations," said Mr. Lakin.

TOURISTS' HOTEL ON LAKE BEMIDJI

Subject Broached By Northern Pacific President Being Agitated.

Bemidji, Minn., Aug. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Agitation has been started for the erection on the east shore of Lake Bemidji of a modern and up to date tourist hotel.

If the present plans carry, the new structure will be erected by a stock company and the location will be at a high point not far from the Mississippi river outlet with the virgin pine of the Ruggles tract as a background.

Interest in the movement at this time is enlarged by the suggestion from Howard Elliott, who recently resigned as president of the Northern Pacific, that "you could fill a rustic hotel with 1,000 tourists properly located near Bemidji."

Gasoline Motor Service.

Incidental to the hotel talk, agitation is revived for the installation of a gasoline motor car service on the M. & I. and Red Lake lines.

It also is announced this week by J. J. Opsahl, colonization agent of the Red River Lumber company and a director of the newly organized Red Lake Northern Railway company, that the lake shore tract between the Mississippi river and Oak Dale park will be placed in the hands of persons who desire to build summer cottages. A few of these tracts will be given over to fruit ranches after the style of the famous Chandler ranch at Lavinia, where the possibility of fruit raising in Northern Minnesota is being demonstrated.

How to Get Rid of Eczema

If you bruise your hand, you will notice that a scab forms, and when it falls off, new skin has formed. Did salve do it? No! Skin is the same as muscle, bone, sinew, ligament. All are made from the blood, from the materials that your stomach and intestines convert from food into what we call blood. And this blood circulates in the myriad of tiny blood vessels in the skin. Start from your stomach, where blood materials begin, and it won't be long before you are free of eczema. Use S. S. S. for a short time, and not only will eczema disappear, but the entire blood will be renewed.

There is one ingredient in S. S. S. which serves the active purpose of stimulating each cellular part of the body to the healthy, judicious selection of its own essential nutriment. That is why it regenerates the blood supply; why it has such a tremendous influence in overcoming eczema, rash, pimples, and all skin afflictions.

Get a bottle of S. S. S. at any drug store, and you will not only feel bright and energetic, but you will be the picture of new life. S. S. S. is prepared only in the laboratory of The Swift Specific Co., 189 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. Beware of any attempt to sell you something "just as good."

INDIANS TO GET SOME MORE LAND

Those on Fond du Lac Reservation Get Additional Allotment.

Brookston, Minn., Aug. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—A number of the Indians of the Fond du Lac reservation are in receipt of a communication from J. I. Coffey, who is located near Bena, advising them of an important concession from the government whereby many of the Indians will receive an additional allotment of forty acres.

This is made possible according to the terms of the Indian appropriation act, recently passed by congress, and reads as follows: "That any Indian allottee of the Fond du Lac reservation who has not already received eighty acres of land in allotment shall be entitled to take by allotment of any unappropriated land of said reservation sufficient, with the land already allotted to such Indian, to make eighty acres of land; such allotment not to interfere with existing timber contracts."

NEW REMOVAL LAW NOT YET INVOKED

North Dakota's Governor Not Asked to Remove Derelict Officials.

Fargo, N. D., Aug. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—A month has elapsed since the law giving the governor authority to remove county and city officials became effective, but it has not yet been invoked. The law provides that five qualified electors can petition the governor for the removal of an official who is guilty of misconduct, malfeasance, crime in office, habitual drunkenness or gross incompetency. The governor can then compel the office holder in question to show cause why he should not be removed.

For years an effort was made to get the law through the legislature, but fearing too great a concentration of power in the hands of the executive, the solons would never pass the bill until the last session.

Confers Great Power.

It is admitted even by its advocates to give a great power to a governor who would be disposed to use it in a political manner. While it gives great power it also carries grave responsibilities, which its advocates claim will counteract the other view. That it will be an incentive to dilatory sheriffs, state's attorneys, chiefs of police, mayors and others to enforce such laws as relate to prohibition and gambling is generally admitted.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE.

By Patronizing Mill City Paper Chicagoan Recovers Lost Jewels.

Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 1.—Isidor Gettleson of Chicago, who reported the loss of $2,000 in diamonds and other jewels to the police yesterday morning, was made happy yesterday afternoon when R. C. Marr returned the lost articles to him, having read the owner's advertisement in a local newspaper. Mr. Marr said he found the jewels on the street. "It sure pays to advertise," was the comment of the Chicagoan on his good luck in recovering the gems.

NEW OFFICIALS FOR CLOQUET "Y"

Physical Director and Boys' Work Director Are Secured.

Cloquet, Minn., Aug. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—E. S. Davis, secretary of the Cloquet Y. M. C. A., has returned from a business trip in the interests of the local association, on which he secured a new physical director, Clarence Wagner of Belleville, Ill., and a boys' work director, V. V. Stansell of Advance, Ill. Mr. Stansell arrived yesterday and will at once take up his work, while Mr. Wagner, the physical director, does not come until Sept. 1. The services of a man as social secretary will be secured as soon as a competent person can be found for the position. Mr. Davis left the latter part of the week for a month's vacation, but is formulating plans for the coming year's work in the city.

COURT MUST DECIDE.

Beltrami County Raises Point as to Paying Drainage Bills.

Bemidji, Minn., Aug. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—As a result of refusal on the part of County Auditor J. L. George, advised by County Attorney Graham M. Torrance, to pay the Arpin Dredging company $9,142.50, the supreme court ultimately must decide as to the legality of paying drainage bills before the work is completed, in accordance with provision established by the last legislature. The Arpin company brought mandamus proceedings to compel the county to make payment and to the demurrer interposed by County Attorney Torrance, Judge C. W. Stanton has overruled the demurrer, commanding the county to make the payment. The county officials believe the point at issue is so important that an appeal will be taken to the state supreme court.

CAN WEAR ANYTHING.

Milwaukee Women Can Don Any Sort of Bathing Clothes.

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 1.—Milwaukee women will be permitted to wear whatever sort of clothing they wish when they go bathing, was the decision of Mayor Bading yesterday.

Slit suits, bloomers, one-piece suits or any other sort will pass muster at the local bathing beaches. All that is necessary is that they wear at least as much as the men do and that the clothing does not hinder the leg movements during their swimming and diving activities. The mayor insists, however, that the women and girls who wear bloomers must have them artistically made.

"Who wants to live in the blue law age?" asked Miss Daisey Allen, the mayor's secretary, when asked to give the feminine side of the "bathing suit" argument before the mayor gave this decision. "Some old fogies would have us dress like Egyptian mummies going to Pharoah's court, but that time is past."

That clinched the argument, so Milwaukee women can now frolic as they please in the water.

PRAIRIE CHICKENS REPORTED PLENTIFUL.

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 1.—H. A. Rider, executive agent of the state game and fish commission, says there are double the number of prairie chickens in Minnesota this year than for ten years. PEGGY THE PEGGER HAS BETTER OF UNCLE LEVERETT

White Sox Take Second Game From Minneapolis 4 to 3.

Nick Allen Returns to Comrades and O'Brien Swipes Second.

BY BRUCE.

Peggy the pegger had the better of the battle of the smoky mound in which he engaged with Horace Leverett, the Southern war drama character actor. Our brave and sometimes bold athletes won by the count of 4 to 3, it requiring some nifty pastiming upon the part of gents wearing the lily white and peerlessly laundered suits of the home club.

Comedian Nick Allen was back in the faded uniform of the Millers the second. Just what brings Nick back to these parts, he failed to enlighten us on. Some brief time agone the Arkansas traveler packed his two collars and a tooth brush and departed to do service with the Chicago White Sox. Probably he missed the gentle flow of conversation of Horace Leverett, being as both Nick and Horace are from the land down in the poetic and romantic region of the Mase and Dix line.

Manager Bob Unglaub started the game at third for the visitors. As manager of the team Col. Bob removed himself as a player from the game along in the sixth round. But as manager of the visiting aggregation he continued to pour wholesome advice into the ears of the players.

The game was snappy and filled with the elixir of baseball life — in fact, gentle readers, one of the best that we have had for many sessions. Again, permit us to remark, the patriarch of the prairies, Darby O'Brien stole another base. This is surely getting to be a habit with him.

Nickedemus Allen holds the enviable reputation of being one of the best throwing catchers in baseball. The Sox pilfered three on the steel-winged Southern gent yesterday, while the visitors failed to swipe one on young Mr. Sweeley.

Peggy the pegger started the pastime auspiciously by walking two after the first man up was dead. Handschu went to second on a passed ball and was then nipped on the attempt to go to third. Col. Bob Unglaub whiffed and this fact pleased the fans.

Attack in the Third.

An error and a pilfered sack got us a runner on second in the first round, and that is all. Our attack on the Southern pill flinger started in the third and before the rally had been checked two runs had been sent to the markers.

With Percy Monahan down the handsome Irish Orator walked. Smith forced the chief at second, Briere to Dehaven, and then Meniece walked. McGraw singled to left, Schrieber passed third and Moll into left, the fusilade counting the aforementioned runs.

The faded suit brigade worried along until the sixth without scores, even as the canine of Mother Hubbard went without provender. In this round Peggy was slapped on the wrist for two blows, one a demon two-base swat, and the score was knotted.

De Haven whiffed and Handschu stopped one with the back of his neck. Handsome Jack Doyle slammed one to center for one and Heinie Berger, replacing Col. Bob, lofted to P. Monahan, the Irish patriot. Then large George Hanson, a native of Minneapolis as the name plainly indicates, slammed a fast one to far center and the bases were emptied. Rather clever of George, we say.

In the succeeding round the enemy proceeded promptly to even up the count, all of which served to enliven the game.

Schrieber puermitted Briere to five on his bubble. Allen fouled to Sweeley and Leverett was safe on the second kick of Bunny. De Haven went down at first and the runners moved up, Briere proving the thorn to count when Handschu, the dashing colleglan, swatted one over second.

Our third came in the fourth when Handschu dropped the fly of Monahan and Percy was safe at second on an error on an attempted force play. Smith forced O'Brien at second and P. Monahan was on third, from whence he scored on a wild heave by Uncle Nick Allen to second.

In the merry seventh Smith doubled to left, wen to third on Meniece's single and with two gone counted when Sweeley cracked one through the lane between second and third.

In the ninth round Col. Bob sent a call to Sheriff Donnelly and he responded by coming to the scene with reinforcements. But the brave Donnelly could do little and the second game of the series was chalked with the list of notable performances and the little Millers set back one more peg.

RED SOX TAKE A CLOSE GAME

Schauer and Faeth had a wild and wooly pitching duel at Hislop park yesterday, Superior winning the game in ten rounds by the count of 1 to 0. Ragged play was made behind the visiting twirler, but at that Schauer had slightly the better of the argument. Each twirler whiffed eight and both kept the few hits widely scattered. The score:

BELL HOLDS FLICKERS TO ONE HIT AND ONE RUN.

Grand Forks, N. D., Aug. 1. — Bell pitched a wonderful game here yesterday and held the Flickers to one hit and one score, the Pirates winning by the count of 7 to 1. Only the errors of the visitors allowed the home club to score. While the play of the Corsairs was ragged at times, the support given Morse was worse and the seven errors of the Flickertails were responsible or four of the runs of the visitors.

Giants Lose Another.

Chicago, Aug. 1.—Chicago made it two straight from New York yesterday by taking the long end of a 5 to 3 score after a hard fought uphill battle. With the game apparently lost, the local men tugged along and with the aid of pinch hitters managed to tie the count and force Rube Marquard to retire. This retirement, however, proved a good thing for the New York pitcher, inasmuch as his record of nine straight wins remains intact.

To Larry Cheney, the Chicago pitcher belongs the distinction of defeating the league leaders yesterday and today.

In the fourth inning Outfielder Burns was knocked unconscious with a thrown ball by Bridwell. After several doctors were summoned, he regained consciousness and refused to be taken out of the game.

The New York team is without the services of the captain Larry Doyle, who is forced to remain on the bench as a result of a bruised heel which he sustained in the game yesterday when he came in contact with Zimmerman's spikes at third base. Score: R. H. E.

Boston Has It Easy.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 1.—"Rube" Geyer started to pitch for St. Louis yesterday and before relinquishing the box to Sallee in the third inning allowed Boston to score five runs, a lead which enabled them to take the game from St. Louis by a score of 8 to 1. Sallee pitched a steady game, the only run scored by him being made by Lord on a drive to deep center.

Lord's batting, he getting three singles and a home run in five attempts and a one-hand catch against the left field fence by Maranville were the features. Score: R. H. E.

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 1.—Jack Miller's three-bagger with Kommers and Wagner on the runways in the sixth inning, was the deciding smash in yesterday's game with Brooklyn. Pittsburg won 3 to 2, getting their other run in the eighth on Kommers' walk and singles by Miller and Wilson. Pittsburg has secured Pitcher Maurice Kent from Brooklyn by waiver. Score: R. H. E.

Winning Streak Broken.

Boston, Mass., Aug. 1.—Cleveland put an end to Boston's winning streak and took both games of a double-header yesterday, the first, 5 to 2, and the second, 4 to 2. Only one Cleveland player reached first base up to the seventh inning of the first game but in the seventh and eighth Bedient was hit hard and was relieved by Hall in the latter inning. Boston had men on bases in almost every inning but Falkenberg was effective in the pinches.

Cleveland batted two Boston pitchers out of the box in the first inning of the second game and scored all its four runs in that period. Hall then held the visitors to two hits in eight innings. Although the champions made twelve hits off Blanding, fast fielding kept the runners from scoring except in the sixth. A one-hand running catch by Hooper in the first game was a feature. Score:

Athletics Lose Out.

Philadelphia, Aug. 1.—A batting rally in the sixth inning, when Baumgardner and Pratt made doubles and Stovall and Baleni singled, gave St. Louis enough runs to enable them to beat Philadelphia yesterday, 4 to 3. The home players got a good start but spoiled their chances for a big bunch of runs in the first inning when Baumgardner caught Eddie Murphy and Baker off second base. After that Baumgardner was very effective and he was given grand support, especially by Balenti, Lavan and Austin. Score: R. H. E.

Yankees Win Another.

New York, Aug. 1.—New York made it two straight over Chicago, winning the second game of the series by a score of 3 to 1. Caldwell, starting his first game for New York in weeks, pitched excellent ball and won his initial victory of the season, holding the visitors to four hits. The only run scored by Chicago resulted from an error by Hartzell in the fifth inning. New York won in the fifth, when Ciootte was knocked out of the box. Score: R. H. E.

Boehling Hit Hard.

Washington, Aug. 1.—Boehling was hit hard yesterday and Detroit had little trouble winning the opening game of the series from Washington, 4 to 1. It was the second defeat chalked up against the local pitcher this season and it came in the presence of 1,000 "fans" who came from Richmond, Va., his home town, with a band to cheer him on. The day had been set aside as "Boehling day" and the pitcher was presented with a handsome traveling bag from some of his local admirers. Score: R. H. E.

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 1.—Northrop's pitching proved too strong for Columbus yesterday and Louisville won the first game of the series, 4 to 1. SENIORS BEATEN BY JUNIOR CREW Younger Oarsmen Prove By Win to Be the Faster Eight of Two.

Last evening the juniors defeated the seniors in a close and hard fought race, thus evening up for the beating of the previous evening. As the races for the season stand the palm of supremacy must be handed to the younger crew. While Coach Ten Eyck professes to believe that there is very little difference between the two crws, which is true, a little edge there remains will have to be handed to the juniors on the results of the trials throughout the season.

The race of last evening was rowed by the senior boat in eleven seconds less time than the best time made by the seniors last season. As the junior boat was a fraction of a length ahead of the senior boat, it's time was even better.

There has been the question during all of the present year as to whether the seniors of this season were as fast as the crew that chased the Con Riley eight right up to the line at Peoria. Last evening the conditions were not ideal for time making, and yet the record set by both crews over the mile and a quarter course would tend to prove that the boat club has the two fastest eights in the history of the club, if not in the history of the Northwest, and also makes the prospect of a winning at the national the very brightest.

The crews will leave Sunday evening. This will get the bunch into Boston on Tuesday and the boys will have Wednesday and Thursday to work out on the historic Charles.

Most of the crew members will remain over and visit New York after the races.

There will be twenty-five in the party that leaves Sunday. The two eights will be reinforced by substitutes and then there will be Coach Ten Eyck and little Jack Nevell, the caretaker. Without Jack a regatta of the Duluth crew would be as listless and without the sauce of human pep as a suffragette parade without bricks and various missiles.

GOOD MATCHES FEATURE PLAY

Washburn defeated Thompson at the Oatka tournament yesterday, the veteran winning out by the scores of 7-5, 10-8. Thompson surprised the onlookers with the quality of the game he played. It was not expected that he would prove very difficult for Washburn to dispose of. The match proved one of the best of the day to date.

Joe Horsky defaulted to J. E. MacGregor. Withrow defeated Frey, 6-0, 6-4; Cerf defeated Tufts, 6-1, 6-2; O'Connor defeated Amundson, 7-5, 6-2; Terry won from Gude, 62, 7-5; and Fuller defeated Smith in a three set match, 4-6, 6-1, 6-2.

The draw in the doubles will be made tomorrow. The makers of the draws have been somewhat handicapped because of the slowness of the players in handing in their names.

AT OUTS WITH NATIONAL BODY.

Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 1.—The Minneapolis Athletic club is facing a threatened disruption with the Amateur Athletic association of the United States. The trouble is over the proposed athletic program to be held here Saturday, Aug. 2.

Charles H. Genslinger, secretary, and other officers of the local organization, say that E. C. Racey of Chicago, president of the Central association of the union, insists that all entries for Saturday's events must be sent to Chicago to be handicapped or that the handicapper, Frank A. Martin of Chicago, must come to Minneapolis, at an expense of $100. The local men declare that both propositions are out of the question. It is impossible, they say, to send the entries to Chicago for the reason that all of them have not yet been made.

As all of the proceeds of the affair are to be devoted to a charitable organization, it would be unfair, they insist, to expend a large amount of the proceeds in paying the expenses of the handicapper in coming to Minneapolis.

NEGRO TEAMS PLAY FOR CHAMPIONSHIP.

Chicago, Aug. 1.—The New York Lincoln Giants, who claim the negro baseball championship, lost the fifth and deciding game of their series here with the Chicago American Giants yesterday by the score of 1 to 2. A large representation of the local negro population packed the stands to see the game.

The teams planned to play thirteen games for the negro championship. Of four games in New York the Lincolns won two and one was a tie. Yesterday's results put the teams on even terms. The final four games will be started Aug. 10.

GRAND FORKS WILL PLAY FINAL SERIES OF SEASON

Field Meet Will Mark Saturday's Game---It May Fall Upon Duluth to Put Superior Out of the Pennant Race.

Minneapolis is playing the last engagement here of the present season. The two games of today will mark the goodbye of Col. Bob Unglaub, Nick Allen, Horace Leverett, Jack Doyle and the rest of the brigade. We meet the little Millers on the Minneapolis grounds before the close of the season, but so far as the fans of this city are concerned, there will be no more of those merry fellows who have furnished baseball entertainment during the present season.

Grand Forks comes tomorrow for the last stand here of the year. At the present time the Flickers are playing about the best ball of any of the teams of the league, with the exception of the two leaders. Grand Forks won ten straight games, lost one, then won again and then lost yesterday. The game today marks the clash of the Forkers with Winona and the Dakota crowd will come here with the intention of cleaning.

Because of the big field meet tomorrow afternoon between the players of the two teams, the game will be called at 3 o'clock. Following the game there will be foot races, fungo hitting, running the bases against time, sack races, long distance throwing, beating out bunts and a number of other stunts that are connected with the art of playing the game and displaying the skill of the players.

Monahan is Throwing Star.

Duluth players say that Percy Monahan is sure to win the long distance throwing contest and that Henry Howard Brackett is pretty certain to make a great showing in the sprint races.

Last season the field meet made a great hit. This year the athletic contests between the two teams promise to be even better than those of last season. Grand Forks has some of the fastest runners in the league and the 100-yard dash and the circling the bases contests promise to bring out some real sport.

Following the series with Grand Forks the Sox will go to Virginia to start the road trip. The invasion will include games at Minneapolis, Winona and La Crosse. Then the team will return home for two games and then will hit the road again for a series at the Peg. Then will come the windup with Superior.

It may so happen that the winning of the pennant by the Superior team will depend upon the last series with Duluth, and in that event it is very likely that the largest crowd of the present season will be on hand to watch the struggle.

A crucial series comes when Superior and Winona meet on the grounds of the latter, Aug. 5, 6 and 7. From the way it looks at the present time the winner of the long end of this series will have an excellent chance of winning the flag.

If the race between Winona and Superior remains close right up to the very end of the season, it may be up to Duluth to put the team across the bay out of the running, and believe us, the O'Brienites would like nothing better.

ARMSTRONG IN SEMI-FINALS

St. Paul Man Meets L. H. Waidner in Western Tennis Tournament.

Chicago, Aug. 1.—A clear day, reasonably cool, with a light breeze blowing made conditions almost perfect for play in the semi-finals of the Western tennis tournament at Onwentsia today. L. H. Waidner, the Chicagoan remaining in the men's singles, was matched with Joseph Armstrong of St. Paul who defeated the Illinois state champion yesterday. The brilliant playing of the Minnesota expert has put him on a par with the local veteran and one of the best contests of the week's play was looked for.

Clarence Griffin of San Francisco, who won a weird match yesterday from Heath Byford was pitted against William Blair of Lake Geneva, the coast man ruling as favorite.

In the semi-final round in the men's doubles Hayes and Winston were to meet Blair and Gifford and Byford and Burdick were matched with Waidner and Gardner.

In a brilliant tourney, featured by unexpected victories of two "dark horses" and a thrilling match between Clarence Griffin, of California and Heath Byford of Chicago, the tennis singles yesterday reached the semi-finals.

William Blair of Lake Geneva turned one of the big upsets of the tournament in downing John Adams, Minneapolis, one of the best men in the North Central state, 6-4, 6-4.

Strachan Defaults.

John Strachan, suffering from illness aggravated by the heat, defaulted his match to L. Harry Waidner, the Chicago veteran, despite attempts to have him play today, so Waidner goes into the semi-finals to meet Joe Armstrong of St. Paul, whose great work today eliminates Walter T. Hayes, runner-up in last year's tournament and favorite in this until yesterday.

Fancier shows of the net game than staged on the Onwentsia courts at Lake Forest yesterday were never seen in a Western tournament. Armstrong's brilliancy perhaps outshone that of any of the other five players in the fifth round match, but its superiority was slight when compared with that shown by young Griffin, and at times, by Byford.

Armstrong proved again that "youth will be served." He outmaneuvered Hayes, veteran of a thousand battles, and showed a skilful handling of his racquet in addition to his clever head work. His shots were accurate, and Hayes was unable to cover ground enough to play them, being back on the back line by the northerner's long lobs. Armstrong's surprising form has earned him the respect of the experts who put a victory over Waidner by the Minneapolis man today among the possibilities. tory over Waidner by the St. Paul

WORRIED OUT OF JOB.

Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 1.—Worry about his wife, lost Paul H. Brown his job as pitcher for the Sioux City, Iowa, baseball team of the Western league, according to an answer he filed yesterday in the divorce action started by his wife, Helen W. Brown, in the Hennepin district court. Mrs. Brown seeks a divorce on the ground of cruelty. Her husband says Mrs. Brown was cruel and inhuman toward him and asks that he be awarded the decree.

POWER BOATS RACE AT PUT-IN-BAY.

Put-In-Bay, Ohio, Aug. 1.—In the speed boat contests here yesterday in observance of the Perry Centennial the Twiddo, owned by Willard won in class R, open type speed boats and The Craftsman first place in class T, speed boats. Several other boats got inside the money. The Swastika, Leonore II and Scout III were second in their respective events, while the Echo took third in the class R in a field of thirteen events.

The races for the National Association trophies in the cruiser and cabin launch classes also started and will be finished today.

In the cruiser division two of the boats, The Niagara and the L. E. R., Jr., of Sandusky, hit the rocks in turning the third stake and The Niagara had to be hauled out for repairs, but the L. E. R., Jr., continued and won the first heat.

Today's events include heats of the National association events, a squadron race and the much-heralded Speejacks, shadow races.

SCHOOL BOARD SEEKS ADVICE

Virginia Organization Engages Attorney to Ascertain Board's Status.

Some Teachers Not Desired, Decline to Resign as Board Requests.

Virginia, Minn., Aug. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The school board is divided as to its legal right to reject certain teachers after the teachers committee has recommended them and the board has adopted the committee report and the teachers have been given notice of their election and filed acceptances but have no signed contract with the board.

In the reorganization of the teaching staff for various reasons, it was concluded it would not be desirable to retain the services of J. M. Partridge, E. C. Clem, Ida E. Henry and Marion O. West. They were asked to resign but no resignations have been received from any of them and two have maintained that they are hired and will report for duty and expect to be paid. Indirectly it has been learned that all will contend that they are engaged for the year, although the contract has not been actually signed.

Appeal to Attorney.

The board last night was not able to determine its legal position and rights, in regard to the hiring of these teachers and appealed to M. H. McMahon for advice. The reason given for the non-retention of the teachers named, except in the case of Miss Henry, who worked at the polls in the recent election, is that from their known attitude in regard to principals in charge they will not "fit in" with the school organization. The lawyer's opinion is desired at the next meeting of the board.

The resignation of Miss Ida M. Flood, one of the teachers of last year, was received and accepted. On the recommendation of Supt. Colgrove manual training and domestic science equipment will be installed in the new North Side school building.

Has Substantial Balance.

The treasurer's report shows that the total receipts for the year were $276,560.25 and there is still a balance on hand of $28,755.57. The expenditures for year, in part, were: Salaries of teachers, $70,222.05; new school buildings, $77,360.69; furniture and appliances, $23,867.73; transportation of pupils, $3,074.05. The total value of all school buildings in the district is $362,700. The board with the recently elected new members will hold its first meeting Saturday evening when a president will be elected.

CHISHOLM ELKS PLAN BIG TIME

Whole Mesaba Range Canvassed to Bring People There Saturday.

Chisholm, Minn., Aug. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Mesaba range was pretty well canvassed yesterday working up interest in the big Elks carnival and hydroplane meet to be held here tomorrow, the Elks buttons being sold everywhere. Sixteen girls sold buttons in different towns yesterday as follows: Misses Elanor and Mamie Bay, Emily Martios, Hulda Sturman, Hazel Johnson, Charlotte Sullivan, Sylvia Hirstio, Winnifred Beek, Agnes Algulre, Florence Neally, Winnifred Lewis, Doris Wood, Erland Bassetti, Kate Harrington, Julia Basalek and Sidna Lewis. Several of these girls recently participated in the Queen of the Carnival contest July 4 and have the advantage of dealing with the public. The management of the street railway company issued orders to their conductors to see to it that the young ladies received the best of treatment at the hands of the passengers and the work was altogether very pleasant and will be continued tomorrow.

Elks Toured Range.

Prominent among the Elks touring the ranges Thursday were: Edward Freeman, Adam Schirmer, Harry Austin, Elmer Shannon, William Brown, W. A. Masters, Phil Floof, William Conley, Flip Harrington, Ralph O'Neil, William Ulrich, Ben de Lorimer, George Blazing, George Neally and Gust Anderson.

The big hydro-aeroplane was loaded yesterday on a flat car and hauled over the entire length of the electric line and exhibited at all the leading towns and in as much as the line traverses the streets of the different towns hundreds of people watched the big machine as it passed through.

There will be three hydroplane flights from Longyear lake tomorrow at 2:30, 4:30 and 7. Music will be supplied by the Commercial club band and the National band.

Many Hibbing People Going.

Hibbing, Minn., Aug. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Saturday evening will be Hibbing night at the Chisholm aviation meet. Special arrangements are being made to accommodate the Hibbing crowd and the street car line will operate special cars for the occasion. Hibbing has been billed with large posters for the meet and all day yesterday girls were on every street corner selling the aviation buttons.

Nearly every person now wears a button. Wymark and his hydro-aeroplane visited Hibbing yesterday, the machine being brought here on a flat car. It remained here for an hour and attracted a large crowd. It is possible that the aviator will be brought to the Hibbing fair which takes place the latter part of the month, arrangements being made by Secretary Giffen of the fair association being to that effect.

LEAVES MESABA RANGE FOR DULUTH POSITION

FRED E. LISTER.

Virginia, Minn., Aug. 1.—(Special to The Herald.) — There is regret here and all over the Mesaba range that Fred E. Lister, commercial manager for the Mesaba Range Telephone company, will leave here about Sept. 1 to become manager of the Duluth Telephone company at Duluth, succeeding C. A. French, who goes to Minneapolis as district manager for the Northwestern. Mr. Lister lived at Eveleth before coming here and has been prominent in both cities and is generally popular. Mr. Lister has been active in commercial club work and is president of the Virginia Commercial club, being re-elected recently without opposition. His successor on the range has not yet been named.

NETT LAKE INDIANS ARE DOING FINELY

Agent Reagan Talks of Conditions on Reservation North of Virginia.

Virginia, Minn., Aug. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Improvements on the roads and the suppresion of the illicit liquor sale to the Indians are two of the great needs of the wards of the government at the Nett Lake reservation, according to Albert B. Reagan, agent at Nett Lake, while here. He states that the Indians are healthy and doing well, the net increase in population during the past year being fifteen, but that those who have severed the tribal relations and taken allotments in the Indian colony at Pelican point on Pelican lake have become the victims of firewater and disease.

Mr. Reagan states that Moses Day, the old chief of the Chippewas, who is 78 years of age, is hale and hearty and has a able lieutenant in the subchief, Mahjishkung, his son-in-law. Although he has failed on several visits to Washington, for the purpose, the old chief expects to live to see a boarding school established in the place of the day school at the Nett Lake agency.

Owing to the water of the lake being higher by two or three feet than usual this year, the wild rice crop is going to be greatly curtailed.

Indians Cut Wild Rice.

The Indians have harvested as much as $6,000 worth of the wild crop, some of which they store or sell, but much of which they give away. William Orr, of Orr station, last year aided the Indians in disposing of wild rice to the value of about $2,000. The annuities of the government wards for the year ending at a recent time, amounted to $48,000. In the fall the Indians, from youths to the old men, make considerable money acting as canoeists and guides for hunters, their rate of charge being $2.50 a day.

SURRENDERS MONEY.

Gypsy Woman Gives Up $5 Taken From Grand Rapids Lunch Room.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Aug. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—A child traveling with a band of gypsies that came here yesterday enroute to Duluth, took $5 from the till of a lunch counter in the rear of a saloon while the counter man's back was turned. The latter notified Officer Johnson, who detained the band at the depot until the money was returned.

TO ADVERTISE LATER.

Misunderstanding Prevents Asking Bids for Deer River-Northome Road.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Aug. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—A misunderstanding exists concerning Deer River-Northome road, one of the number provided for in the $300,000 road bond issue, to be voted on, on Aug. 19. Statements have been made that this is the only one of the roads named which is in doubt. There is not at the present time, and has not been in the past, any doubt about the building of the road, since it was one of the first to be provided for in the bond issue. The only reason why bids will not be advertised for, with the other roads, is that certain preliminary steps have not been completed, and formal bids must be held for this procedure.

COHASSET WOMAN SENT TO ASYLUM.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Aug. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Miss Selma Ohman, 23 years old, of Cohasset, was committed to the state asylum for the insane at Fergus Falls yesterday by Judge of Probate Clarence Webster. DARK HORSE WINS CAPTAIN'S FIGHT

Second Lieutenant Junker Chosen to Head Hibbing Militia.

Hibbing, Minn., Aug. 1.—(Special to The Herald).—Second Lieut. Ed Junker was the dark horse sprung at the election of a captain for Company M held last evening.

Two factions have been in the field since it was announced a week ago that the election was to be held. Friends of First Lieut. Lewis and George Kohart, a former member of the company, made strenuous campaigns in their behalf. At the last moment it was realized that neither could be elected, and Junker was decided upon. Sergeant Elwell Booth was promoted to second lieutenant.

Contest has been Lively.

The fight for the leadership of the company has been warm. Capt. Adjt. Carl Weaver of St. Paul, had charge of the election and said that he hoped the company would gain in strength and in the near future be on an equal footing with any in the state. In a short talk Capt. Junker said that the officers could not make the company alone, that they needed the co-operation of the entire company.

DULUTH GIRL HAD VERY CLOSE CALL

Ankle Catching in Canoe as It Upset Saved Miss Haugen.

Coleraine, Minn., Aug. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The body of Emmet Coffey, who was drowned in Trout lake Wednesday has not yet been recovered. Three launches tried in vain all yesterday to bring the body to the surface by means of grappling irons, and it is expected that different methods will be put into use today in an effort to recover the victim of the sad accident.

The drowning occurred off Bogalusa point about 300 feet from shore. The water is deep at this place and it is hardly probable that the body will be recovered as the lake does not give up its dead.

Coffey and Miss Marvel Haugen were out canoeing, when suddenly the canoe turned with them and both were thrown into the water.

Fortunately for Miss Haugen her ankle became fastened in a part of the canoe and this saved her life. Both screamed as soon as the canoe turned, Emmett shouted once or twice and then went down. Miss Haugen saw the bubbles come to the surface, but Emmett never returned. She continued to scream and her voice was heard. At first no attention was paid to it, but the sight of help needed in the cry started Phil Flint in his canoe for the scene. Others then began to arrive and the girl was rescued and taken to the boat house, but she was not told of the fate of her companion as it was deemed in her condition to withhold this until such time as she was better able to bear the sad news.

Parties then formed to go and find the body and this has been kept up.

Hard to Locate Spot.

The exact point where the body went down is not easily determined as the night was not clear and the distance from the shore such as to prevent the exact marking of the spot by the rescuers of Miss Haugen. However, the parties in boats did all they could with the hope that perhaps it might be found in time to use the pulmotor.

Miss Haugen has been here from her home in Duluth visiting with Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Banick for some time. Mr. Coffey has been a laboratory employe for some time and a friend of all who knew him. He was about 21 years of age, and his parents live in Ely.

Eveleth, Minn., Aug. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Eveleth Cemetery association is the name of the organization that will have charge of Eveleth's new burying ground, about thirteen acres, a short distance north of the city, donated by the Oliver Iron Mining company, which is now being placed in condition for use. GILBERT MINE HAS BEEN CLOSED DOWN Causes Much Surprise at Gilbert But Village Has Other Mines.

Gilbert, Minn., Aug. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Gilbert mine here ceased operations yesterday following a visit Wednesday of President Olcott and Vice President Mitchell of the Oliver Iron Mining company. Much speculation exists as to the cause but the mining officials did not say anything while here for publication. As Gilbert has mines running of the Republic Iron & Steel company the shutdown of the Gilbert is not expected to materially affect the village.

The motive for the shutdown has caused considerable speculation. Some aver that the company has already removed sufficient ore from its leased property to enable it to pay the minimum royalty, while others think the fee owners are making demands that the company feels unable to comply with. The work done recently has been solely on the leased land. The officials concerned have given out no statement so when it will be reopened is a matter that time will decide.

Men Can Get Work.

As for the men thrown out of employment by the closing of the mine there is little doubt that they can be placed elsewhere. This will work a hardship on a few families recently moved here to accept work at the mine. The closing down of this mine may cause more agitation of the question of annexing the mining property to the village. While the closing of the mine will hardly affect the prosperity of the village to any appreciable extent it will help to bring home to the people that the mining property is lying adjacent to the village and should be made to help the village in some way. It is not definitely known if the closing of the mine is to be permanent, and it would seem from the way the work was going on that the decision to close down the mine was arrived at rather suddenly.

DIABETIC LEG AMPUTATED

Physicians know that operations on diabetics are nearly always fatal, operations commonly making new centers for gangrene, which often shows in this disease. Therefore, the following successful operation on a diabetic will interest physicians and diabetics generally.

Patient, a San Francisco business man, was taken to the St. Winifred Hospital suffering with a gangrened leg. It was an old case of diabetes and the gangrene had extended so far that the severance was between the knee and thigh. The physician did not attempt the operation till he had eliminated the sugar with Fulton's Diabetic Compound. The consulting physicians felt it would be fatal, but the operating physician knew what he could do in such cases after he had eliminated the sugar, and proceeded with the operation.

The fourteenth day the stitches were removed, the wound showing healthful pink color. The patient left the hospital the fourth week.

The operation was based on the ability of Fulton's Diabetic Compound to eliminate the sugar in diabetes. If you have diabetes and are of middle age or over you owe it to yourself and family to try Fulton's Diabetic Compound before giving up. It can be had at druggists supplied by Leithhead Drug Co.

For pamphlet write John J. Fulton Co., San Francisco.

This is on hearing in police court this afternoon.

ELY WILL PROTECT ITS WATER SUPPLY

Asks Lumber Concern to Open Dams in Burntside Lake.

Ely, Minn., Aug. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—This city is taking steps to protect its water supply from contamination. It takes water from Long lake. For several seasons the St. Croix Lumber company has been cutting logs on Burntside lake running them down Burntside river and towing them across Long lake and down the river to Winton. For an aid in logging purposes the lumber company has constructed two dams, one at Burntside lake, the other at the foot of Long lake, these have been kept closed as a rule. The city has now requested the company to keep the dams open so as to allow for a current through the lake and prevent any foreign growth in the water. The city has also decided to install a purifying plant in connection with the pumping station. The city officials realize that with the rapid growth of the city, an ounce of prevention of the contamination of the water supply is better than a pound of cure after the damage has been done.

Bank Building Progresses.

Work on the First National Bank building is rapidly nearing completion and when the workmen are finished, Ely will have another business block of which it may well be proud. Plans for the building were drawn by Architect Hunt of Duluth, while the work is being done by MacLeod & Smith, also of Duluth. The exterior of the building is being finished in art brick, while the interior fixtures will be in light oak. The cost of the building when entirely completed will be nearly $20,000. It is expected that by the first of September the building will be ready for use. The First National bank is the oldest banking institution here, and the monthly statements for the past year show the resources and deposits to be nearly one-half million dollars. Former City Clerk L. J. White is cashier.

DEAD IS IDENTIFIED.

Train Victim Was "Dynamite Scotty" or Fred Doyle.

Virginia, Minn., Aug. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The man killed on the Canadian Northern two weeks ago and supposed to be Fred Doyle has been identified by James Green, deputy sheriff at Orr as Thomas Hines known at Cusson and Orr as "Dynamite Scotty." It is believed his relatives are all in Scotland. He carried hospital ticket with the name "Fred Doyle."

G. A. Whitman and N. J. Benson made a business triy by auto to the farming section at the west end of Lake Vermilion. They are spreading the gospel of good farming.

The Vermilion hotel was taxed to its capacity on Wednesday night.

Eveleth, Minn., Aug. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. H. J. Schulze, while carying an armful of preserves to the basement, Thursday, tripped and fell from the top to the bottom of the stairs, striking her head on the concrete floor. She was severely injured and will be laid up for several days.

Double Salary Involved.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Aug. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Judge C. W. Stanton has taken under advisement the case of the state et rel Edward Carson vs. M. A. Spang, as county auditor, to decide whether Deputy Sheriff Carson can also draw pay as night watchman at the county jail.

RED RIVER VALLEY HARVEST IS EARLY

Great Northern Division Superintendent Predicts Bumper Crops.

Crookston, Minn., Aug. 1.—(Special to The Herald).—General harvesting began in the Red River Valley counties earlier this year than for a number of years. The rye, despite the dry weather early in June, has matured earlier than usual and is practically all cut and threshing has been started in the rye fields.

Hutchinson Bros. were the first to thresh and had a yield of twenty-five bushels per acre. John Perry threshed a field which yielded thirty-two bushels per acre, a high average for rye, and the yield generally is turning out better than anticipated.

A few farmers are harvesting their oats, and between Crookston and Beltrami some wheat harvesting was done yesterday. In the immediate vicinity of Beltrami, fourteen miles south of here considerable Marquis wheat has been sown, and this has matured from ten days to two weeks ahead of the more common varieties. Samples brought to the city last evening showed the Marquis an exceptionally fine berry, remarkably plump, and the sheaves are very heavy on the head end. This wheat will easily run from twenty to twenty-five bushels per acre.

Wheat Filling Out Well.

The wheat is filling far better than average. The heads are not long this year, but are filled from tip to tip. The crop estimates have been revised materially within the past ten days, and many are of the opinion that the crop will be considerable better than average. Master Mechanic Mills of the northern division of the Great Northern, which embraces the entire Minnesota side of the Great Northern, said last evening after returning from an extended tour: "Quote me as predicting the biggest harvest we have had on the northern division since 1895. We will have more grain to move this fall than any year during the past eighteen years. There are a few spots in the valley which will be light, but there are other spots that are remarkably heavy. The grain is filling this year as it has not filled in several years past. We have had plenty of moisture and cool weather, ideal for filling, and the yields are going to be a surprise. The straw crop is not heavy but the grain is there."

This opinion is more optimistic than the average but there is no disputing the cause for general optimism regarding the general crop situation.

BEARGREASE HAS COIN.

Aged Indian Has $2,600 to Credit in Bank at Cloquet.

Brookston, Minn., Aug. 1.—(Special to The Herald).—Joe Beargrease, an aged Indian residing here, has received word from Agent Cross at Cloquet, that he now has the sum of $2,600 to his credit in the First National bank of Cloquet. Joe is about the wealthiest Indian on the Fond du Lac reservation, and he is right proud of the fact, too.

Survives 100-Foot Fall.

Gainesville, Fla., Aug. 1.—After falling one hundred feet from his balloon to the campus of the University of Florida here, Fred Owen picked himself up and declared he was unhurt. His fall was broken by the branches of a pine tree.

HOW I MADE MY HAIR GROW

Woman With Marvelously Beautiful Hair Gives Simple Home Prescription Which She Used With Most Remarkable Results.

I was greatly troubled with dandruff and falling hair. I tried many advertised hair preparations and various prescriptions, but they all signally failed; many of them made my hair greasy so it was impossible to comb it or do it up properly. I think that many of the things I tried were positively injurious and from my own experience I cannot too strongly caution you against using preparations containing wood alcohol and other poisonous substances. I believe they injure the roots of the hair. After my long list of failures, I finally found a simple prescription which I can unhesitatingly state is beyond doubt the most wonderful thing for the hair I have ever seen. Many of my friends have also used it, and obtained wonderful effects therefrom. It not only is a powerful stimulant to the growth of the hair and for restoring gray hair to its natural color, but it is equally good for removing dandruff, giving the hair life and brilliancy, etc., and for the purpose of keeping the scalp in first-class condition. It also makes the hair easier to comb and arrange in nice form. I have a friend who used it two months and during that time it has not only stopped the falling of his hair and wonderfully increased its growth, but it practically restored all of his hair to its natural color. You can obtain the ingredients for making this wonderful preparation from almost any druggist. The prescription is as follows:

Bay Rum, 6 oz.; Menthol Crystals, ½ drachm; Lavona de Composee', 2 oz. If you like it perfumed add a few drops of Te-Kalon Perfume, which mixes perfectly with the other ingredients. This, however, is not necessary. Apply night and morning; rub thoroughly into the scalp.

FARGO COAL USERS GIVEN TOUGH DEAL

Coal Rate 40 Cents More Per Ton Than to Nearby Moorhead.

Fargo, N. D., Aug. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Although it is less than a mile from the Moorhead, Minn., freight depot to the Fargo freight depots, under the present railroad rates it costs 40 cents per ton more to get coal into Fargo than to Moorhead from the Twin Cities or the Head of the Lakes. This is the situation despite the recent reduction of rates announced by the roads for Fargo. The reductions really made a 10 per cent difference on a number of classes of freight being shipped into Fargo, but the wide difference in the charges on coal will necessitate the removal of every coal yard in Fargo to Moorhead, unless a change in the situation can be effected. An appeal by the coal dealers will probably be made at once to the interstate commerce commission. The business men of Fargo as well as coal consumers in general are expressing a great deal of dissatisfaction over the discrimination against Fargo.

GREAT NORTHERN'S BROOKSTON AGENT.

Brookston, Minn., Aug. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Heisler of St. Paul, has accepted the agency at the local Great Northern station, succeeding B. L. Cole, who has been located here for the past ten months. Mr. Cole expects to visit the home of his parents at Wymore, Neb., and also to take a trip to the Pacific coast before again locating permanently.

Joseph Lindsay, who was a frequent visitor in the village while he was master carpenter for the Superior and Mesaba divisions of the Great Northern railway company, is now located at Melrose, Minn., where he is now superintendent of the Fergus Falls division of the same road.

The Widell company of Mankato are building a number of concrete culverts for the Great Northern Railway company along the line east and west of the village. All wooden culverts are being replaced with concrete.

EDUCATION WOULD CHECK HEAVY SMOKE.

G. E. Goodman, master mechanic of the Northern Pacific, has written Supt. Brown relative to the complaint which has been made of smoke and soot coming from the stacks of the railroad's roundhouse on Garfield avenue. The superintendent has forwarded a copy of the letter to Mayor Prince.

Goodman states that in his opinion the best solution would be to educate the fire builders to so light their fires that the undesirable smoke would be greatly reduced if not eliminated. He adds that the chief difficulty this presents is that the fire builders are constantly changing. He mentioned two other methods which might be followed, but did not think that either would be as satisfactory as having the fire builders properly educated.

African Strike Called Off.

Johannesburg, Aug. 1.—The trades federation has called off the proposed general strike of miners in South Africa.

ADDITIONAL SPORTS

STRONG GOLF TEAM AFIELD

Northland Club Will Send Crack Players to State Tourney.

R. S. Patrick Will Contest With Harry Legg for Championship.

R. S. Patrick will have another try at Harry Legg for the state golf championship. The state championship tournament will be played on the Interlachen club links at Minneapolis, the tourney play starting on next Tuesday.

The Northland club will send the best team in the history of the club. All of the crack players will make the trip. It is a fact worthy of note that the best golf that has ever been witnessed here has been played this summer, and as the contenders have been performing over the new 18 hole course they will undoubtedly be in better shape for tournament play.

Duluth is in the field to secure the annual state tournament of 1914 and it is believed that the efforts of the Duluth contingent will be crowned with success.

The new course and the facilities here for oaring for the players, aided by the fact that Duluth is getting to be one of the real golf centers of the West, should bring the next state tournament to the links of the Northland.

The following golfers will makeup the team that Duluth send to the tournament: R. N. Marble, C. A. Duncan, F. A. Brewer, E. P. Alexander, R. S. Patrick, Marshall Alworth, George H. Crosby, W. J. Olcott, R. T. Goodell, Ward Ames, F. L. Finkenstead, E. N. Whyte, M. B. Dillon, E. H. Winkom, Andrew Volk, D. G. Cutler, William White, Jr., Herbert Spencer, A. W. Taussig, W. W. Croze, J. L. Mullin, J. Q. A. Crosby, F. N. White, Louis Loeb, A. C. Gillett, L. B. Arnold, C. S. Wilson.

THE MIDGET SETS NEW TRACK RECORD.

Erie, Pa., Aug. 1.—In the free-for-all pace, unfinished yesterday, of the Lake Erie circuit meet here, the Midget knocked off one and one-half seconds from the Conneaut lake track record, going the mile in 2:09¾. The race will be concluded today. Summaries:

2:19 trot; purse, $400—Miss Trace (Moorehead) won.

2:17 pace; purse, $400—Elish Jay (Martin) won.

The free-for-all pace, unfinished, went five heats and was put over until today on account of darkness. The Midget (Roush) won the first and second heats; Blue Line (Page) took the third and fourth, while Bonnie Boy (Lee) won the fifth heat.

PITCHER RELEASED BY ST. JOE CLUB.

St. Joseph, Mo., Aug. 1.—Manager Holland of the St. Joseph Western league team yesterday released Henry Chellette, pitcher, to the Waterloo club of the Central association. Chellette was sold to the Omaha Western league club a week ago with the understanding that he was in condition to begin work at once. But Manager Rourke refused to accept him after a try-out and Holland consented to his return. Holland still is fighting with Denver over his purchase of Pitcher Cliff Healy under like conditions.

The Detroit American league team, which owns Pitcher Bube Boehler, has notified the St. Joseph club that the twirler has been recalled. Boehler will finish the season here, however.

Manager Holland has been unable to come to terms with Pitcher Gaines, purchased from the Chicago Americans. Gaines is in Durham, Tex., and has not answered Holland's last letter.

No Runs; No Hits.

Troy, N. Y., Aug. 1.—Pitcher Vedder Sitton of the Troy club of the New York State league shut Wilkesbarre out without a run or hit yesterday afternoon. Not one of the visiting players reached second base and only three reached first, each on a base on balls.

Benton Recovering.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Aug. 1.—Rube Benton, pitcher for the Cincinnati National team, is slowly recovering from injuries which he sustained early Wednesday morning when his motorcycle had a head-on collision with a street car.

TELEPHONES FOR MARRIAGE LICENSE.

Albert Dudrey of Marshall, Lyon county, Minn., ordered a marriage license from J. P. Johnson, clerk of the district court, by long distance telephone this morning.

He told Clerk Johnson that he wanted to marry Miss Ida Phillies, who was visiting in his home town, but that he couldn't unless he secured a license from the St. Louis county clerk.

His prospective bride, he said, was a resident of this county, and the law provides that the license must be secured in the county in which the bride-to-be resides.

Clerk Johnson filled out the license blank and mailed it to the clerk of the district court in Lyon county, who will take the necessary affidavit from Mr. Dudrey and forward it to Duluth.

TOWNER WILL CONTEST.

Swedish Relatives of Late North Dakotan Object to Hospital Bequest.

Towner, N. D., Aug. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Because $2,000 of a $20,000 estate, left by Eric Bloomquist of Velva, N. D., was left to an orphan asylum, his brothers and sisters, all residents of Sweden, are contesting the will, seeking to have the estate probated and divided on the basis fixed by law.

Bloomquist's only heirs are brothers and sisters, he being unmarried. All of them were remembered in the will, but they are opposed to the idea of any share of the estate going to the orphans' home. The contest was heard by Judge Birdahl, occupying three days this week, and he has reserved his decision.

WHEAT ONLY HOPE OF "WILD" BOATS

Big Vessels Taking Ore and No Coal Is Available.

With ore going down the lakes in record cargoes and the contract vessels returning light for want of coal to carry, there appears little for the vessels not under contract to do but carry wheat.

The rate for this tonnage, however, vessel agents say, is not encouraging.

Demand for wheat in the East is not strong enough to warrant shippers in paying higher rates. At the present time shippers in Chicago are standing by their offer of cargoes at 1¾ cents and contenting themselves with now and then filling such vessels as are willing to load at their elevators. At Duluth and Fort William the offers stand at 1½ cents.

In these two cities there are about 15,000,000 bushels of wheat in the elevators awaiting shipment. Under present conditions, whatever part of this is shipped down the lakes probably will be carried at the shipper's terms.

Three boats took on about 500,000 bushels of wheat at Chicago for Buffalo at 1¼ cents.

The ore movement from the Head of the Lakes continues heavy, and vessel men believe the total for the month will reach close to 8,000,000 tons in spite of the holiday interruption.

Nine ore boats were reported as participating in a congestion at the Lackawanna Steel company's docks at Buffalo, awaiting turn to unload, and it was expected that it would be twelve or fourteen days before the latest one to arrive would leave the unloading dock light.

STEERING GEAR OF STEAMER IS BROKEN.

The steamer Hoover and Mason of the Tomlinson fleet, broke her steering gear in the channel at Buffalo this week and a collision between her and the John Ericsson and consort was narrowly averted. The Hoover and Mason managed to get her auxiliary steering gear into operation just as the Ericsson was bearing down on her.

New Gas Buoy.

About Aug. 10 the light vessel at Martin's reef, Lake Huron, will be withdrawn temporarily, and an intermittent flashing gas buoy will mark the location.

Change in Officers.

Changes of officers in the Tomlinson fleet have been announced as follows: First Mate Reid of the steamer Frank C. Ball takes command of the steamer Sultana, replacing Capt. James Cottrell, who takes command of the steamer C. W. Watson of the Gilchrist fleet. The Watson has been sailed by Capt. Mallory since the illness of Capt. H. C. Judson of Detroit forced him to leave the vessel two weeks ago.

Rebuild Steamer.

The Reid Wrecking company of Sarnia, Ont., will rebuild the old steamer Colonial, formerly of the Gilchrist fleet, and place her in the coal trade.

Grand Forks Wins Case.

Grand Forks, N. D., Aug. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—It required the jury in the case of Charles J. Everson vs. the City of Grand Forks only ten minutes in which to reach a verdict freeing the city from liability. Everson charged that he had received injuries as a result of a defective sidewalk, his foot being caught in a hole in such manner as to pitch him forward, wrenching his shoulder and otherwise hurting him.

AUTO PATROL AND AMBULANCE DELIVERED

The new combination automobile patrol and emergency ambulance of the police department was delivered at headquarters today. It's lines are handsome. Equipped with a sixty-horse power engine it promises to do much to improve the efficiency of the department. The new Kissel can be used for long runs and will be especially useful in responding to hurry-up emergency calls for accidents. The city has been sadly deficient in this respect for many years. Commissioner Hicken, Chief Troyer and other officials will try the machine out at 2 o'clock this afternoon. The car cost $3,500, or $400 less than the sum appropriated for that purpose by the old council.

Pembina Fair Drew.

Hamilton, N. D., Aug. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Over 7,000 paid admissions is the record of the Pembina county fair for two days, the event being brought to a close last night. The officers believe they have established a record attendance in securing that number.

Thomas Cooper, secretary of the North Dakota Better Farming association, yesterday afternoon discussed the work of his organization quite thoroughly.

Wahpeton, N. D., Aug. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—A Richland county homecoming will be featured at the annual Richland county fair, Oct. 1 to 3, for which plans are being laid by the officers at present. They expect to make the 1913 fair the best ever held, and are securing more elaborate attractions, have a greater premium list and better prospects than any previous time.

In handling plans for the home coming, the fair association will be assisted by the Commercial club and the Boosters' club.

Minot, N. D., Aug. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The trial of George F. Hart, former game warden, charged with crimes out of which grew the suicide of Mrs. J. H. Griffin of Ryder, will not take place till November. The Ward county district court jury was dismissed yesterday afternoon without calling his case. He is free under heavy bonds.

The case of J. F. McCutcheon, a Minot police officer charged with shooting a Valley City, N. D., man while raiding a tramp gang's hangout, also was delayed till November.

WHEAT GAINS; ALSO FLAX

Feeling That Wheat Is Worth the Money Probable Cause.

Heavy Demand for Flax Causes Seed to Go Up.

Duluth Board of Trade, Aug. 1.—The advance in wheat was not only maintained bu tincreased toward the close of the session today, both September and December options of spring wheat closing 1c higher than yesterday. Durum wheat is ½c up. Oats advanced 1c, corn jumped 2¼c ahead, and barley gained 2c.

September puts, 87¼c asked; calls, 87¾@87⅞c bid.

Spring wheat is trying its best to climb again today. Yesterday it started climbing and had a good healthy start until just before the close somebody sat on it and it closed under. Today the indications all pointed to an advance and up to within the last hour wheat kept the lead it obtained in the early part of the session. The cold weather in Canada, and the possible damage to the crop, together with the fact that wheat is believed to be intrinsically worth more than it is quoted at, combine to advance prices and it is believed that until too much of a tilt has been given the cereal there will not be a serious setback for some days.

September wheat opened ⅛@¼c higher and in the last hour had advanced ¾@⅞c. December, which began to advance early, was up ¾c near the close; and September durum is up ½c.

Flax Gains Materially.

A greater demand for flax today caused the market to advance materially, each option gaining comfortably for the day. There was no bad news in flax, but the demand was spirited. September and November advanced ¾c, October gained ⅞c, and December is ⅝c over yesterday.

THE MARKET GOSSIP.

Parker Paine has started in the grain business for himself. He has been with the Barnum Grain company for eighteen years, but has cut his ropes and now has an office at 206 Board of Trade building, doing business under the name of Paine Commission company. As Commodore Willard says, he is not the skipper but the whole cheese.

The Van Dusen-Harrington company has just issued another crop letter, a copy of which follows:

"Climatic conditions over the three Northwestern states the past week have been almost perfect for wheat filling and cutting of grains.

"Harvesting in Southern South Dakota and Minnesota is well advanced. Velvet chaff is beyond the filling stage, much of it being cut. Blue stem is in the dough.

"Cutting of rye is completed and barley cutting is general. Oats are in all stages, some being cut and other fields still green.

Harvesting in North Dakota will not be general until Aug. 10 to 15."

CHICAGO MARKET.

Corn Prices Go Highest They Have Been Since Drouth Scare.

Chicago, Aug. 1.—Corn bounded higher today than at any time since the alarm over dry weather began. Offerings were limited and there was an active demand. Absence of rain this morning was coupled with predictions of continued fair weather. Prices opened ⅜@½c to 1⅛@1¼c up. September started at 66⅝c to 67⅛c, the same change from last night as the market taken altogether and rose to 67¾c.

Profit-taking by longs set in but failed to check the advance. The close was steady with September 2⅛@2¼c net higher at 68⅛c.

Wheat showed strength, chiefly because of bullish cables and the higher corn market. September which started ⅜@½c to ½@⅝c dearer at 86⅝c to 86½c, climbed to 86⅞c.

Good export call and the lightness of country acceptances tended to keep the market firm. The close was 1@1⅛c net higher for September at 87¼c.

Further unfavorable threshing reports helped turn oats upward. September opened ¼c higher at 41c and ascended to 41½@41⅝c.

Advancing prices for corn and hogs put firmness into provisions. First sales were unchanged to 7½c above last night, including September options as follows:

Pork, $20.90; lard, $11.60; ribs, $11.52½ to $11.55@11.57½.

BANANA FACTS.

South American: The thick skin of the banana makes it impervious to disease germs and no plant disease has been traced to either fruit or stalk. In order to test it, bananas have been immersed in impure water for hours without the skin's being penetrated. The diversified ways in which the fruit can be prepared makes it very popular. Not only is it delicious when served fresh, but quite as delicious when baked or boiled. Flour for bread is also made from the fruit, and the preserved banana is finding popular favor. It is now predicted that before long some chemical process will be discovered whereby the skins and stalks of the banana can be used in industrial processes.

TOO THIN.

Pearson's Weekly: A very witty remark has been made by a man who recently went to see Mlle. Gaby Deslys, the famous French dancer.

It appears to be the fashion just now for ladies to be thin, and Gaby, who is always in the front rank of fashion, has succeeded in making herself look remarkably slim.

The man who had gone to see her dance watched her critically for some time and then remarked:

"If she'd only close one eye she'd look like a needle!"

DULLNESS IN STOCKS

Market Generally Higher at Opening But Has Decline Later.

List Shows More Steadiness in the Last Hour's Trading.

New York, Aug. 1.—The unexpected announcement by the treasury department of its purpose to make large deposits of government bonds at Western and Southern centers in order to expedite the movement of crops imparted some strength to today's dull stock market, even though it failed to excite more than passing interest in banking circles. Speculative issues were generally higher, the most noteworthy exception being Canadian Pacific, due to foreign selling pressure. A sharp decline in Mexican Railway second preferred reflected the more uncertain financial conditions in Mexico.

Bonds were irregular, Atchison convertible 4's losing a point, with a gain of as much in Seaboard Adjutments.

The stock market was moderately steady at the opening today, with business in small volume. Most of the active issues were fractionally higher, with half point gains in Steel and Amalgamated. National Railways of Mexico second preferred declined 1⅝.

The market became extremely apathetic soon after the opening, with no noteworthy changes, save a point gain in Baltimore & Ohio and ½-point advances in Can and Illinois Central, these being offset by some pressure upon Union Pacific and Northwestern.

Southern and Southwestern stocks declined on the government's cotton crop report and advices from agricultural centers pointing to further serious damage to corn. Chesapeake & Ohio, Missouri Pacific and Illinois Central declined over a point, the last-named establishing a new low record. Heaviness became more pronounced after foreign buying stopped.

Selling became more liberal when it was seen that the bears were encountering less opposition. New York Central abruptly declined 1⅝, Union Pacific 1, and other active issues ½ a point.

The market closed heavy. Pressure relaxed in the last hour and the list showed more steadiness. Slight recoveries seemed to furnish a new level for short sales, however, and the market again dropped in the final dealings.

COPPER MARKET SHOWS STRENGTH

List Holds Up Well Although There Is Little Trading.

Generally speaking, the copper market was strong today, although in professional trading solely, Amalgamated sold off a few points and one or two other stocks did the same. But as a whole the list was strong. There was not much activity, however, to test it.

HINTS ON HOW TO CARE FOR TEETH.

New York Sun: Good teeth are not accidental. They are our birthright. If by reason of lack of early training we fail to preserve our birthright, for the sake of our children let's not let the coming generation have poor teeth. Let's teach them habits of cleanliness as regards their teeth. They will thank us for it later.

Teeth kept perfectly clean cannot decay. Decay is caused by bacteria which find lodgment in protected places on tooth surfaces, and by breaking down the sweets and starches of food remnants, produce an acid that demolishes the tooth substance.

It is regarded as impossible to avoid all decay without constant attention for the purpose of keeping all tooth surfaces absolutely clean, but with such care as can be given by proper brushing and rinsing the teeth and mouth three times a day and the use of silk floss once a day, it is probable that 75 per cent of the decay in children's teeth may be avoided.

It is highly important to protect the teeth of children, for with decayed teeth food cannot be properly chewed, and improperly chewed food cannot be properly digested. As a consequence, proper body development is impaired, progress in studies is retarded and resistance to disease is rendered below par. Constant swallowing of the foul products of decay, combined with the lack of proper assimilation of food, produces anaemia, tonsillar disease, rheumatism and a number of ailments classed as "school diseases." If "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure," it is manifestly worth while to avoid these conditions by remedying the defects of teeth which so commonly cause them.

To properly brush the teeth and accomplish the most good, select a medium stiff brush with tufted bristles, and in brushing place the brush with bristles up beside the upper teeth and rotate so that the bristles will cleanse both gums and teeth. Brush the opposite way when cleansing the lower teeth. To cleanse the inner surfaces of the teeth use the end of the brush. Also use the brush on the tongue and palate, and finally rinse the mouth thoroughly, forcing the water between the teeth.

The most important tooth in the mouth and the one most frequently lost through decay is the first permanent molar. The "baby molars" should not be lost until the ninth year of life, but the first permanent molar, which comes in at 6 years of age, should not be lost at all.

THE TEN COMMANDMENTS OF HEALTH.

Dallas News: In a recent Y. W. C. A. bulletin from Gatesville, Tex., was the report of a field day for the rural school girls, a part of the program for which consisted of talks on the Ten Commandments of Health. All of the athletic clubs for girls were to be asked to subscribe to them.

So pertinent does this code seem that it is given herewith to our readers, with the hope that it may be adopted in many other states than Texas:

1. Thou shalt keep they backbone straight.
2. Thou shalt drink a half-gallon of water each day.
3. Thou shalt walk three miles a day or play a game for forty-five minutes.
4. Thou shalt use all thy lungs all the time.
5. Thou shalt take sufficient nourishment.
6. Thou shalt masticate they food properly.
7. Thou shalt brush they teeth twice each day.
8. Thou shalt sleep eight hours of each twenty-four.
9. Thou shalt think pleasant thoughts and banish unpleasant ones.
10. Thou shalt thank thy Creator for the blessings which the keeping of these laws bring, and tell thy neighbors.

FLOODS IN LONDON.

London Chronicle: There was a time when high tides on the Thames might have emptied London. For there is on record an instance of a general exodus from London through fear of the overflowing of the river. It was in 1524 that the astrological experts almost all agreed in predicting that on a certain day the Thames was going to overflow the city, and for weeks beforehand the population was busily engaged in moving itself and its belongings into the country. In fact, the only unmoved person was Father Thames, who on the great day quite failed to rise to the occasion, thereby placing the prophets in some danger of maltreatment at the hands of the deceived emigrants.

SOME FISH STORY! WHAT?

Indianapolis News: The Staten island reporter of the New York World reports that John Elliott of Elizabeth, N. J., tied his two fishing lines to the collar of his bull terrier and hitched the terrier to the stringpiece, while Elliott left the dock for a few minutes. When he came back the dog was gone. He whistled and got a muffled bark in response. He looked over the edge of the dock and saw the dog swimming with two sea bass in tow, one hooked to either line. Elliott got into a boat, rescued the dog and retrieved the fish.

French capitalists have leased 2,700 acres in the province of Tomsk, belonging to the crown domains. They propose to use this land for beet plantations to obtain a supply of beets for sugar factories which they will build and equip in that district.

NON-INTERFERENCE IS PREDICTED AS POLICY OF U. S. TOWARD MEXICO

Bryan Denies of Request for Relief Fund Is Significant.

Account of Execution of Murderer of American Reaches El Paso.

Orozco Is Recruiting Forces to Attack the Rebels.

Washington, Aug. 2. — Secretary Bryan today vigorously disclaimed that his request to congress to appropriate $100,000 for bringing destitute Americans out of Mexico had any connection with any policy the administration may evolve in dealing with the Mexican situation.

"Statements attempting to put a scare-head construction upon the request for an appropriation are entirely without excuse and cannot be explained upon any theory consistent with an interest in the public welfare," said he.

"In furnishing aid to any indigent person desiring to leave Mexico, the government is simply doing what it does at any time when American lives are in danger by insurrection, and there is no reason why anybody should attempt to misconstrue it."

Non-Interference Predicted.

Secretary Bryan's request was generally interpreted as one step in the administration's plan for dealing with the Mexican problem.

Far from being regarded as a preliminary to intervention—which President Wilson has told friends on various occasions is out of the question—the request for funds is really thought to be the forerunner of a policy of non-interference.

From the first, the president has believed that in crises in turbulent republics, the single solicitude of the American government should be the protection of lives and property. Should the administration here adopt a policy of non-interference, it might well refrain from action with respect to the destruction of property on the ground that claims for damages would,

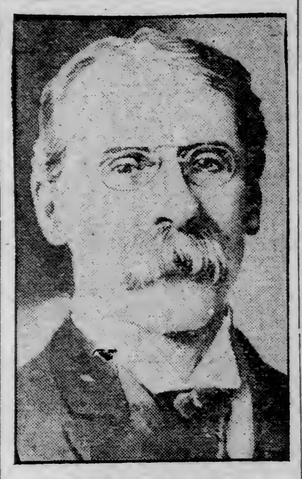
NEW AMBASSADOR HAS ARRIVED AT TOKIO



GEORGE W. GUTHRIE.

Tokio, Japan, Aug. 2.—The new American ambassador to Japan, George W. Guthrie of Pittsburg, arrived here today. He was met at Yokohama by the staff of the embassy, by Thomas Sammons, American consul-general, and by a committee of the American Asiatic association, who escorted him to Tokio.

CRIPPLED CHILD'S TRICYCLE STOLEN

Thief Takes Vehicle Presented By Friends of Paralytic.

Chicago, Aug. 2.—Search is being made today for a man who the police say is one of Chicago's meanest thieves.

He stole a tricycle from Vernon Minzey, a 10-year-old paralytic. The boy's friends in the neighborhood recently subscribed to a fund and presented him with the machine which enabled him to take a ride daily.

Today he rode to visit the home of the minister of the church he attends, and left his machine outside. When he came out the machine was gone. The cripple wept as the minister carried him home in his arms and then reported the theft to the police.

DENIES DIPLOMACY IN BRITISH DECISION

Pall Mall Gazette Prints Inspired Article on Expo. Affair.

London, Aug. 2.—An apparently inspired statement in regard to the British government's non-participation in the Panama-Pacific exposition in San Francisco appears today in the Westminster Gazette, drawn forth by the caustic comment cabled from America. It earnestly avers that Great Britain's refusal to participate has no diplomatic significance, and is based purely on commercial grounds. The newspaper says:

"We do not mix up our diplomatic negotiations and our business in the way suggested. • • • Americans may be easy in their minds that our refusal on this occasion has no other reasons behind it than that those of expense and the impossibility of getting together a worthy collection at a place so distant as San Francisco. We hope and expect that any diplomatic differences we have with the American government about the Panama canal will be settled long before 1915, when the exposition is to be held."

"At First Sight."

The Pall Mall Gazette says there was no occasion for an "explosion of temper" by Americans after the explanation given by the British board of trade yesterday, and continues:

"We must confess we learned of the reluctance of our traders with some regret. At first sight it betokens lack of imagination and enterprise."

The newspaper suggests that the exhibition might give British traders a chance to make up leeway on the German "drummers" who are already busy on the coast.

TORRENTS LAY VALLEY WASTE

Over 7 Inches of Rain Falls in Less Than Three Hours.

An Unprecedented Storm Sweeps the Upper Delaware Valley.

Easton, Pa., Aug. 2.—The upper Delaware Valley struggled today to get itself, untangled from the mass of debris and wreckage caused by the cloudburst of yesterday. Roadbeds of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western and the Pennsylvania railroads were badly washed, but the Lackawanna succeeded during the night in removing hundreds of tons of dirt and rocks from the tracks at the Delaware Water Gap and opening the road in that section.

The damage at Maunka Chunk, N. J., the junction of the Pennsylvania and Lackawanna railroads, has not yet been repaired. Here the tracks were undermined and the operator's tower

WHO IS BACK OF CASTRO?

Report in Teneriffe Says "Certain Power" Is Aiding Him.

Venezuelan Forces Are Mobilized to Attack Invaders.

OFFICIALS REPORTED MURDERED BY CASTRO.

Caracas, Venezuela, Aug. 2.—It was reported here today that all the Venezuelan government officials at Coro in the state of Falcon were surprised by Former President Cipriano Castro and killed or taken prisoners.

Teneriffe, Canary Islands, Aug. 2.—A member of the family of Gen. Cipriano Castro today expressed the greatest surprise at the news published here regarding the former dictator's invasion of Venezuela, and declared emphatically that Castro was at present in Germany. It is, however, generally believed here that the former president had completed all his plans for bringing about a revolution in Venezuela, and it is even rumored that he is aided by a certain power.

National Troops Mobilized.

Caracas, Venezuela, Aug. 2.—The mobilization of the Venezuelan troops in Caracas was completed today and an expedition is expected to leave the capital at any moment to meet the revolutionary invaders.

It is believed the first objective point of the government troops will be the State of Falcon, of which Coro, the capital, was reported to have fallen into the hands of Gen. Cipriano Castro's adherents a few days ago. The government troops are well organized and thoroughly equipped for any service.

Problem for Washington.

Washington, Aug. 2.—The sudden and unexpected appearance in Venezuela of Gen. Cipriano Castro to take personal command of the revolutionary forces, confronts the state department with a grave problem. Secretary Bryan declined today to say what would be the attitude of the United States toward the presence of the unwelcome exile in the land from which he was banished five years ago.

The Taft administration not only approved of Castro's exile from Venezuela, but sought by every means, although without success, to prevent him from landing in this country last winter. Officials realize that Castro's personal direction of the insurrection will make the movement far more formidable.

The cruiser Des Moines will leave Brunswick, Ga., Monday for Laguiara, expecting to reach that port Friday. Henry F. Tennant of the state department, who is going to Caracas to take charge of the legation pending the appointment of a new minister, will leave Washington and will proceed to Venezuela on the Des Moines.

Topeka, Kan., Aug. 2.—T. C. Roberts of this city, was fined $1,000 and given a term of six months in jail for selling one dollar's worth of beer to a neighbor a few weeks ago. Police Judge Huron imposed the sentence.

ECONOMY OF MOST RIGID TYPE NEEDED

City Must Eliminate Every Possible Expenditure, Says Voss.

Deficit of $30,000 in General Fund; $83,000 in Improvement.

"We Have Been Living Beyond Means," Says Mayor Prince.

Elimination of all possible expenses, not only through the payroll but in all ways, was urged upon the city commission at its meeting yesterday afternoon by Finance Commissioner Fred J. Voss.

The city is in a deplorably straightened financial condition, and this was strongly emphasized yesterday by Commissioner Voss.

He declared that without incurring any further obligations the general fund will end the year with a deficit of $30,000.

He corroborated the statement recently published in The Herald that without spending another dollar from the permanent improvement fund, the fund will show a debit of approximately $83,000 at the end of the present year.

"We should not spend any money whatever that is not imperatively necessary," said Commissioner Voss. "We are limited in the levy to 13 mills for all purposes, except the sinking and interest funds. The only additional funds will have to come from the increase in the assessed valuation. If the assessable property is increased in value $2,000,000 it will mean that we will have but $26,000 additional."

Due to Old Council.

The finance commissioner explained that the indebtedness of the general fund is mostly due to expenditures of the old council. He divided it into $15,000 for the certificates of indebtedness which were issued last fall and $15,000 for the general yearly accumulations which have been becoming liabilities against the fund.

Mayor Prince said: "We have been living beyond our means; that is, we have been anticipating on our income. We have been deceiving ourselves to the true condition of the fund when we have made up our accounts, not taking all things into consideration. Although the mayor [illegible] the present tense he made it clear in response to a question that he had particular reference to the methods which had been

MUSIC AND CHAUTAUQUA AS LURE TO HARVEST HANDS.

Devils Lake, N. D., Aug. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Tri-weekly band concerts and excursions to the Devils Lake chautauqua grounds are attractions which the Devils Lake Commercial club will offer to incoming harvest hands in an effort to make this city the center of the help supply for Central North Dakota. Farmers are appealing for help, and the Commercial club directors have determined upon band concerts and other attractions as a means of bringing harvest hands here.

LEAD CITIES OF COUNTRY

Duluth and Superior Use Greatest Amount of Power Per Capita.

Evidence of Great Growth in Industry Shown By Statistics.

In the per capita use of electrical power from central stations, Duluth and Superior, counted as one industrial center, lead the cities of the country.

The extent of the industrial activity at the Head of the Lakes is made evident in comparison with other cities by figures published this month in the Rotarian, the official publication of the National Association of Rotary Clubs.

In a story booming Buffalo, it is pointed out that Buffalo, with a population of 423,700 people, uses 247,116,000 kilowatt hours of electric energy, or a per capita use of 583 kilowatt hours, 50 per cent ahead of its nearest competitor.

J. B. Crane, commercial engineer for the Great Northern Power company, pointed out today that Duluth and Superior, with a population of 120,000, use 102,000,000 kilowatt hours, or a per capita use of 850 kilowatt hours, which is nearly 50 per cent more than the Buffalo consumption.

Philadelphia, with a population of 1,549,000 people, uses 183,870 kilowatt hours, a per capita of 119; New York and Brooklyn, population of 4,766,800, uses 639,700,000 kilowatt hours, a per capita of 134; Boston, with a population of 670,000, uses 161,700,000, a per capita of 241; Chicago, population 2,185,000, uses 799,000,000, or a per capita of 366 kilowatt hours.

Duluth and Superior, far out in front of the list in per capita use, show the position of the Head of the Lakes as an industrial center, and the extent of its dependence of population on an industrial activity. There is much more room for development that will come in the next few years, and the use of electric energy is a good indication of industrial growth.

THIEF EATS FRUIT BUT RETURNS MONEY

Even Sends Back Jars That Contained the Preserves.

Preston, Minn., Aug. 2.—This little village has a burglar operating in its midst whose conscience is stronger than the appeal of money, but whose sweet tooth cannot resist the temptation of delicious newly preserved fruit.

One night last week the home of Reuben Workman was robbed, and $5 in cash and two jars of fruit were taken. Yesterday Workman received an envelope containing a $5 bill, with a note from an unknown person expressing regret for the theft. The jars came back, too, but the fruit had been removed.

Workman has accepted the peace offering and called off the police.

Several Arrests Are Made and Guards Shoot Shadows.

Victor Brander of Duluth Among Those Arrested for Intimidation.

The Militia May Be Sent Home in Another Week.

Calumet, Mich., Aug. 2. — (Special to The Herald.)—There was increased activity in copper mining operations today as a sequel to an intimation conveyed to the operators from state sources that another week might end the participation of troops in the strike situation. All men applying for work were given tasks of some sort in order to hold their interest until actual mining is attempted.

Four arrests in the early hours were made for alleged intimidation. One of the latest prisoners was Victor Brander, said to be an organizer of the Western Federation of Miners, who said he came from Duluth.

Some "Shadow-Shooting."

There was the usual amount of "shadow shooting" by sentries during the night, the guardsmen being curious to test the "kick" of the short range ammunition with which they had been supplied.

Continued absence of extended rioting and the fact that the annual tour of duty of the Michigan troops takes the men from their usual vocations for ten days or less, were factors in de-

CONEY ISLAND IS FLOODED BY RAIN

Waiters in Bathing Suits Serve Guests Squatted on Tables.

New York, Aug. 2. — The worst storm in many years at Coney Island flooded that resort late yesterday. Rivers ran in Surf avenue, the water rising over the curbline, and rowboats were used as a means of escape by some of the thousands marooned in hotels along the thoroughfare where they had fled for shelter.

In one hotel rathskeller, where the floor was under two feet of water, some of the guests remained and sat on the tables while waiters got into bathing suits and served them.

Lightning struck several buildings in the vicinity, and at Far Rockaway, where the storm also was severe, hundreds of excursionists were held up for hours.

In this city the storm did comparatively little damage.

INDIAN NOMINATED FOR TREASURY JOB

Negro on Whom Fight Was Threatened Declines Appointment.

Washington, Aug. 2.—President Wilson today withdrew the nomination of Adam E. Patterson of Oklahoma, a negro, to be register of the treasury. Patterson declined the appointment and the president nominated Gabe E. Parker of Oklahoma, a Choctaw Indian recommended by both senators from Oklahoma and the congressional delegation from that state. Southern senators threatened a fight on Patterson's nomination.

Edward London of Anamoose, N. D., Acts Against His Judgment.

Anamoose, N. D., Aug. 2.—Jeered by a crowd of men and boys when he started to climb down the ladder after mounting to the platform from which a professional net diver had just leaped today, Edward London, a local pointer, climbed back to the perch and jumped. He is in a hospital and expected to die.

U. S. SPECIAL AGENTS HELD ON CHARGE OF BLACKMAIL

Matthews and Mott of Department of Justice Under Arrest.

Former Governor in Mexico Accuses Three at New Orleans.

New Orleans, La., Aug. 2.—Emmanuel Castillo Brito, former governor of the Mexican state of Campeche, was arrested here today by Federal authorities and held without bail on a charge of murder and robbery preferred by the existing Mexican authorities.

New Orleans, La., Aug. 2.—A sensation was caused in Latin-American revolutionary and government circles by the arrest here last night of G. Raymond Matthews, special agent of the United States department of justice; J. L. Mott, his assistant, and Ernesto Fernandez Y. Arteaga, representative here of the Constitutionalist party in Mexico, on the charge of blackmail.

The three were in jail all night, having failed to make bail.

The arrests resulted from an appeal to the local police by Emmanuel Castillo Brito, former governor of the state of Campeche, Mex., who said he had been approached by one of the three with a copy of a telegram which purported to have come from Wash-

PUZZLE PICTURE: WHAT'S HE THINKING ABOUT?

OWEN GIVES OUT LETTER TO BANKERS ON CURRENCY BILL

Tells Advantages the Country Banks Would Gain By It.

Says Half Dozen Men Now Can Make Panics at Will.

Washington, Aug. 2.—In a circular letter to country bankers, issued today, Chairman Owen of the senate banking committee enumerates what he considers to be the advantages to them of the Glass-Owen currency bill, and states that it would relieve the banking business from the control of a half dozen "very ambitious gentlemen who could today shake this country to its foundation by panics whenever they pleased."

"If an exhaustive investigation were made of the panic of 1907 to ascertain who were the beneficiaries of that panic, this country would learn a much needed lesson in finance," he said.

After an array of figures, Senator Owen reached the conclusion in his letter that the net result to the average $100,000 bank would be a substantial gain over the present system of approximately $3,000 a year, or 3 per cent on its capital. He declared another advantage of the bill would be to permit country banks to loan half their time deposits, or a fourth of their capital and surplus, on farm loans.

"I should be in favor, also," he said, "of giving them other advantages which we can do more intelligently when we codify the national bank act next winter."

BOY OF 15 KILLS HIS CHUM WITH HIS FIST

Blow Over Heart Causes Death of Colorado Lad.

Grand Junction, Colo., Aug. 2.—Dewey Sellars, 15 years old, was instantly killed here last night by a blow over the heart, received in a fist fight with his chum, Henry Patterson, 15 years old. Patterson is held awaiting the inquest.

WALSH FOR FREE WOOL

He Gives Emphatic Indorsement to the Whole Bill.

Says Sheepmen Are Not Asking for Any Protection.

Washington, Aug. 2.—Senator Walsh of Montana, one of the Democrats whose position on free wool has been the subject of some speculation, emphatically indorsed the entire tariff bill in a speech today. He declared that the wool, sugar, flax and other interests of his state would not be ruined as predicted by Republican senators.

"Sympathy over the deplorable plight of the sheep grower is altogether gratuitous," declared Senator Walsh. "He is not asking for it. Give him a law which will prevent the fraudulent dealer from imposing upon the public by palming off, as a pure wool, fabric of original manufacture from the long fibre goods that are largely cotton or the product of renovated rags, shoddy or other waste. Give him free access to the public range, the mountain pastures with their sparse herbage which becomes a menace to the forest unless grazed, and he will ask no odds."

Consideration of the metal schedule was deferred in the senate today at the conclusion of the earthenware schedule, because of the absence of Senators Oliver and Penrose, who are interested particularly in the metal rates. Senator Oliver will have a substitute for the entire schedule, which will be backed by the regular Republicans. The Progressive Republicans have agreed to support another substitute by Senator Cummins.

The senate took up the wood and pulp schedule.

ANNIVERSARY OF ORDER OBSERVED

Only Eight Survivors of Forty Charter Members of Danish Brotherhood.

The organizers of the Danish Brotherhood entertained at a dinner last evening at the home of Harry Taft in honor of the twenty-sixth anniversary of the order in this city.

Only the charter members of the organization were present, there being but seven survivors of the original forty who organized the lodge in Duluth exactly twenty-six years ago last evening. The order was first known as Dania, but has since been changed to the Danish Brotherhood, having also an auxiliary organization known as the Danish Sisterhood.

At the banquet last evening there were present John Hoyer, John Wittrup, A. Weiber, Nels Christianson, Adolph Hansen and Harry Taft. Andrew Peterson, the only other surviving member, was not present at the gathering, as he is out of the city at the present time.

It was resolved at the gathering last evening to hold an annual banquet each year for the surviving members until there is but one left, when he will drink the final toast. The banquet will be held on Aug. 1 of each year at the home of one of the members.

employed by the old council and not by the commission.

Bonds Destroyed.

The finance commissioner was authorized to destroy water and light bonds numbered 201 to 300 inclusive, in the presence of the mayor, the auditor and the city clerk. They are the remaining unsold block of bonds authorized for the water and light plant. The bond market being unfavorable, the necessary funds were raised by the counter sale of certificates of indebtedness engineered by Finance Commissioner Voss.

The city attorney was directed to prepare an ordinance providing for a city health board. This appears to be necessary because of certain provisions of the state law, which must be enforced by a health board. The board will consist of the safety commissioner, the health director and the secretary of the civil service board. It will serve solely to make certain contemplated actions legal.

The ordinance regulating the use and issuance of street car transfers was given its third reading and passed. The ordinance is passed in return for the company's concession in transporting free, policemen and firemen in uniform. The contract becomes operative Monday.

Ordinances appropriating $240 for a new garbage wagon, $502.32 to pay for vault fixtures and $1,180 for papering and decorating the city hall were given their first reading.

The ordinance defining residence districts under certain conditions was passed, as was the ordinance appropriating $108 to pay for liability insurance at the rock crusher.

Personal Injury Claim.

Frank Filipczak, guardian of his minor son, Alexander, filed notice of a personal injury claim against the city for $7,000. He alleges that June 28 the city allowed dynamite caps to be wrongfully kept in the alley at the rear of 3233 Chestnut street. Another boy took several of them and he and Alexander usd them for playing. One exploded, blowing two fingers from Alexander's hand, for which injury his father holds the city responsible.

The W. C. T. U. of West Duluth yesterday sent the council a communication asking that the city pay an indebtedness of $160 which was incurred by the social center work at that part of the city. The organization states that the work is similar to that contemplated for the city welfare division and points out that there is still a balance in the welfare appropriation.

John Crinklaw, proprietor of the saloon at 208 West Superior street, made application to the council yesterday afternoon for a renewal of his license at that location. The place came into the limelight when unfavorable reports were made by the police on the Bismarck cafe, conducted under the saloon. The cafe has been closed. The Imperial hotel in the same building also changed hands about the time the cafe doors were locked. Previous to that the hotel was notorious, being under the management of Eddie Bush, or Bouchey, who catered to a very unsavory class of trade.

The time for completing the fill at Eighty-first avenue west was extended to Aug. 15. The contractor is finishing up the last side and the city is preparing to start spreading gravel from the other.

A petition was received asking that the sewer at the foot of Eighteenth avenue east be extended into the water 100 feet further, to eliminate the nuisance which now exists.

was carried away on the waters of the Delaware river.

A score or more of barns and other buildings in Monroe county, where the storm raged with fury for four hours, were struck by lightning and destroyed. No fatalities were reported.

Exceeded Local Records.

There is nothing in local history to compare with the storm in the neighborhood of the Water Gap. Rain began falling at noon and continued with cloudburst proportions for four hours, without a moment's interruption. Between 12:30 and 3 o'clock the fall amounted to 7½ inches. The water rushed down the mountain sides in torrents, and wore gulleys eight and ten feet deep.

At the base of the mountain stands the Delaware house. Through this building the water rushed as though the house stood in the middle of a stream. The guests were taken to higher ground.

In all parts of the Delaware valley people were terrified by the fury of the storm. Time and again lightning struck property, setting fire to barns or splintering trees.

Silas Dreper, 81 years old, was stunned by a lightning flash and lay out in the storm. He is in a hospital in a precarious condition.

Stalled in Cars.

Some of the vacationists bound for various places in the mountains spent the night in day coaches along the Pennsylvania railroad, where they were stalled during the storm.

The Delaware river, swollen to a degree not remembered by old residents, carried down a mass of wreckage, consisting of parts of bungalows, barns and small frame buildings.

under international law, eventually cover losses.

Lives Chief Care.

The chief consideration has always been and will be caring for the lives of Americans and foreigners. In any crisis, Americans of means, upon warning, would easily be able to flee the country, but dangers always have beset those who, through lack of funds, could not make the journey promptly. To meet such an emergency the present request for an appropriation is directed.

The administration, while hopeful that peace negotiations may bring the two factions to a suspension of hostilities, realizes that, with the resignation of Huerta or any other political change, Americans may become alarmed, and the desire to obtain funds with which to care for those who may be anxious to leave Mexico is a precautionary measure.

Moremo's Execution.

El Paso, Tex., Aug. 2.—Gen. Francisco Villa has wired a local newspaper full particulars of the execution on July 30 at Ascension of "El Mocho" Moreno, the Mexican outlaw whose band killed Ben Griffin, an American farmer, near Chuichupa, Chihuahua, early in July, and maltreated Alfred Parks, butcher for the Madera Lumber company, as well as otherwise terrorizing the lumber district.

Moreno was captured last Saturday. He was shot by a firing squad of twelve of Talamantes' guerrillas. Col. Juan M. Medina, former mayor of Juarez, was the officer of the day.

Federal soldiers have been sent out from Chihuahua over the Mexican Northwestern railroad to repair bridges and track recently destroyed by rebels, and reopen service to the Madera lumber camp.

Orozco Recruiting Forces.

Reports given out at Gen. Pasquale Orozco's headquarters say that his force is being recruited to field strength, preparatory to beginning a campaign against the rebels in Northern Chihuahua.

Fifty Americans, crowded into one coach and the baggage, express and box cars on a Mexican National train, arrived here last night from Chihuahua City after being three days in transit, laying over at night at Arados and Moctezuma. The train was one of eight that came to the border under escort of 1,200 Federals commanded by Col. Mancilla. There were about twenty women and children in the party of refugees.

A Mexican National railroad official says the Federals intend to run several trains south with provisions from Juarez in a day or two. He states that there has been no service between Chihuahua and Zacatecas since last May, except one or two military trains south of Torreon.

Diesel and MacDonald.

An American who arrived from Chihuahua last night says the cause of the arrest of Charles Diesel, manager of the Mines Company of America, and Bernard J. MacDonald, manager of the San Patriotic Mining company, which was made several days ago by soldiers of Gen. Orozco at Santa Rosalia, was because they declined to accede to the demand of Orozco for a commission of 5 per cent on the value of the bullion they intended to move from the Parral district.

Orozco is said to have offered the miners safe conduct to the border for a consideration. Diesel and MacDonald have, it is said, made affidavit to President Huerta, setting forth Orozco's demand. Gen. Mercado, governor of Chihuahua, who is said to look on Orozco with suspicion, has collected the facts regarding the arrest and is merely detaining the mining men until he receives definite orders in the case from Huerta.

Diesel and MacDonald are said to be comfortably situated in jail and allowed everything except their freedom.

MORE ACTIVITY SHOWN IN THE COPPER COUNTRY MINES DESPITE STRIKE

termining the state authorities to limit the stay of the soldiers.

Another item, of probably greater importance, however, is the expense to the administration to maintain the camps.

Thought They Were Attacked.

Several shots were fired near Isle Royale late last night when several men supposed to be strikers made a third attempt to capture the Isle Royale mine powder storage house, which contains 20,000 pounds of dynamite. The guards believed an attempt to rush them was being planned and fired a number of shots, but there were no injuries as far as can be learned. At a mass meeting of strikers last night federation heads and organizers advised the men to cease all disturbances and to make the strike a waiting fight for their rights.

Next to winning the strike, the utmost desire of the federation now is to have the troops withdrawn. If there should be serious trouble, however, and more troops are needed, governors of adjoining states can be called upon, through the president, for assistance, it is stated by the attorney general's office.

No Sign of Yielding.

Neither side has apparently any intention of yielding, and both are prepared for a long siege. President Taylor and Secretary Watterman of the Michigan Federation of Labor will arrive here today to investigate labor conditions, to learn if members of any union under the jurisdiction of the Michigan Federation, who have been thrown out of work because of the copper miners' strike, need assistance, and to arrange for furnishing it. The troops today are preparing for a peaceful Sunday, with the usual religious observances, a review of the troops by Gen. Abbey, and band concerts. The Federation will give a demonstration tomorrow, including a parade of women and children, to be followed by a mass meeting and speaking.

Col. Ed. Hecle in charge of the battalions in Keewatin, has asked the authorities to remove 35,000 pounds of dynamite that is stored in the Allouez Mining company's powder house.

Eight Men Arraigned.

Eight men arrested at Redjacket, were arraigned in a Houghton justice court late Friday. No evidence was presented and their preliminary hearing was set for Aug. 11. Joseph Mihelich, from whom a capped stick of dynamite was taken, was held under $3,000 bonds and the bail of the others was fixed at one-third that amount. None of them furnished the security.

The court proceedings took place in a room crowded with armed deputies, friends of the defendants and representatives of the mining companies. Some of the spectators were "fanned" for weapons when any bulging pockets seemed suspicous to the sheriffs, but so far as could be learned nothing more alarming than tin tobacco boxes were found.

In the justice's court a bunch of alleged rioters were tried on evidence produced by militiamen. Requirement of peace bonds was the heaviest penalty exacted.

Commercial conditions in the strike zone are steadily growing worse. Some local merchants are considering the advisability of closing their stores until noon each day, and others have abandoned their delivery systems and reduced their clerk forces.

Ask Ferris to Come.

Lansing, Mich., Aug. 2.—Strike leaders in the Copper Country today continued to ask Governor Ferris to visit the Upper Peninsula and personally investigate strike conditions. This telegram was received today at the executive office from W. J. Rickard, chairman of the strikers' committee at Calumet:

"Have noted mine operators' reply to your request for a joint conference. Were their claims true they should welcome submitting matters in dispute to joint conference with your excellency as arbitrator.

"The striking miners urge that you investigate in person and assist in bringing about an adjustment of the present industrial dispute."

Brander Is Duluth Man.

Victor Brander of Duluth, mentioned in the Calumet dispatch as having been arrested on a charge of intimidating workmen in the Copper Country strike, is vice president of the Co-operative Mercantile association, but for the last few weeks has been living on his homestead, near Brookston, Minn. Friends in this city were informed about ten days ago that Brander had gone into the Upper Peninsula, but his activities in connection with the strike there are said to have been unknown in this city.

ington signed "McReynolds" ordering Brito's arrest.

Brito says that he was informed that $500 would extricate him from the situation. At this juncture he apprised local detectives. All concerned met at No. 1228 St. Charles avenue last night, where the arrests followed.

Had Marked Bills.

Assistant Chief of Detectives Daniel Mooney, who filed the charges, said he found $500 in marked bills on Matthews.

Former Governor Brito arrived in New Orleans several days ago from Mexico, accompanied by several of his staff. Fernandez Y. Arteaga has been here some time as the personal representative of Gen. Carranza, head of the Mexico Constitutionalists. He is reputed to be wealthy.

United States Attorney Walter Guion admitted that he had received a telegram ordering the arrest of "a certain person." He said he had shown this telegram to Special Agent Matthews. When questioned, Matthews denied having seen the message.

Mr. Guion refused to disclose the name of the person to be arrested.

Investigation Ordered.

Washington, Aug. 2.—Immediately upon receipt of advices af the arrest of department of justice officials in New Orleans charged with blackmail, A. Bruce Bielaski, chief of the bureau of investigations, today dispatched a special agent to investigate.

Special Agent Matthews, one of the men under arrest, had in his possession, said Mr. Bielaski, a bona fide telegram from Attorney General McReynolds for the arrest of a certain person whose identity the department of justice declines to reveal at this time. J. L. Mott, also under arrest, is employed to watch shipments of arms and amunition designed for Mexico.

The department of justice will take no action until the special agent sent to New Orleans to investigate has made a report.

TIN WORKERS SEEK TO EXTEND STRIKE

Organizers Are Sent to Works at Weirton, W. Va.

Wheeling, W. Va., Aug. 2.—Officers of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers said early today that fifty organizers and workers would be sent at once to Weirton, W. Va., in an effort to persuade the 2,000 men employed in the plant of the Phillips Sheet & Tin Plate company there to strike in sympathy with the striking employes of the same company at the Clarksburg, W. Va., and Steubenville, Ohio, mills.

Yesterday was the time set for the strike, but it was stated that less than fifty men left their places. Amalgamated men said this was due to a desire to have them finish out the week.

The works are closely guarded and Sheriff Jacob Mercer of Hancock county today added twenty dtputies to his force. Scouts from the union side, it was said, were prevented from entering the town, but there were so many of them that they expect to get into the works before nightfall.

QUESTION NEGRO IN THE HOLSTEIN CASE

Lee White Is Taken From Gary to Chicago By Police.

Chicago, Aug. 2.—Lee White, a negro, who was arrested in Gary, Ind., as the owner of the mechanic's punch found beneath the body of Bennie Holstein, 14 years old, who was murdered in Morgan park, was questioned at length today by detectives.

The mechanic's punch was identified by Ella Wright, a negress, as her property, which White had borrowed on numerous occasions. The police say White did not go to the Indiana town till two days after the finding of young Holstein's body.

White denies all knowledge of the crime and declares that he never saw the Holstein boy.

Paul Pakin, the Turk, and White, the negro, were companions, according to information given to the police by Mrs. John Johnson. The woman said that White and Pakin came to her house Wednesday and inquired for her husband. White said that he and Pakin were going to work with a paving gang in Gary, Ind., and they wanted Johnson to go with them. Johnsoon happened to be in Chicago at the time the men called at the Johnson home.

"I know that White and Pakin were friends," said Mrs. Johnson to the police. "The two appeared to be very excited and were anxious to get out of Morgan Park."

BAPTISTS BRANDED ESPECIALLY HARMFUL

Russian Government Sanctions Denunciation By the Holy Synod.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 2.—The Russian ministry of the interior, is credited today by the Novoe Vremya with the intention of permitting the Holy Synod to proclaim the Baptists as "a sect especially harmful to the state," and therefore not eligible for registration and not possessing the right of liberty of worship.

The action of the government is attributed by the newspaper to recent refusal of Baptists to take the military oath.

The Baptists' World Alliance during its session in Philadelphia in 1911, raised $70,000 for the establishment of a Baptist seminary in St. Petersburg, and two Baptist ministers were appointed to proceed to the Russian capital to seek permission from the emperor for the erection of the buildings.

SENECA, KAN., HONORS LATE TIN CAN MAYOR

Memorial Service Is to Be Held for Jacob Cohen.

Seneca, Kan., Aug. 2.—Seneca will hold a memorial service tomorrow for Jacob Cohen, former mayor, who orignated "Tin Can Day" in Seneca. Cohen died last month. Rev. E. Combs Smith of Kansas City, will conduct the services.

Mayor Cohen's administration is credited with having made Seneca the "cleanest town in Kansas." Shortly after his election he issued a proclamation calling upon citizens to take more pride in the streets and alleys of Seneca, and appointed a day to collect tin cans and other rubbish. The response was general.

FARRELL CASE NOT AFFECTED

Decision in Prince Case Does Not Cover Other Contest.

Necessity of Voting for More Than One Man, Real Issue.

The decision of Judge Cant in the mayoralty contest does not forecast the defeat of Bert Farrell in his contest for short term commissioner in the opinion of attorneys who have studied the court's decision and are familiar with the arguments in the Farrell case.

The real issue in the Farrell case is the question of the constitutionality of the charter provision requiring each voter to vote fr as many candidates as there are offices to be filled. The provision did not apply to the candidates for mayor and the question was not raised in the mayoralty contest.

If Farrell's contention that the provision is unconstitutional is sustained by the court, he will be elected, according to the figures shown in the recount and in the arguments in the contest proceedings.

"The court in the mayoralty case declared the preferential system of voting constitutional, but the real issue in the Farrell-Hicken-Murchison contest is not the preferential system of voting, but a new frill placed in that section of the Duluth charter commission—the provision requiring every voter to mark a candidate for each place on the ticket, under the penalty of having his ballot rejected," said one lawyer, who did not care to be quoted by name.

"It is conceded, probably, that more people voted for Mr. Farrell than for Mr. Hicken. But enough of those who voted for Farrell failed to vote for anybody else for the short term commissionerships, there being two places to be filled, to change the result when such ballots were rejected. The real issue in the Farrell contest is whether or not these ballots should have been rejected, and therefore whether or not the charter provision for their ejection is valid.

Purpose Is Good.

"The purpose of the provision is good. It is to prevent special interests from 'plumping' their votes on single candidates in order to make their combined vote more effective.

"But it is the way it works out, or may work out, that criticism lies, and that the opportunity for a legal test arose.

"In point of fact, it is claimed by those who oppose this provision, that it is utterly inconsistent with the preferential voting system.

"The essence of this system is that it gives the voter a chance to divide the candidates into two classes: those whom he is willing to see elected, and whom he marks at his first, second and other choices; and those whom he does not wish to see elected, and whom he votes against by failing to mark their names at all.

"Then comes the provision at issue in the Farrell contest, and compels the voter to mark a candidate for every office to be filled even if, as is easily conceivable, he is thereby compelled to vote some candidate whom he does not believe to be entitled to the place, and against whom he would vote, under the unadulterated preferential system, by failing to mark his name on the ballot.

"Suppose, for instance, that there are two commissionerships to be filled, as there will be next time, and five candidates, A, B, C, D and E.

"G, a voter, believes that A is the very man for the place, and wants to vote for him; but does not believe that any of the others should be elected. Under the theory of the preferential ballot, he would vote for A by marking his name on the ballot, and would vote against B, C, D and E by refusing to mark their names at all.

"But the unique provision in the Duluth charter which is the real issue in the Hicken contest would force Voter G, in order to get his vote for A counted at all, to mark the name of one of the men he wants to vote against.

"The settled policy of this state is that the intent of the voter shall govern; and the contention of those who oppose this provision in the Duluth charter is that in the Farrell case the obvious intent of the voters, since more of them voted for Farrell than for Hicken, is defeated if this requirement of the charter is upheld by the courts."

CHEWS ANCHOR ROPE.

Manistique, Mich., Boy's Gnawing Ability Saves Two Lives.

Shingleton, Mich., Aug. 2.—(Special to The Herald).—To the fact that V. X. Lyon is possessed of an excellent set of teeth, that young man and Fred Merwin, both of Manistique, believe they owe their lives. They were fishing in Indian lake, two miles from shore. The boat was capsized by a sudden gust of wind. It had been anchored and when the men managed to gain the overturned craft and cling to it the derelict remained stationary. Neither had a knife. The pair were becoming exhausted when Lyon hit upon the idea of chewing in two the rope attached to the anchor. He accomplished the task, and after being in the water for nearly four hours the men drifted to shore with the boat. They were in sorry plight.

INCREASE IS REQUESTED

Sum of $171,727 Wanted for Fire Department Next Year.

Three New Pieces of Motor Apparatus May Be Bought.

The fire department desires an allowance of $171,727.50 for 1914 when the commission meets this fall to prepare the budget for the coming year.

This is an increase of approximately $22,000 over the sum which was apportioned to the fire department for the current year. The difference represents three new pieces of motor apparatus which the officials wish to add to the equipment. They are an aerial truck, $11,500; combination pumper and hose wagon, $8,000, and a new machine for Chief Randall, $2,500.

The estimate was prepared by Commissioner Hicken, head of the safety division, and Joseph Randall, chief of the department. The estimate will be turned over to Finance Commissioner Voss, as provided by the city charter.

Chief Randall states that the two pieces of fire fighting apparatus would save the city $5,435 in salaries and maintenance charges, thus paying for themselves in two years. He asserts that the auto now used by the first assistant chief is not reliable for regular service, having seen three years of hard usage. He would have it utilized for a practice rig for breaking new drivers. His machine would be fitted out with the chemical apparatus now on the West end car and turned over to the first assistant, while the new car would replace the one he now uses.

Chief's Statement.

Chief Randall's statement of the situation is in part as follows:

"The installation of the aerial truck would dispense with the services of a driver, a saving of $1,020 per year and also save the feed and shoeing of four horses, a matter of $720 a year, or a total of $1,740. Gasoline, oil and grease would cost approximately $40 and general expenses might amount to $100, or $140, making a total saving of $1,600 a year.

"With a combination pumper and hose wagon we could dispense with two drivers and a stoker at No. 4 hall, a saving in salaries of $3,120 a year, and $900 for the feeding and maintenance of five horses, or $900, making the total $4,020. The cost of operating the machine would be about $185, leaving a net saving of $3,835. The rig would pay for itself in a trifle over two years.

"As to the new rig for myself, we are badly in need of a rig on which to break in new drivers and an extra rig to put in service when one of the others is out for repairs. Starting new men on new rigs is the very hardest thing to which a new piece of apparatus can be subjected. The rig now in service for the first assistant chief was purchased three years ago and has undergone the most severe service. It is now so that it is not reliable for the regular service but would make a good car for the use above stated. If supplied with a new car I would transfer the chemical equipment for this car to the car I now have."

Commissioner Hicken stated that the placing of a combination pumper and hose at No. 4 station, Fourteenth avenue east and First street, would enable the department to efficiently cover Woodland without going to the expense of building a new hall in that suburb. He said that it would throw as powerful a stream of water as is now done by the engines.

During July the department responded to 25 alarms, at which the total estimated loss was $3,405, covered by $17,900 of insurance. The receipts of the department from miscellaneous sources for the month aggregated $822.04. This includes receipts for a team sold to the health department, the old chemical, two sets of harness, old hose sold, and miscellaneous articles disposed of.

HONEST CIRCULATION

The word "honest" is defined by Webster as "upright, just, trustworthy, truthful, sincere—free from fraud, guile or duplicity." The Duluth Herald's circulation is, has been and always will be HONEST. The Herald's circulation has nothing in common with the premium or guessing contest variety. Its subscribers are all actual readers. The advertiser in The Duluth Herald gets what he pays for and is entitled to—a distribution of PRODUCTIVE quality; an all evening, HOME, circulation that presents the merchants' arguments at the psychological time, and to the best buyers in Duluth and surrounding towns.

HONEST CIRCULATION is the foundation stone on which The Herald's great prestige was built and this honesty of circulation is largely responsible for the remark so often heard: "THE DULUTH HERALD IS THE BEST ADVERTISING MEDIUM IN MINNESOTA."

ASK BRYAN TO CHANGE PACT

Protectorate Over Nicaragua Is Opposed By Senators.

Canal Terms Are Only Ones Favored for Treaty Now.

Washington, Aug. 2.—The proposed protetcorate for Nicaragua, embraced in a treaty suggested by Secretary Bryan, probably will be abandoned because of adverse action by the senate foreign relations committee. Chairman Bacon was today instructed to ask Secretary Bryan to transmit a new Nicaraguan treaty, limited strictly to the proposed $3,000,000 purchase of canal route and naval base concessions.

The fight against the proposal became so pronounced in the committee today that it was decided it would be impracticable to attempt a settlement of the policy at present. It was decided to ask Secretary Bryan to withdraw the protectorate features and limit the Nicaraguan treaty to those it originally embraced.

Is Willing to Change.

Intimations had been received by Democrats on the committee that the president and secretary would be willing to lay the protectorate aside temporarily, and it is said a complete new draft of the treaty will be ready within a few days, without the provisions giving the United States control over Nicaragua's future.

Chairman Bacon was instructed to ask Secretary Bryan to submit a treaty limited to the following provisions:

"The grant by Nicaragua to the United States of a perpetual and exclusive right to build a canal across Nicaragua.

"A 99-year lease on a naval base site on Fonseca bay and a 99-year lease on the Corn islands in the Caribbean sea.

"The payment by the United States to Nicaragua of $3,000,000 in return for these concessions."

Wants Early Ratification.

These terms practically are identical with those of the treaty originally proposed by Secretary Bryan before he decided to add the amendment by which an American protectorate would have been established. The senate committee did not definitely settle the question of future protectorates in Central America, however, it is understood that the administration is willing to withdraw the suggestion for the present in order to obtain an early ratification of the Nicaragua compact.

Strong opposition was led in the committee today by Senators Borah, Clarke of Arkansas, Williams and others who were opposed to any action by the United States toward the exercise of sovereign authority in the Central American countries.

A vote was proposed to settle the question, but some senators of the committee refused to register a final decision now and the proposal for a vote was withdrawn.

Homesteader Kills Self.

Big Falls, Minn., Aug. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Andrew G. Erickson, aged 55, a widower living on a homestead near Effie after being around town for a week killed himself near the Bradley cedar yard with a .25 caliber rifle. No cause is known. The coroner is holding the body until a sister believed to be in Wisconsin and a daughter in Minneapolis can be located.

MODERN BREAD PLANT TO OPEN

Zinsmaster - Smith Company Will Begin Operations Next Wednesday.

With the opening of the Zinsmaster-Smith Bread company on next Wednesday Duluth will have one of the finest and also one of the most modern bread making factories in the entire country.

The factory in the West end is capable of turning out 25,000 loaves of bread a day. The ovens can hold 650 loaves and they can be refilled every thirty-five minutes.

There is a patent conveyer that carries the bread directly from the ovens to the wrapping counter. The bread is wrapped in wax paper, manufactured by electrical machines, the wrapping also being accomplished by machinery. After the bread is wrapped it is placed in antiseptic wire baskets and placed in the automobile delivery wagons.

Starting with Wednesday the new factory will be open to inspection every afternoon of the week with the exception of Saturday. The people of Duluth are invited to inspect every part of the new factory from cellar to the top. Every small detail of the art of modern bread making will be shown to those anxious to observe the manner in which the staff of life is made.

The Zinsmaster-Smith company will manufacture bread in loaves of two sizes. J. T. Folsom of New York City, acknowledged as one of the most scientific and expert break makers in the United States, will have charge of the making of bread here. He will bring a superintendent with him.

Duluth flour will be used and blended with other flour. The lard will be bought here, and in fact all of the materials will be purchased from Duluth firms.

The bread will be delivered in three automobiles, and there will be no handling of the bread from the time it leaves the ovens until it is delivered to the consumer.

MUST PAY WIFE'S ATTORNEY'S FEES

Henry A. Selby, plaintiff in a divorce case brought in district court against his wife, Mary A. Selby, was ordered by Judge Dancer to pay her $40 for attorney's fees this morning. The case came before the court on an order to show cause.

Selby is an employ of the Duluth Ice company at Spirit lake and in his divorce action he charges his wife with having deserted him. In her answer she counterclaims cruelty and declares that when she left him on June 9, 1912, it was because of his treatment towards here. She denies also his insinuation that she is not a good housekeeper and asserts that in their early married life he often praised her qualities in this respect. She also asserts that he is extremely jealous of her. She asks the court to change her name back to Winters, as the name of Selby is "hateful" to her.

ADDING TO THE HARBOR

Increase of Sixty Acres in Area Available for Boats.

New Basin Will Accommodate Any Fleet That Could Assemble.

Dredging work that will add sixty acres to the area of the harbor space in the Duluth basin is under way. "Old Hickory," the 10-yard dipper of the Duluth-Superior Dredging company, is at work scooping out the bottom near Oatka beach.

At present the bay has 371 acres of water available for the big freighters, and when the reclamation is finished the area will have been increased to 431 acres. This will accommodate the largest fleet of boats that will ever be assembled at the Head of the Lakes, for years to come, according to John H. Darling, chief assistant United States engineer.

According to the contracts of the dredging company, 925,000 cubic yards will be taken from the bottom of the harbor. The harbors in the Duluth district are now in better condition than at any time in the past, says Capt. R. D. Peck, in charge of the district. Capt. Peck is making a tour of the harbors, examining the facilities for handling the traffic, and making observations of general conditions to be embodied in his next report to the war department. The trip, which will take more than two weeks, is for the special purpose of observing the breakwaters and revetment piers for channel entrances at the various ports.

ORE SHIPMENTS STILL GROWING

Tonnage for July Greatly Exceeded That of Last Year.

Ore tonnage for July showed an increase of 583,199 tons over the same month last year.

The figures for July include the tonnage of Duluth, Superior, Two Harbors, Ashland and Marquette. Ore freighters loaded 7,347,172 tons in July, 1913, and 6,763,975 tons in July, 1912. Tonnage from two docks in Escanaba, not included in this summary, will bring the total up to nearly 8,000,000 tons. Up to Aug. 1, 1913, 21,749,370 tons have cleared from upper lake ports as against 18,712,688 tons for the same period last season.

CHANGES IN CHANNEL LIGHTS

The dredged channel leading to Mission channel, Thunder Bay, Lake Superior, will be marked by four red spar buoys on its southern edge. The channel will be dredged to a depth of twenty-two feet. The work is not yet completed and the buoys will be moved out as the work progresses. The axis of this dredged channel will be marked by electric arc lights exhibited on poles. Further notice of work on this channel will be sent out by the hydrographic office, under the authority of the secretary of the navy.

The Pilgrim Point light in Portage lake will be changed about Aug. 5. The five red light will be replaced by an unwatched intermittent white light of about 210 candlepower every ten seconds, thus, light five seconds and eclipsed five seconds. The new light will be exhibited twenty feet above the water on a steel mast surmounting a hexagonal concrete tank housed on a triangular concrete pier.

On the southern shore the characteristic and intensity of the Manitou light station has been changed from fixed and flashing to flashing white every ten seconds, thus, flash 0.5 seconds and eclipsed 9.5 seconds. The luminous power of the light was increased from 15,000 to 220,000 candlepower by changing the illuminant from oil to incandescent oil vapor.

The characteristics of the Grand Island Harbor range lights will be changed about Aug. 10 and a new rear structure will be erected. The front light will be changed from fixed white to flashing white to a flashing and eclipsed light, thus, flash 0.3 seconds, eclipsed 0.7 seconds.

The rear light from fixed white to intermittent white, every two seconds, thus, light one second, eclipsed one second.

The rear light will be placed seventy feet above the water from a new conical steel tower, erected 185 yards in the rear of the present rear light structure. The tower will be black, excepting the front half of the upper twenty feet immediately beneath the lantern, which will be white. The lights will be unwatched.

SECOND BOAT HITS UNCHARTED SHOAL.

The steamer Hulbert W. Smith is fast aground on the same shoal that the W. G. Mather grounded on June 23.

The shoal is in the approach to Presque Isle harbor and before the Mather hit it it had been uncharted. Since the accident to the Mather a temporary buoy has marked the place. The Smith went aground yesterday afternoon near the buoy. She is stuck amidships. Tugs and lighters have gone to her assistance. Her cargo will be taken off until she is able to free herself.

Brings Load of Tourists.

The steamer Octorara of the Anchor line docked here this morning, bringing 275 passengers to Duluth.

Fog Signal Not Heard.

Dock officials say that there is some complaint about the new fog signal at the Superior entry. Vessel men, it is said, declare they have trouble hearing the new air whistle and they want the old one replaced or the new one improved.

Coal Receipts.

Coal shipments at Two Harbors are heavier this year than last, according to dock superintendents. The receipts at the Two Harbors docks up to Aug. 1 were 168,624 tons. It is estimated that more than twice this amount will be unloaded there before the end of the year.

J. M. HANNAFORD WAS BILL CLERK IN DULUTH FORTY YEARS AGO

Duluth pioneers and Duluth railroad men are very much pleased over the appointment of J. M. Hannaford as president of the Northern Pacific railroad. And there is a reason, too. In 1871 young "Jim" Hannaford was a bill clerk in the Duluth offices of the Lake division of the Northern Pacific. From here he went to the offices in Brainerd and thence to St. Paul.

J. M. Hannaford is one of the best liked railroad men among his own people of all the men in the service of the Northern Pacific, and that road has the reputation of being operated by a bunch of officials who make it a special point to be genial and considerate.

According to those who knew the young man when he occupied the somewhat humble and laborious task of bill clerk, his steady rise to the presidency of a great railroad has not in the least changed "Jim" Hannaford in the matter of consideration and recognition of his former acquaintances.

As a veteran Duluthian and a well known railroad man put it today, it was hard work and the ability to make people like him that helped the former young Duluth bill clerk to the position he was but recently appointed to.

SHOOTS DIVORCED WIFE.

North Dakotan Wounds Woman When She Refuses Him Money.

Taylor, N. D., Aug. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Adam Ziermer has been arrested on a charge of shooting his former wife. They lived around Taylor and Richardton for twenty years and were divorced three years ago, dividing their property equally. Since then Mrs. Ziermer saved her share and also took a claim thirteen miles north of this place. Ziermer spent his money and insisted on another division. When Mrs. Ziermer refused he is charged with drawing a pistol and shooting her in the side. She will recover. Ziermer surrendered to the authorities and is in jail.

ENGINE SIDE SWIPES TRAIN OF SLEEPERS.

Altoona, Pa., Aug. 2.—Passengers on the Capital Express, a through train of sleeping cars on the Pennsylvania railroad, due in Washington from the west at 8:26 a. m. had a narrow escape from injury early today when all the sleepers were sideswiped by a locomotive near here. The cars were badly scraped and some were otherwise damaged, but no passengers were hurt. The train was returned to Altoona, where temporary repairs were made and after a delay of one hour and twenty minutes it proceeded. At Harrisburg all the passengers were transferred to another train and sent south to Washington.

WHAT ONE MAN HAS DONE TO ADVERTISE THE CITY OF DULUTH

E. H. Lee Has Secured Five Conventions, Single Handed, in Three Years---Has Spent $2,500 in Stamps Alone.

Probably no man in Duluth has done more for its publicity than Edwin H. Lee, manager of the Spalding hotel, who conducts an advertising and publicity bureau of his own that reaches all over the United States and Canada.

Mr. Lee has adopted a plan of sending every booklet about Duluth to men who may be interested in this city. These include everything published by the Commercial club and those printed by Mr. Lee himself. They are placed in a large envelope and mailed, almost fifty a day, to all parts of the country. Any man or woman, whom Mr. Lee thinks is at all interested in the Zenith City, or may possibly be, is sent a complete set of advertising matter.

There is nothing pretentious about his work and Mr. Lee goes about it without any ostentation. He started this work about three years ago and since that time has spent nearly $2,500 in stamps alone. He has letters from people in every city of any size in the United States and Canada, who have nothing but praise for the city and who write they propose to some day visit here. Many have since come and expressed delight in having taken Mr. Lee's word for it.

Five Conventions.

Since Mr. Lee started in his publicity campaign he has secured five different conventions for this city, two of which, the Northwestern Hotel Men's association and the Northwestern Traffic Managers' association, will meet here this month. The others are the Minnesota State Hotel Men's association, the National Hotel Men's association and the Northwestern Hotel Men's association, which met last summer for two days, following the regular convention in the Twin Cities.

An example of how Mr. Lee works for the publicity of Duluth is given in the convention of the hotel men of the Northwest to be held here Aug. 19-21. To every hotel manager in the West and the larger hotel owners throughout the country Mr. Lee is now sending circulars and booklets about Duluth. They are receiving marked copies of Duluth newspapers telling about the convention and also marked copies of hotel magazines and newspapers published throughout the country.

The convention here will be the eleventh in the history of the association, and the first official gathering ever held in Duluth. About 300 hotel men and their wives from Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Iowa and Wisconsin will attend the sessions. Wisconsin is this year to be admitted into the association, application already having been made by the Milwaukee Association of Hotel Men.

The present officers of the association are: F. J. Donohue, Sioux City, Iowa, president; I. A. Mediar, Omaha, Neb., secretary-treasurer; and vice presidents, W. A. Pocock, St. Paul, J. R. Hubbart, Aberdeen, S. D., R. K. Kellar, Fargo, George M. McGuire, Dubuque, Iowa, and F. J. Richards, Lincoln, Neb. Mr. Lee is a member of the legislation committee, the most important in the association.

RECORD FOR COOLNESS

Average Temperature for Last Month Was Only 60 Degrees.

Lowest on Record and Six Points Below Normal for Month.

Duluth, this year, experienced the coolest July that is recorded in the weather bureau here.

The records have been kept since 1871, so that the past July is the coolest since that time at least. The normal temperature for July is 66 deg., but in the month just ended the average was 60. The coolest previous July was in 1891, when the average temperature was 61. Only three years have experienced July weather as cool as 62, and the highest average shown for that month is 70 deg., which was experienced in 1878 and again in 1892.

Weather Forecaster H. W. Richardson offers no explanation for this condition, and merely begs "don't blame it on me." Some believe that the lateness of the ice getting away from this end of the lake had a lot to do with the continued coolness all summer. But there are others, of the superstitious stripe, who look upon celebrations or spread outdoor events of any kind as a hoodoo. When the usual rain and cold weather came on one of the days when the Lark o' the Lake was astir recently, one man observed that if the city commissioners really want to distinguish themselves they would do well to forbid all celebrations and then there would be decent weather.

At any rate it was a cool July, but people from outside of the city who came here from sweltering cities to cool off expressed it as their opinion that the Duluth weather was "just lovely." Only denizens of the city objected.

The highest point the thermometer has ever reached in Duluth in forty-three years was 99 degs., and the lowest was forty-three deg.

As to rainfall, the month was considerably over the average. The normal rainfall for Duluth during July is 3.65 inches; this year, the total precipitation was 6.18 inches, the heaviest for one day being on the night of July 4-5, when 2.33 inches fell. The greatest precipitation recorded in Duluth during July in forty-three years was in 1909, when 10.38 inches fell, and the smallest was in 1875 when the total fall for the month was only .47 of an inch.

During July only five days were wholly clear, twelve were partly cloudy and fourteen were cloudy. There was fog on nine days and thunderstorms on twelve days.

DIAZ MAY NOT GO TO JAPAN.

Los Angeles, Cal., April 2.—Felix Diaz, candidate for president of Mexico, who arrived here Wednesday, presumably on the way as special Mexican envoy to Japan, now says he may not go to Japan.

"Certain circumstances have dedveloped," he explained, "that make it impossible now to say what I shall do. I do not know where I am going, or when I am going."

Gen. Diaz made the statement after he had received a cable message from the City of Mexico. Whether this message referred to the reported decision of the provisional President Huerta to recall him from the proposed Japanese "social mission," he declined to say.

LAKES-TO-GULF SERVICE SOON.

Chicago, Aug. 2.—The first regular waterway service between the Great Lakes and the Gulf of Mexico will be inaugurated before Sept. 1, according to the plans of a Chicago transportation company. The proposed service will be for both passengers and freight.

The plans of the company provide for transporting freight and passengers from Chicago to La Salle, Ill., by barges, routed through the drainage canal and the Illinois-Michigan canal. At La Salle a transfer will be made from the barges to steamers, which will continue down the Mississippi river to New Orleans.

SOCIALIST ORGANIZER

Tom J. Lewis Will Work for Party in St. Louis County.

Big International Picnic to Be Held at Fairmont Park Sunday.

Beginning Monday, Aug. 4, the Socialists of Duluth will place an organizer in the field for the purpose of lining up their forces for a convention this fall at which plans will be laid for a campaign under the new state law requiring the election of state legislators and county officials on a non-partisan basis.

The Socialists feel that they are practically disfranchised by the operation of the new law which also prohibits the nomination of candidates by petition after the primaries have been held. In view of this they are laying their plans early to gain at least the second place on the ticket at the next general election. It is thought that this will be possible, especially in the Forty-ninth and Fiftieth legislative districts, where their candidates polled an exceptionally large vote last fall.

Tom J. Lewis of Portland, Or., will have charge of the organizing work in the county and will put in two weeks going over the ground preliminary to the work that will be done this fall. Mr. Lewis is well known to the Socialists of Duluth having worked here for the past two summers. He has a national reputation as one of the best men that the party has in the field. Since June 1, Mr. Lewis has worked in St. Paul and reports a growing interest in Socialism all over the country.

Activity in the Socialist camp is expected to manifest itself immediately after the international picnic which will be held tomorrow at Fairmont park. It is expected that this affair will turn out to be the largest ever handled by the central organization of the Duluth Socialists.

The program follows:

"The Internationale" ..... Zenith City Band.
Speech in Finnish ..... Leo Lauki.
Speech in Scandinavian ..... William Mossberg.
Speech in Polish ..... Ed Miller.
Speech in Jewish ..... I. Jaffe.

Selection ..... Zenith City Band.
Oration ..... E. T. Harris of Superior.
Song ..... Jewish Quartet.
Declamations in Jewish..... Hamyn Singer and J. Laden.

Following the program will come the games and sports the feature of which will be a tug-of-war between teams representing the Finnish and Scandinavian locals. Prizes of Socialist books and subscriptions to the leading Socialist periodicals will be given to the victors in the games.

EXPRESS FIRM IS "PARASITE"

California Railroad Commission Orders Cut Made By Wells-Fargo.

Shows It Is Making 136 Per Cent on Its Investment.

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 2. — The state railroad commission of California has ordered reductions in the express rates of Wells Fargo & Co., amounting to a cut of $750,000 from present annual revenues.

The express company is ordered to operate six months on the commission's rates, which are, on the average, 15 per cent below those heretofore exacted, and then submit a statement of its earnings, if it feels the rates not justified.

At present, the commission finds, the company makes a net yearly profit of $432,097 on property valuation estimated at $613,233, or 136 per cent on its investment. The finding pronounces the company "a parasite on the railroads" and suggests that, instead of appealing to the interstate commerce commission for permission to increase rates, the railroads "look into this express situation."

"Quite possibly," says the opinion, "they will find some relief from at least a part of the financial difficulties which, they maintain, beset them.

Let Railroads Do It.

"We do not see," the opinion continues, "why the railroad companies, if this service is a public necessity, as it seems to be, could not furnish and maintain the comparatively small amount of additional terminal equipment which is necessary to carry on the pick-up and delivery business of the express company."

The commission finds a side light on this very question in the intercorporate relationship between railroads and the express company, which, it says, "makes fraud possible upon both the railroad and the public." It cites the fact that the Wells Fargo company pays to the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railroad 55 per cent of its gross earnings on that line, and to the Southern Pacific railroad only 40.8 per cent of its like gross earnings. This, the findings assert, "enable the Southern Pacific to sacrifice its own earnings to swell Wells Fargo & Company's revenue," and the commission points out as significant the fact that "neither the Santa Fe nor its principal stockholders are heavily, if at all, interested in Wells Fargo & Co., and that the Southern Pacific officials and its principal stockholders are."

The present officials of the Southern Pacific, the commission says, did not have control at the time its contract with express company was made.

Findings at Variance.

The commission differs from the interstate commerce commission in that the interstate body found the express companies to be proper bodies for carrying on their business, while the California commission holds that they are "parasites," and that the railroads or some other agency could be substituted to better advantage.

The decision follows two and a half years of investigation, during which over 2,300,000 waybills were scrutinized.

A Dainty Toilet Article.

Every lady who desires to keep up her attractive appearance, while at the theater, attending receptions, when shopping, while traveling and on all occasions, should carry in her purse a booklet of Gouraud's Oriental Beauty Leaves. This is a dainty little booklet of exquisitely perfumed powdered leaves which are easily removed and applied to the skin. It is invaluable when the face becomes moist and flushed, and is far superior to a powder puff, as it does not spill and soil the clothes.

It removes dirt, soot and grease from the face, imparting a cool delicate bloom to the complexion. Sent anywhere on receipt of 5 cents in stamps or coin.

CURRENCY BILL READY

House Committee Democrats Will Vote on the Measure Monday.

Eleventh Hour Changes Are Made in Its Terms.

Washington, Aug. 2.—Consideration of the administration currency bill was practically concluded last night by the Democrats of the house banking and currency committee, after more than five weeks of constant and stormy discussion. The bill was ordered closed and reprinted, and on Monday the Democratic committee members will take a formal vote on recommending the measure to the Democratic caucus. It will go to the caucus with the disapproval of at least three members of the committee, it is practically certain.

As closed, the bill differs little in its essentials from the administration measure framed by Representative Glass, Chairman Owen and Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo and approved by President Wilson. The complete government control of the Federal reserve board, which will direct the new banking and currency system, deemed by the president the all important factors of the bill was retained.

An Advisory Board.

At the eleventh hour, the Democratic members of the committee incorporated an amendment providing for an advisory board of bankers to "advise" the Federal board. This amendment was in the nature of a compromise with the banking interests, which protested vigorously against the exclusively governmental feature of the control of the board.

Another important amendment incorporated in the bill altered the rediscount system, conferring the power to require Federal reserve banks to mutually rediscount paper.

A change was made in the division of the earnings of the Federal reserve banks created by the law. Originally the banks were allowed a yearly cumulative dividend of 5 per cent and a surplus equal to 20 per cent of the paid-in capital stock. All earnings above these amounts reverted to the government. As amended, the balance of earnings after the 5 per cent dividend and the 20 per cent surplus will be paid, 60 per cent to the government to be used as a sinking fund to reduce the national debt, and 40 per cent to be divided among the member banks in proportion to their balances in the Federal reserve bank concerned.

Reduced Reserve Period.

In the reserve section the committee reduced the period during which a bank must hold a 25 per cent reserve against deposits from twenty-six months to sixty days. As finally passed, the reserve section requires that after a period of gradual changes, the country banks must keep their 15 per cent reserves either in their own vaults or in the Federal reserve bank of the district in which they are located.

By a vote of 7 to 5, the committee struck from the bill a provision previously ordered inserted, forbidding interlocking directorates between banks.

STATE OFFERS AN INVESTMENT

Educational Certificates Will Be Sold Over the Counter.

Minnesota state educational building certificates will go on sale at the office of the state treasurer Monday, Aug. 11. Certificates amounting to $100,000 will be disposed of, "over the counter."

The certificates will draw 5 per cent interest for three years and will be exempt from taxes in Minnesota. They will be disposed of in amounts of $100 and upwards.

The educational building certificates were authorized by the legislature of 1913, and are governed by the same conditions as those offered for the construction of the new penitentiary, the validity of which has been affirmed by the supreme court. The certificates will be paid by a special tax levy authorized by the legislature.

SAYS WOMAN KNEW OF MAN'S MURDER.

Chicago, Aug. 2.—A coroner's jury which investigated the murder of James Acques, wealthy restaurant owner who was found shot through the heart July 14, returned a verdict declaring that Mrs. Elizabeth Desamore had guilty knowledge of the crime, and recommended that she be held to the grand jury on the charge of accessory to murder.

The jury also recommended that Nicholas and Tony Desamore, brothers, who disappeared after the finding of the body, be arrested in connection with the crime.

NOT AFRAID OF THE NEW TARIFF BILL

La Follette So Interprets Manufacturers' Ignoring of Questions.

Washington, Aug. 2.—Most of the manufacturers of the country have ignored the lists of questions sent them by the senate finance committee in regard to their industries and the probable effect upon them of the Democratic tariff revision.

Senator La Follette told the senate that only sixty-six replies had been recived to the 2,500 sets of questions mailed by the committee to manufacturers who had protested against proposed rates of duty, and suggested that the manufacturers must be confident of not being hurt by the new tariff, or else were not algether frank.

The Wisconsin senator, originator of the idea of sending out the questions with the hope of throwing light on tariff revision, had his own list mailed along with that of the committee. He declares that the few replies received afford little information particularly concerning the comparative cost of production in the United States and in competing countries.

The senator's remarks, his first during the tariff debate, were made in opposing an attempt of Senators Dillingham and Page of Vermont and Senator Gallinger of New Hampshire to increase the proposed reduced duties on granite. The amendment was defeated, 19 to 44.

3,000 CANS OF MEAT SEIZED BY OFFICERS

Sulzberger & Sons Are Accused of Misbranding Product.

Seattle, Wash., Aug. 2.—Complaint has been filed by the county prosecutor before a justice of the peace against Sulzberger & Son, meat packing house of New York, Chicago and Kansas City, charging them with misbranding cans of various meats. Three local merchants were arrested Thursday for selling the goods and 3,000 cans were seized.

State Chemist Johnson reported to the state food inspection offices that the meat was unfit for food, having been canned so long ago that the tin had rotted, exposing the meat to the air and resulting in decay.

Examinations of the tins by Deputy State Food Inspector Adams revealed, he alleges, that they were put up by Schwarzchild & Sulzberger before the passage of the pure food and drug act of 1906. The cans, it is alleged, contained the original inscription that they were approved under the congressional pure food act of 1891. This label, it is charged, was covered with a new label of Sulzberger & Son, which read that the cans were guaranteed under the pure food act of 1906.

Hymen, Ind., Aug. 2.—Five men were probably fatally burned and eighteen others dangerously hurt in a dust explosion at Jackson Hill No. 2 mine, three miles east of here. HOME OF THE "BUTTER-NUT" BREAD

Duluth's most model and sanitary bread factory, owned by Zinsmaster-Smith Bread Company, is now in operation. Bread, which is foreign to the touch of human hands, is now being made at the factory, Twenty-ninth avenue west and Superior street, within the full view of the public.

The company completed its handsome factory building early in the week. The machinery which handles the flour and dough from the time the flour is sifted into the mixer until it is turned into the automobile deliveries, wrapped in waxed paper, has all been installed at an expense of thousands of dollars by the Champion Machinery Company, of Joliet, Ill.

Everything to make the plant the model of all others to follow has been installed. The flour is received in a rear room on the second floor. Here it is allowed to reach the required age before using. Then it is taken by employes and emptied into the sifters, where it is sifted and blended five times before it is emptied into the large mixers. Each of these immense machines, built by the American Oven & Machine Company of Chicago, Ill., will mix 1,300 pounds of dough in ten minutes. All material that goes into the dough is tested and may be examined any time by all visitors who come to the plant.

J. T. Folsom, of New York City, who is one of the leading bread experts of the country, will have entire charge of the manufacturing.

A temperature of 80 degrees will be maintained in the rooms where the bread passes through in its process of raising, kneading, dividing into loaves and other process required of the bread before it reaches the pans for the ovens.

The Duluth public will be allowed to view the breadmaking. Everything has been so arranged that every process through which the flour, dough and bread passes will be in full view of the public. Glass cases through which the various carriers convey the dough have been provided so that each of the stages can easily be seen by the public.

The building is provided with immense plate glass windows on Superior street and on Twenty-ninth avenue where the work inside can be viewed from the street. Those wishing to further investigate the earlier processes will be allowed entrance to the second floor, where alongside of the office has been provided another large glass partition through which can be seen the mixing and kneading processes.

The output of the factory will be close to 25,000 one-pound loaves of bread every day. The three large ovens which have recently been completed by the Duhrkop Oven Company, of New York City, under direction of Theodore Harbeck, an expert oven builder of New York, each has a capacity of baking 650 loaves of bread every 35 minutes.

Even after leaving the ovens the bread will not be given the opportunity of being contaminated by the touch of human hands. Machines built especially for the purpose will take each loaf and wrap it neatly with waxed paper, manufactured by the American Bread Wrapping Company, Chicago, Ill.

That the demand for this bread will be enormous in Duluth and the surrounding country is indicated from the number of inquiries received by the firm from business houses and housewives of Duluth and vicinity. These inquiries, said William Zinsmaster, president of the firm, are sufficient to guarantee the disposal of the entire output of the factory daily.

Special arrangements for the shipping of the bread from the factory to outside points have been made with the railroads and express companies. Baskets containing the orders for outside delivery will be placed on the first trains leaving the city in the morning and consumers living at points hundreds of miles away will be able to get their bread still warm.

THE STEEL PLANT EXTENSION SHOULD BE MADE THIS YEAR.

Commissioner Murchison comes to the front with ready relief for the street railway company in its reluctance to extend its lines to the steel plant until it sees the certainty of crowded cars.

He reports that the city cannot make ready the road-bed for the street car extension because it will cost perhaps twenty-five hundred dollars and the city hasn't the money.

In view of the fact that the commissioners apparently propose to waste wantonly nearly that much money in an utterly needless special election on the liquor ordinance referendum, the excuse seems lamentably insufficient, and it will prove more pleasing to the street railway company than it will to the citizens of Duluth.

A community of four thousand people, surrounding a new twenty-million-dollar industry, lies from three to five miles beyond the end of the present street car lines, with utterly no communication with the city proper except by slow and infrequent trains and by wagon, carriage or automobile.

This community is growing rapidly, and will grow more rapidly every day. Last evening The Herald reported the fact that the one hundred and seventy buildings of the model town that will house the steel plant employes will be built as rapidly as possible, that contracts for fifty will be let in a few days, and that at least that many will be completed before snow flies.

This thriving and growing section is shut off from access to the city, and the business it might do in the city is almost totally forbidden, by the lack of street railway facilities.

The street car extension should have been made several years ago. It was not made then because the city did not demand it or build the road-bed the street railway company expects before it constructs its lines.

It is too late to remedy the failures of the past, but it is not too late to cease making failures, and when Duluth adopted the commission form of government and elected the present set of commissioners it believed it was doing something that would at least minimize the number of failures of this kind.

There is no reasonable excuse for the failure to complete the steel plant extension this fall.

There is no excuse for the street railway company if it fails to make the extension. There is no excuse for the city government if it fails to compel the company to act.

The amount stated by Commissioner Murchison as the cost of the city's part is small. The city is spending that much or more on a hundred things, not one of which is so important as the steel plant extension.

A case in point is the proposed special election on the liquor ordinance referendum, which will cost nearly as much as the city's part of the street railway extension.

The purpose of this ordinance is stated to be law enforcement. It is true that besides providing for law enforcement the ordinance unnecessarily injures and alienates many whom it is utterly needless to injure or alienate, but its expressed purpose is law enforcement—a code of laws designed to make it possible to enforce a code of laws already in effect, AND ALREADY ENFORCED.

If the ordinance went over to a regular election there would be delay, of course. But where's the harm of that, when the liquor laws are enforced today in Duluth as rigidly and as effectively as they could possibly be with a million ordinances passed and in effect?

The city can find money for a special election on an ordinance designed to do WHAT ALREADY IS DONE, but it can't find money to do an infinitely more important thing which ought to have been done several years ago, which is not yet done, and which will not be done till the Duluth Street Railway company gets good and ready to do it unless the city abandons its present spineless policy and adopts a policy of vigorous and aggressive insistence on its rights.

It will be interesting to see how California will connect the absence of European nations from the fair with the yellow peril.

THE STRAWS GET BIGGER ALL THE TIME.

The cloud of straws showing how strongly the wind of fortune is blowing Duluth's way is getting to be a veritable storm.

Last night The Herald published figures covering the crop year's receipts of grain at Duluth, compiled by the Duluth board of trade.

The receipts of all grains in the year ending with July amounted to 130,031,508 bushels.

This is nearly three times as much as last year's receipts.

It is forty-seven million bushels more than the receipts of the year in which the Duluth market established its previous high record—the crop year of 1898-9.

With free wheat to come, and with the possibilities of the milling industry at Duluth vastly increased by better freight rates and service, these figures are merely an earnest of greater things yet to come.

September, the referendum; October, the extra session; November, Thanksgiving, and December Christmas. Guess the old year isn't going to be so idle after all. Better do your shopping early.

BUSINESS IS NOT WORRIED.

It becomes plainer every day that practically all of the wailing about what the Democratic tariff bill is going to do to the country comes from politicians, and practically none from the protected manufacturers.

In other words, there is more worry about what the Democratic tariff bill is going to do to Republican officeholders whose whole political philosophy is based on the slender foundation that prosperity will not survive tariff reductions, than there is about what the new schedules are going to do to business.

For its part, business is much more concerned in having the bill made a law as soon as possible than it is about what the schedules are to be.

Manufacturers, as a whole, are not fearful. They would rather have the schedules kept up to Republican altitudes, of course; and so long as there was any hope of their being kept there they were willing to work and shout with the politicians. But now that there is no hope they are reconciled to the inevitable, and want it to come to pass as speedily as may be so they can try it. They have little patience with the political reasons that actuate the minority in the senate that is delaying final action on the pending bill.

A typically sensible statement is made officially by the Yale & Towne Manufacturing company, maker of locks, builders' hardware, etc.:

> The conclusions reached by its managers are that while they would have preferred a somewhat less severe reduction than forty-four per cent (from forty-five per cent to twenty-five per cent ad valorem) and to have had the reduction take place gradually, say in two or three instalments, they are not alarmed and are ready to give the new rates a fair trial.
> If they prove not to be injurious, all concerned will be content. If experience shows them to be seriously injurious, it may fairly be assumed that congress will correct the error within a reasonable time and before any permanent damage can be inflicted. Until the new rates have fairly been tested no one can know whether their ultimate effect will be harmful or beneficial.

That is a fair statement of the situation, and those Republicans in congress who are making themselves ridiculous by their frenzied clamor about the havoc tariff revision is going to make would do well to study a little closer the attitude of those for whom they assume to speak.

Hundreds for defense, but not one cent for highways.

THE CONSERVATION OF PREJUDICE.

Speaking of parcel post extensions, the conservative New York Times says: "Probably it (the parcel post) can never attain the efficiency of the best private organizations, but the present experiment is well worth watching, and it merits cautious approval."

Oh, by all means we must be very cautious in our approval of a system that works for the public service rather than for private profit!

And we must cling at all hazards to our belief that public business "never can attain the efficiency of private organizations."

Of course, the reason for this may not be easy to find.

Of course, the building of the Panama canal by the government is the most prodigious and the most thoroughly efficient piece of work ever done, but what of that?

Of course, the postoffice system as a whole is quite as efficient as any privately owned public service, and much more efficient than many which are run merely as pawns in the Wall Street game. But what of that?

Our prejudices must and shall be preserved at any cost to reason and logic.

Now if Duluth were the state capital, it wouldn't be necessary to wait until the end of the hot season to have that special session.

DULUTH ON SHOW, "BIGGER AND BETTER THAN EVER."

The second annual Duluth Exposition week, it is announced, will take place at the curling rink Sept. 22 to 27.

Those who have marveling and admiring recollections of the immense success of this show last year will be interested to know that this year, as the circus press agent says, it will be "bigger and better than ever."

The way this enterprise was put on last year, and the larger way in which it is being planned for this year, are new evidences of the manner in which Duluth has waked up.

Every successful feature of last year, we are informed, will be repeated this year, together with many new ones.

The committees in charge of last year's show wisely took note of every detail which showed any lacks or gaps whatever, and the first thing in this year's plans was to fill these gaps and make up these lacks.

There are two floors in the curling rink, and more than twice as much space as was available last year. Last year every inch of space was used, either for exhibits or for visitors, and every inch of space will be used this year.

It will be a complete and comprehensive exposition of Duluth and of every side of Duluth commercially, industrially, agriculturally and horticulturally.

With the agricultural exhibit on the main floor will be an exhibit of the blueblooded and high-priced livestock for which Duluth, practically unknown to most of its people, has become famous. And this is but one item in an elaborate and well filled program.

It's a splendid enterprise in every way. It is a big exposition of Duluth's progress and prospects.

It is educational, because without it not ten per cent of the people living right here in Duluth would know what strides their city is making in every direction.

It is good advertising, because it will show to outsiders what Duluth can do and is doing.

It is encouraging to a lively and aggressive public spirit.

Everybody who sees a chance to get behind it and help make it a complete success should grasp the opportunity, even if it is only to help make up the big audiences on which, in the last analysis, complete success depends.

But even Mulhall has yet to see his name develop into an adjective or a verb.

THE SINGLE TERM FOLLY.

Congressman Madden of Illinois, a Republican, has introduced a resolution proposing a constitutional amendment providing that after March 4, 1921, the presidential term shall be six years and the re-election of any president shall be forbidden.

There is no harm in introducing such a resolution. There is no harm in talking about it. There is even no particular harm in submitting it to the states, for the states will not ratify it. Maybe it would be best to put it to the test, and see what the country thinks about it.

For our part, the Democratic platform of 1912 to the contrary notwithstanding, the proposal seems folly to us for these reasons:

Because by adopting it the American people would be confessing that they do not trust their own capacity to act wisely at the polls.

Because the best means of control over a president the people now have lies in his knowledge that if he makes good he may be re-elected for a second term.

Because in a possible second term lies the best possible assurance that a president will be responsive to the need and will of the people.

Because a president elected for six years with no possibility of re-election and no possibility of removal except by death or the difficult process of impeachment would have more power than any living ruler over a civilized people.

Because there would be vastly more possibility of harm to the people in such a situation than there is in the possibility that the people might some time, of their own volition, elect a man to three or more presidential terms.

If the people can be trusted to select a man to be president for six years, during which time he will be utterly without the need of consulting public opinion and can handle his powerful office as he pleases so long as he avoids impeachment, they can be trusted to put a reasonable limit on the length of time a man satisfactory to them shall remain in the presidency.

Nor should the people deprive themselves of the right to give a second term to a man who proves his capacity and his value to the Republic.

President Wilson manifestly has little care whether or not he is given a second term. And his very recklessness of this consideration multiplies his value to the people. What an absurd situation it would be if, at the end of his first term, no matter how valuable he was to the country, no matter how much the situation existing at that time might require his continuance in office, the Constitution compelled his retirement to private life!

The four-year term may be too short, and presidential elections may come too often. But on the other hand it might easily turn out that with presidential elections separated by six-year intervals the people would get out of touch with public affairs; for frequency of elections surely tends to keep alive public interest in public affairs.

The more lightning hits, the less hit it makes.

THE POOR FARMER AND THE TARIFF.

Senator McCumber of North Dakota and other Republican lackeys of the tariff special privilege have been pleading tearfully for the farmer.

They have been picturing the ruin that will come to him under the new tariff law, with an eye to the possibility that if they can continue to fool the farmer about the tariff as they have done for two generations, maybe the farmer will "vote Republican" next time and turn the Democrats out.

The farmer is indeed a pitiable object when you consider what the new tariff law is going to do to him.

Standpatters say that the new tariff system puts the farmers' products on the free list, thereby ruining him, and gives him no compensating advantages.

With wheat ten cents higher at Winnipeg than it is in Duluth or Minneapolis, it is easy to see how the farmer is going to be buried under a flood of the pauper grain of Canada.

And the tariff system devised by the Democrats hardly puts a single thing the farmer buys on the free list. Hardly a single thing, with these exceptions:

Cotton bagging and sacks.
Plows.
Harvesters.
Rakes.
Threshing machines.
Reapers.
Drills and planters.
Binders.
Harrows.
Shovels.
Hoes.
Mowers.
All kinds of planters' and agricultural implements.
Wire for fencing.
Harness.
Saddlery.
Wagons.
Fertilizers.
Carts.
Shoes.
Boots.
Road-making material.

That's about all of the things the farmer buys which the new tariff puts on the free list.

Truly, the way the Democratic tariff heaps abuse on the farmers is a terror!

The way things have been going over there, we may yet see Turkey dictating the policy of the powers.

A STORY AND A QUESTION.

There is a very interesting story to tell, and after that a question to be asked.

We shall let the Cleveland Plain Dealer tell the story, which it calls "Black Bart's Better Brain:"

> Some time ago a surgeon cut open the head of "Black Bart" Holzhay, the wickedest man in Michigan. He re-arranged "Black Bart's" brain with skill and precision, and now "Black Bart" is almost a model citizen.
> They caught Holzhay back in 1889 and sentenced him to prison for life. He had been the terror of the northern peninsula for years, a "bad man" of the wild west type, always ready to turn his hand to any dishonest and desperate business. He was unimaginative and brutish.
> And after they put him in prison he was worse. He became one of America's most eminent "prison demons."
> "Black Bart" Holzhay was not consulted on the matter of having his brain remodeled. That brain was so patently in need of remodeling that the functionaries did not consider its owner competent to offer an opinion. He was merely the subject of an experiment. No one, including "Black Bart," stood to lose however it might come out.
> But it turns out that everyone has gained—"Black Bart," the prison authorities and the commonwealth of Michigan. For, after his head was spliced together, "Black Bart" became a profitable person. He studied hard and became profitable to himself. He became profitable as a conscientious and productive prisoner.
> And now he is pardoned and becomes profitable to Michigan, for he adds one to the number of her useful citizens.

"Black Bart" was, plainly, about as bad a man as man can be. He seemed to have no redeeming feature. He was feared, and doubtless hated, for his badness.

Yet when the surgeons fixed his head, he turned out to be a very decent sort of man indeed.

And now the question:

How much should we blame and punish, and how much pity and help, those who offend, even most heinously, against law and the conventions of decency and right and order?

Mexico ought to sign an arbitration treaty with herself.

SUPERIOR STREET LIGHTING.

To the Editor of The Herald:

The Herald surely hit the nail on the head when it urged the city government to provide better lighting on Superior street.

But for the store lights and the electric signs, Superior street at night would be a gloomy chasm. At such places as Third avenue west, where the buildings are dark at night, the situation is positively dangerous.

This isn't a village, and it shouldn't be lighted like a village where everybody goes to bed at 8:30.

Let us have more lights on Superior street, Mr. Commissioners, if you please. Very truly, J. K.

TRIBUTE TO WORK OF DAY NURSERY.

To the Editor of The Herald:

"Suffer the children to come to me,"
Was said by the Man from Galilee.
And "what you do for the lowliest laid,
You do for me," He said also.

The world for the present with great noise and din
Is busy at work with the harvest of sin,
But few only think of planting the seed
That shall grow till in power it crowds out the weed.

The soil for this seed we only can find
In the little ones' innocent body and mind.
But planted there early it surely will yield
A power that is against sin the best shield.

The women who work thus are doing God's will,
And He will be with them in the new Patrick mill.

RAILROAD INACTIVITY..

To the Editor of The Herald:

I see in the issue of July 30 President Pennington's statement that there would not be much railroad extension work until the currency and tariff questions are settled. He also comments on a shrinkage of railroad and other bonds. Now, "honor bright," Mr. Editor, do you think the railroads are in safe hands when the management will check and even threaten to stop further construction of necessary extensions and improvements simply because the currency and tariff measures are before congress. Those same questions have been before congress for the last seventy-five years. Why should Mr. Pennington or any other magnate have a great big night horse at the present effort of congress to legislate on these questions? Is it not simply because Mr. Pennington thinks the present congress and administration are making an honest effort instead of blindfold effort to legislate along these lines that prompts his action; or is it that 1896 chestnut—that was pulled off to beat Bryan? Or, is it a blackmail scheme to compel President Wilson to hedge on this needed legislation, or does it mean if the measures go through and become a law as at present stated, the railroads will not only stop building any more roads, but will tear up and destroy the roads that are already built? Is not the shrinkage in these bonds Mr. Pennington tells about, only some of the water dripping out? The earnings of the roads seem to be on the increase. Many of the roads are short of rolling stock to carry on the business. The iron and coal industries are paying increased dividends. All legitimate business is on a good paying basis. The price of land is still on the rise. All products of labor bring a price commensurate with its cost. President Wilson has said that no legitimate business need have any fear of his administration. Are the railroads operating along legitimate lines? If so, why the apprehension? Say, Mr. Editor, don't you remember some twenty years ago how the upper crust, like Mr. Pennington, used to call the Populists "Calamity Howlers"? But now who is doing the howling? Now, if the present congress should take up the question of government ownership of railroads, as they will soon be compelled to do through the action of the roads themselves, then those great captains of industry will have something to squirm about. The railroads should be instruments of commerce in the hands of the government, either by ownership or absolute control, and when any new lines or extensions are needed by the public it should be done and that's what it's coming to, for when one man can stop the wheels of progress because such and such legislation or attempted legislation does not suit him it is pretty near high time to act.

Love of Life.

Love you not the tall trees spreading wide their branches
Cooling with their green shade the sunny days of June?
Love you not the little bird lost among the leaflets,
Dreamily repeating a quaint, brief
tune?

Is there not a joy in the waste windy places;
Is there not a song by the long dusty
way?
Is there not a glory in the sudden hour
of struggle;
Is there not a peace in the long quiet
day?

Love you not the meadows with the deep lush grasses;
Love you not the cloud-flocks noiseless in their flight?
Love you not the cool wind that stirs
to meet the sunrise;
Love you not the stillness of the warm summer night?

Have you never wept with a grief that slowly passes,
Have you never laughed when a joy goes running by?
Know you not the peace of rest that follows labor?—
You have not learnt to live, then;
how can you dare to die?

The Master Fool

Retold by Anne Bunner in Kansas City Star.

There once lived a woman who had a very foolish boy. One day the lad wished to go to town and sell the butter. His mother said it would not do at all, as he had never been in town before; but at last she consented.

The boy trudged along, and finally reached a large stone. Supposing the stone to be the town, he addressed it very politely, asking if it cared to buy some butter. Of course, the stone made no reply. "I'll tell you," said the boy, "that my butter is of a good quality. If you wish, you may have a taste of it." He smeared a bit of butter on the stone, and as it was a very warm day it melted in the heat. Thinking that the stone—or the town—ate it with delight, the boy resumed: "I observe that you seem to like it. You may as well buy the whole, and I am willing to wait for the money until tomorrow." So he smeared the rest of the butter on the stone and returned home. His mother at once asked him who had bought the butter. I sold it to the town and gave him credit until tomorrow," answered the boy. "How so?" pursued his mother. "You sold it to the town, you say? Why, that's nonsense. I would like to know to which in town you sold it!" "Well," returned the lad, "I tell you that I sold it to the town."

Next day the boy went to collect the money. When he arrived at the stone he said: "I have come to collect the money for the butter you bought of me yesterday." The stone did not utter a single word, however. Now the boy became angry. "You wretch!" he cried; "yesterday you bought my butter and today you refuse to pay for it—nay, even to answer me." He took hold of the stone and struggled with it until it tipped over, whereupon he found that it had covered a pot filled with money.

When the woman saw her son return with so much money she was greatly astonished, and asked him where and how he had procured it. "I obtained it from the town, mother," answered he. "At first it refused both to pay and even to answer, so I grew angry, turned it over and took all its money."

"I don't comprehend your foolish talk," answered his mother.

Some time passed and the woman slaughtered her cow. The boy wished to take the meat to town and sell it, so a large piece was put into a basket. This time he really came to town, where he met several dogs which barked at him. "How do you do!" said the boy. "Do you wish to buy some meat?" The dogs barked again. "Very well," answered our friend, "you may taste it." The dogs at once began to eat it. "Take all of it, then," said he, throwing the remainder before them; tomorrow I will come for the money."

Next morning he returned and told the dogs that he had come for the money. The dogs barked and barked, but produced no money. "What!" cried he, "do you refuse to pay me?" And he placed one small dog under his arm and went to the king's palace.

The king had a daughter who was very beautiful, but always downcast and afflicted. Her father had declared that he who was able to make her laugh might marry her.

When the boy arrived at the palace one of the sentinels stopped him, forbidding him to pass.

"How?" exclaimed the boy. "Am I not permitted to seek my rights by the king, when I am being cheated by villains?"

"What is your errand, then?" inquired the sentinel. The boy proceeded to tell him all, whereupon he was allowed to pass on condition of promising to pay the sentinel one-half of the money for the meat. Soon he was stopped by another guard, who also made him promise to pay one-half. At length he reached the king's rooms, and told him how wrongly he had been treated. The king merely shrugged his shoulders and said:

"If you have sold the meat to the dog I cannot help you collect it."

"Well," said the boy to the dog, "you are a good specimen, aren't you?"

Upon this the king's daughter was unable to keep herself from laughing.

"Now," said the king to the lad, "you are free to marry my daughter."

"No, I don't care for her," answered he.

"You don't!" said the king; "well and good, I will give you a sum of money."

"Money I don't care for," declared the boy.

"What do you wish?" inquired the king.

"I wish sixty raps of bastinado for my meat," declared the boy.

"You shall have them," answered the king. "Come here," continued he, turning to his men, "and give this boy sixty raps."

"No, thank you," said he; "the sentinels must receive them; they forced me to promise each of them one-half of the payment for the meat."

Thus the guardsmen received their dues.

"Listen to me!" now said the king. "I am sure that you are not so foolish as you seem. Will you not marry my daughter?"

"Yes, I will," answered the boy. He was accordingly married to the princess, and they lived long and happily together.

SATURDAY NIGHT TALK

Don't Swear.

Is the terrible habit on the increase or on the decrease? Until his ears are assailed by unexpected blasphemy one sometimes feels that society is sloughing off this evil. I was led to renewed hope recently by seeing posted all over a city of considerable size the legend: "Profane language is no mark of intelligence." Through so simple a suggestion the community is undertaking to shame its sons out of this particular form of wickedness.

That we are some better in this respect that our forbears may be surmised from historical reading. Of England of the 18th century the historian writes, "Judges swore on the bench; the chaplain cursed the sailors to make them attentive to his sermons; the king swore incessantly and at the top of his voice."

A story is related of the Duchess of Marlborough that she called on a lawyer without leaving her name. "I could not make out who she was," said the clerk afterwards, "but she swore so dreadfully she must be a lady of quality."

We have surely advanced a long way from such conditions. That which once was considered a mark of gentility is now one of vulgarity. No real gentleman is guilty of profane speech and it goes without saying that no real lady is.

Profanity is one of the most irrational of vices. It is simply ostentatious insult to God. As the great preacher, Robert Hall, once said, "It is difficult to account for a practice which gratifies no passion, and promotes no interest, unless we ascribe it to a certain vanity of appearing superior to religious fear, which tempts men to make bold with their Maker."

In an order issued Aug. 3, 1776, Gen. Washington said: "The general is sorry to be informed that the foolish and wicked practice of profane swearing and cursing, a vice hitherto little known in the American army, is growing into fashion. He hopes the officers will by example as well as influence, endeavor to check it, and that both they and the men will reflect that we can have little hope of the blessing of heaven on our army if we insult it by our impiety and folly. Added to this it is a vice so mean and low, without any temptation, that every man of sense and character detests and despises it."

He who has fallen or is falling under the power of this impious habit should resolutely take himself in hand. Let him reflect on the injury done his own soul in uttering blasphemy against his Maker. "The Lord will not hold him guiltless that taketh His name in vain."

That victory is possible is proved by the experience of many a man whose conscience has been touched and whose will has become enlisted. Lips that for years have grievously offended may, by the grace of God, become restrained and clean. THE PARSON.

Strange Case.

Kansas City Star: Prof. C. J. Dillon of Manhattan tells of a farmer who met a doctor on the street. "Doc," said he, "if you're out our way this week you might's well come in and see m' wife."

"What ails her?" inquired the doctor.

"Dunno. After gettin' breakfast an' fixing the children for school an' churnin' an' sloppin' the hogs an' doing a little washin'—they's only seven in the family, y'know—she plumb declared she'd have to lay down before gettin' dinner! Says tired out. Kicks about getting a Sunday dinner!"

"Yes," said the wise doctor. "I'll come out and see her. It's a strange case."

The Fortunate Tortoise.

Washington Star: The Mother—See, Harold, the tortoise moves so slowly that he has this hard shell for protection from his enemies.

Little Harold—Gee! And the little tortoises can't even be punished when they're naughty.

Sound Sense and Banking

St. Paul Pioneer Press: The real point at issue in Secretary McAdoo's contention that influential banks in New York seem to be back of a movement to depress the 2 per cent bonds is the question of control of the board that would be in charge under the proposed banking and currency law. The administration is committed to government domination. A very important proportion of the bankers are in favor of having a board of their own selecting. It is difference in viewpoint on that fundamental feature that is back of the friction that is being engendered. The menace from the administration's program probably is not nearly so great as many fear. The Federal control policy seems likely to be adopted, anyway, and the bankers would do well to aid in having it as satisfactory to them as possible rather than to exert themselves in futile opposition.

There is fear in some places that the board might be political and disposed to listen to the galleries rather than to the demands of sound finance and banking. That is possible but not probable. It is likely that high-class men would be named. No administration could afford to do otherwise. If the bankers could pick men from among their own number to serve on the board, there is no reason to believe that the government could not induce bankers to serve as its representatives. The danger of getting politicians instead of men of judgment is remote, even though some on the board are not financiers. We do not necessarily pick a sailor as secretary of the navy, a soldier to be secretary of war, a postmaster to be postmaster general, yet we get good results in those departments. The question is largely one of good horse sense in any administrative department of the government and would be the same on the banking board.

SCOOP THE CUB REPORTER — Another Social Error, Scoop — By "HOP"

McCUMBER ON THE TARIFF

By SAVOYARD.

Washington, Aug. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—A long time ago I was one pleasant day sitting in front of a law office in the bonnie town of Edmonton, Ky., when there came that way a man from Tennessee, Overton county, questioned as to affairs political in the old "Volunteer state" he did not separate the people and classify them as Democrats and Republicans, but he represented that there were two parties in Tennessee, one in favor of high taxes and the other advocating low taxes. It was some time before I gathered that those in favor of paying the bonded debt of Tennessee he called the high tax party, and those in favor of the repudiation of that debt he classed as the low tax party.

Of course the average citizen has an aversion to taxes, and according to my idea this Tennessee chap was the most pronounced specimen of demagogue I had ever seen.

But some years later I came across a fellow from Ollie James' district—the "Gibraltar"—when 16 to 1 was the paramount. He called the "Goldbugs" the "Scarce Money party." That in my opinion was a notch in advance of the Tennessee man in the scale, for to the average aspiration plenty of money is even more desirable than low taxes.

And so I set this fellow from the "Gibraltar" district down as the very expectancy and rose of demagogy never to be approached in that field.

But I reckoned without Porter J. McCumber, United States senator from the state of North Dakota, the flower in the field, the jewel in the badge of demagogy. The Hon. McCumber is a ready and fluent talker with some affectations and mannerisms of intonation that are disagreeable if not downright repulsive. Hailing from a community distinctively agricultural, he is a standpatter in political opinion and an advocate of a tariff as high as the manufacturer finds it in his conscience to ask.

The Hon. McCumber has delivered himself of a wonderful speech on the tariff assailing the agricultural schedule of the proposed Democratic measure. He lays down the premise that the Democratic party is the enemy of the American farmer in general and of the Northern farmer in particular. He makes the direct charge that the Democratic party has made a tariff bill with a view to the punishment of the Northern farmer for voting the Republican ticket most of the time, and thus in his opinion the Democratic party is both fool and knavo.

Now, what does the Democratic party purpose to do to the farmer? Lighten his taxes. That is all. Mark you, throughout his speech the Hon. McCumber argues that the tariff is a tax. This new tariff proposes to abolish entirely, or greatly reduce, that tax on these things the farmer must have and has to buy:

Bagging for grain and other farm products, fertilizer, wire for fencing and baling purposes, plows, shovels, hoes, rakes, mowers, reapers, planters and agricultural implements of all kinds—these on the free list. All building material on the free list or greatly reduced in tariff duty, school books, boots and shoes, low grade blankets, harness, saddles, saddlery, wagons, carts, sewing machines and so on are on the free list. The farmer has to buy sugar. He will get that cheaper. He buys wearing apparel. He will get that cheaper for himself, wife and children. He buys great quantities of hardware. He will get that cheaper. He buys household and kitchen furniture. He will get that cheaper.

That is the way the Democratic party is going to punish and ruin the farmer—by relieving him of a great deal of taxation. And that is not all. The Democratic party is going to shift $150,000,000 annual taxation from labor to capital by means of an income tax, and that is what is the matter with statesmen like the Hon. McCumber. They are standpatters who believe that the true mission of taxation is to fix a tariff so as to make corporate combinations private monopolies, such as the Harvester trust, the Steel trust, the Wool trust and the like enjoy under Republican policies.

In all the realm of demagogy, I hold the following passage from the Hon. McCumber takes the cake:

"Let me ask you another question: Is not the American farmer equal in intelligence to the American stonecutter, bricklayer, carpenter, or plasterer? Are not his rights to the favorable legislation equal to the rights of these other laborers? You enact laws that this plasterer shall in no case be allowed to labor more than 8 hours a day, and you will punish anyone who will allow him to work 9¼ hours. Do you favor legislation that will allow the farmer sufficient profit in his business that he and his sons can make a living on an 8-hour basis?"

Whatever does the blessed man mean? Is he in a rage because there is no law forbidding the farmer to work more than eight hours of the twenty-four? It seems so, and he holds the Democratic party responsible for that. The Democratic party has been in power less than five months. The Republican party has just finished a lease of sixteen years of power, thirteen years of which the Hon. McCumber was a senator in congress. If he is in such a rage about it, why did he not adjust the thing as it stood by while his party was in the saddle?

And besides, how unfortunate is the citation in the foregoing—stonecutter, bricklayer, carpenter, plasterer. Not one of these is protected by the tariff. Not one of them can be protected by any tariff, for the day will never be when houses will be built abroad and fetched over here to cheapen the houses we build at home. The Hon. McCumber is dealing in rot.

Then the Hon. McCumber is disconsolate and will not be comforted because labor has left the farm for the factory. That is perfectly natural and absolutely inevitable under a protective tariff that taxes the farm to support the factories. When it gets to be the law, the Democratic tariff will do more to send labor back to the farm than all the preaching we have heard on that text, for the horrible burden of unequal taxation will be lifted off the farmer and the farmer will have a chance. The clutch of the manufacturer, such as the Harvester trust, the Wool trust, the Steel trust, the Glass trust, the Pottery trust and the others will be taken off the farmer's earnings.

The senator makes a calculation showing how, under the present tariff, the North Dakota farmer with 640 acres in wheat loses $964 a year. My Gracious, man, isn't it time to try a Democratic tariff a while if that is the way the standpat tariff serves the North Dakota farmer?

I will close with a reference to what the Hon. McCumber says of sheep. He will have it that free wool will destroy our flocks and herds and that we will import every ounce of wool, every carcass of mutton and lamb we consume.

Rats! For more than sixty years England has had free sheep, free wool, free mutton and free lamb, and yet she produces enormous quantities of all on lands worth from $100 to $300 an acre.

It ought to be agin the law for a senator in the United States congress to talk nonsense.

UNREST AND BITTERNESS

How Our Old Laws Provoke Bad Feeling---Trend of Court Decisions Should Be Reviewed By Industrial Relations Commission Just Appointed By President Wilson.

By HENRY R. SEAGER,

Professor of Political Economy, Columbia University.

(Exclusive Service The Survey Press Bureau.)

The Federal industrial relations commission, just appointed by President Wilson, was created to investigate the causes of the prevailing bitter feeling between employer and employes and to recommend measures for its abatement.

A certain amount of antagonism between employers and employes is, of course, no new thing. Their interests, when it comes to the division of the fruits of their common thought and toil, are necessarily opposed. So long as the share of the employes depends on their ability to make favorable bargains with their employers—that is, so long as the wage system itself endures—some sense of antagonism must continue.

There is, however, a new element in the situation, and this, in my judgment, is a widespread sense of the injustice of the conditions under which the wage contract must now be made. By this I do not mean that any very large proportion of wage-earners has come to accept the doctrine which Socialists teach—that the whole product of industry is due to labor and ought of right to go to workers. The revolt, as I interpret it, is not against the system itself but rather against the legal restrictions which in practice hamper wage-earners at every turn in their efforts to improve their condition without putting any corresponding restraint on their employers.

A few illustrations will make my meaning clearer. The injunction process has been found a highly efficient means of breaking a strike. It can be used by employers against their employes because these employes, after they have committed unlawful acts which are destructive of property, will prove ineffective. It can rarely, if ever, be turned against employers because it can usually be urged that they will be able to respond in damages, and that, therefore, there is no need for this extraordinary means of compelling them to respect the property rights of others. A legal remedy which may be used by one side in an industrial dispute and not by the other, naturally seems to the other unfair.

Again, wage-earners know that to succeed in strikes for higher wages or shorter hours they must control a sufficient proportion of the available workers in the trade to bring it home to the employer that they are necessary partners in his business. From their point of view, therefore, efforts to strengthen their unions, through strikes to prevent the employment of non-unionists, or "scabs" are as necessary and proper as efforts to secure higher wages or shorter hours directly. When the courts tell them that they may strike for better conditions, but if they strike to strengthen the union they are guilty of conspiracy, they feel that the law is illogical, arbitrary, and designed, while seeming to concede to them the right to united action, really to prevent their united efforts from being effective.

Another distinction the law draws, which seems to them unfair, is that between strikes and boycotts. One way in which the obdurate employer may be made to respect the right of his men to organize is by inducing his customers to withdraw their patronage unless he treats his employes in a manner that seems to these customers fair. Trade unionists see no reason why, feeling as they do in regard to the right of wage earners to organize, they should not refuse to patronize an employer who denies them this right. To make such refusal effective they think that they should be allowed to publish the names of "unfair" or "we-don't-patronize" employers in their union journals. The view that this constitutes a conspiracy seems to them to involve a denial of their liberty to patronize whom they choose. When this view of the boycott crystalizes in an injunction, for the alleged violation of which such a widely reversed labor leader as John Mitchell is threatened with fine and imprisonment, it becomes, to their minds, an intolerable instrument of tryanny.

Finally, the application of the Federal anti-trust act to labor combinations strengthens wage earners in their belief that for whatever purpose a law may be framed the courts will be certain to turn it against them rather than against their employers. Under it workers in the trade of the United Hatters are liable to pay damages to the amount of $240,000 for acts which their consciences fully approve, while the Standard Oil company, the trust most frequently referred to when the act was under consideration in congress, has escaped with an order to dissolve, obedience to which has served only, so the wage earner argues, to enhance greatly the value of its constituent properties.

It is these anomalies in our law as it applies to wage earners which are, in my opinion, chiefly responsible for the bitterness which American working men feel toward their employers, and the readiness with which they turn from lawful to unlawful and even criminal means to secure their ends. Nothing is so fatal to a law-abiding disposition as a conviction that the law itself is unjust or that its administration is unfair.

Let the industrial relations commission study sympathetically our law with reference to what wage earners may and what they may not do to better their conditions. Let them compare it with the law of the United Kingdom, from which we got the common law principles which our courts are trying to apply. Let them investigate the reason for the British parliament itself deliberately superseding these principles, so far as they affect the relations between employers and employes, by the trade union acts of the '70's and the trade disputes act of 1906, and find out what have been the results of this liberal legislation. Finally, let them rather show that our present laws are unfair in their operation and recommend modifications, even constitutional modifications if necessary, or let them defend these laws by reasoning so cogent that it will convict thoughtful wage earners of the error of their views. This seems to me the most important task of the commission.

BERI-BERI FROM HULLED RICE

Dr. Moszkowski Claims Beri-Beri is Disease Induced by Certain Foods and Not Due to Infection from Without.

Berlin, Aug. 2.—Dr. Max Moszkowski of Berlin, who has won distinction by his scientific researches in New Guinea, succeeded in giving himself an unmistakable case of beri-beri by living for 138 days upon a diet consisting almost exclusively of hulled rice. He believes his experiments support the theory formerly held by him, that beri-beri is a disease induced by certain foods and not due to an infection of any kind from without, as has been maintained by many investigators.

Dr. Moszkowski, who in 1911 advanced his theory in an address before the Berlin Medical society, reported at the society's last meeting the results of the experiment which he has just finished. After a few weeks of hulled rice diet the nervous disturbances accompanying beri-beri appeared, and the case was then diagnosed as beri-beri by Dr. Schuffner, the noted authority in this line. The typical dropsical affection of the skin followed, with soreness of certain groups of muscles, stomachic disturbances, and eventually the typical and dangerous irregularities of the heart action.

Dr. Moszkowski then treated himself with injections of an extract prepared from rice hulls. He recovered rapidly and is now quite well. Injections of this extract also cured pigeons and hens which had become affected with beri-beri after a hulled rice diet.

Dr. Moszkowski believes the hulled rice contains a poisonous substance which is neutralized when the hulls also are eaten. Furthermore, the fact that the phosphorus content of rice lies entirely in the hull probably is of importance. He believes that beri-beri has a distinct relationship to scurvy and rickets.

The DOCTOR'S HELPS

THIS BIG SEX DISEASE PROBLEM

Out in San Francisco recently they tried the establishing of a municipal clinic for the inspection and quarantine of prostitutes. The idea was that such an institution to better regulate the social evil would prove beneficial to the city. In Philadelphia the authorities undertook to put commercialized vice out of business within twenty-four hours without scattering gonorrhea and syphilis all over the city. Some sentiments express failure, others success at the efforts to control this sex vice problem.

Over in Japan, I found the proprietors of ill-fame houses naturally segregating their establishments into one isolated district. They voluntarily built and supported hospitals in these segregated districts. Once each week every prostitute was compelled to appear at these hospitals and undergo a microscopical examination. If syphilis or gonorrhea was discovered the prostitute was detained and treated. She was not permitted to roam at large. She was dealt with as a highly infectious menace, the same as smallpox or cholera. Social ethics were disregarded. And yet, it is impossible to decide how far private sexual immorality can be properly dealt with by purely legal methods.

The world has been struggling with this sore spot in our social life for many centuries, and the social evil still exists. The most practical means of stopping the spread and ravages of syphilis and gonorrhea are the methods used in our United States army and navy. In these organizations every man who acknowledges sexual intercourse is immediately antiseptic ized by powerful salves and solutions. The army and navy doctors have greatly reduced the number of sexual diseases among soldiers and sailors by the prompt measures adopted.

MORE ABOUT HEART DISEASE.

A Milwaukee inquirer asks that I go a little farther in describing heart disease, particularly the shortness of breath and occasionally a choking feeling. So long as you are comfortable it shows that your heart is beating at its best gait. The moment, however, you call upon a weakened and diseased heart to quicken its pace you feel the distressing symptoms you speak of. The heart is only able to deliver a certain amount of force with each beat. When you call upon it to pump harder, as when going upstairs or walking fast or other exertion—AND IT CAN'T—your breathing symptoms develop. Look out, therefore, if your heart is diseased. Do not overtax it, and you will be comfortable and live longer. Keep in touch with your doctor. He is on the ground.

WHEN THE TEAR DUCT BECOMES CLOGGED.

QUESTION: "I have been troubled with my left eye. The tear duct is clogged up, and the tears drop down over the eye on to my face as though I was crying. It grows worse when I am out of doors in the wind. Is there any cure for this trouble without using the silver wire dilator of the tear duct?"

Answer: Yes. Often there is a cure. Go to a competent oculist. Take this with you. Frequently by a skilled use of Holocain, zinc astringent solutions and other stimulant drugs, your oculist can clear away the stoppage and get the tears to run down into the nose where they belong. He cannot do this in every case, but IT IS BEING DONE TODAY FOR MANY PATIENTS. If, however, a growth or severe stricture occludes your duct, I cannot say exactly how far drugs will act.

An Ingenious Swindle.

The local police have put an end to a means of livelihood employed by an attractive woman of Berlin, who dressed in widow's garb, gained in considerable sums by a swindling game which had the merit of novelty and was based on a keen knowledge of human nature.

The woman's mode of operation was to station herself at a subway entrance, or before a postoffice, wait until a likely looking man came in sight, start hurriedly searching through her purse, and then cry out "I've been robbed!" Gallant males, sympathizing with a woman in distress, generally started a conversation.

In the course of the talk they learned that she was a widow and lived in Charlottenburg, a fashionable district of the greater city. She confided various troubles to her listener, whereof the chief one was that her 18-year-old daughter was difficult to manage and fond of the society of men, although otherwise a dutiful and loving daughter. The "widow" then suggested that a loan of $3 or $5 would save her interrupting her shopping tour. If her new friend lived anywhere in her neighborhood, he could take as security a new and expensive pair of shoes which she had just bought and carry them to her home, where her daughter would be glad to repay the trifling loan made to her mother.

According to the police, a large number of men, seeing an opportunity to become acquainted with a charming young woman who loved men's society, lent the distressed widow the sum demanded, took her I O U and the box of shoes, and posted off to her home. Unable to find either home or daughter, they finally became suspicious and opened the shoe box. It contained half a brick and some wrapping paper.

The widow's downfall came when she inadvertently tried to play the same trick on the same man for the second time.

Very Costly.

Mesothorium, it appears from a report from Essen, runs radium a close race for value. The city council there has appropriated $5,000 for the purchase of one-tenth of one grain for the municipal hospital. It is to be used in experimental treatment of cancer. Private subscribers have given a further $5,000 for another tenth of a grain.

Fun on Imperial Yacht.

That the emperor and his guests on the Hohenzollern during the yearly cruises of his majesty to Norwegian waters, were in the habit of abandoning themselves to a spirit of boyish fun, is evident from some txartcts from the diary of the late Baron von Kiderlen-Waechter that are now being printed.

The diary of the baron, who was at one time secretary of state for foreign affairs, gives among other things the "statutes of the Northland Traveling company" drawn up for one of the trips of about twenty years ago. The statutes declare that the company lives "partly on recollection and partly on preserves." At the head of the company stands the "Most Illustrious Master Traveler, Kaiser Wilhelm the Second;" the other members are classified as "Superior Journeymen Sailors" and "Vice-Journeymen Sailors." The statutes have chiefly to do with the evening assemblies on board the imperial yacht. They provide, for instance, that Dr. Gussfeldt, one of the members of the company, "shall each evening, but not before 11 o'clock, mount the rostrum to treat the company with his recollections, the latitude and longitude of which are to be determined beforehand by the navigating officer."

Another paragraph stipulates that "the famous firm of Hulsen, Kessel, Kiderlen & Company, dealers in Irish bulls, shall be responsible for having the stale jokes replaced with new ones once a month." Various penalties of a amusing character are provided for; but "if a journeyman sailor, sentenced to a just punishment, tries by means of persistent drinking to get himself into a state of 'alleviating circumstances,' such action shall entail an increase of the sentence."

Drink Too Much.

The emperor, who is well known to be very abstemious in all things, thinks that German university students drink too much. A sentence proving this was used by him while receiving the students' homage during his jubilee week. His majesty on this occasion said: "I expect you to reduce your consumption of alcohol to a marked degree."

The emperor issued a similar warning to the naval cadets of the empire in a speech which he made at Murwick some time ago, and he has several times declared that more athletics and less beer would improve the student physique. Showing, however, how established beer drinking is as an incident of every student celebration, the fact may be mentioned that five glasses of beer for eash student were paid for from the funds of the University of Berlin on the occasion of the jubilee "kommers."

CAMPAIGN AGAINST "HEAD HUNTERS"

Japan Seeking to Subjugate 20,000 Savages of the Island of Formosa---They Fight From the Tops of Trees.

Tokyo, Aug. 2.—Japan has opened a vigorous military campaign against 20,000 savages of the island of Formosa, better known as "head hunters," who have refused to submit to the domination of Japan. When Japan was ceded Formosa in 1895 at the conclusion of the war with China the "head hunters," so named because of their custom of bringing human heads to all ceremonies, numbered about 150,000, but successive campaigns and peace overtures by the Japanese have now limited them to the Taruco tribe, the wildest of all, who inhabit the rugged and precipitous mountains near the eastern coast. The present Japanese force of subjugation comprises 8,000 men, made up of native troops and the police force of the island. It is divided into two columns and is in charge of Gen. Sakuma, the governor-general of Formosa.

The Taruco tribesmen came from the Malay peninsula and are the oldest known inhabitants of Formosa. They practice a rude kind of agriculture, wear scarcely any clothing, and live in wood and bamboo huts on the heights of almost inaccessible mountains. They fight from the tops of trees, and the campaign against them will be exceedingly dangerous. The subjugation in the past has been largely carried on by constructing electrically charged wire fences, gradually extended into the savage district, until the dominion of the head hunters was restricted to the mountains which must now be assailed. The Japanese hope to make peaceful farmers out of those who are left at the end of the present expedition.

Japan Is Future Success.

A notable contribution to the discussion of the relation of the West to the East, opened up by the Californian land bill agitation, has been made by Count Okuma, "the Grand Old Man of Japan," who declares that Japan's future success depends upon her development of foreign intercourse.

Count Okuma writes of this problem in a volume fresh from the press. The statesman constantly uses the word "taisei," meaning trend, tendency, current or movement. Dividing history into the ante-medieval and post-medieval periods, the writer points out that in the former period oriental races overran Europe, while in the latter European races invaded the oriental world. This pulsation, or movement of races, Count Okuma calls the "taisei," or "tendency of history."

Three successive waves have swept Japan. The first period began with Oda Nobunaga, when the Portuguese, Hollanders, English and other Europeans sought intercourse with Japan. The second was the Russian movement which began to be felt after 150 years of seclusion, and the third reached its culmination with the coming of Commodore Perry from the United States.

The attitude of a country toward this world tendency decides its fate. The count says: "To follow the taisei is to rise, and to oppose the taisei means destruction." This law, he declares, holds in the material world, and as a principle it pervades human history. The course for a nation to pursue is to obey the world tendency, to mount upon it, and to guide it. It was this attitude that saved Japan from destruction. If Japan for any reason should assume an attitude of hostility and opposition to the world tendency her doom would be sealed.

Count Okuma considers it a matter of good fortune that Japan took good advantage of the world tendency at her door. "The progress of Japan in the future," Count Okuma concludes, "will depend upon the nation's success or failure in effecting intercourse with foreign nations."

Strides in Aviation.

Japan is making important strides in aviation. Recently a number of yonug military officers trained by the army aviation corps made a series of successful inter-provincial flights, covering a distance of sixty miles, and qualified themselves as experts. The aviation corps has a spacious open ground at Tokorozawa, near Tokyo, where a group of student aviators is being trained by Capt. Tokugawa. These military aviators make occasional excursions to the city of Tokyo, the people of which climb up to the house tops to see the "man-birds" fly. The aeroplanes in use are Japanese biplanes, devised by Capt. Tokugawa and a number of French machines.

The naval aviators also have been active recently. They paid a surprise visit to Yokohama and Tokyo from the naval station at Yokosuka. In one of these trips Lieut. Yamada covered a distance of 130 miles in two hours and ten minutes. The naval aviators are now planning to exhibit their craft before the emperor, who is recuperating at Hayama, a seaside resort, from his recent illness.

Aside from army and navy aviators, Japan has a number of private aeronauts, who are making successful flights at different points in the empire.

"New Woman" Crusade.

The "new woman" crusade in Japan is day by day occupying an increasingly prominent place in public discussion. This is due to the comparatively radical measures adopted by the women to further their cause, and to the fact that this agitation has elicited a counter-campaign by prominent men of Japan, including officials of the department of education. Although the Japanese crusaders have in no way approached the radicalism of their English sisters and have not resorted to violence, they are carrying on a determined movement by means of lectures and literature, some of which the government has seen fit to censure. Mr. Okuda, minister of education, says he is at a loss to understand the real motives of the "new woman." He declares, so far as he can gather, that they are trying to transplant wholesale to Japan the extreme and unwholesome doctrines which have had a vogue in some parts of the United States and Europe, without modifying them to suit the Japanese people.

"If their movement is actuated by consciousness of the necessity of freeing themselves from the yoke imposed by men, or by indignation at the attitude of some men who regard women as mere dolls," the minister declares, "I think there is some reason in their attitude. But if they aim merely at improving men's conduct toward women, there are many other ways in which this could be attained without taking such steps as are at present contemplated."

The minister admitted that not a few cases of unhappiness in the home in Japan are due to the general misconduct of men, and he acknowledged that the present relations between men and women show room for great improvement. He recommended, therefore, that men pay greater respect to women. Woman on her part should practice those virtues upon which alone happy and healthy households can exist. Girls and young women should be educated with the idea of making them good wives and wise mothers.

Mr. Okuda is not of the opinion that the woman's movement for participation in government will find its way into Japan.

SOME KITCHEN CONVENIENCES.

Woman's World: The fireless cooker is not only a convenience, but a saver. Any housekeeper can make one out of a box, trunk, pail or icebox. Hay is used for packing. If soapstones are used, they are heated and put in beside the dish containing the hot food. They may be placed either above or below the dish. If several soapstones are at hand, they may be placed each side as well as above and below.

Fireless cookers are especially helpful during the hot months. All meats which require long, slow cooking are especially nice when cooked in the "fireless." Young, fresh vegetables which require only a short time for cooking are better cooked on top of the stove.

COMMISSION WILL ATTEND

West Duluth Citizens Will Present Grievances Next Friday Evening.

Road Committee Complains of Slow Work on Eighty-First Avenue Fill.

A mass meeting of West Duluth citizens, which the city commissioners will attend, will be held next Friday evening at the West Duluth Commercial club.

J. J. Frey, Charles Kauppi, Emil Zauft and Thomas Olafson, who were last evening appointed on a committee to invite the city commission, met the city officials this morning and secured their consent to attend the gathering, which will be open to the citizens of Duluth.

At the meeting next Friday the local residents will present their grievances and tell the commissioners just what they want in the shape of improvements for the next year. A report made by the special roads committee last evening will be read to the commissioners next Friday. It follows:

"That at the present rate of working, at least thirty days will elapse before the Eighty-first avenue fill is completed, and that the city commission be urged to rush its completion before that time; that Grand avenue at the crossing of the Northern Pacific tracks at Smithville has been used as a public thoroughfare for several years, and that notice be served by the club that the club will take action to compel the railway to provide an underhead crossing at that point; that Zimmerly and Commonwealth avenues of New Duluth, which property owners there promised two years ago to put in good condition for travel if the city would make that instead of the old county road the main thoroughfare, is not in good condition, that the city commission be urged to re-establish the old county road as the main thoroughfare between the two suburbs, and the route for the proposed trolley extension to New Duluth."

M. J. Murray, secretary of the club, was instructed to write the state railroad commission regarding a double rate charged from Duluth to the Twin Cities. It is claimed that the fare charged on the morning train is $2.96 and on the afternoon train, $3.04.

OLD ENGLISH SCRIPT IS A "PUZZLER"

The members of the Oneota and Hazelwood improvement club last evening unanimously adopted a resolution asking the school board to change the engraving on the Jerome Merritt school.

The meeting of the club was held at the Merritt school, Fortieth avenue west and Fifth street. Local residents claim the inscription is in old English and entirely unreadable. A more modern script is requested in the resolution.

P. E. Borgstrom, O. A. Wicklund and John Roswell were appointed on a committee to circulate petitions for the condemnation of property so that a street may be opened, connecting Superior and Halifax streets. It will be necessary to cut through the northeast corner of the ball park.

WILL CELEBRATE OPENING OF ROAD

Hermantown Farmers Invite Duluthians to Be Their Guests.

The new Getchell road will be officially opened Monday, Aug. 18, with an entertainment to be given by the Farmers' Home Produce Club of Hermantown at the Hermantown school. A special invitation was this morning extended to the West Duluth Commercial club and the Getchell road committee to attend the festivities.

The road will be finished by Aug. 15 and will be ready for use at that time. The West Duluth delegation will leave this end of the city at 6 o'clock on the evening of the celebration, according to the tentative arrangements already made, and go to Hermantown by way of the new Getchell road, which starts at West Duluth and ends at the small farming town.

At Hermantown there will be a program of addresses and musical numbers by prominent people of Hermantown and officers of the West Duluth club. The city commissioners are also to be invited to the affair and it is probable that the commission will go to Hermantown in a body. A banquet and smoker will close the festivities for the day.

J. R. Grady, chairman of the committee in charge of the entertainment and celebration, was in West Duluth this morning extending the invitation of the farmers' club. The officers of the club are: E. S. Lawyer, president; Otto Witte, vice president; Gust Lutck, secretary; and F. W. Rhunke, treasurer.

It is expected that about twenty-five members of the West Duluth club will attend the festivities.

Work on the Getchell road was started three years ago and is now being completed at a total cost of nearly $7,000.

HELP LAY SPUR ON NORTON ESTATE

Smithville Visitor Was One of Workers to Outwit Village Council.

G. L. Welling of Anderson, Ind., who is visiting here this week with his brother, H. P. Welling of Smithville, was one of the men who helped lay the spur track through the Norton estate in 1891 and which has since caused considerable trouble for the heirs of the estate and the Northern Pacific.

The Northern Pacific is now laying another track on the line, hoping thereby to claim possession of the right-of-way, the title of which has been challenged in this district court.

Mr. Welling recalls vividly how he and a gang of men who were then at work at the N. P. Junction, now Carlton, were put to work building the spur early Sunday morning. There were sixty men in the gang, Martin Murray, now of Stillwater, being in charge of the crew.

The village council of West Duluth attempted to stop the men and before an injunction could be secured, the spur track had been laid.

Mr. Welling is here with her father, Jens Welling, who is 80 years old.

Jailed for Beating Wife.

John Alcorn, 25 years old, arrested at midnight on a charge of drunkenness, pleaded guilty when arraigned this morning before Judge Lanners. Sentence was suspended on the young man's promise to go to work.

ENDS LIFE WITH POISON

Brooding Over Divorce Suit Drove Settler to Suicide.

Had Been Acting Strangely Since Wife Filed Complaint.

With divorce proceedings pending against him in district court, his case being scheduled to come up for trial Tuesday morning, Camille Laviollette, 52 years old, a farmer living two miles north of Adolph, committed suicide some time yesterday by drinking a mixture of carbolic acid and Paris green. His body was found at 4 o'clock this morning by a cook on the farm.

Laviollette had been brooding ever since his wife, Armine Laviollette, started divorce proceedings, alleging drunkenness and cruelty. He had acted rather strangely, according to one of the farmhands, and would walk about all day long muttering to himself. This constant brooding over the divorce, it is believed, caused the old man to take his life.

M. J. Filiatrault returned this noon with the body and stated that an inspection of the farmhouse disclosed the three-ounce bottle of carbolic acid and some Paris green, both of which were found on the table. He believes that Laviollette died some time yesterday afternoon.

Laviollette had been a resident of Adolph for the past ten years and was very well known in that vicinity. There are no children.

An autopsy will be conducted this afternoon by Coroner McComb, after which the funeral arrangements will be made.

In her divorce complaint, Mrs. Laviollette, who is now living with friends, having refused to remain under the same roof with her husband, claims that he would often come home drunk and beat her. On one occasion, she states, her husband threw her downstairs. Laviollette filed a counter complaint at the time, stating that his wife also drank to excess and that she was unbalanced. He offered to live with her again, specifying that she must keep the house "reasonably neat and clean as is accustomed to be done by the ordinary housewife."

Market Is Opened.

The public market place at West Duluth was officially opened this morning for the present season. Five farmers had fruit and produce on sale for the opening day, many local housewives visiting the market. The market place will be open every day from now on.

The building will be painted The repair work will cost about $1,000 and the buildings will be ready for use on Oct. 1.

Fire in Residence.

The local fire department had a run to 4820 St. Anthony street at 9:50 o'clock last evening, when the house occupied by Mr. Mitchell and his family caught fire from a defective chimney. The upper part of the structure was burned by the time the firemen got to the scene, but they soon had the flames under control. The total damage is estimated at $300.

New Pavement.

A pavement extending from Central avenue to the new Northern Pacific station is being laid today. The old building has been moved to the rear of the new structure and the vacant space is to be improved and part of it arranged for a garden.

Promises to Go to Work.

George Oven, 55 years old, arrested yesterday morning by Lieut. Wilcox on a charge of assault in the third degree, the complaint having been made by his wife, was arraigned before Judge Lanners yesterday afternoon and given a straight sentence of forty days in the county jail. Mrs. Oven claimed her husband beat her with a stick last Tuesday afternoon.

JOE JACKSON LEADS COBB

Cleveland Slugger Sets Pace Too Fast for Detroit Star.

McDonald of Boston Is Real Leader in National League.

Chicago, Aug. 2.—The pace set by Joe Jackson proved too swift for Ty Cobb this week and the Detroit slugger fell behind in the American league batting averages. Jackson pounded his percentage up to .408, but Cobb dropped to .396. The Cleveland man has played in ninety-three games while Cobb has been in only sixty-nine.

Dan Murphy, Philadelphia, is third in the American league with .378. Then comes Speaker, Boston, with .371; Caldwell, New York, .355; Henriksen, Boston, .351; Collins, Philadelphia, .348; McInnes, Philadelphia, .333; Gandil, Washington, .332, and Lajoie, Cleveland, who ranks tenth with .331.

Charles McDonald, Boston, continues, to be the real leader in the National with .371, though Earl Yingling, Brooklyn, for twenty-three games, is hitting .393. Hyatt, Pittsburg, is third, with .362; R. Miller, Philadelphia, fourth, with .359, and Daubert, Brooklyn, fifth, with .349. Then comes Walsh, Philadelphia, .346; Cravath, Philadelphia, .341; W. Collins, Boston, .333; Zimmerman, Chicago, .318, and Hess, Boston, .317.

Pitching records to date show Wagner of Brooklyn the only undefeated hurler in the National league with two games to his credit, though he has taken part in eleven. Humphries, Chicago, and Demaree, New York, are tied with nine wins and two defeats. Mathewson, New York, is next with eighteen victories and five defeats, while Marquard, New York, is fifth with fourteen wins and five defeats.

Boehling of Washington, who suffered his first defeat the other day, is ahead among the American league pitchers with eleven victories and one defeat, up to the time of closing the unofficial averages for the week. His team mate, Walter Johnson, ranks next with twenty-three games won and five lost. Then comes Bender, Philadelphia, with sixteen won and five lost; Plank, Philadelphia, with fifteen and five, and Brown, Philadelphia, with thirteen and six.

CENTRAL TEAM WILL PLAY GRAND FORKS.

Grand Forks, N. D., Aug. 2.—(Special to The Herald).—The Grand Forks and Duluth high schools will meet on the football field again this fall, Oct. 11 being the date agreed on. The teams have met for the last two years, Duluth winning both times.

Under the new contract, signed yesterday, games probably will be played both at Duluth and Grand Forks, this year's game, however, going to the Zenith City.

JOHNSON PRESENTED WITH CUP OF MONEY.

Washington, Aug. 2.—Walter Johnson had a field day of his own today at the American league park. Thousands of "fans" jammed the stands to see the big pitcher receive a mammoth loving cup filled with money contributed by his admirers. Six years ago today Johnson made his debut in this city, pitching against Detroit, which team he faced again today. President Wilson arranged his engagements so that he could attend the game.

Pitcher Wells Released.

Grand Forks, N. D., Aug. 2.—(Special to The Herald).—Dick Wells, who early in the season pitched a no-hit game against the St. Paul club, was released yesterday by the Grand Forks club. Since his early work in the league Wells has had hard sledding, being hit quite regularly and he has, on numerous occasions, been lifted to make way for new heavers.

Stovern and Dodge, catchers, also were released last night before the team departed for Duluth.

Hartzell Resigns.

Toledo, Ohio, Aug. 2.—"Topsy" Hartzell, manager of the Toledo club since the spring of 1912, resigned his position today and will be succeeded by Herman Bronkie, for three seasons third baseman of the team.

REAL ESTATE MEN TO VISIT DULUTH

DULUTH DIRT A "GOOD BUY"

Cleveland Real Estate Agent Says Property Is Cheap Here.

Delegates to Winnipeg Convention Are Returning Via Duluth.

Duluth, as a place to invest in real estate, was lauded today by L. H. Wain of Cleveland, Ohio, a realty operator who stopped here on his way home from the real estate men's convention in Winnipeg.

"Duluth realty seems to me to be one of the best buys in the country at the present time," said Mr. Wain. "Since the railroad rate decision, so favorable to Duluth, the values here have been greatly enhanced, in my opinion. I look to see Duluth have a big spurt within the next few years. I venture to say that if I come through here in ten years Superior street will present a far different front from what it does now. I think I would be safe in saying that there would be none of the smaller buildings left on the principal street. In their places I would expect to find more structures like your Alworth building and other sky-scrapers here. Of course in every city there are estates tied up and realty owners who refuse to improve their property, but from what I can learn these are few in Duluth.

"With your natural advantages unparalleled and with the railroad rates now decided in your favor, I think investors in Duluth real estate will realize nicely on their money. With property on Superior street selling around $2,500 a front foot it seems to me that there are unusual opportunities here. In Winnipeg the price in the business district is $5,000 per front foot. Duluth seems to hold her realty of less value or else the business men here are more conservative and are not figuring so much on speculation and the probable growth of the city.

"In regard to residence property I should say that it was held at a moderate figure. The improvements and the class of the houses built determine the value of residence property and with the beautiful homes you have here I believe your values are very reasonable.

"When the city was laid out the officials were farsighted in numbering the streets and avenues instead of giving them names. Cleveland the streets all had various proper names of some time ago it was necessary to change the system to numbers. It gives a person more of an idea of locations than the old system."

Mr. Wain was warm in his praise of the reception he and other real estate men received in Duluth. Whitney Wall of Duluth and B. C. Cook of Superior had charge of a party yesterday. They took the visitors around the boulevard, through the residence district and around the bay and industrial centers.

COAL SITUATION IS ALARMING

The Black Diamond, the official paper of the coal trade, in its issue of today, says that the coal situation in the East and South is rather alarming because of the fact that the fields from which they get their supply are in a rather precarious position, and that while in the West the situation is a trifle easier it is not much so.

The Black Diamond says:

"The retail dealers have not seen ahead any very serious trouble and consequently have not prepared for it. They have not bought a great deal of Indiana and Illinois coal for storage and their demands remain to be supplied. Many retailers were depending upon heavy shipments in August, as customary, but just now the mines which should be making the shipments are bothered by a water shortage as the result of a drouth. Also, the car situation is beginning to tighten up just a little with every indication that another three weeks will introduce a car shortage of serious proportion. Some of the Western buyers, therefore, who have been depending upon a free coal supply are likely to be somewhat disappointed. That is, the Western buyers have almost as much reason for alarm as the Eastern buyers, but they do not see it as yet and do not appreciate the danger.

"All of these influences, which are thoroughly understood by the operating companies, have been dictating, this last week, a strength to the market that is extraordinary. Prices in almost every important coal-producing center have been advancing all the way from 10 cents to 25 cents a ton."

INVITATION IS A COMMAND

No Way for Any College Graduate or Undergraduate to Escape Attending College Day Celebration.

John McGregor, secretary of the Duluth Boat club, is today sending out the invitations to the third annual college day reunion and carnival to be held next Saturday at the Oatka branch of the boat club.

The invitation is a novel one and follows in full:

"This is to certify that you have been selected as a representative of your college (with all the duties and obligations such selection may entail) on the occasion of the third annual celebration of college day by the Duluth Boat club at Oatka beach, Saturday, Aug. 9. This appointment, made with or without your consent or knowledge, commits you to the following sacred obligations, to-wit:

"Immediately to prepare your college colors, recall your college songs and rehearse the old college yells. Invite your congenial friends and prepare the lunch basket for service. On Saturday, the ninth, at 4 o'clock sharp, take your place in the line of automobiles following the Third Regiment band from the Spalding to the aerial bridge. If you do not possess an auto and do not have to take care of some friend's auto, you are exceptionally lucky and carefree and may proceed on foot or by street car. Try to reach Oatka by 5 o'clock on foot, by boat or by using the extra cars promised by the railway from the aerial bridge.

"On arrival at the grounds, you will forget how many years you are from the college campus and will by voice and deed uphold the fame of your own college. You will join lustily in the laudable work of running down your rival institutions with the old enthusiasm of the Thanksgiving football game. After sampling all the college shows on the pike, you will use the picnic tables or the grove or the beach for your supper, augmenting, if desired, your own delicious home preparations with purchases on the grounds of coffee, sandwiches or ice cream. In the evening, on signal from the lighted beach bonfires you will gather on the beach in college groups and after each test of skill and strength in competitive sports, you will explain why your own particular college failed to win, through some unfortunate combination of circumstances and, if any one else will listen, rehearse what your college champions used to do in '96 or '74.

"With boating and dancing, with music and songs, you will in every way endeavor by hearty enjoyment of this occasion to reward your hosts, the Duluth Boat club, whose privilege it is to urge its guests, the college men and women of Duluth, to use the club as their own. And all these obligations your selection binds you faithfully to observe and carry out.

"JULIUS H. BARNES,
"President."

On Monday afternoon, Mrs. G. Herbert Jones and the officials of the boat club will meet with the representatives of the various colleges and divide the ground space for the different stunts. Both the men and women are invited to send a representative to this meeting at 8 o'clock Monday evening.

College alumni and undergraduates who do not receive invitations, are all asked to attend the festivities just the same, as those receiving them are on the mailing list, while many others have never entered their names to the list kept by the officials of the club.

SHERIFF ON USELESS TRIP

Takes Forty-Mile Auto Journey to Investigate "Murder."

Kelsey Farmer Was Killed By Falling From a Wagon.

L. Johnson, a farmer residing near Kelsey, town of Cotton, was accidently killed near his home this morning when he fell off a load of hay and was crushed under the wheels of a heavy wagon.

When word of the accident was dispatched to the coroner, C. F. McComb this afternoon, the telegram was such as to indicate that murder had been committed in the town of Cotton.

Coroner McComb immediately notified Sheriff John R. Meining, who left shortly afterwards in an automobile on a trip to the scene of the supposed crime.

Shortly after the sheriff had left the city The Herald received a message from Kelsey which explained that Johnson had not been murdered and that his death was purely accidental.

Johnson owned a large farm in the vicinity of Kelsey and leaves a large family. It is hardly probable that an inquest will be necessary.

The order also prohibits smoking or carrying lighted cigars, cigarettes or pipes on station platforms, stairways, waiting rooms and car barns of all traction lines in New York city. For some months an anti-smoking crusade has been waged by certain societies and individuals.

BIG PANTHER HUNT.

About All Polk County to Hunt Escaped Beast Sunday.

Crookston, Minn., Aug. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—If the escaped panther that has been causing so much agitation near Mentor, Erskine and Eldred is not "started" in the general hunt tomorrow, it will not be for lack of dogs and hunters. Practically every man with a bird dog, or any other kind of a dog, has become so interested that the countryside will be beaten very thoroughly. If the animal has taken refuge in any of the groves there is no question but what it will be driven from cover, but if on the other hand it has a lair in the center of 640-acre grain field it will be comparatively safe, as the hunters in such cases will have to keep to the roads, and the dogs will not range more than from 40 to 80 rods either side of the roadway.

SICK MEN AND WOMEN

ARE YOU AILING? DO YOU KNOW OF SOME FRIEND WHO IS SICK AND SUFFERING?

If so, I want you to read these few lines.

You have read in the daily papers of the wonderful cures there have been accomplished in Duluth by treating people electro-medically. Instead of cutting or doping the patients, or causing additional pains by kneading or baking, medical scientists have searched many years for better methods to cure the sick and they found it at last.

ELECTRO MEDICINE WILL CURE YOU!

THE CORPORATION OF THE ELECTRO MEDICAL DOCTORS HAS BROUGHT TO DULUTH THE SYSTEM FOR A RADICAL RESTORATION OF HEALTH, BOTH FOR MEN AND WOMEN. It is indeed the highest of scientific medical achievements of this country. Electro-Biological chemistry has shown the way to break up the components of the different poisons which are the cause of most diseases. It has also shown how to build up broken-down organs and diseases tissues. It is the very power of nature that Electro-Medical Doctors employ in doing away with WEAKNESS and bringing back HEALTH, VITALITY and VIGOR to every suffering man and woman. Most of the people who were restored to health with Electro-Medical methods have avoided unnecessary "doping" and "cutting." Just think of the many people who died from overdoses of poisonous medicines, who turned "dope-fiends," and of others who died from needless operations.

Our corporation has spent ten thousand dollars in the equipment of its Duluth office, which is to stay here permanently. It is the first and only institution in Duluth which has ever been incorporated. The present is the largest Doctors' office of its kind in the Northwest, and the directors and stockholders have planned to erect in this city, one of the largest sanitariums, where patients will be treated Electro-Medically. Duluth has seen many Doctors come and go within the last few years, but this office is going to stay, because it is supported by Duluth business men who believe in the future of our city, and in its healthful climate as the best site for a large sanitarium, of which the present office is the embryo, the beginning of.

THE GREATEST THING FOR RHEUMATISM

Duluth, Minn., July 9th, 1913.

Electro Medical Doctors, Duluth:

Dear Sir: Your treatment for Rheumatism is far ahead of anything of which I have ever seen or read. I was so greatly troubled with Rheumatism for some time past that it was impossible to do my own housework, but on taking your wonderful treatment, have noticed a great change in my condition right from the start of the very first treatment.

I now feel very well and recommend your treatment to any one.

Yours truly,
MRS. H. E. DE LAMOREY,
No. 14 Twelfth Avenue East, Duluth.

STOMACH TROUBLE HIS WOEFUL LOT

Duluth, July 19th, 1913.

I have been suffering for a long time from Catarrh trouble, and I have taken a lot of medicine and medical treatments for it lately, but neither did me the least of good.

I went to the Electro Medical Doctors and have taken only four treatments and feel like a new man, though I will not say that I am cured as yet, but it is a wonderful thing to feel like a new person after only the first four treatments.

Respectfully yours,
A. SWANBERG,
611 West Superior Street, Duluth.

STRIKERS STILL OUT

Railroads Agree to Safety Appliances at Allouez in Conference.

Refuse Demands for Men's Right to Discharge Checkers.

The striking Allouez ore dock laborers were in conference with the officials of the Great Northern railroad this afternoon on improved working conditions on the dock, following the accident which cost two lives and injured several men. But they have not yet returned to work as their full demands were not granted.

The men asked permission to select one man on each shift whose duties will be to supervise the switching of cars on each dock and to give the proper signals for transmission of trains. They also asked that ore pockets between the tracks, which they say are unsafe, must be closed when not in use, so as to insure safety to workers. They demanded that they shall be given the right to enforce the discharge of foremen or checkers whom they have reason to believe are objectionable.

The railroad company agreed to the demands for safer working conditions, but refused to consider the last named demand.

Organizers representing the Industrial Workers of the World have arrived and are urging the men to fight for their demands. Steps are being taken to reorganize the ore dock workers union which was disbanded following a strike in 1909.

The shipment of ore is entirely suspended and unless the difficulty is suspended, mines on the iron ranges will be forced to close down. Nearly 600 men are involved.

The men who were injured are reported on the way to recovery at St. Mary's hospital. Conrad Hill, whose arm and leg were cut off, is the only one in danger.

May Curtail Mining.

The strike may seriously curtail mining operations on the range if it continues many more days, in the opinion of Prof. E. P. McCarty of the University of Minnesota mining department, who has just returned from the range where he was looking after mining property for the state.

"The mines that send their product to the Allouez docks are already facing a car shortage," said Prof. McCarty, "and if the trouble on the docks keeps up for a week some of the mines will either have to stop operating or else will have to put the ore in stock piles.

"It is more likely that they will shut down because of the peculiar situation of the iron market at the present time. The market is dull and if all the contracts for ore are fulfilled there will be too much ore on the market. The steel companies are pretty well stocked up with pig iron and the furnaces are having a dull time. If all the contracts are filled there will be more ore mined than will be smelted this season.

"The mines are ahead of the figures for the first half of this season, as compared with the tonnage for the same period in 1912."

Prof. McCarty left this afternoon for Minneapolis.

WILL WATCH MONEY RATES

Government Will Insist Country Banks Get Crop Funds.

Washington, Aug. 2.—The $50,000,000 deposit of government funds about to be made will be placed in the banks of the large cities in the agricultural regions of the South and West upon the condition and expectation, said the treasury officials today, that these large banks will distribute the money to the country banks at reasonable rates of interest.

While the treasury department will not attempt to fix the rate of interest, because it has no such power, it will insist upon equitable treatment, so that the money will be available for the marketing and movement of crops at reasonable rates.

Large deposits will be made in Chicago and St. Louis, said John Skelton Williams, assistant secretary of the treasury, today. New Orleans and Atlanta, Ga., will be among those to receive a substantial share of the $50,000,000 for distribution in the South.

Assistant Secretary Williams said it was necessary for the government to place the money in the large channels because it would be impracticable to pass upon the quality of commercial paper as security if the deposits were scattered indiscriminately among a great number of country banks.

While the treasury department will stipulate that the money must be returned after the crops have been moved, and will fix dates for its gradual flow back to the government, the conditions, it is said, will not be hard and fast, and will be changed if unforeseen circumstances indicate that the banks will need more time to make the repayments.

MAKE IDEAL WORK FARM

Minneapolis Man Is Telling New Board How to Do It.

Frank R. McDonald, superintendent of the Minneapolis workhouse, is in Duluth with the members of the new work farm commission. This afternoon he went to the work farm site with the commissioners, and next Monday morning at a meeting of the commission he will submit his views as to the plans for the work farm and the opportunities offered for making it an ideal institution of the kind.

Arthur H. Crassweller, F. B. Myers and A. H. Silliman of the work farm commission visited the Minneapolis work farm Thursday. Through the courtesy of the board of corrections and charities of Minneapolis, Mr. McDonald was given leave of absence to return with them to view local conditions and give them his advice.

Mr. McDonald has a national reputation in his line of work. When he took charge of the Minneapolis workhouse ten years ago, it was almost run into the ground. Today it is practically self-sustaining. It is really a work farm, although the term workhouse is still applied to it. The site consists of 100 acres, and when Mr. McDonald took hold, not enough produce was raised on the land under cultivation to supply the house, which had a daily average of about 100 people. Today, with a daily average of 250 to 300, enough produce is raised on the same ground to supply the workhouse and the city hospitals, and there is some to spare.

A brick plant makes all the brick for the city of Minneapolis and a cement block plant for making sidewalk blocks is now being installed. The workhouse is more than self-sustaining and is regarded as a model of success throughout the country.

An Ideal Farm.

"I would like to see Duluth and St. Louis county establish the ideal work farm—or it should really be called an industrial farm," said Mr. McDonald today. "You have the opportunity. You have plenty of land. You have the people in the right spirit. Duluth will surely be a city of a half million people some day, and now with less than 100,000 people it should build for that time.

"The Minneapolis workhouse is self-sustaining. It is considered a good business success. But if it had made thousands of dollars, I would consider it a failure unless it showed results in better men turned out after their treatment there. We must always consider the men, and when a workhouse has the proper effect on the men who come to it, it is a success, and then only.

"I don't believe in brutality. I don't believe that punishment should be the aim of penal law so much as reformation. When I expressed the same views ten years ago I was ridiculed. Today they are the views of all advanced students of criminology and dealing with petty criminals.

"Duluth has a great opportunity here, and I am deeply interested. Any advice I can give will be gladly given. I would like to see the ideal work farm—the ideal reformatory—located here, and I believe it can be done if the mistakes of others are avoided."

"RUNS WITH CHICKENS"

Martin Monson Also Drinks, According to Wife's Report.

Running with chickens is dangerous.

Running with chickens and drinking booze is worse.

Running with chickens and drinking booze and being married is worse yet.

Martin Monson, a West end laborer, played the third combination, according to the police, with results disastrous to himself, very disastrous. Nothing less than a straight sentence of thirty days in the county jail was handed to him in police court this morning.

"He gets drunk right along and then he runs out with chickens," said Mrs. Monson to Patrolman Brouillette last night when he placed Monson under arrest at her request. And that was the report which was transmitted to the court this morning when Monson was arraigned in court to answer a charge of drunkenness, to which he pleaded guilty. Mrs. Monson also claimed that her husband mistreated and neglected her when he had been toying with the flowing bowl.

Monson has one chance to escape the serving of a month behind the bars of the sheriff's hotel. The court turned the case over to Probation Officer Frank Hicks, who will investigate it. If the report is satisfactory, and if Monson lives up to a promise to abstain from the wine when it is red and be a good and faithful provider and to be true to his better half, he will be placed on parole and later discharged.

An urgent summons brought the police to N. Smith's home in the West end in a hurry shortly before 4 o'clock this morning.

The frightened voice of a young girl came over the telephone wire conveying in broken syllables that a burglar was trying to break into their dwelling.

When the squad from headquarters reached the scene a few minutes later in the big Franklin touring car, they found Smith in a towering rage. He was drunk and trying to kick down the door because he couldn't locate the keyhole. It was his daughter who called the police.

Sergeant Roberg, Jailer Johnson and Patrolman Danielson put Smith into the police machine, struggling and protesting. In police court this morning he admitted that he was drunk. He got a straight sentence of twenty days in the county jail. His case is also being investigated by the probation officer, and it is probable that he will be able to retain his liberty under parole, with the sentence hanging over him as a reminder to follow the straight and narrow path.

Charles Niemi and Alma Homi were arrested on blind-pigging charges early yesterday morning at 526 West First street as the result of a cutting scrape in the place, according to testimony produced in police court yesterday afternoon.

Niemi was a sorry-looking specimen. He was cut and battered and bruised, as though he had been the backstop of a cyclone in a stone quarry.

When the fight broke loose another man, who was drinking in the resort, which has been well known to the police for a long while past, ran for an officer. Sergeant John Roberg and Patrolman Harling responded. Niemi was still in the room where the battle took place and was immediately sent to headquarters. The woman had sought refuge in flight. She was in bed when the fracas broke loose, but did not wait to clothe herself before she took to her heels. As soon as she heard that the police had been called she ducked in her barefeet and her night gown. After a search which lasted nearly an hour the policemen found her hiding in the darkest corner of the basement of a nearby house.

Both of them were convicted in police court yesterday afternoon. Niemi got a straight jail sentence of three months and the woman was sentenced to pay a fine of $100 or spend sixty days in the bastile over the hill. She pleaded for clemency on the ground that she had no other means of livelihood than selling beer. Her husband is now serving time in the county jail after having been convicted of the same offense.

Yesterday afternoon he was grabbed again, this time on a charge of stealing a suit of clothes from a second-hand store. Uusually Often is booked for being drunk or for vagrancy.

But Often will not show up very often for the next two months. In police court he admitted the theft allegation and in lieu of a $75 and costs he will sojourn for the shank of the summer at the county cooler.

David O'Neil has a nasty tongue when he has been consuming the stuff which is said to leave a dark-brown taste in the mouth, according to the police. The authorities say that he held forth near the union station late yesterday afternoon, heaping profane abuse on all who came within reach of his voice. In police court this morning he admitted that he had been drunk and disorderly and got $10 and costs or ten days in the county jail.

Frank Hill admitted that he had taken aboard a bundle which should have been handled on the instalment plan when he was brought in with the grist this morning. His partner said further that he had taken a ring, a purse and a hat which did not belong to him. He got $15 and costs or fifteen days.

The free lunch brigade, like the Phoenix, has arisen from its ashes. They have a new lease on happiness, for the petition for a referendum on the new liquor code has operated to suspend the ordinance. Had the petition not been filed they would not have been able to spear hot dogs after today. The free lunches can at least continue until after the special election at which the people will pass upon the measure which has their abolition as one of its features.

The instructions relative to uniformed policemen and firemen riding free on street cars has been amended. The men can ride on interstate cars provided they do not intend to cross the interstate bridge. It was first announced that they could not get free transportation on interstate cars, because of Federal regulations. Among other things Chief Troyer has directed his men to stand if all the seats in the car are occupied and not to pile onto any one car in numbers.

FIFTY MAY BE DEAD IN MINE EXPLOSIONS

Pottsville, Pa., Aug. 2.—A large number of anthracite workers are thought to have been killed in the East Brookside mine of the Philadelphia & Reading Coal and Iron company at Tower City, about twenty miles from here. Estimates of the reported dead run as high as fifty.

There were two explosions. Two bodies were recovered and the rescuers reported the finding of five other men, dead, and not a sign of life in the mine. A fire boss was taken out fatally burned.

Until the company officials look over their rolls, it will not be known how many men were in the mine.

KILLED BY LIGHTNING, OR MURDER VICTIM?

Green Bay., Wis., Aug. 2.—Officials here are grappling today with what they think may develop into a murder case, in connection with the finding of the body of Otto Koehler, a farmer on a marsh a mile from his home last night with one side of his head caved in.

Mrs. Koehler, questioned for two hours by Assistant State's Attorney Merrill, claimed that Koehler had been struck by lightning in the storm early Wednesday morning, but physicians say the wound in his head could not have been the result of lightning.

WAITRESS TRIPS UP ON THE MARINE LAW

Chicago, Aug. 2.—"I did not know I was committing mutiny on the high seas when I refused to do another girl's work in addition to my own," said Lillian Clarkson when arraigned today before United States Commissioner Mark A. Foote, charged with the violation of Federal laws.

Several weeks ago Miss Clarkson grew tired of being a stenographer in Chicago, and obtained a position as a waitress on the steamer North American, which plies between this port and Lake Superior points.

Capt. A. E. Johnson testified that on July 24 he was informed that Miss Clarkson refused to do her work. When he found her she was reading a novel. He advised her that if she refused to obey a command of the ship's master she would be punished for violating the Federal marine laws. When she heard this she consented to obey orders, but the captain said after he left she again refused to work. One of the other girls was sick and she refused to "help out."

"The captain is responsible for the safety of his passengers on a steamship, and the law says his commands must be obeyed," said Commissioner Foote as he held the girl to the Federal grand jury in bonds of $200.

GOES WALKING WITH GIRL; IS MURDERED

Traveling Salesman Is Thought to Be Victim of Jealousy.

Callatin, Mo., Aug. 2.—Edward Donaldson, aged 32 years, travelling salesman for a company at Junction, Ill., was shot and killed by an unknown man in a park here last night. The shooting took place while Donaldson was walking with a young woman of this city with whom he became acquainted Thursday night.

The young woman told the police that a man, whom she did not see distinctly, threw stones at her and Donaldson as they approached the entrance to the park.

Two shots were fired, the first bullet barely missing the girl's head and the second piercing Donaldson's heart.

The slayer escaped, but bloodhounds were brought from Chillicothe and put on his trail.

Donaldson was a stranger here. The young woman was born and reared here and has many suitors. The police believe that jealousy led to the murder.

Yacht Club Celebration.

Devils Lake, N. D., Aug. 2.—(Special to The Herald).—The Devils Lake Yacht club plan an elaborate celebration Aug. 6, "The Stampede," and a big program has been arranged for the day. The Devils Lake club is the only yachting organization in North Dakota, and it already has several successful celebrations to its credit since being organized.

MAJOR TALKS ABOUT GOOD ROADS DAYS

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 2.—Governor Major of Missouri, speaking at a banquet here last night, said Missouri's good roads days, Aug. 20 and 21, would be "the biggest and most stupendous two working days that this country ever has known."

"I figure the good roads days will be a success," he said, "and there will be an army of between 250,000 and 300,000 men in the field. The whole country is watching our efforts. Why, I have received a message from the manager of a Minnesota manufacturing company offering to send a tractor engine and four graders to our help. This equipment covers ten miles a day. I predict that the next legislature will pass a statute making two days out of every year holidays to better carry out the road work. That will be getting at the movement right.

"I want to be right where the work is going on this year, and I have arranged to visit three counties, Cole, Boone and Calloway, and render every possible aid during the two big days."

Governor Cruce of Oklahoma and Governor Hodges of Kansas, also made brief addresses.

BOGUS $10 NOTES

Washington, Aug. 2.—Warning of the circulation in the Pacific Northwest of counterfeit $10 national bank notes, has been issued by W. H. Moran, acting chief of the United States secret service. The notes, which are poorly executed and could be easily detected, are drawn on the First National banks of Bellingham, Burlington and Kent, Wash.

CUYUNA BERRIES HEAVILY SHIPPED.

Deerwood, Minn., Aug. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Northern Pacific railway and the Northern-Express company are co-operating to give the berry growers of the Bay Lake Fruit Growers association the best kind of service. The express company maintains at Deerwood a special agent, D. B. Newcomb, who exercises all possible care to see that the berries are shipped promptly and the cases handled carefully. The shipments from Deerwood amount to $1,500 daily.

Buttermilk Beautifier At Less Than a Cent

"Besides being so effective in cleansing, whitening and softening the skin," says Mildred St. Albans, beauty editor of Household Guest, "buttermilk offers perhaps the most economical complexion treatment. I do not refer so much to the liquid; in buying that you pay mostly for water. In the concentrated form of presolated buttermilk paste, however, this ideal beautifier is quite inexpensive. This is worth knowing, for while many would not mind paying a good price for such splendid results, the saving is a consideration just the same. Each time the presolated buttermilk paste is rubbed into the face, the cost is less than a cent. The little quantity I get at my druggist's lasts for months.

"I have found, by the way, the longer the paste is left on—whether on face, neck, arms or hands—the more thorough is its beautifying action. I always wash the paste off with soapless water."

REFERENDUM PETITION HAS 2,000 SIGNATURES

Special Election on Hicken Code Will Be Held in September.

Law Enforcement Not Issue, Say Backers of the Petition.

DEFICIT IN FUND.

Finance Commissioner Voss states that without further expenditures, the best that the general fund can do is to end the fiscal year with a deficit of $30,000.

The finance commissioner made the statement shortly after the council had received the petition for a referendum election on the Hicken liquor code.

The code was not being discussed, but the reference was pertinent in view of the assertions which had been made shortly before that the city doesn't seem to have money for good roads and beneficial improvements, but is anxious to call an election at the earliest moment on a useless ordinance which confers no benefits of any kind.

The cost of the election would come from the general fund. City Clerk Palmer estimates that the expense would be approximately $1,500.

Under the charter the general fund has a wide range and it has borne the expense of various kinds of improvements. Only yesterday afternoon an ordinance was introduced appropriating $502.32 from the general fund to pay for vault fixtures for the city hall.

In specifying the various funds the charter reads:

"A general fund for the support of such other funds and for the payment of such expenses of the city as the council may deem proper, into this fund shall be paid all moneys not herein provided to be paid into any other fund."

Containing approximately 2,000 names the petition asking a referendum on the Hicken liquor code was presented to the city commission at a meeting yesterday afternoon.

The petition was referred to City Clerk Charles S. Palmer to be checked as to its sufficiency. The clerk will certify that it contains the required signatures, 1,029, being equivalent to 10 per cent of the 10,286 votes cast at the last municipal election.

The council will then call a special election at the earliest date possible under the charter. This was plain from statements made yesterday. Commissioner Hicken was ready to offer a resolution calling the election not later than Sept. 20, but the motion would have been out of order as the clerk's certificate of sufficiency must first be attached. The clerk has ten days in which to check the petition.

Those favoring the ordinance are predicting their support on the grounds that the issue is law-enforcement or non-enforcement, a closed or a wide-open town. That they will campaign along that line is generally conceded.

The Opposition.

Those opposing the ordinance declare that the measure is a useless piece of legislation. The commission, they say, has ample authority vested with it to handle the liquor situation without adding any laws to those which were on the books of the state and the city before they assumed the reins of government. The commission can refuse to grant any license which it sees fit and is the court of last resource, no appeal being possible from its action. It is further pointed out that since the commission came into office the liquor traffic has been so well regulated that but little improvement is possible, while other questionable elements have been handled in an equally effective manner. This has been done without th aid of any new ordinance. The new ordinance they claim works a needless hardship on both saloon owners and cigar dealers.

If the petition had not been filed the ordinance would have become effective tomorrow, which, as far as the saloons are concerned, would have meant Monday. Since the petition has been filed the ordinance is suspended and will so remain until passed upon by a vote of the people. When the council again received the petition, with the clerk's certificate attached, it will reconsider the ordinance. The measure will not be repealed and the election will then be called.

The petition was presented to the commission by Attorney Hugh J. McClearn, who was called into consultation by the business men who decided to proceed with the referendum at a meeting held recently at a downtown hotel.

Attorney McClearn characterized the code as unnecessary legislation, as the laws are now being obeyed and the liquor traffic regulated. He declared that the signers of the referendum petition and the majority of the people favor law-enforcement and are standing back of the commissioners on that proposition.

"But when in its zeal to regulate the liquor traffic, the commission goes so far as to jeopardize legitimate business, it is reaching the turning point where public sentiment will not continue to uphold it," he said. "Instead of proceeding with the support of the people the council will be obliged to fight its way when that cordial feeling of co-operation is withdrawn. I do not wish to see the commissioners place themselves in a position where they will lose the sustaining power of the public sentiment which is so invaluable to any legislative body."

No Benefit.

Attorney McClearn pointed out that the new liquor ordinance can confer no benefit upon any one, either individually or as a whole. He stated that the petition asking that the ordinance be referred to the people is not a protest against law-enforcement, of which the majority of Duluthians approve, but a petition against legislation which unnecessarily interferes with the conduct of legitimate business in the city, working a hardship upon those who should not be subjected to hardship because of an unnecessary liquor ordinance.

Attorney McClearn emphasized the point that it appears that the city has money to spend calling an election upon a useless piece of legislation but has no money for improving the city's highways.

He referred to the statement of Commissioner Murchison that no street car line will be built to New Duluth this year because the city has no money with which to put the highway in condition for the laying of the tracks. He asserted that civic betterments of that kind will do a tremendous amount of good in aiding the development of Duluth and fostering her prosperity, and that instead of spending the tax-payers' money for elections upon ordinances which are not needed, the money might much better be spent for good roads or other improvements which will confer a benefit upon the municipality.

Referring to the petition, he said that the signatures have been nearly all secured in the last two weeks and the bulk of them in the last few days. He ventured that had the petition been out for a time longer it would have contained the signatures of at least 5,000 voters.

Calls It a Bluff.

Commissioner Hicken stated that in his opinion the petition is a bluff to hold the ordinance in suspension for two years, or until the next general city election. He declared that the council should not allow anything of that kind to be worked upon it. He favored calling the special election upon the liquor code as soon as possible, to demonstrate that legislation of the commission cannot be suspended for indefinite periods by merely getting up and presenting a petition. He added that to allow this ordinance to go over until the next election would be establishing a dangerous precedent.

Commissioner Merritt took a similar position, stating that he considered the petition a bluff. He said that he was there to do what the people want, but not what 2,000 of the people want. He hoped that those who signed the petition would be honorable enough to back it up. "That's where I stand from the word go," he concluded.

DON'T FORGET TO ATTEND THE SIXTEENTH ANNUAL PICNIC
OF THE
MODERN SAMARITANS
AT LINCOLN PARK
THURSDAY, AUG. 7th, 1913
EVERYBODY WELCOME

HERALD TRIPS ARE POPULAR

Attendance at the Weekly Excursions Has Grown Steadily.

As is its annual custom, The Herald this year has again made provision for three excursions a week at which the tired business man, the invalid or the weary housewife may relax and recuperate.

These excursions are held each Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday and the patronage given them this year is larger than ever. In fact each year the numbers of those who take in these excursions increase and eagerness concerning them is shown by those who have grown to become regular patrons. It is not uncommon for The Herald to receive telephone messages as early as May asking when the lake and river trips will begin. These excursions have now become a feature of the summer's list of pleasures.

Every Monday morning at 9 o'clock the steamer Columbia leaves the dock at the foot of Fifth avenue and goes up the ever beautiful and never stale St. Louis river to Fond du Lac, where the day is spent in the pretty groves and where there is swimming and fishing to be enjoyed. Many picnic parties figure on this day and trip for their events. The cost of the round trip, too is only 25 cents. The return is made at 6 o'clock in the evening.

On Tuesday afternoon of each week The Herald employs the steamer America of the Booth line to take an excursion to Two Harbors. This trip, which costs only 30 cents, is from Booth's dock at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, just at the right time for a business man to close his office after a weary day, and catch the boat for a bracing, cooling trip. The return is by moonlight and the boat arrives in Duluth at 9 o'clock.

Then each Wednesday morning the steamer Plowboy takes the patrons of The Herald's excursions to Port Wing on the south shore, leaving the dock at the foot of Fifth avenue west at 9:30 o'clock and returning at 7:30 in the evening. This is another trip that is taken advantage of by parties and whole families.

People intending to take these trips may take lunch baskets along if they wish, but they may also obtain their meals on the boat or at Chambers' Grove, when the Fond du Lac trip is taken. Tickets for these excursions must be obtained at The Herald office.

DEFICIT CAUSED BY BIG PAYMENTS.

Washington, Aug. 2.—Heavy disbursements caused a deficit of $9,682,682 in the government's transactions during July, as compared with a deficit of only $734,884 for July 1912. Total receipts for the first month of the new fiscal year were $60,231,524 while expenditures reached $69,914,206.

While customs receipts decrease $329,847 during the month as compared with a year ago, the deficit was caused primarily by the following increased expenditures:

Army, $3,684,000; navy, $1,433,000; rivers and harbors, $1,030,000; pensions, $1,680,000.

INCH AND A HALF RAIN IN MONTH.

Topeka, Kan., Aug. 2.—The month of July, 1913, was the second driest month since the local weather bureau was established thirty years ago. The total rainfall of the month was 1.57 inches. In 1887 the total rainfall for the month of July was 1.06 inches.

Kansas streams that have never been known to go dry are dry now. More than thirty Kansas towns have been compelled to shut off all water for lawns, and a dozen towns have hardly enough water for domestic supplies.

Sixteen tank cars loaded with water have been hauled from Topeka to Horton and other tank trains are in readiness to haul water from Wichita to Wellington. The Kansas river is the lowest ever known, standing at 3.3 feet. Central Kansas is hauling water for stock.

EIGHT DECLINE PART IN THE FRISCO FAIR

Many Governments Have Not Yet Answered Invitations.

Washington, Aug. 2.—Replies from thirty-five of the forty-nine nations to whom invitations were dispatched to participate in the Panama-Pacific exposition have been received at the state department. Twenty-seven accepted and eight declined outright. Among the fourteen governments yet undecided are several of the great powers of the world.

A curious feature of the list is the accorded acceptance of Canada, although Great Britain has declined.

The countries which have accepted the invitation are Argentina, Bolivia, Brazil, Canada, Chile, China, Costa Rica, Cuba, Denmark, Dominican Republic, Ecuador, France, Guatemala, Haiti, Honduras, Japan, Liberia, Mexico, Netherlands, Nicaragua, Norway, Panama, Peru, Portugal, Salvador, Sweden and Uruguay.

The following have declined: Bulgaria, Egypt, Great Britain, Morocco, Russia, Servia, Siam and Turkey.

LAND FRAUDS WORKED.

Oregon and California Lands Are "Located" By Fakers.

Washington, Aug. 2.—Advices to the department of justice of attempts to perpetrate wholesale land frauds upon innocent people throughout the entire West, especially in Oregon, have brought forth a vigorous warning to the public by Assistant Attorney General Ernest Knaebel and an announcement that the government would spare no effort to detect and punish the guilty parties.

Designing and unscrupulous persons, declared Mr. Knaebel, are making false representations to the people for the settlement, which is impossible at this time, of more than 2,000,000 acres of the so-called Oregon and California railroad lands, which the United States district court of Oregon recently ordered forfeited to the government on the ground that the railroad had violated conditions of its grant.

As the company will appeal, the issue will not be finally settled until it reaches the supreme court, and even if the government is ultimately successful, Mr. Knaebel added, no disposition can be made of the lands until congress passes special legislation for that purpose.

Representing that the lands can be procured by settlement, those engaged in the alleged fraudulent scheme are said to be obtaining location fees for their services.

The public is also being induced, Mr. Knaebel said, to make applications to purchase from the railroad company in order to acquire preference rights of purchase. The Southern Pacific railroad controlling the Oregon & California, has issued a warning that no money will be accepted by the company and no preference granted pending the litigation.

Prosecution of those guilty of the frauds has been placed in the hands of United States Attorney Reames of Portland, Or.

SEND EXPERT TO PEARL HARBOR.

Washington, Aug. 2.—Although the special naval board which examined the great drydock at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, decided that the structure could be completed, the navy department has decided to obtain the opinion of an expert civilian engineer before proceeding further with work.

Acting Secretary Roosevelt announced that Alfred Noble of New York would proceed to Pearl Harbor at once and will report the results of his examination early in September. This step was taken in view of the exceptional geological formations at Pearl Harbor, the navy department being desirous of eliminating all possible risk before authorizing a further expenditure of money.

FRANCHISE FAVORED.

Brainerd Council Committee to Recommend Granting Street Railway Boon.

Brainerd, Minn., Aug. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Minnesota Central street railway franchise, as amended by the council committee of five, has been approved by every member of the committee. The franchise has been framed to safeguard the interests of the city at every point. The terms of the franchise provide that the company shall begin the active construction of its tracks within one year after the passage of the ordinance and shall equip and have in full operation three miles of the railway within two years and two additional miles within three years after the passage of the ordinance. The people in general favor the proposition for, before George Reid of Duluth came to Brainerd the idea of a street railway had been agitated in the city for thirty years.

PARK TO LEAD AUTO PARADE

Winner of A. A. A. Trophy Will Have Car in Carnival Display.

High-Mark of Auto Visitors to Duluth Expected in August.

In the auto parade of this evening there will be some beautifully decorated machines, both of touring cars and of trucks. It is expected that this will be the best display the city has yet had and much interest is being taken in it by all auto owners, dealers and prospective owners.

One of the interesting features will be Dr. J. D. Park, president of the Duluth Auto club, driving his 1909 model Locomobile, in which he won the A. A. A. touring trophy in the recent run from the Twin Cities to Glacier Park, Mont. He will lead the parade.

The list of outside people who are visiting the Head of the Lakes and ranges in their motor cars continues to grow and during August will probably reach its high mark. Every day almost every garage in the city is visited by such tourists looking for supplies or some accessory.

The Kleyn Auto company at 529 East Superior street has been appointed direct factory distributor for the Hudson car, and has as its territory Northern Minnesota and Northwestern Wisconsin. The Hudson is "some car," and the acquisition of it has given the Kleyn company a pretty hefty list for competition in the auto business. The company is also agent for the Buick and for the Federal trucks.

The Twin Ports Oakland Auto company at Seventh avenue east and Superior street is handling the noted Krit car and points with pride to the fact that the $900 Krit entered in the recent Twin Cities to Glacier Park tour and driven by Frank Witt of Minneapolis made the 1,300 miles with a record as clean as a whistle, making a perfect score, and needing no repairs.

The suburban merchant, who formerly depended on the horse and wagon for his delivery facilities, is one of the best purchasers of motor trucks in the world. This is the opinion voiced by E. J. Filiatrault of the Mutual Auto Co., Duluth agents for the Willys-Overland cars, in commenting on the success with which the Willys utility truck has met since its introduction to the commercial vehicle field, a few weeks ago.

"The truck has revolutionized the business methods of the suburban merchant," he says. "A few years ago, when the suburban business men depended on horses and wagons for his delivery and the big business man in the large city nearby did the same, the former was content. He was getting his share of the patronage of his territory, regardless of whether his deliveries were promptly and economically made. But with the introduction of the motor truck, he saw his plan was a loser. His city competitor began to encroach on his territory, merely because the city man had doubled or trebled his delivery facilities by supplanting horses and wagons with trucks. Day by day the suburbanite saw his business dwindling. Even though he was miles nearer the desirable customer, he could not compete with the city merchant in the matter of delivery. The latter's truck would cover three or four times as much ground in the same time as his horse and naturally the select trade went to the man who could give the best service.

"But since the suburban merchant has taken to the motor truck there has been a change. He is now getting a large part of the profitable trade which formerly went to the bigger business man. And not only has he won back that business which geographically belonged to him, but the greater speed and economy of the power vehicle has enabled him to branch out to territories heretofore out of his reach entirely."

"In designing its latest line of six distinct truck models, the Kissel Motor Car company was governed by a careful and extended inquiry into haulage conditions and requirements, as well as by its own ripened experience," says J. T. Peacha, Jr., manager of the Interstate Auto company, agents for the Kissel.

"This inquiry disclosed a demand for trucks to carry slightly more than the tonnage range heretofore regarded as standard, and still not embody unnecessary weight or over-ample proportions. With the burden basis fixed at 1,500 pounds, 1, 1½, 3½ and 6 tons respectively, the Kissels have produced a line of trucks that has set the industry talking.

"The construction of these new Kissel Kar truck models corrects every important trouble that experiment and experience has disclosed. Each is a harmonious triumph of scientific design and mechanical craftsmanship—a truck which to the eye of the layman, as well as to the trained mechanic, is plainly superior. Kissel Kar trucks are good trucks, not alone because of their dove-tailing into a correct co-relation and balance.

"There is no other truck line offering the same range of chassis models—a vehicle for every need, with standard or special bodies, as desired. Underlying these merits in an understanding and appreciation of the special requirements in different lines of business that use trucks, together with the ability and facilities to analyze individual haulage problems, supply the right truck for the right job and take care after the sale that it gives maximum service."

The year 1913 has been an unusually successful one for the motor car manufacturers. From every section good reports are coming, and some of these messages are unusually enthusiastic regarding the future of the automobile industry.

"It has been the very best year we have ever had," says Charles G. Eberhardt, manager of the Duluth Cartercar and Metz company. "It has been even better than we had hoped for. There seems to be a fast growing demand for good cars—and this applies to every section of the country. One reason for the unusually good year is that the public has learned that the motor car is absolutely a business proposition which is going to stay—and which must be considered if one wishes to be modern, in his business methods as well as in his pleasures.

"People no longer consider a motor car from the standpoint of a luxury. They now consider whether they can afford to do without it, instead of whether they can afford to own it. People are today buying cars and paying for them, who just a few years ago would not for one moment even consider keeping a horse."

The Duluth Auto Painting company, located at 213-215 East First street, and under the management of M. H. Murray and Ed A. Furni, has at last given the vehicle owners of Duluth a paint shop that is on a par with any of its kind in the Northwest. The shop has a floor space of about 7,000 square feet. This is the largest floor capacity at the Head of the Lakes. The equipment is up-to-date and includes a dust-proof varnish room. The very best of work is turned out by this company. G. N. Leader, an expert of thirty-two years' experience in carriage and auto painting, is in charge of the painting.

An advanced feature of automobile construction sure to manifest itself in 1914 models is the crowned fender. Three or four manufacturers have already announced this feature. Others admit that they are now negotiating with manufacturers of pressed steel specialties with a view to installing crowned fenders if they can be assured of deliveries.

The crowned fender is a characteristic American adaptation of a foreign idea. It presents a gracefully curved concave section, following the round of the tire. Its shape permits it to be mounted much closer to the wheel than was the case with the conventional flat type. Both shape and position greatly add to the efficiency of the crowned fender, protecting the body of the car and its occupants from splashing water and mud.

The European body-builders hammered their crowned fenders into shape by hand. This method was out of the question for standardized American cars. But, says Len McNamara, Duluth agent for the Studebaker, Assistant General Manager Clarence H. Booth of the Studebaker corporation declared a year ago that dies could be devised which would make the work possible in the big presses. The task was entrusted to the executive staff of the corporation's plant 5. For more than a year the original set of dies, then designed, has been turning flat sheets of cold sheet steel into crowned fenders for the Studebaker "35" and "Six." In the time that a gang of European workmen would hammer out one set of fenders, one Studebaker press will turn out 100. And the Studebaker fenders are absolutely identical and true to design, requiring no supplementary fitting. Even the riveting which fastens the fender to its supports is now concealed by the latest Studebaker process, the result being an unbroken surface of glossy enamel.

Through 1913 the crowned fenders have become known as a Studebaker hall mark. That other manufacturers have followed along similar lines implies a compliment fully appreciated by the ingenious Studebaker workmen and designers who put Yankee ingenuity into the quantitative production of a formerly exclusive article.

NEWS AND GOSSIP OF THE AUTOMOBILE WORLD

The several transcontinental tours so far made by the touring information bureau of the American Automobile association have been more fruitful in immediate results than any similar trips in the history of motoring. These routes were not chosen haphazard, but choice was made after careful preliminary investigations, based upon close familiarity with the physical and scenic features of each, with due regard for reasonable directness, and the ability of the regions traversed to improve their part of the route.

Complete and exhaustive data was gathered, covering distances, connecting routes, altitudes, topography, weather at various seasons, general scenery and special scenic attractions, character of soil and proximity of road-building materials, condition of bridges and culverts, grades, contiguous vegetation or forests, density of settlements, distinguishing landmarks, proximity to railroads, telephones, telegraph and water, character of hotel and garage accommodations, and finally the sentiment of each locality for the improvement of its roads in general and in particular the special route covered. This was no light task, especially when coupled with work among the prominent local men to impress upon them the necessity for continual betterment.

Among the important results may be mentioned the forming of an organization to improve a state highway across Wisconsin from Milwaukee to La Crosse; the prospect of two distinct and different highways in the near future between Yellowstone and Glacier parks; the building of at least three good highways across the Bitter Root mountains between Montana and Idaho, where none existed before; the abolition of several primitive ferries, replacing them with substantial bridges; the certainty of getting an improved highway built across the Cascade mountains in Washington; the location of a new and shorter route between Salt Lake City and Ely, Nev., avoiding the discomforts and dangers of the intervening desert region; establishing a new and shorter route between Denver and Salt Lake City, and the formation of a vigorous organization for its permanent improvement; the discovery of a route through Nevada which offers splendid desert travel; and not of least importance, the stimulation of healthy rivalry between various routes, which will finally secure the building of at least four standard transcontinental trunk highways.

A 5-passenger National car has just completed a remarkable tour of more than 10,000 miles for the purpose of testing tires. While the test, observed and recorded by the testing laboratory officials of the Automobile Club of America, was primarily for ties, it is also an unusual demonstration for the National car. During the tour 495 hours were spent in actual running during the ninety-five touring days. The total mileage was 10,017 miles, with an average speed of 20.2 miles per hour. The maximum speed attained was sixty miles an hour. There was no effort made for speed, but rather a consistent steady grind. There was an average of 105.4 miles per day, over different roads and various routes within a radius of fifty miles of New York City. One fourth of the total mileage was made over city streets; one eighth over soft roads of bad condition, and 2 per cent of the total mileage was up steep grades. No shock absorbers were used. The car was kept under lock and key of nights. The test, for which this National car performed consistently with utter satisfaction, was made for Overman cushion tires.

Cadillac executives are convinced that the season just opening will be the most successful in the history of their concern and that, as heretofore each year, there will not be enough Cadillacs to go round, although production will be increased from 15,000 (the 1913 output) to 18,000 cars. They base this conviction on the concrete evidence supplied them by their dealers.

The Cadillac dealers have been stirred to this unwonted enthusiasm by the delivery of the 1914 demonstrating cars and by the impression made on the public. Ever since these cars left the factory the home office has been deluged with telegrams and letters of congratulations and importunings for deliveries. The dealers have not only expressed their unbounded admiration for the 1914 models and the advance made in motor car construction as revealed in the two-speed direct drive axle, but have reported specifically on the opinions of the purchasers and prospects. Somewhat similar situations arose in previous years, but never has there been quite such an abundant evidence of a motor car's triumph and that is why it is believed the 18,000 cars will fall far below the demand that has already been aroused.

Another important step toward the more definite and specific departmentalization of "Big Business," and one which marks another milestone in the rapid progress of Indianapolis as an automobile center, is announced. It is in the form of a million dollar company headed by J. I. Handley into which all of this man's individual holdings have been consolidated.

The new corporation is known as the J. I. Handley company, and will own all of the Handley interests in the American Motors company, the Marion Motor Car company, the American Motors Realty company, the A. & M. Sales & Service company, all of Indianapolis; the American-Marion Sales company of New York, and the American Motors California company at San Francisco.

The new company becomes the sole selling agent of the American Motors company, and the Marion Motor Car company, marketing all American Underslung and Marion models.

Word comes from Detroit to the effect that E. LeRoy Pelletier has purchased the Flanders Electric plant, equipment and stock on hand and will organize a company to continue the manufacture of this popular electric car. It will be recalled that the Flanders Electric was involved in the Flanders Manufacturing company, which concern resulted from the unifying of several concerns each making a different model.

Though the Electric Car always made money—in fact was one of the biggest successes in that branch of the automobile industry, it was involved in the difficulties of the present company when, as a result of the disagreement between Flanders and the Studebaker interests, the former though not actually insolvent was forced into a receivership. Associated with Mr. Pelletier is Don. C. McCord, former manager of the company and who will also manage the new concern.

Davis Breaks Record.

When Lefty Davis made four hits at Grand Forks on Thursday he established a new record for consecutive hitting, having hit safely in nineteen straight games. In these nineteen games he made thirty-three hits and his batting average for this run was .443. The best previous record was eighteen straight held by Schreiber of Duluth and Collins of Winona.

During the past week Grand Forks ended a run of ten straight victories, making a record, which was at once broken by Superior making eleven straight.

CHANCE WILL NOT RESIGN HIS CHARGE

New York Manager Denies Report Originating in Los Angeles.

New York, Aug. 2.—Manager Frank Chance of the American Baseball league club denied emphatically yesterday the report that he would resign as leader at the close of the present season. Chance was at a loss to explain the rumor which originated in Los Angeles. He stated he was perfectly satisfied with the present outlook for the team and the conditions under which he was working.

"I have not the slightest intention of resigning as manager of the New York club," said Chance. "Instead, I am working and planning to put a real pennant contender into the American league next season. It's slow work, to be sure, for I have to go into the bushes for new material and then develop it for the big league. Unless circumstances over which I have no control arise, and I know nothing of such, I shall continue with the New York club until I close my active baseball career.

"My relations with President Farrell are most harmonious and the support given both the club and myself by followers of baseball is all that can be desired. I am satisfied with New York as a home and baseball proposition."

RIOT CONSIDERED BY LEAGUE DIRECTORS.

Fond du Lac, Wis., Aug. 2.—As the result of the meeting yesterday of the directors of the Wisconsin and Illinois Baseball league to consider the Rockford riot, President Weeks gave out the following statement:

"We have the assurance of President J. A. Croon of the Rockford club that in the future umpires will be protected on the Rockford grounds and that there will be no repetition or possibility of repetition of the riot of Wednesday. This meeting was called in the interests of clean baseball. As far as the Oshkosh-Rockford series halted by my orders, those games will simply be stricken out. All talk of giving Rockford any satisfaction on account of their loss is simply bash. As far as a suit against the league for damages is concerned, I have'nt heard of any such purpose on the part of the Rockford management. Rockford is getting off pretty well as it is."

NEW YORK IS WARRING ON BASEBALL GAMBLING

New York, Aug. 2.—Frank Farrell and Harry Hempstead, by one wallop, put the gamblers on the run and have prevented public betting in the Polo grounds by heading it off before it started. This little ounce of prevention undoubtedly has saved pounds of cure in the future. As to the betting downtown, they regard that as none of their business—at least beyond their control.

The professional bettors who worked up somewhat of an interest by making a book on the games around the gambling houses in the Tenderloin found themselves brought up with a sharp jerk the first time they attempted to invade the Polo grounds. Tom O'Neill, the detective, who stopped them, says he had been tipped off from Boston that a party of the professional baseball gamblers in that city had started to establish a foothold in New York.

Gamblers Turned Back.

Backed up by Frank Farrell, O'Neill was on the job and recognized all of the men as they came to the gate. They were turned back as fast as they showed up and three special officers were stationed in the stands to spot any of them who happened to get by.

While betting on ball games in New York has never been public enough to be generally known, it has been a thorn in the side of the magnates in Boston and Pittsburg grounds, according to Tom O'Neill and the others in the "know" than all the rest of the cities combined.

In Pittsburg there is a place called Newell's at which odds were posted on the games for years. That form of betting, however, was not regarded so much of a menace as that inside the grounds. In the latter case the gamblers got together in a certain section of the stand and made bets on every play, openly shouting the odds.

In Boston there is a place back of third base and another back of first base where the gamblers get together and bet throughout the games. They have been ejected from the park on several occasions, but always have managed to find their way back and resume operations.

The New York fans have never seen this kind of betting and the owners of the club are determined that they shall not.

PHILLIES SEEM TO HAVE SHOT THEIR BOLT IN PENNANT RACE

Philadelphia, Aug. 2.—It came finally. Bugles have sounded, and Gen. Dooin's army, after nearly two months of successful campaigning, is in full retreat. The Phil partisan, who believed that the 1913 group was an exceptionally strong band and would keep in front, had a heat stroke before New York got through here last month.

The Dodgers and the Giants were the blokes that shoved Dooin's forces down the Alpine slide, says the North American. The result was a stunner, for the baseball tongs of this municipality couldn't see how the two greater New York teams could do better than break even. The majority figured on three conquests out of the four for the domestic forces in each case.

They based this prediction on the courageous way the Phils righted themselves in Boston after their losses in Chicago, the only snag they struck on occidental loam. Boston had made a wonderful showing in the West, but the Phils flew to the Hub and stripped Stallings' men of four straight. The local sharp may be pardoned if he pumped himself full of confidence over the record of his favorites in St. Botolph's town.

Phils Melted by Hot Wave.

Therefore, he was unprepared for the blistering the Phils received from Brooklyn and New York. The Phils were ruthlessly dumped out of first place, a position usurped by McGraw's men. They had filled the premier post in the championship brush since May 4, but the pace began to tell. The Phils struck a hot wave here and wilted.

Put the blame for the slide where it belongs—physical condition. The Phils went stale on their return here last Wednesday a week. They took the first from the Dodgers, but it was a game in which both sides scored heavily. The Phils won by brute force rather than science.

From that point on, the Phils withered like a pot of geraniums placed in Death valley. The players lost their spring, spirit and agility. Their batting eyes became beclouded. They lost the last four of a padded series with Brooklyn while fandom shrieked. When New York warped in National league park, the singing manager's team still topped the league by half a game. An even break would have kept the team in the lead.

The loss of the first game was the turning point of the series. It was important that the Phils should get the jump on their opponents, and for a while it looked like an easy contest, for Doolin's heavy whalers shoved Jeff Tesreau off the hill in jiffies. They had a lead of 5 to 0 in the third inning and then collapsed. They crammed more poor playing into one game than they have done this season. Still the Giants had to wait until the tenth to get the decision.

Defeat Had Moral Effect.

The breaks of Magee, Doolan and Paskert were expensive. That defeat had a great moral effect. It so depressed the Phils that they could never get going in the other three games. Improvement was noticeable Thursday, but the failure of F. Otto Knabe to insert a bunt in the tenth let New York take its second extra-inning triumph of the set. F. Otto tried hard enough to lay down the said bunt, but it's the way of a slumping team to have everything go wrong.

The slump has cost the Phils some of their partisans. The baseball fan is a fair-weather fan, and his enthusiasm is governed by the percentage table. Even when championship crews become backsliders, they are in for a panning from their clientele, and the knocks are extra violent for a skidding team that has never pocketed any championship trophies.

Just now the team is in need of encouragement. Brakes should be put on at once or the Phils will drop out of sight. It is not too late for the team to be redeemed. They are still close enough to the top to give the Giants a battle. Pennant hope has not died in Brooklyn or Chicago, and the Phils are higher than either of these two teams. The Phils will get going again.

One of Doolin's greatest problems is to get more speed for the Phils. The Phils have a notable army of sticksmiths, but run production is impaired by the large number of heavy-hoofed pathmen on the team. Few teams in the majors have as many slow coaches at the Phils.

This does not make fine reading, but it is a fact. Some of these base cloggers are too valuable in other departments of the game to be removed. The presence of one or two would not be so dertimental, but on the Phil team the fault is general.

The lack of speed is not so noticeable in any one game, but it amounts to a great deal in 154 games. The advantage of fleetness was especially noticeable in the series with Brooklyn and New York.

Bill Dahlen has copied the McGraw idea. He won't handle a new player unless he can run. As a result, he has built Brooklyn into a winner. His men are quick and alert and get the full value of their swipes. In running the paths, they jump into a sack as fearlessly as a man lying down on his leather couch preparatory for a nap.

All Giants Are Speedy.

Of course, the Giants are the premiers of the National league in swift pedaling. Every regular on the team is fast, fearless and a good slider, excepting Chief Meyers, the Indian catcher, yet in any critical moment McGraw quickly removes Meyers and sends a fast reserve man to run for the bulky maskman.

Speed enabled McGraw to win pennants in 1911 and 1912, and he is in first place today for the same reason. Consider the great advantage a team where its runners can score on nothing has over a team where runners are frequently retired at the plate trying to score from second on long or average singles.

Dooin is in no position to make any wholesale changes in his club this season. Had he the men, he wouldn't have done so, because it is not good policy to break a winning combination. Now that the team is in slump, he can afford to try out his extra material and see just how good it is.

Perhaps the best base runner on the team is a second stringer. He is Albert Dolan, the reserve infielder, who stole seventy-eight bases on the Rochester club of the International league last season. While the Phils need more speed than a watch repairer needs eyes, Dolan has held a bench post because there was no place to put him.

Dolan was tried in the outfield early in the spring, but he wasn't a success as a fly chaser, because it is not his trade. He is an infielder. The big question is, can Dolan improve on any of the four guardians of the infield? It's up to Boss Dooin to decide.

Without going into the merits or demerits of the little session of Queens-

MEYERS BELIEVES GIANTS WILL LAND THE FLAG

By John (Chief) Meyers.

Approximately half the National league 1913 schedule has been completed and the Giants are out in front. This happy state of affairs signifies a third consecutive pennant for the Giants. I will try to show why, with the race so well in hand at this stage, our club can go to even easier victory than we had anticipated at the opening of the campaign.

In the first half of the season we have more than held our own against all competition. We have proven vast superiority over the Phillies, the only club that has so far given us a real argument for the honor of leading the race. We fought and conquered Dooin's men single-handed; there was no assistance from the weaker clubs of the league that somehow failed to develop as stiff opposition against Dooin's men as they showed against us.

Brooklyn, of course, helped us out nicely on their recent visit to the home of the Quakers, but that little matter of four straight victories was just about due the Dodgers, who lost a great many games to Philadelphia through tough luck and by one run earlier in the season. At that the Dodgers, with their recent victories, have not won as great a percentage against Dooin's men as they have won from us.

For which reason I think no one will dispute me when I say that the Giants practically single-handed have stopped the Quakers. We handed them four straight defeats the last time they called at the Polo grounds. And we came right back with the same dose the past week in Philadelphia.

In the last eight games with them we made up just eight games gain. That cannot fail to have a very decided moral effect for the good of the Giants in the remaining games between these two deadly rivals.

Dodgers Are Troublesome.

I think the Phillies have been very effectively stopped. For the present at least we will presume to look in other quarters for stiffer opposition. Just now our attention is held by Brooklyn, a club that has caused us a great deal of worry so far and a club to my mind that is better fitted to maintain a fight through to October than are the Quakers at the present time.

Chicago will have a rather tough time of it in the East in the near future. Pittsburg is too far down in the race to cut any figure as a contender, while Cincinnati and St. Louis have been out of the running from the start.

McGraw is in a better position now than he was two months later in 1912. Last year our club encountered all its best luck early in the campaign, Marquarde went out and won nineteen straight games. Behind only average pitching our players slugged like demons, and, by running up big scores, gradually drew away from the field until we were leading by more than sixteen games. During all that time we never encountered a slump. Then suddenly things began to break badly for us.

Marquard, as the result of the terrible strain to which he had been subjected in his record-breaking efforts, suffered a complete reversal of form when finally he was stopped. He did not recover his wonderful effectiveness until the approach of the world's series. The good, old reliable Tesreau and Matty had to shoulder the pitching responsibilities.

Chicago and Pittsburg finished with a rush. Our lead dwindled away to about three games. The better the Pirates and Cubs played, the worse we seemed to slump. And I can tell you the daily worry of seeing that great lead fritter away was such a mental strain as few ball clubs have ever experienced.

Early Lead Wins.

Luckily for us the early lead we had piled up was too much for the courage of either Pittsburg or Chicago. These clubs, driven for weeks at high tension, finally cracked as we had cracked. We won the 1912 pennant before July 4.

The first two months of the present campaign we were in just such a slump as that which worried us last season. But in spite of it we always kept within easy striking distance of the leaders.

We hit our real gait on the first Western trip. What happened thereafter I need not mention. We have left behind us, I hope, all the annoyances of tantalizing form reversal and should play out to the end of the string a schedule worthy of a championship team. Lying back close to the leaders all along we have not experienced any of that worry which haunts a pace-maker when the competition is close.

There is no doubt that Philadelphia so far has shown the greatest consistency of any National league team outside of the Giants. But we have swept the Quakers from our path in two series without having in the least taxed our pitching staff. And in this important adjunct lies one of our main strengths. I believe that the Giants' twirling corps right now is the best in the major leagues.

We have five dependable pitchers who can work in regular turn now that Arthur Fromme has finally displayed that real merit which attracted him to McGraw. Fromme encountered a lot of tough luck when he first came to us. But he showed me enough stuff in our recent visit to Philadelphia to make me consider him a very valuable pitching addition.

Marquard was off color early in the season because he did not have the advantage of spring training. He is right now—as good as he ever was—and will be a great factor in the struggle. Of Mathewson I need not speak. Al Demaree has proven himself a pitcher of great merit. He is getting better all the time. The best proof of our pitching staff is the ease with which it has carried the club through a stage of double-headers without having to call very much upon its reserve force.

I have dwelt before upon the class of the combination as a whole. The team is better balanced in infield and outfield than it was a year ago. McGraw has great reserve strength in his infield. Shafer, Herzog and Grant can play well in any infield position outside of first base.

They showed their worth one afternoon in Philadelphia when all were used at third base. Shafer had two hits in two times at bat, and Herzog had three hits in three. Grant went to bat only once. He didn't get a safety, but only because Paskert robbed him of an extra-baser by one of his most marvelous catches.

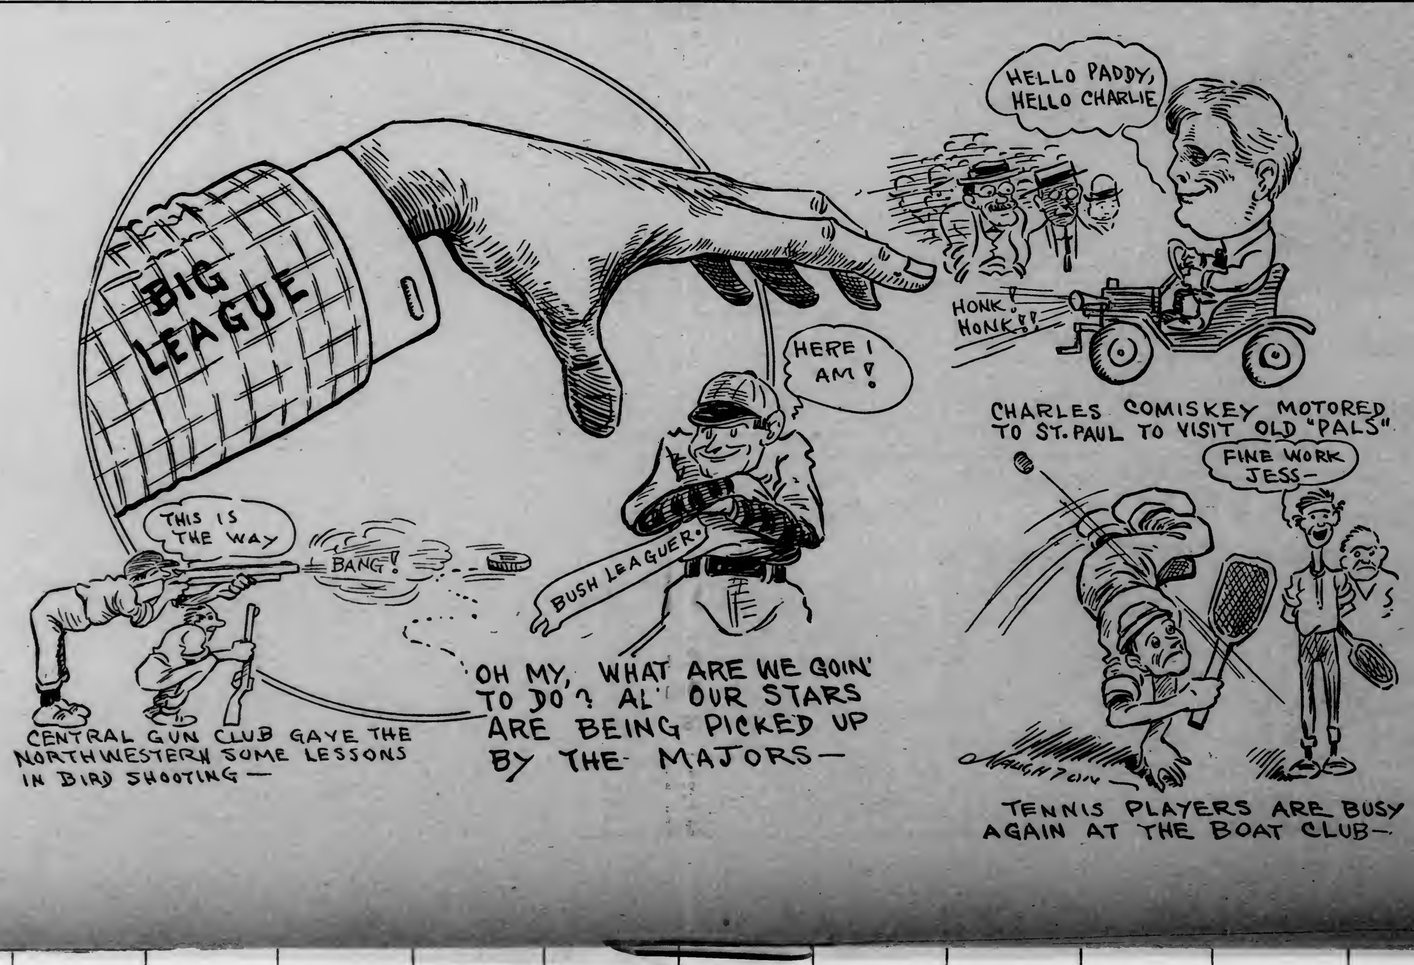
SPORTING EVENTS OF THE PAST WEEK AS SEEN BY THE HERALD CARTOONIST



berry between Ad Brennan and John McGaw, the Phils were the principal sufferers. They lose Brennan for five days at a time when the curving staff has had evidences of cracking.

Lynch Licked Phils.

Brennan licked McGraw, but Lynch licked the Phils worse. Had there been no suspension, perhaps it would have been a good thing for baseball had Brennan used his fists. McGraw has been posting forfeits for fights with players at catch weights ever since he has been in the game. He was one of the originators of the line:

"Meet me behind the clubhouse after the game, and I'll knock your block off."

McGraw has been getting away with this because most players have been in as much fear of him as a man-eating tiger. It took Brennan to unmask a second Bill Squires. Brennan is a native of Kansas where they don't go in much for repartee. If you insult a man out there, you don't get a counter insult, but a punch. McGraw picked the wrong man when he saw a mark in Brennan.

Of course, the fight is regrettable. It is the kind of incident that degrades baseball. McGraw, however, is more blamable than Brennan. He is 20 years older than the Southsider, and by this time should be able to control his tongue. It isn't a part of a manager's duty to pick side fights with opposing players. He should have more poise and balance than a hot-headed young player.

Imagine if Connie Mack during a game would yell at Ty Cobb that he was yellow, or shout to Tris Speaker or Walter Johnson to meet him after the game and take a punching!

The incident is regretted for McGraw's own sake. He is too competent a directing boss to resort to such methods of the Tebeau-O'Connor school. He commands the admiration of every fan for the aggressive and excellent way he directs his team. In his favor, it must be said that in the last few seasons he has been well behaved. He has kept off umpires and raised the standard of baseball in the National league. Let him also stop insulting opposing players and he will be a leader.

The effects of the pace are not telling on the Athletics for the simple reason there is no pace. The Mackmen are showing less strain than a second division team.

An out-of-town sharp predicts that Mack's curving corps will go stale. He declares Plank and Bender will buckle in two in August from overwork.

This critic has not been watching the box scores closely. The tall tutor has upset all traditions in lockeying his pitchers. He uses two and three pitchers every game and wins.

If Plank or Bender starts a game and gets off to a big lead, Mack quickly yanks him out and sends in a juvenile. The two reliable ancients are nursed along and saved every step. They have figured in a large number of box scores, but the proportion of nine-inning tasks is not so big.

The fact has not been commented on to any great extent, but Mack is revolutionizing the handling of pitchers. He is proving that it doesn't hurt a pitcher to use him every other day for short tricks.

NERVE AND CONTROL ARE TWO GREAT REQUISITES OF A PITCHER

When all is said and done, no team can win a baseball championship without good pitchers. A nine may be hitless and yet win, or it may display poor fielding ability, but in the last analysis it cannot win without at least two twirlers of better than average caliber. The statement is borne out by the records of baseball since the inside game was first studied; it will be true as long as the game is played under the present rules.

What constitutes a good twirler? The question is one that appears easy on the face of it, and almost any fan will answer, "One who can strike out the most batters and keep the hits to the lowest number."

Ten years ago that reply might have been all right. Today it is only partially correct, for with the advance in managerial capabilities there has come a tuning up in every department of the game, and the pitcher has not escaped.

Roughly speaking, there are two qualities which every pitcher must have to be successful—nerve and control. Without these, natural ability is worthless. Ed Reulbach of Chicago is probably the greatest natural pitcher of the day, yet he comes far below Mathewson, Walsh and Johnson. Why? Because no manager knows when he is going to lose control, writes Pyke Johnson in a Denver paper.

There are no examples of the spineless pitcher in the big leagues, few in the minors. Without nerve, or, if you will, confidence in himself, the best natural pitcher in the world would be an absolute failure. Hundreds of the type report every year. Hundreds are sent back to the bushes with a parting growl from the manager who had picked them as diamonds of the first water on seeing them in practice.

Depends Also on Catchers.

Given these primary requisites, much of the pitcher's success depends upon the catcher into whose care he first falls. To the twirler goes the glory, but nine times out of ten, it is the catcher who develops him, and it is the catcher who supports and strengthens him.

A crabbed backstop, who dislikes taking extra work on his shoulders, will use the fast straight ball time after time. A rally comes, and the pitcher is benched. A manager often depends upon his catchers for an estimate of the twirler, and he asks the cause of the rally. "Nothing on the ball," is the answer and, unless the manager happens to be different from the ordinary type, the pitcher's fate is sealed.

If it is not, and if the catcher is still desirous of "crabbing" the new man, he can do it quietly and effectively by snapping at him in the game, by crossing him on signals and in a dozen other ways which the fan will never hear about.

Presuming that the new man is so fortunate, however, as to fall to the charge of capable and willing backmen, the task set before him in making good is anything but a matter of learning to put the ball over the plate. It is an art which such a critic as Mathewson himself has said is never fully learned, though the pitcher may stay in the big show for a decade.

Almost the first thing he is taught is contrary to all the accepted ideas of the fanatic. He is told not to go after a strikeout record, and if he insists he is apt to be severely reprimanded.

The reason, once told, is simple enough. The youngster comes from an amateur team. Either through coaching or from his own experience he has learned to mow down as many men as possible, simply because he could not depend upon his fielders.

One Sharp Difference.

There rests one sharp difference between professional and amateur baseball. In professional ball the fielders are paid to get the ball. Too many errors, either of missing the ball or of failing to watch signals and being out of position, cost them their jobs. They are in the game to support the pitcher and they must do it. The pitcher, on the other hand, is coached to save himself and rely upon the fielders as much as possible. Schreiber, Harris and Wolfgang are striking examples of just that kind of pitchers. They are saving the "soup bone" against future years, and they are justified by all of the rules of baseball.

There is an exception to the rule, of course, and this particular exception occurs quite frequently. It is the case of the fast ball pitcher, such as Hagerman, Johnson, Walsh, O'Brien and Wood are of the same class in the big leagues. These men do not deliberately violate the rule, but they have so much speed that their delivery is more deceptive and the batter more frequently whiffs in a vain attempt to outguess them. They are usually the ones who obtain the strikeout records.

Once he has learned this first rule, the new man takes up the work of fielding, and there are few fans, and comparatively few managers who recognize the imperative need of being proficient in this branch of the sport. It was only last spring that Evers instituted a fielding practice for pitchers. Denver has been doing it for some years, but Denver is advanced beyond even majors in some respects, and it was heralded as a new idea by Eastern scribes.

As a matter of fact, the most successful pitchers are the best fielders, and the point can be easily illustrated right here in Denver. Wolfgang shut out Lincoln and had six fielding assists in doing it. Four of the six would have been safe hits had he missed them.

Sioux City beat Denver 10 to 8. Hagerman failed to back up third once and a run came in. Again he intercepted a throw from Channell when he should have been back of the catcher. Another run. Moran was slow getting over to first, Fisher made an error and three runs scored. Small things these, missed by 99 out of 100 spectators, yet absolutely final in their bearing on the game's outcome.

If a pitcher doesn't get a slow bunt toward second or third, it takes exceptionally fast work to get the runner. If he fails to back up a baseman on a throw from an outfielder, a bad whip means runs. We are reiterating, but the necessity of good fielding can't be too often repeated. The good pitcher protects himself, not by striking out men, but by good fielding with men on bases.

Learns to Be Fielder.

Finally, a pitcher becomes a good fielder and has learned to mix up his deliveries, varying strikes with balls. What then?

There are always two classes of twirlers. One of them is unnamed, the other is the "smart pitcher," and as such he is known wherever professional baseball is played.

The smart pitcher is of the Christy Mathewson type and Mathewson is the greatest of them all. He is the man who uses headwork as well as physical ability at all times. When a new batter comes into the league he studies him carefully. When the game is going along smoothly and his own team is leading, he tries him out on different balls, until he discovers the weak spot, which all save the Cobbs and Wagners have. Then he plays on that spot, judiciously mixing in other balls to puzzle the batter.

With the Cobbs and Wagners, he pits brains against batting ability. He tries constantly to deliver the ball when the batter is least expecting it. He does more than that. He looks first to see that his fielders are stationed where they should be, according to the catcher's signal. Then he tries to deliver a ball which the batter will be forced to hit to a fielder's groove or the place where the fielder can get it.

Often he fails and the man goes to first. There are no outs and a heavy hitter is up. What will he do, take a chance or walk him? The play occurs every day in a thousand games. On the Denver club he glances toward the manager's bench and receives a signal. The batter hits and a double play is effected. Again there is a heavy batter up and none on bases with one run needed to win. The manager nods and the batter, known to be slow on his feet, is walked. A chance is being taken that on the next play a double will be possible or that the runner will attempt to steal and will be cut off.

The fact that the batters are working on their side to outwit the pitcher, and that they frequently do, is again the human elements which injects interest.

Always the battle is going on between pitcher and batter, with catcher as first aid to the pitcher and the fielders as a secondary defense. The tightest pitchers' battles, so frequently a bore to the fan, are chuck full of them, and the game can be made immeasurably more interesting by trying to work with the pitcher and follow his attempts to catch the batter.

FITZSIMMONS A BOOSTER FOR OLD JIM JEFFRIES

"After looking over the 'hopes,' I may say that I haven't discovered a Jeffries in the lot.

"It's only once in a century that a man like Jeffries, as I knew him in his prime, appears in the ring. I think Jeffries the greatest heavyweight that ever lived. He was the strongest, beyond all comparison, and his great weight didn't take away any of his speed," says Bob Fitzsimmons.

"If Jeff was coming along today as he was when he fought me for the championship, none of the present-day fighters would have any possible chance against him, I know, because I've hit Jeff hard enough to knock out a whole fleet of them at once and he didn't even go back from the punch. I smashed him until I drove the bones of my hands back to the wrist joints and he pushed in and got me. His eyes were nearly closed and his jaw so twisted that he couldn't bite through a piece of milk toast for a week afterward, but I was just breaking my hands on him as if I'd been hitting that marble statue of Hercules in the museum at Naples. On the surface he was a pulp, but inside he was as good as ever.

"I expected to win when I fought Jeff the second time. But I knew what a man he was and I made up my mind that if he beat me I'd offer to teach him everything I knew and make him the greatest heavyweight that ever lived. I traveled with him for months, boxed with him every day, trained him for Corbett and he outboxed Corbett and played with him. That night he was the cleverest and strongest 220-pound heavyweight that pulled on a glove. There's no man in the ring like him now, and I believe it'll be a long time before we see another like him.

Always Boxed to Win.

"Jeffries always fought to win. He is as honest as any man that ever pulled on a glove. A million dollars couldn't have bought him. The story that the Reno fight was ever "fixed" makes me hot. Jeff, at his best, would have beaten Johnson in a couple of rounds, good as Johnson was.

"Jeff would have beaten Johnson at Reno even after six years out of the ring if he hadn't been doped. I know he was doped. I arrived from Australia and went right out to see Jeff the afternoon before the fight. We were the greatest friends in the world, but when I went up to shake hands, and wish him good luck, he stared at me as if he didn't know me. I thought he was giving me the cut, and I went away, hot under the collar.

"Next day I saw him in the ring, and I knew the moment he stood up he was drugged. I've been drugged myself, and I know the effects. A couple of months after the fight I went into a restaurant in Los Angeles, and one night saw Jeff sitting with a party in one corner of the room. Remembering how he treated me at Reno I tried to keep as far away from him as I could. He saw me, and coming to where I was, picked me up under his arms and carried me to his table. Weighed 210 pounds, and he lifted me around like a doll. He didn't have any of that bull strength against Johnson, because he was drugged.

"When he dropped me into a chair he leaned over and said:

"Bob, don't say a word. They tell me you came to see me the afternoon before the fight. I've been trying to remember it. Sometimes I think I can remember seeing you in a hazy sort of way. But I'm not sure. There's no man in the world I'd have been more anxious to talk to than you.

"I'd like to see another Jeffries come up. But I don't believe I will."

EASTERN BASEBALL MAN HAS PLAN TO POOL STARS

Would Have Clubs Build Teams By Drawing Players.

Strong and Weak Teams Would Thus Be Better Equalized.

New York, July Aug. 2. — Edward Barrow, the hustling president of the International league, is the original "Bull Mooser" of organized baseball. He is thoroughly progressive in his views and actions; and he wields the big stick with determination and foresight. Under his regime the International league has prospered greatly and minor league baseball in general has shared that prosperity.

To the untiring efforts of Barrow is largely due the fact that the three most powerful minor leagues are graded higher than had been the case before he assumed office. The more exalted rating carried with it any number of advantageous privileges. The class AA clubs are not only better protected in every way, but the new order of things made compulsory a revision of rating and privilege all the way down the line from the two major circuits to the most obscure "brush" organizations. In short, a new working agreement had to be framed; a more up-to-date peace pact, as it were.

Barrow has already done quite enough for minor league baseball to establish his name as a real champion of the cause. But he is not a man who is content to live on reputation. He purposes next year to inaugurate the most radical changes in the hope of solving the principal disadvantages under which the big family of the national pastime now toils. Barrow has the nerve to try a scheme which, if successful, is bound to do no less than revolutionize the administration of the game.

Will Draw For Players.

The players of the International league next spring will be pooled at the spring schedule meeting after they have all been put under contract. The various magnates will cast lots for first choice. They will draw for the various prizes of the circuit. Barrow believes that in this way and only in this way, will it be possible to distribute the talent as evenly as possible among the various club owners. He believes that such a course will result in a much better balanced organization. Then every team will have a chance for the pennant and that the resulting closer competions should prove more interesting to fandom in general and more remunerative to the magnates.

If the International league club owners have the nerve to indorse the scheme of their president, it will be at least assured a fine trial of the proposed remedy for many of the present drawbacks of the game. The experiment should be worth a great deal for advertising purposes alone. It would attract more attention to the International league than to either of the big leagues. The whole country would be intersted in the outcome and no one would watch the results with greater interest than the powers of the two major leagues.

Theory Is Sound One.

Barrow's theory appears a most sound one. So far it is only theory. If it would stand the acid test in the minor league it is a certainty it would be welcomed in the big show. There is no more discouraging element in the promotion of major league baseball than the seeming inability of second division clubs to secure competent talent. The New York American club is a very good illustration of this. In the last five years Frank Farrell has spent fortunes trying to build up a leading club. Today it is right where it was in 1908—away back in the ruck. All his money has been thrown away.

There is absolutely no sentiment in baseball. Not a rival manager would give Frank Chance a worn out bat bag if he thought it would serve later to help the Peerless Leader win a game from him. It is almost impossible to dig major league class from the bushes. Talent has to be developed. There is a dearth of material—not enough good players to go around. And naturally minor league clubs with something to sell prefer to do business with the successful major outfits not because the market is any better, but because of the fact that their stars are more likely to be turned back again at some sort of round profit.

The principles of organized baseball are quite sound and just enough. But there are too many loopholes for evasion. Even the roster limits are not conscientiously observed. In spite of the national commission's vigilance, wholesale "farming" continues. Every big league club has a raft of embryo stars "covered up" as an emergency reserve. Nothing can be done to stop it. Players who might help the weaker clubs are kept on the benches of the flag contenders or planted out somewhere in such a manner that they are safe from the dragnet of rivals.

Woman Golf Champion.

Chicago, Aug. 8.—Miss Ernestine Pearce of the Calumet club won the title of woman golf champion of Chicago yesterday when she defeated Mrs. J. G. Latimer of the Homewood club, 5 up and 4 to play, at the Skokie course in the final match round at eighteen holes in the woman's city tournament.

ARMSTRONG AND GRIFFIN

Minnesota Tennis Champion in Final Play for Western Title.

Meets Clarence Griffin of San Francisco on Courts at Onwentsia.

Chicago, Aug. 2.—Another perfect day favored the finals of the Western tennis tournament at Onwentsia today. The largest gallery of the contests, anticipating some tennis extraordinary, turned out.

Clarence Griffin of San Francisco, who has played brilliantly throughout the tourney, was opposed by Joseph Armstrong of St. Paul, whose improvement over last year has been a great surprise. The Californian was the favorite with a majority of the gallery, but Armstrong's following was not small. While Griffin is the better known, Armstrong has beaten State Champion Hayes and L. Harry Waidner, a veteran of many tournaments, who was outgeneralled. Both finalists are in splendid condition, withstanding their preliminary matches equally well.

Walter T. Hayes and J. H. Winston, state doubles champions, were to meet R. H. Burdick and Heath Byford, also Chicagoans. This contest was expected to abound in brilliant playing and the teams were equal favorites.

Griffin Proves Star.

Griffin upheld the reputation of his state yesterday by qualifying for the Western championship finals through a victory in his hardest match of the tournament over William Blair, of Lake Geneva, Wis., 6-2, 7-5, 6-2.

Armstrong yesterday downed Harry Waidner of Chicago, 4-6, 6-1, 6-2, 6-3.

Miss Gwendolyn Rees, of Dallas, Texas, and Miss Carrie B. Neely of Chicago, defeated Miss Edith Hoyt of the University of Chicago, and Miss Miriam Steever, of Chicago, in the woman's doubles by scores of 4-6, 6-2, 6-1. Miss Rees and Miss Weely thereby become Western women champions.

Miss Neely was a member of the winning team a year ago, being paired at that time with Miss May Sutton, now Mrs. T. P. Bundy. Mrs. Bundy is not taking part in tournament play this year.

Men's doubles semi-final round: W. T. Hayes and J. H. Winston, Chicago, defeated W. McCormick Blair and H. C. Gifford, Chicago, 6-1, 6-2, 6-3.

Heath Byford and R. H. Burdick, Chicago, defeated L. Harry Waidner and Paul Gardner, Chicago, 6-2, 3-6, 6-3, 6-0.

WESTON ARRIVES IN MINNEAPOLIS

Aged Pedestrian Completes Walk of Over 1,500 Miles From New York.

Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 2.—Amid the roar of cannon, the clanging of bells and the tooting of whistles, Edward Payson Weston completed his tramp of more than 1,500 miles from New York city here today. The aged pedestrian, by changing his plans after leaving the metropolis, has added 100 miles to his original schedule and has walked 1,546 miles. Leaving New York on June 2, Weston was due to reach Minneapolis on Aug. 2, but when he reached Stillwater, Minn., July 29, he was four days ahead of his scheduled time.

The veteran pedestrian was warmly greeted by city and state officials and by thousands of persons who lined the streets, when he arrived in St. Paul last night from Stillwater, Minn. He was escorted to a hotel, where he remained last night. Today he will lay the cornerstone of the Minneapolis Athletic club.

A reception in honor of the aged pedestrian will be held tonight at the governor's residence at St. Albans, a Minneapolis lake suburb.

TWO MOTOR BOATS ENTERED IN RACES.

Put In Bay, Ohio, Aug. 1.—Only two motorboats were entered in the principal race here yesterday, the Speejacks and the Shadow. The Speejacks, owned by A. Y. Gowan of Cleveland, won over the Shadow, owned by Carl Fisher of Indianapolis.

The distance covered was thirty-three miles. The Spejacks made the run in 1:07:31; the Shadow in 1:12:05.

In the Tender race, there were also but two entries. The protest of the

BANGTAILS ARE OFF AGAIN AT SARATOGA

Famous Track Is Reopened After Four Years of Idleness.

Saratoga, N. Y., Aug. 2.—For the first time in four years the streets of Saratoga were filled today with their old-time crowd, here for the opening day of the racing season.

With hotels already overflowing and special trains bringing additional throngs to the village every hour, the attendance promised to eclipse records. Every box in the grandstand had been sold in advance. The track has been idle since 1909.

The crowd was disappointed by the prospect that Whiskbroom II., the new world's record-smasher, would take no part in the day's racing. The great pacer is reported to have gone lame recently and it is regarded as improbable that he will race again this year. Six horses were scheduled to start in the Saratoga handicap.

Unusual precautions have been taken by the sheriff to prevent violation of the anti-gambling law. He has assured Governor Sulzer that the law will be enforced.

GOOD RACES ON CARD AT GRAND RAPIDS

Comstock Stake Furnishes Greatest Excitement in Grand Circuit Races.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Aug. 2.—The most featureful, although not the speediest, races of the week were staged at the Grand Circuit meet here yesterday, when the four events of Thursday's card, put over for a day because of rain were run.

Braden Direct, signalizing his first start of the season, won the free-for-all pacing event with little opposition in straight heats.

In the deciding heat of the 2:15 pace, unfinished from Wednesday, Mack Thistle, with Dean up, in place of Steadman, went to the post a strong favorite. Straightstorm, splendidly driven by Murphy, had the speed at the finish, however, and won by a good margin.

Six scored for the word in the Comstock $5,000 stake for 2:13 pacers, with Murphy's Frank Bogash, Jr., the favorite. Bogash won the first heat, hard pushed by Grattan Royal, and the second with Cabel as the contender. Leata J., forged to the front in the third heat, while Grattan Royal, knocking his knees together through the failure of his "spreader" gear to work right, was distanced. Both Frank Bogash and Leata J. broke on the turn into the stretch in the fourth, and Fox Prince won with Cabel at his flank. Leata J. held the lead the entire route in the fifth heat. Then, with all but the double heat winners eliminated, the California mare raced Murphy's good gelding off his feet for the decision.

The 2:10 trot furnished three heat winners, with Tommy Finch, the favorite, finally prevailing.

FIVE FINALS IN CANADIAN HENLEY

Surprise of Day's Races Is Defeat of Ottawa Junior Eight.

St. Catherines, Ont., Aug. 2.—The Canadian Henley opened here yesterday with almost perfect weather. Five finals were reached. Thomas Finley, the Don Rowing club sculler, won the junior and intermediate events. In the intermediate Finley had a hard fight with Neer of Detroit, the latter crossing the line three-quarters of a length behind.

The surprise of the afternoon was the defeat of the Ottawa junior eight. The Detroit R. C. had a hard time winning from the Dons in their heat, only getting home with a third of a length to the good. They are picked as the likely winners of the finals.

Summary:

Junior singles, finals, Thomas Finley, Don R. C., won; Harcourt, Argonauts, second. Time, 10:22.

Working boat fours, final, St. Catherines R. C., won; Grand Trunk B. C., Montreal, second; London R. C., London, third. Time, 9:44 2-5.

Intermediate singles, finals, Thomas Finley, Dons, won; W. A. Neer, Detroit B. C., second; D. M. Regan, Mutual R. C., Buffalo, third. Time, 10:00.

Junior fours, finals, Britannia R. C., Ottawa, won; Hamilton, second. Time, 9:16.

140-pound junior eights, finals, Argonauts, won; Hamilton R. C., second. Time, 7:47.

ONLY THREE MORE SUNDAY GAMES HERE.

There are but three more Sunday games at Athletic park during the present season. Tomorrow will be the last chance to see the Grand Forks club in action here this season. On Aug. 17 Winnipeg will be here for a Sunday date and on Aug. 24 Superior and the White Sox will clash in the closing game of the 1913 race. Grand Forks is playing some classy baseball, despite the reverses at the hands of Winona, and the series here promises to be interesting.

WHITE SOX AND BRONKS DIVIDE DOUBLE BILL

Duluth Wins Final 2 to 1 and Loses First 8 to 2.

Henry Clay Blancke Holds the Small Millers to Three Hits.

(BY BRUCE.)

Henry Clay Blancke, the poet pitcher and the pride of Duluth, came through yesterday with a three-hit performance against the departing Unglaubs, thus winning the second and final game of the series by the count of 2 to 1, after the faded-quilted visitors had won the first contest from us by the score of 8 to 2.

Col. Bob Unglaub is a great reader and a student of events. One of his favorite narratives of history is the story of the last stand of Gen. Custer. Before the game of yesterday Col. Breeze, as the noble German is sometimes called, gave a short, but impassioned, oration to his soldiers, and the result could be plainly observed in the playing of the Millers.

Following the winning of the first game, which was the first win in fourteen starts, the members of the visiting team fell on their knees and offered up devout thanksgiving.

Henry Clay Blancke deserves to have a cigar named after him. This is about the highest fame that man can attain to down here, since torch light processions have gone out of date, and some of the boys believe that the grave poet pitcher is amply deserving of the renown that comes from having one's picture on the little gold band that encases the Havana filled.

Unglaub & Co., got but three blows off the gild-edged flinging of the Duluth star. One of these blows was on the order of the scratch. Allen hitting one that Schreiber knocked down and then permitted to roll out of his hands when a force at second was possible. But the chance was a difficult one and the effort of the visiting comedian was chalked for a hit.

In no one inning did the touring Millers can more than one blow. The one score of the visitors was the result of two errors. Blanke pitched one of the greatest games he has flung here and goes down in the minds of the fans as one of the real stars of the league.

Farmer's Work.

Opposed to Blancke was Sherrin, who pitched masterly baseball considering that he had gone nine innings in the first soiree of the afternoon. While the Minneapolis flinger was not using a lot of stuff, he kept the ball where they didn't want it and with the exception of two rounds kept the blows of the Sox scattered, no two hits coming in any other round.

In the first session we gathered four hits in succession and failed to score. Percy Monahan pulled an ivory onion play that crabbed the count, and the four slams went for naught, three being on the bases when Schreiber lofted gently to Ralp De Haven.

Two double plays reduced our chances of scoring. Until the eighth round we only got three men to second base. Minneapolis got but two men to the keystone sack until the eighth, when the first and only run of the opposition was registered.

In the foreign eighth round Allen hit a clean single through the gap at second and then pilfered second, Sweeley's high throw permitting the comedian to go on to third. Moll let the offering of De Haven go through, and what looked like the winning run was over.

In our half Percy Monahan started things by going out, Sherrin to Unglaub. O'Brien worked the flinger for a trip and Smith hit a long single to right that sent the Orator to third, Doyle playing the ball badly. Menlees cracked one on the nose and it flew to Doyle, but O'Brien beat the throw home. McGraw singled to center and Smith came home when Sherrin deflected Handschu's throw and it rolled to the stand.

The First Game.

The visitors gathered twelve hits in the opening contest and won as they pleased. Brackett made an unsuccessful start, three runs being gathered before he was stabled, and then Montgrief Woods came to the rescue. Five more of the run things were poled off the port side flinging of the pride of Bottineau.

A walk to Unglaub and singles by Hanson, Briere, Allen and Sherrin and an error by Schreiber counted three runs for the Unglaubs in the second round. In the fifth stanza O'Brien erred on Handschu's ground offering, Doyle singled, Unglaub walked, Donnelly whiffed and Hanson singled, Handschu and Doyle. Briere came through with a burning single over the second sack and Col. Bob came home.

In the eighth round Allen hit the old pill over the left field paling and De Haven promptly followed with one over the same historic section of the fence. This prodigious feat of slamming ended the scoring of the visitors.

Our first run was gathered in the first round when that good and noble soul, Darby O'Brien, hit one over the inclosure. Our last came in the sixth, Smith doubling and being sent home when Menlees singled.

P. S.—She was one great day for Dook O'Brien. One of the great dreams of his life was realized when he hit the ball over the fence, and he supplemented this great feat by swiping a cushion on the peerless receiver, Nick Allen. Yes, she was one great day for the genial leader of the Sox.

MAROONS TAKE ANOTHER GAME FROM VIRGINIA.

Winnipeg, Man., Aug. 2.—Winnipeg had little difficulty in winning yesterday from the Rangers, the locals winning out, 5 to 2. Rhoades was on the rubber for the visitors and pitched a fairly good article of ball, errors behind him counting in the run getting. Four hits were bunched off Nelson in the final round, scoring the two runs of the visitors.

The score:									R.	H.	E.
Winnipeg	2	0	0	0	2	0	0	1	x—5	9	0

WINONA TAKES EASY GAME FROM FLICKERS.

Grand Forks, N. D., Aug. 2.—Toraason pitched great ball in yesterday's game and Winona won from the Forkers by the score of 7 to 1. The visitors played snappy baseball in the field and hit when hits counted the most. The errors of the home team proved costly while the misplays of the Pirates failed to count in the run getting. The score: R. H. E.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Matty Checks Slump.

Chicago, Aug. 2.—Christy Mathewson, the idol of the New Yorkers, went to Manager McGraw's assistance yesterday and checked the slump of the league leaders by defeating Chicago, 5 to 2. Mathewson held the locals to five hits, only two of which were bunched in the first inning, and he did not issue a base on balls. Whenever Manager Evers' men threatened to score, the New Yorker would tighten up and the runs would not mature. The visitors were playing like fiends behind Matty and spoiled many a hit by startling plays. Mathewson also fielded his position to the queen's taste in the pinches. Chicago tied New York when Shafer fumbled Saier's grounder, and Mathewson's wild pitch put Saier on third. Miller got a scratch single and Saier scored. Fletcher's steal of second base, following his single, virtually gave McGraw's men the game. After he had pilfered the base, Merkle tripled and Fletcher scored. The visitors added two more runs in the ninth, when they bunched hits behind Bridwell's error. Humphries retired in favor of Moore after Fletcher scored New York's third run. Score:

Easy for Phillies.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Aug. 2.—Cincinnati played weirdly in the field in the early innings of yesterday's game and Philadelphia won easily, 5 to 1. Alexander was master of the situation at all times, while the poor work of the locals placed Johnson continually in the hole. Egan was the worst offender, making errors on every chance that he had. Kling played poor ball from a fielding standpoint. Packard relieved Johnson in the seventh to allow Bates to bat for him after Cincinnati had a man on base. Paskert, Lobert, Luderus and Devore led in the batting. Score: R. H. E.

Win In Tenth.

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 2.—Jack Miller's double, Wilson's sacrifice and Simon's single gave Pittsburg the winning run over the Dodgers in the tenth inning yesterday. Miller's single and Wilson's home run gave the Pirates their other two runs in the fourth. Both Allen and Adams pitched beautiful ball, though Adams was hit rather hard in the early innings. From the third inning to the finish the world's series hero of 1909 was invincible. Wheat's double and Daubert's single gave Brooklyn a run in the second and Allen's three-bagger and Cutshaw's sacrifice fly gave them another in the third. Score: R. H. E.

Hess Blanks Cardinals.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 2.—Otto Hess pitched one of his best games yesterday, holding the home team to two hits, singles by Oakes and Cather in the fourth, and as a result Boston took the third game of the series from St. Louis, 8 to .

Willie Doak, who pitched a good game against New York this week, worked for the home team today and was hit hard while his support was weird, his teammates making three errors of commission and numbers of the omission sort. Hess hit a home run over the right field seats with a man on base. Score: R. H. E.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Athletics Lose Another.

Philadelphia, Aug. 2.—St. Louis won its second successive game from Philadelphia yesterday, 5 to 3, by a batting rally in the sixth inning. Play was stopped in the eighth owing to darkness. In the sixth the visitors scored four runs on doubles by Balenti and Pratt, Williams' single, Brief being hit by a pitched ball and errors by Barry and Collins, the latter's misplay being a wild throw to the plate which permitted Williams and Brief to score on an attempted double steal. The visitors scored another run in the seventh on a pass to Lavan, Mitchell's sacrifice, Shotten's single and a wild throw by Schang when Shotten stole second. Mitchell was very effective except in the fourth inning, when the home team bunched three hits with three errors and scored three runs. The score: R. H. E.

St. Louis	0	0	0	0	0	4	1	0	0	6	4

Batteries—Mitchell, Hamilton and Alexander; Shawkey, Bender and Schang. Umpires—Evans and Hildebrand.

Senators Are Defeated.

Washington, Aug. 2.—Detroit batted Groom hard in one inning yesterday and with Lake pitching air-tight ball, the result was never in doubt, Detroit winning easily, 9 to 3. Washington used three pitchers in an effort to stop the visitors, but only one of them, Harper, a recruit, met with any success. He allowed only one hit in the four innings that he was on the mound, struck out four and gave one base on balls.

Groom started for Washington, but was forced to retire with one out in the third inning, after Detroit had scored four runs. Gallia then took up the pitching with two men on, and Moriarity scored both with a single. He lasted until the opening of the sixth, when Harper went in. Score:

Detroit	0	0	6	0	1	0	2	0	0—9	10	4
Washington	1	0	0	1	1	0	0	0	0—3	7	2

Naps Score Victory.

Boston, Mass., Aug. 2.—Several hundred members of the Boston lodge of Elks, who attended yesterday's game as the guests of President McAleer of the local team, saw Cleveland defeat Boston, 6 to 2. The visitors batted Leonard hard and in the third inning he was taken out. Errors by Gardner and Manager Carrigan were indirectly responsible for three of the visitor's runs.

Cullop allowed but three local players to reach first base after the third inning. Score: R. H. E.

AMERICAN ASSN.

Play Twelve Innings.

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 2.—Two bases on balls in the twelfth inning of yesterday's game proved the undoing of Frank Davis and enabled Louisville to win a spectacular game from Columbus, by the score of 4 to 3. Niehoff and Hulswitt walked and Weinberg bunted to Miller, Niehoff beating the throw to third. Clemons then smashed the ball over Jones' head, bringing in the winning run. The Senators tied the count in the ninth on a triple by Benson and a double by Eayres. When Hinchman started the tenth with a triple Powell was replaced by Louderville, who held Columbia safe. Shelton tripled in the eleventh but was thrown out when he tried to make it a home run. The score: R. H. E.

Columbus	0	1	0	0	0	1	0	0	1—3	12	1

Hens Win Loose Game.

Toledo, Ohio, Aug. 2.—Toledo won a loosely-played game here yesterday afternoon by a ninth inning rally in which it scored the tying and winning runs of a 4 to 3 battle. In the ninth, Kirk was hit, Brady sacrificed, Gardner singled, Reilly dropped Bluhm's fly; Kirk scoring and Devogt hit to the right field wall, Gardner coming home. Collamore pitched well until the eighth, when he showed a streak of wildness. All of the visitors' runs were due to his poor support. Toledo men were on the bases in every inning, save the fifth, no less than fifteen perishing on the bases during the contest. The score: R. H. E.

Toledo	0	1	0	0	0	1	0	2	0—4	11	4
Indianapolis	0	0	0	0	2	0	0	1	0—3	4	3

Brewers Best Millers.

Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 2.—Comstock's wild throw to catch Randall at the plate in the first inning allowed two men to score and lost him a pitchers' battle with Slapnicka yesterday, Milwaukee winning, 2 to 1. After Altizer drove the ball over the right filed fence, Minneapolis could not find Slapnicka's pinches, while Comstock held Milwaukee safe after the first. The score: R. H. E.

MOTHER AND SON IN SWIMMING RACE.

Mrs. Lydia Bacheller entered her name in the marathon yesterday. Her son Carey, 21 years old, has had his entry in for several weeks.

Mrs. Bacheller never swam until eight years ago, taking lessons in Lake La Jolla, near San Diego, Cal. That same season she swam across the bay at San Diego in a strong, sea-wise current that overcame many men swimmers in the race.

PATROL-AMBULANCE REACHES THE CITY.

The new patrol-ambulance purchased by the city for the police department, has arrived and was tried out yesterday afternoon by Chief Troyer and several citizens. The chief expressed himself as wholly pleased with it and says that the machine is not only all that was claimed for it but more. The machine was purchased by the Interstate Auto company and is a Kissel of the latest type and with a specially designed body for the work. It will be used as an ambulance or as a patrol, and it rides so easily that one inside cannot feel a jar, and a person lying on the stretcher feels no shaking at all. From the outside the car is a beauty and will attract a good deal of attention when it is in use on the streets.

A letter from William M. Hodgkin of Boston to the Kissel Kar, purchased on June 5, 2,550 miles on an expenditure of nine cents, exclusive of fuel. The car has averaged thirteen miles to a gallon of gasoline, although Mr. Hodgkin's travels have taken him principally over sandy and mountainous roads.

Mr. Hodgkin tells of pulling one 60 horse power car out of the sand and of beating another equally high powered car by more than an hour in a fifty-six mile up-hill run. "We have forded water to our hubs and mastered sand roads that had proved impassable to many more expensive cars," concludes Mr. Hodgkin.

George M. Winslow, a piano dealer of Waukesha, Wis., is a recent highly pleased convert to the sound theory that motor delivery is distinctly worth exploiting. Since Mr. Winslow bought a 1,500 pound Kissel Kar a few months ago, he has kept that fact persistently featured in his local newspaper advertisements with what he declares to be highly satisfactory results. He has found that people generally appreciate the superior reliability and speed of motor delivery and are tempted to make their purchases from merchants employing it.

As an indication of the constant improvement of the automobile business, the Willys-Overland company of Toledo, Ohio, points to the record established by its Denver distributor, the Overland Auto company during the season of 1913. The western concern's original order for 1913 Overlands called for 400 cars, but within a very short time after the announcement of the model this was increased to 500, with a request that if possible, it was to be allowed 100 additional cars. Because of the great demand for Overlands the extra allotment could not be made. On July 4 the factory received word from Denver to the effect that but twenty-three of the 500 Overlands delivered, remained unsold.

Brainerd, Minn., Aug. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Pluto ball club of French Lick, Ind., known as the Red Devils, and composed of colored players, defeated Brainerd by a 5 to 0 score in a nine-inning evening game.

ALL ABOARD FOR BOSTON

Big Rowing Squad Will Leave Sunday for the National.

Ten Eyck May Sign a Three-Year Contract With Club.

Today the members of the Duluth Boat club rowing squad are busily engaged in getting ready for the departure tomorrow evening for Boston. The big squad of oarsmen, numbering some twenty-three men, will leave over the Northwestern for the national at an early hour. A special car will carry the eights and fours and all of today "Jack" and the rest of the gang will be packing the shells.

It can be said that Duluth is confident of winning one of the big national championships. But the people here should realize that the local crews are going up against the very class of the country; the very best of the rowing men of the United States and possibly Canada.

Duluth looks primed for the intermediate eight event. This is the contest the junior eight will start in. The junior four will also row in the intermediate four event and it is probable that the same four will start in the senior championship four event, and that the junior eight will row in the championship eight event in addition to the intermediate race.

Duluth is sending away the finest squad of oarsmen ever developed here and perhaps ever developed in the Northwest. It is a squad that every loyal citizen of the city should be proud of, and it is a bunch of men that should compare with the very best in all the vast reaches of the country. On the eve of the departure of the crews it might be well to state that it is probable that James E. Ten Eyck, Jr., who is the man who has made this city one of the great rowing centers of the country, will probably sign a three-year contract with the boat club.

The son of one of the most famous coaches in the world has proved a worthy chip of the old block. Ten Eyck's work here has stamped him as one of the geniuses of the rowing game. He has taken material that trailed in last with monotonous regularity during the lan years and has moulded it into winning crews. Where Duluth was a joke in the rowing world he has made the boat club the big bear of the Northwestern Intenational Rowing association.

It is expected that there will be a large number of the members of the club down to the station tomorrow evening to give the oarsmen the proper kind of a send off. The boys deserve lavish cutting for lean years and has more than any collection of oarsmen in the history of this old town.

SECOND ROUND BEING PLAYED

Connor won from Becher yesterday in the boat club tennis tournament, 6-1, 2-6, 6-4. This was perhaps the best match of the day. Lonegren defaulted to Tufty, Dickerman failed to appear for his game with Courtney, Cheney also defaulted to Falk, and H. S. McGregor to Kincaid.

Cerf lost to Grady, 6-2, 6-2 in the second round and Falk went into the second round by the defeat of Lynam, 6-2, 7-5.

There are some very good games on for all of today and it is expected that the play will get down near the fours.

Lid for Cavalier County.

Langdon, N. D., Aug. 2.—(Special to The Herald).—Cavalier county city mayors and police officers must enforce the new anti-gambling law or suffer removal from office, State's Attorney G. Grimson having given notice of his intention to strictly enforce the measure, and he urges all other police officials to do likewise, citing the new officer removal law as sufficient reason for ready action.

The reception at the King's Daughters Day Nursery in the Patrick factory on Thursday afternoon and evening drew about 500 men and women interested in the work to their attractive rooms where babies and little children under the age of 3 years will be cared for during the absence of mothers who work. The college tea at the Spalding hotel Wednesday afternoon interested about ninety women who are planning for the College day celebration next Saturday and every afternoon and evening has been marked by prominent social affairs, at homes, at the country club and the various houses of the boat club.

Club women are beginning to be actively interested in the work for the coming year and committees are meeting to outline programs and finish preliminary work. The Women's Council held an interesting meeting yesterday morning, at which it was decided to form a branch of the National Housewives league in Duluth, and other business of interest was transacted.

The coming week promises as much of interest as the past one with a lot of entertaining for visiting people and the big College day celebration on Saturday to wind up with.

"Ceres and Proserpine."

Scene—The valley of Enna in the island of Sicily—B. C.

Ceres, the goddess of seed and harvest, lived in this beautiful valley of Enna, where the grass was always green and the flowers always in bloom. One day Proserpine, the little daughter of Ceres, was playing in the meadows of Enna. She and her little playmates were gathering flowers playing ball and were very happy and gay. Suddenly Proserpine saw a flower which made her forget everything else. She must have it. She called to her playmates to come see this beautiful flower; then she noticed the other children had gone on without her and that she was alone. But she must have this wonderful flower. So she runs quickly forward and tries to break the stem; finding she can't do this she makes a great effort to pull it up by the roots. There is an awful noise. Pluto, the king of the lower regions, appears. He carries Proserpine off to his own kingdom.

Ceres was far away across the seas. She heard her little daughter scream and came rushing across the water and with the nymphs she calls and searches for Proserpine. But she cannot find her. Ceres mourns the loss of her child. Hecate, the daughter of night, comes to beg Ceres to go with her to ask Helios, the sun god, where Proserpine is. Together they visit Helios, who tells Ceres that Pluto has taken Proserpine to his own kingdom.

Scene II. A dark cave.

Ceres is sorrowing for her child. Jupiter sends Iris, Juno's messenger, (who is the rainbow personified), to persuade Ceres to forget her sorrow. But she will not be comforted. The grains all wither away, the grass turns brown and the olive orchards drop their leaves. Without the Earth-Mother's attention there could be no life on the earth. So Jupiter sends Mercury to Pluto to ask that Proserpine may come to visit her mother, Ceres. Pluto allows her to go for a short while and there is rejoicing.

"Echo and Narcissus."

Scene. A forest.

Echo was a nymph, who talked too much.

One day she spoke rudely to the great Juno, who said that for this offense Echo should never use her voice again, except to repeat the last word of others. Echo was very much ashamed and hid herself in a forest. Narcissus, a beautiful youth, hunted in this forest. Echo peeping out from behind her tree often saw Narcissus and admired him very much. One day Narcissus heard a rustling among the leaves. He called out, "Who's here?" "Here," answered Echo. "Here I am. Come," said Narcissus. "I am come," said Echo, and came out from among the trees. Narcissus, seeing a stranger instead of a friend, walked quickly away. After this Echo went back to her tree and never came out again.

"Narcissus."

Scene. A forest, in the midst of which there is a spring.

Narcissus, a beautiful Greek youth, had a twin sister. This sister died. Narcissus would sit by a spring and dream of his beautiful sister. One day when at the spring he sees his own reflection in the water. He thinks it is his sister, come back to him. He dances for joy; throws her kisses. Suddenly he hears a noise. It alarms him. He can see the vision fading. He searches the water. Sorrowfully he leaves. The gods feel sorry for him and change him into a flower. This was the first Narcissus. All these flowers bend their heads and look at the reflection of their own beautiful faces in the water.

f. Posidippus. (P. 253.) Rome, Vatican museum.

"Psyche and Cupid."

Scene. The valley of Enna.

A certain king had three daughters who were known far and wide for their beauty. The most beautiful of all was the youngest, Psyche.

Venus, the goddess of beauty, was much vexed that anyone should be considered so beautiful as Psyche. And her jealousy is excited. Venus sends her son, Cupid, to wound Psyche with one of his arrows, so that she will be inspired to love some ordinary person. He comes upon her while she is dancing, is caught by her charms, and wounds himself. Venus then decrees that Psyche must be dressed like a bride, carried to a lonely rock and left to die. The Zephyrs here take pity on Psyche and blow her to a bed of violets, where she falls asleep. She dreams she has a most wonderful lover but that she must make a vow never to look at this lover with her mortal eyes or else he will leave her forever. She hears her lover talking to her, but she remembers she is under a vow not to look at him. Taunted for this by her sisters, who come to visit her, she determines to look at this mysterious person when he is asleep. She comes in while Cupid is sleeping—she sees how beautiful he is—she pricks herself with one of his arrows and falls in love with him. Cupid awakes. Seeing that she has broken her vow, he is reproachful, and vanishes. Venus now imposes on Psyche many more troubles. At last she must fetch a box for her from Hades, which curiosity makes Psyche open on the way and the scent escaping from it overpowers her. Cupid here comes to her aid, implores Jupiter in her behalf, and with his consent she is brought to Mt. Olympus, where she lives forever with Cupid.

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

A Little Sermon on Judging Not, for Women and Others.

It is one of the easiest things on earth to do—to judge—and apparently one of the hardest things on earth to refrain from doing, especially for my own sex.

No, I am not over critical of women, as I fancy I hear some of my readers say, but I believe when it comes to gossiping and to judging the motives of others, the women who indulge the practice outnumber the men.

Many of the acts of our daily lives—and this means every one of us—are open to more than one interpretation, one bad and one good. Some of these acts, that of themselves are perfectly void of any ill intent, and may be even gracious and kindly, may be twisted into something quite the contrary by an unfriendly eye and an evil tongue.

I heard a man friend of mine once say that he sometimes got disgusted with women because of their readiness, and even eagerness, to judge of the actions of others of their own sex. There are a lot of women, he declared, who, because they are plain and unattractive themselves, or because they have always been shielded from the world, do not know what temptation is, because they have never been subjected to it. And yet when some poor girl makes a mistake, their glib tongues are ready with a cut and jibe, and they immediately pass judgment and consign her to that bourne outside the pale of respectability.

My friend was quite right. And these women, who are so quick to judge, might yield to temptation sooner than the ones whom they so glibly condemn, if they were tried and tested. None of us knows just how much of a test we can stand until we are put through the fire.

It is not fair to judge of another's acts just from the acts themselves. Motives, circumstances, temptations, natural weaknesses and human nature must always be taken into account. We would do well to ask ourselves, before passing adverse judgment upon the acts of others, how well we would have done in their place. There are few of us who escape the tongue of the gossip at one time or another. If we are generous and kind and slow to believe ill of others when it is noised about, then we can expect others to do likewise by us when we become victims of the serpent's tongue.

Many lives have been blighted by hasty and unjust judgment pronounced by women upon members of their sex.

COUNTRY FAIR IS PLANNED

Baby Show, White Elephant, Auction, Midway, Greased Pig Chase and Other Comedy Stunts in King's Daughters' Entertainment.

The King's Daughters are planning a program for their country fair, which they will hold on Wednesday, Aug. 13, on London road at Thirteenth avenue east, which promises to excel that of last year and their success last year was unqualified.

The attendance last year was a surprise and they were unprepared to accommodate all who attended, but this year they will be prepared, and several big features have been worked up, the nature of which is being kept a secret, but when those in chrage tell about them, their enthusiasm almost leads them to divulge it.

There will be the baby show, of course, and all babies 2 years old or under may be entered. There will be impartial judges and prizes of special value, and all mothers are invited to bring their little ones for a chance in the contest.

The gates of the fair grounds will be opened at 10 o'clock in the morning and the entries in the baby contest should be made early.

A French market will also be one of the big features and a picnic lunch will be served there for those who care to stay through for the evening's attractions.

The Cubists' show is another feature which promises to be especially attractive and the crazy kitchen, white elephant auction, and many other features will divide honors. Among other things planned is a country store, where really useful articles are sold at ridiculously low prices; the ducking pool, pony rides, Midway, with fifteen attractions, waffle and coffee stand, lemonade booth, candy booth, where fresh candy will be made during the day; a merry-go-round, and other surprise attractions.

During the afternoon there will be a slippery-pole climbing contest and a greased pig chase.

CLUBS AND MUSICAL

YEAR'S PROGRAM.

Samaritans Will Do Social Center Work.

DULUTH council, No. 3, Modern Samaritans, expects to do its share in the promotion of social center work in Duluth the coming year.

At the last meeting a committee composed of sixteen members was appointed to outline a social program for the coming fall and winter. The committee met on Thursday evening to prepare a report to be submitted at the meeting of the council next Monday evening at the K. P. hall.

The report covers a period from Sept. 1, 1913, to June 1, 1914, and some special entertainment is provided for every Monday evening during that period. Among the features provided are a minstrel show, musical comedy, basket social, mock trial, grab bag party, advertising social, oyster supper, turkey supper, home talent play and fair and street carnival.

Besides this a series of national entertainments have been provided for. Each of the following nationalities will furnish a special program: American, German, French, English, Swedish, Scotch, Norwegian, Irish, Jewish and Welsh. A special committee has been charged with the responsibility of each of these entertainments.

The program is the most ambitious that has ever been undertaken by any of Duluth's lodges. Duluth council, however, made a remarkable record for social activities, as well as increase in membership since it was organized on Dec. 30, last, and will undoubtedly handle its latest venture with success.

This program will not be official until it is approved by the council. The matter will be fully discussed at the Monday evening meeting, after the Samaritan degree has been conferred upon a large class of candidates.

The committee which prepared the report on the social program consists of Mrs. Lucy Purdy, Mrs. Frances Hanley, Mrs. Lottie Crinklaw, Mrs. Amelia Cusky, Miss Lillian Peterson, Miss Thira Peterson, John G. Ross, J. A. McLaughlin, L. U. Young, Hugo Swenson, Dr. V. E. Gauthier, Joseph Cusky, W. T. Wilke, W. A. McWatty, A. G. McKnight and George Fairley.

WEALTHY BUT BELIEVES IN SOCIALISM AND FREE LOVE

—Copyrighted by George Grantham Bain.

MRS. HORATIO G. WINSLOW.

Mrs. Horatio Winslow is of the clan of Guggenheim and some day she will be worth a great deal of money, made by her grandfather and her father chiefly in copper mines. She may be worth three-quarters of a million some time. But at present she is living on the East side of New York studying the conditions of life there and writing about them over the pen name "Jane Burr." She lives the simplest of lives and says her dream of happiness includes the adoption of twelve children. Every Tuesday afternoon Mrs. Winslow sells Socialist tracts in front of the sub-treasury in New York. At other times she writes poetry in an office in a Nassau street building. She says she sharpens her pencil with the old dinner knife with which her mother began housekeeping in Cleburne, Tex. Mrs. Winslow believes in free love and does not believe in marriage. She says she will keep Mr. Winslow just so long as they are mutually satisfied with one another. She does not regard the marriage ceremony as of any value and she submitted to it only because her family has little prejudices in its favor.

DULUTH'S VENETIAN FETE PROVIDES GORGEOUS WATER SPECTACLE FOR CITIZENS AND LARK O' LAKE VISITORS

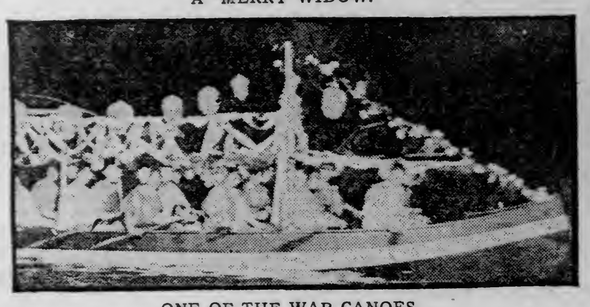
THE LARK O' THE LAKE.

THE PRIZE WINNER.



ONE OF THE WAR CANOES.

A NOVEL IDEA.

Lark o' the Lake planners had everything their way last evening—even the weather.

After hypnotizing the weather man into lending an ideal midsummer night for the occasion, the Lark o' the Lake took on the form of a Venetian fete. Although the parade of the gaily decorated craft in floating procession, the program of water sports, the marine fireworks and other features of the fete are not exactly new to Duluthians, they were greatly enjoyed by the crowd which thronged the clubhouse and grounds at the Duluth Boat club last evening.

In the neighborhood of 5,000 people including Boat club members, their friends and out-of-town visitors were entertained. In addition to the people on the grounds were those who were in excursion boats and other craft in the harbor. The inside piers of the ship canal were lined with people who came to get a glimpse of the marine fireworks and Venetian parade of gaily lighted boats. The affair was one of the most successful of its kind ever held.

During the early part of the evening, the program was opened with an eight-oared shell race between the senior and junior crews. The seniors won by a narrow margin. In a close and exciting contest, the bantams defeated the lapstreak four. Other features of the water sport program were the aquaplane exhibition in which Louis Ardouin and David Wisted were principals and the canoe tilting stunts in which the Williams boys, Frances and Robert, took part.

Marine Parade.

Then followed the marine parade. As the procession passed in review it was applauded by the spectators. A number of new ideas were worked out this year, among them were miniature reproductions of the Lark o' the Lake flying boat, a large flat with a sleigh on it bearing a banner inscribed "It's Cool in Duluth," and an aerial bridge.

The grand prize cup donated by the Duluth Retail Merchants' association for the best decorated canoe was won by Richard Close who was in a canoe with Miss Marion Martin Dale of Hamilton, Ohio. Miss Martin Dale represented an Indian captive, and Mr. Close her captor. The canoe was decorated to represent a tepee in the forest. Other prizes were awarded to Hans Haroldson and Miss Marion Cunningham, the Loseau club, Donald McMillan, Walter Jamar, Allan Trux and Harris Trux.

The judges were John J. Moe, Bernard Silberstein, and Alfred Cleveland. The display of marine fireworks concluded the entertainment. About forty pieces were set off and shortly before the completion a spark accidentally touched off a pile remaining to be shot off. The operators dived off the raft and were picked up by a launch. They were not injured.

INEXPENSIVE HOT WEATHER SALADS WHICH TEMPT PALATE AND PLEASE EYE

New York Sun: When the days are uncomfortably warm the sensible housekeeper uses the refrigerator instead of the stove to prepare meals. Salads are good for the family as well as for the cook.

A meat value may be given to any salad by the addition of nuts, cheese or eggs. The more delicate salads, however, are preferable for hot weather, especially those made of fresh, uncooked vegetables or fruit: If there are leftover cooked vegetables use them, but always in combination with fresh ones—lettuce, cress, cucumber, corn salad, sorrel or tender nasturtium leaves.

Of course, the salad green must be very crisp and cold. If the leaves are allowed to stand for ten or fifteen minutes in ice cold water, then dried by swinging in a wire basket or by careful wiping with cheesecloth, they will be perfect.

The simple French dressing of oil and vinegar in the proportion of three parts of olive oil to one part of vinegar, with a seasoning of salt and pepper, is most easily digested in warm weather and is good with all sorts of vegetable or fruit salads. Mayonnaise dressing is heartier and is apt to curdle in hot weather if not carefully mixed. If one has a mayonnaise mixer it is a comparatively easy task to make it.

See that the mixing bowl is cold as well as all the ingredients. Stir half a teaspoonful of salt and a quarter of a teaspoonful of white pepper into the yolk of an egg; add gradually two tablespoonfuls of vinegar or lemon juice, then a cupful of oil a few drops at a time. An inexpensive mayonnaise may be made by mixing cottonseed oil with olive oil, two-thirds of the cottonseed oil to one-third of the olive, which flavors the mixture so that the taste of cottonseed is removed. This is a considerable saving when mayonnaise is used often.

A cooked dressing, made without oil, is palatable and inexpensive, but not nearly as wholesome. Heat a cupful of milk in a double boiler; add to it a tablespoonful of cornstarch mixed with a little cold milk. When this is thick and smooth stir in the well beaten yolks of three eggs and cook for just a minute longer. While the mixture is still hot fold it into the stiffly beaten whites, season it with a teaspoonful of salt and a little pepper, then gradually put in two tablespoonfuls of melted butter. A tablespoonful of vinegar or of lemon juice must be added drop by drop.

Lettuce and watercress, the greens most commonly used in summer salads, make a refreshing salad if combined and simply marinated with French dressing. Cream cheese and toasted crackers served with even so simple a salad as this make a satisfying hot weather meal.

Cream cheese balls with slices of tomato on lettuce leaves, or watercress, have only to be marinated with French dressing to make an appetizing salad. Moisten the cream cheese with milk or cream before forming it into balls. Chopped olives and chili peppers are a palatable addition to the cream cheese. Watercress with chopped sweet pickles and sliced hard boiled eggs makes a delicious salad with either French or mayonnaise dressing. Sliced, or diced, cucumber on watercress should be served with French dressing.

Serve slices of tomato with a sprinkling of chopped green pepper, or chopped cucumber on lettuce leaves, with French dressing. Sliced tomatoes are also good with sliced hard boiled eggs on either lettuce or watercress with mayonnaise dressing. This salad may be varied by scooping out the tomatoes from the stem end and placing half of a hard boiled egg in each tomato and serving each on a lettuce leaf with a spoonful of mayonnaise. And cold boiled cauliflower is very nice with sliced tomato. Sprinkle the flowerets of the cauliflower with scraped onion and arrange them in alternate layers with the tomato, pouring a French dressing over the salad.

Cold cooked vegetables, such as green peas, lima beans, string beans, carrots, turnips or beets may be palatably served as salads on tender cabbage leaves shredded, or on lettuce leaves cut into ribbons. Hold the leaf end of the cabbage or lettuce with the left hand and cut it into thin slices to make shreds or ribbons. Salads made of lima beans or of string beans or peas are improved by the addition of a small amount of grated onion and chopped chili pepper.

A delicious potato salad is made of two cupfuls of cold boiled potatoes cut into cubes, a tablespoonful of chopper green pepper, a tablespoonful of chopped onion, two tablespoonfuls of chopped parsley, two tablespoonfuls of chopped mustard pickles, two hard boiled eggs chopped fine. Marinate the whole with French dressing and let it stand for an hour or two in the refrigerator. It is good on watercress, lettuce, or tender dandelion leaves.

Remove the skins from green peppers by plunging them into boiling water and rubbing. When they are cool and fresh again, take out the stems and seeds and cut each pepper into two cups. Fill these with a mixture of fresh tomatoes and chopped young onions. Heap a teaspoonful of mayonnaise on each pepper and serve on lettuce leaves.

An infinite variety of tempting fruit salads may be made by combining fruits and vegetables. Some palates do not favor that taste of oil, and for these it is especially necessary to disguise it in fruit salads, or even to leave it out altogether. A fruit dressing may be made by adding half a cupful of oil very gradually to half a cupful of cream and flavoring with quince or other fruit juice; on a simple whipped cream flavored with fruit juice may be used.

A salad that would tempt the poorest appetite in hottest weather is made of sweet cherries stoned, with a nut to replace the pit. Arrange the cherries on lettuce leaves with mayonnaise.

Halves of ice cold melons filled with sliced fruits and served with French dressing are pleasing to both eye and palate. Cubed bananas, sliced peaches, plums, currants or strawberries may be served in this way.

Half a peach and half a banana served on a lettuce leaf with mayonnaise dressing. This may be sprinkled with chopped apple, or diced celery, or chopped walnuts.

Greengage plums, halved and stoned, with slices of banana on lettuce with French dressing.

Cubes of apple, or pear, with popcorn and chopped celery on lettuce with mayonnaise.

Thin slices of apple on lettuce with mayonnaise.

Halves of peaches filled with celery and walnut mixed with mayonnaise, served on lettuce.

Canned salmon, shrimps and sardines are excellent for hot weather in salads. A good salmon salad is made with a cheese dressing. Take quarter of a pound of soft mild cheese and mash it with a small amount of mustard, salt and pepper until it is as soft as butter; add a few drops of vinegar. Spread the salmon flakes with this mixture and serve in lettuce leaves.

For sardine salad make an Italian dressing. Rub the mixing bowl with a clove of garlic, then put in half a teaspoonful of salt, a saltspoonful of white pepper, a teaspoonful of tomato catsup. When these are well mixed, add gradually four tablespoonfuls of olive oil and one of vinegar. Arrange the sardines on lettuce or watercress, and sprinkle them with Worcestershire, then with the dressing.

THINGS NOT ALWAYS WHAT THEY SEEM.

The Pathfinder: A practical joke was played the other day in Washington. A man who has something of a reputation as a wag was the writer's companion, and we were passing a fashionable store. There, drawn up, were three or four motor cars, among them a limousine with the chauffeur fast asleep. Evidently the mistress was inside the store.

Without a word the wag stole quickly up and opening the motor car door carefully, slammed it shut. In a moment the chauffeur straightened up. Then he stole a look over his shoulder and saw the wag standing hat in hand, apparently talking to some one inside the car.

"Thank you; yes; good-day," said the wag, and bowed himself gracefully away from the door, turning as he did so to look at the chauffeur and say, "Home!"

"Yes, sir!" Honk, honk! and off went the car, "home."

Where that "home" was, who the mistress of the carriage was, or what she did when she came out of the store, or what the chauffeur did when he stopped at the door of "home" and found the limousine empty, only the chauffeur and the lady know.

WOW!

Chicago Daily News: Mrs. Oyle Blank advertised for a maid and got many answers. From the cloud of applicants she chose one. Before long there was trouble in the family. The maid had been employed elsewhere and she knew the difference. Mrs. Blank became acrimonious: "Do you call yourself a lady's maid?" "I used to, ma'am," replied the servant, "before I worked for you."

WHAT THE SUMMER TOURIST TRADE MEANS TO DULUTH; "IT'S COOL IN DULUTH" WORTH HARD CASH TO CITY

Duluthians are beginning to realize that the summer tourists have a part in making business history for Duluth.

From figures given by transportation men a fairly accurate estimate of the number that come here during the summer can be gained. It is estimated that at least 1,500 come by boat each week. More than 1,100 came on one trons of the railroads is hard to estimate but railroad men believe 300 a week would be a conservative figure.

These tourists stay in Duluth for varying lengths of time but give each one a day and the amount of money spent here would reach a large sum. The following table is believed to be a fair and conservative estimate of a day's expenditures of a visitor bent on sightseeing:

Hotel room	$2.00
Meals	1.50
Boulevard drive	1.00
Car fare and boat fare	1.00
Curios and souvenirs	1.00
Refreshments	.50
Total	$7.00

This does not necessarily mean that it costs $7 to spend a day in Duluth, but it is a figure for a person who is on a pleasure trip with nothing to do but see the sights.

During the months or June, July and August and the early part of September, the tourists' months, about 22,000 travelers visit Duluth. With each one of these spending $7 the money coming in would amount to $154,000. This is exclusive of boat passage and railroad fare spent in getting here.

The hotels and livery companies get the most noticeable increase in business during the tourist period. One livery company took nearly 300 passengers around the boulevard in one day last week. Each tourist paid a dollar for the ride. The hotels are kept busy finding rooms for the visitors when they come in bunches and their revenue increases as their clientele grows.

The merchants of the city get their share of the money spent and profit by the visits of the pleasure-seekers.

Then too, almost every tourist that visits Duluth goes away boosting for the city. The value of this can not be measured in dollars and cents but its worth must not be overlooked.

Duluth is becoming more and more a point for summer visitors and is taking its place among the foremost cities of the United States as a "vacation" city.

The foregoing figures do not take any account of the immense and growing automobile traffic. In spite of poor roads this is growing every year.

Asphalt was known to the ancients, and this material is said to have been employed as a binder in masonry by the Babylonians.

EVELYN NESBIT THAW.

New York, Aug. 2.—Evelyn Thaw, Harry Thaw's wife, has filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy in the Federal district court here. Her liabilities she scheduled as $8,054; her assets as $250, represented by her household furniture. Her chief creditors, she states, are a woman's tailoring establishment, to which she owes $3,864 for gowns, and a firm of silversmiths who recently obtained a judgment of $2,569 against her.

Mrs. Thaw returned to New York to do a dancing stunt at a roof garden. It is reported that she gets $4,000 a week for four weeks. At the end of that period she says she will return to London, where she recently made her re-entry on the stage.

STAGELAND

At the Lyceum

That Duluth is once more back in the class of "good show towns" is proven by the patronage accorded some of the first class attractions this summer.

For four performances Maud Adams played to standing room only, and this week "Fine Feathers" with an all-star cast recorded three "sold out houses." Even the Tuesday matinee drew a crowded house.

The summer months are supposed to be the poorest of the year, although that is a doubtful supposition when applied to Duluth—and yet capacity audiences have been the rule at the Lyceum this summer. This at least proves one fact—Duluth will patronize first class theatrical attractions when they are properly advertised. Duluth, however, has plainly shown that it will not patronize second class, "get-the-money" companies. It is to be hoped that the producing managers have learned their lesson from past experiences, and that in the future Duluth will get the best in the theatrical world in place of mediocre, second season companies, playing frayed out musical comedies.

The triumph of three cities—Boston, Chicago and New York—where it broke the record for actual receipts in real money, with record breaking runs of 150 and 200 nights in each place, comes Lew Fields' all star "Hanky Panky" company on its triumphal tour, for a two nights' engagement at the Lyceum theater, Monday and Tuesday, Aug. 4 and 5, matinee Tuesday.

"Hanky Panky" is a potpourri of screamingly funny nonsense, varied by song, dances and spectacle on a mammoth scale. It is a show that requires clever people, and that has always been Lew Fields' long suit—providing the right sort of people.

Max Rogers, the surviving member of the Rogers Brothers, has found in Hugh Cameron a worthy successor to his brother Gus, and in the quartette "Where the Eidelweiss Is Booming," this famous team is vividly recalled. There is really a prodigality of entertainers, and some of them have too little to do. Harry Cooper, the gifted comedian tenor, of the "Empire City Quartet," is a host in himself. Clay Smith, as the genial grafter, Sir J. Rufus Wallingford, is seen to good advantage. Christine Nielsen, erstwhile star of the Gilbert & Sullivan revivals, has been provided with three solos that have each been given a production setting. Myrtle Gilbert, the "beauty petite," Virginia Evans, and Flo May fit in this mosaic entertainment to a nicety.

William Montgomery and Florence Moore need no introduction. Not in all their years as headliners in high class vaudeville have they ever been in such a riot as "Hanky Panky."

No Lew Fields show would be complete without a Broadway chorus, therefore fifty "sirenic beauties" in many changes of originally designed costumes, with thoroughly adequate stage settings, lighting effects, and all that goes with it, are assured.

The same wonderfully successful trio, Edgar Smith, E. Ray Goetz and A. Baldwin Sloane, who have such successes to their credit as "The Midnight Sons," "Tillie's Nightmare," "The Never Homes," "The Kiss Waltz," "The Merry Widowers," "The Jolly Bachelors," etc., are responsible for the book, lyrics and music of "Hanky Panky."

The week commencing tomorrow will be a week of features at the Lyceum. Tomorrow Miss Maude Fealy who has been seen in Duluth a number of times as a legitimate star a number of times will be seen in a three reel production of "King Rene's Daughter," a dramatization of the poetic drama from the Danish of Henrik Hertz. The production is made by the Thanhouser company. Also on Sunday a two reel Kinemacolor drama "Mission Bells," a romance of San Juan Capistrano, showing the early Mission days of Southern California, will be included on the program.

On Wednesday a thrilling three reel Broncho headliner "Old Mammy's Secret Code" will be shown. It is a massive military production in which an old negro woman uses a pre-arranged code of wearing apparel on a clothes line to apprise the Confederates of the Union operations. It contains several spectacular and awe-inspiring scenes as a bridge is blown up with a huge charge of powder.

On Thursday, Friday and Saturday, the greatest of all Kinemacolor features "The Scarlet Letter" in three parts will be shown. It is a perfect picturization of the powerful and pathetic love story of Hester Prynne and Rev. Arthur Dimmesdale, the young Puritan preacher. When her lawful husband returns from the dead she suffers on the pillory and wears the scarlet badge of shame in silence. On these days Marion Brook's startling drama "Ashes" in which Irving Cumming portrays a character starting at twenty years of age in 1861 and ending in 1913 will also be included on the program. It is a wonderfully interesting two reel feature along entirely new lines showing his five sweethearts and five different periods of his life.

Two seasons ago when Ktty Gordon was summering in Paris, a number of famous artists held in Paris a symposium to decide who was the most beautiful woman on the stage. Rodin, the famous sculptor, declared that Miss Gordon was in his opinion the most beautiful and stunning woman, as the fine lines of her figure and the glory of her face surpassed all other favorites. When Miss Gordon makes her tour of the Pacific coast this fall, she will wear the stunning gowns she brought back with her a few months ago from her most recent trip to Paris.

At the Empress

Vaudeville of the bright and feature kind will open a four-day engagement at the Empress theater commencing with the matinee tomorrow, Sunday Aug. 3. The bill is full of comedy, songs, novelties and excellent music.

In the musical line the Hayward Sisters will without a doubt take first honors. The girls are said to be accomplished musicians, being graduates of the best musical schools of America and Europe. They will play the saxaphone, the violin, trombone, cornet and various other instruments. Their selections are marvelous and of both the popular and classic nature. Any piece that can be named will be played by the Hayward Sisters.

One of the daintiest acts in vaudeville is that of Ollie Young and April. Their act is one from toyland and brings one back to the good old days of boyhood. They are manipulators of soap bubbles. Their feats in juggling, cutting and making the bubbles fly here and there are said to be nothing short of marvelous. Their hoop rolling and boomerang throwing and diabole stunts are also cleverly performed. Mr. Young is an able juggler, while Miss April makes a very capable assistant who is dainty and neat appearing.

Early and Laight are humorologists. Their songs and jokes are said to be new, original and very entertaining, and they have a system of putting over their material that wins for them instant approval. For many hearty laughs and pleasing singing the honors of the bill will surely go to Early and Laight.

"The Girl in Male Attire" is Lucille Tilton. Her impersonations are said to be extremely good and cleverly executed. No better woman impersonator of male types, has appeared on the vaudeville stage. Her little talks that go with the different characters she does, are very good. Miss Tilton is a young lady of much beauty, but hides all her charms except her fetching personality in male attire.

The usual good and educational film stories will complete a strong and expensive vaudeville program.

Arrangements have been completed whereby the Empress theater will receive the Western Managers' Vaudeville association road shows. This will give Duluth larger and better vaudeville acts. A road show means that a number of acts are taken and given a straight booking of from ten to twenty weeks together. When the road shows open in Chicago they are censored and arranged to the best advantage. The act that does not come up to expectations is immediately cancelled and another act is booked to take its place. The shows open at Chicago, go to Aurora, then to Elgin, Joliet and so on until they reach Duluth. In the meantime the acts are reviewed and those failing to please are quickly taken out of the company and others put in.

This arrangement will give the Empress theater in Duluth, it being at the far end of the circuit, first-class shows. Before the acts were taken from here there and every where and it was very hard to always obtain acts that would prove satisfactory. With the new system where all acts start as one show from Chicago and remain together and are booked the same as tabloids, it will enable the management of the many houses to offer a better and more expensive grade of entertainment.

The first road show to visit the Empress theater will open on Thursday, Aug. 14. The headline feature of this show, as all road shows will contain at least one strong feature, is Sam Liebert in "After the Wedding," a musical playlet by Addison Burkhardt, author of "Louisiana Lou." "The Sweetest Girl in Paris" and others. Mr. Liebert was the original comedian with "Louisiana Lou" and in "After the Wedding" he plays the same part as the one he created in "Louisiana Lou."

Coming to the Empress theater for four days starting with matinee Sunday, Aug. 17, is the tabloid musical comedy "Rock-A-Bye Baby." The show has broken records everywhere and is one of the best "tabs" now on the Empress circuit. Press comments of the show are the best yet received. The music is said to be captivating and a small fotrune has evidently been spent in staging "Rock-A-Bye Baby."

LUCILE TILTON.
Woman Impersonator of Male Roles at the Empress Next Week.

Tabloid Tablets.

Hamilton Coleman of the Western Extravaganza company, has engaged Jessie Villars to appear in "Ireland as It Is." Miss Villars is well known in Chicago, having appeared at the Chicago Opera house with the old Henderson production. She is also the author of the tabloid in which she will appear as Mrs. O'Flannigan, in which Bryan Lee and Helen Cranston will be featured.

Billy Kent, the comedian in "Miss Nobody from Starland," is now playing Kid Burns in "Forty-five Minutes from Broadway" in the Wright-Huntington Stock company, St. Paul.

Richmond Kent, of "A Stubborn Cinderella" company, is director of his own stock company in Chicago Heights.

The cast of "The Heart Breakers," a Western extravaganza company tab, which will open Aug 10 in Gary, Ind., is as follows: B. Busey, Jeff Rosen, Fred Black, Joseph Roberts, H. Lurgeous, Ernest Gardner, Arthur Wagner, Billy Moore, Rupert Greenlaw, Raymond Randick, Magel Lalain, Mae Francis and Mabel Dart.

Max Bloom, in "The Sunny Side of Broadway," will open its third season in Elgin, Sept. 8.

The Thielen and Allardt circuits have combined. Previous to the amalgamation, both firms have been booking their vaudeville acts through the Western Vaudeville Managers' association. They will send out four acts of vaudeville in the form of a road show, showing in houses where five acts of vaudeville are presented, the feature attraction being added. The combination will offer vaudeville performers a tour of fifteen solid weeks. Musical comedy tabloids and dramatic tabloids will be booked over the same route, alternating with the vaudeville road shows. It is very probable that the combination will attract many original feature acts, inasmuch as fifteen solid weeks of work will be offered.

GOSSIP OF THE RIALTO

In the plays which Charles Frohman will produce next season are a number from the best known authors. "Indian Summer," by Augustin Thomas, will be given in October, with John Mason and Martha Hedman in the principal roles. Mr. Frohman also has a new four-act play by John Galsworthy, entitled "The Mob;" a new comedy by W. Somerset Maugham, "The Land of Promise," in which Billy Burke will come to New York in December; Stanley Houghton's three-act play, "The Younger Generation," for Blanche Bates; C. Haddon Chambers' dramatization of Tante;" a German comedy, "Made in Sister;" the Barrie cycle of plays, "Legend of Leonora," "The Ladies' Shakespeare," and "Rosalind," all for Maude Adams; a Barrie playlet, "Half Hour," for Blanche Bates; a farce by Richard Harding Davis, "Who's Who," for William Collier; a comedy, "The End of Love," and new plays by Edward Sheldon, Thompson Buchanan, Henri Bernstein and Alfred Sutro. Dramatic rights have been purchased of Sudermann's novel, "The Song of Songs."

John Drew will open the season at the Empire theater, but he will appear in Shakespeare for the first time under Mr. Frohman's management. He will be seen there on Sept. 1 as Benedick in "Much Ado About Nothing." Laura Hope Crews is to be Beatrice, and Mary Boland, Hero. Maude Adams will not start her season until Christmas time when she will give "Peter Pan" for threo weeks at the Empire theater, after that she will present the Barrie plays. William Gillette will play a season of twenty weeks in repertoire, appearing in New York in November. Billy Burke will give eighty performances of "The Amazons."

Richard Carle and Hattie Williams will come to the Globe theater Aug. 25 in "The Doll Girl." Julia Sanderson will come back to the Knickerbocker in "The Sunshine Girl," and after that Donald Brian will come in with "The Marriage Market." Mr. Frohman has secured the American rights to the latest Strauss operetta, and to "The Laughing Husband," a musical play which has been a success in Germany.

The Lyceum theater will be opened about Aug. 25 with Harrison Grey Fiske's production of the Molnar comedy, which was produced in the Hungarian original as "The Guardsman." The Garrick will be opened Sept. 15 with a farce presented by Charles Dillingham. In Paris the farce has had the title of "The President."

Miss Florine Arnold, in a role relatively as unctuous and amusing as her Me in Mrs. Bumpstead Leigh," will return to the management of Harrison Grey Fiske in the new Molnar comedy which is to be the season's opening attraction at the Lyceum. Miss Arnold will play a "stage mamma," who, as independence and professional importance came to her actress mistress, had been promoted to the position from that of cook.

Oscar Lewishon, the husband of Edna May, it is said, is advertising for sale his residence, Cranbourne court, Windsor Forest, on which he has spent a small fortune during recent years, making it one of the finest country houses in England.

Rumors of trouble between Mr. and Mrs. Lewishon, afloat in London some time ago, were emphatically denied by both.

A. H. Woods has sigied contracts to produce a four-act play by Albert O. Warburg and Jasper E. Brady. The play, called for the present "The Trap," is intended as a starring vehicle for William Courtleigh.

An interesting feature of Cyril Maude's visit to this country in the fall will be the appearance here of his daughter, Margery Maude. Since her London debut, four years ago, she has been in a number of plays well known here, such as "Pomander Walk" and "The Blindness of Virtue." Her father will present Austin Strong's version of "Rip Van Winkle" in his repertoire for the American tour, and Miss Maude will play Minna.

Harrison Grey Fiske has accepted, and will produce in Atlantic City on Oct. 16, a satirical comedy of American life dealing with certain corollaries of the "feminist" movement. The play, as yet unnamed, is the work of two young writers who are new to the stage, Hutcheson Boyd and Rudolph Bunner, the latter a brother of the late H. C. Bunner. The authors have not attempted any propaganda either for or against the economic independence of the militant sex, but are thought to have treated certain possible phases of it with a very amusing insight.

Little by little details of David Belasco's production of Roland E. Molineaux's play, "The Man Inside," are coming to light. The most recent engagement for the cast is that of Edward H. Robins, who will act one of the leading roles. Mr. Robins was also under Mr. Belasco's management in the original The Easiest Way company.

Marceline, the New York Hippodrome's popular clown, is to be starred this season in a piece especially written for him.

• • •

Klaw & Erlanger, in engaging the cast for "The Merry Martyr," written by Glen MacDonough, have chosen Alice Dovey for one of the principal parts. Miss Dovey is remembered from "The Pink Lady."

• • •

On last Monday William Morris formally dedicated his new Washington theater in Detroit, establishing at the same time a permanent stock company, which is to be operated upon the visiting star system. James K. Hackett was the first of the visitors. The opening bill was "Sampson," subsequently Louise Gunning, Amelia Bingham, Cecelia Loftus and other equally prominent stars will take their turn.

David Bispham has succumbed to the vaudeville lure! Seeing that Sarah Bernhardt and Beerbohm Tree condescended to work in the halls, he decided, after much urging, to do likewise. Martin Beck has signed Mr. Bispham for a tour of eight weeks, beginning at the Palace theater in September, with Chicago and the California cities to follow. Several minor opera singers have tried vaudeville at different times but no one of the standing and accomplishments of Mr. Bispham was among them.

Fritzie Scheff has also turned to vaudeville, her change of theatrical climate being due principally to a strained situation. With Fritzie in the two-a-days, no temperament no matter how exalted can call itself immune.

• • •

Montgomery and Moore are to be musical comedy stars next season. Marcus Loew's the man who is to project these former vaudeville headliners in their musical comedy orbit. Mr. Loew has excellent reason for this action, the same being the profit made by "Hanky Panky" while Miss Moore was a member of its cast.

Leo Donnelly, writer and actor, has been added to the cast of "Potash and Perlmutter," the dramatization of Montague Glass's famous stories, which A. H. Woods will present at the Cohan theater, New York City, Saturday evening, Aug. 16. Mr. Donnelly will interpret the role of Mozart Rabiner, a cloak and suit salesman with a genius for music.

Julius Harburger, sheriff of New York county and Warden Clancy of Sing Sing prison, have arranged to give a matinee performance of "Within the Law." The performance will take place in the dining hall of the penitentiary and will be presented by the company now playing at the Eltinge theater. The mechanical staff is now staging a production to meet the requirements. A special train will convey the company and newspaper men to Sing Sing for the performance.

While in Vienna recently M. Meyerfeld, Jr., president of the Orpheum circuit of theaters, secured the American rights to "Der Fliegende Rittmeister" (The Flying Cavalry Officer), a light opera in one act by Leo Stein and Bela Janbach, with music by Hermann Dostal. Franz Lebar declares Dostal to be the most promising composer in all Europe. The operetta was first presented at the Apollo theater, Vienna, on Oct. 5, 1912, and still continues. The American production is to be made under the direction of Martin Beck, and will be seen in the theaters of the B. F. Keith and the Orpheum circuit. Mr. Beck will produce the piece early in the fall under the title of Baron Reytbling. The piece requires a large cast and calls for a lavish production.

It is reported that Gas Edwards is to present a playlet "Inside the Circle," by Eugene Walter, in vaudeville.

Edwin Holt, recently seen in David Belasco's production of "The Woman," is soon to appear in vaudeville in a sketch, "The Palmy Days," by Edgar Allan Woolf.

Cecilia Loftus has been engaged by William Faversham, who is now at his country home in England, for the roles of Juliet in "Romeo and Juliet" and Desdemona in "Othello," the two Shakespearean plays added to his repertory for next season. Mr. Faversham may make a production of "Hamlet," in which case Miss Loftus will probably play Ophelia.

A story told of Sir Herbert Tree and Cyril Maude relates that two friends were standing outside of His Majesty's theater after a matinee performance of Tree's Svengali. They overheard a man slightly under the influence, giving his views on the performance. The stranger declared that Tree was a pretty fair actor.

"As good as Cyril Maude?" asked Tree maliciously.

"Sir," was the indignant response, "I consider Cyril Maude one of the ten or twenty best actors in London."

The technical language of the theater is at times perplexing, but by no means as complex or ornate as that of the theatrical amateur, Brandon Tynan, the Joseph of "Joseph and His Brethren," tells of a rehearsal at which a graduate of a school of acting was given a chance to show her ability. She proved hopeless, it being impossible to get her to follow the stage director's instructions as to the manner in which her lines should be delivered. The next morning she came in again, and addressed the stage director. "I shall do better today," she said, "I went to see my teacher at the school of acting and he explained to me my mistake. I had been using the 'explosive' instead of the 'sustained.'"

The cables report that Sir Herbert Tree has secured Miss Maxine Elliott for the role of Potiphar's wife in the London production of "Joseph and His Brethren." It is an open secret that George C. Tyler of the Liebler company made very persistent efforts to get this gorgeous beauty to emerge from retirement to play this role in the American production of Mr. Parker's play, but when the still more gorgeous Pauline Frederick assumed the role, he was never heard to utter any complaint about his failure to secure Miss Elliott's services. Miss Frederick not only scored a great triumph, but usurped the honor of being reputed the handsomest woman on the American stage. When Harrison Fisher, the artist, declared in print that he considered Miss Frederick the most beautiful woman in America, he merely echoed the verdict of the critics and public that crowded the New York Century theater all last season.

GREAT BLEACHERS FOR THE STAMPEDE AT WINNIPEG

Winnipeg possesses the largest "bleachers" on the continent. Of this there can be no doubt, and the wonderful structure which has been erected to surround the field upon which will be enacted the thrilling scenes of the great Stampede is capable of seating no less than 40,000 people. A close inspection of these monster bleachers gave ample evidence that no matter what the seat or where, a clear, clean view of the center field is had. There is not one solitary obstruction to meet the eye. A circling glance takes in the entire center field, and an equal to the stage for the Stampede as put up on the exhibition grounds could not be found on this continent.

Speaking of the bleachers now practically finished, Clarence Dean, manager of the Orpheum theater, who was out at the ground, said that they were unquestionably the largest he had ever seen, and coming from a man so widely travelled in the show business as Mr. Dean, this speaks volumes. The bleachers surround the entire oval. The field in the center looks like a saucer surrounded by tier upon tier of seats, twenty rows high, and the circle made by the massive structure is only broken here and there by the roomy railed passages which allow the public to their seats. Along the outside rail of the race track and all round it have been set at intervals seven-foot posts. To these posts will be secured seven foot high wire of large steel mesh. On the inside of the track the same is done, thus protecting the public from any wild rushes of frantic horses or maddened bulls as they are being bull-dogged by anxious cowboys who are endeavoring to secure a good cash prize. These bleachers seat 8,000 more people than the famous bleachers on the New York polo grounds. The difference there is that there is more room for the standing public. The judges' lofty stand, which was placed in such a manner as to obstruct the view of those in the grand stand during the fair, has been moved to the east end of the paddock, and has been reserved for the representatives of the local press. The visiting press, of which there are said to be many coming, will be housed in a roomy tent in the space where the bookmakers held out during fair week.

Thousands of Feet of Lumber.

Six hundred and fifty thousand feet of lumber has been used to build the grandstand, which was erected by S. D. Ritchie. Two hnudred and ten men employed since last Friday morning have been at work to build these bleachers. At the east end of the field are the pens and runs for the steers and the bucking horses. Opposite one of these pens will be the announcer, who will megaphone the name of the contestant to the chief nouncer, who will be in the press stand. From here it will be relayed around the arena until every one has had full particulars. The gates closing these pens are massive in design and hinged with monster wrought-iron hinges. The bleachers themselves appear to be strong and well built, and every precaution seems to have been taken to make them indestructible and well able to support the large numbers the management of the Stampede expects.

Guy Weadick, the manager of the Stampede, stated that the grounds will be thrown open to the public shortly for inspection, so that they can judge for themselves of the structure and see for themselves the pains that have been taken to ensure safety. The reserved seats are those which form the old grandstand. The entire structure here, whether under the covering or not, will be reserved seats, each one numbered. Seats for the general admission will not be sold until each day of the performance, whereas rereserved seats can be had now. In speaking of the advantages of reserved seats, Mr. Wedick pointed out that the only benefit of a reserved seat was that it could be left with assurances that it would not be taken when the former occupant was away for a few minutes. They are not one whit better than the others, however, as far as seeing is concerned. No liquor will be allowed on the ground, and no gambling is to be permitted. Every step is being taken to assure the comfort of the public, who can, if they care to take advantage of the day set aside for it, go and judge for themselves. There is one thing certain, however, and that is today Winnipeg possesses the largest bleachers ever seen on the North American continent. The management has profited by experience at Calgary last year, and has now a great arena.

ON THE IRON RANGES

POWER FOR RANGE TOWNS

Million Dollar Corporation Formed to Operate in Mining District.

Has Backing of Interests Operating Mesaba Electric Company.

The interests back of the Great Northern Power company and the Mesaba Electric company have entered another field of operations in St. Louis county through the organization of the St. Louis Power company, a million dollar corporation, articles of incorporation for which were filed with the register of deeds today.

The new power company will operate on the ranges, obtaining its power for the present from the power plant of the Mesaba Electric company being operated in connection with the mill of the Virginia & Rainy Lake company at Virginia.

A contract for the furnishing of power for the Virginia mine, being temporarily fulfilled by the Mesaba Electric company, will immediately be taken over, and the new company also expects to furnish power for lighting to the village of Hibbing and Gilbert.

What the developments of the future will be, Oscar Mitchell, who appears in the articles of incorporation as president of the company, was not ready to say today. He said the plans have gone no further than the incorporation and the arrangements for obtaining power from the Mesaba Electric company's plant. He said the company had not yet determined whether to transmit power from the Duluth plant of the Great Northern Power company to the range or to develop waterpower of its own at some point nearer to the scene of its operations.

Duluth Men Incorporated.

The incorporators of the new company are Oscar Mitchell, J. B. Crane, A. C. Gillette, J. A. Sinclair and H. A. Carmichael, all of Duluth. Mr. Crane is commercial engineer for the Great Northern Power company and the other incorporators are connected with the firm of Washburn, Bailey & Mitchell. The officers are president, Oscar Mitchell; vice president, J. B. Crane; and secretary treasurer, A. C. Gillette.

The company is capitalized at $1,000,000, divided into 10,000 shares at $100 per, and the limit of indebtedness is fixed at $5,000,000.

"Substantially the same interests back of the Great Northern Power company and the Mesaba Electric company are back of the new corporation," said Oscar Mitchell today. "It is backed by men who believe there is a good field for a central power station on the range. We will operate for the present by obtaining our power from the station of the Mesaba Electric company, and I am unable to say what the future course of the company shall be as to the source of its power supply."

ATTACKS ACTION OF ADMINISTRATOR

Mayor Power of Hibbing Starts Proceedings Raising Novel Point.

Hibbing, Minn., Aug. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Victor Power, mayor of Hibbing, as attorney for Luku Radusina, has filed a petition in probate court requesting the removal of Moritz Helm of St. Paul, as administrator of the estate of Mike, allas Mile Jerkovich, who was killed in a Chisholm mining accident last winter.

It is alleged that Mr. Helm as administrator and representative of the consulates has neglected to ask the district court for an approval of the settlement that he made for the wrongful death of Jerkovich, and that he has failed to make any move whatever to have the money distributed by the district court to the persons entitled according to the law.

To Test Question.

The case will probably test the rights of an administrator of an estate to settle for any sum he sees fit, for the wrongful death of a deceased. Mr. Power is backed in the case by a large number of prominent Croatians, Servians, Montenegrins, Bulgarians and other natives of the Austro-Hungarian empire, and the case will be fought if necessary to the supreme court. There is a feeling that cases of this kind have not had the proper representation.

JUNKER'S RISE RAPID.

New Captain of Hibbing Militia Company Advances Rapidly.

Hibbing, Minn., Aug. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Ed Junker, the newly elected captain of Company M. Hibbing, members of the state militia, has had rapid promotion since becoming a member of the local company two years ago. Previous to coming to Hibbing Mr. Junker was a member of Company C of Duluth, and has had eight years' experience in the national guard. He joined the Duluth company in 1907 and two years later was promoted to corporal and in July, 1910, was elected second lieutenant. In March, 1911, he removed to this city and at once became a member of Company M. He remained a private only a short time when he was made a sergeant. A year ago he was made first sergeant and in June of this year was given the commissioned office of second lieutenant. There is much rivalry among the members of the company for the promotions to corporal and sergeants, which are to be made in the near future there being several vacancies.

Tobacco Habit Easily Conquered

A well-known New Yorker of wide experience, has written a book telling how the tobacco or snuff habit may be easily and completely banished in three days with delightful benefit.

The health improves wonderfully after the nicotine poison is out of the system. Calmness, tranquil sleep, clear eyes, normal appetite, good digestion, manly vigor, strong memory and a general gain in efficiency are among the many benefits reported. No more of that nervous feeling; no more need of pipe, cigar, cigarette or chewing tobacco to pacify the morbid desire. The author, Edw. J. Woods, 534 Sixth Ave., 899 H New York City, will send his book free on application, to anyone who writes to him.

ORE SHIPMENTS CONTINUE LARGE

Heavier Last Month From Two Harbors Than in July, 1913.

Two Harbors, Minn., Aug. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The ore shipments on the Iron Range railroad continu heavy.

During the month of July 1,759,885 tons were shipped from the local ore docks, against 1,616,257 tons for the month of July, 1912.

Up to date 4,841,522 tons have been shipped, as against 4,223,481 tons for the same period in 1912.

Besides the ore shipments the shipment of lumber and pulp wood has been very active during the month of July.

Record Coal Receipts.

According to a statement issued by the superintendent of the coal dock, Fred D. W. Thias, the coal receipts for this year to date is a record-breaker. Up to date 165,624 tons of coal have been received and unloaded here. It is expected that more than twice this amount will be received here before the closing of navigation.

EAGLES' BARBECUE SET FOR AUG. 24

Chisholm Aerie Expected to Roast and Serve 1,100-Pound Steer.

Chisholm, Minn., Aug. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—A 1,000-pound steer will be served at a barbecue to be given by local Eagles Aug. 24, along with pork, chicken and various delicacies. There will be athletic sports and some speeches. Eagles from all over the range will be invited.

Those on the committee in charge are: Andy Cox, chairman; Frank Harris, secretary, and C. C. Esterbrook, Isaac Aro and D. M. Partridge, whose names are attached to the notice.

ALL CAN ENTER GARDEN CONTEST

Everyone in Hibbing Having Garden Can Go After Prizes.

Hibbing, Minn., Aug. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Owing to the few entries in the garden contest started last spring, the committee in charge announces it will accept the entry of any one who did not enter earlier but who now has successful gardens.

This is the first season for the garden contest, and up to date there have been only six adults entered and sixteen children. The money to be given to the winners, those having the best gardens, was pledged last spring by the village council, Commercial and Saturday clubs.

Village Divided Into Sections.

The village was divided into three sections, section one being all territory north of Mohoning street; section two, all territory south of Mohoning street, and section three, the Brooklyn addition.

Three prizes are offered for places showing the most improvement, best front yard in each section, best back yard garden in each section, best vacant lot garden, best potato patch, best lawn, best new made lawn and best window box in the adult contest. For the children the prizes will be for the best garden in each section and second best garden in each section.

PLAN JOINT PICNIC.

Hibbing and Chisholm Business Men to Have Outing Together.

Hibbing, Minn., Aug. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Hibbing and Chisholm will have a business men's picnic Thursday, Aug. 14. All of the stores, and probably the saloons will be closed and it is to be a general good time day for the citizens of the two towns. There will be seventy-eight athletic events and something doing all the time. Everything, except the dance which will be on in full swing during the afternoon and evening, will be absolutely free. The business men of both Chisholm and Hibbing are taking keenly to the idea and are backing the plan.

FINE CHURCH MUSIC.

Promised at First Presbyterian Edifice in Virginia Sunday.

Virginia, Minn., Aug. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The morning service at the Presbyterian church Sunday will be devoted largely to music and the sermon by Rev. Henry E. Neff will be in accord with what is provided in the way of music. Hugo Anhalt of this city and his sister, Miss Linda Anhalt of Jefferson, Wis., will play as a violin duet Handel's "Largo." "Eye Hath not Seen" will be sung by Mrs. Charles A. Whittet, with violin obligato by Hugo Anhalt. A quartet the members of which are Orie Infelt, Mrs. William E. Swain, Mrs. Charles A. Whittet and B. V. Arnold, will sing "God Be Merciful." The choir under the direction of J. H. Handle will have special music at several other services during the summer. The church is devoting special attention to music and now has a financial campaign on to obtain the wherewith to purchase a pipe organ the estimated cost of which will be $2,000.

MICKA BEST SHOT.

Hibbing Man Hits All But Two Out of Fifty Birds.

Hibbing, Minn., Aug. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the meeting of the Mesaba Gun club L. J. Micka was high man, successfully hitting 48 out of a possible 50 birds.

It is planned to bring the Virginia Gun club here for a return match in the near future. The two clubs have met twice and each has a victory to its credit. Yesterday's score was: Blocklock, 20, 21; Seymour, 17, 19; Micka, 24, 24; Bullen, 16, 19; E. Hooray! Baby To Rule the House

No Longer Do Women Fear the Greatest of All Human Blessings.

It is a comfort to know that those much-talked-of pains that are said to precede child-bearing may easily be avoided. No woman need fear the slightest discomfort if she will fortify herself with the well-known and time-honored remedy, "Mother's Friend."

This is a penetrating, external application that at once softens and makes pliant the abdominal muscles and ligaments. They naturally expand without the slightest strain, and thus not only banish all tendency to nervous, twitching spells, but there is an entire freedom from nausea, discomfort, sleeplessness and dread that so often leave their impress upon the babe.

The occasion is, therefore, one of unbounded, joyful anticipation, and too much stress cannot be laid upon the remarkable influence which a mother's happy, prenatal disposition has upon the health and fortunes of the generation to come.

You will find it on sale at all drug stores at $1.00 a bottle. Write to-day to the Bradfield Regulator Co., 230 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for an instructive book.

"Railroaded."

Mrs. Latimer said that in no state are more laboring men railroaded into prisons and workhouses and reformatories—"to be arrested in Minnesota means to become a convict," she said. "Six thousand men, giving their occupation as laborers, were arrested in Minneapolis alone in 1912, and in that city 645 children were taken before the probation officer, girls and boys who should have been punished in the good old-fashioned way were railroaded into reformatories and made into real criminals. No mercy was shown them, the probation officer making the statement that in former years when he was a dealer in horses he 'shot the incorrigibles.'"

Obese Now Eat Candy; Regain Youthful Lines

So much has been said of late about the virtues of those little boranium jujubes as fat dispellers that I decided to make some inquiries on my own account. The reports have been altogether favorable, so much so that I'm sure no woman who bewails the loss of her youthful lines will regret trying this safe and simple treatment. At least she will have the satisfaction of knowing the jujubes (a tasty candy) won't upset the digestion or hurt her in any way—also that she won't be required to go through a lot of tiresome exercises or manipulations at the hands of a muscular masseuse.

The German chemist who hit upon this new method of combining effective fat reducing elements with delicious candy drops, deserves a rising vote of thanks. The boranium jujubes are now obtainable at drug stores generally in America, and three or four of them eaten each day are usually sufficient—Emily Coulson in Home Queen.

Benson, who states that he has other grains and grasses growing on his farm in abundance.

The drained lands north of Red Lake are composed of a heavy mixture of peat soil, and the rye and clover on exhibition at the immigration office, shows the soil to a dpeth of from eight to fifteen inches. Mr. Benson was told that nothing would grow on this peat soil but he was determined to give the drained lands a trial, and together with other settlers in that section of the state, is reaping a good harvest for his pains.

Fertility of Soil Established.

The growing of small grain, tame grasses and vegetables in the Red Lake region is fast becoming a settled fact and the northern part of Minnesota no longer holds out unfavorable prospects to the intending settler.

Commissioner Fred D. Sherman says that the immigration bureau is receiving many favorable reports on the farming conditions in Beltrami and other northern counties, from men who are actually engaged in building up the farming and dairying interests of that section of Minnesota. The immigration department also has on exhibition at 312 Jackson street, St. Paul, some fine samples of alfalfa which was grown on the Red Lake Indian reservation and was cut early last June.

FIND SHORTAGE NEARLY $1,000

In Books of Ex-Register of Deeds of Sargent County, N. D.

Cogswell, N. D., Aug. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—A shortage of $943.35 is said to have been found by the deputy state examiners in the records of D. L. Warriner, Sargent county, register of deeds for eight years up to last January. Of this amount $876 was on fees from registering chattel mortgages and $67.35 was not turned in from the fees in deeds and mortgages not recorded. The bonding company that was surety for Mr. Warriner will be asked to make good the shortage. As Mr. Warriner is a man of some means he will probably adjust the matter. The deputy examiners are engaged on an examination of the records of the treasurer and auditor since 1905.

BEAT ANTI-SNUFF LAW.

Tobacco Company Said to Plan Invoking Original Package Decision.

Kindred, N. D., Aug. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The United States supreme court decision on the original package law will be invoked by the American Tobacco company to defeat the North Dakota anti-snuff law. Instead of selling to dealers they will merely use the dealers as agents or collectors on a 10 per cent commission.

According to the plans as explained here by a representative of the company, blank orders are to be distributed in the stores. Individual patrons come in and sign the blanks, leaving the money with the merchant. Whenever he gets twenty orders he forwards them with the cash, less 10 per cent. The orders are then shipped direct to the patrons.

Under this plan it is claimed the law can be evaded and the dealers will not be liable to prosecution, as the dealers neither handle nor deliver the snuff, merely acting as agents on commission.

Little Eddie Baird, aged 13, had found a revolver, which he supposed unloaded, and to show his mother, Mrs. Edward Baird, how they "do it in moving pictures," pointed the pistol at his mother's breast and fired. Just as he drew the trigger his sister, Mrs. Bradley, entered the room and shouted. Her cry resulted in slightly deflecting the boy's aim and the bullet entered his mother's arm instead of her heart. She will recover.

CURTAILMENT OF OUTPUT BY ANACONDA UNDOUBTED

Reduction During Past Two Months of 2,000,000 Pounds Monthly.

Keating Shipping as Much Ore as Teams Can Haul.

Sinking Is Resumed in the Butte & Zenith City Property.

Butte, Mont., Aug. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—B. B. Thayer, president of the Anaconda Copper Mining company, arrived from New York a few days ago on his semi-annual inspection of the property of the company in the state. While he did not admit that there was a curtailment of the copper production, when asked if such a condition prevailed, he said that the Anaconda company was curtailing its output mighty little. Of course the figures for the past few months show that there is unquestionably a curtailment and it must be due to the fact that, notwithstanding that it is announced that the supply is low, there is considerably more copper on hand than is required. The Anaconda company during the past two months has reduced its output upwards of 2,000,000 pounds a month in spite of the fact that figures given out show contrary results. There is now little doubt but that the production of the Anaconda company for the year will fall considerably below that of the previous year, as for the first six months, taking the figures given out as authentic, there is a decrease of upwards of 17,000,000 pounds as compared with the first six months of the previous year. If there were a demand for copper and the amount on hand was anything like that stated in the last report of the Copper Producers' association, there would not be any curtailment. Why not be honest in the giving out of figures? It would undoubtedly prove more profitable in the end. People who closely watch the conditions about the mining centers know whether there is as much ore going to the smelters one month as another, and they further know whether that ore is low or high grade. Mr. Thayer says that things certainly look good in the West and that while he has not yet had an opportunity to inspect the mines all his reports are to the effect that they are in the very best condition. He believes that the Balkan war had more to do with the upsetting of market conditions than any other one factor. Mr. Thayer says that all the elements tending to bring about an unsettled condition are disappearing and within the next couple of months the public may look for a more settled condition of affairs.

Tuolumne.

The conditions existing at the Tuolumne are not showing any signs of improvement, but the management is confident that further development work is going to result in the opening up of a good body of ore. There are about 100 tons of ore a day going to the smelter, and it is stated that the returns are sufficient to meet all expenses.

Stewart.

Heinze's Stewart mine at Kellogg, according to a mining man who was in the city a few days ago, is making a great showing and many of the stockholders are looking forward to an increase in the dividends. The June net earnings are said to have been $104,000, as compared with $69,061 for May. This man is authority for the statement that the large increase in the June earnings is due to the higher grade of ore being mined, better extraction of values and improved mining equipment. The quantity of ore shipped during June was not any greater than during May.

Report Exaggerated.

A short time ago a report was sent out of a remarkable discovery of copper ore at the Ruby mine, about fourteen miles east of this city. It was stated that ore had been uncovered which ran $28,000 a ton and that four tons had realized $112,000. Now the owner of the mine is heard from, and he is very indignant that any such extravagant report should be circulated, as he declares that the publication of such reports is damaging to the mining business. Mr. Dowling, the owner, says that the body of ore opened up runs about $150 a ton copper which he adds is good enough without any exaggeration. There is an old mill on the property, and it is just possible that it may be started in operation or Mr. Dowling may decide to erect a modern cyanide plant. The Ruby mine is an old property and at various times has produced a large amount of high grade ore for the many owners it has had in the past fifteen years. After some previous rich strikes it was sold, and more than one person has gone broke in an effort to further extend the rich ore bodies opened up.

Conrey Placer.

Hennen Jennings of Washington, D. C., one of the directors of the Conrey Placer Mining company in the Ruby district, has spent three weeks at the property, and before leaving on a trip to California expressed himself as exceedingly well pleased with the conditions existing about the property.

Boston & Corbin.

The Bertha mine of the Boston & Corbin company is the only property in operation in the Corbin district at the present time. The ore being taken out just now is mostly all low grade, but there is a statement to the effect that the grade is gradually improving. Nearly $1,000,000 has been spent by the Boston & Corbin company on the Bertha property. The shaft is down to a depth of 1,000 feet, but the great part of the ore is being mined on the 400 and 600-foot levels. Other owners of properties are waiting to ascertain the result attained by the Boston & Corbin before doing any more development work. There is a strong probability that the Boston & Alta mine will resume in a short time and that the shaft will be sunk to a depth of 1,500 feet. H. E. Emerson, who has been in charge of the Boston & Corbin property for a long time, has resigned and he has been succeeded by Dan Courtney, a man who has had an extensive experience in the Butte district. The company is employing between the mine and mill about 140 men. The concentrator which was completed last March is in operation, but it is understood that the returns are scarcely sufficient to meet all running expenses due to the low grade ore being treated. If the Boston & Corbin company should meet with success in opening up some good ore, the Butte & Corbin Consolidated properties and the London & Corbin Exploration company properties, together with the Boston & Alta company, will all resume operations, otherwise the properties mentioned may be closed down for an indefinite time.

Butte & Superior.

The Butte & Superior company is making every effort to have the second section of the concentator in operation within the next week or so. With the two sections in commission it is claimed by some of the officials that the earnings will exceed $100,000 net a month. The work of the engineers and experts who are determining the dispute between W. A. Clark and the Butte & Superior company as to a certain portion of ground is being carefully guarded, but there are rumors to the effect that the findings are in favor of Mr. Clark. It is further whispered about that a settlement will be brought about whereby the Butte & Superior will pay Mr. Clark for ore mined in the Elm Orlu ground.

Radersburg District.

Advices from the Radersburg district are to the effect that as much ore is being shipped from the Keating and Ohio Keating mines as the teams can haul to the line of railway, twelve miles distant. In the Ohio Keating the third, fourth and fifth levels are being worked. The veins run from two to five feet wide and contain values from $20 to $76 a ton. The production of the mine is being steadily increased.

Corbin Copper.

The Corbin Copper company has now three shifts of men at work on the Gambrinus claim. The cross-cutting at a depth of ninety feet resulted in opening up a small vein showing about fifteen ounces of silver to the ton. The ground certainly looks good, and Supt. Varden is well satisfied with the outlook. Shaft sinking has been resumed and with three shifts at work rapid progress will be made.

Butte & Zenith.

Sinking has been resumed in the Butte & Zenith City property, five miles west of the city. When cross-cutting was started some time ago the shaft was down to a depth of 500 feet. Recently an electric pump was installed on the 500-foot level an dsinking resumed with the intention of going down to a depth of 1,000 feet. The cross-cutting resulted in some veins being opened, but the ore was not of high enough grade for shipping. Manager Newton says that he has every confidence in the mine proving a good paying property after depth is reached.

BUTTE & SUPERIOR MILL COMPLETED

Output in July Biggest in History of the Company.

Butte, Mont., Aug. 2.—Both the old and the new sections of the Butte & Superior's mammoth mill are now working a satisfactory run. The new section was operated first on July 19. The old mill was then shut down to permit of changes being made, and these have been completed. The work of both sections was carefully watched by Superintendent J. L. Bruce and his associates, who said that conditions were even nearer the approach of perfection that had been anticipated. They watched for various processes of reduction with a feeling akin to joy, and are gratified with the prospect for the future.

The combined capacity of the mill is now greater than the mine capacity, although the average ore output from the mine is indicated in the figures for the past five days—900 tons a day. "The month of July was the biggest we ever had," said Superintendent Bruce. "It exceeded any month both in tonnage milled and the amount of concentrates produced. We produced about 8,200 tons in June. With the increased capacity given by the new mill, I confidentially expect to see the tonnage for August go to 10,000.

"The grade of the concentrates now being turned out is higher than in May and June. The cost of production already has lowered, and will be still less from now on. While the aim has been to maintain the same recovery and at the same time to increase the grade of the concentrates, we have at times made slight sacrifices in the recovery when by so doing we could raise the grade. Experiments, with this end in view, have been carried on and are still being made, and they have worked out satisfactorily. The average recovery during the year 1912 was less than 60 per cent, while the present average recovery, maintained for some time is 90 per cent."

A part of the increased saving and improvement in product is due to the successful working of the flotation process. Here a great deal of the experimenting has been done, and the results obtained from the use of different oils and acids closely watched and tabulated. The general results from the flotation process exceed expectations and are entirely satisfactory, giving a greater saving and an improved quality or grade of concentrates. The mill will be kept up to the mining capacity, and to make sure that it will, two more tube mills will be added to the flotation plant.

At the present there are 400 miners working underground every day, and the average yield of ore, 900 tons, will soon be increased to 1,000 tons a day.

MAY BUILD LINE TO NEW CORNELIA

Report That Calumet & Arizona Company Will Construct Railroad.

Bisbee, Ariz., Aug. 2.—A telegram to the Review from Tucson stated that a report was current in that city to the effect that the Calumet & Arizona Mining company has ordered work to start on a survey for a railroad from Tucson to the New Cornelia property, recently acquired by the Calumet & Arizona in the Ajos mountains. The distance of this line from Tucson would be eighty-five miles, according to estimate.

On receipt of the news from Tucson the Review sought Capt. Greenway, manager of the Calumet & Arizona, for a confirmation or denial of the railroad story. This effort brought no results, as the reply of Capt. Greenway came in four words: "I have nothing to say." The inquisitorial pump was readjusted several times in the hope of gaining something more definite. Supposition questions were ingeniously formed, but without result. The captain had nothing to say and was very careful not to say anything on that subject.

It is conceded to be a fact that without railroad transportation the New Cornelia mining property would be too lean to justify its development or operation, according to general report, and so this would seem to account for a necessity for such a line as described in the Tucson report. However, it is also a fact that a railroad to the New Cornelia might be constructed in about half the distance from a point on the Southern Pacific much farther west than Tucson.

Houghton, Mich., Aug. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Keweenaw Copper company reports a further disclosure of commercial copper ground in the exploratory campaign in progress on that property. The present showing was obtained in drilling Hole No. 45, and makes the sixth disclosure, only one hole in seven thus far failing to yield the desired result. Hole No. 45 intersected a bed 12 feet thick, carrying copper in good quantity. This bed lies in the horizon of the Ashbed lodes among which the Quincy lode is the master formation. Two diamond drills are in service.

Winona.

Dr. L. L. Hubbard, manager of the Winona Copper Mining company, has resigned and will be succeeded by Rex R. Seeber, the present superintendent. The mine office will be removed from Houghton to Winona. The company was actively engaged in development work until the present labor strike put a quietus on operations, and the mine is now in shape to make a production of 1,200 to 1,400 tons of rock daily and keep ground reserves well in advance of immediate requirements if sufficient labor were available. The mill has been brought to greater efficiency, and the general situation here is now such that, with a daily output of 1,500 tons, a profit on operations is certain to be had, which is "going some" for old Winona, so long discredited.

Naumkeag.

The Naumkeag Mining company continues actively engaged in exploratory work in the horizon of the Atlantic lode. Eight holes have been drilled to date, but with what results is not known as the company, in line with the Lewissohn policy of secrecy, has not seen fit to make a public announcement regarding this work. J. Parke Channing, consulting engineer for these interests, is here this week on a tour of inspection.

Indiana.

The Indiana has discontinued diamond drilling the object of which was to locate the felsite bed at the 1,400 level, and as the miners engaged in driving the crosscuts on the 600 and 1,150-foot levels have gone on strike, the company is now in complete idleness. The felsite bed which was located as per program, between 80 and 300 feet southeast of the shaft yielded no important showings of copper at this depth, but though only slightly mineralized where intersected by the drill hole gives considerable promise at other points, and as soon as the labor situation has cleared sufficiently to permit it a crosscut will be run in this direction for fuller investigation.

SUPERINTENDENT FOR INSPIRATION

Felix McDonald, Recently of Ohio Copper Company, Takes Charge.

Salt Lake City, Utah, Aug. 2.—Felix McDonald, mine superintendent of the Ohio Copper company and one of the best-known and efficient of big-tonnage miners in the West, has accepted a splendid offer from the Inspiration Consolidated company, and he will leave within the next few days to become superintendent for this company. Mr. McDonald has been connected with Bingham mines for a number of years and he has made an enviable record for economical handling of wholesale tonnages, not the least of which has come from his fine record with the Ohio Copper company.

Utah loses a mighty good mining man, but Arizona will be the gainer.

BUTTE & LONDON IS TO START UP AGAIN

Property Will Be Reopened About the Middle of September.

Butte, Mont., Aug. 2.—Representatives of Thomas F. Cole, now in Butte, state that the Butte & London property, which has now been idle for more than five years, will be reopened about the middle of September. The electric equipment, which has been ordered, is expected here the middle of this month. Under the arrangement with the Rainbow Development company, the shaft will be sunk from 1,100 to 1,600 feet. At the time the mine was closed in 1907, prospects were good for pay ore. E. C. Congdon is president of the company, and Mr. Cole is "the man behind."

OBJECTIONS TO TUOLUMNE PLAN

Senator Lee Mantle Contends That It Would Cheapen the Stock.

Butte, Mont., Aug. 2.—Senator Lee Mantle, who, with some of the other large shareholders of Tuolumne, objects to the proposed recapitalization of Tuolumne to furnish the means to purchase Butte Main Range ground, or some other nearby property, stated last evening that he desires to be plainly understood and that his protest is not based on distrust of any of the officers, but on the principle that such a plan would only injure Tuolumne's value with but an outside chance of profiting by the deal.

"I share the high regard in which President Ed Hickey is held in this community," said the senator. "But at the same time I must, as a stockholder in Tuolumne, object to a move that would only cheapen the stock. As a matter of principle I question the wisdom of the men behind Tuolumne buying Butte Main Range with Tuolumne's money, when the ownership is largely the same in both cases.

"In my possession I have the court records, which show that the Butte Main Range owns all of the Sinbad lode, comprising 5.24 acres, and which was deeded by members of the Largey family and the Largey estate; that it owns one-third of the Lilly, comprising 16.72 acres, and which was deeded by the Hirbour and Langlois estates; that it owns all of the Spread Delight, comprising 17.15 acres, deeded by P. J. Brophy and wife; that it owns half the Lilly, deeded by Ed Hickey and wife; that it owns all of the Tent, comprising .278 acres, and deeded by Ed Hickey and wife; and that it owns the Rory O'More, comprising 6.11 acres, and deeded by Patrick Sheehan and wife."

N. J. Bielenburg, one of the directors of Tuolumne, is in the city. He is opposed to the recapitalization plan. Other large stockholders who are protesting are James A. Murray and Judge J. J. McHatton.

RECORD JOB AT JUNCTION ENDING

Great Shaft Work Will Be Finished Month Ahead of Time.

Bisbee, Ariz., Aug. 2.—The greatest job of shaft concreting ever carried out in America and probably in the world will be brought to conclusion at the collar of the Junction about Sept. 1.

Concreting the Junction shaft of the Calumet & Arizona was commenced at the bottom of the five compartment 1,500-foot shaft eight months ago. It was estimated at that time that ten months would be required to raise the concrete to the top, and that if done in this time it would represent a fast job. The original estimate on time will be beaten by a month.

Shaft concreting so far as records are available here has never been carried on in as big a way as at the Junction. So far as known, all concreting in this country has been comparatively shallow shafts, mostly in the Lake country.

In Junction there has been the problem of carrying on the concreting in five compartments and not interfering with steam pipes, water columns and other equipment in the great mining shaft.

In charge of the Junction concreting from the start has been Don Rait, who was taken from the engineering office at the beginning of the work. Mr. Rait has made a splendid record in handling the great job.

Junction shaft has five compartments, an eleven-foot, a four-foot and three five feet. When the concrete is brought to the top there will be probably another month's work in hanging new cages, reconstructing top plate and making some other changes. It will be ready for commission, however, close around Oct. 1. The work is now within 250 feet of the collar and fine headway being made.

CITY PLANNING FOR THE WORKINGMAN.

Lack of adequate planning for industrial communities is vigorously discussed in The Survey by George B. Ford, city planning expert for Newark and lecturer on that subject at Columbia university. He says:

"Large cities are spending millions today to widen streets, cut through new streets, provide parks and playgrounds in congested areas, almost all of which might have been saved if the city had been originally planned with foresight. Hundreds of millions are spent on hospitals, asylums, sanitoria, jails, health, police and fire departments, a large portion of which could have been saved if the cities had not been so wastefully and unscientifically designed.

"For example, if the lot and block units and dimensions in sections surrounding the factories which moved to Norwood and Oakley, on the outskirts of Cincinnati, had been laid out along lines which experience has shown to be most economical and desirable for workingmen's dwellings and if provision had been made for recreation for grown-ups as well as for children, as suggested by the English garden suburbs, the neighborhood of the factories would now be almost exclusively occupied by the employes in those factories instead of largely by clerks and business men who commute daily to Cincinnati. And furthermore, the slum problem of Cincinnati itself would be vastly less urgent.

"If the lots were cut for the occupant instead of the occupant being trimmed to the lot; if streets and roadways were designed in location, direction, character and width for use and not according to obsolete precedent; if transit lines were designed with the same efficiency that the manufacturer exhibits in designing his own plant; if people could only realize that money spent in scientifically designed recreational facilities is paid back in many ways to the community, then the workingmen's residential area, instead of being an eyesore and a disgrace to the community, would be what the English garden suburbs now are, the most charming and efficient housing areas to be found anywhere in the world.

"The problem is simple. It requires first, merely an appreciation of the fact that city planning pays; and second, it requires a co-operative effort on the part of the workingmen to secure such scientific city planning."

WHOLE LIST HAS ADVANCE

Danger of Corn Crop Causes Greater Demand for Wheat.

Fears of Shortage in Breadstuffs Boosting Price—Flax in Demand.

Duluth Board of Trade, Aug. 1.—The Duluth market advanced as a whole today, wheat appearing strong from the start, while at first flax had an appearance of weakness. September wheat closed ⅜c up and December wheat closed at an advance of ⅜@½c. September durum closed ¼c up.

Flax closed up, September advancing ⅝c as did October; November, with but little attention paid to it, going up ⅛c and December gaining ½c for the day.

Oats advanced ⅞c and corn added to its price 1⅜c.

September puts, 87¼@87⅜c; calls, 88⅜c asked.

The strong advance in corn is what caused the advance in wheat. With the steady advance in the corn market, which does not seem to have reached a stopping point even yet, many are covering in wheat, fearing a shortage of breadstuffs in general if rain does not relieve the corn situation pretty soon. It is expected that if rain does not come over Sunday there will be a rush in both wheat and corn on Monday. The price of wheat is very low anyway and it is believed is due for an advance on general principles.

Flax Weakens; Then Strengthens.

Flax showed weak at the beginning of the market owing to an absence of buying orders, and the trend was downward, October and December options being a fraction off. Later a slight demand for the seed caused an advance which was held to the close.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Corn Prices Jump Quickly to Still Higher Mark.

Chicago, Aug. 2.—Corn today sprung promptly to a new high price record for the season. Not only had there been no break in the drouth, but rainless skies were predicted for the next three days, with rising temperature in prospect. Increasing damage to crops added to the excitement among speculators and brought a huge volume of trade, new investors taking hold, old ones taking profits and some old ones extending former lines.

A further upturn ensued but general realizing sales by holders caused a temporary setback. The close was firm with September 1⅜@1½c net higher at 69½@69⅝c.

An advance of ½c to 1½@1⅝c over last night showed itself in corn at the very outset. The September option started at 68⅝c to 69¼c, a gain of ½c to 1⅛c and rose to 69⅝c. May in which the transactions were not so heavy jumped higher than the other months.

Beginning of harvest in Canada with weather excellent led to some reaction. The close was easy with December ⅝@¾c net higher at 91½@91⅝c.

Notwithstanding active selling on the part of leading houses, wheat prices climbed, influenced by corn. Unfavorable advices from Russia and Roumania counted also against the bears. September opened ⅛c to ¼c higher at 91c to 91⅛c, touched 90⅞@91c and ascended to 91¾c.

Oats followed other grain upward. September started ⅛c to ⅜c dearer at 42c to 42⅜c and then reached 42½@42⅝c.

Provisions weakened with hogs. First sales were 10c lower to 5c higher with September options as follows:

Pork, $21.02½; lard, $11.60 to $11.65; ribs, $11.62½.

HE FIXED THEM.

Los Angeles Times: Secretary Bryan, being congratulated at a luncheon on another diplomatic success, replied:

"AA statesman must be resourceful. He must cast about, this way and that, till he succeeds like Evangelist Moody.

"Moody, you know, was invited in his early days to preach in a church whose congregation was notorious for leaving before the end of the sermon. Moody was warned of this; but he said confidently:

"'I'll try to fix them.'

"And he cast about in his mind, and the morning he entered the notorious congregation's pulpit he said:

"'My sermon will be divided into two parts. One part is addressed to saints, the other part is addressed to sinners. Let us take the sinners first.'

"He preached for twenty minutes. Then he said:

"'I have now finished with the sinners. They may, if they please, take their hats and go. The saints will remain.'

"But nobody departed. That congregation, for the first time in its history, remained in a body till the end of the service."

CHANGES ARE ONLY SLIGHT

Stocks Have Numerous Early Declines But Make Gradual Recovery.

Alarming Reports From Agricultural Centers Have Depressing Influence.

New York, Aug. 2.—Extreme dullness prevailed at the opening of today's stock market. Price changes in no instance exceeded fractions. Consolidated Gas, Amalgamated, Canadian Pacific and a few other active issues were lower. The only gains recorded were by New York Central, Western Maryland and Texas Oil.

Increasing dullness overtook the market in the first hour, the ticker at frequent intervals coming to an absolute stop. Except for some slight improvement from early declines, notably in Canadian Pacific, no material changes were recorded.

The market closed steady. Alarming reports from various agricultural centers exercised a further depressing influence on today's session. There were numerous early declines but the list made gradual recovery, until prices were on a parity with yesterday's close. One of the few features of the dull session was the purchase of a block of 5,500 Steel at 58¾, midway between lowest of the morning and the previous day's final quotations. Bonds were easy.

WEEKLY REVIEW OF TRADE

New York, Aug. 2.—Dun's Review today says: Encouraging reports of business conditions predominate, and the growth of confidence is evidenced by increased preparations for fall and winter trade. All the leading markets continue quiet, yet in some instances the mid-summer recession has been of shorter duration than customary.

The prevailing optimistic feeling was apparently not impared by the reported damage to corn, and the agricultural situation still is promising. Gradual recovery in spring wheat is accompanied by splendid harvesting returns from the Southwest. The possibility of a strike on the Eastern railroads is now more remote, but financial sentiment was somewhat disturbed by the reduction in the dividend of a prominent system, although such action was not entirely unexpected. The revenues of a few roads show a falling off, but in the aggregate, railway earnings continue to exceed the total of a year ago.

Failures this week numbered 256 in the United States against 291 last year, and 30 in Canada, compared with 24 a year ago.

DULL WEEK-END IN COPPER STOCKS

There was vetry little doing in stocks today. The week-end shyness predominated and the situation in corn affected all stocks to a large degree. There was little inclination to buy stocks; but where they showed any activity at all there was also a fair feeling of strength. The close all along the line was with but little if any change from yesterday's closing prices.

The latest number of Skillings' Mining and Market Letter, views the copper market situation most optimistically. In his mining stock letter Mr. Skillings says:

"The stock market has given further evidence of buoyancy and healthy improvement this week. It has stood profit taking well, and the coppers seem destined to reach higher levels after each reaction for some time to come. The copper metal situation is excellent. If buying was quiet in June, it was very heavy in July, and the demand for spot copper is good. With a return of money conditions to normal the demand for copper metal undoubtedly would be enormous. This is no time for investors to sell good copper stocks, but rather is it a good time to add to their holdings. This may not hold for the trader who aims to frequently scalp the market, on moderate reactions and bulges, but it does to the investor who buys the actual stock and is prepared to deliver it when he desires to sell. The Duluth curb market is quiet, and it contains some real bargains. The local sentiment is much better, many selling orders recently have been cancelled, and indications point to better general conditions. Duluth brokers regard the prospective markets the coming fall with much confidence."

The combined production of the Calumet & Arizona Mining company and Superior & Pittsburg Copper company for the month of June, 1913, was 3,200,000 pounds of blister copper. This product is short on account of changing from the old to the new smelter.

BOMBARD THE REBEL FORTS

Chinese Forces Are Able to Make No Impression on Them.

Dr. Sun Yat Sen Is Confident of Success of Revolt.

Shanghai, China, Aug. 2.—The Wu Sing forts, which are in the hands of the rebels, were bombarded at daybreak by the Chinese government warships commanded by Admiral Tseng, but no damage was caused. Two cruisers opened fire at a range of five miles and the forts replied. After a desultory exchange of shots lasting an hour the warships withdrew.

Ultimatum to Fu Chow.

Amoy, China, Aug. 2.—The city of Fu Chow must rescind its recent resolution to secede from the Chinese republic within ten days, or an army from Pekin will invade the province of Fo Kien. Native reports today declare that Provisional President Yuan Shi Kai has sent an ultimatum to this effect.

A serious situation has been brought about in Amoy by the continued clan fighting between the semi-Mongolian Tungan tribesmen and the Formosans. The Japanese authorities interfered yesterday and caused the arrest of the leader of the Tungans. The tribesmen, in retaliation, took some soldiers prisoners and declare they will hold them as hostages for the safety of their leader. A Japanese warship is lying off the disaffected district.

Sun Yat Sen Confident.

Shanghai, China, Aug. 2.—Dr. Sun Yat Sen, one of the leaders of the southern rebellion, declares the reoccupation of Nanking by government forces is only temporary. The spirit of the southerners, he affirmed, is undaunted, and they will renew the struggle with Kwang Tung and other southern provinces have been conquered.

Dr. Sun left Shanghai last night for Hongkong, where he personally will appeal for further support in his campaign to overthrow Provisional President Yuan Shi Kai for crimes which the southern leader claims have been committed by the president; namely the illegal execution of military officers, the assassination of the nationalist leader, Gen. Sung Chiao Gen, the issuing of unconstitutional mandates, and the enactment of laws without consulting parliament.

CHICAGO MAN KILLS PARTNER.

Chicago, Aug. 2.—James J. Floros was shot and killed last night by Peter Rusetos his business partner, after a business quarrel. Rusetos was arrested.

While July broke no records with reference to the number of real estate transfers recorded and the volume of business done in local realty circles, dealers are well satisfied and take the usual summer lull as a matter of course.

A number of encouraging signs have manifested themselves and real estate dealers are sizing up the future with an air of optimism. While sales have been somewhat slack and deals rather slow at times, it should not be deducted that local properties have lost any of their investment qualities. The situation is quite general and throughout the country real estate dealers have the same story to tell. With a better money market in sight things look brighter, especially from the viewpoint of the realty dealer. With a big crop in sight this year, real estate men are not worrying as to what the future will bring.

While the following statistics touching upon considerations involved in real estate trades cannot be relied upon as a true indication of the real prices paid, nevertheless it is interesting to know the relative growth of the business as reflected in the real estate transfers. The following shows the number of transfers put on record with the register of deeds during the past seven months and the known considerations stated during each.

During the past month, the local realty market has been featured by activity in the subdivision business. A number of well known operators have been busy offering attractive acre tract sites near the city. On the whole, the sales have been very satisfactory. The acre tracts are advantageously situated for gardening and homecrofting purposes and are meeting with considerable favor.

A. W. Kuehnow of the Gary Land company reports the sale of twenty-nine lots at Gary during the past week. Of this number two choice corners on Gary street were disposed of to Indiana purchasers who contemplate immediate improvement. Gary people are looking forward to the installation of a water system in the suburb within the next sixty days. During the past week, building activity continued, five new permits nave been taken out for the construction of new buildings.

Among the subdivision properties, Exeter farm tracts, which has been put on the market by the Alliance Real Estate company, enjoyed a good sale. About fifteen of the parcels were sold.

Field & Co. and will engage in a general real estate and insurance business. The capital stock of the concern is $50,000 and the incorporators are E. D. Field, president; treasurer, A. J. BUSY BUILDING SEASON LOOKED FOR DURING FALL

Little New Work Has Developed During Past Week.

Contractors Busy Getting Present Jobs Out of the Way.

The past week has been a rather quiet one in construction circles. Building men and architects advise that little new work has come to the surface and that contractors are now busy getting their present jobs out of the way. Architects, however, predict that the fall months will be busy ones.

The Duluth board of trade this week took preliminary steps towards the erection of a new and larger office building. By a vote of its members, the executive committee was authorized to close an option for property at Fourth avenue west and second street to be used as a site for a new building when it becomes necessary. The property fronts 125 feet on the northeast corner and will cost $48,000.

Contractors are making good progress on the preliminary construction work for the new ore dock of the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railroad at Thirty-third avenue west. The concrete foundations above Superior street have all been put in and are now ready to receive the steel work. The crews are now employed in putting in the concrete foundations below Superior street.

The turbine system of vacuum cleaning will be installed for the first time in a Duluth home in the residence of A. C. Gillette, which is now under construction at Twenty-fifth avenue east and Sixth street. The contract for the installation of the new system was let this week by Architect Anthony Puck to Robinson, Cary & Sands for $400. The heating and plumbing contract was awarded to Stack Bros. for $3,000. The Gillette residence complete will cost in the neighborhood of $18,000 or $20,000. The general contract is being handled by Richard Hanson.

Architect P. M. Olson is taking figures this week on a two-story frame and stucco residence to be built for Louis Ehrhard at Menomonie, Wis., at a cost of $11,000. The same architect is asking for bids on a two-story frame and stucco residence to be erected for Rudolph Miller at Twenty-eighth avenue east and London road. It will cost $4,500.

At a cost of between $4,000 and $5,000, the Berkeley apartments at 416-420 East First street are being remodeled. A new steam heating system is being installed by D. R. Black & Co., and J. O. Porlier & Co. are doing the decorative work. The property is owned by E. C. Bassett and is managed by John A. Stephenson & Co.

Lignell & Loebeck have prepared plans for a ten-room brick schoolhouse to be erected at Warroad, Minn., at a cost of about $20,000. The same architects have let the contract for the new $25,000 courthouse at Rosseau, Minn., to Hugh Fawcett of Duluth.

Vernon J. Price & Co. are taking bids on a two-room brick schoolhouse to be erected at Crosby, Minn. The same office is taking figures for the residence of the German Lutheran church parsonage, Sixth avenue east and Fourth street.

• • •

Architect Arthur Hanford has prepared plans for a $2,000 bungalow to put up for Henry Munt at Forty-fourth avenue east and Cooke street, Lakeside, and also has plans out for figures for a brick garage to be erected for W. J. McCabe at the rear of his residence on Harvard street, Glen Avon.

"THE LAND OF OPPORTUNITY"

That Is How Louis Hill Describes Minnesota in Article Written for the Chicago Paper.

Louis W. Hill, president of the Great Northern railway, in a special article contributed to the Sunday Chicago Record Herald describes Minnesota as a land of opportunity for the settler and makes an appeal to the farmer who is looking for virgin soil.

The article is an interesting and instructive one in many particulars. It is in part as follows:

"This is a nation of varied resources and great opportunity. And opportunity is all any man should ask. Given that, it is up to the individual to make good—to win.

Every state in the Union offers abundant opportunity along some line to the man who will work.

"But they are different, and fortunately so. It has been well said that the diversity of interests and industries of the United States is her greatest source of strength—has been the cause of her wonderful growth and development.

Virgin Soil in Minnesota.

"Minnesota has been called an old-new state. Farmers from her prairies left the plow in the furrow to maintain the cause of the Union in 1861. That was fifty years ago, but still one-half of her rich, available soil has never been disturbed.

"And there are several reasons for that condition existing today. The chief one is the disposition of man to look for a quick return. No matter where the man comes from, when he sets his foot on American soil and fills his lungs with northern air, he becomes possessed with the idea of doing something that will bring him quick returns — the get-rich-quick spirit.

"The early settlement of Minnesota was largely — almost exclusively—on the prairies. And when they were occupied there were the great rolling acres beyond—Western Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska, the Dakotas, Montana — all wanting to be simply turned by the plow, the seed scattered, and a bountiful crop harvested, all within eighteen months. Here was an easy opportunity for a quick return, and that is nearly always more attractive than permanency.

Forest Line Receding.

"Minnesota's unoccupied lands forty years ago were nearly all either covered by tremendously dense forests, or else owing to the proximity of the forests were too wet for agricultural purposes until drained. Gradually the lumberman—and fire—have pushed the forest line back, and the settler has followed. But it has taken time, and will take more for man to complete the mastery. For she still has over 25,000,000 acres of land capable of the highest type of agriculture that has never been turned by the plow.

"While there is still this vast undeveloped domain, her agricultural products have increased by leaps and bounds.

"Minnesota has a great diversity of interests and opportunities not common to many states. First she has abundance of cheap lands. The state has never been boomed. The people who were here have had abundance, and it has come to them fast and easily. They have not had that greatest incentive to advertise and boom their state, which is always a desire of a large proportion of the people to sell out and move on to some new field which looks green in the distance. They have had abundant returns for their labor, and have been content to enjoy it.

Rich as in Nile Valley.

"The soil is as rich as that in the valley of the Nile. Originally decomposed rock, as all soil, the forests and immense growth of native grasses and other vegetation have been annually adding humus, until in much of the newer area the black soil is several feet in depth.

"While in the past the efforts of Minnesota farmers have been principally directed to the growing of grains and field crops, the opportunity for more intensive agriculture—the growing of roots, vegetables and small fruits—is practically unlimited.

"The Twin Cities, with a population of 540,000, Duluth wth 85,000, and the many smaller cities of the state, afford a home market for immense quantities of this class of products; and they are almost at the growers' door wherever he may locate. Loaded on the train at night, they will reach one of the good cities fresh and crisp early the next morning.

"And if the grower prefers he can procure land—the very best there is for the purpose—within two hours' drive of any of these larger cities for from $20 to $50 per acre.

Opportunity for Home.

"No place we ever saw presents the opportunity for the family to make a good living and have a good home on a small tract of land with as small an investment as does the vicinity of St. Paul, Minneapolis and Duluth. Ten acres for cultivation, and thirty more for pasture and hay are amply sufficient for the intensive farmer. And within ten months after he settles he may be harvesting a crop. Many carloads of Minnesota vegetables are now being shipped south every year, and the trade is proving very profitable. November, December, January and February are the months they need our vegetables, and the months we can supply them with onions, celery, cabbage, potatoes, and many other vegetables that can be stored that long. Celery growing is proving wonderfully profitable in Minnesota, and is yet in its infancy. As much as $1,200 worth has been grown on an acre.

"But if the reader is interested in field agriculture rather than the more intensive he will find equally as inviting conditions. Clover grows on the new lands, as a weed, once the seed is dropped.

"There are millions of acres of land from which the timber has been cut or burned that can be bought for from $5 to $12 per acre. The scattering of a little clover seed makes of these the choicest of grazing lands and a very few years Dame Nature will destroy the stumps. And what farms they do make!

Minnesota Needs Workers.

"This splendid state only needs one thing that she has not already. That is men and women with the determination to make for themselves and their families the very best of homes, and the courage to come and do it. It is poor man's paradise. The state owns large areas of the best of the new lands, and is selling them at from $5 per acre up, according to location, of which 15 per cent must be paid in cash, the balance being payable in forty annual payments, with interest at the low rate of 4 per cent. Drainage ditches are being dug and roads built where needed, under the supervision of the state. New schools are established as fast as settlement warrants.

"Apples, plums and small fruits produce immensely, and the demand for them is always great. One of the accompanying photographs shows an apple tree planted at the writer's home, eleven miles north of St. Paul, three years ago, then a mere slip from the nursery.

"The new settler will find abundance of raspberries, plums and other wild fruits for his family, until he can grow the better varieties.

"With only half of the land under cultivation Minnesota produces more wheat than any other state in the Union, and of the best quality; there are only two which produce more oats, Iowa and Illinois, and their land is worth from $125 to $250 per acre; only one state, California, produces more barley."

DESIGNS FOR BATHROOM.

Stencil Tile Work Advocated for Treatment of Walls.

Probably the most satisfactory painted treatment of bathroom walls is in stenciled tile effects, says the Decorator. The entire wall may be given this tile effect, or the tile design may be carried up as a dado to a height of some five feet, where it should be capped with the border, and the wall painted in a plain tint above.

For these tile designs light colors should be used in imitation of the tiles most generally used in bathrooms. Deft colorings are popular, either dull blue or dull green on white or ivory white. Blue green on a background of pale cream is very pleasing, or a more pronounced green on a pale pink ground. Very light lemon yellow might be used as a ground color with the design stenciled in a light ocre tint. The color should be mixed so as to dry with a gloss.

A good result could be obtained by mixing the color very thick for the last coat and adding a certain proportion of varnish, then stippling it on the wall in such a manner as to give a roughened effect. A coat of outside or flowing coach varnish over this would give the work the mellow tone that many of the art tiles have. It is remarkable how conspicuously the tiniest bit of dust that may get worked into the varnish will show up when the work is finished, and great care must therefore be taken that dust is not present.

ARCHITECT LOSES CASE.

California Court Holds Building's Cost Must Come Within Estimate.

A court decision somewhat startling to architects comes from Oakland, Cal. A press dispatch says: "The decision of Judge Murphy in favor of Former Governor George C. Pardee and against Charles Taylor, architect, it is believed, will afford the institute of architects a theme for discussion. Pardee entered into an agreement with Charles Taylor and his father, under the terms of which Taylor was to draw plans for a home to cost not over $25,000. After the house was built Pardee found that he had spent $34,000 in its construction, and refused to pay Taylor's fee. Taylor sued for $751, and Judge Murphy held that he should have kept the price within the original estimate if he desired to collect for his services under his contract."

HOW WINNIPEG VALUES INCREASE.

As illustrating the increase of values of Winnipeg property westward in the past few years, it is shown that five years ago properties within short walking distances of the north bank of the Assiniboine river could have been bought for $18 to $25 a foot, these same properties being held today at prices ranging all the way from $150 to $250 per foot.

Further west, according to carefully compiled figures, properties along the line of the boulevards in the direction of the city park that two years ago could have been purchased for $10 and $12 a foot are today selling at $50 to $75 a foot.

These figures, it is stated by competent real estate experts, are quite in line with the obvious tendency of Winnipeg's westward growth, and specific instances are not wanting to confirm this view. The Eaton store property, four blocks west of Main street, was valued ten years ago at $200 per foot; today its value is reckoned at upwards of $4,000 a foot. The Northwest corner of Portage avenue and Furby street, sixteen blocks from Main street, shows an increased valuation of from $60 to $1,520 per foot in the same period. Other properties out Portage avenue show corresponding increases.

Abraham Fink of Buffalo Wounds Companion in New York.

The man died instantly and there is little hope that the woman can survive.

Letters found in the dead man's pocket were signed by Violet Rogers of Buffalo.

At the hospital the woman recovered sufficiently to say she was Rebecca Silverman, 21 years old, and that she lived with her brother in this city. Fink, she said, was a widower, about 48 years old, who traveled as a jewelry salesman.

Kammerer, prominent young druggist of this city, who was in good health yesterday when he went to the office of Dr. R. G. Hunn to have a tooth extracted.

Dr. Hunn insists today that Mr. Kammerer drank a quart of whisky before the tooth was removed. He admits he extracted the tooth while the druggist was lying on the floor. When asked why he denied that Mr. Kammerer was in his office when friends inquired about him, Dr. Hunn said he wanted Mr. Krammerer to get over the effects of the stimulant.

Coroner Rhodes says examination of the stomach failed to reveal the presence of whisky.

HOOPES-KOHAGEN CO.

The Steel Corporation

Just at this time when the big work of the Steel Corporation is under way, Proctor is feeling the influence and will share in the development and "boom" now in sight for this region.

The same people own and control the railroad, shops and terminals here at Proctor that are building the Steel Plant on the bay below, and it is believed that the big Proctor shops will be used as an adjunct and auxiliary in the construction of the Steel Plant buildings and improvements.

Already the Railway Company has made the survey to extend a new ore road from the Yards to the Plant and another immense ore dock is being constructed on the bay.

These improvements will be direct feeders for Proctor, and with its two shop plants, yards and terminals, Proctor is really an important part of the Steel Plant. The position is such that when the street cars come from West Duluth, it is said, they will be extended from Proctor and make a "loop" around by the Steel Plant and back to West Duluth. Adv.

$50,000 FOR DISAPPEARING

Chief Witness in Western Fuel Cases Tells of Offer.

New Sensation Sprung in West Coast Indictments.

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 2.—At a conference with the special counsel who will prosecute the Western Fuel company cases here this month, David G. Powers, formerly an employe of the company and now the chief witness for the government, said he had been offered $50,000 if he would vanish.

Powers gave the names of those who approached him. Matt I. Sullivan and Theodore J. Roche, in charge of the case as assistants to the attorney general, declined to discuss Powers' story beyond saying:

"We shall vigorously prosecute every person connected with this immense fraud."

Accused of Frauds.

The president and directors of the Western Fuel company are charged with having defrauded the government of customs dues aggregating nearly $1,000,000 by manipulating weighing sheets showing the tonnage of imported coal.

"The Western Fuel company can't be convicted," Powers said he was told, "and you're a fool not to accept the $20,000 they are willing to give you to disappear. Take what you can get and quit. If $20,000 isn't enough they'll be glad to make it $50,000. You've got to look out for yourself."

This is the second charge of corrupt influence made since indictments were returned. When John L. McNab resigned as United States attorney, he charged in a sensational letter to President Wilson that pressure had been brought to bear on Attorney General McReynolds to order the trial postponed.

INCREASE IN BUILDING

Permits for First Seven Months Show Big Gain.

Building permits for the first seven months of this year show an increase of $1,365,109 over the aggregate for the same months a year ago.

Up to Aug. 1 Building Inspector S. M. Kielley issued permits for improvements estimated to cost $2,894,172, as compared with $1,529,063 to Aug. 1, 1912, according to the statement prepared today by Deputy Adolph Anderson.

During July, 183 permits were issued for improvements estimated at $236,413. During July a year ago 163 permits were issued for improvements estimated at $481,015. Most of the difference is accounted for by a permit issued last year in July for a large coal dock.

Building operations have been active in Duluth this year and the indications are that the activity will continue until the winter. Much building is being done at Gary and New Duluth, in the vicinity of the steel plant, but it is by no means confined to that locality, being general throughout the city.

WILL FOLD ITS WINGS

"Lark" Will Hibernate Following the Parade of Decorated Automobiles.

Cars Will Assemble at London Road and Superior Street.

If you're not down town just about 8 o'clock tonight you won't see the auto parade, for promptness will be the watchword.

No delinquent will be waited for. If anybody who wants to get into the parade with his car is not on hand on time at London road and Superior street, which will be the assembling point, he will have to chase the parade and catch it as soon as he can and then simply bring up the rear. The assignment of positions will be governed by the time of arrival of the machines. The parade will begin to assemble at 7:30 this evening and promptly at 8 o'clock will move out, traveling west on Superior street to Eighth avenue west.

All autos, not in the parade, all carriages and other vehicles have been ordered not to stand on Superior street during the parade in order that the curbs may be clear and the view uninterfered with during the time the procession is on. This order will be rigidly enforced, and the committee in charge appreciates the act of the city commissioners in this very much.

The judges of the parade will be stationed at Second avenue west and Superior street, and will there award the prizes. There are more then a dozen prizes listed, all of them useful auto accessories, and in addition thereto are three silver cups which will be given as premiums to the winners in the three classes.

All of 200 autos are expected to be in line tonight. Theer is much secret preparation on for the parade, and it would not be surprising to see some very attractive turnouts. Some auto owners, it is claimed, are putting up fancy prices for floral and other decorations, and it is believed that there will be some beautiful effects. Some of the trucks that will be in the parade are also expected to be fancifully togged out. But nothing can be found out in advance about these things, for each entrant is saying nothing.

There will be much honking, a great deal of confetti and large gobs of noise of various kinds this evening; and after it is all over the Lark of the Lake will return to its nest to hibernate for another year.

OWN A HOME

AND CHEAT THE RAINY DAY

That every man can be a property owner needs no discussion, but that only a small percentage do, needs some comment.

Five, ten or fifteen years ago had you purchased a home on the easy payment plan, on payments no bigger than the monthly rent, it would be free and clear today and working for you every minute. It would have greatly increased in value. But it's never too late. In fact, there never was a better time to buy than now, never a time when the prospects for a bigger and better Duluth looked better, or a time when cozy, comfortable homes can be purchased on such easy terms. That monthly rent will do it, and to do it is a duty.

Every day The Herald's Real Estate Columns call to you with lists of payment plan homes. Look them over. You'll find what you want.

COMMERCE COMMISSION ORDERS EXPRESS RATES CUT ON NEW PRINCIPLE

MAY APPLY SAME BASIS TO FREIGHT

Order Means $26,000,000 Reduction in Gross Earnings.

Some Charges Are Made Lower Than the Parcel Post.

Country Is Divided Into 950 Blocks to Fix Costs.

Washington, Aug. 4.—Reductions in express rates which will cost the companies fully $26,000,000 a year—approximately 16 per cent of their gross revenue—were ordered by the interstate commerce commission today to become effective on or before Oct. 15, 1913. Notable reforms in practices also were ordered.

The most important change prescribed by the order is by way of modification of the present graduated scale of parcel rates. One hundred pound rates for short distances either have been left unchanged or slightly reduced; for longer distances they have been lowered; for fifty pounds or less all rates practically have been reduced.

Approach Postal Rates.

For packages more than four pounds, going more than 200 miles and less than 2,000, the new express rates are generally lower than the parcel post rates; for more than 3,000 miles the rates are practically the same.

The report and order of the commission prepared by Commissioner John H. Marble, are a virtual affirmation of the findings of former Commissioner Franklin K. Lane, new secretary of the interior.

By prescribing a so-called block system, dividing the United States into 950 blocks, averaging 2,500 square miles, as originally proposed by Mr. Lane, 900,000,000 different rates now published by the express companies will be reduced to less than 650,000, and the interstate commerce commission believes that the system points the way to a solution of the existing maze of freight rates.

The general impression in official

EXCURSIONIST ON LAKE BOAT DROWNS

Racine Man Falls Overboard Into Lake Michigan.

Racine, Wis., Aug. 4.—Albert Jenz of Racine was drowned in Lake Michigan last night when he fell overboard from the steamer City of Kansas, en route to Kenosha, Wis. Jenz was on the hurricane deck and accidentally toppled over the rail. The steamer had proceeded but a short distance from the local harbor, and a signal was given the lifesaving station for assistance. Boats were lowered, but a prolonged search failed to find the man.

The Kansas was making a moonlight excursion trip.

TWO MILLIONAIRES KILLED BY CAR WRECK

S. Osgood Pell and William Laimbeer Dead—Mrs. Laimbeer Hurt.

Hempstead, L. I., Aug. 4.—William Laimbeer, banker and society leader, injured last night in an automobile accident in which S. Osgood, Pell and his chauffeur, Charles Gambean, were killed outright, succumbed to his injuries at the Mercy hospital today. A fracture of the skull was the cause of death, although he was suffering from numerous other injuries. Throughout the night he remained barely alive, and hope for his recovery practically was abandoned early today.

Mrs. Laimbeer, who was Miss Natalie Schenck, a famous beauty of Newport and New York, was in a critical condition this forenoon, but it was believed she would recover.

Pell and his chauffeur were killed at Long Beach crossing when their automobile was struck by an electric train. Laimbeer and his wife, of Hempstead, were riding in the Pell machine.

Of Old Family.

S. Osgood Pell was a member of an old New York family. He was a daring hunter and autoist, and only recently became an enthusiastic aerist. He was known well in New York and Newport society and was a member of many clubs.

William Laimbeer is a banker and prominent socially. His first wife was Clara Bloodgood, the actress. She committed suicide in 1907.

The present Mrs. Laimbeer formerly was Natalie Schenck. She was one of the most popular girls in Newport and New York society. Her first husband was Charles Glencollins, a captain in the British army, from whom she obtained a divorce.

Mr. and Mrs. Laimbeer were thrown high in the air in the accident, which occurred while the party was returning from a dinner party given at the Nassau hotel by William K. Vanderbilt, Jr.

GOES TO ELECTRIC CHAIR FOR BROTHER'S MURDER

ANTHONY W. (BILL) GRACE.

Ossining, N. Y., Aug. 4.—Anthony W. Grace was put to death by electricity at Sing Sing prison early today as penalty for the murder of his brother "Jack," a well known wrestler.

"Jack" Grace's body was found hacked to pieces in the rooms of the Walden Social club at Walden, N. Y., last September. Suspicion at once attached to his brother Anthony, who disappeared at the time of the tragedy after suddenly having married a widow at Walden. When arrested later, Anthony had in his possession much of the personal property of his dead brother. He was convicted by a jury at Middletown.

MYERS FOR FREE WOOL

Montana Senator Says Sheep Industry Deserves No Protection.

Calls Sectional Pleas Simply Outcry for Share of Graft.

Washington, Aug. 4.—Senator Myers, Democrat, of Montana, told the senate today that the West did not fear the tariff bill.

"Amidst the hue and cry about discrimination in this bill against the West, I wish to have you hear one Western state which feels self-reliant and is not complaining about discrimination," he said. "This discrimination against home interests, when translated into English, in my opinion often means: 'We are not getting our share of the graft; we are being overlooked in the distribution of the plunder.'"

The wool growing business, he said, after nearly a hundred years of protection, "nearly a century of coddling and nursing, is a decadent business. Not only does it not hold its own, but it positively is on the decline. Are we to longer stimulate it at the expense of rifling the pockets of the hard-working masses, in order to keep it up?" he asked.

It was Senator Myers' opinion that if the United States could not compete with the world in wool-growing after nearly a century of protection, "then it had better go out of the business." He contended, however, that wool growers could compete without a tariff.

STEPS ON RAKE AND DIES OF LOCKJAW

La Crosse Boy Succumbs After Illness of Two Weeks.

La Crosse, Wis., Aug. 4.—Kemp Engleman, son of Dr. J. C. Engleman, vice president of the state normal school here and recently elected superintendent of the Decatur, Ill., public schools, died of lockjaw today after two weeks' illness. Young Engleman, who was 15 years of age, contracted tetanus by stepping upon the tines of a rake.

SOUTH MINNESOTA FARMERS PRAISED

Federal Investigator Says They Are Well Organized and Prosperous.

Washington, Aug. 4.—Thomas N. Carver, head of the rural organization service, department of agriculture, returned today from a two weeks' trip and reported to Secretary Houston that he had found the farmers in Northern Iowa and Southern Minnesota about as well organized and as prosperous as any in the world.

Dr. Carver is studying co-operative systems in practice in the Northwest, with a view to recommending the best ideas in use there to farmers in other parts of the country.

GUARDS AT CALUMET USE GUNS FREELY AND ANGER UNION LEADERS

REBELLION IN CHINA ENDED

Declarations of Seceding Provinces Are Abrogated.

Hongkong, China, Aug. 4.—The Southern Chinese rebellion practically has been suppressed, and the declaration of independence of the revolutionary provinces abrogated.

In Canton the populace today is celebrating the ending of the uprising with public rejoicing and the explosion of firecrackers.

It is said Gen. Lung Chi Kuang, the victorious commander of the government troops from Kwang Si, has been appointed governor general of the province of Kwang Tung.

The rebel governor, Chang, of Kwang Tung, who said at the beginning of the revolutionary movement that he disapproved of the independent policy of the Southern states, is expected in Hongkong tonight. He shot his two military advisers, Chan Chung Ying and Wang Sult Sun, and an army officer, as he suspected them of intrigue.

The artillerymen of Canton killed their lieutenant colonel and then marched to the governor's office, where they located the treasury. One of the shells fired by the artillerymen fell in the prefect's office and killed twelve persons.

Fighting continues along the west river, where the rebels have captured a gunboat.

The chief problem of the authorities is the suppression of looters.

PORTER CHARLTON TO GO BACK AUG. 13

He Will Be Returned to Italy to Face Murder Charge.

New York, Aug. 4.—Porter Charlton, charged with the murder of his wife in June, 1910, at Lake Como, Italy, will be taken from the Hudson county, N. J., jail on Aug. 13. He will at that time be turned over to representatives of the Italian government to be taken to that country for trial.

TWENTY-TWO DIE IN SCOTCH MINE.

"Shadow Shooting" Keeps Up Throughout Strike Region.

Only One Man Responds to Call to Resume Mining.

WASHINGTON ORDERS INQUIRY AT CALUMET.

Washington, Aug. 4.—Walter B. Palmer, an investigator for the department of labor, has been detailed to investigate the copper strike situation in Michigan. He will leave tonight for Calumet to learn whether the department may be of service in effecting a settlement of the strike. Palmer recently investigated for the department the textile strike at Lawrence, Mass., and the silk weavers' strike at Paterson, N. J.

Calumet, Mich., Aug. 4. — (Special to the Herald.) — Practically the entire strike zone in the Copper country echoed to rifle and revolver shots this morning. There were more than the usual number of "shadow shots" by sentries, and an increased patrol force of armed deputies was blamed by troop commanders and union officials alike for an almost constant popping of revolvers that lasted from shortly after midnight until daylight.

Despite the promiscuous firing no one was hit, a rumor of last night that a man had been shot near Red Jacket proving false. In fact, Capt. Blackman of Jackson, in command of the guard at that shaft, denied that his men fired at all.

Calls Shooting "Outrage."

"The work of the deputies is an outrage," said Claude O. Taylor, president of the Michigan State Federation of Labor. "It is inconceivable that a great state should allow its national guard to be used as a curtain behind which armed thugs, authorized through blanket commissions to bear arms, may commit acts that ought of right to land their perpetrators in prison."

Mr. Taylor said that his organization, the A. F. of L., and every affiliated union in the country was behind the copper miners' strike, and that the fight would take on national proportions. He indicated that he would Druggists Meet at Minot.

Minot, N. D., Aug. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The annual meeting of the North Dakota Druggists' association will open here tomorrow, continuing three days.

Grand Forks and Fargo will compete for the next convention.

NORTHWESTERN CROPS REQUIRED 56,700 HANDS.

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fifty-six thousand seven hundred laborers were required to harvest the crops in Minnesota, the Dakotas, Kansas, Nebraska and Montana, according to figures compiled by railroads traversing those states from reports of agents at all points on their lines.

WILSON'S RESIGNATION AS AMBASSADOR TO MEXICO IS ACCEPTED AT WASHINGTON

MULHALL IS "LIAR" AGAIN

Senator Townsend of Michigan Denies Everything About Himself.

Foraker Will Be Next Witness in Senate Inquiry.

Washington, Aug. 4.—Senator Townsend of Michigan was the first witness today before the senate lobby committee. Testimony of Martin M. Mulhall had been finished, and that witness was waiting to be questioned by the house committee about his lobbying activities for the national association of manufacturers.

Senator Townsend flatly denied Mulhall's testimony that he had talked with him, and characterized Mulhall as a "self-acknowledged corruptionist."

Emery and Mulhall, when Townsend was a member of the house, came together to his office and Mulhall made an argument about labor legislation.

"When he paused I asked him if he was through, and when he said yes, I said, 'Well, this is my busy day, you'll have to excuse me.' Therefore, it is an unqualified falsehood when he says he talked with me confidentially."

Denied Everything.

The senator went through the record, and picking out letters in which his name appeared, denied in detail Mulhall's testimony that he had conferred with him.

"This man was personally offensive to me," said the senator in conclusion; "therefore I could not fail to remember if he had talked to me confidentially."

Mulhall took the stand to identify a $500 check he said he drew April 7, 1909, to be turned over to H. A. Miles of Racine, Wis., for a retainer for Former Congressman James E. Watson when the manufacturers wanted Watson to work for a tariff commission bill.

Chairman Overman announced that Former Senator Foraker would be heard tomorrow.

Will Provide Punishment.

Early action by congress to provide punishment for those who impersonate members of congress or public officers "by telephone or telegraph, mail or otherwise," was promised in the senate today when Senator Cummins presented a favorable report from the judiciary committee on such a bill he recently introduced.

When the house committee begins its hearings tomorrow, Louis Seibold of the New York World will be the first witness, to lay the foundation for the examination of Muhall, which will follow immediately.

GOMEZ WILL LEAD ARMY

Venezuelan President Says He Will Crush Castro.

Veterans and Recruits Are Gathered to Fight Invaders.

Caracas, Venezuela, Aug. 4.—President Juan Vicente Gomez intends to take personal lead of the Venezuelan army operating against Cipriano Castro, whose followers have risen in the provinces of Falcon and Tachira and also in the western district of Venezuela. The president issued the following proclamation today:

"Castro, the former dictator, having disturbed the peace of the country, I myself will take the field and will reestablish order. I know that every general, officer and soldier will fulfill his duty."

An army of veterans and some thousands of recruits is being mobilized at the town of Maracay, fifty miles southwest of the capital. These forces are expected to attack Coro in the state of Falcon, and drive out Cipriano Castro. They will proceed there in two divisions by land and sea.

Another army is being assembled at Barquisimeto, capital of the state of Lara, 165 miles southwest of Caracas. This force will endeavor to cut off Castro's escape into the interior.

Although business here has come to a standstill and stock values have gone down, the people express confidence that the government will be able to suppress the rebellion.

STAFF CONVICTED OF KILLING WIFE

Jury Finds He Knew Woman Was in Barrel When He Fired.

Towner, N. D., Aug. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—After being out since 10:30 Saturday night the jury in the John Staff murder case at 9:30 this morning brought in a verdict of guilty of manslaughter in the first degree, in connection with the death of his wife. The closing arguments were made Saturday and the judge delivered the charge late that night. Staff will be sentenced at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning. The crime for which he was convicted occurred May 25. Following a quarrel with her husband Mrs. Staff ran from the house and hid in a barrel. A few minutes later Staff shot through the head of the barrel, killing his wife instantly. He made the defense that he didn't know she was in the barrel.

SUMMONED TO SECRET TALK WITH BRYAN

Armed Intervention There Not Probable Nor Possible.

President Soon Will Announce Policy Toward That Country.

May Decide to Treat Both the Factions Alike.

Washington, Aug. 4.—Secretary of State Bryan today announced the acceptance of the resignation of Henry Lane Wilson as ambassador to Mexico. Accompanying the announcement, Secretary Bryan made the following statement:

"Ambassador Wilson's resignation has been accepted, to take effect Oct. 14. The part which he felt it his duty to take in the earlier stages of the recent revolution in Mexico would make it difficult for him to represent the views of the present administration, in view of the situation which now exists."

The ambassador, in the ordinary practice, is entitled to sixty days' leave, exclusive of Sundays, which accounts for the fixing of the date of Oct. 14 in the announcement. In the meantime no appointment can be made of a successor, as no vacancy will exist until that date.

O'Shaughnessy in Charge.

Consequently the American embassy in Mexico will remain in charge of Secretary O'Shaughnessy, corresponding in status with the Mexican embassy in the city of Washington, which is now conducted by Charge Algara.

No ambassador to succeed Mr. Wilson is likely to be appointed until a stable government has been established there. William Bayard Hale, the president's close personal friend and biographer, now in Mexico at the president's request, and who has been making personal reports upon conditions there for months, is being advanced as probable selection.

The announcement followed a conference with Secretary Bryan to which Mr. Wilson had been summoned from New York by telegraph.

The resignation will be followed by announcement of the policy toward Mexico by President Wilson. No intimation of what the announcement would be was permitted to leak out, but there were assurances that armed intervention was out of the question, and there were reasons for believing the announcement would deal with this government's attitude toward exports of arms to Mexico.

TWO SHOTS FIRED AT OMAHA SLEUTH CHIEF

"Probably Some Fanatic" Is Only Comment By Maloney.

Omaha, Neb., Aug. 4.—An attempt to assassinate Chief of Detectives Stephen Maloney was made early today when some unknown person fired two bullets at him as he sat in his office at the police station.

The shots were fired from behind railroad cars and came crashing into the window of the chief's office.

Chief Maloney remarked, "It was probably some fanatic."

GERMAN AVIATION PUPIL IS KILLED

Dies of Shock When Machine Is Wrecked and Takes Fire.

Berlin, Aug. 4.—An aviation pupil named Broks died here today from burns suffered last evening when the fuel tank of his aeroplane exploded after an abrupt landing at the Johannisthal aerodrome.

Broks was practicing "figure eights" over the heads of an enormous Sunday crowd, when his motor stopped. He made a desperate effort to clear the people, who fled in all directions. The aviator was about to land in an open field as he had passed beyond the spectators, when his aeroplane struck a column marking the limits of the aerodrome. It was dashed to the ground, a mass of debris, with Broks beneath the motor.

The fuel tank exploded and another aviator named Matthes ran through the flames to extricate the unconscious Broks from the blazing mass. Broks' injuries were at first thought not to be serious but he died from shock.

Aviator Gets Ducking.

Dortmund, Germany, Aug. 4.—The German aviator Besser, when the motor of his aeroplane developed a defect during a flight here today, plunged with his machine into a canal in order to avoid a collision with a great crowd of spectators at the aerodrome. Besser was saved.

SPECIAL ELECTION IS NOT NECESSARY, SAYS VOSS

Says Hicken Code Could Be Voted on at General Election.

Law Well Enforced Now and Would Mean But Little Delay.

Finance Commissioner Fred J. Voss does not favor calling a special election to pass upon the new liquor ordinance, on which a petition has been filed asking for a referendum.

Commissioner Voss believes that the interests of the city will be best conserved, in view of its present financial shortage, by holding the referendum on the code at the time of the general election in the fall of 1914.

"The section which requires all saloons to front on streets or avenues does not become effective until May, 1914," said the commissioner today. "That provision is one of those which have been subjected to much objection, particularly by cigar dealers who claim that it will drive them out of business. To wait until the fall would not be holding that feature of the ordinance in suspension for more than a few months.

"Further, I do not think that the finances of the city are in condition to warrant the expenditure at this time. We are hard up for money and should endeavor to make a saving wherever possible.

Is Not Necessary.

"It does not seem to me that the immediate enactment of the ordinance is necessary to secure law-enforcement, of which I am heartily in favor with the majority of our citizens. The laws are now being obeyed without the aid of the new liquor code. They have been enforced since the commission was inaugurated April 14. The saloons have been closing their doors promptly at 11 o'clock and they have been locked during all legal closing hours. In fact, they have been so well regulated that no one has had anything but praise for the manner in which the saloons have been regulated. This has been done with the present ordinances and state laws and I see no reason why the same condition should not continue if no new laws are added. If any saloonkeeper is so foolish as to step over the line he will lose his license, as has been done in a number of instances in the last few months. The commission now has ample authority to regulate the saloons and the liquor traffic.

"I will be glad to have the people pass upon the ordinance but I believe that this should be done at the general election instead of at a special election next month, because of the city's present pressing need of funds. And I have not the slightest doubt but that in the meantime the laws will continue to be as well enforced as they have been since last April."

ROTARIANS WANT ROAD

Will Use Every Means to Get Highway to Steel Plant.

Members of the Duluth Rotary club want the highway to New Duluth improved and the street railway extended this year. At the very least they want to know why the city cannot make the improvement at a cost of $2,500, as announced by Commissioner Murchison.

The subject was up at a meeting of the club at the Spalding at noon today. A suggestion was made that the club request the commissioners to call a municipal holiday at which every able-bodied business man would turn out to do manual labor on the road, but that was voted down. The discussion terminated in the appointment of a committee of five to visit the commissioners and learn if something cannot be done to obtain the extension this year.

E. J. Filiatrault declared the fact that $2,500 can block an important improvement of the kind is a severe reflection on Duluth. William Burgess declared that the improvement is of such importance that Duluth citizens should insist it be made if the means of obtaining the money can possibly be found. Henry Bridgeman suggested an interview with the commissioners and a report to the club as to just what the situation is and what remedy is required.

Several members of the Superior Rotary club were guests of the Duluth club at luncheon today. C. J. Hartley, president of the Superior club, made a short talk.

WATSON DECLINES TO MEET THE SENATORS

Says Democrats Prejudged Case Made Out By Mulhall.

Washington, Aug. 4.—Charges that the Democrats of the senate lobby committee have prejudged the case made out by Martin M. Mulhall against the National Association of Manufacturers without hearing the other side, were made today by Former Representative James E. Watson of Indiana, who referred in a letter to the committee to a published statement by Chairman Overman and Senators Reed and Walsh. He declined to appear before the committee, saying that it would be useless.

"I much prefer," he said, "to take my case to another court."

Robert McCarter, attorney for the National Association of Manufacturers, faced the committee with a vigorous objection to the same statement.

Chairman Overman and Senator Reed declared there was nothing in the interviews which could be taken as indicating that they had prejudiced the case.

RECOVER BODY OF MISS FOGARTY

15-Year-Old Boy Responsible for Rescue of Her Companion.

After nineteen hours of search, the body of Grace Fogarty, who was drowned in the bay yesterday afternoon shortly after 4 o'clock, was recovered at 11:10 this morning.

The body was brought to the surface with grappling hooks by the girl's brother, Ambrose D. Fogarty, and E. D. Curry of 207 West Fifth street. Although the place where she went down was well marked, the search for the body was a long and discouraging one. Shortly after the accident occurred, the search began and it was continued uninterruptedly until the body was brought to the surface.

Margaret McLaughlin, who was with Miss Fogarty in the canoe which capsized, is recovering from the shock at her home at 708 West Fifth street today. Her rescue is regarded as particularly fortunate, as there were only canoes in the immediate vicinity of the canoe that capsized. Galen J. Pearson of 1818 East Third street was the first on the scene in a rowboat. The young man, who is only 15 years of age, stretched an oar to her. She grasped it and he drew her to the boat, holding her until assistance arrived, when she was lifted aboard and he rowed her to shore.

At the same time he asserted that he had spent most of the day there, drinking beer, which he had bought for 25 cents a bottle. Mike Cusinech, the proprietor was thereupon arrested on a charge of selling liquor without a license. He pleaded not guilty and his trial was set for this afternoon. He did not deny that there was beer on the premises but said that it had been secured by the boarders and had not been sold.

WILL HURRY SLOW TRAIN

Extra Ticket Clerk Will Be Put on Steel Plant Run.

Conductor Weary of Playing Hide and Seek With Passengers.

A. E. Brown, district superintendent of the Northern Pacific railroad here, is working out a plan to better the service on the short line between Fond du Lac and West Duluth.

This line furnishes a means of transportation for the workers on the new steel plant and the coaches are crowded every morning and evening.

Patrons of the line have complained that the running time is too slow and they want a faster service. They say that the train is run slowly to give the conductor a chance to collect all the fares. They demand that another conductor be put on to help in the collecting.

"I m trying to work out a plan whereby I can make quicker time on the line," said Mr. Brown today. "I have considered putting on another conductor or a ticket clerk. It may be the latter. With this additional help the conductor will be able to get through the train with less loss of time and the running time can be shortened.

"In railroad work things can not be done on a minute notice and if the patrons will be patient they will benefit just as soon as I can get additional service for them.

"Friendly criticism does not hurt a railroad. In fact a road could profit by it, but there is a difference between criticism and unreasonable protests. Some of the passengers on the train would co-operate with the conductor, things could be greatly facilitated. But when the conductor has to chase some of the patrons from one car to another to get their tickets it makes his work harder and it delays the progress of the train. Some of the passengers jump off the train and run up ahead after the conductor has been through the coaches up there, and in that way they try to get out of giving their tickets."

Mr. Brown intimated that the conductors had something else to do than engage in a game of hide-and-seek with playful patrons of the road. He was of the belief that the patrons could greatly aid the conductor if they wanted to.

The ditch will be known as County Ditch No. 2, if the board approves and orders preliminary work to proceed.

THE NEW ART OF CITY PLANNING.

Frederic C. Howe in Harper's Magazine: As an organized art, city planning is a new thing. It had its birth in the last generation, when mills, factories and workshops, threatened with extinction the life, health and beauty of the towns. Like the city itself, it is a product of the industrial revolution. It is a by-product of machine industry and steam transportation. Individual rulers planned capital cities in ancient Babylon, Greece, and Rome, as did the merchant princes of the medieval Italian and Hanseatic towns. Paris was planned in a commanding way by Louis XIV, who laid its present foundations. The first and third Napoleons projected great boulevards and avenues, beautified the banks of the Seine with embankments and bridges, erected monuments, arches, and open spaces, and made Paris the capital of the modern world. The kings of Bavaria and Saxony laid out Munich and Dresden in the same big-visioned way.

These cities were the individual creations of ambitious rulers, eager to give expression to their power. Modern city planning is a democratic movement, although it found its first organized expression in monarchial Germany, in which country, in a few years' time, it has attained the rank of a profession. Today there is scarcely a large town in Germany that is not being built according to an official plan, worked out by experts trained to the profession and often after competition. They plan the city from center to circumference, and for future generations rather than for today.

GOT BACK THE WRONG WATCH.

London Chronicle: A licensed victualler who went to Wye races was relieved of his watch on that race course, and mentioned the fact severely so that everybody knew. A few nights afterward a man came into the bar of the hotel and put down a small parcel on the counter in front of the landlord. "We didn't know it was you," whispered the customer. Winks and drinks passed. And when the landlord finally opened the parcel he found a mistake. The watch was worth thirty times the value of his own lost timepiece and had armorial carvings upon it.

M'DONNELL IN DIFFICULTY

Surety Company Stops Further Payments of Estimates By City.

Efforts to Adjust Affairs Being Made at City Hall.

The National Surety company today served notice on the city stopping any further payment to Contractor P. McDonnell on the street contracts which he has in Duluth.

Contractor McDonnell has most of the important paving work in the city of Duluth this year, involving jobs estimated up to $200,000 in the aggregate.

The action resulted in a conference this morning between Roderick Murchison, commissioner of public works; H. H. Phelps, Mr. McDonnell's attorney; Harvey Clapp, city attorney, and representatives of the bonding company, and the asphalt company with which Mr. McDonnell has been dealing. Up to noon today no agreement had been reached and it was announced that another conference had been arranged for this afternoon.

Various courses of procedure were discussed. Commissioner Murchison expressed the belief after the conference today that Mr. McDonnell is solvent and that he does not consider the action of the bonding company the preliminary steps of a move to have Mr. McDonnell declared bankrupt. He said that in his opinion the bonding company served the notices to stop payment in order to get time to investigate the situation thoroughly. Others said that it is possible that the surety company might take over the work and finish it or that the city might take them over.

Delinquent on One Job.

Mr. McDonnell is now delinquent on one job, the paving of Twenty-second avenue east between Third and Fifth streets, the date of expiration being Aug. 1. The dates of the others run to Oct. 1.

Commissioner Murchison said that all his contracts are well advanced and that he does not doubt but what they will be completed this year. He explained that on most of them the preliminary work has been largely done and that much of the concrete base is now ready for asphalt.

Before the conference today the commissioners held one or two conferences at the city hall at which the status of Mr. McDonnell's finances and contracts were discussed. After the last one the opinion was expressed that Mr. McDonnell would pull through all right. It was estimated that he had debts of $30,000 but that to offset this he had a plant worth $100,000. The belief of some of the officials at the city hall has been that Mr. McDonnell bid too low on his contracts to make them profitable.

The notices served by the National Surety company upon the city recited that Mr. McDonnell has contracted debts for labor and material which are, or are liable to become, liabilities upon the surety company. No figures are given. Whatever may be the reason the primary cause is very likely that the surety desired to protect itself from financial loss.

Work is Going On.

Work has not stopped on the contracts which are being handled by Mr. McDonnell, and those interested are hoping that some arrangement can be reached whereby he can continue to prosecute the work and save any delay. Commissioner Murchison said that Mr. McDonnell had large-sized crews out today and that his work was going on ahead as usual.

Attorney Phelps said that he did not wish to make any statement relative to Mr. McDonnell's affairs or the probable outcome of the conferences which are now being held.

The improvements affected by the notices are: East First street, between First and Sixth avenues; Twenty-second avenue east between Third and Fifth streets; East Fourth street, between Sixth and Fouteenth avenues; Victoria street, between Woodland avenue and the Hartley road; East Sixth street, between Eighteen avenue east and Woodland avenue; East Fourth street, between Twenty-third and Twenty-seventh avenues; Seventeenth avenue east, between Fourth and Seventh streets and Parkside avenue, between Superior street and Vermilion road.

The contractor has received some large estimates from the city on most of these contracts and one or two of them have been practically paid for except for the final estimate. Under the plan followed by the city all contractors are allowed estimates on their contracts as they go along. This is practically equivalent to paying for the improvements for various sections as they are completed. When the last work is done the last payment is made, except for the final estimate which is retained as a guarantee.

HICKEN ORDERS PROSECUTION

Commissioner W. A. Hicken today notified the legal department to start a prosecution against Dr. O. A. Oredson to compel him to abate a nuisance alleged to be maintained by him at the rear of his flats near Twenty-third avenue west and Third street.

Commissioner Hicken visited the place last Saturday, and on his return declared that it was one of the worst spots which he had ever seen. He said that the stench from the reeking garbage was sickening. He explained that a big box is filled with rotting matter, while a couple of barrels are filled with similar stuff. This is on Dr. Oredson's lot, but close to the line and near a dwelling, according to the commissioner.

The occupant of the house has complained in no uncertain manner, and the commissioner declares that he is more than justified. He asserts that he will lose no time in seeing that legal steps are taken to compel the owner to remedy the conditions. When he was informed this morning by an inspector detailed to visit the place, that nothing had been done, he called the legal department with a request for immediate action.

A STORY OF TWO FARMERS.

Missouri Farmer: I know of a couple of farmers who own two good 160-acre farms side by side. The first one inherited his farm from his father while the other bought his about fifteen years ago, and started in with a heavy mortgage.

The first farmer puts in a good deal of time whittling dry goods boxes and talking politics in town. He is interested in fox hounds and coon dogs, while the latter is the best breeder of Duroc hogs in his county—never has time to whittle and cares nothing about politics except at election time, when he votes for the men he thinks will most acceptably fill the offices to which they aspire.

The first one lives in the home his father built forty years ago. His fences are tumbled down, and his barn is fallen in, while the few out-of-date farm implements he has, stand around unprotected in rain and sun. The other has a neat house, well painted and well cared for outbuildings and good fences—a piano, manure spreader and a silo.

The first one drives a pair of old flea-bitten mules to a ramshackle spring wagon—the latter a motor car. Why this difference on two adjoining farms, with soil which some years ago was the same?

It is estimated that the force developed by the hydroelectric companies of Japan is over 2,000,000-horse power.

SOCIALISTS HOLD PICNIC

Speaker Says Constitution Is for Protection of Property Rights.

Is No Longer a Document for the People's Benefit.

That the Constitution of the United States is not a document for the people, but for the protection of property rights, was the statement made yesterday afternoon by Edwin F. Harris of Superior at the first annual international Socialist picnic held at Fairmont park. He said in part:

"The American Federation of Labor and those who advocate craft unionism are a detriment to the American labor movement. Labor unions must be organized industrially and thereby lead the way for their own emancipation.

"The Constitution of the United States, while truly a revolutionary document at the time of its adoption, is not a document for the people, but for protection of property rights."

Mr. Harris was a recent candidate for mayor in Superior and is a prominent worker for the Socialist party. As a result of yesterday's address Duluth Socialists are today starting a campaign to organize the county for the next state election. Thomas J. Lewis of Portland, Or., a national worker, who recently organized the Minneapolis Socialists, is in the city and will work here.

W. E. Towne, one of the candidates for the city commission at the election last spring, was another one of the principal speakers at the picnic yesterday.

"The Socialists feel that they are practically disenfranchised by the operation of the new law which also prohibits the nomination of candidates by petition after the primaries have been held," said Mr. Towne.

"In view of this they are laying their plans early to gain at least the second place on the ticket at the next general election. It is thought that this is possible, especially in the Forty-ninth and Fifteenth legislative districts, where their candidates polled an exceptionally large vote last fall."

Over 2,500 people attended the affair yesterday, which was held under the auspices of the Duluth central city committee. The Zenith City band rendered a number of selections during the afternoon.

Speeches were made in Jewish by I. Jeffe; in Scandinavian by William Mossberg; in Polish by Ed Miller and in Finnish by Leo Laukl. Hamyn Singer and J. Laden made declamations in Jewish; Joseph Baldus gave an English reading, "War." Music was played by the Zenith City band.

Late in the afternoon a program of field sports and races was held, with prizes being awarded to the winners.

TWO OF THE PRIZE-WINNING CARS IN THE DECORATED AUTOMOBILE PARADE

Motor cars exquisitely and fancifully trimmed formed the parade Saturday night which was the concluding event of the Lark of the Lake celebrations. A number of cars were driven by women and in most of them women and girls were riding. There were roses, streamers, flags and pompoms, butterflies, and other unique decorations put on in good taste and with originality which made the parade not only attractive but interesting as well.

The two cuts are the flower trimmed Cadillac in which were Mr. and Mrs. George Maxson and three guests, Miss Ruth Hall, Mrs. Lon Loranger and Mrs. H. C. Strom, and the Kissel Kar in which C. T. Fitzsimmons, W. G. Baldwin and J. T. Peacha rode.

ADVICE ON WORK FARM

Minneapolis Expert, "Not Looking for Job," Talks to New Board.

Frank McDonald Speaks Plainly on Needs of New Institution.

Through the courtesy of the Minneapolis board of charities and correction, Frank R. McDonald, superintendent of the Minneapolis work house, who bears a reputation of being a man of constructive ability, an organizer and one of the best known of the new type of prison workers in the country, met with the joint city and county work farm commission this morning at their first regular monthly session since organizing last week.

Interest centered around Mr. McDonald and what he had to say. In an informal way he discussed the proposition of establishing a work farm in St. Louis county and suggested ways and means of going about it. Mr. McDonald's fifteen years' experience as head of the Minneapolis institution peculiarly qualifies him as an adviser in such work and his remarks were received with no little interest.

Not Seeking Job.

Mr. McDonald explained to the board at the outset that he was not in Duluth seeking a job and that he was here at the courtesy of the Minneapolis board of charities and correction, to go over the situation with the commissioners and give what advice he could.

In a general way, the commissioners discussed the preliminary plans of establishing the work farm. The matter of water supply was considered and it was thought advisable to have this question settled first and for all time. The construction of temporary buildings was also discussed between Mr. McDonald and the member of the board.

The board passed resolutions calling upon the county board and city council for $14,000 to cover the expenses to be incurred for the current year, to be appropriated from the general funds of the city and county treasury, and requesting that provision be made in the 1914 levies for the sum of $35,000, the amount allowed under the law.

Commissioner McGolrick also introduced the following resolution which was passed:

"Resolved, That the president of the board be authorized to request the services and experiences of Frank R. McDonald at the foundation of their work farm from time to time, and to thank the Board of Charities and Correction of the city of Minneapolis for their courtesy."

The board received an application for position as work farm superintendent from George F. Sherman of this city, former superintendent of the farm which is conducted in conjunction with the Eau Claire, (Wis.,) county insane asylum. Mr. Sherman claimed to have the best of qualifications as a farmer and superintendent. The application was received and filed.

Mr. McDonald, during the course of his remarks, declared that the bill providing for the Duluth and St. Louis county work farm, was one of the best pieces of legislation that had ever been passed in the country. "It was very happily drawn," said Mr. McDonald, "and appears to take care of every detail."

Among other things, Mr. McDonald said:

"At your request, I am presenting to your honorable body my views of a work farm for misdemeanants, and what, in my judgment, should be established in your county.

"In doing so, I am not taking into consideration the means you may have at your disposal for such a purpose, but am taking a broad view of what your requirements may be, not only for the present, but for the years to come, when your county and city will have grown to many times its present population, and to warn you against making the great mistake made by so many cities in not providing for a growth that is sure to come. The location of the city of Duluth, with its great possibilities for the future, calls for serious thought in solving the problem intelligently.

Survey Tract.

"In the time at hand I gave some inspection to sections 1 and 2, range 15, township 50, selected as the location for your work farm, and containing 970 acres, so far as the clearing and tillage of this land is concerned and its producing value in the raising of crops of any kind that can be grown in this climate. Your selection seems good, but before beginning operations for the location of your work farm, I would advise you to select a competent cruiser and engineer and have a survey made of the entire tract, making close inspection of the subsoil, drilling to the proper depths to determine what can be found in material for building purposes, such as sand, gravel, stone, clay and water supply, and also give you the ground levels.

"If no sand or gravel is found, it might be well to consider the advisability of disposing of this tract, and a location secured where such building material is plentiful, or locate near a railroad, where material can be delivered handily.

"Husbandry must be classed as the greatest of all avocations that can be taught to prisoners, in order to prepare them for a useful life, teaching them stock raising, farming and gardening, the cultivation of plants and flowers and the general producing value of the soil.

"Climatic conditions must, however, be considered, and useful productive employment installed; not only because it is necessary in educating the men, but for the reason you will find many who are unfitted for outdoor employment during the winter season. It is therefore imperative your site should contain such material as can and must be used for building and manufacturing purposes. Having secured the proper location you should then determine what would be the requirements for the future in building. Consult someone of experience in prison work and have them lay out an entire ground plan which as your growth increases will finally work out into one symmetrical and harmonious whole, and a competent architect selected to prepare the entire plan.

Indoor Employment.

"Your climate demands indoor employment at certain seasons. If your land contains good sand and gravel, all of your future as well as your first building material could be manufactured on the ground.

"You should begin by building a manufacturing building, which would be a permanent structure and during the first year or two could be used to house your inmates while they were clearing the land and building the other buildings and then turned back into a workshop.

"Due consideration must be given to sanitation and drainage and all buildings so constructed as to meet the modern day thought of reformation of the inmate and the establishment of a high standard of living for the unfortunate, instead of the old idea of punishment and misery. I favor the open celular system, instead of the dormitory system, as being less likely to spread contagious diseases among the inmates, but your first building would necessarily be a dormitory until your others were erected.

"Your system of government could be planned by the same man who laid out your original plan of buildings.

"It is perhaps unnecessary to say that the selection of your superintendent or warden to carry out such an important work cannot be given too much care, as you are obliged to depend on his judgment for success.

"I trust my years of experience may be of some use in guiding you in your work and assure you my interest in your project is prompted by my interest in the welfare of the unfortunate and the future good of your beautiful city.

"Your investment, if I am correctly informed as to its price, is a small one and you cannot suffer any loss in the disposal of it, should you change to another and more desirable location.

"Having met and studied the personnel of your commission, I am convinced that every member of the board is anxious to secure the best results and erect something that will be a credit to your county and city for all time to come and that you will take my plain statements in the spirit they are intended."

HANAN JEWELS HOCKED WITH BOSTON BROKERS

Suspicion Is Raised That Owner Knew Where They Had Gone.

Boston, Mass., Aug. 4.—The answer to Narragansett Pier's dual sensation of the missing jewels, valued at a quarter of a million dollars, is right here in Boston.

Mrs. John H. Hanan's $150,000 worth of disappearing gems have been found in the safe of a State street brokerage house. They had been left there by persons known to the brokerage firm as security for a $60,000 loan.

Some of the missing jewels of Mrs. Charles Cary Rumsey, which are valued at $100,000, are likewise in Boston; some are in New York.

Did She Know It?

Mrs. Hanan did not pawn the gems herself, but on reviewing the case many persons at Narragansett Pier are inclined to believe that Mrs. Hanan knew where the jewels had gone.

Mrs. Hanan was among the thirty society women caught Aug. 7, 1910, in a spectacular early morning raid of the palatial Narragansett club, famous for years as the gambling rendezvous of the fashionable summer colony. Mrs. Hanan was one of the players at an ornate $3,000 roulette wheel, engrossed in the revolutions of the little clicking white ball, and Constable John G. Cross and five deputies swooped down upon the place and with drawn revolvers placed every one there under arrest.

None of the society folk were arrested. Their names were taken by Constable Cross. Mrs. Hanan gave the name of "Mary Jones." An examination of the roulette wheels showed that they were "crooked." There was a general exodus of the accused persons from the pier after the raid. Mrs. Hanan declared that she would remain and face the music. She had expressed her opinion previously that she saw no harm in gambling if it could be "carried on in a dignified way."

MURDERS, SUICIDES, FIRES AND ACCIDENTS MARK SUNDAY

Erring Pair Die Together.

New York, Aug. 4.—After eluding a policeman waiting to arrest him on the complaint of his wife, Harry G. Elliott, a lithographer, 35 years old, accompanied by Miss Ellen Sibley, 30 years old, went to a point in Macomb's Dam park known as "Lover's Leap," where early Sunday Elliott killed his companion and ended his own life by shooting. A note found nearby, signed by both, read:

"To whom it may concern: This is to certify that we two, both, have agreed to die together. We have sinned, but we both love each other and sooner than part we die together."

One Killed in Fire.

Cleveland, Ohio, Aug. 4.—One man was killed and from fifteen to twenty persons injured by jumping from windows when fire broke out in the Granger apartment house at 2005 Prospect avenue shortly before 10 o'clock last night. The man killed was J. V. Anderson, a roomer in the Granger. Two firemen were injured by flying glass. The loss to the building is estimated at $30,000.

The Granger is the apartment house where Billy Whitlaw, the boy kidnaped from Sharon, Pa., several years ago, was found after a wide search by the police.

Police Auto Ride Fatal.

Waterbury, Conn., Aug. 4.—One police officer was killed, a police commissioner probably fatally hurt, and three men more or less seriously hurt when an automobile belonging to the police department, in which they were riding, was over turned near Seymour.

The dead man is Robert P. Kiersted.

Storm Damages Detroit.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 4.—A 60-mile gale that lasted only two or three minutes during the progress of a severe electrical storm here late Sunday, wrought great property damage in all parts of the city. A number of persons were shocked by lightning.

A large section of the roof of the Michigan Malleable Iron company's plant was torn off.

Reproves Man and Is Shot.

Chicago, Aug. 4.—Joseph F. Marley was shot and probably fatally wounded Sunday by an unidentified man whom he had criticized for stepping on his feet.

"Look where you're going," said Marley when the stranger stepped on his corns in passing on a crowded street.

The man drew a revolver, fired five shots at Marley and escaped.

Twenty-nine Injured.

Hammond, Ind., Aug. 4. — Twenty-nine persons, all of Chicago, were injured when Martin Roy, a chauffeur of the autobus in which they were riding drove into a culvert to avoid running down 4-year-old Mary Banko. The bus turned over on the occupants, but with one exception none of the injuries was serious. Martin Roy was cut about the eyes, and at a hospital here it was said he may lose his sight.

The party was returning from a night's outing at a Lake county summer resort, and all except Martin returned to Chicago after the bus had been repaired.

Some Persons "Flinch" When Truth Hunts Them

"If any man is able to convince me and show me that I do not think or act right, I will gladly change, for I seek the truth, by which no man was ever injured."—Marcus Aurelius, Roman Emperor.

Some shrink and try to close their eyes and ears to the haunting fact that the little 2½ grains of Caffeine in every average cup of coffee is the demon which relentlessly pursues and starts various ailments, such as biliousness, headache, nervousness, sleeplessness, bowel trouble, heart failure and a long string of aches and ails, taking one form in one person and another in another.

The effect of repeated doses of coffee, on those who are susceptible to caffeine poisoning, is so complex that it is difficult to foretell where its hurt will be most serious; in Heart, Head, Eyes, Nerves or where.

The stroke of trouble will come somewhere if the daily doses are persisted in.

Of course if anyone prefers to treat his body in that way it is useless to suggest relief.

Let him "follow the trail" until badly wounded.

Some go so far they can't get back to health. Others quit the foolish, losing game before fixed chronic disease sets in.

There is a mighty army of sensible ones, however, who have bravely tested the truth with their own bodies to see whether or not it was the truth that coffee caused their ailments.

It's an easy test. Quit coffee absolutely for 10 days. Take Postum hot and well-made and keep track of the change toward health day by day.

It's the most exquisite pleasure in the world to be perfectly well with all the delicate and beautifully adjusted machinery of the body working in harmony, not interfered with by drugs, one of the most insidious and deceptive of which is caffeine in coffee.

This is Truth.

Meet it bravely with head up and a hearty handclasp.

Truth thus made welcome will prove your best friend.

These are facts without regard to our own opinion, or to whether or not you use Postum.

However it is well to consider that famous food-drink because it supplies a hot beverage of the deep seal-brown color of coffee, which turns to the rich golden-brown when cream is added.

It has a snappy flavor much like the old-time real Java, but there is no "sting" in it, no caffeine or other drug of any sort. It is skilfully manufactured of wheat and a trace of New Orleans molasses.

It comes in two forms. One called Regular Postum, must be boiled full 15 minutes.

The other, Instant Postum, is in powder form and a level teaspoonful in a cup of hot water makes the beverage instantly. Grocers keep both kinds.

AROUSES THE BEAST IN MAN

Modern Woman's Dress Is Foolish, Vain and Immodest, Says Pastor.

Says Modern Styles Expose Young Men to Needless Temptations.

Rev. M. S. Rice, pastor of the First Methodist church, during the course of his sermon on "Temptation" last evening, attacked the dress of the modern woman, declaring it to be immodest, suggestive and such that it arouses the beast in men.

Dr. Rice has preached several sermons on the general subject of temptation of late, but last evening devoted his remarks to the enduring of temptation. He took for his text the twelfth verse of the first chapter of James: "Blessed is the man that endureth temptation; for when he is tried, he shall receive the crown of life."

Dr. Rice laid stress on the point that no particular credit is due the person who is not tempted, for remaining pure; but that the greatest of credit is due the man who is tempted and endures. He scoffed at the excuse often offered:

"You don't realize the awful temptation I had to undergo."

That is the time, he asserted, when a man shows his manhood and a woman her womanhood by overcoming temptation.

He mentioned only two strong temptations particularly, for the reason, he explained, that they are the most persistant and dangerous and also that the evening was too short to attempt a discussion of all the great temptations that assail mankind. The two he mentioned are the temptation of the social evil, and of the wineship. It was in discussing the former that he attacked women's garb. Said he:

"Temptation is all about young men at best, and why so-called respectable women will make it more difficult by taking up a foolish, vain and immodest mode of dress because fashion dictates it, is more than I can imagine. If these respectable women could understand the suggestion they cause by their exposing of the sacred form, and could hear the remarks made about them, I believe they would think well before bowing to fashion's dictates. It is too bad that in us all the angel and the beast lie so close together, but it is true, and such dress as the modern woman adopts these days arouses the beast."

THIS WEEK'S WEATHER

Washington, Aug. 4.—Cooler weather throughout the country except in the Gulf and Pacific coast states during the coming week is predicted by the experts of the weather bureau.

"The distribution of pressure over the North American continent and the adjacent oceans," the weekly forecast said, "is such as to indicate that temperatures below the seasonal average the week coming over the northwestern states, the great central valleys, the region of the Great Lakes and the eastern states, and near or slightly above the normal in the Gulf states and on the Pacific coast. No warm wave is probable east of the Rocky mountains during the next week or ten days. The precipitation during the week will be generally light and local, and there are no indications at present that a general storm will cross the country during the coming week.

"There is no evidence of a disturbance in the West Indies."

N. D. Postmaster Quits.

Goodrich, N. D. Aug. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—After twelve years as postmaster during which time he claims his official duties have seriously interfered with his private business, J. T. Wyard has resigned and requested that his successor be named immediately. The Democratic county central committee probably will favor Mrs. Thomas Gullickson for the position.

NAVAL BASE FOR ENGLAND

Plan for Bermudas May Lead to Important Changes.

Whole Foreign Naval Policy in Western Hemisphere Involved.

Washington, Aug. 4.—Keen interest has been aroused in official circles here by a report reaching the state department that Great Britain is contemplating establishing a great naval base in the Bermuda islands. It is stated authoritatively that the British government has made inquiries concerning plans of the United States for the protection of the Panama canal routes, and it has been suggested that this indicates an intention to safeguard British shipping through the isthmus, as is done in the Mediterranean.

Officials realize that the problem raised is a tremendous one, involving as it may the very life of the Monroe doctrine and marking perhaps a complete revolution in foreign naval policy in the Western hemisphere. For it is expected that if Great Britain changes her naval policy in American Atlantic waters, other European powers will probably follow suit. While these changes may be expected in the Atlantic waters and the West Indies, officials likewise realize that with the opening of the canal the United States must contend with Japan for the dominion of the Pacific.

Abandoned Stations Ten Years Ago.

The British royal navy abandoned its naval stations in this country about ten years ago, when the United States gave up the idea of the construction of the Nicaraugan canal and set about digging the big waterway across Panama, whose approaching completion bids fair to revolutionize international relations.

Apart from its West Indian stations, the royal navy maintained stations at Esquimalt, British Columbia and Halifax, Nova Scotia. There once was a plan to strengthen greatly the fortifications at Esquimalt, overlooking the Straits of Juan de Fuca, in order to make that an important base, but both of these stations now have a merely nominal existence, under the government of the Dominion of Canada, and are little more than recruiting stations for the royal navy. British troops were withdrawn from St. Lucia, in the West Indies, in 1906, the guns were dismounted from the fortifications and what once was a great military station became only a commercial coaling place and is not today even a saluting port.

SUFFRAGETTES INTERRUPT LITANY

Forty Women Create Disturbance in St. Paul's Cathedral.

London, Aug. 4.—A party of forty well-dressed suffragettes interrupted the morning service at St. Paul's cathedral Sunday by chanting a prayer in behalf of Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst. Ushers ejected the women from the edifice after a scuffle in which several chairs were upset.

The disturbance took place during the singing of the Litany. The women, who had front seats in the center aisle, chanted loudly:

"Save Emmeline Pankhurst."
"Spare her, spare her."
"Give her light and set her free."
"Save her, save her."
"Hear us while we pray to Thee."

Evidently the chant had been rehearsed. It was in the same tune the choir had been singing. When the women began their chorus the ushers came towards them from all parts of the cathedral, while the members of the congregation remonstrated with the disturbers, telling them to remember that they were in church. The suffragettes, however, repeated their chant three or four times, each time in a louder key. A majority were led out quietly by the ushers, but a half dozen or so clung to their chairs and fought against ejectment. When all the disturbers were removed from the building, the services proceeded.

A squad of police was in attendance at vespers last evening but there was no disturbance.

BIBLE STORY OF THE DELUGE CONFIRMED

Many Like Details Told on Ancient Babylonian Tablet.

Philadelphia, Aug. 4.—The Bible story of Noah and the flood is confirmed in many details by hieroglyphics written 4,000 years ago, maybe more, by a historian who lived in ancient Babylon, according to announcement by the University of Pennsylvania. The writing, on a tablet, an epic of great length purporting to reach back to the creation, has been deciphered at the museum of the university by Dr. Arno Poeble, the announcement says. The tablet, said to be the oldest ever rescued from oblivion, was dug up in Nipsur several years ago by a museum expedition.

In strange symbols, so finely written that the entire poem is contained on seven inches square, the primitive historian harks back to the beginning of all things. Then there were seven gods, chief of which were Anu and Enlil, and a goddess, Mintu, the tablet says. Nintu it was who created mankind, whom she called "my creations."

The Zuigidda of the Babylonians, it is believed, was the Noah of the Hebrews. The tablet tells of Zuigidda's learning from the great god Enki that mankind was to be destroyed "by a rainstorm." Then comes a description of terrific wind and rains.

"After seven days the rain storm had passed over the land and carried away the huge boat. Then the sun god came forth, shedding light over heaven and earth. Zuigidda opened the roof of his ship and the light of god was let in."

This version differs in one respect to the duration of the flood described in Genesis. There it was said to last forty days.

SAYS HIS VICTIM ASSAILED WOMEN

Nebraska Youth Tells of Killing of Man at Carnival.

Lincoln, Neb., Aug. 4.—Clarence Clawson was arrested in Lincoln Sunday charged with the murder of Ross McKinsey, whose throat was cut with a razor, at the Wilber street carnival Saturday night.

The prisoner, who is 20 years of age, was rushed to Wilber to appear at the inquest. He told how his wife had seen McKinsey strike May Craft, a Lincoln woman, while a dance was in progress. His wife had rushed to the Craft girl's assistance and McKinsey had lunged at Mrs. Clawson. Clawson interfered, a fight ensued and Clawson cut McKinsey's throat, severing the jugular vein.

All of the parties concerned hurried from the dance hall and McKinsey's body was discovered a short time later lying in the main street. Sheriffs of six counties searched for Clawson during the morning, after several women who had seen the cutting had told their story.

The murdered man was a farmer living near Dorchester, Neb.

CLOQUET PUPILS RAISING GARDENS

Good Harvest Expected at Hornby Field, the Public Schooi Farm.

Cloquet, Minn., Aug. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—K. D. Van Wagnen, the agricultural instructor, is very enthusiastic over prospects for a good harvest at Hornby field, the public school farm at which this is the second season of growing, the farm having been given to the schools two years ago by the Cloquet Lumber company for agricultural demonstration purposes. The land contained the usual number of rocks in this section and was full of quack grass and it has taken perseverance and energy to get rid of both.

A small house was built on the farm this summer. A high school boy is in charge, so that there is some one on the place night and day. The old barn on the land at the time of purchase has been repaired and is now as good as a new building, all outbuildings have been painted and the place presents a neat appearance. A team of work horses was loaned by the lumber company for the summer. Thirty-five children have garden plots and are striving for various prizes offered at the harvest time. The boys and girls walk to and fro to the field once each week, instead of riding, as last year, and this has slightly lessened the number of children participating. Cabbages, corn, potatoes, onions, rutabagas, buckwheat and other grains are being raised, fertilizer tests are being tried out and teste of overcoming the nuisance of quack grass. An orchard of small fruits has been set out and some common varieties of chickens are being raised.

CLOQUET WOMAN DIES SUDDENLY

Mrs. Joseph Willette Is Stricken in Front of a Theater.

Cloquet, Minn., Aug. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Joseph Willette died suddenly in front of the Bijou theater Sunday afternoon about 5. Death was due to heart failure from which Mrs. Willette had suffered for some time. A physician was called but death was almost instantaneous. Mr. Willette is a sawyer at the Cloquet Lumber company's mill. The remains were shipped today to Chippewa Falls, Wis., where the parties are well known.

WHEAT HARVEST HAS COMMENCED

Hot Wave Has Hastened Work in Southern North Dakota.

Fargo, N. D., Aug. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Hastened by the hot weather of the past week, the grain harvest is nearly general. Blue stem wheat is being cut in practically all sections of the southern half of the state, and some farmers are entirely through. Ernest Eggert of Warren, Cass county, was the first to complete his harvest, having everything in shock except the flax.

Grains Already Cut.

Winter rye and early oats and barley are all cut, while velvet chaff wheat is nearly all harvested. The fife wheat is not quite ready, and late wheat, oats and barley are very green, but rapidly filling, with a promise of being exceptionally good grain.

Corn and potatoes are improving daily. Much of the rye has been threshed and considerable of the rye stubble plowed.

INJURED NEAR HOME.

Missing North Dakotan Found Four Days After Being Thrown.

Bowman, N. D., Aug. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Four days after his horse had thrown him near his own home, which he had left to help a neighbor brand calves, Irwin Hartzell, living near Ludlow, was found unconscious and blistering in the hot sun. His horse had tumbled into a draw, breaking its neck and throwing its rider. Neighbors searching found Hartzell and he will recover.

ONTONAGON SCHOOL BOARD ORGANIZED.

Ontonagon, Mich., Aug. 4.—At the organization meeting of the newly elected school board the following officers were elected for the ensuing term: President, C. F. Eichen; secretary, Catharine M. Breitenbach; treasurer, Edward Carroll.

Robert C. Hanna, now of Minneapolis, son of Joseph Hanna who half a century ago was superintendent of the Ridge mine in this county, has been in this village looking up old-time friends of his father. Robert Hanna left here when he was 6 months old and this is the first visit here since that time, about fifty years ago.

ANGERED AT ROAD; MAN HALTS TRAIN

Poorly Paid for Preventing Collision, North Dakotan Seeks Revenge.

White Earth, N. D., Aug. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Because the Great Northern road paid Carl Steen only $25, when by flagging a train two years ago he prevented a serious collision, Steen has brooded over the matter considerably. He recently flagged a delayed passenger train. When the conductor ran breathlessly to him to learn what was the matter, Steen wanted more pay. The conductor was almost as indignant at being compelled to stop a train already behind time as Steen was over the small sum the road paid him for preventing the collision.

GIRL RECOVERING.

Alleged Clementson, Minn., Infanticide Getting Over Poison.

Spooner, Minn., Aug. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Faith Benedict, the 17-year-old girl alleged to have strangled her 10-day-old illegitimate baby about a mile from Clementson a few days ago and then taken poison, is getting along nicely in the Spooner hospital, and will be taken to Bemidji this week to await trial. It is said the girl buried the child in a grave she dug with her hands. She accused Alfred Sealander, a Koochiching county homesteader, and he is in jail in International Falls, where he is held on a paternity charge.

It developed at the inquest held over the child that it had died from asphyxiation, though no marks of violence were found on the body. A diaper had been wrapped around its face, covering the nose and mouth, and this had evidently been the means of smothering the life of the child.

The Benedict girl denies having murdered the baby, but admits that it was dead when she abandoned it.

OLD GRINDSTONE FLIES TO PIECES

Owner Instantly Killed and Another Hurt Near Golden Valley, N. D.

Golden Valley, N. D., Aug. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The explosion of a grindstone instantly killed Matthew Bauer, a farmer near here. He had an ancient grindstone he wished to true up. At one machine shop the task was regarded as too dangerous, and at another he was permitted to attach the grindstone to a shaft, if he would do the work himself. The instant the steel touched the stone an explosion followed. One piece broke one of Bauer's arms in two places and another crushed his skull.

Blacksmith Hurt.

Woman's Realm

Mrs. Jane Everington Scully and Miss Elizabeth Gibson have returned from a two weeks' visit at Port Arthur, Ont. While there Mrs. Scully sang at a choral service at St. Andrew's Presbyterian church winning the following praise:

"The choral service at St. Andrew's Presbyterian church last evening was very bright and beautiful. The usual excellent music of organ and choir, under the direction of Prof. Hall, was supplemented by the singing of 'I Know That My Redeemer Liveth,' and other solo parts by Mrs. Jane Everington Scully of Duluth, formerly of Port Arthur. Mrs. Scully possesses a rich voice of much power and sweetness, and eminently suited to the music of sacred songs. Yesterday morning Mrs. Scully was the soloist at Trinity Methodist church, Port Arthur."

Mrs. Scully also sang several solos on an excursion trip by boat to Isle Royale from Port Arthur given under the auspices of the Eastern Star of that city. Of her singing one paper writes: "Among those who sang were Mrs. Scully of Duluth, whom early Port Arthurites know better by her former name, Jenny Everington. Mrs. Scully's beautiful voice captivated all hearts and she was induced to sing again and yet again."

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

Home Life Preferable to Career on the Stage.

No less famous an actress than Julia Marlowe has recently written: "If any girl considers that in becoming an actress it is necessary for her to give up the fundamentals of existence, I would say that it is not worth while. Personally I would not recognize any art that interfered with the genuine things of life. • • • If it were necessary for a woman to choose between a happy home life and the greatest triumph that the stage can offer, I would choose the home!"

These sentiments, expressed by one of the foremost actresses of the American stage, should have some weight with stage-struck girls. Miss Marlowe, it is true, believes that it is possible for a girl to become a great actress and still retain the best there is of home and family life. She is herself happily married, and whenever she and her husband, Mr. Sothern, have an engagement of any length to play in a city, they take a furnished apartment and live there during their stay, in order to get as much home life as possible. Of course this plan, it must be confessed, is far from the ideal home life, but the spirit that prompts it under such circumstances would be sure to make a home anywhere.

It is an old story—that of the girl who yearns for the stage, and it is difficult to lay down a general rule in the matter. Certainly it would be my advice for no girl to consider the step unless she has undisputed talent, which is almost certain to land her at the top of the profession. It is a profession, or an art, which, for women, scarcely pays unless one can go to the top.

The important point in Miss Marlowe's statement is that she would choose a happy home life in preference to the greatest triumph of the stage, if such choice were necessary. While it is true that many artists and actresses and others appearing constantly in public may still be wives and mothers, and retain a degree of home life, it is also true that they must sacrifice much to make a career.

Is the game really worth the candle? Is not that woman really and truly happier who has her home and family, with no particular art of profession, with its constant demands upon her time and talents, to detract from them?

Girls who contemplate stage careers should weigh the matter carefully. While not necessarily the case, as many instances prove, nevertheless, it is a fact that many women put behind them the best things of life when they enter a public career, only to regret it when it is too late.

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

LYCEUM—"Hanky Panky."
EMPRESS—Vaudeville.

NEW VAUDEVILLE AT THE EMPRESS

Another road show vaudeville bill holds the boards at the Empress theater the first half of this week. Three large audiences greeted the performers yesterday.

Ollie Young and April and the Hayward Sisters are the hits of the show, both acts being out of the ordinary and presented by capable entertainers. The first is a bubble blowing act and extremely interesting. The Hayward Sisters present a musical number, introducing several popular instruments. They are both very able musicians.

A comedy of the bill is borne by Early and Laight, who style themselves humorologists and Lucille Tilton, who gives an imitation of a drunken man, that readily scored yesterday. The young woman appears dressed in male attire and with the aid of a falsetto voice manages to present a real novelty act. Early and Laight introduce a number of new jokes and songs during their act.

The motion pictures close the bill, which will continue until Thursday.

"Hanky Panky."

"Hanky Panky," the most successful musical comedy in the past ten years, will open a two days' stay at the Lyceum theater tonight. It was intended that the two years' run of this remarkable organization should end in Winnipeg last Saturday night, but the arrangements for a week's stay in Atlantic City, starting next Monday, made it possible for the company to come here for two days.

"Hanky Panky" was organized in Chicago two years ago, and it was intended only for a summer run in that city. High-paid stars were secured, and it was never intended that the company should leave Chicago, because of the cost of operating the show and the salary list. It did, however, and made money, particularly after its remarkable run in New York last summer. It started westward five months ago, stayed three weeks in Los Angeles and a month in San Francisco, then toured through Portland, Seattle and Vancouver, finally starting through Northwest Canada. It was the only show which covered that route this season to make money.

The notable features of "Hanky Panky" are its laugh-producing qualities, in which it is said to be unrivalled in musical comedy, its remarkable cast of stars and its chorus. In the cast are Max Rogers of the famous Rogers brothers, famous as stars in their own shows; Harry Cooper, great Jewish comedian and tenor singer, co-star with Emma Trentini in "Naughty Marietta;" Hugh Cameron, well-known German comedian; Christine Nielsen, the greatest prima donna in musical comedy; Clay Smith, leading juvenile, a favorite in London for three years; Myrtle Gilbert and Flo May, two of Broadway's daintiest ingenues; Virginia Evans, a tall, stately beauty who furnishes the dancing features; and Florence Moore and William Montgomery, laugh makers extraordinary, who carry away the comedy honors. Miss Moore has been called the funniest girl in the world. The chorus is practically the same as the one which made the show the talk of New York last summer, and in it are eight show girls who had never before been away from New York until they took this trip with "Hanky Panky." They are "Broadway show girls" in the strictest sense of the word and had never before been away from their native haunts.

"Hanky Panky" is a "jumble of jollification," a conglomeration of fun and nonsense, sans plot, intended only to amuse and entertain. At this it has been highly successful.

Tells The "Seamy Side" Of Suffrage

Mrs. Rossiter Johnson Undertakes to Show Her Sex Infinitely Better Off Without the Right to Vote and the Responsibilities Arising From It.

Not only have the suffrage states done nothing to improve the status of their womankind, but in them the laws favorable to women, concerning not only property but industry, are gradually being rescinded.

In Idaho four men have already sued for and won alimony from divorced wives, which is a fair sample of what may well be expected in a suffragette state.

Has suffrage helped Colorado women? Woman has no dower rights in Colorado and women there are liable for their proportionate share of the cost of a family's support.

The Mormon church is one of the strongest pro-suffrage influence at present at work in the United States. Mormonism is not really a church or a religion, but a strong political organization, laboring upon a plan, which, should it ever be successful, would overthrow the Republic.

Without the ballot none but the best women will take an interest in political affairs. The case seems almost to reverse itself when the ballot is obtained.

The teachings of Frances Wright, who is acknowledged to have been the founder of the woman's suffrage "idea," included not only votes for women, but "affinity marriages," without religious service or civil ceremony, state support of women and children and open scoffing at religion.—From Mrs. Rossiter Johnson's views on Woman Suffrage.

New York Times: The Guidon club is New York's most important organization in opposition to woman suffrage. Mrs. Rossiter Johnson, wife of the celebrated author and editor, is its president. She is herself only a less notable literary figure than her husband, and has taken a principal part for many years in the anti-suffrage battle.

"Woman suffrage never has succeded anywhere; it never will succeed," she said the other day. "It is founded on a falsity, and must meet the fate of everything so founded. The suffrage movement was inspired by the same wave of thought which drove the revolutionists in France to such excesses, and which gave material to the early Socialistic orators.

"The greatest group of pioneer thinkers who the world has ever known were those who founded this republic. They aimed to insure the safety of the individual home, founded upon mutual affection, insuring especially the sacredness of the marriage tie; to found a state upon personal freedom under just and equitable laws; through the exercises of liberty of conscience and the inspiration of faith to promote religious growth. These things are essential to the full fruition, to the real success of the republic which our wise men founded. Women suffrage, from the start, has been opposed to them.

The Founder of the Suffrage Idea.

"Frances Wright, who is proudly acknowledged to have been the 'founder' of the woman's suffrage 'idea,' who is known as the 'pioneer woman in the cause of woman's rights,' included many of the ideas of the most 'advanced' Socialists in her creed. Frances Wright's teachings include not only votes for women, but 'affinity marriages,' without religious service or civil ceremony, state support of women and children, and open scoffing at religion.

"Far be it from my intention to declare that all the mistaken women who at present are espousing woman suffrage in this country and abroad are subscribers to these startling views; but it is a fact that each of them has been echoed by one or another of the acknowledged leaders of the movement. Indeed, such echoes are only logical.

"Therefore it is my belief that in the present suffrage movement lies a peril to our institutions such as cannot elsewhere be discovered. Should the acknowledged ideal of the first 'great leader' I have mentioned be achieved, transitory and inevitably ruinous unions would replace that permanent alliance between husbands and wives which is not only required by human and divine law but suggested by purity and nature, and which alone can give rise to the true family, acknowledged by the greatest thinkers of all times to be the only foundation for all stable social systems. The inevitable result would be that anarchy would replace the free out stable state which we have with travail, at such cost of blood and brawn, established; and that for that sense of personal religion, love and duty, on which our homes and our republic have been safely based, we should be substituting various philosophies of life, all cold, all godless.

"The Rev. Clarence True Wilson, who is at the head of the temperance work of the Methodist church in the United States, declares that woman suffrage, wherever it has been introduced, has set back the cause of temperance a full decade. In not one instance has woman suffrage, in the states which have adopted it, tended toward the purification of politics or the diminution of the liquor evil and those other nameless horrors which we discuss with reluctance.

"When Colorado was carried there were 1,200 Mormon settlements in that state. The Mormon church has found it easier to use women's votes, which they control, to sustain its power than to perform the well nigh impossible task of getting men's votes in sufficient number for the work. The Mormon church is one of the strongest pro-suffrage influences at present at work in the United States. It is far stronger and more active than most people realize. It has a powerful lobby at work in Washington every session, and always working, among other things, for woman suffrage. Mormonism is not really a church or a religion, but a strong political organization, laboring upon a plan which, should it ever be successful, would overthrow the republic.

Effect Upon the Home.

"And what would be the inevitable effect of woman suffrage on the home? Not only have the suffrage states done nothing to improve the status of their womankind, but in them the laws favorable to women, concerning not only property but industry, are gradually being rescinded. In Idaho four men have already sued for and won alimony from divorced wives, which is a fair sample of what may well be expected in a suffragette state. In Colorado a company of men has been formed to promote legislation making the payment of alimony by divorced husbands illegal.

"Every thirtieth woman in Denver is either now divorced or has been. What will be the effect on these women if the men win their fight against alimony payments? Has suffrage helped the Colorado women? No condition of the sort exists in any anti-suffrage state. Woman has no dower rights in Colorado, and women there are liable for their proportionate share of the cost of a family's support. Even in Ohio, where there is much suffrage agitation, men are beginning seriously to discuss the plans of fastening upon women some of the legal responsibilities of life which have hitherto been the sole burden of the men.

"There is a fundamental law that the ballot carries with it not only independence, but responsibility. It is assumed that when a boy becomes a voter he also becomes capable of self-support. Some women who are fighting for the ballot would be mightily chagrined should they discover, when they had obtained it, that this rule was applied to them! What effect will suffrage have upon domestic relations? Imagine the situation in a family in which the husband is a candidate for whom the wife refuses to cast her vote! What will he say? Naturally, 'Very well, my dear, then no more money.'"

Woman's Realm

Mrs. Jane Everington Scully and Miss Elizabeth Gibson have returned from a two weeks' visit at Port Arthur, Ont. While there Mrs. Scully sang at a choral service at St. Andrew's Presbyterian church winning the following praise:

"The choral service at St. Andrew's Presbyterian church last evening was very bright and beautiful. The usual excellent music of organ and choir, under the direction of Prof. Hall, was supplemented by the singing of 'I Know That My Redeemer Liveth,' and other solo parts by Mrs. Jane Everington Scully of Duluth, formerly of Port Arthur. Mrs. Scully possesses a rich voice of much power and sweetness, and admirably suited to the music of sacred songs. Yesterday morning Mrs. Scully was the soloist at Trinity Methodist church, Port Arthur."

Mrs. Scully also sang several solos on an excursion trip by boat to Isle Royale from Port Arthur given under the auspices of the Eastern Star of that city. Of her singing one paper writes: Among those who sang were Mrs. Scully of Duluth, whom early Port Arthurites know better by her former name, Jenny Everington. Mrs. Scully's beautiful voice captivated all hearts and she was induced to sing again and yet again."

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, Aug. 4.—The marriage at Los Angeles of Congressman C. B. Miller and Miss Gertrude V. Pattison of this city, was not a great surprise to Mr. Miller's friends in this city. Not only have the suffrage states done nothing to improve the status of their womankind, but in them the laws favorable to women, concerning not only property but industry, are gradually being rescinded.

In Idaho four men have already sued for and won alimony from divorced wives, which is a fair sample of what may well be expected in a suffragette state.

Has suffrage helped Colorado women? Woman has no dower rights in Colorado and women there are liable for their proportionate share of the cost of a family's support.

The Mormon church is one of the strongest pro-suffrage influence at present at work in the United States. Mormonism is not really a church or a religion, but a strong political organization, laboring upon a plan, which, should it ever be successful, would overthrow the republic.

Without the ballot none but the best women will take an interest in political affairs. The case seems almost to reverse itself when the ballot is obtained.

The teachings of Frances Wright, who is acknowledged to have been the founder of the woman's suffrage "idea," included not only votes for women, but "affinity marriages," without religious service or civil ceremony, state support of women and children and open scoffing at religion.—From Mrs. Rossiter Johnson's views on Woman Suffrage.

New York Times: The Guidon club is New York's most important organization in opposition to woman suffrage. Mrs. Rossiter Johnson, wife of the celebrated author and editor, is its president. She is herself only a less notable literary figure than her husband, and has taken a principal part for many years in the anti-suffrage battle

"Woman suffrage never has succeeded anywhere; it never will succeed," she said the other day. "It is founded on a falsity, and must meet the fate of everything so founded. The suffrage movement was inspired by the same wave of thought which drove the revolutionists in France to such excesses, and which gave material to the early Socialistic orators.

"The greatest group of pioneer thinkers which the world has ever known were those who founded this republic. They aimed to insure the safety of the individual home, founded upon mutual affection, insuring especially the sacredness of the marriage tie; to found a state upon personal freedom under just and equitable laws; through the exercises of liberty of conscience and the inspiration of faith to promote religious growth. These things are essential to the full fruition, to the real success of the republic which our wise men founded. Women suffrage, from the start, has been opposed to them.

The Founder of the Suffrage Idea.

"Frances Wright, who is proudly acknowledged to have been the 'founder' of the woman's suffrage 'idea,' who is known as the 'pioneer woman in the cause of woman's rights,' included many of the ideas of the most 'advanced' Socialists in her creed. Frances Wright's teachings include not only votes for women, but 'affinity marriages,' without religious service or civil ceremony, state support of women and children, and open scoffing at religion.

"Far be it from my intention to declare that all the mistaken women who at present are espousing woman suffrage in this country and abroad are subscribers to these startling views; but it is a fact that each of them has been echoed by one or another of the acknowledged leaders of the movement. Indeed, such echoes are only logical.

"Therefore it is my belief that in the present suffrage movement lies a peril to our institutions such as cannot elsewhere be discovered. Should the acknowledged ideal of the first 'great leader' I have mentioned be achieved, transitory and inevitably ruinous unions would replace that permanent alliance between husbands and wives which is not only required by human and divine law but suggested by purity and nature, and which alone can give rise to the true family, acknowledged by the greatest thinkers of all times to be the only foundation for all stable social systems. The inevitable result would be that anarchy would replace the free but stable state which we have with travail, at such cost of blood and brawn, established; and that for that sense of personal religion, love and duty, on which our homes and our republic have been safely based, we should be substituting various philosophies of life, all cold, all godless.

"The Rev. Clarence True Wilson, who is at the head of the temperance work of the Methodist church in the United States, declares that woman suffrage, wherever it has been introduced, has set back the cause of temperance a full decade. In not one instance has woman suffrage, in the states which have adopted it, tended toward the purification of politics or the diminution of the liquor evil and those other nameless horrors which we discuss with reluctance.

"When Colorado was carried there were 1,200 Mormon settlements in that state. The Mormon church has found it easier to use women's votes, which they control, to sustain its power than to perform the well nigh impossible task of getting men's votes in sufficient number for the work. The Mormon church is one of the strongest pro-suffrage influences at present at work in the United States. It is far stronger and more active than most people realize. It has a powerful lobby at work in Washington every session, and always working, among other things, for woman suffrage. Mormonism is not really a church or a religion, but a strong political organization, laboring upon a plan which, should it ever be successful, would overthrow the republic.

Effect Upon the Home.

"And what would be the inevitable effect of woman suffrage on the home? Not only have the suffrage states done nothing to improve the status of their womankind, but in them the laws favorable to women, concerning not only property but industry, are gradually being rescinded. In Idaho four men have already sued for and won alimony from divorced wives, which is a fair sample of what may well be expected in a suffragette state. In Colorado a company of men has been formed to promote legislation making the payment of alimony by divorced husbands illegal.

"Every thirtieth woman in Denver is either now divorced or has been. What will be the effect on these women if the men win their fight against alimony payments? Has suffrage helped the Colorado women? No condition of the sort exists in any anti-suffrage state. Woman has no dower rights in Colorado, and women there are liable for their proportionate share of the cost of a family's support. Even in Ohio, where there is much suffrage agitation, men are beginning seriously to discuss the plans of fastening upon women some of the legal responsibilities of life which have hitherto been the sole burden of the men.

"There is a fundamental law that the ballot carries with it not only independence, but responsibility. It is assumed that when a boy becomes a voter he also becomes capable of self-support. Some women who are fighting for the ballot would be mightily chagrined should they discover, when they had obtained it, that this rule was applied to them! What effect will suffrage have upon domestic relations? Imagine the situation in a family in which the husband is a candidate for whom the wife refuses to cast her vote! What will he say? Naturally, 'Very well, my dear, then no more money.'"

Home Life Preferable to Career on the Stage.

No less famous an actress than Julia Marlowe has recently written: "If any girl considers that in becoming an actress it is necessary for her to give up the fundamentals of existence, I would say that it is not worth while. Personally I would not recognize any art that interfered with the genuine things of life. • • • If it were necessary for a woman to choose between a happy home life and the greatest triumph that the stage can offer, I would choose the home!"

These sentiments, expressed by one of the foremost actresses of the American stage, should have some weight with stage-struck girls. Miss Marlowe, it is true, believes that it is possible for a girl to become a great actress and still retain the best there is of home and family life. She is herself happily married, and whenever she and her husband, Mr. Sothern, have an engagement of any length to play in a city, they take a furnished apartment and live there during their stay, in order to get as much home life as possible. Of course this plan, it must be confessed, is far from the ideal home life, but the spirit that prompts it under such circumstances would be sure to make a home anywhere.

It is an old story—that of the girl who yearns for the stage, and it is difficult to lay down a general rule in the matter. Certainly it would be my advice for no girl to consider the step unless she has undisputed talent, which is almost certain to land her at the top of the profession. It is a profession, or an art, which, for women, scarcely pays unless one can go to the top.

The important point in Miss Marlowe's statement is that she would choose a happy home life in preference to the greatest triumph of the stage, if such choice were necessary. While it is true that many artists and actresses and others appearing constantly in public may still be wives and mothers, and retain a degree of home life, it is also true that they must sacrifice much to make a career.

Is the game really worth the candle? Is not that woman really and truly happier who has her home and family, with no particular art of profession, with its constant demands upon her time and talents, to detract from them?

Girls who contemplate stage careers should weigh the matter carefully. While not necessarily the case, as many instances prove, nevertheless, it is a fact that many women put behind them the best things of life when they enter a public career, only to regret it when it is too late.

REVIEWS WORK OF TWO YEARS

Progress of the Second Presbyterian Church Is Outlined.

In celebrating the second anniversary of his charge, Rev. J. A. McGaughey of the Second Presbyterian church, 1515 West Superior street, yesterday morning preached on "Looking Backward," giving a complete account of the work he has done the past two years. The pastor declared at the opening of his sermon that "a preacher's job is never done."

The following figures show what Rev. Mr. McGaughey has done since he took charge two years ago:

Sermons preached, 206.

Services held and assisted in, 934.

New members obtained, 140; membership at beginning of pastorate, 150.

Families called on, 294; of these [illegible] were not connected with the church.

Marriages performed, 39.

Funerals conducted, 38; but two of these were for families belonging to this church.

Home and sick calls made, at least 600.

"I do not want any unusual credit or praise for this," said the pastor. "This is no more than the duty of every pastor—no more than most of them do. But it may be interesting to those who deny the value of the church to the community to see that most of the funerals, most of the sick calls and many of the marriages are for persons without the church."

Last evening Rev. Mr. McGaughey preached on "Looking Forward," in which he outlined the work of the church for the future. The pastor urged the members of the congregation to build a new church in this end of the city and to continue the work of the Spaa club, an athletic organization.

Rev. Mr. McGaughey took charge of the church on Aug. 1, 1911, previous to which he was religious director at the Y. M. C. A.

Herman Olson, who was the director of the club ever since it was organized three years ago, was compelled to give up the work owing to his business and the selection of young Paulin followed. He is an able musician and very well known among the young men of the West end.

The members of the club are holding rehearsals every Monday night for the annual fall minstrel show to be given in October.

Mr. Wermine preached on "The Two Souls—Great Personalities Used in Different Ways."

Service in Park.

Rev. George E. Silloway of the Grace M. E. church preached at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the eighth of the Lincoln park series of Sunday services. His sermon was on "Paul's Challenge to Rome." McGaughey of the Second Presbyterian church will preach next Sunday.

Swenson, who recently returned from missionary work in China, gave a lecture on his experiences at the regular services of the Bethany Swedish Lutheran church, Twenty-third avenue west and Third street, yesterday morning. Rev. A. B. Hjelseth, another missionary who is in the city this week, preached at the Swedish Mission church, Twenty-first avenue west and Second street.

Sermon on "The Cross."

Rev. Milton Fish last evening concluded the series of sermons on "The Cross," preaching on "The Enthrone of the Cross." The pastor started the series two months ago and has since given ten sermons, all of which dealt with the Cross.

Lights for Playground.

The Duluth-Edison Electric company has donated the electric lights for the playgrounds of the Spaa club in the rear of the Second Presbyterian church, 1515 West Superior street. The company is now installing the lights and wiring the grounds.

Yeomen Will Meet.

J. E. Hauter, religious director of the Y. M. C. A., gave a complete review of the work of the association at the regular services of the Grace M. E. church, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street, last evening. Mr. Hauter explained how the representatives of the Y. M. C. A. work in all parts of the world. There are now 186 secretaries outside of the United States, he said.

Singers Have Outing.

The members of the Orpheus Singing society held an outing yesterday at Grassy Point, where the day was spent in music and games. W. A. Anderson and David Nelson chose sides for a ball game in the afternoon, the former's team winning, 10 to 0. The society yesterday issued a challenge to the Svea Glee club for a baseball game next Sunday.

Wester Funeral.

The funeral of Fritz Wester, 28 years old, who died last Wednesday at Dinham Lake, was held at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon from the First Swedish Baptist church, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street. Rev. M. S. Rice of the First M. E. church, officiated and interment was at the Union cemetery.

SOCIALISTS CALL DANIELS BELLICOSE.

Seattle, Wash., Aug. 4.—Demand for a congressional investigation of the rioting in this city on July 15, of which United States soldiers and sailors shared in attacks upon Socialist headquarters, is contained in a resolution adopted by a mass meeting of the Moderate Socialists. The resolution says that "at a most propitious moment from the standpoint of the reactionaries, the secretary of the navy, Josephus Daniels, delivered a tactless, impolitic and bellicose attack upon the red flag and all those who believed the principles it symbolized, thus linking the color of official approbation to the work of arson which almost immediately followed."

HINDUS DEFEND CAWNPORE MOSQUE.

Calcutta, Aug. 4.—The demolition of a portion of the mosque at Cawnpore for street improvements, which had caused indignation meeting to be held in many parts of India and Burmah, led to serious rioting at Cawnpore Sunday. A procession of natives carrying black flags visited the mosque and began replacing the bricks of the partly demolished edifice. An attempt to disperse the gathering resulted in a conflict with the police, who fired, killing thirteen and wounding thirty. One policeman was shot and forty others were injured.

ANOTHER MAYVILLE ELECTION NECESSARY.

Mayville, N. D., Aug. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Because the ballots for the special election for a bond issue for the new waterworks system contained two questions, another special election must be held. A recent supreme court decision on another case was to the effect that two questions could not be submitted on one ballot. The voters either had to approve or reject both, or refrain from voting. The work must be delayed several weeks and it is possible it may be indefinitely postponed.

—THE— HOMECROFTERS' CORNER

Conducted by C. E. ROE.

Questions will be answered by Mr. Roe in this column.

Shrubs Discussed.

We have so many beautiful shrubs that thrive in Duluth and tastes differ so widely in regard to their uses that it is difficult to give specific advise in regard to what to use in definite locations unless both grounds and people seeking information are known to you.

I have just looked over some grounds to determine where to plant some German iris. The lady who wants them would prefer to plant on the north side of the house, but we finally selected a location where they would get more sunlight. Iris plants like plenty of sunshine; and in this instance both house and trees cut off much of the needed supply.

Inquiry from L. B. B.—"I would be greatly obliged if you would suggest a good line of shrubbery for the following situations:

"1.—Two clumps, each fourteen feet wide and say four feet deep, at the front of a house facing south; one on each side of the steps.

"2.—A single line of shrubs, not over three feet tall on the east side of the house, divided by basement windows so that there will be three strips 7½, 14 and 16 feet long. I want here, so far as I can get it, variety and continuous bloom.

"3.—A triangle at the front of the lot, at one corner, in open sunlight, 14 feet wide at the front, 20 feet deep and with a hypotenuse of 24 feet."

For No. 1, much would depend on the height required and the general effect to be produced. If eight or ten feet is not too tall for the background I would suggest tartarian honeysuckle, philadelphus, garland (mock orange), or barberry (purple leaf). Any of these would make an effective background for spirea van houtil, rugosa roses, berberry thungbergi or hydrangea paniculata grandiflora. Any or all of these lower shrubs might be made more effective by the use of hardy perenniales between them. I would suggest peonies, shasta daisies and the new longspurred columbines. Everything in this list is absolutely hardy, and one should be able to work out a satisfactory combination from them. If a lower background is required any of the shrubs suggested for the second row would make it, and nasturtiums or geraniums could be planted in front of them each season.

Number two furnishes a more difficult problem. Most shrubs worth while are more than three feet tall, and it is difficult indeed to get a succession of bloom within these limits. There are a few very fine things that can be kept at the required height by judicious pruning. Among the most satisfactory are two of the spireas—the arguta, blooming in May, and the van houti, blooming in June. Both of these are white. The flowering almond, with its double pink flowers, coming early in June, is especially welcome, but it should have some winter protection. The two rugosa roses—rubra and alba—bloom in July and are perfectly hardy. There is really nothing more effective for the shrubbery border or for low hedging than these Japanese roses with their dark green foliage and red and white blossoms. Here again I would suggest the use of hardy perennials with your shrubs. The new columbines have a long blooming season, are exceedingly graceful and effective, and work in well with any low-growing shrubs. They are very hardy and grow better each succeeding year. The colors range through the yellows, pinks, reds and purples to the pure white, and their long stems make them desirable for cutting. I had them in blossom last year from June until late in September. The achillia pearl is another perennial which will survive under almost any treatment. It gives quantities of double white daisy-like flowers throughout the months of July and August. Peonies in variety can be used if desired, and they will make a magnificent showing during the first two weeks in July. Among the low-growing shrubs I neglected to mention the berberry thungbergi. While the flower of this shrub is rather insignificant the foliage and general habit make it very desirable. During the summer months, the foliage is a bright green but in the fall, it becomes a brilliant red.

The triangle described in number three offers so many possibilities that I should want to see it to work it out effectively. Use your taller shrubs for your background or in the center, depending upon the effect which you wish to produce. In addition to the large shrubs mentioned in number one, I would recommend lilacs and the golden-leaved elder. The Japan tree lilac grows twenty feet tall and bears immense panicles of white flowers a month after the common lilacs have blossomed. The villosa is a Chinese variety of lower growth and handsome foliage which also blooms in July. The flowers are a delicate lilac changing to pink and it is very fragrant. The golden-leaved elder is valuable to give contrast in foliage. If more contrast in flowers is desired, plant some hardy larkspurs or delphiniums among the shrubs. The new belledona hybrids are beauties. They grow six or seven feet tall and bear graceful spikes ranging through all the shades of blue.

As to quantities and definite arrangement, it would be necessary for me to visit the grounds in order to judge. I trust that you may find these suggestions of some value. If I can be of further assistance, come to my home any evening that you find convenient.

PERFORATED SKIRT.

Makes Favorable Impression on New York's Gay White Way.

New York, Aug. 4.—At last it has come—the long awaited, the daring, perforated skirt. Broadway tried it and it suited Broadway to a zephyr.

Perforated skirts were seen in and about Longacre square shortly after high noontide. In half an hour there was no speech nor language where their voice was not heard. Nothing else was talked of all the rest of the afternoon.

It is claimed for these skirts that they give all the freedom and comfort of the slashed variety, but without the same degree of notoriety. The perforations, the holes, to be exact, are of sufficient diameter to admit large quantities of fresh air without presenting too great a scenic attraction.

MAIL CARRIER SAYS HE ROBBED HIMSELF.

Denver, Colo., Aug. 4.—Postoffice inspectors here announce that Charles I. Wagner, a mail carrier at Hachita, N. M., had confessed that he was the man who robbed the mail carried by himself, thus solving the mystery surrounding a crime that has puzzled the Federal authorities for weeks. Wagner also confessed that he shot himself through the arm to give color to his story that he was held up by two Mexicans.

CRUCE REVOKES HIS SUBSTITUTE'S ACTS.

Oklahoma City, Okla., Aug. 4.—Governor Lee Cruce reurned here last night from Kansas City and revoked four pardons issued Saturday by Acting Governor J. J. McAlester, and also notified twenty-two publishing concerns by wire that he would consider any effort on their part to put into effect school book contracts signed by McAlester an affront to the state.

Acting Governor McAlester granted the pardons and signed the contracts during the absence in Kansas City of Governor Cruce. When the governor learned of the actions of the acting executive he hastened back to Oklahoma.

The contracts signed by McAlester were made by the recently deposed board of affairs of Oklahoma and involved the expenditure of more than a million dollars. Suits are pending seeking to have the contracts declared invalid.

CANOES.

The canoe is a dainty, graceful craft, pretty to look upon and exhilarating to voyage in.

For those who have mastered the water so well that they can swim with or without clothing, and who are so thoroughly at home in the water that it is merely a pleasant incident to be plunged into it where the bottom is ten feet or fifty feet from the surface, canoeing is an admirable pleasure.

For those who cannot swim at all, yet who venture where sudden swells and larger craft make it perilous, this pretty, graceful thing, with its unsteadiness and tricky habit, always seemed to us to be a pretty good thing to keep away from, and for parents to keep their children out of.

STILL ANOTHER STRAW.

Buffalo has been pluming itself that with a per capita use of 583 killowatt hours, it has set a record for per capita consumption of electric power.

A local article in The Herald Saturday night pulverized this bid for fame by showing that Duluth and Superior, to a large extent a unit commercially and industrially, make a per capita use of 850 killowatt hours.

Buffalo prides itself on the fact that its per capita use of electric power is 50 per cent ahead of its nearest competitor. It cannot mean it, for the Duluth-Superior per capita use is nearly 50 per cent greater than Buffalo's.

That puts Buffalo and all the rest of the cities far in the rear.

"David Lamar" has been indicted. Did they make it a John Doe case?

IS THERE AN ANTHRACITE TRUST?

Representative Murray of Massachusetts has proposed a congressional investigation of the question whether or not there is a hard coal trust.

He says there is. He says that 90 per cent of the available anthracite and nearly 90 per cent of the anthracite shipped annually is in the control of seven railroad systems which form the only means of conveying the coal to market.

He says that these seven railroads are so bound together by common interest, by interlocking directorates and by agreements that they act as a unit in controlling the price of hard coal.

Certainly this is important enough to warrant an investigation. The department of justice, it is stated, already is conducting such an investigation, and if congress can speed it up and make it more effective it would be well for congress to get into it; though congress seems to have had rather an embarrassment of riches in the way of investigations lately.

Whoever does it and however it is done, certainly this subject should be probed to the bottom.

There is something odd about the hard coal business. Wherever the consumer comes in contact with it he finds an utter absence of anything like competition. He can take it or leave it, but wherever he buys his coal he must pay the same price for it, and he must pay the same price for poor coal and good coal of the same size.

Moreover, hard coal keeps going up and up, and it never goes down.

Again, there is a wide spread between the cost of the coal at the mine and the cost in the consumer's bin which it is worth while looking into.

And, besides finding out if there is a coal trust, the country ought to find out also what to do about it if there is one.

It wouldn't help any to do what was done with the oil and tobacco trusts. They have been discovered, indicted, tried, convicted and sentenced, and the sentence has been carried out.

But the consumer has not profited a penny by it. Indeed, the probability is that it has cost him a good many pennies.

It might become necessary to condemn the coal fields and take them over into public ownership and public operation in the common interest.

Certainly the coal trust—or the system of coal production and distribution that looks and acts like a coal trust—has been very busy all its life creating reasons why that would be a good thing to do.

And then, no doubt there are several who would rather talk about Muthall than about—well, schedule K, for instance.

THE LARK-O'-THE-LAKE.

Heartiest congratulations to the boys who have had charge of the Lark-o'-the-Lake, Duluth's provision this year for the entertainment of visitors and its own people.

They worked hard and effectively. They conquered handicaps and overcame difficulties. They made a brilliant success of it, and they are entitled to the warmest thanks of the community.

Of course we must have it again next year. It should be made a permanent feature of Duluth's marvelous summer.

Two suggestions for next year occur to us.

First, why not have the Lark on Thursdays and Fridays, with the street parade Friday nights so those who are employed in the stores Saturday nights will have a chance to take in the fun?

Second, why not have the parades on First street, where there are no street cars to interfere and more room anyway?

Also, what do those militant suffragettes think of the way the women were received the other day in the United States senate?

THE FISHWIFE.

It is the drab's habit to seek to drown the many-tongued noises of her own foulness by a shrill clamor of slanders about other people.

The scheme never avails, but it is the drab's way and probably can't be helped.

It's easy enough to make elections of senators conform to the Constitution. The trouble will come in making the senators themselves conform to the ideas of the people who elect them.

BLUE-PENCILING WITH A VENGEANCE.

The eloquent and vigorous Savoyard, who illumines this page with his rare wit and always entertaining reflections Tuesdays and Thursdays, and the first page to the right on Saturdays, made this suggestion last Saturday:

> It ought to be agin the law for a senator in the United States congress to talk nonsense.

We have heard plans of reducing the size of the Congressional Record, but none that would strip its pages so bare as this proposal.

China is importing great quantities of American tobacco. Wonder if it goes in under the Havana or Turkish label?

RELIEF IN WISCONSIN.

The Wisconsin legislature, after adopting a resolution providing for final adjournment Aug. 7, has taken a recess until that date.

The session will then have lasted seven months—just twice as long as the session of the Minnesota legislature, which was about twice as long as it needed to be.

We don't know how the people of Wisconsin feel about it, but surely the author of the adjournment resolution is entitled to a lasting place in their grateful memories, and to a handsome monument on a tall pedestal.

The Wisconsin Constitution puts no limit on the sessions of its legislature, and this is the result. The Minnesota Constitution limits legislative sessions to ninety legislative days, which makes about three months and a half.

At the recent session of the Minnesota legislature a house member proposed an amendment to the Constitution removing the time limit on legislative sessions. The legislature did foolish things, but it was not so foolish as to sanction that amendment.

What do you suppose should be done to a man who would propose it?

Somebody is said to be back of Castro. History teaches that that is the safest position to occupy when he is concerned.

MISSING A LOT OF GRIEF.

A cablegram to the Chicago Tribune says that Allison B. Armour, one of the younger scions of the Armour stock, was the kaiser's chief guest at an "annual beer evening" at the Little Bordy Tavern at Kiel, and that his neighbors were surprised, not to say shocked, to find that young Mr Armour neither smoked nor drank.

"I am a teetotaler," said Mr. Armour, "and I shall tell you why. By not smoking and by refraining from the use of malt or spirituous liquors I save a thousand dollars every year. You see it is well worth while to be a total abstainer."

That's a good enough reason for lack of a better, though there are better ones.

Judging from Mr. Armour's estimate of what his consumption would be if he were not a teetotaler, it is a very good thing that he found some reason, whether the best or not, for being one.

A thousand dollars a year, allowing six fifteen-cent cigars a day for the smoking end of it, would leave $1.85 a day for drinks. That would buy twelve highballs or thirty-seven beers a day; and if he bought by the bottle and case of course it would allow much more.

If that's his idea of what he would be drinking if he drank, it is a very good thing for Mr. Armour that he is a teetotaler. He is missing a lot of grief.

The fireless cooker is said to be practically unknown in England. Odd, too, for the militants could put dinner into a cooker and go out and smash a few windows while it was getting done.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters must not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

HICKEN CODE AND "WIDE OPEN TOWN."

To the Editor of The Herald:

Through the Open Court I wish to acknowledge my gratitude to the Duluth News Tribune for its excellent editorial of Aug. 2, 1913, printed on the first page, entitled, "People Will Vote on 'Code' in September." Before the appearance of this article I was under the mistaken impression that to be classed as a good citizen one had to stand for all which makes for a good, clean city; now, however, and more particularly since the publication of the aforementioned editorial, I am thoroughly convinced that a good citizen can be only such an individual who is heart and soul for the proposed Hicken liquor code, dotted i's and crossed t's, and what not. For has not the Duluth News Tribune said, on Aug. 2, 1913, "The issue between the law-enforcement citizens of Duluth and those who want a 'wide open town' will be fought out on or about Sept. 20 at a special election"?

Clearly as daylight I see the point: to be opposed to the least detail in the Hicken "code" is at once one and the same thing as being a member of that part of Duluth's citizens who are for a "wide open town". The conclusion is not mine; therefore, my gratitude to the Duluth News Tribune for its editorial of Aug. 2, 1913, on the first page, etcetera. For who is there among us so base and devoid of shame that he does not yearn to be classed among the "law-enforcement element" of Duluth, the construction of the term being, of course, the Duluth News Tribune's?

Now for the proposed liquor ordinance or Commissioner of Public Safety W. H. Hicken, and the "wide open town" element. I am in favor of adopting the Hicken "code" as it reads—with one change. I say break down the partitions; tear off the curtains; smash the stained windows; stop forever the swinging door. But I am against the "six-foot" clause; for, with the nuisance-abatement law; with the Hicken liquor ordinance (except the clause); I say, with all these things remembered, there is little danger of violations on the part of saloonkeepers. With the insistence of Commissioner Hicken and the Duluth News Tribune, the proposed ordinance begins to assume all of the traits of persecution but none of the characteristics of legislation. Mr. Editor, tell me where I stand. Because I favor all of the Hicken ordinance except the "six-foot" clause, do I belong to that element of Duluth's citizens which the Duluth News Tribune calmly brushes aside with the phrase, "wide open town"? A moment ago I stated that the proposed ordinance begins to assume all of the traits of persecution and none of the characteristics of legislation. I wish to emphasize this assertion. Could not Commissioner Hicken and his honorable colleagues have drawn an ordinance as comprehensive as the one under consideration, without at the same time promulgating a piece of legislation which, if passed by the people at the coming special election, will drive a number of cigar storekeepers out of business? I am not making a plea for these people, neither for the saloonkeepers. "The constant and perpetual aim of justice is to render to every man his due." The constant and perpetual aim of legislation should be, if I am not entirely wrong, to establish equity between person and state as perfect as it is humanly possible for man to make anything perfect.

Commissioner Hicken knows—the Duluth News Tribune, too—that all possible means have not been exhausted in efforts to produce a liquor ordinance which would regulate the sale of liquor decently and give the dealers a clean deal. Does the proposed ordinance fulfill these requirements?

I must confess that while I do not use tobacco in any form; that while I seldom drink alcoholic beverages; that while I am in favor of the 11 o'clock closing clause, the doing away with wine rooms, screens, partitions, swinging doors and stained windows—in spite of all this I must admit that until the Duluth News Tribune publishes another editorial recalling the first, my soul must cower under the awful shadow of anathema which it published in its edict, "wide open town."

Yours truly, LOGOS.

Duluth, Aug. 2.

SAY IT QUICKLY.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Here is something for your funny news column, to be said fast and out loud:

"If a good cook could cook good cookies, how many good cookies could a good cook cook if a good cook could cook good cookies?" Yours respectfully, GEORGE A. EKLUND.

What's the Matter With Canada?

Editorial in Detroit Free Press.

Something has happened across the boundary. The Canadian papers haven't been saying much about it until lately, which may be taken to mean that the something, whatever it is, is pretty well over now. But within the last three months a change has come over the dreams of our neighbors.

They were enthusiastic speculators only a short time ago. All the money in the world seemed to be passing around among the brokers of Montreal and Toronto and from hand to hand of everybody who lived in the northwest. Farm lands, lots in booming cities—some of which were established and some still in the advertisements—stocks in all manner of enterprises, were extravagantly lauded and were actually being exchanged for some one's good money. Fortune were being made—and spent. It was the harvest time for the get-rich-quick boys.

Then something happened. Lately there hasn't been so much ready money in Canada. Most of the glittering schemes have disappeared from the financial pages of the newspapers, and the people have been rudely awakened.

Just what it was that brought the change is at present a matter for lengthy discussion over the line. The Toronto Globe thinks it was the inevitable result of over-speculation that brought the finish. The Winnipeg papers say it was the shrinking margin in farming profits, and they use the point to call the East's attention to the need for realizing the dependence of of the Dominion on the new West—which is clever local boosting. Over in England they have another explanation. They say across the Atlantic that Canada has been too reckless in its municipal borrowings and that the home capitalists have been frightened by the appalling demands of the Canadian cities for more and more capital for all sorts of enterprises.

Probably all the explanations are right, and all of the causes they point to entered into the inflation that was followed by a collapse, as inflation is always followed. Summed up, the trouble is the same old delightfulness of spending other people's money. It is the most alluring business in the world, but in the end the other people get tire of watching the sport and shut off the supply of cash.

Money that could be got from other people through glowing prospectuses, or money that could be got from coming generations through long time bond issues. All went to swell up the balloon in Canada. But it wasn't real money, after all. No money is real that is not earned and saved. It is fairy gold. It isn't there when you wake up.

Borrowing is not always reprehensible, of course. Very much the most of our ordinary business nowadays is done on credit, which is borrowed capital in the last analysis. But credit in business rests upon a foundation of existing security, something the borrower owns because he has worked hard and accumulated property of some sort. The security on which the borrowing has been done in Canada doesn't exist. It may exist in the future, but if it comes into being it will belong to the people who create it and who will rightly object to its encumbrance by predecessors intent to reap where they had not sown.

On the whole, there isn't anything serious the matter with Canada. It is a land of magnificent assets that eventually will yield lasting prosperity for its inhabitants. But a good many of the people who live in it now will have to learn that they are not living in its future, and to bring themselves to contentment with what they have while letting others keep what they in turn have and coming generations get what is their proper estate.

State Financiering

Minneapolis Journal: The Duluth Herald collates these two items of current news with telling effect:

> The permanent school fund of the state now amounts to thirty-two million dollars, about two millions having been added to it in the past year.
> The state is about to sell over the counter certificates of indebtedness to the amount of a hundred thousand dollars bearing 5 per cent interest, the proceeds to be used to build educational institutions.

The point is that between five and six million dollars of the state school fund are invested in the bonds of other states, and that the interest yield of a large share of these is only 3 per cent annually. Thus the state of Minnesota, by a brilliant stroke of financiering, is lending money at 3 per cent and borrowing it at 5 per cent. Not only that, but the money it is lending, and likewise the money it is borrowing, is school money.

The last legislature was appealed to in vain to reorganize the state government on a practical business basis. It preferred to listen to the politicians and spoilsmen who objected seriously to the abolition of numerous fat and workless jobs. There was in the house at one time a warm discussion over the original investment of state funds in some of these outside bonds a decade or so ago—bonds that are not now, and never were, of the gilt-edged variety. It was openly charged in the debate that some of the state's fiduciary officers at that time made very fortunate investments on their own hook in state bonds, and one of these officers, who is now a member of the house, made an elaborate explanation in his own defense.

But the legislature did practically nothing to rescue the state's finances from mismanagement, nor to rearrange the whole state government on a basis of economy and efficiency. And now we have the spectacle of the sale of certificates of indebtedness at a high rate, when the state's coffers are running over with money.

There is just one ray of hope in the situation. The legislature did change the personnel of the state board of investment, so that the veto State Auditor Iverson has heretofore been able to exercise over the sale of these outside bonds is now likely to be overridden.

At first Minnesota's trust funds could be invested only in securities of other states, and under this absurd provision the moneys that were so greatly needed within the state for various improvements were lent to other states. A few years ago the law was so amended that securities within the state could be bought, and since then the demands of counties, cities, school districts, drainage districts and villages have absorbed the accumulations. But the old investments in outside bonds have not been disposed of, and their sale has always been quietly but effectively opposed. Of course, the present moment is not propitious for a sale of the bonds, the market being unfavorable.

The contrasted news items of the day quoted by our Duluth contemporary constitute a strong argument for the sale of these securities as soon as practicable and the investment of the proceeds in home securities.

"Interviewing" the President.

Eau Claire Telegram: The result when President Wilson is interviewed seems to be that the reporters talk very freely.

Marse Henry Pessimistic

Henry Watterson in Louisville Courier-Journal.

A disgraceful incident in Tennessee relating to an ex-governor of the Volunteer state—a group of disgraceful incidents in New York eddying about the present governor of the Empire State—casting the while a wan and sickly light upon frail humanity—bring into bold relief certain evil aspects not only of contemporary politics but of the very nature and life of the people.

Never have the morals, both of the body corporate and of the body politic fallen so low. Never have our public men appeared to such signal disadvantage. The pot is perpetually calling the kettle black. No sooner does one great man put another great man in chancery than the other great man turns about and mortally rends the first great man. Commonly the larger the personal pretension to virtue the smaller and meaner the party warfare. It might be fancied that generosity has gone to the dogs and chivalry fled to brutish beasts. The average man looks on indifferent. He shrugs his shoulders instead of putting it to the wheel. The rule seems to be each for himself and the devil take the hindmost.

We hear a deal about the "plain people" and the principle of "self-government." Certainly the people of Tennessee and New York are not capable of self-government. In Tennessee sentimentality run to hysteria has made chaos. In New York graftism got in the blood has made anarchy. Turkey may not be better governed than these two states of the American Union—for Turkey is not governed at all—but to find worse government anywhere we shall seek in vain. For pure nihilism—moral and political, public and private—there is obviously nothing to choose between Nashville and Albany: each has reached and appears to prefer the bottom round of the forbidden.

Concurrent with these state affairs we have the lobby probe at Washington. Yet the Mulhall disclosures tell us nothing new. Twenty, thirty, forty years ago, the Courier-Journal described the secret orgies of the painted harlot of protection and contrasted her ignoble practices and debasing influence with the pure light and chaste character and behavior of the star-eyed Goddess of Revenue Reform. Now the masses of the people may see for themselves.

Protectionism is the only real White Slavery, Mulhall the type and embodyment of the White Slaver. The Star-eyed one has herself made many escapes. Several times they had her perilously near the trap-doors leading into the Painted Harlot's dens of sin and iniquity. But it is hard to down a good girl, and, when, wearing the breastplate of Heaven and the Spear of Truth, impossible.

Kentucky, the home of the Star-eyed Goddess, need not put on too many airs and graces, for we, likewise, have our quantum of hypocrisy and cant; our sufficient lack of manhood and magnanimity; our ignorant servility to the Demagogue and the Mighty Dollar. We barely missed the fate of Tennessee. We are always menaced by the fate of New York. Let us give thanks to God for the little we have and try to increase it.

It may be that the transition from the Dominion of Law to the Dominion of Numbers costs us for the time being the loss of the virtues of both. The people stand sorely in need of education. They are a sorry lot. That is why the Courier-Journal is constantly urging better thinking and more schools. Yet, without much conceit of ourselves, we may commiserate Tennessee and mourn for New York.

The Playless Sunday.

> There is no human law forbidding play on Sunday, and the vast majority of people are of opinion that there is no divine law forbidding it.—Mayor Gaynor's letter to Col. Bacon.

The sun does not decline
To rise and shine,
Nor birds to sing,
Nor any living thing
Give o'er its praise to Heaven,
One day in seven,
For its pure joy of life.
The woods and fields are rife
With rumors of Dame Nature at her play,
Whate'er men call the day.
The waves that roll and roar
Upon the ocean's shore
Give heed to no hard laws
That bid them find in hush and pause
Fit attitude of thanks;
In crested ranks
They march and break through endless time,
E'en in their gambolings sublime.
What concept is it, then, of mind or heart,
That would set man apart
From all of Nature's brood,
And bid him fix his mood
Of thankfulness as that of one oppressed
By gloom, taking his Day of Rest
With folded hands and downcast, sombre eye,
As though each stream of gladness had run dry?
Was ever hurled
Into the general madness of the world
A plea less sane than that, for joyful praise,
We should make joyless all our Days of Days?

Imagination and Housekeeping.

Breeder's Gazette: The dull mind, the stagnating will and the discontented spirit so often attend upon the accepted routine of housekeeping that we hesitate sometimes to say which is cause and which effect. Many a woman is doomed, not by the limitations of her education, but by the poverty of her imagination, to get no pleasure from her daily life. Science is accuracy exemplified, and yet we are told that all great scientists have had great imaginations; indeed, it is now believed and taught by psychologists that no great accomplishment is possible to the person who is without imagination. A person must be able to imagine the whole in its completed form before he can have the inspiration required to make a beginning in any enterprise. This is as true of the "laying out a land' by the plowman, or beginning the preparation of a dinner by the housewife, as it is in the case of formulating a political platform or financing a railway.

Mrs. Humphry Ward says: "It is not food that is dear and scarce in England; it is the mind to cook it with." She goes on to say that the Englishwoman "buys monotonously, omitting dozens of foods that she ought to include, because she is quite ignorant about them, and meanwhile her own mind stagnates for lack of any real interest or variety in her housekeeping." One of the charming results of learning something about protein and carbohydrates in the diet is the impulse it gives to enjoyable planning of meals—not enjoyable meals, but enjoyable planning of them.

Oh, That's Different!

Von Blumer—Pretty, isn't it?

Duluth and The Herald

Bouquets and Brickbats from the State Press.

Stretching It.

St. Cloud Journal-Press: And peculiarly enough, if you want to abbreviate the name of the new tariff bill by using the authors' initials, you'll have to write it "the U. S. bill," and that's it—Us.—The Duluth Herald.

Why omit the main push—Woodrow Wilson? And the correct way to arrange the initials of the authors of the bill is WUS—and that fits the "wus" tariff bill ever incubated under the big dome.

Truth From the Jap.

Sauk Centre Herald: "Oyesi Soakum," the alleged Japanese specialist who contributes matter for publication in The Duluth Herald every once in a while, perpetrates the following, which contains more truth than poetry: "Everybody could run newspaper better than Hon. editor who are making business of such foolish job, only for one thing—they can't."

Help to the Country.

Austin Transcript: Grain is to be carried this season from the head of Lake Superior to Buffalo for 1¼ cents a bushel. The cheapness of water transportation is one of the biggest facts in the future development of the country. Duluth, our Minnesota port, is one of the largest shipping ports in the world.

Calls It "Bunk".

Warren Register: The Duluth Herald insinuates that the tariff on bananas will serve as a protection to domestic fruits, by increasing the latter's consumption. Then the Democrats, and The Herald, should insist upon its abolition, for they demand the removal of all protective duties, as being "unconstitutional." Such bunk will not serve, however, to deceive or placate a righteously indignant people.

Advertise.

Gonvick Banner: To gain a large patronage and increase the volume of business, to do this successfully, no doubt the country merchant cannot do better than follow the instructions given in that well-known and able journal, The Duluth Herald. The merchant who does not advertise is dead! dead! dead! and needs only to be buried in order to be properly and deservedly disposed of.

A Great Asset.

Litchfield Independent: Grain rates this season from Duluth to Buffalo are under 2 cents a hundred. The Great Lakes are a help to this section in the transportation of farm produce out and coal back.

Reason for Rejoicing.

St. Cloud Times: The Zenith City of the Unsalted Seas continues to jubilate over the decision of the interstate commerce commission, and its papers are telling how good all Duluthians feel over it. The commission admits the contention of Duluth that the rates and regulations were fixed when that city was a mere hamlet and when the Twin Cities, by their large population and commercial advancement secured advantages which militated against the lake port city.

Howard Elliott

Boston Post: Here is a railroad man with a big brain, warm heart, great experience and tried integrity. He seems to be everything that will make him successful in the difficult task of reforming the New Haven and reinstating it in the public confidence and esteem. His record is that of an upbuilder of the first rank, but he has trampled upon no public interests in making it. As president of the Northern Pacific he has gone straight to the people at great fairs, chambers of commerce meetings and other open gatherings, and has won liking and respect for his railroad in a way that augurs well for his future here in New England.

Boston Herald: Personally Mr. Elliott possesses great charm. His shoulders are square, his manner reposeful. He looks his caller squarely in the eye, and in all that he says is invariably frank and absolutely truthful.

Commercial Bulletin: In Mr. Elliott, however, New England will have something more than a very capable railroad executive. What it will have besides this is a man who is keenly aware that public sentiment is a thing which is entitled to the same measure of consideration as are the demands of railroad stockholders for larger dividends.

Boston Globe: Mr. Elliott is an adaptable man, as shown by the alacrity with which he rose to distinction amid Western surroundings at first unfamiliar to him. In New England, where he was brought up, and the public sentiment of which he can thoroughly appreciate, he should have no trouble in eventually satisfying the stockholders as well as the patrons of the New Haven road.

Hartford Courant: Mr. Elliott finds an enormous property to care for, but it covers a rich territory and is a wonderful earner. The anti-monopoly spirit, which is so active these days, has been cleverly turned against the road; its exceptional accidents have been the targets of demagogues; it has had a phenomenal run of bad luck—in the face of all of which it is a magnificent property. We wish the new man success at his big job.

New York World: If Howard Elliott has been chosen president of the New Haven company for what he is and what he has done, there is every reason to hope for the early rehabilitation of that railroad property. As president of the Northern Pacific he has achieved success purely in the business of running a railroad, and not in running street railways, lighting plants, waterworks, suburban trolleys, steamship lines and other enterprises along with a railroad. He is not an experiment in the one case. But he would be wholly so in the other.

Boston American: Mr. Elliott bears a good reputation as a railroad man. He cannot but appreciate that Mr. Mellen failed because the task set for him was impossible of accomplishment. Mr. Elliott's modesty would forbid him to undertake to succeed at the same task. The American is willing to hope and to assume that it is a different task which he now undertakes.

Seeking a Husband in 1775.

From the London Post of January 21, 1775: A gentleman of honor and property, having in his disposal at present a young lady of good family, with a fortune of £60,000, on her marriage with his approbation, would be very happy to treat with a man of fashion and family, who may think it worth his while to give the advertiser a gratuity of £5,000 on the day of the marriage.

•••An unknown, tough-looking individual walked into the St. Louis County bank at the West end shortly after 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon and, presenting a revolver under the nose of Cashier Charles A. Jim Bludso of the Prairie Belle.

Wall, no! I can't tell whar he lives,
Because he don't live, you see;
Leastways, he's got out of the habit
Of livin' like you and me.
Whar have you been for the last three year,
That you haven't heard folks tell
How Jimmy Bludso passed in his checks
The night of the Prairie Belle?

He weren't no saint—them engineers
Is all pretty much alike—
One wife in Natchez-under-the-hill,
And another one here in Pike.
A keerless man in his talk was Jim,
And an awkward hand in a row;
But he never flunked and he never lied—
I reckon he never knowed how.

And this was all the religion he had—
To treat his engine well;
Never be passed on the river;
To mind the pilot's bell;
And if ever the Prairie Belle took fire—
A thousand times he swore
He'd hold her nozzle agin the bank
Till the last soul got ashore.

All boats has their day on the Mississip,
And her day come at last;
The Movastar was a better boat,
But the Belle she wouldn't be passed.
And so she came tearing along that night—
The oldest craft on the line—
With a nigger squat on her safety valve,
And her furnace crammed—rosin and pine.

The fire burst out as she cleared the bar,
And burnt a hole in the night,
And quick as a flash she turned and made
For that willer bank on the right.
There was runnin' and cussin', but Jim yelled out,
Over all the infernal roar:
"I'll hold the nozzle agin' the bank
Till the last galoot's ashore."

Through the hot black breath of the burnin' boat
Jim Bludso's voice was heard,
And they all had trust in his cussedness,
And knowed he would keep his word.
And, sure's you're born, they all got off
Afore the smokestack fell:
And Bludso's ghost went up alone
In the smoke of the Prairie Belle.

He weren't no saint, but at Judgment
I'd run my chances with Jim
'Longside of some pious gentlemen
That wouldn't shook hands with him.
He seen his duty—a dead sure thing—
And went for it thar and then;
And Christ ain't a-goin' to be too hard
On a man that died for men.

DULUTH GIRL DROWNS WHEN CANOE OVERTURNS

Companion Clings to the Craft and Is Rescued.

1913 DROWNINGS.

July 4—Elof Anderson, West Duluth.
July 6—Edward Langloris, Atkin, row boat.
July 6—Sever Reyer, Lake shore.
July 28—Oscar Hendrickson, canoe, International Falls.
Aug. 3—Grace Fogarty.

MISS GRACE FOGARTY.

Miss Grace Fogarty, 19 years of age, was accidentally drowned in the harbor half a mile from Twenty-eighth street, Park Point, when the canoe in which she and Miss Mary McLaughlin, 18 years of age, were in, capsized about 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Miss Fogarty screamed once when she was plunged into the water and disappeared, not coming to the surface. The body was recovered this morning.

Miss McLaughlin was rescued by a party in a row boat which was attracted immediately to the scene of the catastrophe. She had cling to the canoe and was taken from the water and was hurried to the home of John W. Ball, 2733 Minnesota avenue, where she gave way after the terrible strain to which she had been subjected.

How the canoe came to tip over has not been definitely learned. Several conflicting stories have been told and Miss McLaughlin has been too overwrought to give a connected, coherent account. The members of the unfortunate girl's family had been unable to learn this morning how the accident happened. She was in the bow and could give no explanation of the accident.

George Baker, George Brandt and Leon Cooley were among the first to reach the scene in a row boat. They were among those who dived for upwards of half an hour in a vain effort to locate the body.

Mr. Baker said this morning that they arrived about five minutes after the canoe had capsized. He explained that as nearly as he could learn the canoe containing the two young women had collided with another, and that in the excitement that in which Miss Fogarty was riding was overturned.

Another version is that Miss Fogarty was endeavoring to put on a sweater coat and that in doing so, she lost her balance, being precipitated into the water. Mr. Baker said that he picked up a woman's sweater but he did not know whether or not she had tried to put it on. Both sweaters were later found in the canoe, so this is not likely to have been the case. Another claim is that one of them dropped a paddle and that in reaching for it, tipped over the canoe.

Brother Was Swimming.

Ambrose D. Fogarty, a brother of the girl, was swimming with a number of others when their attention was drawn by the commotion on the bay. They made haste to the spot where the boats and canoes had congregated and where the search for Miss Fogarty's body had already started. They hailed a passing sailboat and asked what had happened. The answer came back that a girl named Grace Fogarty had been drowned. The young man was almost overcome by the sudden and unexpected shock but recovered sufficiently to proceed to where the life-savers were at work. He then made his way home and broke the sad news to his mother and the other members of the family. Mrs. Fogarty has been ill for some time past and was seriously affected when she learned of the calamity which had befallen. She is today in a quite serious condition.

Miss Fogarty made her home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William S. Fogarty of 410 Sixth avenue west. Besides her parents she is survived by two sisters, Mrs. George Arnold of Tucson, Ariz., and Miss Gertrude Fogarty, residing at home, and four brothers, Ambrose D. and William Fogarty, also living with their folks, John Fogarty of Des Moines and Thomas Fogarty, a traveling salesman. The young woman who was drowned was employed as a stenographer for V. H. Rakowsky. Miss McLaughlin resides at 708 West Fifth street and is employed as a stenographer for the Gowing-Lenning-Brown company.

Miss Fogarty was one of the popular young women of the city. Her tragic death comes as a sad blow to an extensive circle of friends and acquaintances in the city.

quarters is that the express companies will attempt to test by legal means the constitutionality of the commission's orders.

The requirement of the order of June 8, 1912, that a label shall be attached to each parcel, is modified to the extent that, in case of shipments of perishable property consisting of two or more packages, the label need be attached to only one package.

The express companies had filed statements indicating that the losses of revenue under the proposed rates would be intolerable, and argued strenuously that the establishment of the parcel post had deprived them of quite 30 per cent of the revenue they formerly received from parcels of eleven pounds or less. They contended that the express business could not survive the losses from both sources.

"This is equivalent to saying," comments Commissioner Marble in his report, "that inasmuch as shippers have been given the convenience and economy of the parcel post, the express carriers must, on that account, be allowed to charge higher rates than otherwise would be reasonable. That is to say, the commission is called upon to take from the shippers of the country all the benefit that they recive from the parcel post and give it to the express companies in the form of higher rates upon the remaining business."

Foundation For All Revisions.

The new system of rates is not only a simplification of existing rate structures and methods, but, in the opinion of rate experts, lays the foundation for future practice in all rate revisions.

While the commission has not considered the the practicability of the application of the block system to the making of freight rates, it is known that the question may be taken up almost at any time. With a standard freight rate once established between blocks instead of between points, and all other rates stated in percentages of the standard, the mystery of the present complicated maze of freight rates, in the opinion of the commission's experts would be solved.

The basis of the classification prescribed by the commission is that all articles of merchandise of ordinary value are to be carried at first-class or ordinary merchandise rates. Articles of food and drink, with a few exceptions, are second-class, and are to be carried at 75 per cent of the first-class rate.

The rate for newspapers and periodicals, as well as for bread and such articles for which specially low rates now are charged, are substantially the same as the present rates.

Will Revise Routes.

A permanent committee has been appointed to revise the routes of express carriers to eliminate the circuitous routes, which are now a cause of considerable complaint on the part of shippers.

With regard to the parcel post and its effect upon the express companies the report says:

"With regard to the small package business of the parcel post, it should be stated that it still will be carried upon the railroads of the country. As far as the rail carriers are concerned it is of no consequence to them whether they furnish rail transportation for the express respondents herein or for the postoffice department.

"The express companies, moreover, will not experience a gross loss of their earnings upon these small parcels, but only of the net difference between their earnings heretofore and the cost to them of furnishing terminal service upon these parcels.

"The commission's conclusion is that that establishment of the parcel post is not a justification for any higher scale of rates than the one here shown to be reasonable.

Two Year Test.

"The commission's order is for two years only. That period will give abundant opportunity for a test of these rates under varying conditions amounting to a normal average. In no other way can the absolutely proper rate basis for respondents finally be determined. Respondents are also at liberty at any time to bring forward new facts as a basis for a petition for modification of this or any other order."

The decision of the commission, deferred as it has been for more than a year, followed an investigation that occupied nearly six years of hearings, special examination of reports and accounts covering in detail the various phases of the express business. Nearly a carload of books and papers have been filed and are a part of the proceedings in this case.

go to Lansing in person after completing his mission here, and tell Governor Ferris of conditions as he found them.

More Union Leaders.

Additional union leaders arrived today in the persons of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cannon of Los Angeles, who came from the scenes of mine strikes in New York and New Jersey with "Mother" Jones due here tomorrow and other unionists en route, there was every indication that the Western Federation was rallying its forces for one of the most determined struggles in union labor history.

The first attempt at resumption of actual mining occurred at "E" shaft of the Champion mine. It ended in flat failure when one man, and he a pumpman, reported for work.

John Yolkey was arrested at Painesdale on a charge of attempting to intimidate this one miner when he applied for work.

Deny Plan to Separate.

Although it is reported the Michigan Federation of Labor officers here would like to divorce the local miners' union from the Western Federation in the belief they could thereby induce the mining companies at least to hold a conference with the strikers and meet them part way in their demands, at the some time recognizing a union not affiliated with the Miners' Federation, the Western organizers will not even consider such a step.

As a result of conferences between officials of the Federation of Miners and the Michigan Federation of Labor, which is represented here by Claude O. Taylor of Grand Rapids, president; Homer F. Watterman of Kalamazoo, secretary, and F. F. Ingram of Detroit, formerly of the official board, announcement was made at the mass meeting of 500 strikers in Laurium yesterday afternoon that every labor organization in Michigan is with the local Federation of Miners, and offers financial assistance.

Vice President C. E. Mahoney of the Federation of Miners left for Denver this afternoon, where he says he will meet in conference with the heads of every national labor organization.

Help is Offered.

The mining department of the American Federation has offered financial and other help in telegrams read before meetings, while the Ishpeming Miners' union and several other union organizations in this and other states also sent telegrams of sympathy and promised help. The Michigan Federation and Western Federation heads stated in speeches that the full backing of the American Federation of Labor will be thrown behind this strike.

F. F. Ingram of Detroit, though reported sent here by the governor, did not call on the governor's personal representative, Gen. Abbey, while here. Ingram returned to Detroit this morning by boat. He refused to say whether he was a representative of the governor, but said he would make a report to the governor, and is confident of an early adjustment of strike difficulties. Secretary Watterman called on Gen. Abbey yesterday.

There was a renewal last night of disorders in all parts of the district.

The Federation disavows any intention of creating disorders, claiming a desire for a peaceable strike, and speakers in the mass meeting yesterday adjured the men to remain quiet, but stand firm.

Big Sunday Demonstration.

The union meeting Sunday and the parade that preceded it were on a par with the big demonstration of the previous Sunday. The men have turned out so often in the various locations that they have become adepts at marching, and the thousands who passed through the streets preserved alignments that added to the impression of the spectacle.

Women color bearers were conspicuous, and a big delegation of daughters of miners headed the procession, followed by their mothers carrying or wheeling in go-carts the younger members of the families.

The troops passed a quiet Sunday. As usual the only report of trouble during the early hours came from the extreme end of the strike zone.

Used His Bayonet.

At Baltic, on the south range, three men attacked a sentry and gave way only after he had run a bayonet into the arm of one and a companion soldier had fired directly over the head of another. Private Housman of Grand Rapids wielded the bayonet, and Private Delaney of the same company fired the shot. The soldiers said the intruders showed no fear of the bayonets, but took to their heels when the first shot was fired.

At the north end of the district a sentry of Company E, Detroit, fired at a man who tried to break past the guards at North Kearsarge. Later two men attempted to cross the same line of sentries, but ran when challenged.

DR. S. H. BOYER NEW HEAD OF THE BOARD OF EDUCATION

New Board Organizes and Committees Are Appointed.

$200,000 Bond Issue Is Placed; Teachers Resign to Marry.

DR. S. H. BOYER,
New Chairman of the Board of Education.

The old board of education held its last—and its annual—meeting on Saturday night, and after conducting what business there appeared for disposition, retired in favor of the new board. The only change in the personnel was made by the retirement of L. A. Barnes and Walter N. Evered, and the succession of W. B. Getchell and J. R. McGiffert.

The new board elected Dr. S. H. Boyer as president, F. A. Brewer as president pro tem, there being no provision for a vice presidency; C. A. Bronson as clerk, and E. R. Cobb as treasurer. Dr. Boyer was president pro tem of the old board. W. E. Magner, president of the old board, who was unable to be present Saturday night, wrote the board that he has served long enough as president and asked that the honor be conferred upon somebody else.

C. A. Bronson was elected clerk for the fifteenth consecutive time; and E. R. Cobb was elected treasurer for the third consecutive time.

President Boyer named the following committees:

Teachers and schools—W. E. Magner, chairman; Mrs. T. J Davis and S. H. Boyer.

Building and grounds—F. A. Brewer, chairman; J. R. McGiffert and W. B. Getchell.

Finance—C. F. Colman, Andrew Nelson and E. R. Cobb.

That comprised the business of the new board.

Bonds Are Placed.

During the rendition of its swan song the old board received the annual reports of Supt. Denfeld, Treasurer Cobb and Clerk Bronson and the committee on schools. The most important business transacted during the evening, however, was the acceptance of the offer of the N. J. Upham company to take over the $200,000 4½ per cent bonds, the money from which will be used for the building of the R. B. Denfeld industrial high school at West Duluth and of the Munger school in the upper East end. In this offer the Upham company takes the bonds at par and agrees to dispose of them as rapidly as possible, the board reserving the right to sell them or any part of the issue to anybody else at any time before the Upham company disposes of them, on ten days' notice. The offer of the Upham company was considered a most liberal and patriotic one, for it opens the way to dispose of the bonds as quickly as may be, at least putting them on the market, in the midst of a very dull bond season, and yet does not handicap the board in case a good opportunity to sell them arises.

Contractor William Fawcett asked that he be granted an extension of time to Oct. 1 instead of Sept. 1 for completing the Cobb school, as he has been seriously delayed, he claims, because of the excessively wet weather. The matter was referred to the committee on buildings with power to act.

Col. Bostwick, who owns the Bostwick apartments on Third street near Fifth avenue west, has notified the board that he has frequently to sit up most of the night to prevent depredations to his property by the youths that gather about the Jackson school across the street and act like hoodlums. He declares that when he asked the police department for protection he was informed that if the school board desired its property policed and would ask for it it would be done. Therefore he asked the board to take action. The matter was referred to the committee on schools with power to act.

School Inspection.

The board was notified in a circular from the state superintendent of public instruction hat all plans for school buildings will hereafter have to be inspected not only by the state health inspector but by the newly appointed commissioner of school buildings, S. A. Challman.

Miss Florence Gaumnitz, who has been one of the most successful domestic science teachers of the Duluth corps, sent in her resignation to the board, explaining that she is to be married during the latter part of August. Other resignations received and accepted, to which were attached no explanation, were those of Cora M. Davis, Marion Cunningham and Katherine Pierce. The committee on schools made the following recommendations, which were adopted:

The establishment of a kindergarten at New Duluth; that it be made a fixed policy to conduct a summer school each year, the one this year having proven such a success; the insertion of the name of Miss Ella Wilson in the payroll of the summer school, it having been omitted. Also that the following additional teachers be employed: Myrtle M. Howard, Anna T. Hann and Iva M. Lydell.

LONE SURVIVOR OF MINE BLAST DYING

Nine of American Victims Leave Widows and Scores of Children.

Pottsville, Pa., Aug. 4.—Harry Schoffstall, the only survivor of the East Brookside colliery accident, which resulted in the death of nineteen persons, is in a dying condition at his home in Orwin today.

Daniel Farley and John Fessler, fire bosses, still are missing and the theory is that they were blown to pieces.

About 800 feet from the scene of the explosion a note in chalk was found written by Fessler, which was to the effect that they had gone up an airway. It is thought that this was written before the explosion.

When it was first found, there was hope that the men might have been alive after the explosions, but if such had been the case, it is argued, they could have made their escape known.

Some of the officials are inclined to the belief that after the first explosion Fessler and Early were hurrying to the tunnel when they were caught in the gas explosion which killed the rescuing force.

Of the ten Americans killed, nine are survived by widows and an aggregate of fifty-one children.

"MAGNA CHARTA OF NORTHWEST"

Copies of Recent Decision Will Be Mailed Broadcast.

"The Magna Charta of Commercial Opportunity in the Northwest" is the attractive title given the opinion of the interstate commerce commission in the lake and rail case, thousands of copies of which are being mailed out by the Commercial club today.

Between the covers of the booklet is the comment and order of the commission in the case, without further comment. Bold faced type is used to bring out prominently passages of special significance, but the accompanying slip asks the recipient to read the whole decision.

The booklets will be sent out through the Northwest as an advertisement for Duluth and as an invitation to other cities in the Northwest to use the opportunity Duluth has opened for them. The printed slip accompanying the decision and to be sent out in other mail from Duluth says:

"Free at Last."

"The story of rate discrimination against Duluth, deliberately planned for thirty years by certain railroads to create a great distributing point at the Twin Cities and to deprive Duluth of its unrivalled situation at the head of lake navigation is both absorbing and enlightening.

"For three years Duluth has been endeavoring to secure from the railroads a correction of fundamental rate abuses which has deprived Duluth and the Northwest of much of the benefit of deep water navigation, and, in a decision of the interstate commerce commission, issued July 19, we have secured substantial justice. The commission in its own language recites the history of these rates and the deliberate purpose of certain railroads to stifle the growth of not only Duluth but other cities, and stimulate trade of the Twin Cities, and in unmistakable language directs the steamship lines and the railroads to cease this unjust discrimination, and to give to Duluth and other Northwestern communities the advantages to which they are entitled.

"Duluth's fight has been your fight. We have asked no favors, simply an equality of opportunity. Duluth is your port; it is your market, and the cheapest point of distribution in the great Northwest.

"The language of the commission in reviewing this case is exceedingly clear and the story of this rate fight absorbingly interesting, and the decision of the commission of immediate pecuniary advantage to every community in the Northwest, except the Twin Cities.

"We are printing thousands of copies of this decision for distribution. A postal from you addressed to us asking for a copy of opinion 2390 will bring this to you. It will pay you to read it.

SPECIAL TRAIN BRINGS 300 REAL ESTATE AGENTS

Delegates Returning From Winnipeg Arrive in Zenith City.

Duluth Made a Great Showing at the Convention.

Ablaze with banners and looking suspiciously like a rah rah special carrying a gaily bedecked bunch to a football game, the first big special carrying the real estate men of different cities of the country, rolled into the Northwestern depot at 1:10 today, over two hours behind the schedule.

Virginia stole a march on the Duluth people. The original plans called for the arrival of the train here at 10:30 this morning. But when the first section of the ten-coach train pulled in at Virginia, the genial boosters of the Queen city of the range decided that the opportunity was ripe for some effective boosting, and the big delegation of real estate men were held over for an hour or two.

Following close behind the first section came the second special. In all there are something like 300 visitors to the city, including the sellers of prosperous investments, their wives and friends.

Buffet Luncheon.

The buffet luncheon was the first on the program. Greeted at the depot platform by a committee of Duluth real estate men headed by Whitney Wall and including Charles P. Craig, R. B. Knox, H. S. Pulford, Edward Spink, E. D. Field, Charles McLennan, William Prindle, G. T. Eagling, and a number of others, the visiting real estate men and their parties were taken to the Spalding and told to satisfy the hunger ravages that the trip had caused.

Following the luncheon a trip around the boulevard in automobiles was taken. The visitors were given their choice between the trip around the historic drive and a trip around the harbor, the majority preferring to view Duluth from the crest of the famous drive.

It was planned to include both the drive around the boulevard and the trip around the harbor in this entertainment plan, but the lateness of the arrival of the two trains compelled the entertainment committee to give the visitors their choice.

Chicago is represented by one of the best delegations of all the cities represented. Clevelland is also boasting of one of the best delegations that attended the big national gathering at the Peg, both in point of size and the quality of the men.

Chicago, Cleveland, Buffalo, Pittsburg, Columbus, Toledo, Indianapolis, Kansas City, Minneapolis, Memphis, Denver Tampa, Jacksonville, Rockford, Springfield, Rochester and a host of other cities are represented in the big party that today is the guest of the real estate men of Duluth.

Duluth's Showing.

N. J. Upham declared that Duluth made one of the most impressive showings at the national gathering.

"The Zenith City did herself proud," he declared. "We had the rest of the people talking about us, and we also made them realize that Duluth is one of the future great cities of the United States. The best part of this was the fact that real estate men over the country generally agree with all the boosts we give Duluth, and then add just a little more. Real estate men generally look upon Duluth as one of the great bargain centers in the matter of realty holdings."

Mr. Upham declared that the suggestion for the national realty exchange was accepted with enthusiasm. Already $70,000 has been subscribed and the remaining $30,000 has been promised by the different exchanges of the country.

Most of the members of the party will leave the city this evening. Some few will remain over, but as the two specials leave today, the great majority will limit the length of their stay to the day.

Following is a partial list of the visiting real estate men and their wives:

BODY OF ROY YORK BURIED IN CANADA

Will Be Taken Up on Request of Mother and Sent to Portland.

Mrs. V. V. York of 103 Mesaba avenue, whose son, Roy, was killed in an accident at Keefer, B. C., about eighty miles from Vancouver on July 25, received word this morning that the Northern Construction company, for which concern the young man was working when the accident happened, took charge of the funeral and buried the body.

Officials of the company have wired Mrs. York that they will immediately have the body sent to Portland, Ore., where it will be buried. The young man's father died at Portland and was buried there seven months ago.

Roy, who was 18 years old, was born in Duluth and was a graduate of the Adams school. He left here about two years ago. He is survived by a sister, besides his mother.

FAMOUS OLD HOAX IS AGAIN TO BE EXHIBITED

CARDIFF GIANT.

The famous Cardiff Giant is to make another journey. He is to be taken to the San Francisco exposition, to be exhibited to all and sundry at 10 cents a peep.

This Cardiff giant was the biggest hoax every worked on the American people, and it made P. T. Barnum green with envy. Supposed to be the petrified remains of the representative of a prehistoric race, it was exhibited for a long time and accepted as genuine. Then stories got into circulation that it had been made from a block of stone quarried at Fort Dodge, Iowa, weighing 6,000 pounds, and carved by a sculptor named Markham at Chicago; that it had been shipped to Binghamton, N. Y., and thence drawn seventy miles to Cardiff and buried.

It was "discovered" by some men digging a well in the barnyard of William C. Newell.

There is living in Cardiff today a man named W. S. Houghton who was present when the Giant was unearthed, and he now testifies under oath that it is genuine. He said that there was a limb of a tree extending across the Giant's body, and that this was chopped away to get at the stone image so that it could be removed from the ground.

There was another story that the image had been made from stone taken from a quarry at Quincy, Ill., and carved by a man named Sala at that place, then shipped by lake and canal to Syracuse and drawn thence by horse team to Cardiff and buried. Houghton swears that both these stories of the Giant are untrue and that he believes the image to be a Phoenician god.

Whatever it was, he says that 6,000,000 persons paid to look at it and that he was the custodian of it while it was exhibiting. At one time he paid its owners $400 a week for the privilege of exhibiting it. All this was back in 1869 and the following years. With the exception of three months when it was exhibited at Buffalo, the image has been stored for many years at Fitchburg, Mass.

STRANGE TALE TOLD BY GIRL

Is Found Scantily Clad, Wandering Near the Boulevard.

Girl's Acquaintance Walks Into the Arms of Police.

Anna Bimkle, 21 years old, a domestic, was picked up on the Boulevard near Seventh avenue west yesterday afternoon by the police and is being held at headquarters pending the investigation of several conflicting stories which may possibly develop a white slave case.

The girl says that her home is at Arlington, Wis., and that she was followed to Duluth by two men, who later took away her suit cases and assaulted her. When found yesterday afternoon she was clothed in nothing but a flimsy white dress, which was covered by a long raincoat.

After she had been questioned by the police she was taken out by Mrs. Mary Walsh, police matron, and Patrolman Youngberg, to try to locate the hotel at which she said she had been mistreated. She led them to the Fifth avenue hotel. While there a man who later gave his name as Otto Borchardt, 26 years old, put in an appearance. The girl welcomed him warmly and he wanted to know what the patrolman and the matron were doing with her. They refused to turn her over to Borchardt and brought him back to the station with them.

It then appeared that Borchardt and the girl had spent the previous night at the Hall hotel, registering as man and wife. In the afternoon they had left the place together, wandering up the hill to the vicinity of Sixteenth avenue west and Third street. They separated there, the girl starting out to buy some articles for a lunch. She wandered to the Boulevard, where she was found by the police. Borchardt waited for her and made his way downtown when she failed to return. He reached Superior street in time to see her go into the Fifth avenue hotel with the police officials. He followed and brought about his own arrest. Borchardt told the police that he and the girl had been at the Hall hotel and that she was mistaken when she led them to the Fifth avenue hotel.

The opinion of the police is that Borchardt met the girl at her home and that the two came to Duluth together. They do not place much faith in her claim that two men followed her and then attacked her in a local hotel. They will arraign the man and the girl in police court this afternoon on a disorderly charge, which they admit. This will serve to hold them while they look further into the girl's assertions.

REST CURE FOR RAZORS.

Harper's Weekly: Metals are conductors of electricity. Steel is an excellent conductor, and when fashioned into tools with sharp edges the electric current continually passing through the metal will leave at the sharp point or edge.

The razor gets tired and is improved after a rest. This is true in a scientific sense. It is not exactly a rest that the razor needs, although that term will express it pretty well.

Any razor, after constant use, will become not exactly dull, for the barber can sharpen it, but rather sluggish and refuse to work as smoothly as when it has lain a few weeks without work.

Constant use and continued sharpening put the molecules into a sluggish condition, and it is impossible to get the same edge as when the steel has not been used for some time.

When the razor lies idle and the electric current is passing off at the edge the particles are toned and tempered, and the edge actually becomes more smooth and really sharper and more fit to remove the beard.

It is claimed that a razor wrapped in rubber cloth and placed in a drawer away from any damp will not be benefited by the rest as will a razor that is simply laid away rather carelessly without any insulation. It is the same if the razor is inclosed in a glass case, for the insulation prevents the electric current from passing through the metal.

"MONY A MICKLE MAKES A MUCKLE."

New York Evening Post: "Stamp books sold at 1 cent above the face value of the stamps they conatin yielded a profit of $180,000," says a Washington dispatch. An item from this somehow gives one a more vivid idea of the enormous magnitude of the postal business of the country than do the big figures relating to the gross volume of its operations. Here is a little corner of its affairs, hardly noticed alongside the rest, out of which the government makes the tidy profit of a sixth of a million dollars a year. And it furnishes, at that, a valuable convenience —a neat little book, with several leaves of oil paper to protect the stamps—at the price of our smallest coin. If the whole of the selling price of the booklets were profit the $180,000 would mean that 18,000,000 of these booklets were sold; as a matter of fact they cost the government about a quarter of a cent to make, so that in reality the number sold was 25,700,000, and the public paid last year $257,000 for these unconsidered trifles. In the year 1800 the whole amount received by the postoffice for carrying the mails of the country was just about this sum, being $280,000. In the fiscal year it was $287,000,000—nearly 1,000 times as much.

ALL FOR HER DAUGHTER'S SAKE

Just a Glimpse Through a Window at a Slavey-Mother and a Girl in a Rose Kimona.

New York Mail: You have probably seen her a good many times in this town—the slavey mother. She is a meek woman, sometimes little, sometimes big and stout. She is middle-aged, verging to old. She has a daughter, for whose sake she wears out her life.

That is a good example of her—the woman in the flat across the court. Evidently the two women who live in that flat are not rich, or they would not be living in so modest an apartment. It is even possible that the daughter has employment, for she is absent from the house a good deal. But when she is at home is there a moment when her plain, middle-aged mother is not engaged in some service for her?

The girl comes in and puts on a kimono. Then she lies down on the couch and fans herself, or reads a magazine. Did you see the mother remove some sewing from the couch before the girl came in, and place cushions in a comfortable pile in the corner?

Now that the daughter has come, and has been made comfortable, the mother disappears from the room. It is easy to see that she is preparing a meal, out in the kitchen. The girl shifts herself on the couch. She fans herself; she takes up a newspaper. But by and by you can hear her say, "Yes, mother"—rather languidly, with a little querulous inflection—and she rises to go out and eat the meal that her mother has prepared.

Afterward, the mother will come in and perform various little services for the daughter. She washes the girl's hair and when it is dry combs and dresses it very lovingly. The rosy garment which the older woman has been working on all the afternoon is perfectly sure to appear on the girl's back in a few days.

You can see the older woman bringing in parcels. You do not see the girl bring in parcels. The mother does the shopping and marketing, as well as the cooking, the sweeping and the sewing. She is not only housekeeper to her daughter, but lady's maid as well.

Manifestly she holds the girl in great affection. If you were to pity her, she would resent it. Very likely life has no dearer joy to her than this continual service of her daughter. She does not want anything better to do. Perhaps it is all right. But there is a slight fault-finding streak in the querulous inflection of the girl's voice. And also, she is not so much of a girl as she was. And the mother, who was middle-aged, seems verging upon old age now. And always waiting on her daughter.

Is it some time going to be the other way around? Is the daughter going to repay the mother's devotion by taking zealous care of her in her old age? How can she ever do that, when her mother does everything for her now? All these services, these constant, untiring, devoted services, are unfitting the girl to take care of herself, to say nothing of taking care of anybody elese.

A day is going to come when the slavey mother will be in a very bad fix. When she becomes feeble, she may as well get out of the world. Our state of society has no place for old people. There is no fireside nook for them. Fireside nooks are obsolete. Tender respect for the aged is pretty much obsolete. Perhaps the slavey mother will find refuge in an old woman's home somewhere. But that girl in the rosy kimono, fanning herself on the couch there, is never going to be a slavey mother herself. You may be sure of that.

The international map of the world, on a scale of one to one million, will, when completed, eight or ten years hence, cover a total area of about 150 by 75 feet, or the surface of a globe forty feet in diameter.

DULUTH PEOPLE LOOK OVER MINE

Large Excursion From Zenith City Visits Ironton Sunday.

Cuyuna, Minn., Aug. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The first shipment of iron ore by the Cuyuna-Duluth Iron company, at the north end of Ironton, was celebrated Sunday, a nine-coach special excursion train being run from Duluth to Ironton on the Northern Pacific, carrying 481 passengers.

There were also visitors from Brainerd, Fargo, Staples, Milwaukee, Superior, Foley, Crosby, Deerwood and the other range towns. The seventeen-piece Ironton brass band met the excursionists at the depot, and an address of welcome was delivered by Mayor Krueger. The Third Regiment band of Duluth headed the procession of excursionists, who marched about town and then to the Ironton roller rink, where Emil Hollander, formerly of Duluth, had prepared a satisfying meal. The rink was christened the Cuyuna-Duluth hotel. The line of march was then taken up to the mine and there the stockholders and their friends formed a large circle and were photographed. The mine was examined.

ESCAPED ANIMAL STILL AT LARGE

Hunt for Beast in Polk County Sunday Fails in Results.

Crookston, Minn., Aug. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The general hunt Sunday failed to end the vacation of the escaped circus panther or leopard, but it resulted in establishing a line of lookouts which will make it certain that at the next appearance of the animal advices will reach Crookston so quickly that the escape of the beast from immediate pursuit will be impossible.

Over forty automobiles participated and left the city east, south and west by every road. The Motorcycle club split in two divisions, one under the leadership of President Palen and Secretary Eck went to Red Lake Falls, while the second under Vice President Lawrence went southeast to Eldred, the two divisions converging on the Mentor road late in the afternoon to no end.

Anxiety prevails that the animal will not be killed before school opens in September, but it is believed that with the careful watch being kept, and the plans rovided for immediate notification if the animal is again seen that it will be driven to bay and killed.

POSTMASTER INVENTS.

Kenneth, Mich., Stamp Seller Patents Mail Handling Device.

Marquette, Mich., Aug. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—According to postal and railroad officials, a device designed by John D. Leonard, postmaster at Kenneth, Mackinac county, will in all probability revolutionize the present system of delivering from and receiving mail on rapidly moving trains. The invention has been tested officially on the South Shore railroad and is pronounced an entire success. Years of experience in receiving from and delivering mails to flying trains led Mr. Leonard to experiment on a system of automatic delivery that would not require the attention of the mail clerk and would at the same time provide a method of collecting mail bags from the cranes at small post stations. The device was brought to the attention of the department at Washington and tests with it were ordered.

CISCO IN BIG LAKE.

Cross Between Whitefish and Herring Caught in Lake Superior.

Marquette, Mich., Aug. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dispatches from Cleveland recently have reported the appearance of a "new" fish called cisco on the market at that city, a cross between a herring and a whitefish and the result of three years' experimenting by the Federal bureau of fisheries. It also stated that the waters of Lake Erie are teeming with the fish. This variety of the finny tribe is not "new." Marquette fishermen have caught the cisco in the waters of Lake Superior for years. The fish is, as stated, a cross between whitefish and herring. It partakes strikingly of the characteristics of both. Cisco may be caught at any time during herring season off the rocks at this port or at any other place where herring gather in shoals.

HIT BY OWN ORDER.

Iron River, Mich., President Violates Rules He Would Enforce.

Iron River, Mich., Aug. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Local people are smiling at the expense of Michael Kelly, village president. Recently he published an official notice in which owners of stock were warned that "unless said stock were kept off the streets the said owners would be liable to arrest and prosecution under the provisions of the ordinance pertaining thereto." Mr. Kelley further stated that should any person report to him a violation of the ordinance, with the name of the owner of said stock, he would make complaint and cause said offender to be brought into court and prosecuted to the full extent of the law. Iron River folks are smiling now because since the publication of the notice President Kelly's herd of four cows has been corralled in the streets on three different occasions and each time has been impounded. In each instance it has cost the village executive $1 a head to redeem his stock. Iron River people are wondering, too, whether the mayor will hale himself into court.

WILL CUT LAST BIG PINE TRACT.

Marquette, Mich., Aug. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—One of the last of the few remaining stands of white pine in Upper Michigan is about to be cut and converted into lumber. The tract is five miles west of Birch, Marquette county, and is estimated to contain 12,000,000 feet. It covers the greater part of two sections. The pine is owned by Cheboygan, Mich., interests, headed by M. B. Olds. Logging operations will be started within the next fortnight with a crew of 125 men and will be conducted throughout the fall and winter. Some of the pine is of good size, but the land on which it stands is rugged and the lumbering operations will be both difficult and comparatively expensive. The timber will be hauled to Lake Superior, whence it will be rafted to Cheboygan, where the interests that own it operate an extensive sawmill.

Skaar notified the police who are still seeking the ingrate.

LOVE AFFAIR, NOT HEAT, SUICIDE CAUSE.

Fergus Falls, Minn., Aug. 4.—A report from Henning says that the real cause of the suicide of Frank Morrow, the young man who shot himself at his home near Otter Tail Thursday morning, was a love affair and not because of the heat as reported.

The young man's suit is said to have been rejected by a young woman of the neighborhood, and he is said to have brooded over the affair and finally taken his own life.

Milwaukee's Valuation.

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 4.—Milwaukee's assessed valuation this year totals $486,157,877, an increase of $25,609,114, over that of 1912, according to figures issued by Tax Commissioner Louis A. Arnold after the 1913 assessment had formally been adopted by the board of review.

In addition to this figure, the income tax has exempted personal property amounting to nearly $20,000,000, which would have brought the assessed valuation over the $500,000,000 mark.

DOOKS DIVIDE DOUBLE BILL WITH GRAND FORKS

Dakotans Take First 6 to 4 and Lose Second 1 to 3.

Peggy, the Pegger, Pitches Both Games and Shows Form.

O'Brien & Co. and Carney & Co., Limited, divided win profits yesterday, the Dakota noise producers taking the first game of the double bill by the count of 6 to 4 and the Dooks winning the second by the score of 3 to 1.

Peggy the Pegger was knolling for us in both of the games. He pitched better in the second than he did in the first contest, thus plainly indicating that he has iron in his system and therefore is a very valuable baseball property.

In the curtain raiser, or the prologue, or whatever the first game of a double-header is called, Wild Harold Jarnigan was opposed to Peggy the Pegger. There were twelve blows gathered off the delivery of Childe Harold and but nine off the breaking curves of the Pegger and yet the visitor won. But in the concluding game the tall pine of the local staff came gloriously into his own. But three blows were nicked off his delivery. For the first five innings of the second clash not a hit was secured off of Rhodes. Not a man got past second until after the sixth inning. The Sox played errorless ball behind the human lath and everything was perfectly lovely and a good time was had by most all.

Three hits combined with an error scored three runs in the initial round of the first game. Sam Foster, the second baseman, singled, and Wild Bill Carney lofted to the outfield. Foster was forced at second by Altman, who promptly stole second. Chase singled and Altman counted. Schreiber flew wild on Rube Foster's offering and the first baseman was safe as a wealthy malefactor following the advice of eminent counsel. Harold Bond cleared the sacks with a screeching double and the damage was did.

Chase walked in the sixth and was sacrificed by Rube Foster. Jerry Edmunds hit and the run was in. The last runs of the visitors came in the seventh round, when O'Brien heaved wild on Sam Foster's grounder, and this was followed by a single upon the part of Bill Carney, something quite unusual, and then a wild pitch assisted in the scoring of the two runs.

Monahan clouted for two in the third. O'Brien walked. Meniece singled and Percy counted. Moll singled in the next frame and was advanced on a passed ball, advanced on an infield out and counted on Peggy the Pegger's long hit to Carney. Singles by Schreiber and Moll and Sweeley and a sacrifice fly scored the last runs of the Sox in the sixth, this ending the vain rally the home guards made in the effort to cut down the lead of the visitors.

The Second Game.

In the concluding contest Rhodes was as tight as a clam threatened with investigation by the clam assembly. The only score of the visitors came in the sixth round, which inning was the first that the visitors succeeded in getting a man past the keystone sack.

Morse hit to the left field fence for two sacks worth. Sam Foster whiffed and then Wild Bill Carney singled and the one and only score of the visitors was registered.

We counted in the first round when Percy singled and the honorable Dook was shot in the arm by a pitched ball, and Smith sacrificed and Meniece went out at first on an infield hit, Percy romping kittenishly to the home roost.

The well-known onion farmer and authority on minor league baseball history, Samuel Meniece, opened the spring season of the fourth frame, producing one of his well-known doubles. Infield hits by McGraw and Schreiber brought the odor vegetable raiser to third and then he swiped home. Hurrahs greeted the act.

Our last run was produced in the sixth. With O'Brien and Smith down Meniece came to the front with a ripping single. The tall cit of peaceful Woodland swiped second and then counted when McGraw singled.

Umpire Werden was taken with cramps after the first game was played and the second contest was umpired by Players Brackett and Jarnigan.

Virginia, Minn., Aug. 4.—In a hard-fought game Saturday the locals defeated La Crosse 5 to 3. Although Schultz was touched for eleven hits he was backed by good fielding support. Errors of the visitors aided Virginia in its run getting. Faeth's running catch in left field was the feature.

TRADE SHUTOUTS BEFORE BIG CROWD.

Winnipeg, Man., Aug. 4.—Winnipeg and Winona traded shutouts Saturday before the biggest crowd outside a holiday this season. The attendance at the two games was over 4,500. Bell let Winnipeg down with two hits in the afternoon and beat Boly 5 to 0. In the evening game Moe had the sign on Winona and won 7 to 0, while Snow was in plenty of trouble. Umpire Landry had a bad day with the fans and players alike.

Four Home Runs.

Chicago, Aug. 4.—Chicago defeated Brooklyn 12 to 5 yesterday. The contest was a slugging match from start to finish, a total of thirty hits being made between the two teams. Of these there were home runs by Leach, Stenga, Schulte and Williams; triples by Fisher, Needham, Stenga and Cutshaw, and doubles by Leach and Needham.

Chicago started right after Pitcher Ragan in the opening inning and forced the Brooklynite to retire after the second inning. Wagner came to the rescue and for a moment checked the slugging of Manager Evers' men, but this stop was only of short duration, when the locals again commenced their fusillade of hits.

Lavender was on the mound for Chicago, and he too was hit hard, the visitors never getting an inning without a hit or two. Manager Dahlen objected to Schulte's home run, claiming that the ball did not clear the screen in right field, but Umpire Brenan contended that it did. At another stage of the game Dahlen claimed that one of his batters was entitled to his base on four balls, but Brennan said there were only three. Score: R. H. E.

Phillies Score Victory.

St. Louis, Aug. 4.—Philadelphia bunched hits for enough runs in the first three innings to win from St. Louis yesterday afternoon 5 to 3. Paskerts' triple and a single by Knabe started the scoring in the first for the visitors. Successive singles by Doolan, Killifer and Brennan counted one more in the second. In the third Knabe singled and was sacrificed to second. Cather's two-base muff of Magee's pop, tallied the second baseman. Magee scored when Luderus singled. Sallee was relieved by Geyer, who pitched fair ball for six and two-thirds innings, yielding but one run. St. Louis tallied its first run in the second on Cather's triple, Mowrey's double and a single by O'Leary. In the fourth Konetchy was safe on Knabe's error. He stole second and went to third when Doolan, angered at a decision, threw the ball away. He scored on Wingo's out. Score: R. H. E.

WINONA AND SUPERIOR WILL CLASH ON TUESDAY

There are but twenty more days of the race in the Northern league and with the passage of each day the closeness of the fight for the gonfalon increases.

Superior yesterday won both of the games with Minneapolis, thus gaining on the Winona Pirates, as the Davis gang was idle at the Peg, where they regard Sunday baseball in the same light as we view murder and other harsh and unseemly crimes.

Also while the Pirates were dividing the double bill with the Maroons on Saturday the Superior bunch was winning.

Superior is sure making a grand fight for the flag. The consecutive run of victories breaks the league record and sets the performance of the Red Sox as one of the notable feats of the Northern season.

Naturally the big test will come tomorrow, when Superior opens a three-game series with the Pirates on the grounds of the latter.

Cyrus Augustus Dahlgren has told Will Sommer that he can win two of these games and that Schauer will win the other one. If Superior can win two out of three of the games with the Davis bunch, the chances of the Superior club for the pennant can be considered very bright.

Winona plays at Winnipeg today for the final game of the present series. The Red Sox are idle for the second time in four days. Thus while the Pirates are using pitchers in the desperate drive to maintain their present lead the Red Sox have the benefit of two days of rest.

The series in Winona is the crucial test of the season. Fans all over the Northern league circuit will follow the games with interest. It will be a heaving duel, from the look of things at the present time, between Bell, Snow and Toraason and Dahlgren and Schauer.

We finish the season with Superior and it may develop that the games with the Red Sox will determine the flag winner. Our last appearance with the Curtis crew is in a double header at Athletic park, Sunday, Aug. 24.

She has been one carb of a race all the way through; every team in the league but Virginia and La Crosse has had a chance until the final three of four weeks of the season. Now the race has apparently narrowed down to Winona and Superior, with Duluth the runner up, and indeed it is one of the warmest drives that any of the leagues of the country can furnish.

Reds Take Opener.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Aug. 4.—Cincinnati by bunching hits easily won the first game of the series from Boston yesterday 8 to 5. It was an even battle up to the seventh, when Dickson weakened and Cincinnati batted out victory in the eighth and ninth innings. Score: R. H. E.

AMERICAN ASSN.

Saints Win Both.

St. Paul, Aug. 4.—St. Paul concluded a long home stay yesterday by taking two games from Kansas City, the first by 5 to 1 and the second, 6 to 5. The second game was called in the eighth inning in accordance with a state law prohibiting playing baseball after 6 o'clock on Sunday.

In the first contest Walker outpitched Vaughn. In the second, Pitcher Rieger and Catcher James of St. Paul were put out of the game in the second inning for protesting against Umpire Handiboe's judgment on balls and strikes. The crowd became incensed and Handiboe was the target for a shower of pop bottles. Manager Friel finally restored order by shouting through a megaphone that the game would be forfeited to Kansas City unless the throwing of missiles ceased.

Morgan was wild and ineffective in this game and was replaced by Covington. La Roy and Miller replaced the banished St. Paul battery.

Hens Are Blanked.

Toledo, Ohio, Aug. 4.—Columbus won its third successive extra inning game here yesterday afternoon, beating Toledo, 2 to 0. In the twelfth inning, with two men out and three balls and two strikes on Murphy, the catcher doubled over third and scored on Benson's second triple of the game. Benson himself scored a moment later when Gerber dropped a single in right. Double plays helped Toledo twice, while another double play by Gerber, Benson and Miller killed Toledo's chances in the fourth, after Burns and Kirke had started the inning with singles. R. H. E.

Comstock Shuts Out Brewers.

Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 4.—Ralph Comstock's pitching was too much for the Milwaukee team yesterday afternoon and Minneapolis won by a score of 7 to 0. Hovlik, who started for the visitors was a trifle wild and in the fourth inning gave way to Braun who was hit opportunely by the locals. Comstock did not allow a Brewer to walk, while only three hits were registered by the visitors, only one of the trio being clean. One was a beat out on a bunt which looked like an easy out while the other was an accidental hit over first on an attempted bunt. Score: R. H. E.

COLLEGE STAR WITH FORKERS

Harold Bond, the center fielder of the Grand Forks team, should be well known to the fans of this city. Bond was with the Winnipeg team in the days of the old Northern and was then looked upon as one of the greatest pitchers in minor league baseball.

Minneapolis drafted the tall kid, but for some reason he never reported to the Millers. Bond is a school

A DREADED CLIMATE.

Charles Wellington Furlong in Harper's Magazine: Cayenne—red pepper to the world at large, hell to the few thousands of convicts transported to this isolated, northeastern corner of equatorial South America. Here, it was rumored, existed one of the world's most antiquated and revolting penal systems, where thousands of men are not only transported for years, but exiled and doomed to a living death. Men from French Guiana had intimated conditions which vied with the cruelties of the old convict ships.

Groups of convicts lounged about or lay sick and incapacitated on the verandas. At night the barred iron door of each dormitory is locked, and outside paces a guard, revolver in hand. Sometimes under cover of darkness the inmates settle feuds. Occasionally, to establish leaders, rival gangs fight with cudgels, knives and even paving stones. Some disabled, others dead, the most indomitable are reconciled and form a tyrannical secret society. Many a poor wretch dreads the night hours, and one suspected of informing may be set upon by an enraged pack. Occasionally murder is committed, in profound silence, and daylight finds a dead or dying convict in the passageway or entrance. Questioning is useless, and few guards will risk life in entering the barracks when smothered cries and cursing warn them of internal strife.

All the men I talked with were well disposed toward me, one in particular—a tall, well-educated man with a pair of dark-rimmed glasses and large eyes fearfully strained through inability to secure proper lenses.

"You must not lose hope," I told a group of relegues, and almost swallowed my own words. "Hope!" burst out the rich, tremulous voice of the tall man. "It is always the same; there is no hope here." "No, no hope here!" was the echoed murmur of his comrades.

The first accurate clock was set up in England at Hampton court in 1540. Up to that time members of the royal suite used hour glasses in their private rooms.

eacher and one of the best educated men in baseball, besides being one of the finest chaps in the game. At the present time he is teaching in the state public schools of Montana and is playing baseball during the summer months.

While the trusty flinging arm of the young man is not as good as it was in the days of yore, his hitting keeps him in the game. Bond is one of the .300 hitters of the Northern league and is also a classy outfielder. He hit in a pinch in the game of Saturday and his double of yesterday counted three runs for the Forkers.

During his college days young Bond played the game in company with a number of University of Minnesota men, and now during vacation time he plays the game because he really loves it.

BROOKLYN PROTEST IS NOT UPHELD.

New York, Aug. 4.—President Lynch of the National league in a decision announced yesterday held that the result of the protested Brooklyn-Cincinnati game of July 11, which Cincinnati won 5 to 3, stands as played. The Brooklyn club protested because of a decision by Umpire Quigley, who allowed player Moran but one base on a wild pitch, on which misplay Moran had advanced from first to third. The evidence submitted by Umpire Quigley and Capt. Hoblitzel, according to President Lynch's decision, showed that on the first day of the Brooklyn-Cincinnati series, Manager Dahlen had made a ground rule allowing but one base on a pitched ball that hit the grand stand. As both clubs agreed to this rule, President Lynch held that the protest of the Brooklyn club had no force.

TENNIS STARS IN PRACTICE

Sectional Doubles Champions Practice for Elimination Matches Tuesday.

Winners Will Play Bundy and McLoughlin for National Title.

Chicago, Aug. 4.—Champion tennis teams from all sections of the country limbered for the Onwentsia today in preparation for the trials tomorrow and Wednesday to decide who shall meet Maurice E. McLoughlin and Thomas C. Bundy of San Francisco for the national doubles title. The winning team will go to Newport to meet the title holders on Aug. 13.

Gustav F. Touchard and W. M. Washburn, the Eastern champions, were first on the courts of the north shore club this morning. Touchard played here two years ago when he carried off the honors with Raymond Little as a partner. They were followed shortly after by Robert Shelton and J. B. Adoue, who represent the South. Both players took part in the Western tournament last week and both were disposed of in the early rounds.

John Strachan, who with Clarence Griffin, holds the Pacific coast championship and who was forced to default in the western tourney because of illness, has not fully recovered and has practiced only slightly. R. H. Burdick and Heath Byford, Chicagoans, who won the Western title with such ease, took a hard workout. The smashing game of Burdick and Byford's generalship make the team a favorite in the tryouts.

Bundy was expected here late today and planned to see the semi-final round tomorrow before going East to practice with McLoughlin.

CALIFORNIAN WINS TITLE

Clarence Griffin Defeats Armstrong in Final Match at Chicago.

Chicago, Aug. 4. — California's supremacy in Western tennis was upheld Saturday by the newest star of the state's great galaxy, Clarence Griffin. Playing through his first tournament on grass courts, the boyish champion wound up a brilliant campaign by a hard-earned victory over Joseph Armstrong, whose game threatened for a time to put Minnesota in nearly as prominent a place on the tennis map as the Golden state.

The scores of the final match were, 6-4, 6-0, 4-6 and 6-1.

The biggest gallery of the week overflowed the improvised stands and was about evenly divided in its support of the two youths. Armstrong was nearer home and scores of his friends from the north were among the throng, but Griffin had won hosts of supporters by his great playing and applause evenly divided.

McLoughlin's title of Western champion falls on a worthy successor in the new holder, but Griffin is not of the same speed as his illustrious fellow-countryman, and the latter's honors as national master are hardly in danger, according to experts.

Griffin played much the same sort of a game that brought him as winner through the week's battles. The coast boy's reliance, as in his previous matches, was on his steadiness. Unruffled by the desperate rallies of his antagonist, he played with the machine-like certainty that self-confidence inspires.

His first set was hard won, but he played a cautious game. In the second he cut loose as if to see what he could do and the result—a love set in his favor—evidently satisfied him, for in the third he rested, conserving strength for the final test. His generalship was equal to that which it was prophesied would be shown by the St. Paul player, and his racquet he handled in a manner far superior.

Opposed to Griffin's cross-court shots and side-line smashes. Armstrong pitted drives to the base line. On these he had been returned winner over Walter Hayes and Harry Waldner, and depended on them to win points in the crucial battle. But Griffin handled the back court balls as if he liked them and seldom allowed them to keep him too far away from the net where he was away ahead of the Northerner.

Armstrong's service, formed on that introduced from beyond the Rockies by Bundy, was more or less of a failure Saturday. It was shaky in his match with Waldner Friday and his failure to get the first ball over forced him to modify the stroke so seriously that it lost its effectiveness.

The Western doubles championship was won by Heath Byford and R. H. Burdick by an easy victory in the final round over Walter Hayes and John H. Winston, 6-1, 6-2 and 6-4.

The new champion pair, according to the program, will compete at Onwentsia Tuesday with the Eastern champion, Gustave Touchard and W. M. Washburn, while the Southern pair, Robert Shelton and J. B. Adoue, will play Clarence Griffin and John Strachan, the Pacific coast champions.

The winning teams will battle on Wednesday for the privilege of playing McLoughlin and Bundy for the national championship at Newport Aug. 18.

GAIN ON LEADERS IN BOTH LEAGUES

Philadelphia Pulls Up and Cleveland Gains on Athletics.

New York, Aug. 4.—With two full months of major league baseball remaining, pennant aspiring managers aside from McGraw of the New York Giants and Connie Mack of the Philadelphia Athletics took a measure of comfort from the week's play concluding Saturday. During the seven days, Philadelphia crept closer to New York in the National organization while in the American Cleveland made a gain on Mack's clan that was sufficiently noticeable as to be significant.

In the National circuit the Eastern teams began another invasion of the West, and the Phillies were able to climb a little higher by winning five games against a single defeat while Chicago was forcing the Giants to split a four game series. While Doolin's team, as a matter of fact, made but a ten-point gain, owing to the Giants' continued good playing, the week's showing of the Philadelphia club indicated its return to early season form, and gave its followers reason to hope that through the regeneration of New York lead might be worn down.

But the Giants have not given recent proof that a slump is impending—and a slump by McGraw's men appears to be Philadelphia's one hope, no matter how consistently good its playing may be from now until October. Ban Johnson's organization furnished the baseball sensation of the week in the fine showing of the youthful Birmingham team from Cleveland. In four playing days the Naps passed through three double headers and a single game without meeting defeat. Through the seven game string of victories Cleveland made a thirty-seven-point leap toward the pennant, inasmuch as the Athletics did little more than hold their own.

EASTERN SPORT WRITER IS HERE

M. L. Granlund Says Bud Anderson Is Sure to Make Good.

M. L. Granlund, one of the best known sporting writers of the East is in Duluth today, being ahead of the Hanky Panky company. Mr. Granlund witnessed the Joe Mandot-Bud Anderson scrap at Los Angeles, looking after the business of Mandot, in fact, and he declares that Anderson is a boy that is bound to be heard from in the future.

"Anderson doesn't know much about the fight game at the present time, but he is game and has the natural ability," said Granlund. "The licking at the hands of Leach Cross, one of the foxiest fighters in the business, will not, in my opinion, discourage the young Medford farmer lad. Anderson has the heart and he also has the punch, and when he gets wise to some of the ring tactics, look out."

Granlund declares he is ahead of one of the most athletic theatrical companies in the business.

Harry Copper, one of the principals, is regarded as the best baseball player on the stage. Max Rogers is known among the boxing fans from coast to coast and is one of the cleverest amateur boxers among the actors, if not one of the cleverest in the country. Rogers will travel hundreds of miles to see a good scrap.

Miss Burmatt Brokaw is the champion woman tennis player of the Missouri valley, as records will testify. Miss Brokaw is one of the greatest in the West and plays whenever the opportunity is presented.

MILWAUKEE HOLDS PERRY CELEBRATION.

Milwaukee, Wis., Apg. 4.—Milwaukee's five-day celebration of Perry's victory was begun yesterday when scores of veterans paraded up the main streets of the city behind a fife and drum corps to the court of honor on Grand avenue.

Here dedication services of the court were held during which several addresses were made. Several thousands then gathered at the Auditorium to listen to addresses by Mayor G. A. Badig, John M. Whitehead and Rabbi Charles Levi. Five hundred members of various choirs furnished the music.

The city is profusely decorated and thousands of visitors are here to assist Milwaukee in its observance of Commodore Perry celebration.

NINETY-ONE ENTRIES IN ROWING REGATTA.

New York, Aug. 4.—Secretary Fred R. Fortmeyer of the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen in announcing the entries of the forty-first annual regatta, which is to be held next Friday and Saturday on the Charles river, Boston, Mass., says that it promises to be the greatest national regatta ever held. In all there are ninety-one entries for the thirteen events. Among the cities that will be represented are Toronto, Boston, Philadelphia, New York, Springfield, Mass., Halifax, N. S., Buffalo, Detroit and Duluth.

WAS BEST OF OF SERIES

Lark o' the Lake Ended in a Blaze of Glory.

Auto Parade Was Gorgeous Spectacle and Attracted Immense Crowd.

The initial series of annual Lark o' the Lake celebrations in Duluth ended Saturday night with what was perhaps the best and most successful event of the six weeks' program—at least it was in many respects; for to try to rob the preceding ones of their triumphs would be unjust.

There was an old rhyme of childhood days which was sung in some sort of a game:

"First the worst, second the same
Last the best of all the game."

The rhyme does not fully apply in this case, but it does in part. When the matter of weather is taken into consideration its application is perfect. The first Lark night was given over to the Shriners, who turned out what was without question the most enthusiastic parade and entertainment that was given during the series; and they had to do it in the face of the worst weather of any of the several thoroughly discouraging nights the Lark has attempted to soar in. Several other Lark nights were bad as to weather, but valiantly the organizations that had the periods in hand, turned out good attractions.

Saturday night the city attractions' committee had charge and the autoists of the city furnished the procession. The weather could not be improved upon for the event, and the parade was surprisingly good, so much of a surprise in fact, that the immense crowds on the street grew enthusiastic as the more beautifully decorated autos passed, and actually applauded. The slogan that "It's cool in Duluth" usually extends to her audiences as well as fitting her climate, and when a street audience applauds, that means that it is quite wildly pleased.

Better Next Year.

The city attractions' committee, which had the affair in charge, it was quite generally expressed Saturday night, is entitled to the utmost credit and congratulation on the success of the parade. In fact as one business man observed after the parade on Saturday night, the committee should be thanked by the business men of the city not only for the success of Saturday night but for the way the whole series has been handled.

It is believed by many that next year, should an auto parade be attempted, it will far outshine the one of Saturday for the reason that many auto owners showed a disposition to hold off as if afraid of making a faux pas, whatever that is, or something like that. Now with a successful one on the records as a standard, it is believed that next year there would be many times the number of entrants and more elaboration shown in the decorations of cars.

The city attractions committee consists of the following: J. E. Rockwell, chairman; William C. Betting, marshal of parade; Miron Bunnell, E. J. Filiatrault and B. J. Enger. A. T. Banning, Jr., was chairman of the general committee having control of the Lark o' the Lake events.

As a whole the parade was a beautiful sight. Much pains and considerable expense had been put into the work of decorations with the result that the procession was a thing of beauty with its variety of colors, its arrangement of lights, etc. The Third Regiment band headed the parade, and was followed by Dr. J. D. Park, driving his Locomobile, which won the A. A. A. event trophy in the recent Glidden tour from the Twin Cities to Glacier Park, Mont. The doctor was given a round of applause all down the line. Then came the new emergency police patrol, and then the commercial trucks, entered by a number of business houses and decorated tastefully and laden with the goods handled by the respective houses.

Then came the flower cars and some of them were wonderfully good to look upon. In fact so well was the work of parade: Miron Bunnell E. J. Filiof decoration done and so difficult was it to decide between many of them that the judges were somewhat put to it to determine results.

Prize Winners.

The judges were Mayor Prince, City Commissioner Hicken and G. Roy Hall, traffic secretary of the Commercial club. They were in Fire Chief Randall's car at Second avenue west and Superior street, during the time the parade was passing and also inspected the cars as they lined up. They awarded the prizes as follows:

For best decorated car driven by a man, George A. Gray, silver trophy cup; for best decorated car driven by a woman, Miss Mollie Harris, silver trophy cup; for best decorated commercial truck, Duluth Edison Electric company, silver trophy cup.

Other winners: A. M. Russell, Interstate Auto company; Julius H. Barnes, F. A. Patrick George A. Maxson, R. M. White, R. G. Hutchings, Kelley Hardware company, and the Oakland Auto company. Prize winners will have a fine assortment of auto accessories to choose from in the order of their naming as winners. Letters will be sent to them by the committee announcing the order of the prize-winners, and they may then choose from the following:

Electric lighting outfit, electric horn, flower vase for enclosed cars, fifty gallons of gasoline, one-half barrel of lubricating oil, keg of liquid soap for washing cars, one pair of driving gauntlets, one pair of gloves, one traveling set, one linen duster, a thermos bottle.

The Entrants.

There were between forty and fifty autos registered as entrants but there were scores in the parade that were not registered. It is impossible to say what number took part. The following were registered:

Charles Chartier, Duluth Universal Flour company; Northern Cold Storage company, C. V. Pierson, F. C. Harris, A. M. Russell, R. G. Hutchings, R. M. White, Kelley Hardware company, Northwestern Cadillac company, George A. Maxson, F. A. Patrick, George A. Gray, Lake Hardware company, J. E. Cooley, Fitger Brewing company, Stacy-Merrill company, Kreidler Piano company, Carnegie Fuel company, P. Rossman, W. F. Smith, C. H. Taylor, Interstate Auto company, Crane & Ordway company, Henry Bridgeman, Twin Ports Oakland company, Archie McDougall, Dr. W. H. Magie, W. S. Patterson, P. G. Pastoret, F. F. McQuade, Mrs. B. Beckman, Duluth-Edison Electric company, M. W. Turner, D. H. Smith.

Afternoon Events.

In the afternoon's aquatic events, which were a part of the day's program, was a girls' war canoe race between the Reds and the Blues, which was won by the Blues in a nose and nose finish. Miss Alice Holahan is captain of the Blues and Miss Kathryn Chamberlain is captain of the Reds. The race gives the most points in a series of five races to the Blues, each having had two victories to its credit before this race was paddled. The judges of the aquatic contests were William Craig, E. A. Pearce and O. L. Mather. Following are the results of the afternoon's sports:

Hooray! Blood Free of Impurities

Eczema Gone! Acne, Tetter, Rash, Pimples, Carbuncles, Boils—Banished!

The under layer of skin is a fine network of tiny blood vessels in which the famous blood remedy, S. S. S., works with remarkable activity. This is why S. S. S., the best known blood purifier, has such a positive action in the skin. There is one ingredient in S. S. S. which peculiarly stimulates cellular or glandular activity to select from the blood or from this fine network of blood vessels in the skin, those elements which it requires for regeneration.

Under the influence of S. S. S. this fine network of blood vessels in the skin is constantly taking from the blood the nutrition required for healthy tissue, and the cause of disease is just as constantly becoming removed, scattered and rendered harmless. These facts are more fully explained in a book on skin troubles sent by The Swift Specific Co., 190 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. You will find S. S. S. on sale at all drug stores. Get a bottle to-day and banish all skin afflictions.

ON THE IRON RANGES

VIRGINIA SUSPECTS ARE BEING RAPIDLY ARRESTED

Various Theories Afloat Respecting Attempt to Burn and Loot City.

Lives Endangered and Property Menaced By Incendiary Fires.

Virginia, Minn., Aug. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Up to 1 p. m. today many suspects had been arrested in connection with the four fires early Sunday that were undoubtedly started by arson fiends and robbers. It is feared that there is no evidence that can connect any with the crime. Some people contend the work was that of a pyromaniac who delights in seeing fires burn; others that a gang of criminals infest the city. The police are patroling the city and environs in search of the merest clue that can explain Sunday's dastardly act.

The fire in the Mesberg building endangered several lives. The Mesberg family, Mrs. Mary H. James, postmistress, and Miss Selma Peterson, and Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Mackey, all of whom occupy flats over the Mesberg store, groped their way through smoke to safety and Mr. and Mrs. Mackey were only able to escape through a rear window to an upper porch, the stairs from which were cut off by flames when they arrived. They escaped by clambering over the roofs of low buildings to the alley. The fires occurred in regular order along Chestnut street and about twenty minutes apart.

Started in Furniture Store.

The first was at the Mesberg & Lavick furniture store where damage to stock and building and contents of flats above amounted to $15,000, and several had narrow escapes. Here as at all the other places paper and clothing saturated with kerosene were found and several state they saw the fire start with a great puff. The safe had been tampered with but it is believed nothing was obtained here.

Next there was a fire within the State Bank of Virginia, half a block east. It was found that the men had entered by a rear window by breaking a pane of glass and letting loose the sash fastener. Inside drawers had been ransacked and papers strewn over the floor. Stamps and coin not to exceed $5 in value were obtained. Next came the alarm of fire from the Missabe depot and investigation showed that this place had been entered, the drawers pulled out and the visitor or visitors has set fire to papers on the telegraph operators' desk before leaving.

Warehouse Also Fired.

The last of the set of four fires was at Andrew Grando's warehouse where kiln-dried lumber and building material worth $20,000 are stored at all times. A resident in the neighborhood states he saw a man light the fire, the nucleus of which was a suitcase filled with old clothing, saturated with kerosene. He gave the alarm at once and the fire was prevented from getting into the building, only the side being scorched. It is the opinion of Police Chief Richard Rice and others that there was a gang implicated in the fires and robberies. The police received a call supposedly from the Oliver police at the Norman mine to send out men to the Iron Range depot where suspects were being held. Chief Rice and another officer answered the call which proved to be a fake and it was while they were away the downtown work was pulled off. Officers Owen Gately and Paddy Dolan were on duty on Chestnut street and the alleys on each side and found everything quiet as they went through just before the fires began to break out. Chief Rice was astounded and non-plused and at once got the machinery to work which would render him the assistance of the state fire marshal, railroad detectives and the police departments of all range towns.

Arrest Many Suspects.

During Sunday and Sunday night every unknown man who was not able to give a satisfactory account of his employment was arrested as a suspect and the Virginia jail holds several who are suspected of knowing more than they have yet told. There is a well accepted theory that the firebugs had schemed to execute something of greater magnitude than which was pulled off and the city is being patroled at night by a large number of special officers. There are various speculations as to what was the intention of the fiendish work which might have sacrificed many lives but these are speculation only. All sorts of stories are rife, some of which are most sensational. The talk is that the arson trust which was in the limelight two years ago in the Bemidji region is operating again. The sheriffs and officers on the range and citizens are co-operating with the police in an effort to find some clew which will result in the apprehension of the perpetrators of the crimes successfully attempted here.

CHISHOLM'S JULY PAYROLL IS LARGE

Nearly $30,000 Will Be Disbursed By Village Next Wednesday.

Chisholm, Minn., Aug. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—July pay day for the village will be the largest in its history. The city clerk reports that the pay roll will run close to $30,000. The money will be paid out on Wednesday by village warrants which are cashed at par at the local banks. The work falling under the direction of the council amounts in wages to over $24,000 and the balance of the amount is paid through the water and light board. It is estimated that these figures will be discounted this month as a larger force will be employed on paving work which is day labor and being done by the village and in addition the water and light board will begin the laying of 8,000 feet of eight and ten-inch water mains which have to be laid to a depth of nine feet to get below the frost line and which requires an expenditure of considerable money in wages for excavation alone. The men widening the Long Year lake bridge have been laid off as the work is completed. Five hundred and seventy names are upon the pay roll of the village for the month of July.

THE 4 SAVED SAVED CASE

Dr. B. N. Alsworth, physician, Purvis, Miss., gives interesting details of the cyclone that devasted that section. We quote: "I suppose you saw in the papers that we had a cyclone. It swept our little town about off the earth. Thank Providence my family and self came out alive, but my drug store was swept to the winds. We are picking up slowly. I found four bottles Fulton's Renal Compound unbroken and gave them to a lady whom the other physicians had given up (Bright's Disease). She came to me as soon as she heard that I had returned to practice. I put her on the Renal Compound and she is now nearly well. But I need more. Send me two dozen. In haste,
"B. N. ALSWORTH, M. D."

The Doctor has since made favorable reports in several other cases of Bright's Disease in which he prescribed the Renal Compound.

If you have Bright's Disease you owe it to yourself and family to try Fulton's Renal Compound before giving up. It can be had at druggists supplied by Leithhead Drug company.

Ask for pamphlet on our investigation into the curability of Bright's Disease, or write John J. Fulton Co., San Francisco.

SECTION 30 MINER CAUGHT BY CAVEIN

Embedded Under Earth and Ore, Yet No Bones Are Broken.

Ely, Minn., Aug. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Evan Dascealoff, a miner employed at Section 30 mine, was brought to the Shipman hospital about 1 this morning, having sustained an injury in a cave-in at the mine last night.

In some manner the roof of the drift in which he was working became loosened, falling upon him, and for several hours he was imprisoned by the ore body.

A peculiar feature was that no bones were broken although he sustained several bruises.

SHAFT FIRE AT PIONEER MINE

Hard to Fight But Extinguished Before Much Damage Results.

Ely, Minn., Aug. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fire broke out this morning at 6:45 in the motor box of the Pioneer A shafthouse. It is not known just how it started and the exact damage cannot be estimated until an examination has been made of the whole shafthouse.

The steel sheeting and steel lining of the building prevented a heavy fire damage, yet made it a hard fire to fight. The men employed in the mine were soon to go down, but were sent home for the day.

VIRGINIA PARK HEAD HAS QUIT

Superintendent Whittett Objects to Park Board's Alleged Methods.

Virginia, Minn., Aug. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charles E. Whittet, park superintendent, who succeeded Arthur Beischjold, resigned and left the city today. He gives as his reason for quitting that members of the board use the wrong method and go over the head of the superintendent in purchasing and directing workmen, including the laborers. Mr. Whittet says a superintendent cannot work for Virginia park board and maintain his independence and self respect.

Clerk Also Quits.

Almur S. Whiting, clerk of the board has also resigned and takes a position with the Yawkeye estate in Duluth. N. B. Arnold of Arnold and Pickering, this city, also takes up legal work for Yawkeye interests succeeding his brother John B. Arnold of Duluth who goes to New York. Mr. Arnold will reside in Virginia for some time at least.

CHISHOLM CROWD MUCH DISAPPOINTED

Accident to Hydroplane Puts Damper on Big Elks Affair.

Chisholm, Minn., Aug. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—There was keen disappointment here over the outcome of the second hydroplane flight Saturday when the machine fell into the lake and sank thus preventing carrying out Sunday's program arranged for the two days by the Elks. The first flight at 2:30 was a success.

An effort was made to reach another machine but the aviator here stated that it was out of the question to get a machine here in time and the idea was abandoned.

The baseball game Sunday afternoon between Hibbing and Chisholm resulted in a victory for Hibbing by 6 to 5 and while Chisholm at times hoped to win there was little chance. The batteries for Hibbing were Tidesco and Carroll and for Chisholm, Chase and Kriz.

EACH TAKES GAME.

Virginia Mohamis and Chisholm Divide Sunday Honors.

Chisholm, Minn., Aug. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Chisholm got an even break with the Mohami team of Virginia in the double header here Sunday afternoon. Johnnie Mahan, a high school boy of Chisholm, pitched the last seven innings of the first game relieving Lee, a new man at the end of the second inning. Mahan held them down to two runs after the game had been lost. Virginia scored five runs in the second and it was with this handicap that Mahan stepped into the box. This is his first game in the Trolley league and gives him a fine start for a young pitcher. The score by innings was as follows:

First game:
Virginia .....1 5 0 0 0 2 0 0 x—8
Chisholm .....0 2 1 0 0 0 0 0 1—5
Batteries—Schroeder and Reed; Lee, Mahan and Kriz.

Second game:
Virginia .....1 0 0 2 1 0 0 0 0—4
Chisholm .....1 0 2 0 0 0 0 0 4—7
Batteries—Schroeder and Reed; Chase and Kriz.

PARALYTIC KILLS SELF.

Caretaker at Grand Rapids Hospital Hangs Himself With Cord.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Aug. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Gus Beecher, about 50 years old, committed suicide Saturday night in the toilet room in the basement of St. Benedict's hospital, by hanging himself to the water pipes, with a strong cord.

Beecher, who has been caretaker at the hospital for the past twelve years, was partially paralyzed, and had been worried over his condition for some time. He had made Grand Rapids his home for more than twenty years. In the winter he was employed as a four-horse teamster and later as cookee for a number of the big camps in his section. Twelve years ago when he was unable longer to work he went to St. Benedict's.

WOODLANDS WIN.

Defeat Grand Rapids Team Sunday By 3 to 2 Score.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Aug. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Woodland baseball team of Duluth defeated the local team on the diamond across the river, Sunday afternoon, 3 to 2. The batteries for the Rapids were Bentz and Hichi, and for Duluth Schaeffer and Summers.

The first score was made in the second inning when Duluth scored twice. Neither side scored again until the last half of the fourth when Lee of the locals brought in one, and in the last half of the sixth Farrell of the local team scored again, making a tie which held until the first half of the ninth, when Betz of the local team made a two-bagger, which he tried to make a triple, and was put out on third, giving the Duluth team the game by one point. Bolthaus and Wetherell both of the Rapids, umpired.

Wedded at Grand Rapids.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Aug. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—William F. Richardson and Miss Lillian McLelland, both of St. Louis county, were married Saturday by Judge of Probate Clarence B. Webster, at his office in the courthouse.

To Fill Calumet P. O.

Calumet, Minn., Aug. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The United States civil service will hold another fourth-class postmasters' examination at Grand Rapids, Aug. 23, to fill the office at Calumet and other fourth-class offices. The compensation of the postmaster at this office for the year of 1912 was $440. This examination is open to any citizen of the United States.

Biwabik to Buy Scales.

Biwabik, Minn., Aug. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The village council has decided to buy public scales. C. H. Schuster, a young attorney, who came here recently from Rochester, Minn., has been appointed village attorney.

Every member of the village council has expressed himself in favor of having a municipally owned water plant as soon as it is evident that the Biwabik Mining company cannot furnish water under the existing contract. This means going a considerable distance for water.

LIBRARY FOR JEWISH PEOPLE

Workingmen's Circle Has $300 in Its Treasury.

The working men's circle of Duluth has undertaken to establish a Jewish library.

This is to have a double object; first to offer to the one who is interested in Jewish reading enough, and the best of Jewish literature; secondly to afford a place, of a purely Jewish character, where the Jewish individual could come, both for recreation and intellectual development. To fulfill this frequent entertainments will be given, lectures arranged, and the best books purchased.

The question of providing a place where the Jewish people of Duluth, either young or old, could come together and feel like home had been frequently discussed but with no apparent affect. This plan, however, seems to be favored by most of the prominent Jewish people and since the first request almost $300 has been sent in and success is therefore assured.

But further support is needed and the committee has issued an appeal to every person who would sympathize with this cause to donate to the undertaking.

Once the committee has sufficient funds the money will be spent for literature only, and everything will be arranged so no more expense will be required, and no further contributions will have to be solicited for this purpose.

L. Dorfman, 325 Fifth avenue west, has charge of the funds.

HANKY PANKYITES ON HERALD TRIP

Musical Comedy Stars Enjoy Excursion Up the River.

Several members of Lew Field's all-star "Hanky Panky" company, which will open a two days' engagement at the Lyceum theater this evening, were among the pleasure seekers who enjoyed The Herald excursion trip up the St. Louis river today. The up-river trip started at 9 o'clock on the steamer Columbia, which returned this afternoon.

Christine Nelson, prima donna; Clay Smith, leading juvenile; Max Rogers, comedian; Myrtle Gilbert and Flo May, ingenues, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cooper and son and Mrs. and Mrs. William Montgomery were the stars of "Hanky Panky" who enjoyed the trip.

Four of the chorus girls were also aboard. They were Margaret Hoban, Bessie Hoban, Lillian Harris and Ruth Harris.

Minot Dog Owners Settle.

Minot, N. D., Aug. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Four Minot dog owners have been arrested under the new police plan and fined and also have paid the dog tax.

G. J. Barton refused, at first, to pay either the tax or fine, and gave notice of appeal. Placed under a $200 bond, Barton remained in jail an hour when he decided to pay up. Gus Sibbard, Ole Lee and William Fahnlander are other dog owners against whom the new plan has been made operative with desired results.

MUST NOT REFUSE BUTTER AND EGGS

Boat Lines Ordered to Accept Them—No Refrigerators Yet.

The tariffs of the boat lines putting butter, eggs and dressed poultry on the prohibited list have been further suspended to Feb. 4 by the interstate commerce commission. Notice to that effect has been received by G. Roy Hall, traffic commissioner of the Duluth Commercial club.

In the meantime the formal complaint of the Bridgeman & Russell company filed with the interstate commerce commission, requesting the commission to require the boat lines to install refrigerating facilities for the transportation of those products will probably be heard.

Shipments of butter, eggs and poultry must be accepted by the lake lines if they are presented, but no shippers will present any until refrigerator service is given. If the boat lines are denied the privilege of putting the commodities on the list of prohibited shipments, the commission will probably require that refrigerator facilities be installed on the boats. It is predicted in that event that Duluth will become one of the greatest shipping places for butter, eggs and poultry in the country.

ANNUAL PICNIC OF ODD FELLOWS

The annual picnic of the Odd Fellows of the Head of the Lakes will take place next Thursday at Cloquet and an elaborate program has been prepared. It is expected that fully 5,000 people will attend. This picnic, which is given annually somewhere in this vicinity, takes place under the auspices of the I. O. O. F. Picnic association and is always one of the largest picnics occurring in the state.

The lodges that will take part are those from Duluth, Superior, Two Harbors, Cloquet, Carlton, Moose Lake and Barnum. A special train will leave here at 9 o'clock on Thursday morning, connecting at Superior, to carry the crowd to the picnic grounds.

A large list of prizes has been offered for the various games that will take place; and everybody is invited to attend regardless of their lodge affiliations.

Woman Killed, Three People Hurt When Locomotive Hits Auto.

Tracy, Minn., Aug. 4.—One woman was killed, another woman was fatally injured and three other persons were seriously hurt when a switch engine on the Northwestern railroad struck an automobile here last night.

Mrs. Thomas Conners of Seaforth, Minn., was thrown under the engine and instantly killed. Her body was cut in two. Mrs. Wallace Comstock of Minneapolis may not live through the day and her son, Charles, aged 16, is unconscious and may die. Mr. Conners was injured about the head.

The daughter of the Conners was caught on the fender of the engine, which was traveling forty miles an hour, and after a short distance was dragged beneath the engine. She grasped hold of the ashpan and escaped further injury until the engine was stopped. She may recover.

The automobile was dragged a block and demolished.

FIRST PRAIRIE FIRE RAGES NEAR LIETH, N. D.

Lieth, N. D., Aug. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—A prairie fire, the first of the season, and supposed to have originated through spontaneous combustion, swept over a wide area near here and 100 men fought for four hours before they got it under control. It burned over hay lands recently cut and destroyed hundreds of tons of fine hay that had been put up for the winter by the farmers of this vicinity.

Auto in Badger Hole.

Neche, N. D., Aug. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—While driving at a high rate of speed, Paul Norman's automobile struck a badger hole in the road and turned sharply at right angles. His shoulder and arm were broken and badly the bones protruded through the skin. He also received some serious internal injuries.

MICHIGAN EDUCATOR ARRESTED AS GUNMAN

Prof. Pattengill Is Regarded as Suspicious Character By Officer.

Bayview, Mich., Aug. 4.—Prof. H. R. Pattengill, former state superintendent of education, mistaken for one of four gunmen who have been terrifying Ramona park residents for ten days, was arrested by Marshal Ransom. Neighbors disclosed the educator's identity and he was released. Marshal Ransom declared Prof. Pattengill looked "suspicious" because of his faded, baggy clothes.

Prof. Pattengill has a habit of arising early, "hoo-hooing" each morning to exercise his lungs and then rowing on the bay. Marshal Ransom heard shouts, and when the educator landed at a bushy point, placed him under arrest.

NATIONAL GUARD IS SENT TO HOPFIELDS

Four Men Killed in Sunday Riots in California.

Sacramento, Cal., Aug. 4.—Five companies of the California National Guard today are policing the hopfields of Wheatland and Yuba counties, where four men met death and eight were badly wounded yesterday in a clash between striking hop pickers and a sheriff's posse.

The strikers, led by Industrial Workers of the World organizers, still are in an ugly mood, but Adjt.-Gen. E. A. Forbes expressed the belief that if he could prevent a meeting of the strikers and some of the bands of armed citizens who last night were intent upon vengeance, there was not likely to be further demonstration.

The news of the death of District Attorney E. T. Manwell and Deputy Sheriff E. Reardon and the wounding of Sheriff George Voss and others of his posse spread rapidly through the farming country last night, and volunteer posses hurried from every community to take a hand.

Accuses Husband.

Towner, N. D., Aug. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charged with being a "dangerous citizen," Herman Crowel of Medicine Hat, Alta., was arrested at Drake yesterday, and he is now being held here. His wife makes the charge, basing her complaint in the alleged attempt of her husband to kidnap their daughter, and also on alleged threats made against her.

Crowel is a civil engineer and formerly resided at Milbank, S. D.

The couple parted recently.

Ray, N. D., Grain Palace.

Ray, N. D., Aug. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Ray's second Corn Palace festival will be held Thursday and Friday, under the direction of the Commercial club.

President A. G. Crane of the Minot normal school; Prof. Schollander of the North Dakota Better Farming association; E. W. Hall of the same association, and several others, will speak.

ELECTRO-MEDICINE

NATURE'S GREATEST CURE

Strong Medicine Paralyzes Nerves and Locks Up Secretions.

Electro-Medicine Removes Waste and Purifies the Blood.

These facts should appeal to every reasonable mind, for they can stand the test of investigation and thereby bring out the old truth that the proof of the pudding is in the eating.

Take the case of blood poison. Here we have an extreme degree of nerve tension, causing the death of blood cells in the affected parts. These dead cells produce toxin, which irritates the nerves further up and they close down as the others did. How natural it looks to administer morphine for the pain and cause the nerves to close down still harder. This is what all strong drugs do, they deaden the nerves so that they cannot convey the impulse of pain, thus leaving the patient under the delusion that he is getting better, only to find with the wearing off of the drug that he is steadily getting worse. Now compare this method of treatment with the effects which Electro-Medicine has on such a condition, instead of tension it produces instant relaxation of all nerves, opens the pores of the skin to let the poison out, the circulation becomes even, the pulse normal and speedy cure is the result.

In Rheumatism we have exactly the same condition—uric acid forms in the blood in the form of crystals of various shapes, large and small. They are conveyed with the blood stream from the large arteries to the capillaries, where the blood is collected by the veins to begin the return circulation to the heart. In the capillaries these crystals become enlarged, they are too large to get through and hence they cut these tiny vessels, set up inflammation, swelling and intense pains. The nerves shut down in heavy tension. Any sufferer from rheumatism will understand this. Now administer a strong drug and see what happens, exactly what happened in the case of blood poison, the nerves close down still harder, and pain gets worse, but relieve the tension and open the pores of the skin and soon all pain will be over. You cannot overcome pain with pain no more than you can overcome anger with hatred. It is the soft answer that overcomes hatred, so it is nature's way to overcome painful diseases with methods as soft as soothing syrup. Electro-Medicine consists of a dissolving process, by which the uric acid crystals are dissolved in the capillaries, immediately swelling, fever, pain, all tension vanish, and comfort and speedy cure are the result. The Electro-Medical Doctors have demonstrated in a great number of cases that they actually do cure Rheumatism and Swollen Joints. In diseases like Gallstones or Appendicitis, in the former the stones form from poison secretions and produce pain and pressure in the duct, causing nerve tension. Electro-Medical methods will dissolve these stones in a soothing manner, and you escape a dreaded operation, with the risk of your life. In Appendicitis, it is again the poison in the blood. Have it dissolved out and you escape the loss of your appendix and the after-effect of an operation is that 89 per cent of the patients are constipated all the rest of their lives.

For any chronic diseases, see the Electro-Medical Doctors at 18 West Superior street, Duluth. Consultation is free. Their offices are open to men and women from 9 a. m. to 8 p. m.

ADVANCES AND SAGS

Wheat Tries Both Bulging and Declining During Session.

Corn's Actions Influence Wheat---Also Profit Taking.

Duluth Board of Trade, Aug. 4.—After its bulge of this morning, wheat closed at a decline from Saturday's price as follows: September, ½c off; December, ½@⅝c off. September durum closed unchanged.

Oats fell off ½c and corn closed at an advance of ⅛c.

September puts, 87⅛c bid; calls, 87⅞c bid.

The wheat market was a rather peculiar acting one this morning. It has been pretty strongly influenced for several days by the action of the corn market which has been struggling to reach the heights. Wheat has been following; and today when the corn market opened stronger at an advance, resuming its Alpine work, it was not surprising when wheat started up also. In the first hour of trading both September and December options of spring wheat had advanced a full cent and seemed certain to go up still further. However the unexpected happened and soon a decline set in. In the middle of the last hour, September had sagged back to Saturday's closing price and December was steady at Saturday's figure to ⅛@¼c under. September durum is up ⅝c.

The decline is inexplicable in view of the action of corn and of the further fact that the most damaging reports in connection with the Northwestern crop of wheat are being received today that have come in in several weeks. The only reason that seems assignable is that holders of wheat are taking their profits on the belief that the rise will not hold.

Advance in Flax.

A fair demand and a lack of offerings put the flax market up to some extent today, although the advance was not very radical. The gains: September, ⅝c; October, ½c; November, ⅝c; and December, 1c.

Lecount wires from Winnipeg today: "From Emerson here, wheat looking generally good, crop is about average. Crop needs two more weeks favorable weather to mature. Weather cool; light showers."

John Inglis wires:

"Belleville to Plattsmouth, Southeastern Nebraska, with exception of some of the bottoms, all corn suffering and losing ground. While more color than west, a few more dry, hot days and it will go the same way. Considerable acreage just tasseling, for which some hopes are entertained. Is fast losing ground, as the tasseling period is just the time rain is most needed."

B. W. Snow wires:

"Saturday and Sunday motored nearly 200 miles through Central ond Eastern Central Illinois. Corn is showing rapid deterioration through the whole district. From Chicago to Bloomington and Champaign positive damage up to this is light, but the crop is now over the damage line and going back. Soaking rains at once would still insure a moderate rate of yield. But every day without much rain materially lowers the possibility. From Champaign and Bloomington south the damage is severe and irreparable."

Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 4.—Wheat continued to follow corn fluctuations. Early market was strong but later there was a decline which more than offset early firmness. CHICAGO MARKET.

Corn Jumps to 70 Cents on First Trade and Keeps Rising.

Chicago, Aug. 4.—Whether corn would go above 70c a bu was settled today in a minute. The market shot up to that level on the very first trade and soon was far beyond. Drouth alrteady the most severe in twenty years promised to continue all the present week, according to the government forecast. As a result the volume of buying this morning took on huge proportions. The opening was ⅜@1⅛c higher than Saturday night's close. September which started at 70@70½c, a gain of ⅜@1c, rose to 71¼c in almost a vertical line.

The upturn continued still further, but then prices fell off in consequence of heavy sales to realize profits and as a result of showers at several Iowa points. The close was nervous with September at 69⅝@69¾c the same as Saturday night, to ¼c higher.

Other grain bulged promptly with corn. Wheat was also affected bullishly by unfavorable harvest reports from Southeastern Europe and by diminishing receipts in the American Northwest.

September opened a shade to ⅛@¼c higher at 88⅛@88¼c and climbed to 89c.

After further gain wheat reacted with corn and because of an immense drop in the visible supply. The close was weak with September ½@⅝c net lower at 87½c.

Oats developed independent strength on account of assertions that threshing returns showed light weights and small yields to an unexpected extent. September started ⅜@1⅛c up at 43@43⅜c and steadied around 43⅜c.

Provisions showed much irregularity. Corn scarcity tended to make distant options firm, but led to semi-panicky weakness in nearby sales on the market as a whole varied from 37½c off to 17½c advance with September as follows: Pork, $20.52½@20.60; lard, $11.45@11.47½; ribs, $11.37½@11.42½.

Cash: Wheat—No. 2 red, 87¾@89c; No. 3 red new, 87@89c; No. 2 hard, new, 87¾@91c; No. 3 hard, 87@90c; No. 1 northern, 92½@94¼c; No. 2 northern, 91@92c; No. 3 northern, 89@91c; No. 2 spring, 91@92c; No. 3 spring, 89@91c; No. 4 spring, 82@88c; velvet chaff, 87@91c; durum, 84@90c.

ADVANCES IN STOCKS

Considerable Activity in the Final Hour of the Market.

Best Prices of Session Recorded and the Close Is Strong.

New York, Aug. 4.—Crop conditions, especially those affecting corn, exerted more influence over today's dull market than any factor in the stock market itself. Little relief from drouth was reported from the corn belts, and options again rose excitedly. Analysis of later conditions respecting corn, however, indicates that most of the damage has been in states which show a substantial carry-over from last year.

Dealings in stocks were exceedingly light and enlisted no outside interest. Leading issues were practically unchanged while Cotton Oil, Southern railway preferred and Bethlehem Steel preferred were up 1 to 1½. New low records were made by United States Express and Loose-Wileys first preferred, the latter losing 6 points.

Bonds were steady.

Initial dealings in stocks in the market today pointed to a continuance of record-breaking dullness. Changes in all instances were fractional, most of the activo issues showing a drooping tendency. Eries, Baltimore & Ohio, Reading and Norfolk & Western were firm. Union Pacific, Steel and Amalgamated Copper eased off.

Trading was at an absolute standstill during the greater part of the first hour. The only noteworthy changes in that period were in the fertilizer issues, Virginia-Carolina Chemical and American Cotton Oil gaining ¾ and a full point, respectively.

Dealings in stocks to noon were barely more than 50,000 shares, while bond sales, same period, scarcely aggregated $300,000. A better tone for the general list was manifested in the early afternoon, except for American Express, which fell 12¾ points to its lowest prices in five years.

Further improvement was shown by the list in the later dealings, when many prominent issues averaged a point or thereabouts above the lowest prices of the morning. Demand was so limited, however, as to leave little doubt of its professional origin.

The market closed strong. The final hour brought a considerable degree of activity and best prices of the day. Virtually all the important stocks were up from 1 to 1½ points while Erie first preferred showed a gain of 2 points.

MARKET DULL AND STOCKS STRONGER

The entire stock market today is said to be at low ebb everywhere so far as dealing is concerned. There is a slight rally in prices and this fact, together with the dullness, is causing the experts to wonder what will happen next. They all refuse to predict anything and cannot figure out the status of the stocks. In copper, Amalgamated, Butte & Superior, Chino and the other leaders, show an advance over Saturday's close, but there are so few quotations that it is hard to say where the advance came in.

FUR FARMING IN CANADA.

Montreal Gazette: Fur farming, an industry that has recently attracted much attention in some parts of Canada, is the subject of a book, compiled by J. Walter Jones, B. S. A., which the dominion commission of conservation has printed and issued.

Conditions such as cleared the bison from the great North American plains have been operating to reduce the supply of every kind of wild furred creature, whether of the land or water; and this at a time when the calls of fashion and the growing wealth of the people caused the demand for the finer varieties of skins to greatly increase. A table of prices paid at the Hudson's Bay company sales in London shows that between 1882 and 1910 muskrat pelts advanced from 16 to 87 cents, mink from 73 cents to $6.34, dark red fox from $3.11 to $16.55, and large lynx from $4.87 to $39.85. Such rare skins as black fox and sea otter are not quoted, their value being fixed beyond ordinary commercial ratings, the former having sold, it is stated, as high as $2,600 and the latter at times bringing $1,800 and $1,700.

The demands of the market and the skill of men who prepare and dye skins led to practices that may hardly be held to be in accord with strict honesty. Some 80,000,000 rabbit skins are imported every year into London. They figure later in workshops and store windows as sable, electric, Red River, Hudson and other "seals," as ermine, chinchilla, etc. Other skins are manipulated into sables, bears, mink, fox, etc. The London chamber of commerce even issued a list of substitutions which are designated as "permissible." (This list was published in Daily Consular and Trade Reports for March 17, 1911.)

Raising animals for fur is not so new as might be thought. The karakule sheep, which some have lately spoken of introducing into Quebec, is the source of supply of Persian lamb and broadtail. It was the domestic sheep of its Asiatic habitat, but now has a greater value. Experiments have been made in both Europe and America to adapt it to new surroundings, and crossings with Lincoln and Cotswold lustrous wooled sheep are spoken of as promising.

The special purpose of the book is to deal with Canadian wild animals, which may be bred for their fur. Experiments on this line have been fairly numerous; some have been successful. Foxes of varied species, skunk, mink, raccoon, fisher, beaver and muskrat have been found on fur farms. Marten and otter, it is also said, are being domesticated. In one instance the wild cat was tamed in captivity. The domestic black cat, which has a really fine fur, is being bred on some Ontario farms.

The great interest, however, has centered in fox farming. The Paquets of Quebec, the Revillons, and Holt, Renfrew & Co., are numbered as experimenting in raising fur-bearing animals in that province. M. Menier has introduced silver foxes on Anticosti. Other attempts were made in Ontario and Nova Scotia. The most notable success has been achieved in Prince Edward Island; Charles Dalton of Tignish and Robert T. Oulton of Alberton were pioneers, their experiments being carried on for many years. Others took up the business. Prices of silver foxes for breeding, it is declared, have gone up from $3,000 a pair to $15,000, and if the best could be bought, even more might be given. (A review of the progress of fox farming on Prince Edward Island appeared in Daily Consular and Trade Reports for Jan. 13, 1913.)

The statements in Mr. Jones' book indicate that the successful breeding of foxes in captivity requires even more care and enthusiastic attention than the breeding of ordinary fine farm animals, and not every man with the price of a silver or other fox and money to make a wire corral may expect to draw a fortune out of his venture. Enough is set out, however, to give promise that fur farming may be made a paying business; and if this is the case with foxes, it may be expected also to be the case with other furbearers, some of which are less delicate than the fox.

PEDESTRIAN TO RULE AUTO

Regulations Proposed That Will Give Walker Show on Superior Street.

Wider Sidewalks and Stricter Rules of the Road Provided.

The rights of pedestrians over the assumed privileges of autoists and others on Superior street bid fair to be recognized in a most emphatic manner within a few weeks.

The first is that the sidewalks along each side of the street will be widened three feet from Eighth avenue west to Third avenue east.

The second is that an ordinance will be passed and enforced compelling drivers of autos and other vehicles to stop dead still when reaching a street car that is either receiving or letting off passengers.

The third is that an ordinance will be passed and enforced compelling trucks and all vehicles whose presence on Superior street is not necessary to take some other thoroughfares less frequented by pedestrians for their purposes.

These three improvements, long needed and longer hoped for, in Duluth are about to come to pass, and the work of obtaining them is well under way now. In fact, it is understood, these matters have been so far advanced that their adoption and enforcement is likely to occur at any time.

As to the first mentioned improvement—that of widening the sidewalks on Superior street—the retail merchants on the street are demanding it almost unanimously, and the property owners have taken the matter up and have agreed to it. The matter will be urged with the city commissioners at once. It is pointed out that with the growth of population in the city every busy day is an illustration in itself that there is not enough sidewalk room. As to drivers of vehicles on Superior street, objection having been raised because of them, it is pointed out that they are of less importance to the merchants than the pedestrians, and the drivers can take First street or Superior street.

This is pointed out as true in connection with the other two proposed improvements; and it is claimed that in the matter of having driver stop when approaching street cars, there will be the strictest enforcement and the severest punishment meted out for failure to observe the law. Many accidents under such circumstances are narrowly averted daily, it is claimed and it hoped to get such an ordinance in force before any damage does come of it.

GOPHER BREWERS ATTACK WEBB LAW

Ask Injunction Against Order Issued By the Rock Island.

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Attorneys representing the Minnesota Brewers' association today began their legal fight to test the Webb-Kenyon law prohibiting interstate shipments of liquor into "dry" territory, when application was made to the Federal district court for a temporary restraining order preventing the Rock Island road from putting into effect its order, effective Aug. 6, refusing to accept liquor shipments for home use. A hearing will be held before Judge C. A. Willard Wednesday.

WILSON'S RESIGNATION AS AMBASSADOR TO MEXICO ACCEPTED

ice in Chile, Belgium and Greece. He formerly had been engaged in law and banking in Spokane, Wash.

After leaving the state department Mr. Wilson dictated a statement in which he said he believed the action of the president and secretary of state had been dictated by the highest motives.

No Armed Intervention.

Armed intervention in Mexico is neither a probability nor a possibility, for a peaceful solution of the situation is becoming more practicable.

This is the view President Wilson took today.

He let it be known, too, that today he would make a brief announcement of the first step in the policy of the United States toward Mexico. While no inkling of what it would be came from the White House, it was expected that the president formally would announce his decision not to recognize the Huerta government.

Treat Factions Equally.

It was also suggested that the president's announcement late today might formally express a determination, reached a fortnight ago, to treat the Constitutionalists and the unrecognized Huerta administration on an equality with respect to the exportation of arms from this country.

Ambassador Wilson today gave out a copy of a letter he received from Former President Taft on June 29, 1913, approving of his course in Mexico. The letter follows:

"My dear Mr. Wilson: You were ambassador of the United States to Mexico during the most trying times that the people of Mexico have passed through, and during a period when the relations between us and Mexico were constantly being subjected to a serious strain. I have great pleasure in expressing my high approval of your zealous and courageous efforts in the protection of American interests, and, indeed, the interests of foreign governments generally during the critical period of Mexican disorders. No one can understand the difficulties of your position and the exceptional excellency of the work you did, who is not familiar with the constantly changing circumstances of the situation and the variety of the exigencies which you had to meet.

"You have my full permission to publish this letter.

"Sincerely yours,
"WILLIAM HOWARD TAFT."

STRIKERS ARE STILL OUT

Great Northern Employes Now Demand Raise in Pay.

Will Try to Induce Men on Other Docks to Quit.

Allouez ore dock laborers, who went on strike following the recent accident on the docks, in which two men were killed, are still out and among other demands they now are standing out for increased pay.

This morning they voted to make an effort to induce every dock worker on the Duluth-Superior water front to walk out and tie up shipping from the two ports completely until their demands for safer working conditions, increased pay and recognition of their union were granted. F. H. Little, an organizer of the I. W. W. is directing the strike.

The funerals of Nick Libest and John Koski, victims of the accident, were held this morning. None of their fellow workers were present to mourn them.

Dock officials met the strikers half way last night. C. O. Jenks, general superintendent, and J. C. Morrell, dock superintendent, held a conference with the men and promised that the safety of the dock workers would be insured, and that some improvements would be made at once. Lights will be placed on all ore cars on which men are working at night and open pockets will be brought to a speedy end as the men dropped some of the other demands, but today they had changed front and were unwilling to accept anything less than their full demands.

Twelve special deputies are watching the company property. All stairways are watched and persons are challenged before being allowed to pass.

The strike has interfered considerably with lake traffic. More than twenty ore carriers are tied up at the docks waiting to be loaded and they are crowded in so there is hardly room for more.

The clearances from the harbor have dropped within the last three days below normal and the falling off is laid to the trouble at the docks. The railroads and mines also are suffering from the inactivity at Allouez. More than 2,000,000 tons of ore were loaded at the docks last month and this delay of days is costing the vessel owners a large sum. The schedules of the boats are seriously affected and it will cause trouble at the lower lake ports when the rush begins after the lull.

GRAIN RATES WILL ADVANCE

Elevators Must Be Cleared Before New Crop Is Moved.

Vessel agents are looking for an advance in the grain rates the latter part of September.

Considerable interest is centering in the grain movement at present. Several vessels are loading at Chicago for Buffalo. The present rate from Chicago to Buffalo is 1¼ cents, while the rate from Duluth to Buffalo is ¾ cents higher.

Duluth shippers are offering 2 cents for October delivery but the vessel agents believe the figure will go to 3 cents and are not closing contracts. H. H. Dinham of the Duluth Shipping company said he believed the rates would go above 2 cents but that the shippers were not offering this now for October delivery.

There is a large amount of wheat stored in the elevators here and it must be shipped out before the new crop can come in.

"The grain movement from Duluth and Fort William this fall probably will equal that of last fall," said one vessel agent today. "The rate by that time will depend entirely upon the movement of ore. With a strong ore market October freights should go to 2½ cents.

CANADIAN CITIES LEAD LOCAL PORT.

For the first time in its history the Canadian head of the lakes, Fort William and Port Arthur, will have a greater grain storage capacity than the Duluth-Superior harbor, according to J. W. Wolvin, a vesselman of Port Arthur. Mr. Wolvin, a former Duluthian, says the elevators in the Canadian ports now have a capacity of 35,000,000 bushels. With Mr. Wolvin are W. W. McGillivary, manager of the Bank of Hamilton, Hamilton, Can., and C. Birkett, secretary of the grain commission of Canada.

EPILEPTIC DROWNS AT HAYWARD, WIS.

Boy Seized With Fatal Fit While Rolling Log in Water.

Hayward, Wis., Aug. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—While rolling a log near the Hines lumber mill here Sunday morning, as he swam with other boys, Arthur Ruello, known as "Nose" Ruello, aged 17 or 18, formerly a bootblack, was seized with an epileptic fit with which he was afflicted, and fell into twenty-four feet of water, drowning. Many efforts were made to recover the body but all proved futile until John Morrissey, a river driver around here for a number of years, found the body by tying two fishpoles together and fastening a spoonhook onto the end. Dynamite was to have been resorted to, but Morrissey's plan worked out successfully, after two hours had been spent in the search. Considerable sympathy has always been felt for young Ruello on account of his affliction and the apparent neglect of his parents as to his welfare. He leaves a mother, father, two sisters and a brother.

BOY WITH BONE IN BRAIN WILL RECOVER

Milwaukee Child Falls Three Stories Onto Cement Paving.

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 4.—Although Edward Needham, 3 years old, fell out of a window today and plunged three stories head foremost onto the pavement, he still is alive. His skull was fractured, an arm broken and a splinter of bone entered his brain, but hospital physicians say he will recover.

BRADY'S ESTATE OVER $70,000,000.

New York, Aug. 4.—The will of Anthony N. Brady, the traction magnate, as made public here today, leaves to his five children and a grandchild the bulk of his estate, estimated at $70,000,000. The widow receives $1,000,000 outright and an annuity of $60,000. One hundred thousand dollars goes to charity.

MEN'S BATHING SUITS WORSE THAN WOMEN'S

Wisconsin University Man Tells His Version of of Costumes.

Madison, Wis., Aug. 4.—H. D. McChesney, swimming instructor at the University of Wisconsin, in charge of the Brillingham park bathing beach during the summer, thinks men should be censured in the matter of bathing garb more than women.

"I think men should be compelled to wear bathing suits with a short skirt," he said. "With all the people who swim here we have very little trouble regarding proper dress. What trouble we have is with the men rather than with the women.

"One thing is certain, however, and that is that women should not dress up like an Arctic explorer to get in swimming. Every time I see a woman come in the water attired from head to foot with a cap, a blouse, skirt, stockings and bathing slippers, I say, 'There's a woman that wants to paddle around in the water rather than swim.'"

Two Marquette Boys Drown.

Marquette, Mich., Aug. 4.—John Gray, 6 years, and Roy Lobis, 8 years, were drowned in Lake Superior Sunday afternoon while attempting to swim. They got out beyond their depth, and although they screamed for assistance, it did not arrive in time. The bodies were recovered.

RESERVE OF 200,000 MEN

Plan to Make Spanish War Veterans an Auxiliary Army.

Local Officer Thinks Members Will Soon Be Too Old.

What appeals to Past State Commander Joseph Gibson of the United Spanish-American War Veterans as a stupendous "pipe" story, appeared in a Chicago paper yesterday and is likely to have the members of the organization the country over all agog when it obtains circulation.

The national encampment of the organization will be held in Buffalo, N. Y., on Sept. 3, and it is claimed that plans, said to be the result of work on the part of the leaders of the organization, to give the Federal government a powerful military reserve of 200,000 minute men scattered throughout the United States and the possessions, will be presented to the encampment for indorsement and adoption.

Dr. Charles L. Daniels of Chicago, senior vice commander of the department of Illinois, is credited with saying that with established connection between the organization and the war department, which it is desired to bring about, the organization could, in case of war, furnish 75,000 trained men in the field for the officering of volunteer companies within twelve hours. Past Commander Gibson does not put much faith in the idea. He says it has not been promulgated in the organization, for this is the first he has heard of it, and he also declares that in a very short time the members of the Spanish war veterans will be too old for active service.

The United Spanish War Veterans have been organized since the close of the war with Spain, but of recent years it has grown most active, chiefly in behalf of unfortunate veterans and of legislation for the benefit of their wives and children when they shall have died.

It has been taking a larger and larger part in the military pageantry of the nation and recently erected a monument in the East to the men who went down on the battleship Maine in Havana harbor. It is the particular ambition of the leaders to carry on the work of the Grand Army of the Republic when the last member of that league of Civil war veterans has passed away.

Number of Veterans.

The number of members of the United Spanish War Veterans in the states, territories, possessions, and zones of influence of the United States, and the number of veterans of the Spanish war not yet enrolled is given as follows:

The list does not include several thousand members of the army of the Philippines and of the army of Santiago. These organizations are not as extensive as the Spanish War Veterans. The army of the Philippines includes only those who took part in suppressing the island insurrection, while the Santiago group is a local Chicago organization, most of the members of which were in the old First Illinois National Guard.

Keep Up to Date.

Each of these camps meets once a month and a state encampment is held once a year. Each camp has a drill team composed of the most active members. They are the connecting link between the veteran and his life as a soldier. They keep in touch independently with all changes in the army manual. They demonstrate these changes in their drills. They are supposed to keep all members of the camp up to date in army affairs.

It is claimed in the story referred to that an effort will be made to have a committee appointed at the Buffalo encampment to confer with the chiefs in the war department for the purpose of deciding on a basis for negotiations; the veterans will want some of the privileges given to soldiers in the service, and that they will expect to give in return as much of their time as they can without interfering with the different businesses they have taken up since leaving the army.

TWO LONG-TERM MEN ESCAPE FROM CELLS

Stolen Chisels Help Them Through Roof at Milwaukee.

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 4.—Picking the cement from between the bricks of the ceiling of their cell room with chisels stolen and secreted, John Milenz, aged 22, and Joseph Paulsen, aged 23, both long term prisoners in the house of correction, made their escape from the institution at midnight Sunday by climbing through the ceiling and cutting a large hole through the roof.

Milenz and Paulsen were leaders in the recent "food riot" in the house of correction, and both were severely disciplined by officials in charge during the days that followed. Both have served terms in Waupun and are well known to the police of Milwaukee and adjoining cities. Both were sentenced for burglary.

Will Plead Guilty.

Floyd J. Brown, arrested last week in Minneapolis and charged with having deserted his wife, Charlotte Brown and two children last February, will be brought before Judge Ensign in district court late this afternoon where he will plead guilty to the charge. Brown has been bound over to the grand jury and has decided to plead guilty. The county attorney's office has been requested to draw the necessary papers, so that the prisoner may plead on information and not be compelled to wait until after the grand jury convenes.

HOW TO BEAT RAILROADS

Duluth Passengers Can Get Two-Cent Rate to Minnesota Points.

Buy Ticket to Competitive Point and Then Pay Conductor.

While the Great Northern and Soo roads will soon put into effect the 2-cent rate from Duluth to other points in Minnesota, for the present 3 cents is the rate to all except competitivo points.

But there is a way to beat that system. Passengers going west of Carlton, which is a competitive point. From Carlton to their destinations they may buy tickets or pay cash fares and the rate is only 2 cents a mile, as all of the line is in Minnesota. A similar plan may be used on the Soo road.

A traveling salesman who is working the system explained it today and expressed regret that many passengers are paying 3 cents from Duluth when they might easily save money by using a little shrewdness.

His letter follows:

To the Editor of The Herald:

"It looks like highway robbery for a railroad like the Great Northern to take advantage of people's ignorance. Last Tuesday morning I was sorry to see five passengers on the Great Northern train going west get 'stung' the full 3-cent rate when there was no necessity for it, and for the benefit of some who may not know how to get the 2-cent rate on this line, I will tell them how.

"If you are going anywhere west of Carlton and east of Grand Forks, buy your ticket to Carlton only, Carlton being a competitive point they will only charge 2 cents a mile. Then pay cash fare to the conductor on the train the balance of the way and he dare not charge more than 2 cents per mile.

SOO EXTENSION IS BEING RUSHED.

Ambrose, N. D., Aug. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Activity marks the construction of the Soo railroad extension from Ambrose to Plentywood, Mont., the steel laying and surfacing gangs being in charge now. The entire line, it is expected, will be ready for operation about Sept. 1.

The sale of lots in the several towns along the extension has just been held. The towns are Colgan, Fortuna, Alkoba, Dooley, Outlook and Westby, and in each place the sale of lots was brisk, an average of nearly twenty being sold under the hammer in each place.

Many prospective business men are touring the line.

SPECIAL TRAIN FOR THEATRICAL COMPANY.

A special train of eight cars, said to be the largest and most luxurious theatrical special that ever came over the Soo line, brought the "Hanky Panky" company into Duluth yesterday.

It consisted of eight cars, three baggage cars for the scenery and the automobiles owned by the stars in the show; a day coach and observation car; a diner, two standard Pullmans for the chorus, and a ten-compartment, specially constructed car "Luzon," built for the use of the stars which the company has had in its tours of the West and through Canada. The Luzon, it is claimed, was the only car of its kind to travel through Canada from Vancouver. It consists of ten compartments, has its own ventilating and electric lighting plant, and has carried the same porter and maid for eight months.

This train is the finest theatrical special in the country at the present time. The luxury of travel is necessary because of the number of high-priced stars in the show, who demanded every convenience before they would start on the road with the show, and the Broadway show girls in the chorus, who did not need to leave New York and consented to do so only when every luxury of travel was promised them.

The train left Winnipeg, where the company played last week, at 2:30 yesterday morning and arrived here at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. The customs inspectors came aboard at Emerson at 4 o'clock in the morning and destroyed the "beauty sleep" of the chorus girls when they went through the cars examining hand baggage.

DIRECTORS WILL BE IN CLOSE TOUCH WITH ROAD

A change in the administration system of the Northern Pacific railroad is pointed out by J. I. Thomas, general agent of the road here.

"When William P. Clough succeeds Howard Elliott, he will do so as chairman of the board of directors, a new position in the Northern Pacific system," said Mr. Thomas. "The office of president will have to do only with the management of the road.

"This will mean that the board of directors will take a hand in the active management of the railroad's business and will keep in close touch with the working of the road."

Mr. Thomas and A. B. Brown, district superintendent, will go to St. Paul Saturday to attend a farewell banquet given for Howard Elliott.

NO JAPANESE COLONY WORK DONE IN MEXICO

Special Commissioner of American Government Reports.

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 4.—Reginaldo F. DelValle is at home today, after having reported to President Wilson at Washington the results of his mission as special commissioner of the American state department to Mexico.

He declared reports that foreign governments had sent ultimatums or were intending to take liberties with the Monroe doctrine were false.

Regarding reports of organized attempts to colonize Japanese in Mexico, Mr. Del Valle said:

"Virtually there is no such thing as Japanese colonization in Mexico."

STAPLES WINS IN NINTH.

Sensational Rally Gives Visitors Game Over Cloquet.

Cloquet, Minn., Aug. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Staples won Sunday's game from Cloquet after a sensational ninth inning rally by a score of 4 to 3. After two men were out in the ninth, two strikes on the batter and no men on bases, a combination of one hit, four errors and loose field work let in four runs for Staples, and in Cloquet's half of the last inning Gaskill hit for three bases but was unable to finish the circuit before the game was ended. Cunningham pitched his usual strong game for the locals, holding his opponents to six scattered hits and striking out eleven. Miller, Staples' centerfielder, made two running catches that were features.

Cowes, Isle of Wight, Aug. 4.—King George on his veteran cutter Britannia, at the Cowes regatta today, won the Satanita cup, a handicap for cutters, yawls and ketches, presented by Sir Maurice Fitzgerald.

The Britannia which had not raced at Cowes for nearly fifteen years was the scratch boat. The other competitors were the yawl Wendur and the ketches Julnar and Cariad.

The Royal cutter was first away on the thirty-nine mile course and soon established a strong lead. She won easily.

Besides King George and Queen Mary, the Duke and Duchess of Connaught and Prince Henry of Russia, brother of the German emperor, were present.

All Serene Again.

Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 4.—The recent trouble between Manager Harry Clark of the Milwaukee American association ball team and President Cantillon of the Minneapolis club has been settled, and everything is serene in local baseball circles, as a result of the visit here yesterday of Thomas Chivington, president of the American association.

The trouble broke Friday, when President Cantillon charged Clark with using obscene language during the game here between Minneapolis and Milwaukee. Clark, who was suspended pending an investigation, was allowed to play yesterday, but it is said he will be fined.

Kenmare, N. D., Aug. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Joseph Hollan was horrified to find his 2-year-old son shrieking and mangled in the teeth of the sickle to his binder while cutting rye near here. The first intimation the father had the child was near was when he heard it shriek. One arm was entirely severed and serious cuts made on the child's body. It may recover.

RUSHES BOUNDARY WITH STOLEN AUTO.

Pembina, N. D., Aug. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Stealing an auto in Emerson, the thief rushed past the customs house here and a few minutes later changed the Manitoba license to one from Wisconsin, that he was carrying in a grip. He then hastened south and is thought to have headed for the Twin Cities. Both the Federal and the Canadian officials are after him and expect to locate the man before long.

Grand Forks Creamery Prosperous.

Grand Forks, N. D., Aug. 4.—The Grand Forks Creamery company, owned and operated by P. Nelson and M. Johnson, has done nearly double the business this year that it did in 1912, or any previous year. Halt Mandan Paving.

Mandan, N. D., Aug. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—When Contractor Kennedy of Fargo arrived here to commence the paving on a contract awarded to him by the city commission, he found certain property owners had asked for an injunction. He has all his machinery, horses and crews here and may go ahead with the work, furnishing the city an indemnity bond. When the contract was let bitulithic paving was designated. Some of the property owners object to that and want creosote. It is thought a compromise may be effected by the use of the creosote blocks.

The Sooner You Sell The More You'll Get For That Used Auto!

The more out of date an automobile gets the less it will bring when you come to sell it, no matter how little it is used. That is why you should sell the car you don't want, and do it at the earliest possible moment. Besides, you might as well have the use of the money which is tied up in the useless car. This can be done at small cost.

Herald Want Ads Reach the Automobile Buyers

Herald Want Ads are unique in their power to sell used cars.

The Duluth Herald reaches 98 per cent of the present automobile owners in Duluth and vicinity, as careful comparison between its subscription list and the names to which automobile licenses have been issued, proves conclusively. This is proof that will be appreciated that Herald Want Ads reach the automobile buyers—the people who are willing to buy your used car.

Moreover Herald Want Ads are the cheapest method of communication in the Northwest. If you have a used auto for sale, it is expensive not to use them in selling it.

JOHN LIND'S REPORT IS TO DETERMINE WILSON'S POLICY TOWARD MEXICO

Minnesotan Goes South as President's Personal Representative.

Will Be Unofficial Ambassador, to Get Full Title Later.

Torturing of American By Mexicans Told of in Report.

Washington, Aug. 5.—No announcement of policy or further steps will be taken by President Wilson in the Mexican situation until Former Governor John Lind of Minnesota, personal representative of the president, arrives in Mexico City and familiarizes himself with conditions there. This was made clear at the White House today.

Mr. Lind carries instructions to talk informally with prominent Mexicans. Administration officials indicated that no steps toward a mediation policy would be attempted until after Mr. Lind had sounded out sentiment in Mexico and determined whether the assistance of the United States in adjusting the dispute would be received.

Will Speak for President.

Mr. Lind will inform inquirers, on the authority of President Wilson, that only the government constitutionally set up will be recognized by the United States. This will involve the resignation of Provisional President Huerta in favor of the provisional president selected by the Mexican factions, the new president to be first appointed minister of foreign relations, in conformity with the law of succession in Mexico.

It was pointed out in administration circles today that while Mr. Lind's position now is that of adviser to the American embassy, he will act in reality as an unofficial ambassador, to be named ambassador when a stable government is organized and recognition is extended by the United States.

Just what part Mr. Lind will take in peace negotiations is not made clear, but there is every reason to believe that he will merely represent the

GIRL TRIES TO KILL HAWK; KILLS BROTHER

Ten-Year-Old North Dakota Child Wields Gun Badly.

Steele, N. D., Aug. 5.—The 12-year-old son of Thomas Edwards, residing ten miles north of here, was accidentally shot late yesterday, by his 10-year-old sister. He died instantly. While the parents were away from home the children attempted to shoot a hawk that had come into the yard.

BOLT HITS BED, BUT FAILS TO WAKE MAN

George Barber of Mindoro, Wis., Complains Afterward of Bad Dreams.

La Crosse, Wis., Aug. 5.—It takes a lot to awaken George Barker, well-to-do Mindora business man, when he composes himself for slumber.

Last night there was a terrible storm at Mindora, fifteen miles above here, and a bolt struck the room in which Barber was sleeping, tearing the plaster from the walls and splintering the bed on which he lay. The family rushed to his room, expecting to find the man dead, but found him contentedly sleeping and uninjured. This morning he complained of unpleasant dreams.

BIG BLAZE IN ALBERTA CITY

Athabasca Landing Loses Stores, Banks and Other Buildings.

Damage Amounts to Three Quarters of a Million.

Athabasca Landing, Alta., Aug. 5.—Fire which started in the rear of the Union hotel here early today destroyed that building, the Athbasca hotel, thirty stores, several banks, two newspaper plants, warehouses, railway cars and several dwellings, with a total loss of $750,000. The heaviest loser is Isaac Gagnon, owner of several of the buildings destroyed. His loss is $250,000.

The city's new $75,000 water plant would have been completed within a month, but a bucket brigade was the only available fire fighting apparatus available today.

Constable Blair of the local police force is critically burned as the result of repeated trips which he made into the flames to rescue guests.

One hundred homeless people are housed in emigration hall.

Fire in Humboldt.

Humboldt, Sask., Aug. 5.—Fire of unknown origin in business district here today caused a loss of $100,000.

GAIETY GIRL SEEKS DIVORCE IN LONDON

LILY ELSIE.

London, Aug. 5.—Matrimony seldom lasts long with a gaiety girl. The beautiful Gabrielle Ray has just sued for a divorce in London, and now comes Lily Elsie, who wants her freedom. She married Ian Bullough, a young Scotch land owner.

M'ADOO ON WAR PATH

Secretary Is After Evidence of Manipulation of Bonds.

Representative Levy Defends Banks Against the Charge.

Washington, Aug. 5.—Secretary McAdoo is conducting a quiet investigation to obtain evidence to sustain his charge that the recent sharp decline of United States 2 per cent bonds was due "almost wholly to what appears to be a campaign waged with every indication of concerted action, on the part of a number of influential New York city banks to cause apprehension and uneasiness about these bonds, in order to help them in their efforts to defeat the currency bill."

National Bank Examiner Starek, in New York city for several days, has been collecting data concerning purchases and sales of the 2 per cents by the big banks of New York, with the purpose of determining, it is understood, whether there have been any unusual transactions in those securities. This move was induced, it is believed, by the attacks upon the secretary for expressing the opinion of a probable concerted effort in New York to depress the 2 per cents, and demands for his proof.

Levy Defends Banks.

A defense of New York banks against Secretary McAdoo's charge of an attempt to depress prices of government 2 per cent bonds was made in the house today by Representative Levy, who introduced a resolution calling for a list of transfers of bonds since July 1. Immediate action was prevented by objections by Representatives Mann, Foster and others.

A resolution to have the senate banking committee investigate the same charges was introduced by Senator William Alden Smith of Michigan, but was not taken up.

FIFTY-GRAIN PEARL FOUND IN CLAMSHELL

Chicago Buyer Gets Gem From Iowa Clam Digger.

Lansing, Iowa, Aug. 5.—The richest pearl find of the season was brought to light today by a clam fisherman named John Wendt of this city. It was taken from the Mississippi river and weighs about fifty grains. It was purchased by a Chicago pearl buyer.

TODAY IN CONGRESS

SENATE.

Met at noon.

Resumed debate on tariff bill.

Senator Saulsbury spoke briefly and warned against waste of time in general debate.

Former Senator Foraker was principal witness before lobby investigation committee.

HOUSE.

Met at noon.

Representative Levy introduced resolution asking Secretary McAdoo to furnish list of all transfers of government bonds since July 1.

Lobby committee began its investigation, with Louis Seibold as its first witness.

Recognition of "a state of public war in Mexico" and of American neutrality between the "belligerents" demanded in resolution introduced by Representative Stephens of Texas.

TWO LOBBY PROBES ON

Senate and House Committees Both Hear About Mulhall.

Foraker Denies Lobbyist Influenced Him—Seibold Testifies.

Washington, Aug. 5.—Congressional investigation of Martin M. Mulhall's story of his alleged lobbying activities for the National Association of Manufacturers took on a dual aspect today when the special house committee began grinding on the thousands of letters already introduced before the senate committee, and prepared to cross-examine Mulhall on his claims of influence with various representatives. The first part of the day was taken up with preliminary testimony by Louis Seibold, of the New York World.

The senate committee, having finished with Mulhall, began hearing some of the men referred to in his correspondence. Former Senator Foraker was the first, and he generally denied Mulhall's claims of influence with him.

Former Senator Foraker was the principal witness today before the senate lobby committee. He appeared to deny statements of Martin M. Mulhall, the alleged lobbyist for the National Association of Manufacturers.

Chairman Overman today notified Former Representative Charles E. Littlefield of Maine that the committee would be glad to hear any statement he desired to make. Mulhall claimed him as one of the friends of National Association of Manufacturers in many fights before committees of congress. Littlefield recently wrote Senator Overman from Switzerland, asking for a hearing and denying many of Mulhall's charges.

Foraker Explained.

Foraker explained his connection with the sale of the Union Pacific to a reorganization committee in 1897, which was brought into the lobby investigation by David Lamar. Lamar

SCORE ARRESTED IN CINCINNATI STRIKE

Teamsters Are Accused of Plot to Burn Building.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Aug. 5.—Trouble between striking teamsters, their sympathizers and the police today ended in the arrest of twenty-two of the former on charges of disorderly conduct.

A night watchman claimed to have heard strikers threaten to burn the Kroger grocery plant, and telephoned to the police. A squad of detectives and uniformed officers hurried to the place. An automobile patrol was stoned by a great crowd gathered there.

The police drew revolvers and charged the crowd. Fully 100 of the latter fled, but seven were arrested after a hand-to-hand fight with the police.

Hardly was the trouble over when another riot call was received from the same place. Night Chief Stegner, with a squad of detectives, swooped down upon a crowd of fully 200 men, who scattered in all directions. The police succeeded in making fifteen more arrests.

DETROIT MAY SEIZE CARS

Crisis Has Arrived in Clash With Traction Interests.

People Are Asked to Insist on 3-Cent Fares.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 5.—Mayor Marx will ask the city council tonight to instruct City Treasurer Koch immediately to seize sufficient Detroit United Railway property—power houses, cars, etc.—to satisfy the city's claim against the company for $439,734 back taxes and an additional $10,685 due the city for the privilege of operating freight cars on Detroit street.

The company had paid no taxes, except the so-called Pingree 3-cent lines, since 1909. No taxes have been paid on lines where franchises have expired, the company contending the $300 daily rental which it pays for the privilege of operating over these lines was in lieu of taxes.

Offer 3 Cents.

The franchise committee of the council has unanimously approved of Mayor Marx's resolution calling on the people on and after next Thursday to refuse to pay more than 3 cents fares on local street car lines where franchises held by the Detroit United Railway company, have expired. It seems certain that the council will pass the resolution tonight.

The street railway company, through an attorney, presented a statement which declared that the company will stop running cars on the affected lines at the first sign of trouble.

Police Commissioner Gillespie and Mayor Marx both declared they would board the street cars Thursday and offer 3 cents fares. The former said the railroad company must either accept the rate fixed by the city or cease operation.

J. HAM LEWIS TAKEN FOR A HEAD WAITER

Suffragist in Restaurant Asks Senator to Seat Her.

Washington, Aug. 5. — Senator J. Hamilton Lewis of Illinois was standing in the doorway of the Continental hotel cafe waiting for the page to bring him his hat, when he was approached by one of the suffragists who had been presenting petitions to the senate.

"I want you to seat me over yonder in the corner by the window," said the woman to the senator.

"With pleasure, madam," replied Col. Lewis.

The senator led the way through the crowded dining room, to the consternation of the head waiter, and seated the suffragist as she had directed.

"Now, what do you advise me to take?" she inquired before the senator could effect a retreat.

"Well, madam," he replied, "under ordinary circumstances I would advise you to take me, but as I am married, that may embarrass both you and the law. The head waiter will recommend the food."

Senator Lewis had been mistaken for the head waiter.

HEAR TALES OF DYNAMITE

Calumet Authorities Are Told Dam Is to Be Blown Up.

"Mother" Jones Arrives; Governor Urged to Visit Strike Scene.

Calumet, Mich., Aug. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Alleged plots to blow up the Calumet dam, the source of water supply for fire protection in Calumet, are being investigated by the military authorities at Ahmeek and Mohawk, where a quantity of dynamite has been stolen. A spy of the civil authorities discovered the plot, it is said, and guard was thrown about the dam an hour before the proposed mine was to be planted and set off at the Calumet & Hecla pumping station.

This dam furnishes fire protection for Red Jacket, Laurium, Calumet, Hecla, Tamarack and part of Osceola, a district of 40,000 people.

Considerable firing by guards occurred about the dam and at Tamarack early this morning.

"Mother" Jones Arrives.

"Mother" Jones, the noted woman strike agitator, arrived here at 11:30 this morning and was met at the South Shore station as she stepped from a Northwestern train by 1,200 strikers and a large number of women. "Mother" Jones refused to ride to Union headquarters in an automobile, saying: "No, sir, I'll walk just like the other folks;" and she did.

The aged woman made a short talk to the strikers at their headquarters, where a program for her entertainment and participating in the strike activities is being prepared.

DIGGS WHITE SLAVE CASE IS STARTED

Caminetti's Trial Is to Follow That of His Companion.

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 5.—The trial of Maury I. Diggs of Sacramento, charged jointly with Drew Caminetti with violation of the Mann white slave law, was called today in the United States district court. The trial of Caminetti is to follow that of Diggs. Both pleaded not guilty to the charge, July 30.

Diggs is specially accused of having transported Marsha Warrington from Sacramento, Cal., to Reno, Nev. Another indictment charges Diggs and his Sacramento attorney, Charles B. Harris, with conspiracy to suborn perjury in preparing his defense to the charge of wife abandonment, on which both Diggs and Caminetti were brought back to Sacramento from Reno.

Theodore Roche, president of the San Francisco police commission, appeared today as special prosecutor for the government, having been named by Attorney General McReynolds after Former United States District Attorney John L. McNab had resigned, following his controversy with the attorney general over the latter's order to postpone action on the Diggs-Caminetti and Western Fuel company customs fraud cases.

RAILWAY SCALES MAKE DISCRIMINATIONS IN FIXING FREIGHT RATES

Investigator Reports to Interstate Commerce Commission.

Not Even "Reasonably Accurate Results" Are Given at Present.

Congress Will Be Asked to Empower Body to Order Corrections.

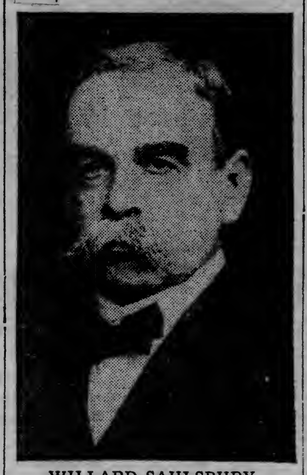
Washington, Aug. 5.—Investigation of alleged irregularities and discrepancies in the weighing of freight has disclosed the imposition of unreasonable charges said to constitute as great a discrimination as would a difference of freight rates.

In a report of an investigation issued today the interstate commerce commission declares that "a majority of the track scales now in use should be rebuilt at once in order to obtain reasonably accurate results." Sharp criticism of the methods of weighing such commodities as grain, coal and lumber is made, it being alleged that shippers almost invariably get the worst of the transacton.

The commission has no authority under the law to issue an order correcting the evils disclosed, but it recommends that congress confer upon it powers to fix points on which track scales shall be installed; to prescribe their stand; to test or supervise the testing and supervise the operation of scales.

The American Railway association in compliance with suggestions of the commission will promulgate shortly weighing regulations.

TARES TARIFF BILL AS FRAMED FOR PEOPLE



WILLARD SAULSBURY, United States Senator From Delaware.

URGES ACTION UPON TARIFF

Senator Saulsbury Warns Against Delay in Discussion.

Declares No Special Interests Had Hand in Framing Bill.

Washington, Aug. 1.—Senator Willard Saulsbury of Delaware, discussed the tariff bill briefly in the senate today for the Democrats, and warned against waste of time in long debate.

Asserting that "protection and Socialism are twin evils and ill-omened birds," Senator Saulsbury declared that protection had reached its end.

Senator Saulsbury declared that the pending tariff bill had been constructed with a common effort for the good of the commonweal.

"No special interests," he said, "no association of manufacturers nor privileged beneficiaries have written a section, a clause, or a word, as we believe, in this great bill."

Cummins Offers Amendment.

Senator Cummins has introduced his substitute for the metal schedule of the tariff bill, indorsed by the Progressive Republicans. It would take from the free list cash registers, sewing machines, typewriters, linotypes, cast iron pipe, horse shoe nails, wrought iron or steel nails, steel rails, steel ingots, blooms, slabs, billets, barbed wire, pig iron and antimony ore.

Ad valorem duties would be replaced on specific rates on many other articles.

The car was partially burned before firemen arrived. E. Great Ovation Given Centennial Fleet at Cream City.

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 5.—The Perry flagship Niagara, with her escort, was given a great ovation on her arrival in Milwaukee this forenoon. There was dipping of colors, blowing of whistles and ringing of bells by all craft in the harbor, and in Juneau park, Lake Front, 1,500 boys dressed in red, white and blue caps and capes, representing a human flag, sang the "Star Spangled Banner."

Today's program included a reception and luncheon for the Perry guests and in the afternoon, a red, white and blue automobile parade.

Band concerts in all the parks will feature the evening.

FIRE OUSTS HOTEL GUESTS

One Hundred and Seventy-Five Leave Jewels and Clothes Behind.

Blue Mountain House, Famous Old Resort, Is Destroyed.

Philadelphia, Aug. 5.—The Blue Mountain house at Penmar, on the Pennsylvania-Maryland line, was destroyed by fire today, two guests being seriously injured. They are B. F. Metzgar and Malcolm Frank of Norfolk, Va. The men were badly burned and bruised in attempting to escape. They were on the fourth floor and were rescued when they had reached the second.

The fire started at 5 a. m. in the mountain building, driving the guests to the lawns in scanty attire. Some of them were unable to save their belongings. The building was quickly destroyed and it was impossible to save anything in the way of furnishings.

Drove 175 Out.

The fire had its origin in the kitchen and quickly spread to adjoining rooms and halls, thence to the elevator shaft and the floors above. There were 175 guests in the hotel. Metzgar and Frank who are uncle and nephew respectively, did not hear the alarm which aroused the other guests. They found themselves surrounded by fire in their room on the fourth floor and in their effort to escape they fell through a trapdoor into a flame swept hall and were seriously burned.

The hotel was built by the Western Maryland Railroad company twenty-five years ago, and in its day was one of the best known mountain resorts in the country. The loss is about $200,000.

Lost $100,000 in Jewelry.

Baltimore, Md., Aug. 5.—About one-half of the guests at the burned Blue Mountain house were from Baltimore. A score of these, clad in garments of many descriptions, returned to the city on a morning train. So swift was the progress of the flames that none of the party was able to save any of their jewels or clothing. It is estimated that more than $100,000 worth of jewelry was lost.

Mrs. B. Lobe of Eutaw place, gave a hasty description of the first stages of the fire.

"It was awful," she said. "I saw babies thrown out of the windows! We were aroused from our sleep by the sharp reports of a pistol and someone crying to run for our lives. We did not wait, but grabbed up the first pieces of clothing that came to hand and ran from the building."

WAS RARE TREAT FOR PERFORMERS

"The best time of the entire trip," was the way the "Hanky Panky" folk referred to their excursion up the St. Louis river yesterday to Fond du Lac on The Herald outing. The merry theatrical folk, stars and chorus, thoroughly enjoyed themselves from start to finish of the trip and came home with some idea of Minnesota's scenic beauties.

In the two years the show has been on the road the "Hanky Panky" folk have always sought unusual and novel things to do and are like so many children when they get away from the theater. On the trip yesterday they furnished plenty of fun for the rest, for they played the piano on the boat, took possession of one of the little restaurants at Fond du Lac, played the piano and had a dance, and sat under the trees and watched a picnic in full swing. Prima donna and chorus girl sat side by side and enjoyed the day's outing like one big family.

Performers as a rule want breakfast, especially coffee, as soon as they get out of bed. The party which went up the river yesterday didn't have a chance to get any at the hotels, because of the early start, and expected to get some on the boat. The coffee percolators were not going, however, and there was no lunch, but Leif Stanson, the genial dispenser of eatables, turned the steam on under the boilers, made some "weiners" and furnished a breakfast for the entire party.

TRUSTED EMPLOYE IS UNDER ARREST

Bemidji, Minn., Aug. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Edward Gould, for several years a trusted employe of the local postoffice, was arrested this morning by Deputy United States Marshal Tufts of Crookston on the charge of embezzlement, it being claimed he opened a registered letter in the local postoffice and abstracted money therefrom. He was arraigned before United States Marshal Simmons and his bail placed at $2,500 pending a preliminary hearing Thursday morning. At last accounts he had not secured bail.

Opens Decoy Letter.

Gould worked nights and it is claimed that he had been rifling letters, several cases occurring of late mystifying the postal authorities. A trap was laid, the usual decoy letter containing marked money being mailed. It is claimed that Gould opened the letter and the money was found in his possession. Gould has heretofore borne an unblemished reputation, and the charge against him has caused a sensation.

HOLBROOK STUDYING WISCONSIN SYSTEM

La Crosse, Wis., Aug. 5.—To obtain information bearing on the question of the establishment of a public utilities commission in Minnesota, D. H. Holbrook, secretary of the committee on regulation of public utilities of the Minnesota legislature, is here studying the work of the Wisconsin railway commission, which has been occupied almost constantly with La Crosse problems ever since its creation.

In Wisconsin one commission handles all the public utilities. The point Minnesota is working out, said Mr. Holbrook, is whether it is desirable to have a railway commission to handle the railways exclusively and another commission to control other public utilities.

M'DONNELL IN DEFAULT ON ALL CITY CONTRACTS

Bonding Company Ordered to Complete All Unfinished Work.

Well Known Contractor Is Ill and in Financial Difficulties.

The city commission today officially declared Contractor P. McDonnell to be in default upon all of his street contracts, aggregating $170,000, in the city of Duluth.

The same resolution directed the city attorneys to call upon the National Surety company to complete the contracts which were awarded to Mr. McDonnell earlier in the season.

Yesterday morning the bonding company served notice upon the city stopping all payments of estimates to P. McDonnell because of any contracts which he might have, alleging that he had contracted bills for labor and material which might become liabilities upon them.

Following this action on the part of the surety company Mr. McDonnell informed the commission, through Mayor Prince, that he was obliged to abandon his contracts in this city.

Mr. McDonnell's notification was as follows:

"To the city council of the city of Duluth:

"Gentlemen—Owing to sickness and the fact that I am unable to obtain from the city the estimates now due me for street work I shall be obliged to abandon work on the various contracts which I have with the city of Duluth for street improvements.

"Your honorable body is therefore hereby authorized to take such steps as may be necessary to protect the interest of the city and complete the contracts in question. Yours respectfully, P. M'DONNELL."

Mayor's Resolution.

About 11 o'clock this morning Mayor Prince called a meeting of the commission and introduced the following resolution, which was passed unanimously:

"Resolved, that whereas P. McDonnell heretofore entered into certain contracts with the city of Duluth for making street improvements, which said contracts are now on file in the office of the auditor of the city of Duluth and bear numbers 1315, 1348, 1370, 1371, 1372, 1373, 1374, 1375; and

"Whereas, said contracts have not been fully performed, and the said P. McDonnell has declared his inability to carry out, perform and complete any of said contracts; and

"Whereas, at the time of making said contracts, the National Surety company, as surety, and P. McDonnell as principal, gave bonds for the performance of said contracts,

"Now therefore, be it resolved, that P. McDonnell be and he is hereby declared to be in default upon each and every one of the above mentioned contracts; and

"Be it further resolved, that the city attorney be and he is hereby authorized and directed to call upon the National Surety company to complete each and every one of said contracts."

Important Jobs.

Mr. McDonnell's contracts include most of the important street paving which is being done in Duluth this year. Part of them were let last fall and the balance this spring.

Commissioner Murchison said this morning that there is no question but what all the work will be finished this year. He explained that Mr. McDonnell had much of his work well along, with the exception of Fourth street, and that he had not financial difficulties and ill-health arisen he would very probably have been able to finish most of them on scheduled time.

The aggregate of Mr. McDonnell's bids on all jobs is $170,159.75. On one of them, Victoria, no work has been done. East Fourth street between Sixth and Fourteenth avenues is a little better than started. East Fourth street between Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth avenues is about half finished. Parkside is practically completed and the others are nearly half done.

The books of City Auditor Campbell show that McDonnell has been paid $38,639.92 on work which he has done on the contracts. His last estimates have been held up. It is said that they amount to $15,000.

Will Finish Work.

Commissioner Murchison and Mayor Prince stated this morning that William H. Clawson of Minneapolis, assistant superintendent of the surety company, is now negotiating with a local contractor to take over and finish the contracts. They were quite certain that this method would be adopted by the surety company.

The streets which were being paved by McDonnell were: Parkside avenue from Superior street to Vermilion road, nearly finished, bid $28,314; East Fourth street between Twenty-third and Twenty-seventh avenues, half finished, bid $20,414.75; Victoria street from Woodland avenue to the Hartley road, not started, bid $14,348.50; East Fourth street between Sixth and Fourteenth avenues, about ten done, bid $46,281.50; East Sixth street, between Eighteenth and Woodland avenues, less than half done, bid $12,321.75; Seventeenth avenue east between Fourth and Seventh streets, half done, bid $10,002.25; Twenty-second avenue east between Third and Fifth streets, half done, bid $4,055; East First street between First and Sixth avenues, two-fifths done, bid $34,422. Twenty-second avenue east expired Aug. 1 and the others expire at different dates to Oct. 1.

GIRL SENT TO HER HOME

Weeps When Young Man Is Not Allowed to Accompany Her.

Weeping and wailing because the police would not let the man she called her sweetheart accompany her, Anna Boehncke, the young woman who was found wandering about the boulevard, scantily clad, Sunday afternoon, was placed on the 11:10 p. m. train last night to return to her mother at Arlington, Wis.

Refusing to be pacified or to listen to explanations, she pleaded, begged and demanded that her lover be sent away with her.

The man in question was Otto Borchardt, who was arrested Sunday afternoon shortly after she had been taken into custody by the police. He was taken into police court yesterday afternoon to answer a disorderly charge. He entered a plea of guilty and got $100 or sixty days in the county jail. He admitted to the police that he had registered at a downtown hotel with the woman as man and wife.

When the woman was brought to the station she told an unlikely story of having been followed to this city by two men who had stolen her suitcases and later had abused her in a hotel near the depot. The police failed to find anything to substantiate her story. When they took the woman out to have her locate the hotel, Borchardt appeared and demanded to know what they were doing with the girl. He was promptly arrested.

Yesterday afternoon the police received a telegram from the girl's mother directing that she be returned home. This was done last night, the conductor promising to see that she reached St. Paul safely and made no mistake in changing trains in that city. Borchardt was sent to the county jail to begin serving his time, as he had no funds with which to meet the fine. He gave has age as 26 years, and the girl said she was 21.

BOYS FIND BODY OF DROWNED MAN

The body of a man, believed to be Theodore Thompson of St Paul, was found near the dock of the Red Cliff Lumber company yesterday afternoon by a number of small boys who were in swimming.

The boys first found a coat lying near the dock and upon looking into the pockets, discovered a small medal and several trinkets. They then searched underneath the dock and found the badly decomposed body of Thompson who, it is believed, had been in the water for several months. Identification was almost impossible.

A bill in the man's trousers made out by Nordgren & Sons, tailors, of St. Paul to Theodore Thompson, has led the police to believe that the dead man was Thompson. In a wallet there were two $5 bills, some Swedish coins and a gold band ring.

Walter Sampson and P. McKenzie, two of the boys who found the body, notified the police at the West Duluth station. The body was removed to the Filiatrault undertaking rooms, where an autopsy conducted by Coroner McComb disclosed the fact that the man died by drowning.

The body was buried at 7 o'clock last evening in the Oneota cemetery, the badly decomposed condition not permitting the holding of the body any longer.

The dead man was five feet six inches tall, light, smooth faced and dressed in black trousers and gray flannel shirt. A slouch hat and blue coat were found near the dock.

MANY RAILROAD MEN VISIT DULUTH.

For a while this morning it looked as if there was a convention of railroad men in Duluth. Passenger and freight agents from several cities all happened to make Duluth at the same time.

R. M. Andrews of Minneapolis, traveling passenger agent for the Union Pacific; T. J. Randall of Winnipeg, district passenger agent for the New York Central lines; H. C. Holabird of Chicago, assistant general passenger agent for the Erie; A. M. Thompson of St. Paul, traveling passenger agent for the Erie; C. A. Asterlin of Minneapolis, Northwest passenger agent for the Nickel Plate road, were among the visitors.

But it was not a convention. It was the ordinary grind of business. They were all here in pursuit of the big iron dollars and they wanted a share of the Duluth business.

STRIKE NOT YET ENDED

Men Vote to Turn Down Offer of Railroad Company.

The strike situation at the Allouez ore docks has changed front again. The strikers, who were thought ready to go back to work this morning, have voted to stay out. At a mass meeting the vote was 244 in favor of continuing the strike and ninety-five in favor of returning. The minority decided to stay out with the others when the result of the vote was announced.

Then, too, the men who were imported to take the places of the strikers, quit in a body today when they found out they were mixed up in a strike. About fifty of them were put to work last night but they would not go back on the job today.

The strikers had signified a willingness to go back to work and this morning it looked as if there would be a speedy end to the trouble. The dock officials had made all the concessions the strikers demanded when they walked out and had agreed to give the men an increase of 15 cents a day in pay—the demand for higher wages being a later issue brought up by the men—but a leader of the I. W. W. succeeded in stopping the move for conciliation. He told the men to stay out until they got a larger increase in pay and all the other concessions they demanded since they walked out. This the men have decided to do.

It was said this morning that the I. W. W. man, who is directing the strike, had visited the Missabe docks and the Iron Range docks at Two Harbors and had obtained the promise that the men on those docks would strike in sympathy with their fellow workers on the other properties. The superintendent's office at the Missabe docks reported that he had heard nothing of such a move.

Most of the ore boats that have been tied up at the Allouez docks waiting to be loaded, have been ordered to Two Harbors and other docks where they can get ore.

Mayor Konkel of Superior talked to the strikers today but they would not listen to his advice. He had a wordy battle with the I. W. W. man over the issues at stake.

An inquest was held this morning over the deaths of the two men who were killed in the accident that precipitated the strike. The coroner's jury decided that the men met death under the cars and cited as the cause the custom of the railroad in allowing the switchmen to ride on the sides of the cars instead of the tops, as the cause.

TREASURER IN NAME ONLY

M. P. Binane Admits That Julius H. Block Was "Whole Company."

Some rather interesting disclosures as to how the affairs of the United States & Dominion Life Insurance company of this city have been conducted since its organization in 1909, have been made by M. P. Binane, treasurer of the company, who gave testimony before Referee James E. Gardner recently in supplementary proceedings instituted by C. D. Rogers, one of a number of judgment creditors who, failing to realize anything from the sale of the company's stock placed as collateral security on promissory notes, has sought to compel Julius H. Block, president of the company, and other officers and directors to disclose what has become of the assets of the concern.

The case is one of more than usual interest in view of the connection which it might have with Mr. Block's tilt with Representative H. H. Harrison of Stillwater in the latter's fight for the enactment of the proposed "blue sky law." Mr. Block, former state treasurer and former candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, and the United States & Dominon Life Insurance company of which he is president, were the subject of an attack by Representative Harrison, who pointed to the company as an example of why the "blue sky" law was a necessity for the protection of investors. Mr. Block answered the attack by assuring Mr. Harrison, who was a stockholder in the concern, that if he would attend a meeting of the stockholders which would be called later, that the charges would be satisfactorily explained away. Representative Harrison is still waiting for the meeting of the stockholders.

Ordered to Disclose.

William P. Harrison, attorney for the judgment creditors, secured an order recently from Judge Fesler of the district court requiring Mr. Block and Mr. Binane, as officers of the company, to make disclosures of the financial condition of the company. Service of the order could not be had on Mr. Block and only Mr. Binane showed up at the supplementary proceedings. Testimony was taken on two days, July 21 and July 25, and a transcript of the testimony given was today filed with the clerk of the district court.

Binane admitted that he was treasurer in name only, and on the first day he was examined, that Mr. Block was the whole company. "Mr. Julius H. Block, in other words, is the entire company?" asked Mr. Harrison. "Yes" was the answer. At the conclusion of the second day's examination, the witness asked leave to qualify his answer by changing it to "No."

Asked as to the assets of the company, Mr. Binane stated that there was no cash on hand. He declared, however, that the company owned $100,000 worth of the bonds of the Williamsville-Greenville & St. Louis railway, which were now in the possession of Mr. Block, or were the last time that he saw them, six months ago.

Mr. Binane also testified that Mr. Block owned the furniture which was in the company's office at 611 Alworth building. "Was that bought with the company's money?" he was asked. His answer was "Yes, sir."

Receipts Unknown.

"Can you state how much money was derived by the company from the sale of stock since organization?" Mr. Harrison inquired.

"I don't know," was the treasurer's reply.

"Give us your best estimate, as treasurer of the defendant company."

"I should say, approximately about $20,000 in cash."

"How was the balance other than cash represented?"

"It was represented by customers' notes."

"You have books which would show the exact amount of cash received by the company.

"No, sir, the company has not books."

This answer was later qualified with the statement that the underwriters of the stock kept a set of books. He then, upon being asked, stated that the underwriters were Otto A. Rabe and Julius H. Block.

The witness then gave the name of the officers besides himself as Julius H. Block, president; R. W. West, secretary, Minneapolis; H. C. Gravatt, assistant secretary and assistant treasurer. The directors, he said, were Julius H. Block, Otto A. Rabe, Charles Linstrom, Shafer, Minn.; H. P. Reid, Hibbing; H. I. Wierick, Hibbing; H. P. Proctor and D. E. Seashore.

Mr. Binane then explained that he was only treasurer of the company in name. "Who is the actual disbursing officer of the oompany, or treasurer?" Attorney Harrison asked.

"Why, the board of directors never appointed or never elected officers of the company outside of J. H. Block as president," was the answer.

"Julius H. Block, in other words then, was the entire company?"

"Yes."

The witness was then asked what was done with the $20,000 cash received by the company from the sale of stock. Mr. Binane testified that it was expended for "organization and other expenses."

Attorney Harrison at this point inquired as to Mr. Block. "Where is Mr. Block?" H. P. Proctor, appearing for the insurance company, interposed an objection to the question. Mr. Binane answered it by saying that he was "out of the city."

"Do you know where he can be reached?"

"No, sir."

As to stockholders' meetings, Attorney Harrison asked: "When did you have your last stockholders' meeting?"

"There has been no stockholders' meeting," was the reply.

"Since the organization of the company?"

"Yes, sir, there was a meeting held and adjourned in February this year."

"No business was transacted?"

"No, sir."

"Do you mean to state that the company has never kept any books, either a journal or a ledger, or any other books showing the credits and disbursements and charges of the company since its organization?"

"Not that I know of," was the answer.

"Do you know of any property which the company might have to satisfy this judgment."

"I do not."

DULUTH WAS OVERLOOKED

Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo yesterday issued an invitation to representative bankers of fifty-nine large cities to go to Washington and confer with him on the matter of moving the crops. Duluth was not in the list and yet:

Duluth is the third largest primary market in the world;

Duluth is the largest flax market in the world;

Duluth will soon be the largest hedging market in the world.

However that was attended to today, for Secretary C. F. Macdonald, at the instruction of President W. J. McCabe of the Duluth board of trade, wired Secretary McAdoo, calling attention to his oversight; for that, it is felt, it must have been, in view of the overshadowing importance as a grain center of Duluth, compared with the majority of the places where invitations were received. The conference with bankers from the West is to be held next Friday.

Wife Deserter Paroled.

Floyd J. Brown, wife deserter, was paroled under a penitentiary sentence when brought before Judge Ensign in district court yesterday afternoon. Brown admitted the crime of having abandoned children under the age of 10 years but faithfully promised the court that he would stay with his wife and children and support them in the future. Brown was arrested last week in Minneapolis, where he has been living since February. His wife has been residing at Homecroft park. When in Duluth, Brown was employed as a street car motorman.

Files His Answer.

B. M. Goldberg, attorney for Mary Le Flohic, alias Madam Gain, filed an answer yesterday in the abatement proceedings which have been instituted by the county attorney's office to have the Clifton hotel, 221 West First street, declared to be a nuisance. The answer is a general denial of all allegations.

John T. Jones in Duluth.

John T. Jones and son, A. G. Jones of Iron Mountain, Mich., are in the city on business. The former has just returned from Utah, where he has been making a business visit. Lately Mr. Jones has been taking many options on Cuyuna property, but at this time refuses to discuss his activities, except to say that he is well pleased with the outlook on that range.

Bound Over to Grand Jury.

Joseph Wirtes was bound over to the grand jury after a hearing in police court yesterday afternoon on a charge of abandoning his wife and children. Mrs. Wirtes said that he left her in Gary, Ind., last month and that she had followed him to this city as soon as she learned his whereabouts.

Nuisance Is Abated.

Health officials stated this morning that the nuisance which had been maintained on the property of Dr. O. A. Oredson near Twenty-third avenue west and Third street had been abated. They explained that all the objectionable refuse and rubbish had been removed since yesterday morning. They have asked Dr. Oredson to install metal garbage cans to replace the wooden box and the barrels which have been in use as receptacles. Commissioner Hicken said that he was very much pleased to learn that Dr. Oredson had so promptly complied with the request to remove that objectionable spot from his premises.

Judgment for Defendant.

On order of Judge Ensign in district court, judgment for the defendant was entered today in an action brought by the Petruschke Box & Lumber company against the Waters-Clark Lumber company. The action was for the recovery of $11,647.50, alleged to have been overpaid on open account. The case was tried in September, 1912.

Case Is Resumed.

In district court today testimony has been resumed before Judge Ensign in the action in which M. M. Gasser is seeking to have certain parcels of land between Tower and Ely, of which he is a joint owner, sold and the money divided among the several owners. The litigation involves a large number of defendants, some of whom are pressing tax title claims.

HOUSE GETS LAUGH OVER MILLER EXCUSE

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, Aug. 5.—A gale of laughter swept over the house of representatives today when Speaker Clark announced, in a sonorous voice:

Every member of the house evidently was informed of the fact that Miller was married at Los Angeles Saturday and is on his way to the Philippines to spend his honeymoon.

LIFE PRESERVERS FOR LOCAL DOCKS.

Life preservers are to be placed upon several of the more used docks in the local harbor for use in emergency cases.

They were ordered some time ago by Commissioner William A. Hicken, head of the division of public safety, and he was informed today that they had reached the city. They were ordered under special specifications so that they would withstand exposure and give the best of service. Each of them will be plainly lettered to show that they are the property of the city's safety division.

Among the docks on which the ten preservers received today will be distributed at the passenger dock of the Northern Pacific near the foot of Seventh avenue west, the public dock at Fifth avenue, and Booth's dock.

SALESMEN ARE LEAVING

Salesmen are being sent into the field earlier than usual this year.

B. P. Neff, secretary of the F. A. Patrick company, declared today that the prospects for heavy fall orders were the brightest and that already scores of salesmen from the F. A. Patrick company have left for the territory covered by the Duluth house, and that more will leave within the next few days.

The same condition is also true of the other wholesale houses of Duluth. With grain cutting well advanced in many sections of the vast territory covered by the various houses of this city, stocks are being depleted upon the shelves of the country stores and there is a great demand for new goods.

"This fall looks like one of the best we have had for years," said Mr. Neff. "Already our company and many of the other firms of this city have shipped a large amount of goods. There is a heavy demand upon the part of the country merchants and we are sending our men out to take orders for what we believe will be the best fall business we ever had.

"Inquiry from the Dakotas and further West has been very heavy, and that section of the country, judging from the present prospects, is going to be a very heavy customer."

Each year the Duluth houses are making inroads upon the territory that has been held by the large wholesale houses of the Twin Cities, and this fall, say some of the salesmen of this city, there will be a marked increase in the business rounded up by the commercial traveling men representing the various Duluth houses.

Thomas Jefferson Barker, a wealthy pioneer of Old Wyandotte, now a part of Kansas City, Kan., and a steamboat owner in the early days of navigation on the Missouri river, died Aug. 4, aged 85 years. Barker was a member of a surveying party organized by Colonel Charles Manners, who was commissioned by the government to survey and establish the boundary line between the territories of Kansas and Nebraska. The surveyors had much trouble with the Indians, and on one occasion were attacked by 500 Pawnee braves and escaped after thrilling experiences.

Col. J. L. Morphis, former congressman from Mississippi and a United States marshal in that state for two terms, died at his home in Cleveland, Okla., Aug. 4.

BAPTISMAL WATER FROM RIVER JORDAN.

Rochester, Minn., Aug. 5.—A baptismal ceremony seldom taking place in this country and probably one of the first in Minnesota was solemnized at the First Methodist church here Sunday, when the youngest son of the pastor, Rev. Irven B. Wood was baptized by Rev. J. C. Craig, the baptismal water being from the Jordan river in Palestine. Rev. Mr. Wood, who recently completed a tour of the Holy Land, brought the water with him to Rochester for the purpose.

DETECTIVE PREVENTS VALLEY CITY HOLD UP.

Valley City, N. D., Aug. 5.—Charles Davis, a railway detective, interrupted the holdup of a boxcar of laborers in the yards of the Soo railroad here Monday. GIRL IS ATTACKED IN PARK IN ST. LOUIS

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 5.—Miss Mary Emmenger, 18 years old, was attacked by four men in Benton park late last night. She was found wandering, half dazed, this morning. Two men who were arrested in connection with the case have made admissions that convince the police that the principal part of the girl's story is true.

The four men drove away the girl's escort and held her prisoner more than an hour, according to her story. Harry Long, a shipping clerk, and Albert W. Katz, a bartender, were arrested in connection with the case.

Bismarck, N. D., Aug. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Probably the most interesting sessions of the state board of equalization held in several years, began today, with the prospect of clashes between members of the taxation board and the state tax commission.

Maxwell Motor Company

Incorporated

Detroit, U. S. A.

THEY SAID—what did they say? What mattered what they said? They were competitors much perturbed—so what could they say? What must they say—being competitors—much perturbed?

4,000 DEALERS will handle Maxwell Motor Cars for the season of 1914. Season dated from August first—deliveries at new prices now being made.

THAT'S OUR ANSWER to all they said. That tells the story. What is it they say about "he who laughs last?"

MAXWELL CARS WILL DOMINATE the trade for 1914 in the three big classes which command the greatest popularity.

THE FULL SIGNIFICANCE of the line "4,000 dealers," may not have occurred to you. It means, in a word, that we not only have the cars the connoisseurs desire, but that we are now ready to manufacture them in numbers sufficient to supply the insistent demand.

YOUR DEALER SEEMS TO HAVE a kind of sixth sense when it comes to picking the winner in the selling field from season to season.

HE KNOWS: He has his finger on the pulse of the buyer, his eyes on the makers all the time. And he seldom guesses wrong. The successful dealer never—that's why he succeeds.

THIS IS A FAST-MOVING, quick-forgetting business. Watching it is like looking thru a kaleidoscope. It is ever changing.

THE DEALER KNOWS—and you can't go wrong by following his lead for, you see, he is looking for the same things you are seeking—only from a different angle.

HE WANTS CARS that sell themselves. You never knew a dealer to go gunning for trouble, did you? Or looking for hard work?

NOT HE. HE FOLLOWS THE TREND of fashion in design, the progress of the science of metallurgy and manufacture. And when he sees a concern leading in these, he goes hot-foot after that line of cars.

WE HAVE CONCENTRATED our tremendous factory facilities; re-arranged and re-equipped the plants for economical production of automobiles in large quantities.

AND EACH MODEL WILL dominate its class—because a better car—better material, better workmanship and better finish for the same or less money.

DO YOU WONDER dealers are clamoring for the Maxwell line for 1914? They would belie their reputation for astuteness if they didn't.

WHY, LAST WEEK we shipped the first 50 cars of the Maxwell "25" model to 50 points in the United States, and invited all dealers to come and see and try out this wonderful car.

THEY CAME, they saw and the new "25" Maxwell conquered. It was great to see their enthusiasm when the car, carrying five dealers aggregating 1010 pounds, sped up "Abbey Hill"—the stiffest grade on Manhattan and a double-S turn—on high gear as if it were on the level.

OVER AND OVER AGAIN they put the car to the test—climbing the hill at all speeds down to 8 miles per hour on high gear—just a 'pullin' all the time.

BUT WE ARE DIGRESSING—so enthusiastic about that wonderful "25" we forgot our text for the moment. Let's discuss the entire line—for there isn't a dead one in it—no model that is a load on the others. Each is supreme in its class.

TAKE THE "50-6" for example—now thoroughly tried and proven. 1913 output all sold. Deliveries of 1914 model—left-hand drive with right side drive optional—begins August 15th.

1914 PRICE is $1975.

THERE'S A LINE that will create consternation in the trade. They all expected it would be $2,400—in fact we said so. That was the price we had decided on, but—

PERHAPS, YOU'VE NOTICED there's a wicked war on for supremacy in this class of car. We concluded that, so long as other makers had started it we would give them a real six at a real price and see how far they can go. Watch it—it will be interesting—and the buyer will be the beneficiary.

IT WILL BE UP TO makers of $3,500—$4,000, yes, and $5,000 sixes to demonstrate wherein they give the difference in value.

AND WHAT ABOUT the manufacturer who stuck to fours for one season too long? Having himself failed to progress he would stop all progress. He would sweep back the sea with his tiny whisk broom! He protests that folk will still pay $2,000 for fours—and convinces no one but himself.

IN SEVEN PASSENGER CARS the six is now supreme. It is not coming; it is here.

THEN THE MAXWELL "35"—This is, we firmly believe, the greatest car ever made in the so-called intermediate price class—a big five passenger car for that great class of buyer who wants all there is of comfort and power, at a price he can afford.

1914 PRICE IS $1085 without and $1225 with electric starter and lights. Equal this if you can—in a car of anywhere near the quality.

BLOC-CAST MOTOR—fourth year unchanged. A motor such as you can't surpass in a $2000 car. And all other features equally excellent. This car will lead—distance all others in its class, which is to say anything under $1500.

AND FINALLY THE "25"—the car the trade has been talking about, looking for, waiting for.

IT IS HERE—WE ARE DELIVERING—and while we may not hope to supply all who want them, we will be able to appease 30,000 buyers during the next twelve months.

YOUR ENTHUSIASM will know no bounds when you see and ride in this "25."

THIS IS A REAL AUTOMOBILE—full 25 horsepower, bloc cast motor; 103" wheel base; same size tires all around, 30 x 3½; full five passenger body; 3 speed selective transmission; cone clutch; worm and sector steering gear; left-hand drive; center control; magneto—all the features of a high priced car.

AND AT A PRICE no other maker has ever before been able to produce such a car—$750 plus the freight.

THE RESULT OF MORE concentrated experience, engineering and metallurgical knowledge, manufacturing skill and financial resources than any other, this car justifies our efforts and fulfils our fondest hopes.

IT WAS DESIGNED to meet the ideas and the needs of tens of thousands of discriminating buyers—not beginners but experienced motorists—who must consult the purse and yet who detest and decline to wear a uniform and are willing to pay a little more for a car that is a lot better.

WE WILL BUILD 30,000 of this model; 12,000 of the "35" and 2,000 to 3,000 of the Maxwell 50-6 in the next twelve months.

THAT'S SECOND LARGEST in the world—and still we are not satisfied. Watch the Maxwells.

WEAK HEART THE CAUSE

Believed That Miss Grace Fogarty Fainted in the Canoe.

Companion Heard No Movement Before the Craft Overturned.

In discussion of the drowning Sunday of Miss Grace Fogarty in the bay, the theory was advanced today that Miss Fogarty had fainted or collapsed from heart weakness, tipping the canoe and throwing her and Miss McLaughlin, her companion, into the water.

The theory is well supported by those who examined the body and considered the circumstances.

Miss McLaughlin is positive today that she was given no warning of the impending disaster. She was in the front of the canoe and could not see, but she is certain there was no movement behind her and no outcry until the canoe went over and she was in the water.

Allan Trux, who was in a sailboat near the scene of the accident, says that he watched the spot intently while his boat sailed to it, but that Miss Fogarty did not come to the surface. The life-savers say that there is only eight feet of water at the point where the canoe capsized and those familiar with water say that a struggling person would certainly strike bottom in such a way as to be brought to the surface again.

The position of the body supports the theory. The arms were crossed in exact paddling position. The lower limbs were drawn up, an unusual position for the body of one drowned. The hands were not clenched and in nearly every case of accidental drowning, in which the person is conscious when striking the water, the hands are clenched. The features were composed when the body was found, and the whole attitude was not that of one who struggled consciously against death.

"Taking the common sense viewpoint, and considering all the circumstances, I should say that the young woman fainted or collapsed in the canoe," said a physician who examined the body today. "The attitude of the body when found was that of a person paddling. The lower limbs were not stiffened out as is usual in the case of a person drowned. It is certain the girl did not appear after first being plunged into the water. The burden of evidence is that she collapsed in the canoe, and if she had been nervous, or ill, lately. I should say for certain that she had fainted in the canoe."

John Fogarty of Des Moines, Iowa, a brother of the girl arrived in Duluth last, evening. Thomas Fogarty another brother, is expected this evening. The funeral will be held tomorrow morning from Sacred Heart cathedral, Second avenue east and Fourth street, with interment at Calvary cemetery.

VARICOSE VEINS CURED

CONFINED TO HIS HOME FOR WEEKS

"Heavy work, severe straining and evil habits in youth brought on Varicose veins. When I worked hard the aching would become severe and I was often laid up for a week at a time. My family physician told me an operation was the only hope—but I dreaded it. I tried several specialists, but soon found out that all they wanted was my money. I commenced to look upon all doctors as little better than rogues. One day my boss asked me why I was off work so much and I told him my condition. He told me to go to the Progressive Medical Association at No. 1 West Superior street. He had been cured himself by them and he knew they were square, and knew men's diseases better than any other doctor in Duluth. They applied their Dissolving Method and at first my progress was somewhat discouraged. However, I continued treatment for three months longer and was rewarded with a complete cure. CITY'S CASH IS PLEDGED

Big Balance on Hand Aug. 1 Is Not All Available.

Contracts Already Made Will Take the Greater Part of It.

The monthly report of City Treasurer Grant E. McLean shows a balance on hand Aug. 1 of $648,049.04 in the various city depositories.

On the face of the statement it might appear that the city has an abundance of cash for all purposes but such is not the case.

The biggest balance is shown in the permanent improvement revolving fund, which has a credit on the treasurer's books of $369,659.29, or considerably more than half of the total balance. Contracts have been let for street improvements which will take most of that money when the contractors are paid. To carry the street work this year the city issued $420,000 of certificates of indebtedness against the revolving fund. These are the same certificates on which the city this year must pay about $20,000 interest for which it will get no return and which caused the finance commissioner to advocate a system of advance collections on assessments on street improvements.

The permanent improvement fund shows a balance Aug. 1 of $10,802.86, but obligations have already been incurred against that fund which will leave a deficit of about $45,000 above the levy for the entire year.

The general fund shows a balance of $11,278.21, but the best that that fund can do is to end the year with a deficit of $30,000 above the total receipts of the year, according to Finance Commissioner Voss.

Water and Light Fund.

The second big balance is $192,605.99, which is in the public utility fund. This fund is devoted entirely to the water and light department and can be used for no other purpose. The report does not show what indebtedness must be paid from the cash on hand. The funds of the other departments show balances but all of them will have to be used carefully if they are to last out the year.

The monthly report of the treasurer in its present form does not show the financial status of the city. To give the public and the commissioners a correct idea of how the city stands the statement would have to show the liabilities against the various funds up-to-date, the total amount available for the year, the total receipts and the amount of cash on hand. This would entail more work but it would bring forth a report which would enable the tax-payers as well as the officials to know at regular intervals the exact conditions of the city's finances.

JOHN LIND'S REPORT IS TO DETERMINE WILSON'S POLICY TOWARD MEXICO

views of the American government to those who consult him, and will not directly interfere with the progress of events unless the Washington government finally decides to mediate the dispute.

Battleship For Lind.

Former Governor John Lind, who is proceeding to Mexico City at the direction of President Wilson to act as advisor to Charge O'Shaughnessy at the embassy there, may take passage from Galveston to Vera Cruz on the battleship New Hampshire, one of the ships of the Gulf patrol, if he desires to do so. The navy department has not yet been asked to provide a ship, but is prepared to on account of the demoralized condition of rail traffic on the overland route to Mexico.

While Mr. Lind goes without any credentials, he practically will exercise the functions of a de facto ambassador. Officials here will await with much interest the tenor of the reception to Mr. Lind in the Mexican capital.

Meanwhile the Mexican situation, so far as Washington is concerned, seems to be a waiting one.

Try to Persuade Huerta.

Prominent Mexicans have taken it upon themselves to try to persuade Gen. Huerta to retire in favor of another provisional executive, acceptable to all factions.

Meanwhile, arms and munitions of war from the United States will continue to be denied to the two warring forces. Unless it is apparent that internal efforts to bring about peace have failed, the United States will not offer its services as a mediator. Mr. Lind will undoubtedly act in that capacity when the time comes.

Declarations from both Huerta and Carranza have been made in the press rejecting mediation proposals, but administration officials realize that both sides fear they may be showing weakness in the acceptance of such a proposal at this time, and are not convinced that friendly efforts to mediate would prove ineffective. Officials here hope that the effort to put an end to bloodshed and destruction of property would appeal to public opinion in Mexico and unite the factions on a peace program.

Talked With Wilson.

Mr. Lind, who has been in Washington for the last three days, has talked with President Wilson and Secretary Bryan and obtained their views of the situation. Mr. Lind is a lawyer by profession and was a member of congress from the Fiftieth to Fifty-second sessions, being a colleague of Mr. Bryan. He was a Republican while in congress, but was elected governor of Minnesota from 1899 to 1901 on the Democratic ticket; was defeated for re-election and went to congress again from 1903 to 1905 from the Fourth Minnesota district as a Democrat. He is president of the board of regents of the University of Minnesota.

Ambassador Wilson, except for a formal statement after his resignation had been accepted, did not care to comment on the future policies of the administration.

Saw Daughters Assaulted.

Mexico, City, Aug. 5.—How Mathew Gourd, an American farmer, was lashed to a tree and forced to witness an attack on his two daughters by bandits is a story brought here from Tampico. The person relating the story said the bandits first requested cigarettes from Gourd, who complied, and a peso was offered in payment for them. Gourd was then tied and with a knife at his throat was ordered to produce his money.

He told his 17-year-old daughter to bring the money from the house, and on her appearance she was seized and, together with her sister, aged 30 years, was mistreated. When the rebels left the women untied their father, who reported the assault to the authorities at Tampico.

One version of the affair is that the assailants were not rebels but peons employed on Gourd's own farm near the Atsador colony.

The American embassy here has not admitted knowledge of the alleged incident, but it is said that a report of it has been sent to Washington from Tampico.

"Japs Offer Warships."

El Paso, Tex., Aug. 5.—That the Japanese government, through its new ambassador to Mexico, has offered the support of eighteen of its warships to Mexico in the event of war with a "common enemy" is the story brought to agents of the department of justice by a Chihuahua Mexican, an alleged Constitutionalist spy in the Federal ranks. The Mexican declares he was present in Chihuahua with Federal army officers when a cipher message containing such news from President Huerta was translated.

Colquitt Protests.

Austin, Tex., Aug. 5.—Governor O. B. Colquitt of Texas, has sent a telegram to Secretary of State Bryan protesting against the release of Mexican soldiers held in Texas prisons, in answer to a plan suggested by the secretary some weeks ago for giving them their freedom. The soldiers were charged with violation of neutrality laws. In his telegram the governor said:

"I don't wish to assent to any course which will either aid, increase or encourage the barbarities and inhumanity which the policy of the United States government is permitting across its border and in the republic of Mexico generally toward our own citizens."

Can Build Courthouse.

Stanley, N. D., Aug. 5.—With the sale of the bonds to the state completed, the Mountrail county courthouse will now be rushed to completion. The work was awarded to a contractor from Great Falls, Mont., who will now be able to expedite matters. It is expected that the superstructure will be finished this fall.

Quick Way to Whiten Arms, Hands and Neck

It is a real trial when one's neck and arms are so discolored and coarsened she is ashamed to go without collar or long sleeves and must taboo evening dress entirely. No woman need worry on this account if she'll treat her skin properly with buttermilk. There's no better bleach or skin softener known, which is at the same time perfectly harmless. The best method is to cover the skin liberally with presolated buttermilk paste, rubbing it in gently. This also costs less to use than the liquid, which is perhaps 90 per cent water. Allow the paste to remain on as long as convenient, then remove with soapless water.

This is a fine thing for freckles, brown, over-red or rough skin—for face as well as for neck, arms and hands. It soon makes the skin soft, white and beautiful. Most druggists recommend it. It does not make the face greasy and it also takes the place both of soaps and face creams.—Emily Coulson in Town Tattler.

JOHN LIND,
Former Governor of Minnesota, Who Has Been Sent to Mexico as the Personal Representative of President Wilson.

HEAR TALES OF DYNAMITE

Ferris asking him to come here to make his annual inspection of the state troops, and to place himself in a position whereby he could unofficially investigate the feasibility of arriving at some settlement of the dispute between the operators and their striking employes.

May Reopen Champion.

Sixty men went to work underground at the Champion this morning, and fifty more agreed to go down at noon. Actual mining probably will start there tomorrow, this being the first mine of the district to prepare for this. The mining companies refuse to grant the men going to work now in the face of strike any increase in wages, although a partial promise of an increase later has been made.

At Calumet the non-union miners' committee meets today to pick a committee to approach the operators for terms on which 1,000 men may go to work this week. A mass meeting of non-union men will be held at Palestra rink tomorrow, guarded by troops.

The strikers' committee all over the district is endeavoring to restrain the men from any deeds of violence, or that can be construed as acts against the authorities. Vice President C. E. Mahoney left last night for St. Louis and Denver to secure the indorsement of the strike by the executive committee of the Western Federation of Miners. It is now claimed the Western federation did not authorize the strike, but that the local union men and agitators forced it.

TWO LOBBY PROBES ON

testified that Foraker, through influence in Washington, took a leading part in the deal, at Lamar's solicitation.

Foraker testified that at the time of reorganization the Union Pacific owed the United States $30,000,000, and one proposal was that the government receive only part of that sum. Foraker swore that he did not figure in the sale except in an effort to see that the government got the whole sum.

Foraker said he had known Mulhall since 1883, when he (Foraker) was a candidate for governor of Ohio. He did not know how active Mulhall was in his behalf in that campaign.

"I don't remember that I ever asked him to work for me, and I don't know that I asked him not to," he said.

"Before We Got Good."

Foraker denied that he ever favored any legislation wanted by the National Association of Manufacturers, or that he talked with Mulhall about legislation in Washington. He said he frequently talked to men in the capitol, however, in those days about legislation.

"Before we got so good as we are now," he said, "I thought it was all right to answer questions. Of course, I never had any idea that these conversations were to be basis of reports by some lobbyist."

Foraker flatly denied Mulhall's testimony of a conference at which many leading Republicans opposed to the nomination of Taft, gathered at Foraker's house to discuss plans for concerted opposition.

"I didn't think Mulhall was as great a man as he thought he was, and I did not think he had as great influence as he thought he had. I did not take him so seriously as he did himself," said Foraker.

In contrast to those who have denounced Mulhall as a liar, Foraker amused his hearers by the calm way he talked of Mulhall's desire to appear with prominent men, talk with them and report what he thought they thought to his employers.

Prepared Mulhall Story.

The house lobby investigation got under way with Louis Seibold, who prepared the exposures of Martin M. Mulhall for the New York World as the first witness, identifying "published statements and otherwise laying foundations for the cross-examination of Mulhall. Representative McDermott of Illinois, one of the members of the house named in the Mulhall charges, was represented by counsel.

Discussing the list of public men classified as those whom the National Association of Manufacturers had "no difficulty in reaching and influencing for business, political or sympathetic reasons," Mr. Seibold testified he had no purpose of implying any "moral obliquity" or "legislative impropriety" to the men mentioned.

"The basis for this list," said Mr. Seibold, "was the Mulhall letters, his personal narrative and statements he made to me."

Found More Letters.

He told the committee that 400 or 500 new letters had been discovered within the last two or three days in which representative Fairchild of New York was mentioned.

NOT A MURDER; ONLY A NIGHTMARE

Young women in the Y. W. C. A. were roused from their slumbers several nights ago by groans and cries. "Some woman on the street in front of the building was being murdered." "And why did not someone go to her assistance?"

"The police department was inefficient," "There would be complaints made in the morning" Oh, the groans were terrible. The young women hid in terror under the covers.

Then they heard a voice.

"My, but that was an awful dream. I must have had the nightmare. I wonder if I made any noise. Gracious, I hope nobody heard me."

It was one of the girls sleeping on a lower floor. She was talking to her roommate.

She had had a nightmare and her groans had floated through her open windows to the open windows above her and the sounds seemed to be coming from the street.

Now all the young women deny that they were startled. They say that if they really thought there was someone being hurt they would go down and make the London suffragettes look like Quaker maidens.

FINN SANGERFEST AT IRONWOOD, MICH.

Prominent Musicians of Four States Are Participating in Affair.

Ironwood, Mich., Aug. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The annual convention and saengerfest of the Finnish-American Musical association, comprising delegates from four states, began a three-days' session here Sunday. Three bands from out of town are present.

The initial gathering of the musical organization was held at the fair grounds Sunday afternoon. Mayor Henry Rowe welcomed the visitors. Sunday evening a concert program was rendered at Pearce theater, in which all the best singers, musicians and soloists took part. Joseph Vanhala, a great Finnish pianist, took part and was much enjoyed by all.

Picnic on Monday.

Monday a picnic was held at the fair grounds, and the afternoon was taken up with sports and music.

Last evening the greatest of Finnish plays, "The Violinist," a drama in five acts, was presented at Pearce theater, and this evening there will be a large reception and dance, music for which will be furnished by the Copper country fifteen-piece orchestra at the Commercial club rooms. This is the most important gathering of its kind that has been held in this city for many years.

Miss Martha Lean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. and Mrs. John Lean of Calumet, and W. H. Goad of Calumet were quietly married Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Trevithick, Curry street. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. A. E. Healey, pastor of the M. E. church. John Lean, brother of the bride, was best man, and Miss Lillie Johns acted as bridesmaid. Mr. and Mrs. Goad expect to make their home in this city. The bride is well known here, having been born in Ironwood and spent her childhood days here, having moved to the Copper country with her parents a few years ago.

COCKRAN AT MILWAUKEE.

Silver-Tongued New Yorker Lauds Perry's Great Victory.

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 5.—Twelve thousand persons crowded into the Auditorium here last night to participate in the patriotic concert and memorial ceremonies at the close of the Milwaukee celebration of Perry's victory.

Former Congressman W. Bourke Cockran of New York and Governor F. E. McGovern of Wisconsin were the orators of the evening, Mr. Cockran speaking on the "Full Significance of Perry's Victory," while the governor gave a brief historical review and the military effects of the war of 1812.

Mr. Cockran spoke of the governmental effects of the victory of Perry. He said that the country was practically beaten and that with the almost inevitable defeat was the sure extinction of democratic forms of government and the predominance of despotism.

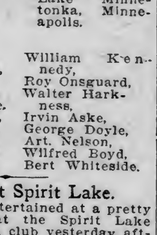
OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

Royalty Deals Blow at One of Fashion's Customs.

Queen Mary of England is one royal personage who constantly throws her influence into the scale in behalf of social purity, and does it in a frank and unmistakable manner that leaves no room for doubt as to where she stands.



Some of her edicts have caused considerable consternation in court circles at times, and there has doubtless been much secret weeping and wailing among fashionable court ladies who object to the restraint which her majesty seeks to impose upon them.

The queen's latest decree is her ban upon the decollette gown, under certain circumstances. The queen is known to entertain an antipathy to low-cut gowns for afternoon functions, and she recently made it known that she would permit the Princess Mary to be one of the bridesmaids at a royal wedding only on condition that none of the bridesmaids wear frocks cut lower than one inch in the front of the neck.

Sounds Puritanic, does it? Perhaps a bit so. And yet, after all, is it not refreshing to see some indications of a protest against the modern license in women's fashions, especially from so high a source?

I have severals times had something to say on the question of women's fashions, and am heartily opposed to the extremes which are being indulged in by many women of the present generation. The time was not so very long ago when the decollette gown was worn only at evening functions, and then was kept within modest limitations. However, nowadays it is a common sight to see women and girls, many of them of tender years, wearing low-cut gowns at afternoon affairs and on the streets, day and night alike, and seeming to think nothing about it.

I think the time is here when a reaction in the matter of women's fashions is bound to come. The extremities of dress, as expressed in the tight skirt, especially with the immodest slit—that is when the slit is too extreme—the low-cut dresses and waists and evening dresses and otherwise, must come to a halt, or there is no telling where it will end.

Many of the most vigorous protests I have heard waged against some modern fashions are from the male sex. I think they deserve serious consideration on the part of those inclined to offend in the matter.

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

LYCEUM—"Hanky Panky."
EMPRESS—Vaudeville.

"HANKY PANKY" AT THE LYCEUM

Miss Florence Moore, alias Mrs. Billie Montgomery, one-time vaudevillianess, but now reformed temporarily, is a $2 laugh all by herself, done up in a pair of blue silk pajamas.

Speaking of "Hanky Panky," the sublimated burlesque show which Lew Fields sicked on to Duluth to show what life along the Great White Way is like, you naturally speak first of Miss Florence Moore, with apologies to jolly little Max Rogers and all the other high-priced stars in the Fields' constellation.

It may be that she dislikes being separated from her husband, but Mrs. Billie didn't really get going properly until the second act last evening. After you have done the "two-a-day" for several years with one man, it is hard to be separated from him for even one act of a musical extravaganza. This blue streak of merriment didn't really hit her gait until halfway, for stage purposes William Montgomery, trailed in at the beginning of the second act, and then Miss Florence Moore demonstrated just why vaudeville managers are said to be willing to pay her and Friend Husband $1,000 a week in real, genuine money. Florence and William proceeded in a thoroughly workmanlike, efficient and capable manner to "knock 'em off the seats." They're the craziest, wildest, pair of "nuts" that ever sent an audience into hysterics. But remember the warning—don't judge Miss Florence Moore-Montgomery by her work in the first act. Wait. Come to think of it, perhaps William has something to do with it after all.

Funny little Max Rogers is as funny as ever. Max was always one of the few forgivable German comedians. American audiences have stood a lot from German comedians since "The Prince of Pilsen" burst on their view with "Haf You Ever Been in Cincinnati." At times it seemed that their patience would be strained beyond the breaking point, but in spite of this it is a sad pessimist in deed who cannot squeeze a few laughs out of his system while watching little Max Rogers spatter mutilated English over the counstance, Hugh Cameron, former Duluth boy, is the said foil and a very good foil indeed. Since the death of his brother, Mr. Rogers has tried many foils, but it i doubtful if he ever had a better one than Hugh Cameron, Duluthian.

Clay Smith is an engaging young chap in the role of Sir J. Rufus Wallingford, and Harry Cooper carries a good share of the burden of the comedy as Solomon Bumpski.

The "Wriggle Sisters," wriggled acceptably and Miss Christine Neilsen's buxom charms were quite adequately exhibited. Grandmother might not have fully approved of Miss Neilsen's costumes, but then grandmother lived before the days of the split skirts, and diaphanous gowns. What there was of Miss Neilsen's gowns, was chiefly diaphanous and split.

The chorus, a hard working energetic body, also displayed the split skirt at its best. In one number each member of the chorus was clad in a pair of gloves. If they had ever taken off those gloves—well what's the use, they didn't.

Just what the plot was, nobody seemed to know. The production is simply a combination of vaudeville and burlesque, strung together, and provided with the background of a chorus and scenic production. The scenic production was most elaborate and the costuming on the scale of a Fields production. "Hanky Panky" is a good show for the tired business man. It will be repeated tonight.

At the Empress.

Again to night and tomorrow the strong bill of vaudeville acts at the Empress theater will entertain the theatergoers. The program is varied and interesting. The feature act is given by the Hayward sisters. Their playing shows long study, and they are artists in their line. The talking song is a neat little ditty with many catchy lines. The piano playing is good and the instrumental numbers pleasing. Ollie Young and April give a good act with their bubble manipulations, boomerang throwing and diabole spinning. The stunts are put over with grace. Early and Laight are two real humorologists. Their songs are more of the parody order and their talk a round of laughs. This duo pull some very clever jokes and witty talk. The impersonation of a bibulous character by Miss Laight is one of the features of the act. Miss Lucille Tilton is a young woman who has learned the art of wearing male attire as if she was used to it all her life. Miss Tilton looks very fetching in male attire and the songs she gives in a falsetto voice are excellent. The photo plays this week are deserving of especial mention as they are better than usual. "The Reward of Courage" is an excellent dramatic film, while "The Speeders" is a very amusing story.

BROUGHT FIRST OXEN TO DULUTH

Mrs. Joseph Modjeska Also Raised Potatoes on Spalding Hotel Site.

The funeral of Mrs. Joseph Modjeska, the Duluth pioneer, who died yesterday, will be held tomorrow morning at 9:30 o'clock from St. Mary's Catholic church, Fourth avenue east and Third street, with burial at Calvary cemetery.

Mrs. Modjeska, who was 80 years old, lived in Duluth forty-five years. She and her husband came from Sandusky, Ohio, in the spring of 1868. Mr. Modjeska, who was a contractor, died fifteen years ago.

There are many interesting stories in connection with Mrs. Modjeska in the early days of Duluth. One is that she raised potatoes on the site where the Spalding hotel now stands, she and her husband having a house there. That was some years after arrival.

Mr. and Mrs. Modjeska brought to Duluth the first yoke of oxen ever seen here. The animals came high, for Mr. and Mrs. Modjeska traded a house and seven lots at Sandusky for them. On their arrival here Mr. and Mrs. Modjeska took up a homestead at Rice Lake and the oxen were used there for some years.

A SPECIAL ELECTION IS UNNECESSARY AND WASTEFUL.

Some of us are getting ahead of our horses.

The question before the house is not whether the Hicken ordinance should be ratified, but whether it shall be considered at a special election with considerable unnecessary expense or at the next general election with no expense at all.

The discussion would be bettered if there were a little more clear-thinking about this issue, and fewer appeals to prejudice.

The starting point must be this: Shall the city go to the expense and trouble of a special election, at a time when its finances are so involved that it has to count twice every penny, or shall it put the ordinance up for consideration at a general election, when there will be no extra expense and when there is sure to be a large and representative vote?

That, and not the merits of the Hicken ordinance, or even the question of law enforcement, is the issue first to be decided.

Commissioner Voss, in an interview in The Herald last evening, took the stand that there should be no special election, first because there is no need of it and second because the city cannot afford it.

"It does not seem to me," said Mr. Voss, "that the immediate enactment of the ordinance is necessary to secure law-enforcement, of which I am heartily in favor with the majority of our citizens. The laws are now being obeyed without the aid of the new liquor code. They have been enforced since the commission was inaugurated April 14. This has been done with the present ordinances and state laws, and I can see no reason why the same condition should not continue if no new laws are added. If any saloonkeeper is so foolish as to step over the line he will lose his license, as has been done in a number of instances in the last few months. The commission now has ample authority to regulate the saloons and the liquor traffic. I shall be glad to have the people pass upon the ordinance, but I believe that this should be done at the general election instead of at a special election next month, because of the city's present pressing need of funds. And I have not the slightest doubt that in the meantime the laws will continue to be as well enforced as they have been since last April."

Nor has anybody any doubt on that point. The commissioners have shown their disposition, and they are unanimous in their insistence upon law enforcement. Moreover, they have practically a unanimous public sentiment behind them.

If the law were being violated and the city government were powerless, an entirely different situation would exist. In that case the special election would be worth having if it cost ten times as much.

But the law is NOT being violated, and the city government has shown itself to be far from powerless.

It can and will revoke the license of any liquor dealer who violates the law.

It can refuse to issue a new license or renew an old one for any reason whatever or for no reason whatever.

Its powers are wide and, to the lawbreaker, fearful. That is why the law is being so well obeyed and that is why it will continue to be so well obeyed.

In the face of this condition, and in the present state of the city's finances, a special election is utterly useless and a wanton waste of public funds that are vitally needed for other uses.

Whoever suggested that congress investigate the Michigan strike must have been studying the habits and likes and dislikes of congress.

The Germans want to know how to win the Olympic games. That's easy. Give all your amateurs paid jobs on baseball teams, and then let them be disqualified from any other sport.

MAKING SUPERIOR STREET MORE USEFUL.

The program proposed for making Superior street more useful for business and the pedestrian, backed by the merchants and outlined in the local columns of The Herald last evening, is at the same time wise and timely, and interesting as showing the growth of the city's population and business.

These are the proposals:

First, that the sidewalks be widened three feet on each side of Superior street.

Second, that trucks and heavy vehicles not needed on Superior street be required by ordinance to use some other thoroughfare.

Third, that automobiles be required to stop before passing street cars that are receiving or letting off passengers.

These provisions are needed, and the city government should make them.

Though considered wide enough when they were built, the sidewalks on Superior street are now altogether too narrow for the traffic that exists.

With business at present largely congested on a single street, though it is gradually working up to First street, trucks destined to other parts of the city should not use that street any more than is absolutely necessary.

The third proposal, though not precisely a part of the program for widening the usefulness of Superior street, is a sound regulation that many communities have adopted, and that Duluth should have adopted long ago. It is only fair to say that most automobile owners already practice this rule. It is necessary to make it a law of the road in order to reach those who have so little public spirit and consideration for others that they have to be compelled to act decently.

Ambassador Wilson is closing his term in office with a sixty-day vacation. There certainly are some advantages in public office.

THE ISSUE SHOULD BE MADE FAIRLY.

Whatever the fate of the Hicken ordinance, its defenders can accomplish nothing by starting their campaign on a basis of unfairness.

It is fair to state, however, that the attempt to create the impression that the issue is one of law enforcement or non-enforcement has so far been made only by the News Tribune.

The unmistakable sentiment of the community is that existing liquor laws should be enforced. The people showed that by electing men pledged to enforce them. It wouldn't be worth while now to begin a campaign against law enforcement, for such a cause could not muster a corporal's guard in Duluth.

The law is now enforced in Duluth.

Whether the Hicken ordinance is passed upon by the voters at a special or general election, the law still will be enforced in Duluth.

If the ordinance is put up at a special election and ratified, still the law will be enforced in Duluth, just as it is being enforced now—no more, and no less.

If the ordinance is rejected by the people, still the law will be enforced in Duluth, just as it is being enforced now—no more, and no less.

The issue is NOT law enforcement, because that issue is settled.

King George's boat won a race at Cowes. It's a wonder some suffragette didn't swim out and get in the way.

LIND FOR WILSON? A GOOD TRADE, INDEED!

Henry Lane Wilson, ex-President Taft's appointee as ambassador to Mexico, has resigned.

His place is to be taken by John Lind of Minnesota—first as a special representative of the president, and next as ambassador as soon as there is an established government there.

It is hard to imagine a more timely combination of events than the resignation of Henry Lane Wilson and the appointment of John Lind.

Wilson has shown himself to be wholly unfitted for the place—as manifestly unfitted as John Lind is fitted for it by character, temperament and ability.

Those of Minnesota who know John Lind are well aware that the president could hardly have made a wiser choice. No mistake has been made in letting Wilson go, and no mistake has been made in selecting John Lind.

The new representative of the United States in Mexico is wise, cool, dispassionate. He keeps his feet under him and his head working. He will be an ideal representative of a great nation at a ticklish point.

In these days, about the only general use for party lines is to hang soiled political linen on.

A First-Class Alibi.

National Food Magazine: "And you say that you are innocent of the charge of stealing a rooster from Mr. Jones?" asked an Arkansas judge of a meek-looking prisoner.

"Yes, sir; and I can prove it."

"How can you prove it?"

"I can prove that I didn't steal Mr. Jones' rooster, judge, because I stole two hens from Mr. Graston the same night, and Jones lives five miles from Graston's."

"The proof is conclusive," said the judge. "Discharge the prisoner."

IVERSON EXPLAINS BELTRAMI LOANS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In your issue of July 29 last, reference is made to a report from Bemidji that Beltrami county applied for a loan of $128,000 from the state to dig drainage ditches, but could not get it because the state had no available funds.

The truth is that these loans were not made because to do so would be to exceed the limitation of 15 per cent as fixed by the state Constitution. The state did, however, agree to loan up to the maximum. The following letter sent to the county auditor, under date of July 26, 1913, states the facts.

Will you be kind enough to publish this communication:

"We have before us the following applications for ditch loans from Beltrami county: Judicial ditch No. 10, $58,000; No. 14, $87,000; and No. 15, $35,700, making a total of $180,700. The certificates prepared by you as county auditor show that the last assessed real property valuation is $5,057,221. The constitutional limitation on loans made from the state trust fund is 15 per cent of the real property valuation, which is the maximum that can be loaned by the state, including all indebtedness, floating and otherwise. This would be $758,583.10.

"It appears from your certificate dated July 25, 1913, that the total indebtedness, bonded and otherwise, of your county is $768,993.79, deducting therefrom the $50,967.30 in your sinking fund leaves $718,026.49. This leaves $40,452.61 as the maximum that the state could loan your county at this time.

"The only application that falls within that amount is your judicial ditch No. 15, $35,700. I have therefore retained that application and am returning you all the papers in application for a loan on judicial ditch No. 10 and judicial ditch No. 14, for the reason that to make those loans to your county would be in excess of the limit authorized by the state Constitution.

"May I also request that in case your bonded or floating indebtedness is increased between this time and the time when you actually issue the bonds for the loan on judicial ditch No. 15, that you advise me of it."

Yours very truly,

S. G. IVERSON,
State Auditor.

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 4.

The Most Beautiful Thing

Emporia Gazette: That's some dress you've got on, little girl—it sure is. That delicate, clinging, crinkly stuff is the prettiest cloth on the store counters; that silk Persian sash of many colors so gracefully swathed about the center section of your anatomy would knock the spots off Joseph's coat. You are corseted and tailored according to the most extreme model in the advance August fashion books.

But your neck is too low and your sleeves are too short, and your skirt is far-and-away tighter than the skirts ever were meant to be. And that graceful slit exposing your dainty left ankle shows a stocking above your pump that is almost transparent enough to read through. And you haven't any more petticoat than a rabbit—you know you haven't.

Oh, you're some swell, you are. Have you noticed how the loafers around the grove rubber after you as you trip demurely by on your way to the uplift lectures? And have you been thinking, little foolish one, that they were rubbering out of pure admiration? Ask your brother about it. If he's got any sense he'll tell you some things that will be hard on your vanity and good for your soul. And if you've got any sense, you'll take his word for it; you'll lay that dress away and don something that's wide enough around the bottom to allow room for two petticoats and one pair of legs.

For there never was a dress designed, little girl, that is half so beautiful as a young girl's modesty.

A Real Musician.

I was lookin' fur some music of the high, artistic kind;
A robin in the apple tree was what made up my mind,
I said, "If such a little chap, no bigger than my hand,
Kin make such melody, what would you get from a big band?"
So I got myself a fiddle, an' I got myself a drum;
A clarinet an' horns—they cost a pretty tidy sum.
I roused the boys an' girls together at the break of day,
To practice up the tunes that I was hopin' they would play.

At first it was a dismal row. As time went rollin' 'round,
Each sort o' got the hang of how to make the proper sound.
The neighbors liked to come an' listen to the serenade,
An' when we have a concert, some folks actually paid.
But as fur me, I jes packed up an' went some miles away,
An' heard with joy the sweetness of a pure, unstudied lay;
An' I said, "I'm pleased to meet you, Mister Robin-in-the-Tree!
Jes' take another encore, 'cause you're good enough fur me!"

A Philosopher's Dream

By Sheboygard.

Washington, Aug. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Under the head of "Half Billion of American Capital Driven Into Canada by United States Policy," the Washington Post prints a table that purports to disclose in what Canadian enterprises all that money is invested. And this is cited as an economic calamity by that school that would erect a Chinese wall around our country and that would not entrust a dollar to one of our free citizens to buy anything abroad. And yet these folk insist that our people shall sell by the billion abroad.

It is the consensus of the average citizenship of our glorious country that the chief, perhaps the sole, mission of men and women in this life is to acquire and keep money. In that respect we are a nation of upstarts, measuring everything by the dollar. And the intelligence of even the parvenu should teach that it is better to lend money than to borrow money. France lends money, Mexico borrows money, and France is much better off in every respect than Mexico. If this philosophy of the headliner of the Washington Post is correct France should be the most wretched nation of Continental Europe in matters of meum et tuum, for she lends twice as much money as the rest of the continent combined.

Our people have much more money invested in Mexico than in Canada and if they will keep the peace down there American capitalists will reap a rich harvest from their ventures in that fairest land of our hemisphere. American capital is also in Cuba, and some of our bankers hoped to get a slice of the proposed Chinese loan. Great Britain, that may be described as Insular Europe, has more money loaned abroad than France, though most of her investments are in her "possessions"—Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, Egypt, India, and other places.

And England is the first commercial and financial nation in the world, made so by her policy of free trade with all the world. Her enlightened statesmen of all parties are not afraid to compete with all the world in all the markets of the world, including her home market. England grows enormous crops of wheat and wheat is on her free list. She grows immense crops of wool, and wool is on her free list. She produces bountifully of provisions, dairy products, poultry, vegetables, eggs, fruits, especially apples and cider, and all these are on her free list. True she has a few, comparatively very few, very rich men, but none in the class of Rockefeller or Carnegie, and in the United Kingdom, where exists an aristocracy of birth, wealth is better and more equitably distributed than in the United States where is located an aristocracy of money.

The late Goldwin Smith, some time Oxford professor, was rated as one of the ablest thinkers on political subjects of his day. He died a little while ago at a great age, and the last forty years of his life he was a subject of the British crown residing in Canada, where he was a teacher of political thought and held to be a sage by most of his compatriots.

Mr. Smith earnestly wished for the peaceful and cordial annexation of Canada to the United States and he expected to see the thing accomplished during his life. He sought to teach the people of England that it would be better for all concerned—the "Mother Country," Canada and the United States. He knew our country better and more accurately than most of our own ablest statesmen. He had studied our political parties and was profoundly versed in the workings of the human heart.

This typical Englishman, Oxford professor, saw in prophetic vision the Dominion of Canada separated into twenty different communities, each a state of the American Union with representatives in both houses of our congress upon exact equality with the existing states. He knew that there was a love for the "Mother Country" among Canadians as fervent and devoted as could be found in Kent, or Yorkshire, or Warwickshire in the "Right little, tight little island," and that being the case he knew enough of our politics and politicians to see that all political parties of the United States would bid for the Canadian vote, to annex which any party would resort to any policy.

Inevitably that would lead to a hard and fast alliance, offensive and defensive, between the United States and Great Britain and all her colonies and dependencies. Such a combination would dominate the world and have in its keeping peace and war. On land and sea it would be irresistible in war; on the world's exchanges it would have the longest purse; in the markets of the world it would sell and buy more than the rest of the world.

That was the dream of Goldwin Smith. He hoped for absolute free trade between Canada and the United States which would hasten and force annexation. He welcomed immigration from the States to Canada, and delighted in emigration from Canada to the States. He saw in the investments of American capital in Canadian industries a most important factor than would aid in the achievement of his idea.

And let me tell you—not a great period distant Goldwin Smith's dream may be realized. This Democratic tariff is going to help it along.

Newspaper 112 Years Old to Go.

Brooklyn Eagle: Thomas Jefferson was just entering upon his first term as president of the United States when the Trenton, N. J., True American came into existence in 1801. Now after 112 years of life, the old newspaper is to suspend publication, its property having been bought for a sum $15,000 in excess of its debts, and its once very profitable job printing plant having been absorbed by a New York firm.

The Boston Evening Post was 66 years old when the Trenton True American was born. The Connecticut Courant of Hartford was 37 years old. The New Hampshire Gazette of Portsmouth was 45 years old. The Massachusetts Spy, first published in Boston in 1770, removed to Worcester and perpetuated as the Worcester Spy; the Pittsburg Gazette, founded in 1786, and the Portland, Me., Advertiser, founded in 1785, were samples of the journalism of 1801. The first newspaper in New Jersey was the New Jersey Gazette, established in Burlington in 1777, and later removed to Trenton, which went out of existence in 1786, but had its name partially continued by the State Gazette, nine years older than the True American. The New Brunswick Times also antedates the True American by nine years.

Journalism in America has seen many changes since Jefferson was first inaugurated. Better communications have given a tremendous advantage to the city newspaper of larger capital and with better plant than one in a small city can afford. Enterprise and heavy investment have become essentials to staying in business.

At Any Old Seashore

John Kendrick Bangs in Lippincott's.

John Kendrick Bangs in Lippincott's: The waves were lapping idly upon the heated sands of Beachmere-by-the-Sea, their rhythmic motion giving a certain tonal setting to the fair girl's words. Mulligatawney, lying at her feet, building little edifices in the white sand, chilled as she spoke.

"I do not see how you could even have thought of such a thing," she said, gazing coldly out upon the sea. "I have tried to be nice to you, and I think I have succeeded——"

"There can be no doubt of that," he interjected hastily. "You have been very nice to me from the moment we first met. No one could have been nicer."

"But because I walk with you, and accept roses and boxes of candy from you, and dance with you, and with my mother take an occasional ride over the country with you in your motor," she went on witheringly, "is no reason for your supposing that I am in love with you, unless you are one of those men who think they are irresistible, and that no woman can look at them without at once losing her heart."

"I assure you," Mulligatawney put in, shifting his position easily, "that I am not in the least that sort. Of course, I know that I am attractive——"

"Conceit," sniffed the girl contemptuously.

"Not at all," said Mulligatawney, with a smile. "It would be false modesty for me to deny it—but I have never posed as or pretended to be a lady killer."

"And yet," she retorted, "presuming upon our very slight acquaintance of ten days, you have had the temerity to propose to me. Did you think for a moment that I would accept you?"

Mulligatawney laughed at the question.

"To tell you the truth, no," he replied. "It never entered my mind that you would, and, in entire respect to you, Miss Slithers, permit me to say that if I had thought you would accept me, I should never have proposed."

The girl started at these strange words, and for the first time began to feel a real interest in the man before her.

"You mean to tell me, then," she demanded, "that you put the most sacred question a man can ask a woman just to gratify an idle whim, frivolously, and with no seriousness of purpose?"

"Not at all, my dear Miss Slithers," said Mulligatawney. "It was neither an idle whim nor frivolity that led to the question. I did it simply because it was such a terribly hot day. Are you aware that the thermometer registers 98 in the shade?"

"Surely I am," she replied. "But what has that got to do with your asking me to marry you?"

"I knew of no other way to bring on a frost," said Mulligatawney, politely.

The girl sprang to her feet.

"Ah," she said icily, "that is it eh? Well, let me tell you, Henry Mulligatawney, that you have done more than that, for my answer is snow!"

And she left him so coldly that, despite the awful temperature, he shivered out on the sandy reaches of those sun-baked sands.

A Lodge in the Manger

New York Evening Post: Are we hereafter to say a Lodge in the manger? The Massachusetts senator yesterday took the noble position that he and his party would neither do anything to pass a proper currency bill nor permit the Democrats to pass it. Unless, he announced, the majority in the senate would give assurances to the minority that a currency bill would not be called up after the tariff bill, then the minority would hold up the tariff bill by endless talk—amounting to outright obstruction—until it should be too late even to introduce a currency bill. This may be partly a bluff, or an endeavor to feel out the Democratic position, but whatever it is, Senator Lodge is assuming an attitude at once narrowly partisan, inconsistent, and devoid of regard for the public welfare. For what have he and his fellow-Republicans been saying for six years past? Why, that reform of the currency and improvement of our banking system were urgently needed. To this they have pledged themselves, and for it they have done a great deal of preliminary work. But now when the time seems ripe, and the house is preparing a bill that embodies the most useful conclusions of the Aldrich plan, which Lodge favored, he coolly declares that the senate shall not be allowed to take it up. For what reason except that a Democratic administration is pushing the measure, and that he does not propose to let it get the credit? On its face, the statement of Senator Lodge was so mean and unpatriotic that it was at once repudiated, we are glad to say, by Western Republican senators. Mr. Borah quietly said that he and his Progressive friends must not be thought so paltry in spirit as to assent to the peanut policy proposed by Lodge.

Just Like Webster.

New York World: Henry Cabot Lodge is admittedly the successor in direct line of Daniel Webster as senator from Massachusetts. As such he towers mightily among Republican senators who are serving notice that if the administration's currency bill is not put aside for this session the tariff bill will not be permitted to reach a vote in the senate.

So well does Mr. Lodge preserve the likeness to his great senatorial predecessor! He revives the past—he brings it back more substantially than through a dream.

We can see Webster admitting the certainty of a tariff bill's enactment and conceding the country's interest that it should be enacted quickly. And then we see him engaged in a filibuster to postpone the enactment. We see him proclaiming the need of currency reform and then we see him demanding that this reform be put aside as the price of orderly legislation on the tariff. We see him thus always broad and statesmanlike—now for liberty and Union and next for license and confusion.

Massachusetts, there she is and needing no encomium from us! And there also is her modern Webster in the senate.

A New Railroad Wrinkle.

Wall Street Journal: A new feature on American railroads has recently been introduced by the St. Paul Train known as "the Fast Mail," leaving the Twin Cities in the evening, has been equipped with a new type of marine searchlight of 3,000,000-candle power that throws a stream of light three miles. The searchlight is adjusted on the observation platform, and is in charge of an experienced operator. The light can be swayed 90 deg. from right to left and 45 deg. upward.

The St. Paul parallels the Mississippi for 100 miles. The river boats, curious-shaped rock formations, and a wealth of green foliage furnish an interesting panorama.

Minnesota Opinions

Comments of the State Press.

Seasonable Occupations.

Gorwich Banner: This is the season of the year when the fool rocks the boat.—Mankato Free Press.

And the joy rider hitteth the trail to his long home.—Blue Earth Post.

And everybody tells everybody else, that it is hot.—The Prison Mirror.

And the wise man swatteth the fly and kills the mosquito.

A Real Issue.

Cambridge North Star: Commenting upon a recent assertion of the North Star that if the issue of official extravagance were raised in Minnesota, the state administration would find itself embarrassed the Northfield News says:

"Both Lee and Mr. Spooner made the welkin ring with this cry a year ago. The result indicates clearly that the people rather enjoy paying about twice what they ought to for the privilege of being governed by those to whom they are partial."

Neither Mr. Lee nor Mr. Spooner really showed up the real extravagance of the state administration. The spending of $4,000 or $5,000 of the people's money each year by the governor for railroad and hotel bills and taxicab hire is not a big enough item to base a campaign upon. That is simply an incident which might be cited as demonstrating, generally, the governor's conception of the duties and obligations of officers to see that the money of the people is not wasted or frittered away. The opposing candidates ought to have investigated the general expenses of the state government and then have shown the people how big savings could be made if the governor had possessed the intelligence to see the opportunity of the disposition to give the taxpayers a square deal. Perhaps in this campaign some genius will arise, grasp the situation and demonstrate to the people that they are really being "buncoed" by the politicians who control the state machinery. If such a man does come forward, we will guarantee that the people will declare that they do not "enjoy paying twice what they ought to for the privilege of being governed" by anyone. And then we will have a new governor.

From Another Angle.

St. Cloud Journal-Press: The fact that the people of Minnesota were charged 3 cents a mile on passenger trains did not tell the whole story. Wisconsin during this time enjoyed a 2-cent rate while the Dakotas had a 2½-cent rate. The real estate men are beginning to learn that the higher rate in Minnesota kept away many home seekers, and since the 2-cent rate went into effect in this state there has been a larger number of land seekers from other states coming here to look at the biggest bargains any state has to offer. The railroads are as much interested in increasing the population of the state as any interest can possibly be, but the policy of the railroads has been mighty short sighted in more instances than one.

Advice to Clapp.

Fairmont Sentinel: Senator Clapp can materially improve his standing among the rank and file of Minnesota voters and strengthen his chances for re-election by supporting the administration tariff bill. If there is a tariff reform state in the Union it is Minnesota, and opposition to the measure now before congress would be construed as an act of defiance of the overwhelming sentiment of the people. We shall watch the senator's course in this matter with absorbing interest.

Would Stop With Cities.

St. Cloud Times: The Times believes in a commission form of government for cities. So far this has worked excellently well in St. Cloud. But, we do not believe in carrying this form of government into the state. The commission system is yet in its infancy. Let there be more lasting experience before extending it as suggested. Of course, the membership in both branches of the legislature is too large. It should have been reduced one-half.

Only a Start Needed.

Aurora News: Dairying is well adapted to this section where hay and root crops of such excellency are so easily produced. All that is needed is a start in this line by some energetic man. With a strong leader dairying would soon be the leading industry in this section.

It Might Be Well.

Albert Lea Tribune: When it comes to the matter of advancing rates, whether they be passenger, freight, gas, electricity, or articles of food, there is a very general protest on the part of the public, and there is always a demand for an investigation and action to secure a reduction. Would it not be just as well if some such consistent and persistent course were taken regarding the ever increasing tax rate?

Gone Forever.

St. Louis Republican: It was about the year 1880 that civilization backed American Romance up to the Pacific ocean and prepared to push her in. The tussle, which had extended all the way from the mountains of Kentucky to the Coast range, had been a long one and romance had made a good, though losing, fight. Slowly, but surely, men with the bark on went down before men in evening dress, and unless something was done romance was doomed to quit this land forever.

Col. Cody was in his time the hero of many an Indian fight, and we may fancy him the hero of a hundred rescues, but never did he seem a more gallant protector of the oppressed than when he valiantly drove back the cumbering minions of humdrum industry and made a place where romance could thrive. We don't know whether this was the aim the Colonel had in mind when he created Buffalo Bill's Wild West show—maybe he wanted an excuse for wearing long hair—but that is what he did just the same.

Millions have thanked him for the service and thought he had permanently solved the problem of preserving American romance, or a sample of it, for all time. But now it appears that romance will not stand captivity. Since going under canvas it has languished. The form was there, but the spirit was dead, and when a measly process server in New Jersey came along the other day and prepared to take the last asylum of American romance to the bankruptcy court, what did the surviving heroes of American romence do? Did they shoot out the lights, shoot up the town, tie the process-server on a bucking broncho with his face to the tail and defy the wide, wide world? Not much. They went to a lawyer and in a "bondsman's key" asked to be defended. Farewell American Romance; you are—to use the language of your once unlimited ranges of prairie and hill—a busted community.

Ready for the Experiment.

Des Monies Register and Leader (Rep.): There is but one explanation of the want of interest with which the people read daily of the probable enactment of the new tariff law.

There is widespread curiosity to learn just what will come from a reasonably radical application of the democratic theory of free trade.

So much has been said, and has been said so persistently, of the undue advantage the American producer has had in the home market, an advantage necessarily measured by increased cost to the consumer, that everybody is ready for a dip into the world's markets.

Under such circumstances it would amount to a failure of government if by any hook enough Democratic votes could be mustered in the senate to defeat the bill or to so materially modify it that the sponsors for low tariffs would refuse to father it.

Even if this were not so, it would still be impossible to commend Senator Chamberlain, who says that because Oregon has some interests he believes are not being properly provided for he will not stand by his party associates. That has been the bane of all tariff making in the history of the country. There are always enough local interests, if the men representing them take no larger view of their public duty, to be pooled to control a majority in congress. Senator Chamberlain has held himself out to the country as champion of lower tariffs. It is entirely unimportant that Oregon happens to be one of the states selected for demonstration.

The country has been edging up to a trial of free competition for a long time. Even those who are as confident as ever that our industries will suffer and our industrial prosperity decline, can afford to welcome an experiment that could not have been delayed much longer.

Let the Democratic tariff bill be enacted as the president wants it.

A Record Export Year.

World's Work: During the last year there has been an increase of about $15,000,000 a month in the value of the manufactured articles exported from the United States. That is the most significant detail of a record export year. In the nine months from July 1, 1912, to April 1, 1913, we sent more goods abroad than ever before in a whole year. We seem to have made a real beginning in a campaign of trade extension that ten years ago was heralded, but which did not materialize in any large degree.

But the present growth of our export trade is a particularly happy phenomenon at this time, for it seems to show that, even if our foreign rivals can soon compete with us in the newly opened markets here, we are more and more able to push our goods successfully abroad.

In spite of our handicaps, of our ignorance of foreign markets, and our carelessness of their requirements, of our lack of a merchant marine and of American banks in foreign ports—in spite of all these things, it seems that a new era in American manufacturing has set in, a period of export to the markets of the world.

The DOCTOR'S HELPS

By DONALD McCASKEY, M. D.
Member of Staff, General Hospital, Lancaster, Pa.; Fellow of the New York Academy of Medicine.

HOW TO LIMBER UP A STIFF JOINT

A letter of inquiry has reached me asking what is good to loosen up a stiff joint. In part it reads: "My joints have become much drawn and stiffened from rheumatism. What would you advise me to do?"

There has been a very gradual extra growth of the surfaces of your joints. The millions of cartilage cells, being continually irritated and inflamed by poison, have increased in enormous numbers. This accounts for the thickening and the stiffness. Because of insufficient use of your joints, the group of stronger muscles have kept pulling and pulling against the weaker muscle groups. This accounts for the drawn condition. This condition of thickening and the drawn-up after-results of disuse can be quickest relieved by your being anesthetized and have your doctor forcibly flex and extend the stiffened joints until all the adhesions have been broken up and free movement of the joint has been established. The unnecessary particles of overgrown cartilage will become partially or oftentimes wholly absorbed.

But you can't stop here. After the thickened cartilage surfaces have been rubbed down by forcible friction, you must continue to move the joints from one extreme of flexion to the other of extension. If you do not do this, the old condition of stiffness and of contortion will return.

Massage of the outer surface of the joints will likewise help things along rapidly. I do not mean just light rubbing. I mean hard massage, so that the local blood supply to the part is greatly increased. This will bring more blood to the part. The latter will be able to have the increased amount of blood carry off much of the waste particles of adhesions which have been broken up and which must be absorbed.

I wish that your letter of inquiry had stated how long the ailment had been existing, what the daily habits of living have been as to bathing, eating, drink, tubercular exposure, syphilis, gonorrhea, etc., etc. Many different causes give rise to stiffness in the joints. The mere name of rheumatism as is oftentimes used proves in a joint trouble to frequently be nothing of the kind, but an entirely different disorder.

Irrespective, however, as to which joints are affected, you cannot go wrong by adopting the above forcible bending, and massaging of the stiff and drawn joints. Do not think of undergoing such a procedure, however, without having your doctor administer an anesthetic. He can then do his work more readily and efficiently and with absolutely no pain to yourself. To attempt to break up the adhesions in a stiff joint without your taking an anesthetic would be cruelly wasting your nervous energies in your efforts to endure the pain.

Do not waste your time or money on salves or liniments. Pick out in your town a competent, studious physician. Consult him. Then follow his advice and mode of treatment. Take this article to him. Have him read it. He can then give you such supplementary advice and treatment as only the doctor can who is on the spot and actually sees the varying conditions of the ailment.

Editor's Note.—Few successes are obtained single-handed. It is the matter-of-fact minds which really perform the effective work of the world. That is precisely the condition with this newspaper organization. We are all working together to better serve you and every one else of our readers. You must occasionally tell us what you think of our efforts. It is just a plain, matter-of-fact desire on our part to know where we can be of further help to you. Will Ask More Time.

New York, Aug. 5.—That the express companies would be unable to comply with the order of the interstate commerce commission for a general reduction in rates by Oct. 15, the time specified, and would probably ask for an extension of time, was the opinion expressed by Duncan L. Roberts, president of the United States Express company.

"Our company has not, and I don't believe any other express company has, sufficient clerical help to make these changes in rates by Oct. 15," Mr. Roberts said. "While of course we will make an earnest effort to comply with the order, the task seems impossible. It is likely that we will have to ask for an extension of time."

Officials of other express companies coincided with Mr. Roberts views.

Sundberg Started It.

Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 5.—The reduction of express rates ordered by the interstate commerce commission yesterday is the result of an action started by State Senator R. E. Sundberg against the express companies in Minneapolis in March 1909. Its direct cause was when Mr. Sundberg was forced to pay $32 for carrying a casting worth $2.50 from Minneapolis to Kennedy, Kitson county Minnesota, Mr. Sundberg's home. There were four hearings on the case.

DULUTH'S FAME AS SUMMER CITY NOW CONTINENT-WIDE

New Yorker Says Zenith City Is Also Known Abroad---Thinks Lake Shore Has Been Neglected.

William Henry Given of New York, who is a guest at the Holland, says that Duluth's fame as a summer city is now continent wide.

"The average business man feels lost to the world in the typical American summer 'watering place' but to drop into a live city like Duluth these dog days makes him feel that he's circuited with a live wire," he said today.

Mr. Given spent some time in Europe of late years and he says he saw many copies of The Herald in the American colonies of European cities.

"You would be surprised to see how much Duluth newspapers are read by the traveling public in Europe," he said today. "In two years in Germany and France and especially in Berlin and Paris, my personal observation was that Americans over there find the dailies from the Head of the Lakes as newsy as any from the other cities, and their headlines are always bristling with some new achievement—the acquisition of a new railway terminal or an important industrial plant.

"Not enough emphasis has been laid, I think, upon the magnificent lake frontage of Duluth as a place for summer residences. We have plenty of lake cities, but only in Duluth does the topography of the most beautiful shore line on the continent lend itself to such a superb setting for villas and summer places.

"Speaking of Germany, Americans there are astounded at the eagerness of Germans for American specialties, even when their own goods enter into competition. In fact, in Berlin and all over the Fatherand and likewise in Paris the natives are simply red-headed for anything made in the United States. Typewriters, safety razors, self-playing pianos, fountain pens, electrical machinery and the cheaper types of automobiles are all snapped up eagerly, whereas American-made shoes are shipped in in enormous quantities. Germany itself is today like another United States, so nimble and wide-awake is it in adopting newest methods for running any kind of business from a department store to a dairy farm. Indeed we have no cause to complain that American merchandise is not being bought in Europe these days. The United States Steel corporation is selling a hundred million dollars' worth of steel products there yearly and American sales in other branches have recently shown astounding improvement."

Cures Maniacs With Oxygen.

Paris, Aug. 5.—The chief physician of the Villejnif insane asylum announces that injections of oxygen made by him cured in a few days two cases of an acute type of sudden madness. He says he believes the treatment will always be efficacious in madness resulting from physical or mental exhaustion.

AUSTRALIA TO TAKE PART IN THE FAIR.

Sydney, N. S. W., Aug. 5.—New South Wales, Queensland and Victoria all have agreed to co-operate in a joint exhibit at the Panama-Pacific exposition to be held in San Francisco in 1915, the Australian traders being convinced that the opening of the Panama canal and a reduction in tariff duties will greatly stimulate Australian trade with the United States. The government is arranging for the appointment of commercial agents at various points in the United States.

REFERENDUM ON NEW RED LIGHT LAW.

Sacramento, Cal., Aug. 5.—California's drastic red light abatement law, recently enacted by the legislature, is to be passed upon by the voters. Announcement is made that sufficient signatures have been obtained to a referendum petition to put the question up to the electorate. Meantime the operation of the law will be suspended.

To Keep Skin in Fine Condition in Summer

(From the Family Physician)

It would be much better for the skin if little cream, powder or rouge were used during the heated term. Mixed with perspiration, dust and grime, these things are anything but beautifying. Ordinary mercolized wax will do more for the complexion, and without giving an oily, shiny, streaked, spotted or pasty appearance. It is the ideal application for the season, as it not only keeps the pores clean, but daily removes particles of scarf skin which have been soiled by dirt or weather. By constantly keeping the complexion clear, white and satiny, it does more toward perpetuating a youthful countenance than any of the arts or artifices commonly employed. One ounce of mercolized wax, obtainable at any drug store, will completely renovate the worst complexion. It is applied at night like cold cream and washed off in the morning.

To keep the skin from sagging or wrinkling, or to overcome such condition, there's nothing better than a face bath made by disolving 1 ounce powdered saxolite in ½ pint witch hazel.

PLAN HOME FOR GIRLS

Young Women Will Be Given Chance to Seek Honest Employment.

Members of the St. Louis county board took final steps looking towards the establishment of a home for wayward girls in this city yesterday afternoon when they affixed their signatures to a lease on a 16-room house at Sixtieth avenue east and London road, formerly known as the Col. Gridley house, which was moved last spring from its former location at Tenth avenue east and Superior street.

The building will be redecorated and will be ready for occupancy by Aug. 16. The lease is for one year with the privilege of renewing, if desired.

The supervision of the home will be with the judges of the district court, who will appoint a matron and an assistant. The home is designed to protect and aid every girl who needs honest employment. A law was passed at the last session of the legislature which authorizes the county board to provide funds for such an institution.

TENNESSEE MAY FREEZE OUT TYPOS.

Nashville, Tenn., Aug. 5.—When President J. M. Lynch of the International Typographical union, arrived here yesterday preparatory to the holding of the annual convention of the organization in this city beginning Aug. 12, he found that the hall of the house of representatives, where the typos had been invited to meet by a legislative resolution, might be in use on the opening day of the convention. The tangle was due to a call issued last week by regular Democratic members for a meeting on Aug. 12. President Lynch said that if no adequate hall were available "the only thing to do will be to recommend to the convention, when it is called to order the first day, that we adjourn to some other city that can give us the required facilities."

PAROLE REVOKED.

Oscar Swanson Made No Effort to Return Stolen Money.

Oscar Swanson, who was paroled by Judge Dibell at the September, 1912, term of the district court after he had been sentenced to Stillwater for grand larceny, was ordered committed to the state penitentiary yesterday afternoon because he had violated the terms of his parole. He was haled before Judge Ensign, who after being advised that he had failed to report regularly to a probation officer, refused to give him another chance. Swanson secured $60.50 from his employer, E. J. Johnson, through fraudulent means and according to the probation officer has made no effort to repay the money.

ASKS STATE AID FOR KANSAS FARMERS.

Topeka, Kan., Aug. 5.—State Senator Harry McMillan of Ottawa county, has urged the state officials to call a special session of the legislature to give state aid to the farmers of Western Kansas whose crops have suffered severely from the lond period of hot dry weather. He said $500,000 should be appropriated for the farmers, and he believed the members of the legislature would come to Topeka for a five-day session without expense to the state. He said he would write letters to all the members of the two houses, submitting his plan. Although the farmers have not asked for assistance, Senator McMillan said conditions in Western Kansas were critical and more than a dozen counties need help badly.

A temperature of 100 deg. or more prevailed over most of the state yesterday. At Clay Center 113 was recorded.

REPORTER TELLS ABOUT LOBBYISTS.

Jefferson City, Mo., Aug. 5.—Joseph G. McAuliff, reporter for a St. Louis afternoon paper, was before the grand jury here all yesterday afternoon relative to the work of unregistered lobbyists paid for their activities during the last legislature. It is reported he gave the jury the names of several paid lobbyists and of members of the state legislature who can further testify as to the lobbyists' methods.

There is some doubt as to whether the jury will summon the legislators or continue the investigation much further. It is contended that the anti-lobby law is full of loopholes, and that this will deter the inquisitorial body's efforts.

FIVE YEARS IS LEAST BRIBERY SENTENCE

Five West Virginia Legislators Are Punished for Selling Votes.

Webster Springs, W. Va., Aug. 5.—Sentences were imposed on five members of the West Virginia legislature late yesterday by Judge W. S. O'Brien in the superior court. The legislators were convicted of bribery in connection with the election of a United States senator early in the year. The sentences follow:

Delegates S. U. G. Rhodes, Rath Duff and H. F. Asbury, six years each in the penitentiary; State Senator B. A. Smith, five years, six months; and Delegate Davis Hill, five years.

In addition the five are disqualified for life from holding any public office or office of trust.

CONVICT WAITRESS OF BOOK-MAKING.

New York, Aug. 5.—Margaret Wright, 33 years old, was convicted yesterday for "making a book" on horse races. She was placed under probation, with a warning from the court that a repetition of the offense would result in a penitentiary sentence. It is said to be the first instance of a woman being convicted for bookmaking in New York city.

In pleading for leniency, Miss Wright, who said she was a waitress, tearfully declared she was a victim of bookmakers. Nearly all of her wages for years past, she said, had been lost in betting on the races.

TRY TO EXTEND THE FISHERMEN'S STRIKE.

Vancouver, B. C., Aug. 5.—Japanese who are participating in a strike of salmon fishermen on the Frazer river, went out with guns in their boats and warned all fishermen at work to stop at once. They met a number of Greeks who were still fishing and threw their catch in the water.

The strikers assert that more than 6,000 fishermen have quit work. They demand 20 cents for each fish instead of 15, as recently fixed by the canneries.

Several hundred Indian and Japanese women working in the canneries have struck, but thirteen canneries continued in operation. Japanese threaten to force the Chinese employes in these plants to leave.

AGENTS ARRESTED IN NEW ORLEANS FREED

Blackmail Cases May Be Dropped—Brito Not to Be Tried.

New Orleans, La., Aug. 5.—The release from prison without bail of J. L. Mott, secret agent of the department of justice, and Ernesto Fernandez, representative of the Constitutionalist party of Mexico, is interpreted to mean that there will be no prosecution in connection with the payment of $500 last week by Emmanuel Castello Brito, former provisional governor of Campeche, Mexico, on an alleged promise of immunity from arrest on criminal charges preferred by the Mexican government. G. Raymond Matthews, special agent of the department of justice who accepted the $500 from Brito and who asserted that it was done in connection with a plan to detain Brito until a warrant for his arrest had arrived from Washington was released Saturday.

The release of Mott and Fernandez followed a special request from the department of justice.

The charges of murder and robbery made by Mexico against Brito may be dropped, according to Don Pedro Castillo Pascual, who says he was commissioned by Gen. Blanquet, Mexican minister of war, to effect a treaty of peace with the rebel governor, covering southern Mexico. His second conference with Brito was held yesterday at the Parish prison. The first conference was held in Mexico.

CATHOLIC WOMEN TO FIGHT SUFFRAGE.

DELAY OPENING THE PARK TO MOTORISTS.

Gardiner, Mont. Aug. 5.—Automobiles may enter Yellowstone National park in 1915, and possibly in 1914, according to Secretary of the Interior Franklin K. Lane, with whom Mayor Turner of Pocatello, Idaho, was in conference here yesterday.

Secretary Lane also announced that there would be no trial of automobiles in the park this year, but that he had taken under advisement the proposal to allow motor-driven vehicles to use the roads in the park for two weeks after the close of the season, on Sept. 15.

Both Secretary Lane and Assistant Secretary Miller favor the transfer of all maintenance of park roads from the war department to the interior department, according to statement made here by Mayor Turner.

NEIGHBORS HAVE NO COMPLAINT

Say Oredson Lot Is Not in an Insanitary Condition.

To prove his claim that health department officials acted hastily in stating that they would prosecute Dr. O. A. Oredson, because the latter's lot was insanitary, Dr. Oredson this morning secured statements from residents living in the vicinity of the Oredson flats at Twenty-third avenue west and Third street.

Those approached by the West end physician had nothing but praise for the condition of the lot, he claims.

Walter Swanstrom, county commissioner, Olson brothers, J. B. Anderson and John Carlson were among those interviewed by Dr. Oredson.

"As for the investigation on my property, I don't know anything about it," said Dr. Oredson. "I was surprised to see the notice of it in the paper. I have been in the hospital for a week and don't know anything about it.

"The facts are these: There are two cans for garbage in the rear of the flats, and a box for paper, tin cans, etc. I keep this in the rear of the lot. Now, I would like to ask Commissioner Hicken where it should be kept, if not there? Would he have me put it in the house? If the commissioner wants to prosecute, let him go right ahead. He knows where I am."

WANT TENTH AVENUE GRADED

The Fifth Ward Improvement club will this evening start a campaign for the grading of Tenth avenue west, from Third street to the boulevard. The regular meeting will be held at the Emerson school, Eleventh avenue west and Third street.

The members of the club propose to open this thoroughfare to automobile traffic, so that those coming up Mesaba avenue will be able to turn on Third street and continue up to the boulevard.

A committee will be appointed this evening and the matter taken up at once with the city commissioners. The expense for the improvement will not be very large and it is believed by members of the club that the commission will not hesitate in ordering the grading of the street. The property owners are reported as being in favor of the project.

Another improvement for which the club proposes to start an active campaign is the opening of Sixth street from Cascade park to the boulevard.

PUBLIC MARKET IS POPULAR PLACE.

The public market place at Twenty-first avenue west and Superior street is the most popular institution in this end of the city at the present time.

The market is open every day from early morning until 3 or 4 o'clock in the afternoon, from three to five farmers usually occupying the stands. They sell large quantities of garden truck and fruits at most reasonable prices and local housewives are already making these stands their headquarters for purchases.

The public market was opened last year, the city council having donated money for the erection of the stands and the rent of the space. The lot is owned by a Michigan resident, who has given the city a lease on the property for the summer.

ANNUAL EXERCISES OF SUMMER SCHOOL.

The annual exercises of the summer school of the St. Peter's Episcopal church, Twenty-eighth avenue west and First street, will be held Friday evening.

There are seventeen pupils in the class, who will receive certificates at the exercises Friday. The school has been in session the past two months under the direction of Rev. W. E. Harmann, rector of the church. F. L. Anderson is superintendent of the class.

The exercises will open with several musical numbers by the choir, to be followed by recitations and readings by the members of the graduating class. Addresses will be made during the evening by Dr. Carl Hagberg of St. Paul and Rev. Phillip Droberg of Rush City, Minn.

Rev. Mr. Harmann will present the certificates to the graduates at the close of the exercises.

Swedish Baptist Notes.

The Young People's Society of the First Swedish Baptist church, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street, will hold its monthly session in the church parlors this evening.

The finance committee of the church will meet this evening at the home of Louis Bergquist, 2030 London road.

The regular prayer meeting will be held Thursday evening, Rev. Swaney Nelson conducting the service.

Hotel Going Up.

Work was started this week on the second floor of the new hotel at Twentieth avenue west and Superior street. Construction on the building is progressing rapidly and it is expected that the building will be finished sometime in October. There will be four stories.

Street Improved.

The improvement to Superior street, from Thirteenth to Fifteenth avenue west, has been finished and the thoroughfare is now open for traffic. A new layer of crushed rock was laid on the pavement, as was done a year ago on the same street beyond Sixteenth avenue west.

Death Ends Long Illness.

Mrs. Chris Hanson, 38 years old, wife of a Pike Lake farmer, died last evening after an illness of over a year. She is survived by her parents, five brothers and two sisters. The body has been taken to the Olson & Crawford undertaking rooms, where the funeral arrangements will be made this afternoon.

TODD CONFIRMED; FIGHT ON COFFEY.

Washington, Aug. 5.—The senate last night confirmed the appointment of George Harold Todd of New York to be assistant to the attorney general of the United States. Another effort to bring about the confirmation of the appointment of James Coffey of South Dakota, as internal revenue collector for the district of North and South Dakota, resulted in a protracted filibuster which ended without action having been taken on the appointment. Senator Sterling of South Dakota was one of the leaders in the opposition to immediate action on the Coffey nomination. It is understood that it was suggested in executive session that Mr. Coffey should resign the Democratic state chairmanship of South Dakota.

CASE SETTLED OUT OF COURT

A settlement has been effected in the action for wrongful death brought in district court against the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railway by William A. Watts, as special administrator of the estate of Joseph Sheehan, a brakeman, who was killed while in the company's employ.

Sheehas was crushed to death between two freight cars while attempting to make a coupling. Charging negligence on the part of the company, the administrator sued for $15,000 for the benefit of a sister, aged 20, who depended upon him for support. The terms of the compromise were not made public in the stipulation of dismissal which was filed yesterday with the court.

CUBA CUTS OFF AMERICANS' FUNDS.

Havana, Aug. 5.—Following a cabinet meeting, President Menocal signed a decree which will have an important effect on the Ports Improvement company of Cuba, which has long been the subject of bitter attack in the press. The company is composed of American capitalists and holds concessions for the dredging of harbors and carrying out other improvements in various ports, in return for which it is permitted to collect a surtax on the merchandise of incoming vessels.

The decree declares that the company has not fulfilled all the provisions of the law under which it is permitted to do business, and that therefore the secretary of the treasury will suspend immediately payment of tonnage dues, on which the company largely depends to defray its costs of operation. It says also that the secretary of public works will immediately take charge of the company's work in all Cuban ports.

SACKVILLE-WEST'S DAUGHTER TO WED.

London, Aug. 5.—The engagement of the Hon. Victoria Mary Sackville-West, daughter of Lord and Lady Sackville, to Harold Nicholson is officially announced. Mr. Nicholson is an attache of the British embassy at Constantinople. He is a son of the Right Hon. Sir Arthur Nicholson, permanent under secretary for foreign affairs.

Lady Sackville, mother of Miss Sackville-West, recently won in the legal fight for the great fortune of Sir John Murray Scott after a sensational trial in the courts. The estate was willed to Lady Sackville by Sir John Murray Scott, but other claimants entered suit but lost after a bitter contest. The costs in the Scott will case were figured at $125,000.

Miss Sackville-West is the only child of Lord and Lady Sackville and will succeed to the Scott fortune.

TWENTY POLICE FAIL TO AVERT SUICIDE.

Chicago, Aug. 5.—Eluding a patrol of police who were guarding the Jackson park lagoon to prevent her from committing suicide, Miss Maud Pettes, 24 years old, a stenographer, leaped from a bridge into the lagoon late yesterday afternoon and was drowned.

Miss Pettes left her office at noon and mailed special delivery letters to her mother and a girl friend, telling them she was going to drown herself in the park. Mrs. Pettes advised the police at once on receipt of the letter, and a detail of twenty policemen was sent to patrol the lagoon.

Miss Pettes slipped through the guard, it is thought, shortly before dusk.

WHERE NORTH DAKOTA IS FIGHTING TUBERCULOSIS

STATE SANITARIUM AT DUNSEITH.

Dunseith, N. D., Aug. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—North Dakota has made a start in the fight against tuberculosis, the establishment of the tuberculosis sanitarium here being the most important step. Within the past two weeks the first cured patients have been discharged from the institution.

The sanitarium accommodates about fifty patients, and with the completion of the women's cottage, onw in course of construction, the capacity will be enlarged.

The site is beautiful being on the side of the foothills of the Turtle mountains, and the grounds are expansive there being 240 acres laid out in a very beautiful manner.

Under the state law creating the sanitarium, provision is made for the payment of a portion of the cost by the state, and part by the patient in cases where the patients are unable, financially, to bear the full burden. The average cost is $10.50 a week for each patient.

In addition to the activities of the state in the construction of cottages, several fraternal orders have become interested, and one already have plans for a building, while the A. O. U. W. and the Knights of Pythias are considering the question of erecting cottages in which to house members should they need treatment.

2 CENTS PER MILE ON GREAT WESTERN

Railroad Will Cut Passenger Rates But Resist Commodity Reduction.

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 5.—The Chicago, Great Western Railroad company within ten days will put into effect the new 2-cent passenger rates as ordered by the United States supreme court in its recent decision in the Minnesota rate case. This announcement was made last night following a conference between Attorney General Smith, railroad commissioners and officials of the Great Western.

The injunction preventing seven railroads from enforcing the 2-cent passenger rates, granted by Judge Sanborn, never had been dismissed in the case of the Great Western.

Following the supreme court's decision attorneys for the Great Western appeared in Federal court here when the injunction against the other roads were dismissed and declared that the Great Western was on a basis financially with the Minneapolis & St. Louis road in which case the supreme court held the new rates would be confiscatory. Counsel for the road submitted figures tending to show that the road's earnings would not permit of the establishment of the new rates.

An application by state officials for an order instructing the Great Western to establish the new rates for a test period of ninety days was denied by Judge Willard sitting in Federal court here July 28.

State Would Attack Injunction.

The state filed notice then that it would seek dissolution of the injunction against the road and many believed the result would be a long period of litigation. Last night's brief announcement that an agreement had been reached came as a surprise.

It was announced the new rates would go into effect as soon as new tariffs can be published. The road officials did not agree to pay refunds and this question probably will be settled in court.

Great Western officials announced that no change would be made in the commodity rates and it is probable that this too will be settled in court.

SCALY PSORIASIS ON ARMS AND LIMBS

Small Dots Grew Larger. Scales Formed. Looked Horrible. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured.

Troop H, 6th U. S. Cavalry, Camp McCoy, Sparta, Wis. — "I was troubled with psoriasis for nearly two years. Portions of my arms and limbs were affected mostly with it. It appeared in scaly form, breaking out in very small dots and gradually grew larger and white scales formed when about the size of an ordinary match-head. The looks of it was horrible, which made it very unpleasant for me. It itched a little at times.

"I tried several remedies, but the trouble seemed to grow worse instead of better, and I tried several treatments which cured me for a month, but it always broke out again. One day a friend saw the advertisement of Cuticura Soap and Ointment in the paper and I sent for a sample. They helped me, so I purchased two more boxes of Cuticura Ointment and some Cuticura Soap and they completely cured me. It took three months for Cuticura Soap and Ointment to complete my cure." (Signed) Walter Mahony, Oct. 22, 1912.

Although the Cuticura Soap and Ointment are most successful in the treatment of affections of the skin, scalp, hair and hands, they are also most valuable for everyday use in the toilet, bath and nursery, because they promote and maintain the health of the skin and hair from infancy to age. Sold everywhere. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

Men who shave and shampoo with Cuticura Soap will find it best for skin and scalp.

How Fat Folks Get Slender Eating Candy

(From Beauty's Mirror.)

Every corpulent person who is anxious to possess a slender, symmetrical and supple form—and what stout woman is not?—will be glad to know that the perfect obesity treatment seems really to have been found. All one need to do is to eat three or four of those delicious little boranium jujubes every day and watch results. The jujubes are palatable and perfectly harmless.

This method in using in candy form a vegetable element valuable as a deobstruent and resolvent, had its origin in Germany, where most people are too fleshy. It has proved so successful that most druggists ever here now sell boranium jujubes. It's good news, surely, that fat folks can now reduce themselves without starvation dieting, violent exercising or digestion-disturbing drugs.

WHITE SOX TAKE LAST GAME FROM THE FORKS

Dooks Finally Cop Slow Contest By Count of 8 to 6.

Five Pitchers Are Used During the Sultry Afternoon.

(BY BRUCE.)

After O'Sullivan had been rubber-heeled to the bench in the third inning of yesterday's matinee, Montgrief Woods replaced the handsome Irishman on the knoll and we finally won the tedious contest by the count of 8 to 6.

Five picturesque pitchers pastimed during the progress, the ebb and flow, as it were of the game. Wilson and O'Sullivan paired off in the first flank movement of the game. The cerieyed hawk that skulks in the rushes with the fear of mankind in his sordid soul, had nothing on the O'Sullivan chap in the point of wildness. Wilson had only a glove, that's all.

Woods was dragged on the scene and proceeded with fairly effective delivery. Gilmour had a pleasant smile and Morse, Paul the piper, faced three men and two of them got hits. Guess Paul didn't have much, eh?

Chase walked in the second and also Rube Foster. Bond's sacrifice went safe when O'Sullivan fumbled the ball. Jerry Edmunds singled over second and two runs came in. Sweeley permitted the ball to roll through his glove and Bond also came dashing for home. Three runs thus marked the efforts of the visitors in the second round.

Not to be in the least outdone the Sox came back and decorated the board with a trio of dents. McGraw lived through the fumble of Sam Foster and then Bunny Schreiber hit one far over the paling in left field. With Moll down Sweeley singled, advanced on the single of O'Sullivan, went to third on Monahan's single and counted when the throw to the plate went through Edmunds.

At this highly exciting stage of the proceedings Gilmour was called to the knoll and the next man proved an easy out.

After a batter had singled and a double balk had permitted a score and a runner to move up to second base, the gallant leader of the Sox motioned to the doghouse and Woods took up the burden of flinging. No more runs were made during the progress of the round and but two more during the pastiming.

Schreiber got his second hit in the fourth, went to second on the infield out of shorty Sweeley and scored when Woods cracked one through second.

Gets Third Hit.

Sam Foster gayly singled to inaugurate the fifth. Harold Bond, the educated performer, gathered his third hit of the day and Foster moved on. Edmunds hit over second and Foster scored and Bond moved to third, coming home when Smith heaved the ball into that section of the field where the grand stand and bleacher join hands.

Bunny Schreiber remembering that to the .300 hitter belongs the press notices and the good word of the boy scouts, slammed his third hit of the sultry day in the sixth, a lovingish two baser up in the vicinity of Bulldurumville. Spindle shanked Altman ran and lithesomely leaped for the flying pill, but failed to become intimately associated with the clout. Moll moved the short stop up by going out on an infield hit and then Sweeley swatted to right and the dead arm of old Bill Carney proved quite unequal to the feat of throwing out the runner at the plate.

McGraw was hit between the shoulder blades to start the eighth. Schreiber walked, thus spoiling the four hit thing. Morse mounted the knoll and after Moll had lofted to Bond, Sweeley and Woods singled, Monahan forced Woods at second and then O'Brien came through with a single over second and three runs were in when the smoke of swat had cleared.

Following the game the members of the home team left for Winnipeg. Our brave band of tourists will not be home until the 17th instant, when we hook up in a double header with the Canadian cousins. After this comes the close of the season with Superior on Aug. 24.

WINONA LOSES DOUBLE-HEADER

Winnipeg, Man., Aug. 5.—Winnipeg gave a severe set back to the pennant aspirations of the Winnipeg Pirates here yesterday when the locals took both games of the double header from the league leaders, the first by the score of 6 to 1 and the second by the score of 1 to 0.

Torgason had a bad inning in the first game while Zabel kept the hits of the visitors well scattered. Zabel also pitched the second game and hooked up with Myers in a heaving duel. The only run of the second game was the result of two walks, a sacrifice and a long sacrifice fly. The two bases by Myers were the only weakness that the visiting twirler showed. The score:

First game— R. H. E.

Winnipeg .....0 5 0 0 0 0 0 0 1 x—6 7 0

Allows Three Hits.

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 5.—Demaree's great pitching won for New York from Pittsburg yesterday afternoon by the score of 2 to 1. Singles by Snodgrass, Burns and Fletcher gave the visitors their first run in the sixth. In the seventh, when Murray and Snodgrass started the double steal, Simon bluffed Murray ten feet off third, but threw wild to left field, giving the Giants the winning run. Chief Wilson's three bagger and Viox's out gave the Pirates their only run in the eighth. With Hyatt up in a pinch and Butler on first in this inning McGraw took out Demaree and sent in the left handed Marquard. Clarke also switched, sending Hendrix to bat in place of Hyatt. Marquard struck him out. Camnitz pitched a good game. Chief Meyers had his right thumb split by a foul tip in the third inning and had to quit. Score:

R. H. E.
Pittsburg .....0 0 0 0 0 0 0 1 0—1 3 1
Batteries—Demaree, Marquard and Meyers, A. Wilson; Camnitz, McQuillan and Simon, Gibson. Umpires—O'Day and Emslie.

Becker Knocks Homer.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 5.—Beals Becker, because of his ability to hit right-hand pitchers, was in left field for the Philadelphia club yesterday afternoon and lived up to his reputation. It was his home run in the seventh inning that started the locals to defeat, in the second game of the series, score 6 to 3. He secured two singles in addition to the home run.

Doak pitched steady ball until the eighth inning, when after Knabe and Lobert had singled Becker drove the ball into the right field stand for a home run, scoring three runs. A minute later Luderus duplicated Becker's feat and Philadelphia was one run ahead.

Harmon started to pitch for the home crew in the eighth. Score:

R. H. E.
Philadelphia ...0 0 0 0 0 4 0 2—6 7 0
St. Louis .....0 2 1 0 0 0 0 0—3 10 8
Batteries—Doak, Harmon and Wingo; Mayer and Killifer. Umpires—Klem and Orth.

One-Sided Game.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Aug. 5.—Cincinnati hammered the ball to all corners of the lot and won a one-sided game from Boston yesterday, 13 to 4. Rudolph began the game for Boston and was found for thirteen hits, good for eight runs in six innings. Noyes succeeded him, but was batted hard, seven hits and five runs being made off him.

Ames pitched the first two innings for Cincinnati. He was hit for four safeties and three runs. Johnson, who relieved him, carried off the pitching honors of the day by holding Boston at fatal times.

Groh injured his leg in sliding into second base. Bates was prominent as a pinch hitter, making a home run in the second, bringing Kling ahead of him. Score:

R. H. E.
Boston .....1 2 0 0 0 0 0 0 1—4 7 1
Cincinnati .....0 4 0 2 0 2 2 3 x—13 19 1
Batteries—Rudolph, Noyes and Rariden; Ames, Johnson and Kling. Umpires—Rigler and Byron.

Cubs Are Defeated.

Chicago, Aug. 5.—Brooklyn defeated Chicago 7 to 1 yesterday by bunching hits off Moore and Pierce. Allen was on the mound for the visitors, and although he issued seven bases on balls, he pitched air tight ball in the pinches, and with the aid of good fielding prevented the locals from scoring. Manager Evers' men had the bases full twice, but were unable to force a man across the plate. Cutshaw was the hero with the bat, making two home runs. The first was made in the initial inning and the other in the seventh, when he scored Fisher and Sheer ahead of him.

Shortstop Fihser's error of Leach's grounder paved the way to Chicago's lone run. Score:

Brooklyn .....1 0 2 0 0 0 3 1 0—7 12 2
Chicago .....0 0 1 0 0 0 0 0 0—1 4 1

Winning Streak Broken.

Philadelphia, Aug. 5.—Cleveland's winning streak was broken here yesterday, Philadelphia outplaying the visitors in all departments and winning by 7 to 1. Shawkey held his opponents down to singles and he was given grand support, especially by Barry, Collins, Strunk and McInnis.

Philadelphia knocked Falkenberg off the rubber in three innings, and his successor, Kahler, was driven into retirement by the seventh. Dahner, southpaw from the Massville, Ky., team, stopped the home team's slugging in the latter part of the game, five batsmen facing him and not a hit being recorded off him.

Pitcher Coombs, who has been recovering from an attack of typhoid fever, rejoined the Philadelphia team yesterday. Score:

Cleveland .....0 1 0 0 0 0 0 0 0—1 2 2
Philadelphia .....2 0 2 0 0 0 3 0 x—7 11 1
Batteries—Kahler, Dahner and Carlisch, Krueger; Shawkey and Lapp. Umpires—Connolly and Ferguson.

Yankees Win Opener.

New York, Aug. 5.—New York won the first game of the series from Detroit by a score of 6 to 4. Both teams hit hard, but Fisher kept the visitors' hits scattered. New York threw away many chances to score by poor baserunning, but a muff by Cobb enabled them to win in the seventh, when they scored five runs, four of them coming in after Cobb's muff, which should have retired the side. Willett started the game for Detroit, but was knocked out of the box in the seventh inning during New York's rally. Dubuc relieved him, and after Cobb made his muff, Knight, Cree and Midkiff landed on him for hits. The hitting of Knight, Cree and Crawford featured. Bush was put out of the game in the seventh inning for protesting to a decision. The game was interrupted thirty minutes in the fourth inning by a shower. Score:

R. H. E.
Detroit .....0 0 2 0 0 0 0 0 2—4 15 3
New York .....0 0 0 0 0 1 5 0 x—6 14 0
Batteries—Willett, Dubuc and McKee, Stanage; Fisher and Sweeney. Umpires—O'Loughlin and Sheridan.

Senators Are Beaten.

Washington, Aug. 5.—The Chicago White Sox lived up to their reputation as "hitless wonders" here yesterday when they defeated Michigan in the first of a four-game series 6 to 3. The visitors were outbatted more than two to one, but their hits, coupled with Washington's mistakes and two bases on balls by Engel, who started for Washington, gave them a lead which Washington could not overcome.

Both Russell and Engel were forced to retire, the former when two were out after Washington secured a double, a home run and a triple in the second. Rain halted the game for half an hour. Cicotte went in when play was resumed, and with brilliant support held Washington to one run during the remainder of the game.

Hughes held Chicago hitless the last four innings. Score:

R. H. E.
Chicago .....3 0 0 2 0 0 0 0 0—5 5 1
Washington .....0 2 0 0 1 0 0 0 0—3 10 4

AMERICAN ASSN.

Senators Play Poorly.

Toledo, Ohio, Aug. 5.—Toledo won a loosely played game from Columbus yesterday afternoon, driving Cook from the mound and getting the winning run of a 5 to 4 score off Eayres in the seventh, when the pitcher went up in the air, walking three men, which coupled with Lands single sent over the run. In the third Benson's single and a pair of scratch hits by Gerber and Cook resulted in runs when Perring dropped a Texas leaguer into left. Perring scored on Miller's hit. Two bunts by Bluhm and Bronkie and a pair of clean hits, aided by Perring's error and a sacrifice fly tied the score in the fifth. Score:

R. H. E.
Toledo .....0 0 0 0 4 0 0 1 x—5 7 0
Columbus .....0 0 4 0 0 0 0 0 0—4 8 0

Brewers Are Blanked.

Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 5.—Bill Burns won his own game against the Milwaukee club yesterday with a long single to center in the seventh, scoring Killifer, who had singled and advanced on a sacrifice. The score was 1 to 0. Burns pitched fine ball, allowing only four hits. Newt Randall, the heavy hitting Milwaukee outfielder, severely wrenched his right leg in the sixth inning and was carried off the field by his team mates. He will probably be out of the game for three weeks. Score:

R. H. E.

Easy for Louisville.

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 5.—Louisville easily defeated Indianapolis yesterday, 7 to 5, in the second game of the series, Niles' batting, a sensational stop by Reilly and a running catch by Osborne were features. Score:

NEW RECORDS SET BY PROFESSIONALS.

Manchester, Eng., Aug. 5.—At a professional athletic meeting here yesterday Jack Donaldson of Australia, world's champion sprinter, broke the 300-yard running record made by H. Hutchins, doing the distance in 29¾ seconds. Hutchins time was thirty seconds and had stood since 1884.

G. Cummings did the mile walk in 6 minutes 23 seconds, which beats the amateur record of 6 minutes 25 4-5 seconds made at Toronto June 4, 1910, by George Goulding, and equals the professional record of W. Perkins, England, made in 1874.

DULUTH MEN SHOW UP WELL

Patrick and Leith Third in Special Event on Interlachen Course.

Northland Club Well Represented in State Golf Tournament.

Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 5.—R. S. Patrick and Willie Leith, who represented the Northland Country club of Duluth, showed up well in the "baseball match" played yesterday on the Interlachen links as a preliminary to the regular play in the annual tournament of the Minnesota Golf association.

Patrick and Leith were third in the contest, Legg and Taylor of Minneapolis being first with 67, and Turple and Mudge of White Bear second with 70. The Duluth pair turned in 72. Other scores were: Labatt and D. George, Minneapolis, 74; Carpenter and C. George, St. Paul, 72; Bend and Leslie, St. Paul, 78.

This morning the event was a foursome play for the association trophy, best ball for eighteen holes, won last year by Bend and Lightner representing the Town and Country club. This afternoon the team play for the association trophy takes place. All eight clubs of the association are represented, five men to each team.

Secretary C. A. Tuller announced today that thirty-four players would represent the Northland Country club of Duluth, fifty from each of the Minikahda and Town and Country clubs, five from Winona, and not less than seventy-five from the Interlachen club. He is positive that 200 will tee up for the qualifying round on Wednesday, breaking the former attendance record by eighty entrants.

TENNIS PLAY IS STARTED

Four Pairs Play at Chicago for Right to Meet National Champions.

Challenge Round Will Be Contested at Newport Courts Aug. 18.

Chicago, Aug. 5.—Championship tennis teams from four sections of the United States started play today at Onwentsia to decide which pair shall meet Maurice McLoughlin and Thomas C. Bundy of San Francisco for the national doubles title in the challenge round at Newport on Aug. 18. Pairings for the opening matched pitted Heath Byford and R. H. Burdick, Western champions and both Chicagoans, against W. M. Washburne of Yale and Gustave F. Touchard, holders of the Eastern title. John Strachan and Clarence Griffin, Pacific coast champions, met J. B. Adoue and Robert Shelton, the South's representatives.

The contest between the local team and the Easterners was to begin at 3 o'clock and the other teams were to play an hour later. The survivors will clash tomorrow in the final match.

Byford and Burdick are conceded an excellent chance to win their way into the challenge series, although Washburne and Touchard are regarded as formidable opponents. Strachan of the Far Western pair, was taken ill last Thursday and it is the opinion of local experts that he will not be able to play up to his true form. He and Griffin upheld the reputation of the Coast in the clay court meet, winning the doubles honors easily.

YOUNG PITCHER TO JOIN CINCINNATI.

Lynn, Mass., Aug. 5.—Frank Harrington, a pitcher of the Lynn club of the New England league, left last night to join the Cincinnati National league team.

An offer for Harrington, made a month ago, was accepted with the understanding that the pitcher would not leave Lynn until the close of the New England league season. Yesterday Manager Flaherty received and accepted an offer of a bonus if he would allow Harrington to join the Reds immediately. Harrington is 21 years old. His home is in Wakefield.

NORTHWESTERN TENNIS TOURNAMENT OPENS.

Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 5.—With a clear sky and the courts in excellent condition, the second day of the Northwestern Lawn Tennis association's tournament opened auspiciously. The officers in charge of the tournament were somewhat disappointed in the non-appearance of some of the players from outside points.

In the singles the principal match today is that of O'Brien of Chicago vs. Edsall, formerly of Trinity college, Boston. Waidener of Chicago, who is matched against Kennedy, a Minneapolis high school student, is having an easy day.

WELLS CAN BEAT A WELTERWEIGHT.

London, Aug. 5.—Bombardier Wells, the English heavyweight fighter, knocked out Pat O'Keefe, welterweight champion of Ireland, in the fifth round of a bout held in the Black Friars district last night.

Bundy Comes East.

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 5.—Tom Bundy, who won the Southern California singles championship at Long Beach Saturday, will leave Thursday for Chicago. From there he will go to Newport to defend the national doubles championship, which he holds with Maurice E. McLoughlin of San Francisco.

AMERICAN BOXERS GOING TO FAR AWAY AUSTRALIA

Harry Stout, who umpired here yesterday and who has, by the way, been chosen with Claude Elliott to work in the series between Winona and Superior that is on today at the Southern city, let loose a story yesterday that has not previously been published.

According to the announcement of Stout, Jack Dillion, Ray Temple, Jimmy Clabby, perhaps Eddie McGoorty and two other well-known American boxers will leave in the near future for Australia.

It is generally believed that the purses offered the Americans on the other side of the Pacific, and also the fact that the boxing game in the United States is offering little inducement to glovemen at the present time, is the reason for the exodus of some of the best known stars of the ring game.

Over in the Antipodes the bouts are permitted to go twenty rounds, as is the case on the Pacific coast. There is generally a definite result before the expiration of the final round, and the result has been a better return for the fighters than they can hope for under the ten-round no-decision bouts in the States.

For a number of years Stout has been one of the best known referees in Milwaukee. He was the third man in the ring when Brown and Temple boxed last winter in Milwaukee, and he had handled some of the best boys in the country. In his younger days the genial Harry was some boxer himself and met the best of the West.

Before coming to the Northern at the behest of President Burmeister, who is out to get the best arbiters that money can secure, Stout held the indicator in the Wisconsin-Illinois circuit, and the record as a judge of play that he made there persuaded Burmeister to offer the Milwaukee man inducements to come over and play in our little association.

That Stout has been chosen with Claude Elliott to work in the biggest and most important series of the season, the one between Winona and Superior, plainly indicates that he holds the confidence of President Burmeister and is well thought of as an umpire.

WINONA AND SUPERIOR START DECISIVE SERIES

Clash Between Two Teams May Decide the 1913 Pennant.

Reports Current That Cullis Is Ill and Benrud Out of Game.

Reports from Superior state that Shortstop Cullis of the Red Sox is sick in bed and that Benrud is out of the game with a bad thumb. If this is true then the Superior team will face the most important series of the season with a ball club that is far from being in the best of condition.

There is a rumor afloat that the Red Sox are torn with internal dissension, but this is given little credit among baseball men as a whole.

While it is true, and no secret has been made of the fact, that the Superior players have "been on" Fred Curtis for the greater part of the present season, it also seems quite unbelievable that any team could win fourteen straight games and be torn by dissension.

If it is true that Cullis is in no condition to play and Benrud is troubled with a sore hand, the case is unfortunate. The fans around the circuit want to see the pennant chase fought out with an even break for both of the teams that have the flag to themselves, as the thing looks at the present time.

Superior has been coming fast. While naturally there is a great deal of rivalry between the fans of this city and the village across the bay, the ethics of sportsmanship cause the average follower of the game, no matter where his sentiments lie, to desire deeply to see both teams play the remaining game of the schedule with their players in the very best of condition.

Winona Bumped.

Winona got a severe bump yesterday at the hands of Winnipeg. The loss of two games in one day is something that may shake the nerve of the Pirates, chesty as the members of the Davis team have been all of the present season.

It is a nerve racking thing, this being out in front and setting the pace, especially if there be a strong contender pounding up the path in the rear. Superior has been slowly and yet surely reducing the lead of the Pirates and the climax of yesterday may have its effect.

The big series between the two teams starts today. Dahlgren and Schauer will be the mainstays, it is generally believed, for Superior. The great Bell will be the chief hope of Winona. It may be that Bell will be worked today and then sent back to the mound on Thursday. Snow was not in the best of shape when he left here and it may be that the speed merchant will be unable to give his best efforts to his club, which is in sore need of all the pitching strength at its command at the present moment.

At the conclusion of the series with Superior, Winnipeg comes to Winona for three games. With Zabel going the pace he has set for the other pitchers of the league since the smoke kid was secured from Kansas City, the Peggers are extremely liable to get one of the three games from the Pirates.

Our brave White Sox follow Winnipeg into the little berg, and with Henry Clay Blanke, the poet pitcher, in grand form it may also happen that the Sox will grab off one of the games that we have on the last stand in the southern end of the circuit.

According to the schedule Winona has seventeen and Superior eighteen games remaining. Let us go into detail.

Winona has three at home with Winnipeg after the present series, three with Duluth, three with Grand Forks, three with Minneapolis at Minneapolis, three at La Crosse and four with Virginia at home.

This gives Winona thirteen games at home and six games on foreign ground. Both Minneapolis and La Crosse should prove rather easy for the Pirates, the two teams that will be encountered on foreign field.

Take the case of Superior.

The Red Sox have three at La Crosse and two at Virginia. These games should prove easy. There are three games at Minneapolis, and since the departure of Ralph Comstock the little Millers have not been able to give the Red Sox much of an argument. There are three games with Grand Forks at home and three with the same club abroad. Then comes the final series of the season with the White Sox, one game in Superior and the two final games of the year at Athletic park and on one day.

Take the remaining games of the two teams and you will find little to choose in the going. Winona has the most games at home, but the teams that Superior plays on the road should not in the ordinary run of luck give the Red Sox a great deal of trouble.

Therefore it can be readily seen that the games that start today between the two teams are of the utmost importance in deciding the 1913 flag winner, and that is the reason why the fans around the circuit are so interested in the outcome.

HORSEMAN FUTURITY IS ON AT KALAMAZOO.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Aug. 5.—The principal event at today's Grand Circuit races here was the Horseman Futurity of $15,000 with three divisions. They consist of the 2-year-old trot, 3-year-old trot and 3-year-old pace. It was reported today that several of the horses, stricken with fever at Grand Rapids, have recovered and would race today. In addition to the Futurity, a 2:10 trot for a purse of $3,000 was on the program. Satisfactory weather and track were reported.

Featureless races marked the opening day of the Grand Circuit week's program. The three events provided were won in straight heats without much of a contest at any stage.

The best time of the day was made in the second heat of the 2:08 pace, in which Cabel, without urging, stepped the mile in 2:05¼. In each heat of this event Dr. Burns, Jr., took a good lead at the start and held it for half a mile or more. Then Cabel came from behind, passed the leader and won about as he pleased.

Cheney in the 2:07 trot and Stratstirm in the 2:15 pace, had little opposition.

The 2:16 trot, carded for yesterday was postponed until some time later in the week.

PHILLIP GORDON BROWN WINS BIG GOLF PRIZE AT NATIONAL TOURNAMENT.

Phillip Gordon Brown, one of the best-known golfers of the Northland club, won the Nelson Clarke challenge cup at the tournament of the National Carpet Makers' association, which was played off on the Salisburg Golf links, Long Island, last week.

Mr. Brown is back in Duluth with the cup and also with a very handsome medal which he won in the foursome event, and which is also emblematic of the national championship of the carpet makers' association, which embraces manufacturers from all over the United States.

There were seventy entrants in the big tournament, so that it can be seen that the feat of the Duluth man was no small one. There are some crack golf stars in the association and some of the games were witnessed by large galleries.

The tournament is played once a year and this season was played over the same links that the big Metropolitan tournament will be contested on.

Enter on Kansas Land.

Dodge City, Kan., Aug. 4.—Hundreds of settlers entered the 10,000 acres of land in Hamilton county, Kan., opened by the government yesterday, and staked out the claims they wanted. The crowd, for the most part, was good natured. Settlers will not be allowed to file on their claims until Sept. 3. They will have a month in which to make improvements.

DEFICIT IS INCREASING

More Expenditures From Much Embarrassed Improvement Fund.

Greatly Needed Repairs on City Hall Costing Tidy Sum.

The repairs which are being made to the city hall are running into a very tidy sum, particularly pertinent at this time because of the very embarrassed condition of the funds from which the money must come.

The bulk is due from the permanent improvement fund, which already has a debit of over $45,000 provided no further obligations against it are incurred. The balance is charged against the general fund, which will end the year with a deficit of $30,000 even though no other charges are made against it.

The cost of the repairs which have already been contracted will bring the total to about $5,000.

When the job was advertised in a lump the lowest bid was approximately $9,000.

The commissioners dropped it like a hot potato. The city could not afford to spend any such sum because of its limited finances.

But something had to be done to take care of the finance division, where there was an imperative need for additional office room and vault space.

Estimates for their work were obtained. They indicated that the job would cost about $1,000 and not more than $1,500, to be liberal. This provided for the construction of the vault and remodeling the council chamber, dividing it so as to give half to the finance division and preserving half for the meetings of the commission.

Work Was Necessary.

The general opinion was that although the permanent improvement fund was badly strained this work ought to be done, as it was so necessary. And $1,000 to $1,500 did not seem an unreasonable amount to spend. Nor at that time was it appreciated that the fund had already been obligated about $45,000 above the total levy and that the liabilities were about $83,000 above 80 per cent of the levy, over which the charter plainly states the commission shall not go. That document states that any valid claim above that amount shall be a personal claim upon the officials voting for the expenditure. Much of the indebtedness had been incurred by the old council before the commission took charge, but that did not change the fact that the liability against the fund existed and still exists.

The commission continues to add to that liability, mounting the bill for the repairs at the city hall higher and higher. Yesterday a contract was awarded for a new pitch and gravel roof for the building. The job was given to the Krieger-Jamar company on its bid of $275.

Last Friday two other contracts were awarded. One was for painting and decorating at $1,180 and the other was for vault fixtures at $502.32. These were all advertised as required by the charter, not taking into consideration the other charter requirement which states that no liabilities shall be incurred above 80 per cent of the levy for the year.

Considerable electrical work is being done. This has been estimated at $900. New plumbing is being done and new fixtures installed, estimated at $600. Neither of these jobs was advertised as required by the charter. The new vault and the remodeling of the council chamber were done by day labor. The work was started weeks before any appropriation ordinance was passed and then a curative resolution was passed to doctor up the situation, authorizing the work to be done by day labor. This part of the work will cost not less than $1,000. And yesterday a bill was passed providing for the payment of $200 to the architect who drew the plans. Thus far the aggregate is not far from $5,000 and at the present rate it would not be surprising if the total ran considerably above that amount before the workmen and the contractors finally finish.

The meeting yesterday was devoted to routine business and was devoid of any excitement.

Mayor Prince notified the council of the notices which had been served the the city by the National Surety company directing that the city made no further payments to P. McDonnell on any of the contracts which he has in the city. The mayor stated that the notices had been referred to the auditor. The reading of the communication drew forth no comment.

New Health Board.

A resolution was passed naming Dr. I. J. Murphy, W. A. Hicken, C. S. Palmer and W. I. Prince a city board of health. The board is appointed to conform with a requirement of the state law.

The works division was authorized to advertise for bids for the paving of Twentieth avenue east between Superior street and Jefferson street. The estimates of the cost of several pavements as prepared by the engineer are: Bituminous concrete, $6,309.22; class B macadam, $5,520.52; concrete, $6,180; tar macadam, $5,600; and asphalt, $6,700. As some of the property owners have offered objections to the work the council will call a meeting at which they will be asked to attend to express their views.

A resolution was passed ordering the opening of a roadway between blocks 5 and 14, Hunter's Grassy point, Third division, from Grand avenue to Sixty-sixth avenue west. The estimated cost is $810. The resolution lays over sixty days before it becomes effective as the work was ordered under that provision of the charter which makes it possible to order improvements without the presentation of a petition.

Ordinances appropriating $150 for a Park Point watchman for six months and $310 for storm sewer work were given their third reading and passed.

The saloon license of H. Tillotson, action on which was postponed last week, was granted at yesterday's meeting, no adverse report on the place being made. The saloon is located at 513 West Superior street.

The Oneota and Hazelwood Improvement club sent in a communication asking that a fire hall be located in their part of the city. The club maintains that its growth is being retarded because of lack of proper fire protection.

GENERAL PASSENGER AGENT IS FACETIOUS

Along with studying "Safety First" and other railroad rules, James P. Gehrey, district passenger agent for the Soo, is getting "wised up" on a set of rules for automobiles, sent forth by W. A. Calloway, general passenger agent of the road.

Following are some of the rules, phrased in the talk of the railroad man:

"1. Upon discovering an approaching team, the automobilist must stop offside and cover his machine with a blanket painted to correspond to the scenery.

"2. The speed limit on country roads this year will be a secret, and the penalty for violation will be $10 for every mile an offender is caught going in excess of it.

"3. In case an automobile makes a team run away, the penalty will be $50 for the first mile and $100 for the second, $200 for the third, etc., that the team runs; in addition to the usual damages.

"4. On approaching a corner, where he cannot command a view of the road ahead, the automobilist must stop not less than 100 yards from the turn, toot his horn, ring a bell, fire a revolver, halloo, and send up three bombs at intervals of five minutes.

"5. Automobiles must again be seasonably painted, that is, so that they will merge with the pastoral ensemble and not be startling. They must be green in the spring, golden in summer, red in autumn and white in winter.

"6. Automobiles running in the country roads at night, must send up a red rocket every mile, and wait ten minutes for the road to clear. They may then proceed carefully, blowing their horns and shooting Roman candles.

"7. All members of the society will give up Sunday to chasing automobiles, shooting and shouting at them, making arrests and otherwise discouraging country touring on that day.

"8. In case a horse will not pass an automobile, the automobilists will take the machine apart as rapidly as possible and conceal the parts in the grass.

"9. In case an automobile approaching a farmer's house when the roads are dusty, it will slow down to one mile an hour and the chauffeur will lay the dust in front of the house with a vacuum cleaner worked over the dashboard."

GLOBE TROTTER PRAISES DULUTH

Mrs. D. P. Hogg of Chicago, who has been visiting here several weeks, is warm in her praise of Duluth.

Mr. Hogg is somewhat of a globe-trotter and she has friends in many parts of the country. To these friends she is sending out literature on the beauties and attractions of Duluth. She has sent about twenty-five bundles of literature from the Hanna information bureau to as many friends in various parts of the country. She wants them all to come to Duluth for a visit, especially during the summer months. She is unselfish and she firmly believes that others should get the pleasures she is enjoying here.

Mrs. Hogg has faith in the future of Duluth for she has purchased some property here for an investment. She has no doubt but that her money will bring good returns.

Mrs. Hogg is making her headquarters at the Y. W. C. A. while in Duluth.

CHISHOLM TO LAY CREOSOTE

Those Blocks Finally Preferred By Council Over Concrete.

Believed That Creosoted Blocks Are Better for Climate.

Chisholm, Minn., Aug. 5.—(Special to The Herald).—The village council decided last night to lay creosoted tamarack blocks on the streets to be paved the balance of the year instead of concrete as it is believed they are better adapted to this climate and concrete is considered something of an experiment in this section. While the blocks will cost more the decision is believed for the best. Enough blocks for 5,000 yards of paving have been engaged and another 5,000 yards will be used if available this year.

First avenue to the Mesaba depot will be ready for the block in a short time and Second avenue will be started at once and the two streets joined on Oak street at the depot.

Two Fine Paved Streets.

This will give two good traffic streets from there to the business section and though the streets are cut down to about thirty feet of paving from Maple street south it will afford ample room for any increase in traffic for years to come. Central avenue will also be paved to Maple street and if the weather conditions will permit and the creosoted blocks can be procured the paving will be extended on that street farther south. All streets north of Lake street to and including Third avenue will be paved one block north and Third avenue will be paved to the alley on the south side of Lake street.

The July pay roll amounting to over $24,000 was passed and the checks will be handed out Wednesday. The water and light board will today pass their pay roll which will run the total figures up around $30,000.

Approximately 100,000 feet of sidewalk lumber will be purchased and will be laid this fall including a walk to the cemetery about a mile distant and another long stretch of walk will be laid from the Meyers to the Jordan mine.

Claims Against Village.

R. de Lorimer for $2,000 for injuries received from being accidentally shot from a stray bullet of a shooting gallery and of $7,500 by Frank Schopke for being injured in a merry-go-round, both occurring on July 4 in connection with the street carnival were read and referred to the village attorney.

Oath of office for Policemen Charles Schroeder and Tom Vulich were read and approved. Vulich relieves W. J. Nichols at the Shenango location.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Aug. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—State Immigration Commissioner Fred D. Sherman, D. E. Willard, immigration commissioner for the Northern Pacific railroad; J. K. Flynn, a stump puller manufacturer of Superior; and E. F. Sievolt, having a motion picture camera, Monday afternoon took pictures of the land clearing operations at the state experiment farm. The pictures covered about 400 feet of film, and included all the operations involved in land clearing, from the placing of the dynamite in the stump, to the final stages of clearing.

From Hibbing they will go to Duluth for the purpose of taking pictures of the ore trains as they arrive, the transferring of the ore to the ore boats, and the boats as they pass out by way of the aerial bridge.

HIBBING'S REVIVAL.

Evangelist La Manse Is Arousing Much Religious Fervor.

Hibbing, Minn., Aug. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The revival being conducted by Evangelist La Manse in a big tent at the corner of Lincoln street and Third avenue is proving to be very successful and much good is expected.

The tent was full for the first services Sunday night and many people stood outside, catching the words of the evangelist, who is a Kentucklan, and has a fine flow of language backed with a wide knowledge of the Bible and the religious fervor of the southern evangelist.

He preached two powerful sermon Sunday. Mrs. La Manse, who sings, has a strong, sweet, musical voice, together with her knowledge of music, which makes her a specialist in leading the chorus.

The water and light committee of the village council furnished the seats from the Armory, and the tent is seated as comfortably as any church. People are attending these services and are becoming interested who would never go to a church.

Services will be held every night this week at 8; a meeting for children every day at 2:30 p. m.

"I have arranged for revival meetings in many places but none met with such a hearty response from the public as here in Hibbing," declared Rev. E. W. Elayer, pastor of Mahoney Street M. E. church. "This promises to be the greatest revival ever held on the Mesaba range."

ADVANCE AGENT GIVES BAD CHECKS.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Aug. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—A carnival company, scheduled to begin a week's entertainment here Friday, has not yet arrived, and some business men would like to meet a dapper young advance agent, who passed out a number of checks on a Chicago bank, which have been returned marked "no funds." The company was represented as all right, and as playing at the state fair at Grand Forks. Considerable opposition was made by some of the local business men, but the license was issued, upon representations made by the advance agent that the show was entirely clean, and that no trouble would be spared to keep everything up to the mark. From present prospects it looks very much as though, if the young man is found, it will be up to him to answer to charges of obtaining money under false pretenses, and passing worthless checks.

VIRGINIA HAS STREET BRAWL

Former Saloon Keeper Has His Nose Broken By H. E. Bentley.

Ex-Policeman Also in Fight Which Resulted From Vendetta.

Virginia, Minn., Aug. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—A battle royal took place at Chestnut street and Cleveland avenue at midnight last night in which Pat Sullivan, the saloon keeper, whose license was recently revoked; had his nose broken by a blow from H. E. Bentley. Dolph Nelson, a policeman lately discharged, and Harry Gillam, a saloon keeper, fought and Nelson got a gash under the eye. Chief Richard Rice appeared on the scene and also Ellis Walsh, lately released chief, and the battle waged for several minutes. A mob gathered and bystanders watched the battle expecting bloodshed.

Three Are Arrested.

Finally the more collected persons restored peace and Nelson, Gillam and Bentley were arrested.

The street battle is another skirmish in the warfare between the administration and anti-administration elements. Nelson pleaded guilty in municipal court to fighting on the street and resisting an officer, and was fined $10 on each charge. Gillam and Bentley will have hearings Wednesday. The fight is about the sole topic of conversation today.

TWO EVELETH MEN WILL BE EXAMINED

Being Brought to Duluth to Have Their Sanity Passed Upon.

Eveleth, Minn., Aug. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Ojanen, a shoemaker aged about 50, a man of family who runs a shoe store on Pierce street, and Nestor Lambia Finn, aged about 25, single, a miner, were taken to Duluth this afternoon to be examined as to their sanity. Ojanen has been acting queerly for several days.

Wanted to Be Sentenced.

Lambia was recently cut in a row with another Finn who is now doing time in Duluth and surprised court officials by coming into municipal court today and demanding that he be fined $100 and sentenced to jail for ninety days claiming he was as guilty as the man who cut him. His actions aroused the suspicions of the judge and a couple of doctors who examined him said he was crazy.

TWO HIGHWAYMEN SHOOT GENOA MAN

Robert Watts Gets Bullet in Leg and Loses Some Small Change.

Eveleth, Minn., Aug. 5.—(Special to The Herald).—When two men wearing automobile goggles stopped Robert Watt, a Genoa miner as he was walking along the road from the Gilbert to the Genoa locations last night about 10:30 and told him to throw up his hands he thought they were fooling and so told them. He changed his mind when there was a shot and he felt a sharp pain in his right knee made by a bullet fired by one of the pair, and did as told. They took some small change, all the money he had, and then disappeared leaving their victim writhing with pain. He hobbled to his boarding house in the Genoa location and notified the police but up to 1 p. m. today no arrests had been made.

Watt gives a pretty clear description of the men who wore nothing on their faces but the goggles and the police hope to catch them. They are believed to belong to a gang of tramps infesting this section. Watt's injury while painful is not serious. He is at his boarding house.

Two Hoboes Sentenced.

Ed Roach and Ed Bleau, a couple of idlers taken in tow by the police were arraigned in municipal court today and showing no visible means of support were ordered confined in the county jail thirty days for vagrancy.

THE "BLUES."

A Lady Finds Help From Simple Food.

Civilization brings blessings and also responsibilities.

The more highly organized we become the more need there is for regularity and natural simplicity in the food we eat.

The laws of body nutrition should be carefully obeyed, and the finer, more highly developed brain and nervous system not hampered by a complicated, unwholesome dietary.

A lady of high nervous tension says: "For fifteen years I was a sufferer from dyspepsia. I confess that an improperly regulated diet was the chief cause of my suffering. Finally, nothing that I ate seemed to agree with my stomach, and life, at times, did not seem worth living.

"I began to take a pessimistic view of everything and see life through dark blue glass, so to speak. My head became affected with a heavy creeping sensation and I feared paralysis

"Palpitation of the heart caused me to fear that I might die suddenly. Two years ago, hearing Grape-Nuts so highly spoken of by some estimable friends of mine, I determined to try it.

"The change in my condition was little less than miraculous. In a short time the palpitation, bad feeling in head and body began to disappear and the improvement has continued until at the present time I find myself in better health than I have ever enjoyed.

"My weight has increased 20 lbs. in the last year and life looks bright and sunny to me as it did when I was a child."

BOYS WILL GO TO CAMP MONDAY

Y. M. C. A. Party Will Leave for Sturgeon Lake in Special Car.

Secretary McLeod of the Boys' department Y. M. C. A. has returned from Deerwood where he made arrangements for the transfer of the camp equipment to Sturgeon lake. The residents of Deerwood and Crosby were sorry to see the camp transferred as they always welcomed the coming of the campers.

The boys who are going to camp Miller are counting the days and hours until Monday morning when they will go out on a special car over the Northern Pacific. Mr. McLeod spent Saturday at Sturgeon lake. The finishing touches are being put on the club house, the well has been dug, and splendid water secured. A big clearing has been made for the tents.

The advance party will go down to the camp on Thursday morning in charge of Mr. Batchelor and will include Kenneth Harris, Carl Honingman, Stephen McGiffert, Howard Strange and Laurence Grannis. The cook will also accompany the party so as to have his department ready for the coming of the campers Monday. The plan this year was to limit the party to seventy-five, but this has had to be changed. Eighty are now registered and the committee has declined to make provision for 100. Next Saturday will be visitors' day and plans are made for the formal opening of the camp. All parents of the boys and friends of the boys' department are invited to inspect the camp.

CLEANING OUT SPRUCE.

Eveleth Property Ruined By Water Being Fixed Up.

Eveleth, Minn., Aug. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Spruce mine that was deluged by water a few weeks ago when fifteen men were trapped in the workings and all but two escaped to be eventually rescued after a thrilling time is being cleaned out and placed in shape for working. Much of the debris has been removed and the mine made workable. It is expected the property will soon be worked again.

PLENTY OF HELP AROUND FARGO.

Fargo, N. D., Aug. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—There are sufficient harvest hands in this part of the Red river valley to supply all demands. This is the result of the fact that thousands of men land here from the trains and secure work at the first farms they can find. Further inland the demand for men is more urgent and the wages paid are higher. In this vicinity the harvest wages are from $1.50 to $2 per day and board, but these figures will be higher when the threshing is well under way.

FERGUS FALLS MAKES LOAN FROM STATE.

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 5.—The city of Fergus Falls yesterday secured a loan from the state investment board of $55,000 to be used in the construction of their new water plant.

Railroads

WOULD AVERT CAR SHORTAGE

Railroads Urging Merchants to Order Fall Shipments Now.

Cars Can Be Sent West and Held for Grain.

Steps are being taken by the railroads serving the grain-growing territory of Minnesota and the Dakotas to avert the annual car shortage at harvest time.

The railroads are urging coal buyers and dealers in other merchandise to get their orders in now so that the cars will be on hand when the crop is ready. It is pointed out that if the freight can be shipped to the western country during August the cars can be unloaded and be kept there empty until they are needed for the grain movement. If the shippers wait until the grain is moving, however, to get their winter's supply of coal and other commodities there will be trouble in getting cars. The railroads say they can handle all the traffic, but it will be difficult to insure prompt shipments. A little co-operation on the part of the shippers, say railroad officials, will do much more in lessening the congestion subsequent to the harvesting of the crops.

There are now about 65,000 idle cars in the country as against 124,000 a year ago. That means the railroads are doing a better business, say the freight agents, as the roads have been building new equipment right along.

The Northern Pacific is getting all cars in shape and repairers are busy getting ready for the crop movement.

With only about half the cars available now that there were last year, it becomes evident that the shippers who wish to be served by the railroads must now do something to serve themselves. If the buyers are willing to distribute their orders for goods over a longer space of time, to place their orders for shipment when there is not the great crop demand on the facilities of the carriers, there would be little complaint of the ability of the railroads to handle all the traffic offered them, says A. B. Brown, superintendent of the Northern Pacific here.

George A. Sherwood, freight agent for the Soo line, says his road will have no trouble moving the crop in the territory it reaches, but he also is of the opinion that the shippers can do much toward helping the railroads. He says the Soo has built about 3,000 new cars since last year and that it is assembling the cars for the movement of the crop.

HOWARD ELLIOTT IN VALEDICTORY

Retiring President of Northern Pacific Issues Farewell Statement.

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 5.—Howard Elliott, retiring president of the Northern Pacific railroad and recently elected president of the board of directors of the New Haven road, in a farewell statement issued last night announced that the executive committee of the board of directors of the Northern Pacific had decided to recommend to the board the creation of the office of chairman of the board and the promotion of William P. Clough, now first vice president, to that position.

Mr. Elliott's statement also said he had been authorized to announce that the promotion of Jule M. Hannaford, now second vice president, to be president and the promotion of George T. Slade, now third vice president, to be first vice president, will be recommended to the board of directors by the executive committee.

"I ask for these men the same loyal support and cordial treatment that has always been given to me in the Northwest both officially and personally," the statement said.

"I send this message with much of sadness and regret, of sadness because I am leaving so very close and dear friends in the Northwest, both personal and official. Of regret that I give up the office of president, Sept. 1, and leave this part of the country and the many friends in the railroad service and along the line, without whose loyal support the Northern Pacific could not have accomplished what it has. I take this opportunity of extending my heartfelt thanks to every one for their consideration and help.

Ten Years as President.

"On Oct. 25, 1903, I became president of the Northern Pacific. In ten years the miles of track of the Northern Pacific, not including its important subordinate, controlled and affiliated roads, have increased from 7,433 to 10,015 and the gross earnings from this trackage have increased from $46,142,000 to $72,975,000 in spite of the building of new lines and the sub-division of business in territory formerly served by the Northern Pacific alone. These figures tell something of the growth of the Northwest.

"The Northwest and my many friends of it and the Northern Pacific will always be very dear to me, and I shall hope that in my new work in the East I can still continue to be of some help in telling the East what wonderful things there are in the West, and that each section is important to and supplementa the other in the development of the whole United States."

PRIVILEGE ABUSED.

Northwestern Road Would Discontinue Selling Wisconsin Mileage.

Madison, Wis., Aug. 5.—The Chicago & Northwestern Railway company has filed notice with the railroad commission that it is considering a proposal to discontinue the use and sale of mileage books to travelers upon its lines. Abuse of the uses of the books is given as the reason, although instances of such abuses are not specified. It is known, however, that many of these books are used by persons who go from station to station on the line and escape the conductor when the distance between stops is not great.

SUES ERIE ROAD FOR LAW VIOLATION.

New York, Aug. 5.—The government has filed two suits against the Erie Railroad company to recover $4,500 because, it is alleged, the railroad company required six telephone and telegraph operators to work twelve hours a day in the towers at Highland Mills, Howells and Sterlington, N. Y. One of the suits is to recover $1,500 for alleged violation of the Federal law limiting hours of service of employes; the other is for $3,000 for thirty alleged violations of the interstate commerce commission's rule requiring railroad companies to report the overworking of their employes.

PASSENGER AGENTS ON LONG JUNKET.

Through President Howard Elliott, the Northern Pacific railroad has invited all passenger agents of American railroads to take an 11-day trip from St. Paul to the Yellowstone National park. Five days will be spent in stages, touring the park. The special trains, meals and other accommodations all will be complimentary. Hundreds of attendants and horses will be reserved for the party. The trip will take place following the annual convention of the American Association of Passenger Agents in St. Paul, Sept. 8-9.

QUIET MEETING OF COUNTY BOARD

Only Routine Matters Due to Come Before Commissioners.

From present indications the August meeting of the county board which will be held tomorrow at the courthouse will not be a heavy one. The usual amount of routine business will be transacted and few other matters will come up for consideration.

The board will probably make an appropriation of the county's one-half share of the $14,000 which the newly appointed and organized joint county and city work farm commission represents that it needs for the balance of the year. When the county levy of taxes is made, a new county fund will be created to take care of the needs of the new commission.

The board is also expected to adopt a resolution notifying the judges of the district court of the establishment of a home school for girls at 1530 East Superior street. The county has signed a lease on the premises for one year and it now remains for the court to make the appointments of matron and assistant.

Tomorrow is the day set for a hearing on the petition for the change of the boundaries of the town of Balkan by annexing thirty sections of 53-20, town of Stuntz, and all of the village of Chisholm. A hearing will also be held on the petition asking that 54-21 be added to the town of Cedar Valley. Three other hearings will be held on road petitions and one on an application for a liquor license.

The board will convene at 9:30 a. m.

STOCK EXCHANGE MAN VINDICATED.

New York, Aug. 5.—Edward A. Manice of the New York Stock exchange, was exonerated by the legislative committee on business conduct, of all blame in connection with the sale July 26 of $25,000 worth of government 2 per cent bonds at 98¾, a low record. Mr. Manice told the committee that the transaction was for his own account and was not a short sale, as at first reported. The committee found that the sale was regular.

NO EXTENSION WILL BE BUILT

Manager Warren Destroys Hopes of Line to Steel Plant This Year.

Litigation Over Franchise Thought to Stand in the Way.

Herbert Warren, general manager of the Duluth Street Railway company, informed the city commission at the city hall this afternoon that the company cannot build an extension to New Duluth, this year.

Manager Warren stated that it is not that the disposition of the company is not to build the extension, but that it is impossible under present conditions.

The chief reason appeared to be that the street railway company cannot lay the extension to New Duluth and the steel plant so long as the present suits are pending in the Federal and district courts. The action in the district court is due to come up for trial at the September term. It was brought in the name of the state against the company to annul its franchise.

The extension to New Duluth, it is pointed out, would cost a considerable sum of money, and so long as the franchise is under fire the needed funds cannot be raised. Investors, it is claimed, refuse to place their money in the securities of the company and will continue to do so until the action questioning the company's rights in the city is definitely determined.

It was further pointed out to the commissioners that the roadway still remains to be put in shape. The company could cross at Eighty-first avenue west, it was stated, but it was asserted that the fill will not be in the condition desired before next summer.

Opposed to Grade Crossing.

The company is also opposed to crossing the tracks of the Northern Pacific at Smithville on grade, as it would become one of the most dangerous in the city. The statement was made that the subway will become part of the main thoroughfare to the big suburb which is building in the western part of the city and could be used by all kinds of traffic as well as by the street cars.

Another point was that the roadway beyond Smithville is still uncompleted. The road which is now being used has been vacated but the substitute road which the property owners agreed to furnish is still to be put in shape for use. The present road was abandoned three years ago. The substittue road has been surveyed and cut through the brush and undergrowth but thus far no gravel has been put on it. The company asserts that this matter should be definitely settled before the company puts in street car tracks.

Manager Warren met with the commission at the office of the mayor. They discussed the street railway extension and the necessity of it thoroughly. The commissioners expressed the hope that no time would be lost in starting the extension for which there is so much need.

For some time past it has been asserted that the street railway extension to New Duluth would not be made this year. The statement of Manager Warren to the commissioners this afternoon is the first definite announcement of that kind which has been publicly made on the part of the company or its officials.

Call a Conference.

At the council meeting yesterday afternoon Commissioner Hicken introduced a resolution calling upon Manager Warren to inform the council definitely when the company intends to start work on the extension and to submit any plans for a route which may have been outlined by the company.

The resolution was withdrawn and the conference plan substituted. At the conclusion of the meeting Manager Warren was reached via the telephone and he readily agreed to meet with the commissioners this afternoon.

That there is a pressing demand for a street car line to New Duluth has been apparent for several years, but more particularly the last year. The city officials assert that there is nothing to prevent the company from proceeding with the extension, at least as far as Smithville. At that point the street car tracks could cross the tracks of the Northern Pacific at grade. But this would make a dangerous grade crossing and it is desired to go under the tracks to eliminate it. This is the greatest part of the cost of work which it is still considered necessary to be done. Two plans have been proposed, but neither has been decided upon. The Northern Pacific has stated that it will not pay for the subway and the city legal department has been uncertain as to whether or not the city can compel the company to stand the expense. The city is so situated financially that it has no funds with which to do the work this year. Some have declared that in view of the urgent necessity for the car line the grade crossing should be used temporarily until means can be found for building the subway.

SUICIDE LEFT ESTATE TO WIFE

Killed Himself When She Sought Divorce, But Did Not Change Will.

Whether Camille Laviolette's love for his wife was of the undying sort or whether it took flight when she left his home and later through divorce proceedings drove him, it is believed, to the depths of despondency and despair and finally suicide, is a mystery yet unsolved.

The fact remains, however, that according to a purported will which his widow, Armine Laviolette, filed in the probate court this morning, the suicide did not renounce his wife because she had involved him in a divorce suit and had charged him with cruelty.

Unless a later will turns up, which is unknown to Mrs. Laviolette, she will receive the entire estate with the exception of a $25 bequest, which the will provides shall be set aside for Anna Lowe, a daughter of Laviolette by a former marriage. The will filed by the widow today is purported to have been made by Laviolette on Feb. 17, 1912.

Besides his wife, Laviolette's only other living relatives are represented in the petition to be a daughter, Anna Lowe, whose whereabouts are unknown to Mrs. Laviolette, and a mother, Vitaline Laviolette, aged 74, residing at Epiphany, Can.

The estate is not a large one. Laviolette was a farmer living on a homestead consisting of sixty acres about two miles north of Adolph in the town of Solway. He also owned a house and lot on West Helm street, this city. The real estate he owned is valued at $2,500 and the personal property about $200.

Laviolette was 52 years old and his wife is 68. He had been a resident of the Adolph farming district for the past ten years. On Saturday morning, Aug. 2, he was found dead. Every indication pointed to suicide. Carbolic acid and paris green were found by the coroner to have caused his death.

Laviolette filed an answer in the divorce proceedings brought against him in district court recently by his wife. He denied every charge of cruelty and stated that he considered it to the best interests of both that they live together again. He offered to fit up a home for her in the city if she would return and keep house for him.

Among Mrs. Laviolette's charges of cruelty were that he drove her from the house and compelled her to sleep in the barn, that he struck her, smashed dishes, threatened to kill her, and expressed a desire to get her out of the way so that he might have a younger wife.

FORMER DULUTH BOY SUCCESS ON STAGE

Hugh Cameron Says Hard Work and Lots of It Is Formula.

Hugh Cameron, who is playing one of the leads in the "Hanky Panky" company, is a former Duluth boy. As a mere youngster Cameron ran errands for several of the stores of this city. Even while the present star was young the stage appealed to him. Now that he has risen to the point where he is recognized as one of the stars of the profession, Cameron is glad that he followed wha he believed was his natural bent and refused to be dissuaded by his friends.

"The stage offers opportunities for the man or woman who has ability and the willingness to work hard," said Mr. Cameron. "There are some who believe that being on the stage is one long lark, so to speak; a sort of iridescent dream. Perhaps that is why so many are grievously disappointed. Success in the theatrical business, like that gained in any legitimate field of endeavor, is only attained with work and lots of it.

"Some people imagine they are geniuses. Genius is all right, but there has never been a genius in the world who succeeded without genius for hard work, and that is what the modern managers are looking for—people who are willing to work. There are serious minded people in the business as a rule, and today the theatrical field offers success to those who are willing to work, and to those alone."

Mr. Cameron's rise has been rapid. He is classed as one of the stars of the musical comedy field, and is featured with some of the best known people in musical comedy.

INDIAN SQUAW HAD SEVEN HUSBANDS

Couderay, Wis., Aug. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Supt. William Light of the Indian school at Hayward held a government probate court at the post village on the Couderay Indian reservation last week. Several estates were settled and the property of deceased Indians will soon be given to the heirs. The evidence, it is said, necessary to establish heirship was very peculiar in some ways. In one case the evidence disclosed the fact that one squaw, the mother of eight children, had had seven different husbands, and whether the case was polygamy, free love or the result of misplaced confidence was not reported.

DOG REFUSES TO TAKE PART IN SUICIDE PACT

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—"You'll go first and I'll follow," said a man to his little black dog on a street here last night. He drew a revolver and fired at the dog, but his aim was poor and the dog scampered away unhurt.

Before bystanders could prevent it, the man placed the gun to his temple and committed suicide.

Several letters in his pockets bore the name E. C. Bevans, New Market, Minn.

MORMONS PLANNING CANADIAN COLONIES

Cardston, Alta., Aug. 5.—That the Mormon church practically has decided to abandon its Mexican colonization scheme and devote its energies to the development of lands and settlements in southern Alberta, was the announcement made by President Joseph Smith of Salt Lake city while here recently, it became known today. President Smith indicated that the church would attempt to buy out the blood Indians, who own a large reserve in Southern Alberta.

DEMOCRATS DUE TO VOTE ON CURRENCY.

Washington, Aug. 5.—Failure of Democratic members of the house banking and currency committee to attend a conference prevented final action on the administration currency bill yesterday. Another conference was called for this afternoon, when it is expected the Democrats will vote on the completed measure as closed at last Friday's conference. Several Democrats will vote against a favorable report on the bill.

DENIES NEED OF NEW NAVAL BASE.

New York, Aug. 5.—Lieut.-Gen. Sir G. M. Bullock, governor of Bermuda, who has arrived here on a vacation trip, deprecated the report that Great Britain is contemplating establishing a strong naval base in Bermuda.

"I think a great deal has been made out of small material," he said. "England has for a long time maintained a sort of naval base at Bermuda, and often there are a number of small war craft there. Our real naval base is, of course, at Jamaica. It may be that the opening of the Panama canal will call for a coaling depot in Bermuda, but the idea of a great naval base there is largely imagination.

"As a private individual, I should say that there is no necessity for a naval base in Bermuda."

HOTEL FIRE IS LAID TO RATS AND MATCHES

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Lulu Elder, night cook in a local restaurant, early today saved the lives of more than a score of guests when she discovered a fire in the rear of the Twin City hotel here. Many of the guests, overcome by the smoke, were aided to the street by firemen. The loss was small.

The cause of the fire is attributed to rats gnawing matches.

NURSE ACCUSED OF MURDERING DOCTOR.

Utica, N. Y., Aug. 5.—Miss Emma Krill, a nurse, was arrested at Cornwall-on-the-Hudson yesterday, charged with the murder of Dr. Stanley F. Tron, a physician of this city formerly connected with the Lying-in hospitol in New York.

Dr. Tron was a Harvard graduate and the son of a prominent Presbyterian minister. On June 22 he died suddenly, and the belief was current that he had killed himself with a drug. The woman was questioned at the time and said he had threatened to leave her several times and go to Italy, where his father now is stationed, but she had persuaded him to remain and marry her.

After the funeral, Miss Krill went to her home on the Hudson. The authorities have since been at work on the case, and have had the stomach of Dr. Tron analyzed. When arraigned, Miss Krill fainted and was revived with difficulty.

In the examination into his death, it was discovered by the coroner that Dr. Tron and Miss Krill had met in the Lying-in hospital in New York and had lived together before coming here.

WOMEN VOTERS INVITE WILSON.

Washington, Aug. 5.—President Wilson has taken under consideration an invitation to address the National Council of Women Voters, which is to meet here for a three days' conference beginning Aug. 13. Representatives Raker of California and Keating of Colorado extended the invitation on behalf of the suffragettes. It will be the first national conference of the organization, and there will be in attendance about 100 women voters who have figured conspicuously in the several states which have granted the ballot to women. The delegates expect an informal hearing before the house rules committee in support of the proposition to appoint a committee on woman's suffrage in the house.

APPEALS IN THE KIMMEL CASE.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 5.—The eastern life insurance company that contested the claim of Mrs. Edna Kimmel Bonslett of Chicago for $25,400 insurance on the life of her brother, George Kimmel, has appealed to the state supreme court. The circuit court had decided in favor of Mrs. Bonslett, who claimed that George Kimmel, formerly of Niles, Mich., died in 1898.

A man claiming to be George Kimmel was introduced as a witness by the insurance company to sustain its contention that the original Kimmel was not dead.

TAKE PROFITS; WHEAT FALLS

Market Sags From Opening Because of Reaction From Bulge.

Flax Demand Stronger Than Offering---Has Mild Bulge.

Duluth Board of Trade, Aug. 5.—The close of the market was in the "off" zone, the decline holding good until the finish. Losses for the day: September, ⅞c; December, ¾c; September durum, 1c.

Oats and corn each ⅛c off; rye, ½c up, and barley unchanged.

September puts, 86⅝c bid; calls, 87½c bid.

Profit taking is still the order of the day in the grain market and as a result wheat is down—not much, it is true, but down anyway. The sag started from the opening of the market this morning and has continued until into the last hour. The crop-killing game is always discounted to some extent, and that in corn was not unexpected.

September wheat opened at ¼c off this morning and in the last hour was ⅜c off. December opened ⅛c off, but immediately after the opening returned to last night's closing level and in the last hour was ⅝c off. September durum fell off ½c soon after the opening and shortly before the close was ¾c off.

Aside from the reaction, heavy receipts were much to blame for the sag. Chicago had phenomenal receipts and every terminal market had greater than last year by many cars. The primaries also had much increased receipts.

Flax Moves Up.

There was little offering of flax this morning as compared with the demand, which, however, was not extraordinary. But the result was that flax had a mild bulge in the near seed, that being the principal in demand, while the two further options fell off. Septembeer and October flax gained each ½c, November lost ⅜c and December lost ½c.

LeCount wires from Elkhorn, Man.: "The crop is spotted, some places light and thin while in other localities is good but average much below last year. Blue stem is late, some being only in blossom. Early wheat taking color. In vicinity of Brandon, I think some wheat will be harvested this week. Some early oats are being harvested now. Weather hot and forcing crop to maturity."

Winnipeg, Man.: "The crop department of the Saskatchewan department of agriculture issued today, states that harvesting will be general by Aug. 20. In the districts surrounding Maple Creek, 50 per cent of the barley is being cut, also some oats and wheat. The wheat crop is well up to the average height and during the past fortnight has improved greatly. Government report declares yield will be better than last year."

B. W. Snow wires: "Secretary Strang's Illinois Grain Dealers' association crop report, issued yesterday says present condition of corn in Illinois 75.05. CHICAGO MARKET.

Corn Turns Downward on General Selling on an Advance.

Chicago, Aug. 5.—General selling on an advance turned the corn market today sharply downward. Continued dry weather gave strength to prices at first, but a prediction of showers in some sections had the effect of heavily increasing the selling pressure. Trading was on a large scale. Opening figures ranged from ¼c to ⅞@1c higher. September which started at 70c to 70¼c, a gain of ¼c to ⅝c, fell to 69c.

Rain at a few points and less aggressiveness on the part of buyers prevented more than a moderate rally. The close was nervous, with September ⅜@⅝c net lower at 69⅛@69¼c.

Wheat broke under large sales by a few prominent houses. Cables were indifferent and support poor. September opened unchanged to ⅛c lower at 87⅜@87½c; to 87½c, touched 87½@87⅝c and dropped to 86¾c.

A further setback accompanied an increase in the world's available supply total. The close was steady at 86⅛@86¼c for September, a net loss of 1¼@1⅜c.

Larger longs' unloading more than wiped out an advance in oats. September started ¼c to ½c higher at 42⅜c to 42⅝c but reacted to 41⅞c.

Packers' buying lifted provisions. First transactions varied from 2½c lower to 5@7½c up with September options as follows:

Pork, $20.85; lard, $11.37½ to $11.40; ribs, $11.22½.

ADVANCES IN STOCKS

Persistent Buying of Union Pacific and Steel Assists Rise.

Best Prices of the Day Are Recorded in Final Hour.

New York, Aug. 5.—The improvement shown by stocks yesterday was more than sustained in today's early dealings. London quoted higher prices and followed this with moderate purchases here. Berlin, however, was a seller of Canadian Pacific, which fell 1¾.

Beneficial rains accounted for gains of 2 and 1½ respectively in St. Paul common and preferred, and Northwestern and Northern Pacific were strong for similar reasons. Steel was most active, touching 61, its best price for the movement. Virginia-Carolina Chemical common was but slightly affected by the suspension of the dividend, American agricultural chemical 5's fell 2½. New Haven 6's rose 1. Bonds were irregular.

The market showed a firm undertone at the opening of today's operations. Southern Pacific, Erie Second preferred, Steel and American Locomotive and "Soo" showed substantial fractional advances. Amalgamated and Canadian Pacific were the only active issues to record declines. Trading was fairly active and broad.

Steel was the feature of the first hour, selling at its best price for the present movement. Amalgamated speedily recovered its early loss and St. Paul increased its advantage to 2 points on more favorable crop news from the Northwest.

Profit-taking followed the early advance, with general recessions throughout the active list, and the market became dull. Later Union Pacific, which had been comparatively backward, assumed leadership, selling close to its recent top price. Great Northern also showed the effects of cumulative buying.

A brisk advance in Tobacco issues was the conspicuous feature of the late trading. American Tobacco gained 5 points and American Snuff 6. Heavy trading in Steel and Union Pacific at higher prices was resumed.

The market closed strong. Best prices of the day and in many instances for the present movement were recorded in the final hour. Persistent buying of Steel and Union Pacific assisted the active list in which advances of 1 to 2½ points were general. American Writing Paper preferred lost 3¾ points on passing of the dividend.

COPPERS HAVE STRONGER TONE

With but little dealing in any branch of the market, stocks in general are stronger today, and coppers—that is, the leaders—have gained several points. The situation is still uncertain.

ORE SHIPMENTS MAKING RECORD

The amount of ore shipped from the Head of the Lakes this season is going to beat all previous records, if figures of the traffic to date can be used as a forecast.

The ore shipped in July this year totaled half a million tons over the record for July of 1912. The amount shipped up to Aug. 1 is more than 3,000,000 tons ahead of the shipments for the same period a year ago.

According to figures given out by vesselmen, the shipments for July totaled 8,204,416 tons. For the same month in 1912 the total was 7,600,233 tons, which is 604,183 tons less than the record for July, 1913.

To Aug. 1 of this year the amount of ore taken down the lakes reached the figure of 24,329,460 tons For the same period last year the shipments totaled 21,290,904 tons.

With half the season still remaining, the half that is generally credited with the heavier ore shipments, it is expected the record made so far will be more than doubled and that the total for the entire season will run about 50,000,000 tons.

At the present time most of the boats under contract are ahead of their schedules. Dispatch, except in a few instances, is good and the stage of the water is such that the boats are having no trouble in loading to capacity.

1,000 TOURISTS ARRIVE IN CITY

Three big passenger boats, the North American, Lakeland and Hamonic, docked in Duluth this morning, bringing their weekly load of tourists to the city. In all about a thousand passengers were aboard. Not all of them got off here, but several hundred took a tour of the city.

Duluth was washed clean by the storm last night and after the general toilet the sun came out this morning and put the finishing touch of freshness on the city. It was an ideal day to show Duluth off to its best advantage and several hundred more boosters were added to her long list of admirers.

The boulevard was overworked again today but that drive still retained its beautiful aspect and wasn't a bit bashful about showing off to the visitors.

The post card business flourished and the mail was heavy with souvenirs of Duluth.

Succeeds Captain Goodell.

Capt. Daniel Mallory of Cleveland has taken command of the steamer Canopus, in place of Capt. Goodell, who was taken ill when his boat was passing through the Soo canal on the trip up the lake. Capt. Goodell was taken off at the Soo. and placed under the care of physicians. Capt. Root of the Great Lakes Towing company brought the boat up to Duluth.

FORMER MATE IS HEIR TO FORTUNE.

One more story has been added to the long list of tales of fortune and romance on the Great Lakes.

Charles Rowe, whose last known residence was Cleveland, is being sought by Canadian attorneys who wish to give him an inheritance. Rowe was a mate on various vessels on the Great Lakes in the '90's and made his headquarters in Cleveland.

He is the grandson of the late Richard Rispin of South London, Ont. After the death of Rispin's only son, Luke, a contest followed to determine whether the estate should be distributed according to the son's will, or partly to the son's heirs and partly to the son of the late Richard Rispin's only daughter and his children.

The courts decided that the daughter's son, the missing Rowe, and his children, if he is dead, should inherit the money. When Rowe was in Cleveland, the Canadian attorneys handling the case say, he was employed as an iron moulder at times he was not sailing the lakes. It has also been reported that he went to the Yukon valley in 1897, at the time of the gold rush.

The court has ordered a thorough search made for the missing man and the attorneys have questioned old time lake sailors in the hope that they can throw some light on his whereabouts.

WILL ENLARGE ITS COAL DOCKS.

The Reiss Coal company will soon make improvements to its coal dock at the foot of Missouri avenue in Superior. Dredging and other work necessary to make improved facilities for receiving coal will be done and will cost about $100,000. The Wales-Campbell Company of Duluth has the general contract for the work.

Record Coal Cargo.

On her last trip to the Duluth harbor the William P. Snyder, Jr., broke the record for coal cargoes. She brought 13,849 tons of coal, net. With 394 tons of fuel aboard the total was 14,243 tons. She was loaded at Lorain, Ohio. The Schoonmaker brought up 13,432 net tons on her last trip. The Snyder cleared today with an ore cargo.

NEGRO TELLS OF MURDER

Atlnta, Ga., Aug. 5.—James Conley, a negro, testified that he helped Leon M. Frank, charged with the murder of 14-year-old Mary Phagan, dispose of the girl's body after she had been killed by Frank.

Led to the witness stand by Chief of Police Beavers and Chief of Detectives Lanford, Conley declared that on several occasions he stood on guard for Frank when the latter was closeted in his office in a local factory with women. Frank, according to the negro's testimony, was accustomed to stamp on the floor when he desired Conley to keep watch at the door.

GOVERNOR TO SHOVEL.

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 5.—Governor Eberhart probably will turn the first shovel of dirt in uncovering the history that may be buried beneath the walls of the old stone ruins at Taylor's Falls, Minn., thought to be the foundation of a home of French explorers.

The work will be begun Aug. 14 and Governor Eberhart will be asked to start the labor of digging out the old mansion's secret, according to an announcement just made.

CLASH OVER MONEY LAW

Washington, Aug. 5.—The first skirmish over currency legislation in the senate today served to accentuate the division of opinion among Democrats.

Senator Owen, chairman of the banking committee and sponsor of the administration bill in the upper chamber, was forced off the floor by Senator Hoke Smith, also a Democrat, while he was attempting to reply to an attack on immediate legislation delivered by Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, another Democrat and member of the banking committee.

Senator Smith's point of order, that the tariff and not currency was before the senate, forced Mr. Owen to yield, but he announced he would reply to Mr. Hitchcock's speech later.

Silver Lake Fish Dying.

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 5.—State Superintendent of Fisheries Cobb is investigating a report that thousands of fish in Silver lake, north of here, have died within the last few days, their bodies lining the shore. It is said the lake was covered with a green scum and that persons desiring to clear the water placed in the lake a large quantity of poison which caused death to the fish.

"SOONER" IS CAUGHT.

Drake, N. D., Aug. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Calling to his assistance one of the secret service men employed by the state game board, Chief Game Warden McCutcheon caught a local resident red-handed shooting birds out of season. The gun and two dogs were confiscated and the man fined. He knew the local wardens and was able to avoid them, but when a stranger came in under the guise of a land buyer he was caught.

It is understood Chief McCutcheon's men have located four big dog-training camps in the sand hills between here and Towner and caused two arrests. One of the men had sixty dogs. The opening of the regular training season is Aug. 15.

Powder Mills Blow Up.

Wilmington, Del., Aug. 5.—Grinding mills No. 11 and 12 of the Dupont powder works near this city exploded early today with tremendous reports. No damage was caused except to the machinery in the mills and the loss of about 600 pounds of powder.

Buy Real Estate Now!

No city in the country is booked for bigger things the next five or ten years than Duluth.

Leading magazine writers are devoting pages to our territory, our location, our advantages. All of them are agreed Duluth will go forward at tremendous strides. Some of them say we're under full steam now. An outsider often discerns possibilities first. He's more appreciative of natural advantages. Don't let others see for you. Read the bargains offered every day in The Herald Real Estate Columns. Then see the advertiser, then buy, then watch your dollars grow.

Delay Means Loss of Money in Selling a Used Automobile

Now is the time to sell a used machine—the vacation season keeps alive the demand for cars. At the end of the season it will probably be difficult to make a sale. Next spring your auto will be of a model exactly one year older than it is now. It will bring a good deal less than it will now, and meanwhile your money is tied up in the car.

That is why it is a penny wise and pound foolish policy to neglect to advertise your unneeded automobile for sale. The cost of advertising is small in The Herald Want Ads. The power of The Herald Want Ads to sell used automobiles is great.

They reach the people who can afford to buy automobiles. This was definitely proved when a comparison was recently made between the subscription list of The Duluth Herald and the names to which automobile licenses have been issued. It was found that 98 per cent of automobile buyers in Duluth and vicinity are readers of The Duluth Herald.

Let The Herald Want Ads work for you in selling your used car. Do it now when the conditions under which they work are the best.

EXCITING RECEPTION MAY BE AWAITING JOHN LIND WHEN HE REACHES THE MEXICAN CAPITAL

HOSTILITY IS EXPRESSED BY HUERTA PARTY

Suggestions for Mediation Will Be "Regarded as Unfriendly."

American Is Accused of Plotting Assassination of the President.

People Are Disappointed at Failure of Washington to Give Recognition.

LIND WILL NOT ACCEPT THE AMBASSADORSHIP.

New Orleans, La., Aug. 6.—John Lind, President Wilson's personal representative, en route to Mexico, said here today that he would not under any circumstances accept the ambassadorship to Mexico. Mr. Lind left at 11:30 o'clock this morning for Galveston, where he will board the battleship New Hampshire tomorrow.

Douglas, Ariz., Aug. 6.—It is reported here that Guaymas has been captured by the Constitutionalists. Confirmation is lacking.

Mexico City, Aug. 6.—Some apprehension is felt here regarding the reception that awaits John Lind, personal representative of President Wilson, on his arrival at this city. It is known that opposition to his coming in any other capacity than that of fully accredited ambassador is resented by the faction in power, and feeling is so keen among certain elements of the population that special precautions are being taken to prevent the occurrence of any strikingly untoward incidents.

President Huerta reiterated the declaration of his policy of "hands off," in reply to a question as to what would be his attitude in case an offer of mediation should be made by the United States through John Lind of Minnesota, who is coming here as the personal representative of President Wilson to act as adviser to the American embassy.

"I have said publicly," President Huerta declared, "that I will not accept mediation nor intervention of any kind. I have declared also that I will not treat with the rebels, and much less will I do so if the insinuation that I do so involves a flagrant violation of our sovereignty."

AMBASSADOR'S PAY WILL NOT PAY RENT

Gerard Returns From Berlin to Ask Advice of President.

Berlin, Aug. 6.—James W. Gerard, United States ambassador to Germany, with his wife and her sister, the Countess Anton Sigray, left for Hamburg today and will embark on the Amerika for the United States tomorrow.

Mr. Gerard succeeded, aided by the newspaper versions of his house-hunting difficulties, in finding two suitable houses for his residence in Berlin. One of them is in the aristocratic Tiergarten district and the other nearer the center of the city. The rental of each is about $19,000 annually, this item alone exceeding the ambassador's salary by $1,500.

Either one of the residences contains ample room for the embassy offices, and private quarters as well as for entertaining purposes.

Mr. Gerard, before deciding on taking a lease of one of the houses, will discuss the situation with President Wilson and Secretary of State Bryan.

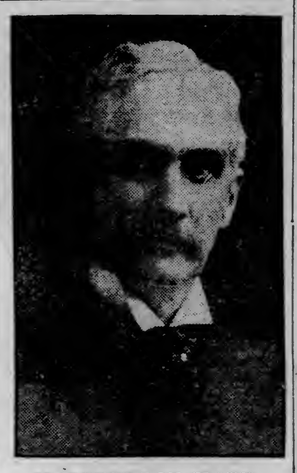
George Von L. Meyer, former secretary of the navy, who arrived last evening and was staying in the same hotel as the Gerards, conveyed to Mr. Gerard has sympathy over the ambassador's house hunting difficulties, telling him he had been subjected to similar experiences while he was ambassador in Rome and in St. Petersburg.

WISCONSIN PRESS OFFICERS RETAINED.

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 6.—Cameron W. Fraser of Menominee Falls today was re-elected president of the Wisconsin Press association at the closing meeting. Charles A. Booth of Milwaukee and E. J. Scott of Shawano, secretary and treasurer respectively, also were re-elected. The officers will decide upon the next place of meeting at a later date.

C. W. Bowron of Green Bay, read a paper on "Anniversaries," and Col. J. A. Watrous spoke on the "Perry Centennial Celebration."

OPPOSES SENDING OF LIND TO MEXICO CITY



CLARENCE DON CLARK, United States Senator From Wyoming.

LIND MISSION IS CRITICIZED

Senator Clark of Wyoming Wants Investigation in Mexico.

Says Sending of Special Emissary Does Not Fill Needs.

Washington, Aug. 6.—President Wilson's action in sending Former Governor Lind to Mexico as a special emissary in the present situation was attacked in the senate today by Senator Clark of Wyoming, who declared "something else must be done by the administration" to guarantee adequate protection to Americans.

Meanwhile President Wilson had been unofficially informed of the support of Republicans of the house in his Mexican program, as long as a non-partisan attitude is maintained. Assurances to the president were conveyed from Republican Leader Mann. At both ends of the capitol there have been informal agreements to keep the Mexican question out of politics.

Senator Clark presented a resolution for an immediate investigation by the senate foreign relations committee of the condition of American citizens and American property in Mexico.

"This resolution is not introduced in a spirit of hostility to the administration, or of criticism of the foreign relations committee," declared the senator. "But conditions are growing steadily worse in Mexico. Now we learn that Governor Lind has been sent there by President Wilson.

"Does Not Satisfy."

"That does not satisfy. Mr. Lind does not go as the official representative of the United States. He does not go as an ambassador, cloaked with authority to represent the United States. He cannot be appealed to by American citizens for protection. Some other steps are necessary to give to Americans and American property the protection they need and are demanding."

Senator Sheppard presented a summary of the strength of the Constitutionalist forces in Mexico. He declared the senate should have complete knowl-

SHOOTS HIMSELF ON DAY OF HIS WEDDING

Pittsburg Barber Walks to Ambulance Despite Three Wounds.

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 6.—Frank Welter, a barber, this morning dressed himself carefully and completed all arrangements for his wedding, scheduled to take place at 9 o'clock. He then went to his room and fired two shots into his breast, near the heart. Discovering he was not dead, he fired another shot at his head, but sustained no injury other than a flesh wound. Then he pulled the trigger of the revolver again, but the bullet went wild. When physicians arrived to remove him to the hospital he refused their help, and walked unaided to the ambulance.

CUTS SNAKE WOUND OUT WITH HIS KNIFE.

Ashland, Wis., Aug. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Joe Derusha, a young farmer, living near Ashland, was bitten on the ankle last night by a copperhead snake. It is the first time that a poisonous snake has ever been reported in the Lake Superior country.

Derusha cut out the wound with his jack-knife and bound a quid of tobacco on it and is able to be out today.

MULHALL TOO TIRED TO FACE INQUISITORS

Lobbyist Also Has Birthday, and Says He Can Find More Letters.

House Committee Recesses While Senators Quiz Emery.

Federation of Labor Will Be Looked Into, Says Walsh.

Washington, Aug. 6.—Examination of Martin W. Mulhall, self-styled lobbyist of the National Association of Manufacturers, was postponed today by the house lobby committee until Monday, at the request of Mulhall, who announced that in the last few days he had discovered in his files in Baltimore some 200 additional letters bearing on national politics, and he believed that if given a few days he would be able to discover more.

He pronounced the letters found important, stating that some contradicted testimony already given before the committee by Representative Fairchild.

Mulhall insisted he needed a rest.

"Furthermore, I am celebrating my 61st birthday today, and have been invited home," said he.

Excused Till Monday.

The committee excused him until Monday, granted his request to have counsel during his examination, but withheld decision on his invitation to the committee to send a representative to Baltimore to assist him in going through his files.

Louis Seibold resumed the stand and was examined briefly as to the basis for parts of the Mulhall stories prepared for the New York World. The committee then found itself without Washington, Aug. 6.—Former Governor John Lind of Minnesota, who is on his way to Mexico as President Wilson's personal representative, will sail from Galveston, Tex., for Vera Cruz on the battleship New Hampshire Thursday. Secretary Bryan today asked Secretary Daniels to provide the battleship. The gunboat Wheeling, patrolling the lower Gulf coast, has left Campeche for Progreso. On the Pacific coast the cruiser Yorktown has left Salina Cruz for Topolobampo.

RATTLESNAKES AND WILDCAT IN BATTLE

Fight to a Finish Is Waged With Rabbit as Prize.

Ukiah, Cal., Aug. 6.—A fight to the death between a wildcat and four big rattlesnakes, the stake being a fat young cottontail rabbit, was witnessed by a hunting party, including several city and county officials, which returned from the mountains today.

The wildcat, its teeth embedded in the rabbit's flesh, scratched two of the snakes to pieces before the venom from the fangs of the snakes took effect. When the hunters came upon the scene one snake had its fangs fast in the wildcat's nose and another in the front foot. The hunters killed all the contestants. The snake skins were so torn by the cat's claws as to be valueless.

NON-UNION COPPER MINERS OFFERED WORK---TROOPS TO GO

CHINA WILL HAVE TO CURTAIL EXHIBITS.

Pekin, China, Aug. 6.—The Chinese government will be unable, owing to its financial difficulties, to furnish the funds necessary to support the Chinese exhibit at the Panama-Pacific exposition at San Francisco, in the manner originally planned.

The finance minister hopes to obtain an appropriation of $500,000, although many members of the Chinese parliament oppose it. Several chambers of commerce also are reluctant in the matter, owing to the losses to merchants in the recent rebellion.

No Members of Federation Will Be Given Employment.

Pumping Is Begun at Mines Preparatory to Opening.

Calumet, Mich., Aug. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—At a conference of the non-union miners' committee here this morning, a mass meeting of miners was called for tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock, at which a proposition to return to work as rapidly as the mines re-open will be laid before them. The Calumet & Hecla Mining company has announced, however, that no members of the Federation of Miners will be given employment.

Withdrawal of the troops will start by Saturday of this week, those who must go home because of business being sent first and others being formed into provisional companies and battalions to remain here until it is decided troops will no longer be needed and the sheriff's forces can take care of the strike situation.

Pumps Are Going.

Work was resumed today at the Osceola No. 1 and No. 2 shafts, Calumet & Hecla Amygdaloid shaft No. 21 and Tamarack No. 4 shaft by pumpmen, shaftmen and muckers, in preparation for pumping out these mines and preparing for actual mining. Heavy guards of troops were thrown about each shaft, making twenty-seven now under guard.

The Allouez, Wolverine and Centennial will this afternoon begin pumping, increasing the number to thirty. So many of the troops are now placed about the various mines and shafts that there are too few left to take up the regular field maneuvers and drills planned for the conclusion of the stay of the state militia in the

DAY SHIFT REFUSES TO BEGIN WORK

Strikers Are Holding Meeting to Formulate Their Demands.

I. W. W. Agitators Believed to Have Stirred Up Local Men.

Told Them They Were "Scabbing" on Superior—Broke Agreement.

The strike of ore dock workers which began at the Allouez docks last week spread today to the Duluth, Missabe & Northern docks here. Four hundred men are out and no work is being done at the docks.

The docks of the Duluth & Iron Range railroad at Two Harbors are not yet involved, but the men there are also expected to go out by the Duluth and Superior strikers.

The Duluth strikers are holding a meeting this afternoon at the Finnish Socialist hall, 416 East Superior street, where a committee to represent the men will be chosen and the demands formulated. It is expected that the demands will be the same as those made by the Superior strikers, higher wages and safer working conditions.

The wage demand of the Superior strikers, which will probably be adopted by the Duluth men, is for $2.75 per day work, $3 for night work, $3.50 for Sundays and 35 cents an hour for overtime, with a ten-hour day. The scale at present on the Duluth docks is $2.35 for days and $2.60 for nights. The sliding scale provides for an increase to $2.45 and $2.70 on Oct. 1 and

"GET GUN AND SHOOT HIM," ADVISES JUDGE

Says Wives Should Defend Themselves From Abusive Husbands.

Oakland, Cal., Aug. 6.—"I advise you to get a shot gun and fill it with buckshot, and if you have reason to believe that this man is going to shoot you, kill him first," said Judge R. B. Tappan of Alameda in the local police court in advising Mrs. Minnie Rowe. "If more wives would shoot their husbands instead of enduring their abuse, it would be good for society."

Rowe was arrested Saturday night after he had made threats against his wife after a quarrel with her.

Surrenders to Sheriff.

Caruthersville, Mo., Aug. 6.—With her baby in her arms and carrying the revolver with which she had shot and killed her husband, Mrs. Anderson B. Waldrop, wife of a prosperous planter, walked two miles to a neighboring farmhouse to telephone to the sheriff here. Waldrop's body was found in his farm dwelling. Mrs. Waldrop is in jail here tonight.

According to her statement, Waldrop had threatened to kill her. She claimed she shot him while he was preparing to carry out his threat.

CLAMMER TAKES $20 FOR $2,000 PEARL

Believes Immediate Sale Is Worth More Than Taking Chance.

Lansing, Iowa, Aug. 6.—John Wendt, clammer, who yesterday found a pearl of fifty grains while at work in the Mississippi river here, last night, being ignorant of the value of pearls, sold it to a Chicago buyer for $20. Experts informed Wendt that it was worth a much larger sum, some even putting the value as high as $2,000, but Wendt considered the $20 in hand a small fortune and snapped up the offer eagerly without waiting for more.

SIX JOY RIDERS ARE INJURED IN SMASHUP

Cabaret Entertainers' Outing Ends in Collision With Engine.

Chicago, Aug. 6.—Six persons were injured early today when an automobile in which they were "joy-riding" collided with a freight train engine in Fullerton parkway. The automobile tore through the crossing gates at the rate of forty-five miles an hour, the police were told, and was demolished when it struck the engine, which was standing at the time.

The injured all will recover. They are cabaret entertainers whom the chauffeur had taken riding, using the car without the consent of his employer. He was arrested.

Attorney for National Real Estate Exchange Pays City High Compliment.

Rate Decision of More Importance Than the Steel Plant.

Nathan William MacChesney, attorney for the Chicago Real Estate Exchange and general counsel for the National Real Estate association, today stated at the Commercial club that he believed Duluth real estate the soundest he had investigated in the various cities of the country.

Mr. MacChesney is an authority upon the long lease, the so-called 99-year lease.

"The lease extending over 100 years originated in England," said Mr. MacChesney. "Then a law was passed limiting the time of the rental to ninety-nine years. Following this a repeal was made and now leases for anywhere from ninety-nine years to 800 years are being made in Europe.

"When the 99-year realty lease was first tried here it was generally with the revaluation of property clause. This is not now generally included in the lease. Tenants have found that in many cases with the growing value of property they are sometimes compelled to pay a rental before the expiration of their lease that precludes all possibility of any profit on the building.

"In Chicago they are trying at the present time what is known as the step lease. The rent is increased every five years to the expiration of the first twenty years of the lease, and then not changed until the lease expires.

"The majority of leases, however, are with a liberal allowance for the increase of the value of the land upon which the property lies, and are straight leases."

In discussing Duluth and the prospects of the city, Mr. MacChesney declared that in his belief the rate decision gained by this city would do even more for Duluth than the United States Steel corporation's completed plant.

"Placing Duluth on a shipping parity with Chicago cannot, in my opinion, fail to create a remarkable improvement in this city and bring immense advantages, perhaps not even dreamed of at this time, to you.

"Some of you don't realize the magnitude of this rate decision. The completion of the plant of the United States Steel corporation cannot fail to work wonderful improvements for you; and yet I am of the positive belief that the rate decision is the biggest asset to the future of your city."

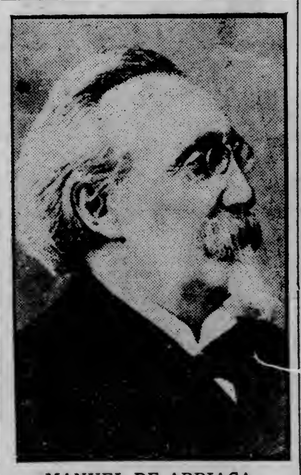
After investigating the realty situation in a number of cities in Canada and this country, Mr. MacChesney declares that in his opinion this city is the soundest realty market he has investigated.

Mr. MacChesney is the guest of W. C. Sherwood and Attorney L. C. Harris.

PRESIDENT IS SAID TO BE DEAD

Portuguese Government Is Reported Keeping It Secret From People.

Paris, Aug. 6.—A rumor current here, which is said to have originated in the Portuguese consulate at Seville, Spain, is that Manuel de Arriaga, president of the Portuguese republic, died three days ago, but that the government is withholding the announcement from the people.



MANUEL DE ARRIAGA.

President de Arriaga has been seriously ill for some days with kidney and heart trouble.

De Arriaga was the first regularly elected president of the Portuguese republic. He was elected by the national assembly. He was known as a literary man, rather than as a politician.

New Ordinance and Dog Catcher Boom City Tax Business.

The dog license business continues active at the office of the city clerk.

The licenses issued now total 1,555, of which 1,505 are for males and the remainder for females.

This is nearly four times the number of licenses issued a year ago, and is due to the passage of the new dog ordinance and the appointment of a dog catcher.

The dog catcher continues on the job and will thoroughly scour the city before he retires from that branch of municipal activity. Some of the dogs which have fallen into his hands have been sold, others have been redeemed and some have been shot. In addition to paying for a license, those who take their pets from the dog pound are obliged to pay a penalty of $2.

FIND BIGGER SULZER FUND

Only $5,465 Reported and $12,045 Used in His Campaign.

Investigators Are Bringing to Light Contributors' Checks.

New York, Aug. 6.—William F. McCombs, chairman of the Democratic national committee, contributed $500 to Governor Sulzer's campaign fund last fall. Sulzer did not include it in his sworn statement of contributions, according to testimony today before the investigating committee.

At a recent hearing the committee brought out that Abram I. Elkius had contributed $500 and Jacob H. Schiff $2,500 to the fund, and that neither contribution had appeared in the sworn statement.

Mr. McCombs' check was produced today. It was indorsed with a rubber stamp of Governor Sulzer's signature and bore also the indorsement of L. A. Sarecky, Governor Sulzer's confidential clerk during the campaign. It was deposited in the Mutual Alliance Trust company, where Sarecky kept the campaign funds.

Swore to Only $5,465.

The total of Mr. Sarecky's deposits in the Mutual Alliance Trust company from Oct. 1 to Nov. 2 was $12,045, according to testimony today. It was added that Governor Sulzer swore he had received only $5,465.

Henry Morgenthau also made a contribution to the fund—$1,000—which did not appear in the sworn statement, according to a cancelled check indorsed with Governor Sulzer's name in writing, and deposited with the Farmers' Loan & Trust company.

Another $500 contribution not in the sworn statement was made by John Lynn of this city. This check was apparently not deposited, but presented at the bank for cash.

Governor Sulzer's deposits in the Farmers' Loan & Trust company between Sept. 1 and Jan. 1 were detailed by an official from that institution. The total deposits between those dates were $24,195. The balance in the bank Jan. 1 was $22,527. The balance in the Mutual Alliance Trust company the day after election was $190. The remainder of the $12,405 deposited had been checked out.

SHOOTS HERSELF AT EX-HUSBAND'S ROOMS

La Crosse Woman, Despairing Over Divorce, Attempts Suicide.

La Crosse, Wis., Aug. 6.—Going to a room of her former husband today, Mrs. Anna Gillin, who had been divorced from him, shot herself in the breast in an attempt at suicide. The ex-husband took his former wife to the hospital and it is thought she will recover.

It is thought that despair because of her inability to effect a reconciliation caused her to attempt to end her life.

RACE SUICIDE LEADS TO DIVORCE COURT.

Joliet, Ill., Aug. 6.—Leo Zelenka Lerando, a Bohemian teacher of the harp, who played in a number of Chicago concerts last season, has received notice that a divorce is being sought from him by Irene Stewart Elliott, daughter of a wealthy Billings, Mont., ranchman, whom he married three years ago in London. She charges abandonment, but Lerando, who is a noble in his native country, declares the divorce proceedings are the outcome of his demand for an heir, which was refused. He says race suicide caused the marital split.

UNITED STATES ASKS RELIGIOUS LIBERTY

Note Is Sent By Washington to Balkan Conferees.

Bucharest, Aug. 6.—At the Balkan peace conference M. Majoresco, president of the conference, read a note from the United States government expressing a desire to see inserted in the treaty of Bucharest a stipulation for civil and religious liberty to the inhabitants in Turkey which may be ceded or annexed.

Was Carefully Guarded.

Washington, Aug. 6.—The intention of the American government to make representations to the Balkan peace delegates had been so carefully guarded it was not generally known even in official circles that a note had been dispatched to Bucharest. It is known, however, that the administration has been receiving vigorous protests from Jews all over the United States against the treatment of people of their race in Roumania.

HOT WEATHER RECORD IN KANSAS BROKEN.

Topeka, Kan., Aug. 6.—The season's heat mark in Kansas was broken yesterday when a temperature of 114 deg. was registered at Clay Center.

Other temperatures reported were: Abilene, Junction City and Salina, 108; Ottawa, 106; Kansas City, 105, and Hutchinson, 102.

Family Dog Saves Children.

Red Lake Falls, Minn., Aug. 6.—A report is current that the leopard or panther, presumed to have escaped from a circus or carnival company and to be at large in this section, attacked the two small children of William Wageman at the farm home near here Tuesday. The family dog, a Scotch collie, is said to have saved the children, thereby forfeiting its life, but by attacking the animal diverted its attention until the tots ran into their home and closed the door.

SICK FUND HIT AGAIN

Further Deficit of $11,000 in Permanent Improvement Fund.

Commissioners Find Notation of Big Liability on Slip of Paper.

The big deficit of the permanent improvement fund took another jump this morning, when it was discovered that the city owes the Soo railroad $11,086.03 for money advanced for the improvement of Michigan street, between Eighth and Twelfth avenues west.

This brings the estimated total up to $55,762.67. This sum represents the liabilities against the improvement fund, over the total levy for the year, if no other expenses are incurred.

The more Finance Commissioner Voss and City Auditor Ben J. Campbell learn about the fund, the worse it becomes. And the expenditures which have been authorized for repairing the old city hall the last few weeks, running close to $5,000, along with others for which resolutions have been passed, have not helped it any.

Michigan street was improved about three years ago, being paved with sandstone blocks laid on a concrete base. The city didn't have the money and an agreement was entered into with the Soo whereby the railroad advanced the cash, amounting to over $20,000. Half of this debt has been paid and today the city found that it is still liable for the other half, which has continued to grow as the interest accumulated at the rate of 5 per cent.

The statement of the liability was found on a piece of note paper which had made its way into an obscure corner. Apparently no authentic record had been made of it, as had it been entered it could have been discovered long before by Auditor Campbell.

OLD DIAMOND STAR GETS POLITICAL PLUM.

Harrisburg, Pa., Aug. 6.—Governor John K. Tener today gave a substantial reward to a comrade of his old baseball days when he appointed George Wood, once a member of the Philadelphia National league team, and a mighty outfielder and hitter, marshal of the new public service commission. Governor Tener and Wood have been friends ever since their ball-playing days, in the course of which both were with the Chicago Nationals on a trip around the world. Wood's salary is $2,000 a year.

New London, Conn., Aug. 6.—A fleet of eighty-six yachts, all flying the Burgee of the New York Yacht club, put to seat today for the annual cruise along the New England coast, with Newport as the destination of the day's run. The fleet was about equally divided between sail and steam or gasoline.

WALSH WILL VISIT ARM SPECIALIST.

Chicago, Aug. 6.—Ed Walsh, star pitcher of the Chicago American league club, whose arm has been sore since spring and who has taken part in only a few games this season, left today to visit a specialist at Youngstown, Ohio.

He will undergo an examination to ascertain whether his career as a twirler is at an end. His last appearance with the White Sox was in Chicago July 19, when he was obliged to retire after pitching two innings against the Philadelphia Athletics. His friends say that rest and treatment here have not helped his arm. He declared that if he finds himself unable to pitch again he will make an effort to become an outfielder.

LACED SLIPPERS.

New York Herald: With the skirt receding from the feet, disclosing the ankle, with fleeting glimpses of silken stockings above, has come the lovely lacing of ribbon about the instep and ankle. In many cases the modern French slipper has been shaped on the sides to include inserted rings, through which the lacing may be drawn. This lacing, however, is applied by Parisians to the plain, ordinary slipper. A small half or three-quarter inch ring of ivory, jet or whatever may match the color of the slipper is sewn at about an inch from the center back on each side on the edge. This ring may also be simply a brass or one covered with silk crocheted loops matching the slipper color. The ribbons are sewed, one on each side of the slipper front edge, about two inches apart. They are crossed over the instep and lace in through the rings at the back, which hold the slipper on firmly. They then continue over and above the ankle, crossing alternately back and front to any desired height, or according to the dress hem, and are tied in front in a small bow and ends.

These lacings are in satin, generally to match the satin slipper with which they are worn. A small brass or steel buckle is posed at the front of the slipper.

MEETS MAN WHO SAVED LIFE BACK IN 1864

Orlo Robinson of West Salem, Wis., Finds Friend in Stranger.

West Salem, Wis., Aug. 6.—When Hood's army assaulted Nashville in 1864, Orlo Robinson of this village, one of the Union defenders, fell seriously wounded on a field over which the Confederate cavalry was charging. At the risk of his life, D. H. Hall, also a member of Company I of the Eighth Wisconsin, dragged Robinson off the field, saving his comrade's life.

After the rescue the two never met again, and Robinson believed Hall had fallen in battle. Today a stranger in West Salem stopped a local man on the street to inquire his way. The present of G. A. R. buttons led to an exchange of names, and Robinson found in the visitor his rescuer of a half century ago. They clasped hands for the first time since that bloody day in Nashville in 1864.

ARGENTINE SHIP IN AMERICAN DRYDOCK.

New York, Aug. 6.—The 28,000-ton Argentine dreadnought Rivadavia arrived in New York this morning from the Fore River ship-building yards, Quincy, Mass., where she was constructed, to go into drydock at the Brooklyn navy yard, to be painted. The government extended the use of the drydock, the one at Fore River not being large enough to accommodate the big ship.

On the trip from Boston the Rivadavia was manned by a crew of 500 men from the Fore River works and had on board a party of Argentine naval officers. When the work at the navy yard is finished she will have her trials off Rockland, Me.

COMMISSION TO VISIT CLUB

Conference on West Duluth Civic Problem Friday Evening.

City Officials Will Hear Complaints and Opinions of Citizens.

West Duluth citizens and the city commission will meet Friday evening at the West Duluth Commercial club.

Last Friday evening the members of the local club invited the city commission to attend the meeting this Friday and hear the complaints of the citizens in this end of the city. A committee consisting of J. J. Frey, Charles Kauppi, Thomas Olafson and Emil Zauft met the commissioners last Saturday and extended the invitation, which was readily accepted.

The meeting will be open to any one interested. Public questions concerning West Duluth are to be discussed during the evening.

The subject of bridge construction will be brought up. Now that Herbert Warren, manager of the Duluth Street Railway company, has assured the commission that no street railway extension will be built this year, it is probable this matter will also be discussed.

The meeting will open at 8 o'clock and each one present will be allowed a few minutes in which to express his views. A. G. Macauley, president of the club will preside.

DROWNED MAN IS IDENTIFIED

Body Found Monday Was Theodore Johnson of Superior.

The finding last evening of a small Swedish-English dictionary and the part of a marksman's badge near the Thirty-ninth avenue west dock, identifies the body of the man found there Monday evening as that of Theodore Johnson of Superior.

On the fly leaf of the dictionary is written Theodore Johnson, 708 Banks avenue, Superior, Wis., while on the badge is engraved Theodore Johnson, Troop H, Fourth cavalry, P. V. T.

The articles were found by Patrolman Johnson of the West Duluth station, who was sent to the dock to find any possible clew as to the identity of the drowned man.

Taken Ill While Eating Dinner With Her Fiance.

Taken suddenly ill two hours after arriving in West Duluth, where she was to have been married this morning, Tillie Christianson, 25 years old, died yesterday afternoon at the Duluth hospital.

The young woman came to Duluth about 5 o'clock Monday afternoon and registered at the Hotel Grand. Her fiance, Andrew Lindenberg of West Duluth, met her at 6 o'clock and they went to the dining room for dinner. While at the table Miss Christianson was suddenly taken ill. She was carried upstairs where she became unconscious, in which condition she remained up to her death yesterday afternoon.

Dr. Forbes of the Duluth hospital was called to the hotel and after a hurried examination ordered the young woman taken to the hospital. Kidney trouble is given as the cause of her death.

LOW SCORES FOR BUTCHERS

Meat Inspector Finds Insanitary Conditions in Some Shops.

Dairies and Bakeries Show Good Records for July.

Except for a number of butcher shops, the monthly reports of the meat, dairy and bakery inspectors for July show generally satisfactory conditions throughout the city.

Meat Inspector Leon Bernhardt states that of the twenty-five butcher shops which he scored last month, eighteen were without towels or soap and that the scores of some of them fell below 60 per cent. He recommends to Dr. H. E. Webster, health director, that when the scoring has been completed the standings be published so that the butchers who have sanitary shops should not suffer with those who fall below the standard.

Gust Hedman, milk inspector, reports that the statement published in The Herald giving the average bacteria count and the average butter fat returns of the dairymen of the city has had a most salutary effect. He explains that it has not only caused the milkmen to continue their efforts to better conditions but has aroused a widespread interest among the general public. He says that he has had more inquiries relative to milkmen and their product since the scores were published than ever before. He notes an improvement among the manufacturers of ice cream and states that the dairymen are continuing to better their equipment. During the month much time was spent inspecting smaller dairies and testing their cows.

Bakery Inspector Joseph Pratt has completed his scoring of the bake shops, boarding houses, hotels and restaurants of the city. A few of the poorer class have been scored under 75 per cent, but the majority have been given excellent credits. The bakery inspector has submitted a new form of score card for the approval of the health director. He states that several bake shops have moved from basements and that his suggestions where the ordinance has been violated have been generally observed.

FEAR SUFFRAGETTES AT MEDICAL CONGRESS

Ten Thousand People Attend Opening of London Meeting.

London, Aug. 6.—The International Medical congress was opened by Prince Arthur of Connaught, as the representative of King George, in the great Albert Hall this morning. There was an audience of 10,000.

Prince Arthur and Sir Edward Grey, secretary of state for foreign affairs, sat on the platform beside the president of the congress, Sir Thomas Barlow, president of the Royal College of Physicians, physician extraordinary to King George, and honorary LL. D. of Harvard.

The credentials of every person in the audience were rigorously scrutinized before entry could be obtained to the hall. This precaution was taken to keep out suffragettes, several of whom attempted to enter.

A large force of police guarded the building, while women carrying billboards bearing the words, "What do the doctors think of women torture?" paraded outside.

BIG PARADES MARK PERRY CELEBRATION

Milwaukee Is Scene of Great Activity for Centennial.

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 6.—A grand military and naval parade, to be followed by a large number of civic and fraternal societies in procession, was the principal feature of today's doings in the way of celebrating Perry's centennial celebration in Milwaukee.

A special Perry exhibit of war relics and celebration souvenirs at the public museum was viewed by many thousands of persons, who also took advantage of an opportunity to look over the famous flagship Niagara while she lay at her dock in the river.

An exhibition of the fire-fighting qualities of Milwaukee's fire tugs and a spectacular land and naval sham battle were planned for the evening.

AIRSHIP INVENTOR OWES OVER $8,000,000

Armand Deperdussin Is Arrested on Charge of Forgery.

Paris, Aug. 6.—Debts amounting to over $8,000,000 are included in the list of liabilities of Armand Deperdussin, the aeroplane inventor, who was arrested here yesterday for forgery. Against these liabilities his assets, which are somewhat vague, are estimated at $4,000,000. His bankers hold his paper for $6,400,000, while other creditors claim $1,600,000.

The newspapers here recount many stories of Deperdussin's personal extravagance. He was the foremost patron of aviation in France, and spent money with the utmost lavishness. He always felt confident that aviation would develop rapidly, and his expenditures were based on this expectation.

PRICE TO BE SENT TO CAPITAL OF PANAMA

Brand Whitlock Also Is Mentioned for Diplomatic Post.

Washington, Aug. 6.—William J. Price of Danville, Ky., has been selected by President Wilson for minister to Panama.

The name of Brand Whitlock of Toledo, Ohio, was brought forward prominently today as a likely appointee to a European post.

Maj. Edward J. Hale of North Carolina, newly appointed minister to Costa Rica, said goodbye to President Wilson and will leave Saturday for his post.

DIVORCEE WILL MARRY HIS PARISIAN WARD

C. V. Hall and Miss Seutans Meanwhile Are Keeping Hidden.

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 6.—As a sequel to the declared intention of United States immigration officials against Charles Victor Hall, millionaire oil operator of this city, in connection with the alleged illegal residence of Marie Rita Seutans, a Parisian flower girl, it was announced today by Hall's attorney that Hall and Miss Seutans planned to be married before divulging their whereabouts.

Since the sensational trial of Mrs. Hall's divorce suit several months ago, in which Miss Seutans, who appeared as Hall's ward, was named by the wife of the oil man, government agents have been investigating the status of Miss Seutans' residence in the United States.

He was on his way from his home in Duluth to take a position in Ada. The brakeman caught him trying to take a drink on the train, and he was turned over to the authorities in this city. ELECTRO-MEDICINE

NATURE'S GREATEST CURE

Strong Medicine Paralyzes Nerves and Locks Up Secretions.

Electro-Medicine Removes Waste and Purifies the Blood.

These facts should appeal to every reasonable mind, for they can stand the test of investigation, and thereby bring out the old truth that the proof of the pudding is in the eating.

Take the case of blood poison. Here we have an extreme degree of nerve tension, causing the death of blood cells in the affected parts. These dead cells produce toxin, which irritates the nerves further up and they close down as the others did. How natural it looks to adminster morphine for the pain and cause the nerves to close down still harder This is what all strong drugs do, they deaden the nerves so that they cannot convey the impulse of pain, thus leaving the patient under the delusion that he is getting better, only to find with the wearing off of the drug that he is steadily getting worse. Now compare this method of treatment with the effects which Electro-Medicine has on such a condition, instead of tension it produces instant relaxation of all nerves, opens the pores of the skin to let the poison out, the circulation becomes even, the pulse normal and speedy cure is the result.

In Rheumatism we have exactly the same condition—uric acid forms in the blood in the form of crystals of various shapes, large and small. They are conveyed with the blood stream from the large arteries to the capillaries, where the blood is collected by the veins to begin the return circulation to the heart. In the capillaries these crystals become enlarged, they are too large to get through and hence they cut these tiny vessels, set up inflammation, swelling and intense pains. The nerves shut down in heavy tension. Any sufferer from rheumatism will understand this. Now administer a strong drug and see what happens, exactly what happened in the case of blood poison, the nerves close down still harder, and pain gets worse, but relieve the tension and open the pores of the skin and soon all pain will be over. You cannot overcome pain with pain no more than you can overcome anger with hatred. It is the soft answer that overcomes hatred, so it is nature's way to overcome painful diseases with methods as soft as soothing syrup. Electro-Medicine consists of a dissolving process, by which the uric acid crystals are dissolved in the capillaries. Immediately swelling, fever, pain, all tension vanish, and comfort and a speedy cure are the result. The Electro-Medical Doctors have demonstrated in a great number of cases that they actually do cure Rheumatism and Swollen Joints. In diseases like Gallstones or Appendicitis, in the former the stones form from poison secretions and produce pain and pressure in the duct, causing nerve tension. Electro-Medical methods will dissolve these stones in a soothing manner, and you escape a dreaded operation, with the risk of your life. In appendicitis, it is again the poison in the blood. Have it dissolved out and you escape the loss of your appendix and the after-effect of an operation is that 89 per cent of the patients are constipated all the rest of their lives.

For any chronic diseases, see the Electro-Medical Doctors at 26 West Superior street, Duluth. Consultation is free. Their offices are open to men and women from 9 a. m. to 8 p. m.

DRAINAGE BOARD TO INSPECT DITCH

Governor and Other State Officials to View Middle River Job.

Crookston, Minn., Aug. 6.—Governor Eberhart, Secretary of State Schmahl, and State Auditor Iverson, members of the state drainage commission, accompanied by Attorney General Smith, will reach Crookston tomorrow morning on their way to Middle River to inspect the work that has been done on state ditch No. 83, by Forestal & Feyen, contractors. A hearing will be held at that place on Thursday at 1:30 in the afternoon, to give all interested parties a chance to be heard relative to that ditch, and present complaints, if there are any.

To View Another Ditch.

The party will reach Greenbush Friday at noon to make a final inspection of state ditch No. 91 of which Foley & Gleason are contractors, which is reported to have been finished. It is expected that Friday and Saturday will be required in the examination of ditch No. 91.

It is the desire of the Drainage commission that all who have complaints to make relative to these ditches be given an opportunity to be heard at the times and places stated.

MISSABE DOCK WORKERS ON STRIKE FOR HIGHER WAGES

to $2.60 and $2.85 on Oct. 15 for the remainder of the season.

Better Conditions.

Coupled with the wage scale demand will be a demand for safer working conditions. The request of the Superior strikers for flagmen of their own nationality to warn them of the approach of trains, protection against falling into the pockets and more lights on the working surface of the docks is also expected to be duplicated by the Duluth men.

Since the inauguration of the strike at Superior, there has been unrest among the Duluth dock men. F. H. Little, an I. W. W. agitator who came to the Head of the Lakes from Minneapolis and has been active in the Superior strike, is believed to have contributed to it. Many boats destined for loading at Superior went to the Missabe docks and the men have been working overtime. Arguments against "scabbing" on the Superior men, made by agitators within and outside of the dock forces are said to have been potent factors in bringing about the strike.

Individual strikers seen this morning complained not only against the wages but against working conditions. One man said that a brakeman went to sleep on a train last night, and an accident was narrowly averted. Others said that sufficient warning is not given on the approach of trains. Dark spots on the dock are complained of, on behalf of new employes unfamiliar with the lay of the docks.

W. A. McGonagle, president, and J. W. Kreitter, superintendent, of the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railroad, were in conference in Mr. McGonagle's office this morning and could not be reached. Other officials of the company said that until the men presented their demands no attitude could be taken by the company except one of protest against the strike.

Broke Agreement.

Company officials claim that the men broke an express agreement, signed individually at the beginning of the season, to work on the scale of wages specified throughout the season.

"I do not believe that a majority of our men are in sympathy with this strike, but they went out because a few agitators among them had worked on their minds," he said. "Many of our men have worked on the docks from five to fifteen years, and they are satisfied with conditions."

The night crew on the ore docks worked through the night, but the day men refused to go to work this morning and activity on the docks ceased. The night men have joined the strike, although they finished their shift today.

All is orderly at the ore docks. A few of the strikers are loitering around, presumably as pickets, but there is no effort being made to load boats and no opportunity for disorder.

The strikers are unorganized, but representatives of organized labor are active among them in seeking to perfect a temporary organization. That will very likely be the result of the meeting this afternoon when a committee will be chosen and empowered to act for the men in negotiations with the company officials. Whether the officials are disposed to receive such a committee could not be learned today. When the ore dock workers struck in 1907, a local organization was formed and was recognized by the company, but it died away a short time later and has never been revived.

The probable effect of the strike if long continued is serious. Ore is being forwarded from the mines today, but it cannot continue if the strike is drawn out for a few days, and thousands of railroad and mine employes will be thrown out of work unless an early settlement is reached.

I. W. W. to Blame.

W. E. McEwen is of the belief that the Independent Workers of the World have something to do with the stirring up of the strike on the ore docks. That is the opinion that the local labor leader expressed today.

In 1907, according to the statement of Mr. McEwen, there was a union organized among the ore dock laborers. After the settlement of the strike difficulty the union efforts upon the part of the men were abandoned and since that time there has been no organization among the dock laborers. Therefore union labor is but little concerned in the present strike.

The federation of labor is not interested in the strike of the ore dock laborers, according to the statement of Mr. McEwen, and to date no appeals have been made to the officials of the federation here, nor has any assistance been asked.

EXCITING RECEPTION MAY BE AWAITING JOHN LIND

interested in a plot to assassinate President Huerta.

The police say they received a report that a group of men were planning to subscribe $200,000 to pay the assassin, and they allege that Mr. Blum was to be a subscriber to the fund. Two Mexicans also have been arrested on similar charges.

The information gathered by the police thus far is inconclusive, but the arrest of Mr. Blum appears probable.

Will Not Resign.

Personal friends of President Huerta and military men who appear to enjoy his confidence vigorously assert that he will not consider resigning or any compromise with the rebels. They say they would regard as gratuitous the sending of a representative here by the United States with the announcement that he is intended ultimately to be ambassador, but whose primary mission is to act as mediator. They insist that if the United States is sincere in its desire to restore peace, the most practical means to this end would be the recognition of the Huerta government.

"Any suggestion by Mr. Lind or any other foreigner that President Huerta shall resign in favor of a provisional president, or that a compromise be effected with the rebels, will be regarded as unfriendly interference, and resented by the government," was the comment of one man high in official life. He added that mediation from the outside was out of the question. It would be unjust, as President Huerta just now is getting his army in shape and the government is beginning to dominate the situation. As simply a personal representative of President Wilson, this man continued, Mr. Lind might come to Mexico; but if he attempted to interfere with the policies of the country he must be ignored.

Opinion Is Divided.

A large number of Mexicans and Americans believe that recognition of President Huerta at the present time would not result in materially strengthening the government, but another element professes to believe such action would at least give Huerta a chance to restore order.

Regarding the possibility of the selection of a provisional president acceptable to all factions, one official said that this was practically an impossibility; that such a man would have to be totally unknown, and such a person would not have the power to control the situation.

Encouraged by articles in the local press, the public had reached the belief that recognition of the Huerta administration by the United States was almost a certainty, and the announcement from Washington that President Wilson still is opposed to such a course has been a decided shock. The character of the conversation among all classes concerning the situation does not differ greatly from that in official circles, and unless there is a radical change in sentiment it is not impossible that the reception accorded Mr. Lind here will be exciting. Already there is talk of public demonstrations of disapproval at his coming.

It is assumed that the government will take all steps to look after the personal safety of President Wilson's representative and of Americans in general in event of demonstrations.

Gourd Story Denied.

Following an investigation into the alleged indignities suffered by Matthew Gourd, an American farmer, and his daughters at the hands of bandits near Tampico, the foreign office has given denial to the report. The denial was based on telegraphic assurances from the governor of San Luis Potosi, who said he had received his information in a communication from the president of the colony at Tampico.

It was reported that Gourd had been tied to a tree and forced to witness an attack on his two daughters by the bandits. Investigation of the alleged affair by the foreign office was made at the instance of the American embassy.

edge of the number of the Constitutionalist leaders, the troops they could muster, the extent of the territory controlled and the extent of their equipment.

Senator Sheppard's report showed that the Constitutionalist leaders had followers numbering between 60,000 and 80,000, and that they were in possession of far more than half of Mexico.

"We are unable to get exact and definite information," said Senator Clark, "about conditions in Mexico. Evidence still continues, however, to show that American property is being destroyed every day; that American citizenship is being dishonored there, and even officers of the American government are being shot down.

"Something Must Be Done."

"It is no purpose of this resolution to place the responsibility for these outrages. It is to obtain information. I know there is a disposition at times to regard such information as confidential. But in my judgment that is not the proper course now, because it is not secret that other nations than ourselves are interested in the situation. Conditions are being talked of, not only in the senate, but elsewhere. "The conditions cannot long be borne with by the American republic. Something must be done, or something will be done. I don't intend to ask for a vote on the resolution at this time, and unless someone desires to make a statement in regard to it, I shall ask that it go over."

Tells Rebel Side.

Col. Eduardo Hay, chief of the staff of the Constitutionalist forces in Sonora, gave to the senate foreign relations committee today a detailed account of his views on conditions in Mexico. The Constitutionalist movement, he declared, controlled at least two-thirds of Mexico.

Though he made no recommendations, Col. Hay insisted that intervention by the United States would make things worse and that any mediation which recognized the government of Huerta was impossible. His idea of the solution of the situation was to lift the embargo on arms, so that the Constitutionalists could carry on a more active campaign. Then he declared, troubles in Mexico soon would be settled.

Today's official dispatches from Mexico contained no information of five American officials of the Madera Lumber company who are believed in El Paso to have been taken prisoners and held in Chihuahua. Inquiries are being made.

Americans Reported Killed.

El Paso, Texas, Aug. 6.—Five American officers of the Madera company limited, F. C. Herr, general superintendent; F. J. Clark, railroad superintendent; Roy Hoard, accountant; W. J. Farragut, commissary agent, a nephew of the late Admiral Farragut, and H. P. Gallagher, assistant to the superintendent, are believed to be held prisoners by the Federal authorities in Chihuahua city by the El Paso officers of the company.

An official of the Madera company said that an order for the arrest of the five men was issued several days ago by the Federal military authorities of Chihuahua.

Soldiers Taken Away.

While attorneys employed by relatives of some of the 230 Mexican Federal soldiers who have been imprisoned at Fort Bliss since their capture several months ago at Naco, Ariz., were at Austin, endeavoring to secure from United States District Judge T. S. Maxey an order for the release of the prisoners, the Mexicans secretly were removed today from Fort Bliss and sent west, presumably to Fort Rosecrans at San Diego.

MULHALL TOO TIRED TO FACE INQUISITORS

witnesses, James A. Emery having been called before the senate committee. A recess was taken to await the reappearance of Emery.

Emery Before Senators.

James A. Emery, Washington representative of the National Association of Manufacturers, testified today before the senate lobby committee. He was to tell the organization's side of the story that Martin M. Mulhall began. Emery was examined first by Robert McCarter, attorney for the association. Attorney McCarter announced he intended to show that the National Association of Manufacturers had only been opposing the work of the American Federation of Labor, "taking the opposite view" on most subjects of legislation.

Investigate A. F. of L.

"We are going to investigate the American Federation of Labor, too," said Senator Walsh.

Senator Reed observed that his idea of the duty of the committee was to establish the truth or falsity of the Mulhall letters.

Emery testified he had been national counsel for the manufacturers since 1907 and for the National Council for Industrial Defense since 1908. The council, he explained, was the natural outgrowth of the desire of employers of labor to form some national organization that might be able to do for them what the united labor organizations wished to do for labor. Broadly speaking, he said, the main idea was to fight for the "open shop" instead of the unionized shop for which labor contended.

Emery testified that in August, 1907, at the suggestion of James W. Van Cleave, then president of the manufacturers' association, representatives of fourteen employing associations met in New York and laid plans that resulted in the formation of the Council for Industrial Defense. Mulhall had sworn there were no meetings, that Van Cleave and other officials just formed the council, a paper organization, and elected themselves officers.

Letters on Politics.

The house committee had already received from the files of the National Association of Manufacturers the details of legislative activities of the widest range, extending from the home districts of members of congress throughout the country to the White House and the capitol. The house committee placed in the record a hundred letters from the files of James A. Emery, chief counsel for the National Association of Manufacturers.

From the attempts to influence the selection of the labor and judiciary committees of the house to discussions of the possibilities of coupling currency legislation with the tarif bill at the present session of congress; from conversations with Majority Leader Oscar Underwood of the house to letters and telegrams to Presidents Wilson and Taft, the correspondence covered every field of public policy and legislative action.

Emery on the Stand.

Frankly and quietly, Emery, on the stand, acknowledged that he had recommended a contribution of $500 to oppose Representative Buchanan of Illinois for re-election, or told of personal interviews with leaders and members of congress in his attempts to influence the naming of committees or to prevent the enactment of legislation urged by organized labor.

The correspondence suggested a bitter fued between the National Association of Manufacturers and the American Federation of Labor in an attempt to secure control of the legislative agencies of the government. Discussing the recent sundry civil bill, with its provision prohibiting the expenditure of certain funds for the prosecution of farmers and labor unions under the Sherman law, Emery wrote to President John Kirby, Jr., of the association on March 7, 1913, after President Taft had vetoed the bill:

"Tremendous Demonstration."

"I want to emphasize as hard as I can the importance of lining up for a tremendous demonstration when this bill reaches President Wilson, as it undoubtedly will, with the same provision in it.

"You will then have an early opportunity to decide whether the glittering Democratic motto, 'equal rights for all and special privileges for none,' means anything, or whether the administration has surrendered completely or will merely turn over the department of labor.

"I note, by the way, your reference to a letter from C. W. (Post) on the question of protest over the appointment of Wilson (secretary of labor). A protest on this subject is a mere waste of breath, and on the whole I am inclined to think that the whole purpose of this department will be shown up quicker with the unions in control of it than in any other way. Gompers will run it characteristically with a high hand, and if the whole thing does not smell to heaven within a year, I shall be very much astonished. By that time Democratic simplicity will probably mean a union label on the White House stationary and the president conferring with the waiters' union over the appointment of his steward.

"Jeffersonian Simplicity."

"At present we have nothing more startling in Jeffersonian simplicity than the news that Mrs. Bryan is making a new suit for the secretary of state and that cakes and ginger ale will be served at the dinner of the British ambassador. Toothpicks will, of course, be an after-dinner course at all cabinet receptions, and the demand for dress suits will be confined to waiters in the hotels."

In this same letter Emery advised Kirby:

"If you have any idea that Taft would have vetoed this bill of his own motion, get over it. A list of public men who had 'pie' in this $113,000,000 appropriation bill included many prominent men in both houses."

Kirby forwarded to Emery a series of letters between William de Hertburn Washington of New York city and A. B. Farquhar, a manufacturer of York, Pa., and a director of the association. Washington told Farquhar in a letter dated Jan. 6, 1913, that he "had recently spent three days on a trip to Virginia with the president-elect, and was satisfied that the tariff would be taken up at an extra session."

Talked With Underwood.

In a letter to Daniel Davenport of Bridgeport, Conn., in March 1911, Emery told of interviewing, with Mr. Kirby, Majority Leader Underwood on the organization of the committee of the new Democratic house.

"We have kept the South pretty busy pounding the committee on committees for the past two weeks," he wrote. "Mr. Kirby was here Thursday and we had a long and frank talk with Oscar Underwood, who is a decent, level-headed conservative. I really believe now that he will have a fairly conservative judiciary committee, as good as we could expect from your Democratic brethren, but we are undoubtedly going to have a bad labor committee. Underwood has frankly told me that it does not please him, and undoubtedly would not please us."

The list of letters presented yesterday was about half of those called from Emery's files by the committee.

2100 Pairs Men's and Women's Fine Shoes

Go on Sale for a Quick Clean-up Tomorrow at Incomparable Prices

The greatest shoe bargain event of the year—it's a general round-up of all odd lots, discontinued lines, reference samples and broken sizes.

It seems a pity to sell such fine footwear at such low prices, but the policy of this house to start the season with all new goods must be strictly lived up to. This policy was adopted when the new management took over the store, and at which time all broken lots and discontinued lines were taken from stock—the quantity being small, they were set aside for a future sale. This season's unprecedented activity in the shoe store has caused an accumulation of hundreds of pairs of odd lots and broken lines of Men's and Women's Shoes which have been taken from regular stock for a quick disposal. When we conceived this sale, our shoe buyer was about to start for the Eastern market to buy fall shoes—and to make this shoe sale the biggest event we ever had, he figured that he would be able to buy surplus stock from our makers considerably less. When he popped the question to them they acceded to our offers willingly, anything to turn the idle stock into cash, MAKING ABOUT 2,100 PAIRS ALL TOLD, which go on sale tomorrow at unheard-of prices. Those who are conversant with the high quality of our shoes will need no urging to come in the first day of the sale; previous events have shown the wisdom of early choosing. Every pair of reliable quality. The quantity is large. The number of those who want certain styles and sizes is larger. Be sure to come very early.

DULUTH BOYS MEET A BEAR

Have Exciting Experience on Bicycle Trip to Oshkosh.

Bruce Davis and Harold Banks of Duluth, who are making a bicycle trip from Duluth to Oshkosh, Wis., met with rather a startling incident yesterday. The boys left Duluth several days ago, and as they are going through a country unknown to them, they are making liberal use of a road map which they took along. Just south of Minong, while they were ascending a small sand hill, they came to a fork in the road and consulted their map to see which way to go. The map said: "Bear to the left."

Just as young Davis read it aloud, it proved to be correct, for a large black bear rose to his haunches about ten feet to their left. He was as badly frightened as the boys were, and scurried off into the timber.

The crew of the Gopher will go through the various maneuvers of the cadet manual. They will scrub the decks, spread and furl sails, perform on the yard arm, etc.

The climax of the film will come when one of the cadets in a running drill exhibition will fall overboard. The sailor will be rescued and revived by the Sylvester method of artificial respiration.

Otto Rath, a Chicago moving picture man, has secured permission to take the picture.

LIGHT TERMS FOR GUILTY GERMANS.

Berlin, Aug. 6.—The sensational charge that officials of the Prussian war office had accepted bribes from the Krupp company in return for military documents, which were made in the reichstag last April by the Socialist deputy, Dr. Karl Liebknecht, came to a rather tame ending with the conviction of seven unimportant persons connected with the ordnance board, of whom the highest ranked officially as junior lieutenants.

Lieut. Tilian was sentenced to two months in prison, Lieut. Scheluder and Lieut. Sinst to four months each, and Lieut. Hoge to forty-three days. The first three lose their commissions, but Hoge remains in the army.

Chief Clerk Pfeiffer of the ordnance department was sentenced to six months, Non-Commissioned Officer Schmidt to two and a half months, and Non-Commissioned Officer Droese was given three weeks' confinement to barracks.

The evidence showed the prisoners had disclosed to the Krupp representatives information in reference to government contracts.

"MURDERED PRIEST FOR PUBLICITY."

Agen Lot-et-Garonne, France, Aug. 6.—A minor poetess, Mme. Alice Crespy, charged with murdering the priest, Abbe Chassaing, on Jan. 19, appeared before the assizes court and related her version of the clergyman's death.

The accused is a little woman, neither pretty nor plain. As she told her story her voice at times sank to an almost inaudible pitch, and at others rose to a shriek as she insisted that the young priest committed suicide.

Her story remained unshaken under the searching interrogatory of the presiding judge, who declared that she had murdered the man in order to obtain notoriety.

"In the accusation brought against you, you are alleged to have said to your dressmaker that your books were not selling well, and that if you were the heroine of a love murder, for which the accused persons always are acquitted, it would be otherwise," said the judge.

Mme. Crespy denied this allegation with the greatest indignation.

Medical and other evidence was then brought forward to show that the priest had not committed suicide.

BRITISH PAPERS URGE PART IN EXPOSITION

London Post and Chronicle Exhort Government to Reconsider.

London, Aug. 6.—The Morning Post, in an editorial today in which it takes the ground that the financial consideration involved is relatively small, urges the government to reconsider its decision not to participate in the Panama-Pacific exposition.

The Daily Chronicle likewise urges the government to reconsider. The question was a subject of debate in the house of commons yesterday. Some criticism was expressed of recent official action in this connection, and the suggestion was offered that private enterprise might supply the impetus necessary to secure adequate British representation, which the government declined to furnish.

Sir Edward Grey, secretary of state for foreign affairs, in a lengthy statement, explaining the official attitude of the British government in the matter, stoutly maintained that the decision of the cabinet not to participate was entirely due to commercial considerations and had nothing to do with the controversy over canal tolls.

WINTER WHEAT FOR RED RIVER VALLEY

Its Culture Promises to Become Quite General in a Few Years.

Crookston, Minn., Aug. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Within a few years, it is predicted, winter wheat will be one of the staple crops of the Red river valley. A. Johnston, a farmer of Angus, twenty miles north of here, has raised it successfully for the past four years, and other farmers in that vicinity have raised it with exceptional success.

John Goosen, a farmer near Euclid, has a magnificent crop of winter wheat this year which he is just harvesting, and this fall will sow from 100 to 200 acres. He says his winter wheat this year will average from 35 to 40 bushels per acre. The big advantage which comes from it, is the same as with winter rye, the crop can be harvested and threshed early, and the ground plowed early, thus making the land as fit for spring wheat the following year as summer fallowing would be, and the land does not have to lie idle as in the case of summer fallowing.

Doubles Implements' Capacity.

It also practically doubles the capacity of a harvester, plow and seeder, as the farmer can divide his work, seeding half his land to winter wheat in the late summer, and the balance in the spring, and can have a big lot of early plowing done every year, thus solving the plowing, seeding and harvest help problems in a great measure, and avoiding the big rush incident to seeding with a rush in the spring and having a big acreage to harvest, often all ready at once. It also makes a very simple diversification.

Japan Undecided.

Tokio, Aug. 6.—Inquiry here has elicited the answer that Japan's attitude regarding participation in the Panama-Pacific exposition at San Francisco in 1915 still is undetermined. It is stated that action upon the matter is conditional upon the desires of the manufacturers.

TWO DOCTORS HELD FOR DEATH OF GIRL

School Boys and Girls of Kansas City Testify at Inquest.

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 6.—Charged with causing the death by an operation of Meta Zook, an 18-year-old high school girl, Dr. J. Hall and Dr. Fabian Pratt were arrested here late Monday, after a coroner's jury had heard the testimony of a number of boys, members of a fraternity at Westport high school, this city. Miss Zook died in great agony Sunday.

George T. Vance, an 18-year-old high school boy, testifying at the inquest, gave the names of ten boys, all of whose parents are wealthy and live in an exclusive residence district of the city, who, he said, frequently associated with Miss Zook. Vance and the other ten boys were all high school boys and were known as the "Armour Boulevard Frat Bunch." Vance and Herbert Kiger are held as material witnesses.

A sister of the dead girl testified taht these boys had called frequently on her sister, who with another girl had gone on motor trips with the boys at various times.

A girl chum of Miss Zook's, in her testimony, went thoroughly into the manner of friendship they had with the boys. She told of different times when she and Miss Zook had gone to the homes of boys when the parents of the boys were away on summer vacations.

The witness, who is 16 years old and seemed little more than a child, told her sordid story calmly and without changing color.

KINDEL CRITICIZES PARCEL POST PLAN.

Washington, Aug. 6.—Postmaster General Burleson's plan for extension of the parcel post and the lowering of rates came in for severe criticism in the house from Representative Kindel of Colorado, one of two congressmen called in by Mr. Burleson as consultants in his revision plan.

Mr. Kindel declared the entire plan of extension of the parcel post had been worked out by a commission of four $2,500 clerks, none of whom "could run a corner grocery for me." The new rates in the first and second zones are much too low, Mr. Kindel contended, in comparison with the rates for the other zones.

He characterized, particularly the fact that packages can be reshipped four times under the short zone rates at a total cost much less than the long distance charges. The through rate on 100 pounds from Chattanooga to Washington, he said, would be $1.22, while if the package were reshipped four times the rate would amount to only 96 cents.

BARNUM WILL BE OUTDONE

College Day Parade Expected to Be Novel Spectacle.

Will Be Followed By College Day Circus and Sports.

Old P. T. Barnum never had anything that will approach the big parade of college men and women at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon, which will open the third annual College day reunion and carnival.

The parade, headed by the Third Regiment band, will start from in front of the Spalding hotel at 4 o'clock and will march east on Superior street to Lake avenue and then south to the Aerial bridge. From there the paraders will take cars to the Oatka branch of the boat club and take in the "pike" and carnival the remainder of the afternoon. In the evening there will be a big bonfire and races on the beach.

In the parade, it is hoped, will be all the college men and women of Duluth who were graduated from their respective universities at least forty years ago. They will be the honor guests and will ride in automobiles. The younger graduates and undergraduates of the various universities will present the various stunts for the parade and will walk to the Aerial bridge.

Dr. G. Herbert Jones, who with Mrs. Jones, is in charge of the carnival, has requested that all automobile owners of Duluth donate their machines for the afternoon parade. There are a large number of automobiles yet needed and owners have been asked to send in their names to Dr. and Mrs. Jones.

The college men and women have been requested to gather for the parade by at least 3:30 o'clock, so that the line of march can start promptly at 4 o'clock. The Minnesota men will meet in front of the courthouse, while the other colleges have also arranged for meeting places for their alumni.

Most of the big features of the parade are being withheld for fear that other colleges might "grab the idea." That there will be something worth while is promised by each college. About 300 college men and women are expected to take part in the parade.

THE MOTHER-PRINCIPLE.

Dallas Lore Share in the Atlantic: There is a mother-principle alive in all nature which never dies. This is different from the mother-instinct, the mother-passion. The oak and the amoeba respond to the mother-principle. It is a law of life; it is one of the constants of being. The mother-instinct or passion, on the other hand, occurs only among the higher animals; occurs not sporadically quite, for it is common enough, yet while generally found, and while one of the strongest, most interesting, most beautiful of animal traits, it is at the same time the most individual and the least constant.

This cow of my neighbor's that I hear lowing (the "Big Blue" cow of the herd), is an entirely gentle creature ordinarily, but with a calf at her side will pitch at any one who approaches her. And there is no other cow of the herd who mourns so long when her calf is taken away. The mother in her is stronger, more enduring, than in any of the other nineteen in the barn. In my own cow it is hardly more than blind principle, hardly advanced beyond the oak tree's feeling for its acorns, or the amoeba's for its divided self.

"WELSH RABBIT" LINEN SET.

Chicago Inter Ocean: For the late supper there is a "welsh rabbit set" of doilies and table cloth. There are twenty-five pieces in the set, with two sizes of doilies. Both table cloth and doilies are circular and fringed. They are made of coarse white linen, with small blue stenciled rabbits scampering madly around them. It is especially suitable for a studio luncheon or supper. Such sets are always good to have in the cupboard in case of sudden need of that which marks an occasion as informal, for in the scale of the formal or informal linen weighs heavily.

NEW FIGURE IN MUSICAL COMEDY

GEORGIA CAINE, In "Adele."

The first musical comedy which will entertain the tired business man of New York is now rehearsing preparatory to opening in Canada for a "tryout." It is called "Adele" and it is to be put on by the New Era company, a new factor in the dramatic world, headed by Joseph Bickerton, Jr., who made a success last season of the Paul Rainey pictures. One of the chief figures in the play will be Georgia Caine, whose last appearance was in a revival of "The Geisha." Although the company producing "The Geisha" contained recruits from the Metropolitan opera, the critics united in saying that Miss Caine was the chief attraction of the play—that in fact she was the only member of the company who entered into the spirit of the operetta. Miss Caine has been a familiar worker on the light opera stage for several years. The new musical play is said to be tuneful and amusing in plot.

THE UPLIFT IN THE KITCHEN

An English Girl Who Has Adopted the Profession of Visiting Cook Says Women Should Dress for Cooking as for a Ball.

London Mail: A new profession for women—that of visiting cook—has been opened up by the exigencies of the domestic situation.

"Cooking is a fine art," a young woman who has qualified as a visiting cook said. "It is all very well to say that Heaven sends the food and the devil the cooks," she said, "but what can you expect when so few people take the matter of food preparation seriously. Food is the fuel of the human engine. The preparation of food is one of the most important tasks of our everyday lives. Yet it is a curious fact, this most important function, in so many homes, is disposed of in the most casual and haphazard fashion.

What a Kitchen Should Be.

"Cooking has been an unpopular profession for women because of the conditions of domestic servility it has entailed. Also because kitchens have been ugly places, and the whole process of cooking has in consequence been an inelegant one.

There is no earthly reason why it should be. A kitchen ought to be the most beautiful room in the house, as it is the most important. It ought to be large and furnished with solid, plain furniture, light hangings and linoleums, perhaps to match the crockery. It ought to be well furnished with cupboards and be decorated only with the few necessary burnished metal covers and canisters essential to kitchen service. And it is just as important for the cook to come daintily and suitably dressed to her work as it is for the kitchen to be daintily and suitably dressed to receive her.

Dainty Dress for Cook.

"I do not mean to say that I expect every kitchen I am engaged to cook in to be a model culinary workship. They should be, of course.

"I believe that if kitchens were beautiful and not the stuffy, stodgy dungeons that they often are, and that if women dressed for their work in them with the care that they dress to go to a ball, cooking would no longer be regarded as drudgery and a monotonous business at the best of times. Moreover, there would be fewer dyspeptic, ill fed and anaemic men and women about.

"One has only to create interest to abolish drudgery.

"Cooking in unlovely surroundings is a monotonous and dreary task. Greasy sinks and disorderly cupboards produce a mental irritability that invariably ends disastrously. But cooking becomes an operation full of beauty and interest in a harmonious setting. One can have a really esthetic thrill, for instance, heating the golden yolks of eggs in a blue bowl.

"The most essential thing in connection with cooking, I think, however, is to concentrate one's interest and attention on the preparation of the dish on hand. Many cooks and most housewives who are forced by circumstances to cook their own meals imagine that if they throw certain vegetables and meat into a pot, stir them occasionally, and leave the fire to do the rest, they will in due course have a soup or a ragout. There is, of course, the historic example of the great French chef who committed suicide because an Englishman added a pinch of salt to the soup that he thought he had sent to table a masterpiece of flavoring. But the average housewife and her average Phyllis seem to believe there is something undignified in being too interested in the make-up of a meal.

My Maiden Experiment.

"In Australia, from which I come, it is much more the fashion for girls to learn to be domesticated in their own homes than it is here. I began experimenting in the kitchen at home. But my maiden efforts at pies, soups and souffles were most prayerfully and carefully made. I acquired a reputation among my friends for being 'a good cook,' and often when they gave a luncheon and dinner parties I was asked to superintend the cooking arrangements or to make some special confection.

A Girl of Resource.

"When suddenly here in London it became necessary for me to earn my own living I intended to learn typewriting and shorthand, and qualify for a business office. The salaries paid to women clerks and stenographers are so very slight that I did not know how I was going to live on what I was likely to earn when I had equipped myself for a situation. Someone suggested that I should specialize in the direction of my natural bent, and act in a professional rather than honorary capacity as visiting cook or culinary adviser to my friends, or any who might require my services. I determined to do so. But before launching forth on what has proved a very successful enterprise I took a course of 'high art' cookery under a distinguished continental chef, and did some experimental work in a well known restaurant and a West end boarding house. Any girl with a working basis of sound domestic knowledge might do the same, and more particularly if she has a social connection would find cooking more profitable and more congenial than many of the professions girls spend their time and strength in for very small wages.

How the Visiting Cook Works.

"My system is to consult with the housewife or hotel manager charged with the arrangement of dinner, luncheon, or supper parties to discover the scale of entertainment that is desired, and then submit a menu. The cost of the food itself is the affair of the employer. My fee is for the preparation of the meal, and varies according to the length and character of the menu. I also like to design the decoration of the table and room in which my dinners or luncheons are to be served, in order that the complete effect may be pleasing."

"LITTLE CHANGE," SAYS WORTH

What the Paris Dressmaker Foresees in Fashions ---Creating Designs Is Strenuous Work Which Makes One Forget to Eat.

McCall's Magazine: The House of Worth has meant an aristocracy of dress, of wonderful costume creations, for so many years that even our grandmothers can recite tales of pilgrimages to Paris for their trousseaux. In those early days there was but one Worth, the grandfather of M. Jacques. To him the creation of a gown was an art, each individual costume, in turn, his masterpiece, and to no other person would he intrust this delicate responsibility.

Today, it is Monsieur Jean Worth, the son of the founder and the uncle of M. Jacques, whose artistic brain is the creator of most of the marvelous gowns which bear the stamp of "Worth, Paris," although every one of his associates, who bears the name of Worth, takes part, at times, in their designing.

Perhaps you think creating a gown is something which one does in odd moments, without labor or stress. I wonder whether you will still be of this opinion when I tell you that before the beginning of each season, when numberless creations must be ready for inspection, Jean Worth arrives at his establishment at 7:30 in the morning and remains without interruption, not even remembering to eat, until 9 o'clock at night. For four consecutive weeks he concentrates himself in this fashion, his whole being absorbed in the process of creation, and at the end of that time he has designed between four and five hundred gowns.

Works in Fabrics.

His work is done, not with paper and pencil, but with the materials themselves. Grouped about him in the large room in which he works are piles of wonderful fabrics of every conceivable shade and texture, embroideries, rare laces, exquisite garnitures, ornaments, everything which could possibly be required in the construction of a gown. A dozen or more beautiful women, representing different types, blondes, brunettes, slender or with full curves, tall, petite regal, piquant, are within call, and upon one after another he drapes the uncut materials, pinning in place the embroideries or the laces, or whatever the gown requires as it takes form in his artist mind. There are no drawings, no patterns, no tape measures to guide him. He does not have that other difficult task, the accurate measurement of every fold and seam and bit of drapery, that it may be reproduced in paper for the guidance of thousands of women who have to wrestle with the problem of making their own gowns. He works largely, considering only the individual woman before him and the lines and colors and effects which make of her a beautiful picture. When this picture seems to him perfect, the cutter is called and the gown is cut, out while still on the model. Neither is this end of the process of designing. For, after the material has been basted together, following the cutting, it is put on the model again and is passed under the merciless inspection, not only of M. Worth himself, but of a corps of assistants, each of whom is privileged not only to criticize the just-created costume, but to make suggestions for its improvement. Even the placing of a flower another inch to one side may sometimes give to a gown the one touch needed to make it perfect.

Big and Brawny Men.

Monsieur Worth is big and brawny. If you had never met Monsieur Jacques Worth before, and were suddenly brought face to face with him, I wonder if you would not find yourself immensely surprised, for he does not seem at all like a man who has lived constantly in an atmosphere of women's clothes—this big broad-shouldered, virile-looking man, almost six feet tall, who gives one a sense of muscular strength, of reserve power and who seems very much more the sort of being who might be carrying through some gigantic scheme of railroad engineering or manipulating a "corner" on the stock exchange.

What immensely interested me in M. Worth's account of the methods in vogue in this wonderful house was his statement that practically every one of these assistants, upon whose sense of artistic values such importance is laid, first entered the establishment as an errand girl or apprentice, and had gradually worked up to her present position of embroiderer, or cutter, or stitcher, or designer, or what not. Nor have they been promoted in the ordinary way, purely for efficiency in their work, for accuracy or other commercial value, but rather because of the taste in dress they have individually displayed. A little apprentice is watched, and if she appears some morning with a jaunty neckbow, tied in a most becoming and original fashion, the Worths know they have in her the kind of material they want. The next week she finds an increase in her salary and is started on some work requiring an exercise of just the taste she has unconsciously displayed, and which has made her valuable to the House of Worth.

It is because the present fashions depend for their attractiveness upon the figure of the wearer that M. Worth predicts but little change in the styles for the coming season except the possible elimination of some of the extreme features. It is only the woman who is too fat, too thin, or poorly proportioned, he avers, who cannot don the present styles to advantage and it is his polite contention that the perfection of the American woman's figure is largely responsible for a continuation of the present fashions.

AN ASBESTOS TABLE PAD.

Christian Science Monitor: One of the new asbestos pads is designed for the round table, being circular in shape and in two parts. To meet the needs of those who, from time to time, have occasion to enlarge their tables by means of leaves, leaves of asbestos are to be had. By means of these leaves the round pad may be extended to any size.

APRONS FOR THE KIDDIES.

Washington Star: If you are obliged to travel with children and the question of laundry is to be considered, have made for them large aprons of black sateen, with a bright red trimming of narrow braid or ribbon. Make them with yokes, little turndown collars, full sleeves with cuffs, and three large box plaits in front and back. Close the back seams half way up to protect the skirts and little trousers. Pockets add much to the pleasure of the wearers. When the journey's end is reached it will only be the work of a few minutes to wash hands and faces and remove the aprons, and the children will look winsome and neat in their traveling suits.

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

Moving Pictures May Be Made Powerful Means for Good.

It is doubtless true that none of us fully appreciate the real value of the moving picture as an educational force, or can foresee the extent to which it will be used in the future. While but a short time ago it was regarded lightly, as only a cheap and attractive method of giving the masses entertainment, now it has arisen to the dignity of a business or a profession.

It has been recognized by many of the most prominent actors and actresses on the American stage, not merely those in vaudeville, but those on the legitimate stage, as well. Some of these celebrities have appeared in productions for the "movies" of well-known classical and modern plays, whose worth has been proved, and which serve as a splendid means of elevating the popular taste in the matter of the drama.

Furthermore, a company has recently been organized under which a leading firm of theatrical producers collaborates with a firm of moving picture producers in presenting, as a regular program, the best there is in the drama for general consumption. It thus will be possible for people of moderate or extremely limited means to enjoy, at a nominal cost, the best plays which now cost fancy prices, from half a dollar to two dollars a performance. The invention of the "talking movie," of course, makes this possible.

The reproduction of current events, historic and interesting and instructive scenes from all over the world, and methods of manufacturing, producing and marketing articles of common household use, is of inestimable value. Thus history is shown in the making, and great events of the past may be portrayed in a manner far more convincing and instructive than by the printed page of history.

Now a group of public spirited men has asked the film manufacturers to prepare pictures which will educate the foreign population of the mill towns and cities of the country in the history and traditions of American life. This, of course, presents boundless possibilities in educating those adopted children of this paternal government who come to us from other shores, filled with good intentions but not thoroughly fitted for citizenship.

"SQUATTERS" WILL SUFFER

Fight of Shack Owner Against Taxes Will Be Boomerang.

Old Custom Not Legal But in Interest of Squatters.

Taxation of "squatter's" shacks as personal property instead of real estate, although technically irregular, reverts back more than thirty years and is a time-honored custom peculiar to St. Louis county. The practice has existed since the beginning of the mining industry in this country and by county taxing officials has been regarded as "unwritten law."

And the practice might have continued along the even tenor of its way for many years to come if one Emil Bjorkman, a "squatter" living at Ely had not conceived the idea of knocking it out in the courts. He protested the payment of $6.41 tax, employed an attorney and fought the matter out in court.

Bjorkman, living on land leased for the nominal sum of $8 a year, figured out that it was an imposition for him to be taxed to the extent of $6.41 for his house and contents so he sought out an attorney, Victor Gran of this city, who took the case into court.

Mr. Bjorkman and Mr. Gran have won their point. It is unlawful to assess and tax a shack as personal property, the court held. The tax was ordered cancelled in so far as it covered the house.

And this, the county taxing officials have known all the time. The decision in the Bjorkman case lays down no new and important rule of law. It will, however, result in a change of practice. Next year, according to County Auditor Odin Halden, the shacks and huts on leased lands will be charged up to the owner of the land in real estate taxes instead of being assessed as personal property against the "squatters."

The decision was handed down recently in district court by Judge Dancer in the 1912 delinquent personal property tax proceedings against Emil Bjorkman's tax on personal property all told was $6.41. When the board of equalization met last year he complained as to the assessment and asked that it be cancelled as to the house. The board refused to disturb it and the house was taxed against him as personal property.

Gets Reduction.

Bjorkman, after hiring an attorney and going to considerable trouble and expense, secured the desired reduction in his tax. The court cancelled the assessment as to the house and cut the amount of his tax down to $1.32. The net reduction amounted to $5.09.

Bjorkman's house is located at 110 North Sheridan street, Ely, and is situated on an unplatted eighty-acre tract described as the west half of the northeast quarter of section 33, 63-12 owned by John Semer of Escanaba, Mich., and taxed in his name. Bjorkman is leasing the property for $8 a year.

"Mr. Bjorkman and other discontented taxpayers of his kind will be given no more opportunity to kick on this score," said County Auditor Halden yesterday, "they may have new difficulties to thresh out with the owners of the land who, in the future, will find an increase in the amount of their usual real estate taxes."

The Bjorkman incident will have an aftermath. After Mr. Bjorkman has spent upwards of $50 in attorney fees and other expenses incidental to litigation in a successful effort to evade a $5 tax, he will probably find that his troubles have just begun.

County Auditor Halden has reduced the taxes against Bjorkman to conform with the court's order, but tomorrow W. F. McKay, supervisor of assessments, will make a trip to Ely for the purpose of reassessing the property as real estate.

After the assessment is made the owner of the property Mr. Semer of Escanaba, Mich., will be notified of the increase in his tax bill. If he peacefully submits to paying the "squatter's" tax, the incident will probably be closed. If not, the fight is still on, but the county officials are out of it.

For Convenience Only.

The practice of taxing the shacks as personal property, according to Auditor Halden started more than thirty years ago at the Soudan mine near Tower. The mining company's land was unplatted and scattered here and there were shacks and huts in which employes of the company lived. The agreement between the mining company and the men was that the taxes for the shacks was to be paid by the latter. A three-cornered arrangement was entered into by the company, the men and the assessors.

"For a number of years," said Mr. Halden, "this company collected the taxes for us themselves from the men. The arrangement suited the convenience of the company and was satisfactory to the 'squatter' and the county tax official. It afforded an easy way for each man to pay his tax. The county lost nothing by it. Mr. Gran and his client are the first ones to kick in thirty years.

"In my opinion, taking the shacks off the personal property tax rolls and putting them on as real estate will mean a hardship to no one but the actual settler on the poperty affected. It will mean that these men who formerly secured a plot of ground at a nominal fee because they paid the taxes, will now either be obliged to get off the property or pay a much higher rent than they have been accustomed to.

"The system which has been in vogue is not the law. We have known that all the time. Nevertheless it should be. It is a better law than that on the statute books."

Taxes Will Be Higher.

The taxes will be higher if classed as real estate according to the county auditor. This is because of the fact that it has been the practice of assessors throughout the state for many years to place a higher valuation on real estate than on personal property. Real estate valuations, as placed by the assessor, run from 40 to 50 per cent of the true value, while personal property ranges from 15 to 25 per cent.

Another element may also enter into the matter. A number of the mining locations on which "squatters" are now allowed are unplatted. The assessor, in making a real estate assessment, assesses the 40 or 80-acre tract and all improvements in one lump sum. It then rests with the company to determine what share each squatter shall pay of the taxes. On mining property, where the real estate valuations run into the millions, a few hundred dollars added for improvements in the way of shacks is so small that it is almost lost.

In a number of instances, mining companies have allowed squatters to build homes on land which is used by the company as a dumping ground. The squatters have made improvements on the land to suit themselves but have in the past paid the taxes for such improvements themselves. In the future, it is pointed out that the mining companies may object to having improvements made for which they will be taxed.

Going back to the lawful system of taxing "squatters'" shacks does not look encouraging from a "squatter" standpoint.

New Dealers For HUDSON Motor Cars

Announcement by Hudson Motor Car Co.

THE HUDSON cars built by 48 Master Engineers, will be sold in Duluth by Kleyn Auto Co. They have been chosen after a thorough investigation as to their fitness to properly cooperate with the spirit of this company.

We are just as particular that the dealers who sell HUDSON Motor Cars shall be in entire sympathy with our policy and service as we are that the best engineering brains shall be used in building our cars.

The buyer of an automobile should seriously consider the standing and character of the dealer of whom he buys. Good cars are made unpleasant possessions to their owners if they are bought from dealers who are not fair-minded and congenial.

You buy something more than an automobile. You buy service. But, unfortunately, in the automobile trade, many dealers fail to recognize their obligations to their customers.

We are satisfied that in this new representation of HUDSON Cars in this city owners of HUDSON automobiles will be accorded a treatment worthy of their respect and confidence.

The Hudson Motor Car Company has established an enviable prestige for quality, progressiveness and fair play. It is managed by a larger body of experts in all departments than other companies employ.

We recognize the important position which the dealer holds. Though he is a merchant, buying and selling our products, he is in a measure our representative, and he fails and the buyer and we suffer if he is not in sympathy with our policies.

The change we have made here, we are confident, will obtain for owners of HUDSON Cars the same interest we ourselves have in them, as is constantly made evident to every individual we know of who has one of our cars.

HUDSON MOTOR CAR COMPANY.

What KLEYN AUTO CO. Have to Say

WE have had a number of years of experience in the automobile trade. With that experience we have had an opportunity to take on the representation of almost any automobile we might have wanted.

When it was known that we were interested in accepting a new line, overtures were made to us by some of the best known companies in the country.

What We Have At Stake.

Our business future is staked in whatever car we undertake to sell. There are good automobolies known in this country to most automobile buyers, but because of lack of liability on the part of the manufacturer or because these makers are not as progressive in adding to the character of automobiles, or because they do not support their owners in the way of service as well as we think they should, their lines were not acceptable to us.

For years the HUDSON has been the car that has occupied the attention and held the respect of all who are motor-wise.

We have talked with the owners of HUDSON cars not only here but elsewhere. We have interviewed people who did not know our object. Unanimously all who are familiar with the HUDSON have given us the very best kind of an endorsement because they unqualifiedly spoke of it in terms that could not be misinterpreted. They were pleased, not only with the car—for we must in that refer to models that have been discontinued—but with the policy of the Company, the promptness of its service and with the high quality of its product.

We Know Motor Car Values.

We believe we are expert buyers. In all lines of merchandise, success depends upon the ability to buy the right kind of goods at the right prices and to interpret the wants of the public.

Failure in any of these details means failure for that merchant. If we were to invest our time and capital and put our business back of a car that failed to make good its promises we would suffer more than would any individual owner of that car, for upon us would be heaped the ill will and criticism of those who were disappointed. Naturally, we are not seeking that and that is the reason why we have taken on the HUDSON line.

Our investigations have led us deeply into the subject—into every phase of the Hudson Motor Car Company—its management, the attitude of the various individuals in the Company, many of whom we know, and the character of its product. We have investigated the human side of this corporation. We deal not merely with the Hudson Motor Car Company but with personalities. We know the ideals of the men who compose that organization and that is why we have such confidence in HUDSON cars that we are staking our prestige in this community and our capital in this unqualified endorsement and recommendation that we are making.

In advocating any automobile the dealer is in the same position as one who recommends for credit another man. If he misjudges his man, discredit is brought upon him as sponsor. We have no hesitancy in standing sponsor for the Hudson Motor Car Company and any car which it offers. We go farther and endorse it with all that we are worth in reputation and what we hope to stand for in this community and with the money we have invested in the business.

To the Owners of HUDSON Cars in This Territory.

We have established a service for HUDSON cars that must be of value to all HUDSON owners.

Capable men are in charge. They are able to diagnose troubles and to remedy them without delay. This saves expense. It adds to service and we want you to feel that here you will find the same keen interest and sympathy with your problems on our part that you would feel were you in the market today and we were trying to sell you an automobile.

The fact that you may have bought a HUDSON car before we began selling HUDSON cars has no bearing upon our attitude toward you. You are a member of the Big Family and we are its representatives. We are able to give you prompt attention and we want to do it. Come see us.

$480,000 FRAUD IS LAID TO DIRECTORS

Prominent Tennessee Men Accused of Stock Swindle.

Chattanooga, Tenn., Aug. 6.—Eight directors of the Great Southern Agency company, Tennesseeans of prominence and high standing, and the promoter of the company, C. J. Herbert, are held liable by a circuit court jury for approximately $480,000 said to have been obtained fraudulently through sale of stock in the company.

The jury found that the stock subscriptions were procured by fraud, and, by direction of the court, charged the liability to Herbert, the promoter, and the following directors:

Maj. A. W. Wills, who was postmaster at Nashville, Tenn., for twenty years.

Nathan W. Hale, former congressman from the Knoxville district.

Dr. W. D. Haggard, president of surgery at Vanderbilt university, Nashville.

John Early, Nashville manufacturer.

Sterling Fort, president of the Northern Bank of Clarksville, Tenn.

E. C. Morrow, tobacco dealer, Clarksville.

H. C. Papineau and C. W. Stevenson.

POLICEMEN HAVE TO AID POLICE WOMEN.

Chicago, Aug. 6.—When the ten women assigned to duty on the regular Chicago police force began their work yesterday, in almost each instance, something like this happened:

The women started bravely on their beats, eager to discover any possible crime. Soon a crowd of street urchins yelled, "Say fellers, here comes a female copper." The alarm of the boys brought spectators in such numbers that the women called out, "Some one please send for a policeman."

Finally so great was the curiosity aroused by the women bluecoats that plainclothes men and even uniformed patrolmen were needed to extricate the women.

The policewomen, selected because it was thought they might be able to detect certain crimes which policemen might overlook, were sent out in pairs, a pair being assigned to each of the four most populous districts and one pair to detective duty.

Two women, Mrs. Parks and Mrs. Nukom, assigned to the Hyde park station on the South side, lost their way and turned up at Woodlawn station, a mile distant.

None of the women attempted to make an arrest.

FISH OUT-ARGUE THE I. W. W. AGITATORS

Strike Ends Abruptly When Big Run of Salmon Starts.

Vancouver, B. C., Aug. 6.—A heavy run of sock-eye salmon, promising big wages even at the reduced price offered by the canneries, has caused the strike of 6,000 fishermen at the mouth of the Frazer river to collapse.

As the harvest of sock-eye began to sweep in the strikers grew restless. Industrial Workers of the World walking delegates pleaded with them to remain firm, but in ones and twos boats began putting out and soon all the fishermen, whites and Japanese alike, were eagerly netting the swarming salmon.

When the hour arrived for an announced meeting of the strikers, only four Industrial Workers of the World leaders were on hand.

GIRL TRIES IN VAIN TO RESCUE MAN.

Chicago, Aug. 6.—Efforts of Miss Lillian Stevens, daughter of a fish merchant, to rescue a struggling man in the Calumet river, failed yesterday. Miss Stevens, however, recovered the body with a boat hook. Seeing the man in the river Miss Stevens at once telephoned to the Hegewisch police station. She then procured a rowboat and went to the man's assistance. She seized him as he was sinking but her grasp slipped and he went down. The victim has not been identified.

POINDEXTER FOR VOTES FOR WOMEN.

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 6.—United States Senator Miles Poindexter of Washington, in an address here at a picnic given in honor of the first anniversary of the birth of the Progressive party, said the time had come when all women in this country should be given the right to suffrage.

"Our Constitution gives every person who is a naturalized citizen or is born within the boundaries of the country the right to vote," he said. "It does not specify male or female. Certainly women are citizens as much as men."

Receivers Named.

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 6.—Receivers have been appointed for the New York State Steel company, in Federal court. The company defaulted on the interest on $3,380,000 outstanding bonds due April 1. The Commonwealth Trust company of Buffalo, which holds a mortgage on all the real estate of the company, began action for a receivership. Judge Hazel appointed F. Ernest Porter, Alfred C. Becker and Theodore H. Wickwire, Jr. The plant has been closed for several months.

BETTER CITY GOVERNMENT

State Municipal League Will Be Formed in Minnesota.

Purpose Is to Exchange Ideas on Municipal Affairs.

Mayor W. I. Prince and probably other city officials will attend a meeting to be held at Minneapolis Thursday, April 21, to form a state municipal league.

Mayor Prince points out that the three largest cities of the state will soon be under the commission form of government and that the smaller towns are adopting the plan in increasing numbers. He states that a common state organization would result in an exchange of ideas and knowledge gained by experience which would greatly benefit all of them.

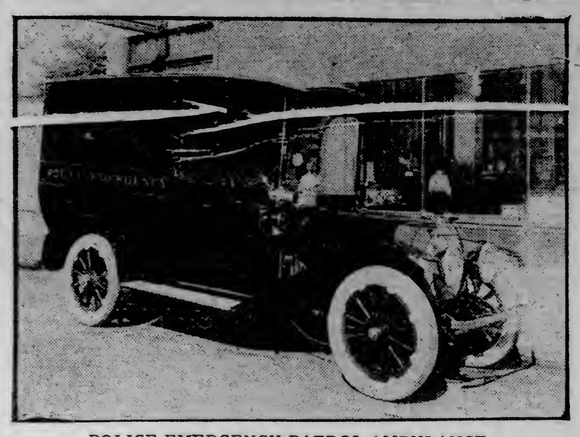
Duluth's executive was one of many city officials throughout the state who signed the call for the meeting. The invitation which has been sent out sets forth the purposes of the gathering and is in part as follows:

"The cities and towns of Iowa, Kansas, California, Nebraska and some other states have organizations known as municipal leagues, the objects of which are to disseminate information and experience upon, and to promote the best methods to be employed in the management of municipal departments and in the construction of municipal works. To these organizations more than any other thing is due the high standard of municipal efficiency in these states.

"Municipal officers need just such an association. The rule-of-thumb day in city administration is rapidly passing away. It is necessary to bring the common mind to bear upon the problems which in these days confront the city official. Indeed, the business of governing and administering a city is becoming a highly specialized business. Why should any city waste money in experimenting when by co-operation it might share the results of the experience of other cities? This co-operation can be obtained only through a regular and permanent organization.

"The time has come when it seems absolutely necessary that the cities and towns of Minnesota unite in forming an organization for the common benefit, for the interchange of ideas on municipal affairs, and for co-operation in obtaining needed legislation."

NEW PATROL AMBULANCE LAST WORD IN AUTOMOBILE CONSTRUCTION



POLICE EMERGENCY PATROL-AMBULANCE.

The new patrol-ambulance which the police department has just received and which will be for emergency use, is one of the finest autos that has yet been seen in Duluth and is the last word in auto-ambulance ideas. It is beautifully finished both outside and in and its driving equipment is the most modern. It is a very easy riding vehicle and Chief Troyer is much pleased with the new acquisition to the police equipment. The machine was purchased from the Interstate Auto company and is a product of the Kissel Kar company.

Could Not Bluff Warden.

Hebron, N. D., Aug. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Because he confiscated the gun of a man he caught hunting ahead of season, an effort was made to cause the arrest of H. G. Schmalls of this place. The indignant victim applied for a warrant, but when he learned the game warden's power under the law he quietly pleaded guilty.

Former La Moure Minister dies.

La Moure, N. D., Aug. 5.—The death of Rev. Merchant Riddle is reported in California, to which state he went from here about a year ago seeking health. For a number of years he was pastor of the Presbyterian church here, and before that at Courtenay. He was also editor of the Presbyterian publication of North Dakota.

GENERATES POWER BY PATENT METHOD

North Dakotans Form Company to Produce New Flickertail Invention.

Bowbells, N. D., Aug. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The IngisonHydroelectric Power company is a new concern here. All the officials are local people. The company was organized under the laws of Delaware, where the general offices are located and the local is here. J. W. Ingison is president; Charles Bicker is vice president and M. H. Powers is secretary and treasurer.

No Dam Needed.

J. W. Ingison is inventor of a machine that is claimed will completely revolutionize the problem of securing power from streams, as it eliminates all dams and can be used in sluggish streams with a current down to one and a half miles an hour. Some of the machines were tested in the Mouse river near here.

Patents have been secured in the United States and applied for in Canada and European countries. The manufacturing will be done here and it is insisted that machines can be operated just as well in ice-covered streams of the north as the open streams of the south.

COMMITTEE'S O. K. ON CURRENCY BILL

Only Three Democrats Vote Against It, But Fight Is Promised.

Washington, Aug. 6.—The administration currency bill, still further amended in important particulars, emerged from the Democratic conference of the house banking and currency committee over the protests of Representatives Neely of Kansas, Eagle of Texas and Ragsdale of South Carolina. At the end of a lively session in which the Democratic objectors promised to carry their fight to the floor of the caucus next Monday, the Glass bill was approved by a vote of 11 to 3.

Earlier in the day President Wilson's currency program had come in for open criticism in the senate. Senator Hitchcock, Democratic member of the currency committee of that body, in a speech directed against the plan of currency reform at this session, said he believed the mere agitation of the banking and currency question at this session has been a mistake.

Wingo Not Satisfied.

The differences among Democrats of the house committee were not settled by final action on the bill. Besides the three who voted against it, Representative Wingo of Arkansas expressly stated that he would fight for amendments to the measure in the caucus.

"At the last moment and without any previous consideration," said Representative Neely in a statement, "a motion was carried authorizing the chairman to draft an amendment to the bill authorizing national banks to organize and operate both savings and trust departments in conjunction with the other features of the bank.

"This is an entirely new provision, exceedingly radical in the changes wrought in any considered portion of the bill and tends to centralization of power to a high degree. It certainly should never have been adopted without careful consideration."

Notice was served upon Chairman Glass that an attempt would be made by the opposing Democrats to have the caucus Monday thrown open to the public.

The currency bill probably will not be passed upon by the Republican members of the house committee until after it has gone through the Democratic caucus.

FRAUD ALLEGED IN RECEIVERSHIP CASE

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 6.—A receivership suit was filed in the circuit court here yesterday against the Continental Commercial company and five subsidiaries, which together form a $2,500,000 sugar and coffee concern. The petitions say that the company was chartered with a capitalization of $2,500,000 in shares of $100 each, which were to be sold on time payments. Thirty thousand acres of Mexican land was listed as the assets of the company, it is claimed.

It is charged that misleading prospectuses were issued and that a post-office investigation resulted in a threat of a fraud order, which was avoided when the company ceased to sell stock. A bond issue, it is charged, was converted to the use of the directors who secured the bonds at a low price.

Last January, it is charged, the directors transferred the assets of the company to the American-Mexican Sugar company and then filed articles of dissolution. The court is asked to restrain the directors from further manipulation of the assets.

The subsidiary companies named in the suit are the American-Mexican Sugar company, the Juanita Plantation company, the Continental Sugar Refining company, the Oaxaca Coffee Culture company and the Monteresa company.

BROWN BOTTLE BLUFF PUNCTURED

Chicago, November 12, 1912.

To our Clients:—
Please take note that we have recently given our opinion to one of our clients as to the relative merits of the white and the brown bottle for beer, as follows:

"Referring to your recent request for our opinion on the relative merits of the white and the brown bottle for beer, we wish to say that the ONLY advantage of the brown bottle over the light bottle consists in the protection it affords against the influence of light WHERE BEERS ARE NOT OF SUCH QUALITY AS TO BE IMMUNE.

"Where, however, the beers have attained A HIGH DEGREE OF STABILITY, so that they are practically immune to such influences as prolonged chilling and prolonged storage at summer temperature, they also become less sensitive to the influence of light, so that with the usual precautions no bad effect need be feared.

"FOR SUCH BEERS THE LIGHT BOTTLE IS PREFERABLY EMPLOYED because it can more readily be inspected before filling to insure thorough cleanliness, and because the finished package reveals at a glance whether the contents meet the requirements of the consumer as to color, clarity and freedom from sedimentation."

"Yours very truly,

DETROIT STREET CAR COMPANY YIELDS

Seven Tickets for 25 Cents and Other Concessions Are Granted.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 6.—The threatened trouble between the city of Detroit and the Detroit United Street Railways company, caused by the refusal of the company to grant 3-cent fares on all city lines where franchises have expired, was halted late Tuesday when a temporary agreement was reached by representatives of the traction company and city officials, including Mayor Marx. The street railway company agreed to nearly all of the present demands made by the city.

In return for numerous concessions which the street railway company made, it was promised by James Couzen, member of the Detroit Street railway commission, that the council should take no action to enforce either a 3-cent rate of fare on the lines now without franchises, or pass a resolution instructing the city treasurer to seize street railway property as payment for back taxes. Mr. Couzens acted with the sanction of the mayor and members of the council who had been preparing resolutions for submission to the council who had been preparing resolutions for submission to the council authorizing the enforcement of drastic measures if the street railway refused to comply with the city's demands.

The company agreed to grant seven tickets for 25 cents on all its lines within the one-fare zone, the reduction becoming effective on or before Aug. 15. Universal transfers will also be given.

The workingmen's rate of eight tickets for 25 cets during certain hours of the day is not to be affected.

WILL SUE FOR OLEO TAXES OF $800,000

Chicago Grand Jury's Findings Will Lead to Action By Officials.

Washington, Aug. 6.—Suits to recover $800,000 of Federal oleomargarine taxes will be begun soon at Chicago against prominent packers and other oleomargarine manufacturers. Commissioner of Internal Revenue Osborne said he would request Attorney General McReyonlds to proceed in connection with recommendations of a Chicago grand jury which recently investigated the situation.

The grand jury criticized the previous administration of the treasury department for compromising a $1,000,000 oleomargarine tax claim for $101,000, and found that there were other cases, outside the dates of compromise, in which the government was said to have lost a large sum because the manufacturers were alleged to have paid only the tax on uncolored oleomargarine when their product was colored.

The suits, it was announced, will be directed against G. H. Hammond company, Friedman Manufacturing company, Moxley & Co., Armour & Co., all of Chicago, and several smaller concerns outside of that city.

The tax on uncolored oleomargarine is ¼ cent per pound, and on colored 10 cents per pound.

The decision to institute the suits, which relate to sales prior to June, 1911, followed a conference between Commissioner Osborne and United States Attorney Wilkerson of Chicago.

MAXWELL FREED OF GIRLS' ACCUSATIONS

Chicago, Aug. 6.—David H. Maxwell, wealthy box manufacturer, is acquitted of contributing to the delinquency of Kate and Mary Wodacklewicke, aged 13 and 6 years. Nearly two score of witnesses, most of them character witnesses, testified that Maxwell's reputation was beyond reproach. In his decision Judge Gemmill declared the stories told by the two girls and two of their companions were so conflicting that he had come to look on their testimony as fairy stories.

Maxwell, whose factory is near the home of the girls, "back of the yards" was accused of having approached the children as they were picking wood near his place of business, and having detained them for two days. Two days after their disappearance the children were picked up by the police at a downtown street corner. They told conflicting stories, but agreed that Maxwell had given them money.

Mr. Maxwell established indisputable alibis covering the time the girls charged he was with them.

WOULD REPAIR NAVY CRAFT BUILT IN 1799

Frigate Constellation Is Subject of Bill in Congress.

Washington, Aug. 6.—The old frigate Constellation, built in Baltimore in 1797, when President Washington laid the foundations of the American navy, and under Capt. Thomas Truxston, the victor of decisive fights with the French frigates La Insurgente in 1799 and La Vergance in 1800, which established the United States as a maritime power, came into the records of congress again today as a living part of the nation's naval establishment.

An appropriation of $50,000 was asked by Representative Linthicum of Maryland for the "repair and fitting out" of the historic old ship, the oldest in the navy. The Constellation is now at Newport. The resolution would provide for her transfer to Baltimore for public exhibition.

WHY SHOULD THE LAW MAKE A DISTINCTION BETWEEN WHEAT AND POTATOES?

The state of Minnesota has accomplished great good for the producers of grain by establishing a system of inspection, putting commission merchants under bond, and generally regulating the handling of this particular type of farm products.

Can anybody imagine a reason why the same service should not be performed for the farmers who produce other commodities than grain?

Certainly everybody can think of many reasons why the state should perform this service.

Every commission merchant in the state is supposed to give a bond to the state. If he deals in grain or hay, he thereby comes under state regulation; and the grain commission business, at least, is the cleanest in the state. Complaints of mistreatment of producers by commission merchants are heard so seldom that they are practically non-existent.

But if the commission merchant handles other produce than grain or hay, the giving of a bond seems to be largely a perfunctory operation and meaningless. It is merely "conditioned on the faithful performance of his duties as a commission merchant." Probably the merchant could be sued on this bond if he mistreated a customer and the customer were aggressive enough to make a fight; but there is no inspection whatever, and no such machinery for the protection of the producer as there is in the case of grain.

Why, therefore, should the grain inspection department not be enlarged so that its machinery will work for the regulation of the produce commission business as well as for the regulation of the grain commission business, and will protect the producer of potatoes as well as the producer of wheat?

We have a fancy that such a system might eliminate some of the abuses, at least some of the grounds for complaint, in the produce commission business, and that it might work out for the welfare both of the producer and the consumer.

Certainly the plan is worth studying, and worth experimenting with if it commends itself to the judgment of the legislature.

It's one of those queer coincidences that the "war scare" about England establishing a big naval base in the Bermudas should be sprung almost at the same time as that resolution to build three battleships.

THE NON-VOTING CITIZEN.

Secretary of the Navy Daniels in his recent tour made some interesting talks about citizenship and voting. He deplored the unpleasantly numerous evidences that a great many so-called citizens neglect to vote, and he considered, more or less tentatively, means of overcoming that condition.

One way he thought of is to make it easier to vote. He suggested voting by mail. That's not a bad idea, and there are many things to commend it. But it wouldn't completely solve the problem because citizens so unpatriotic and lazy that they won't visit a near-by polling place are unlikely to take the trouble to fill out and mail their ballots. Some of them would, but not all of them.

Then, too, he suggested compulsory voting. That way has been discussed some, and it has appealed to many. It doesn't appeal to us, some way. We cant' get rid of the notion that the vote of a man compelled to vote against his will isn't worth much.

The best vote is that of the public spirited citizen who studies public questions and candidates and votes his convictions, seeking the good of his country and his fellow man rather than the prosperity of party or faction. We wish there were more such votes than there are; and though it seems paradoxical, we believe that there are more even though it appears that the total number of votes cast in many elections is smaller than it has been.

It may be that compulsory voting would help solve the problem. A better way, though, than to provide by law a punishment for the citizen who fails to vote, would be to provide by a law an incentive to vote. Suppose, as has been suggested, that there were a universal poll tax, a good round tax of, say, ten dollars a year, which would be rebated for every man who voted at both primary and general elections. That would help some, though it wouldn't necessarily improve the citizenship of men who voted only to save ten dollars.

It isn't an easy problem, but it is a problem. Failure to vote through negligence, indifference or pure laziness looks bad and is bad. If there is enough of it there are sure to be evil consequences. When evil things come of public indifference, there usually is an awakening and a renewed civic consciousness. The chief trouble is the tendency to relapse that too soon follows.

Possibly all these problems about the Latin countries were sprung now to test the collegiate training of the president.

UNJUST REPRESENTATION.

The Warren Register, taking note of recent remarks in these columns whereby The Herald undertook the difficult and apparently impossible task of getting the advocates of the seven-senators bill to tell the truth, says:

"As to the main proposition, The Herald has all the better of the argument, for it is on the side of justice and equity. Still, in a sense The Herold is wrong about Missouri. Theoretically, senatorial representation in that state is based upon population, but in fact such is not altogether the case, and the reason why it is not is because the state has for years been dominated, bound hand and foot, by the Bourbon Democracy of Stone, Clark, Reed, Hawes and Ed Butler. This precious gang keeps the senatorial districts so apportioned that one Democrat has as much representation as two Republicans have. * * * The Herald protests against discrimination against urbanites in Minnesota; what does it think of the Missouri plan?"

If the situation is as the Register states it, The Herald thinks of it precisely what it thought of the situation in Minnesota when, though "theoretically" representation in both house and senate was based on population, the southern third of the state averaged two to three times as much representation as the northern two-thirds.

If the political complexion of the Missouri legislature is due to a gerrymander, however, it must be "some gerrymander." The present state senate has twenty-five Democrats and only nine Republicans, and the house a hundred and thirteen Democrats and only twenty-eight Republicans and one "Progressive," whatever that may be.

If it is so bad as that, what on earth was Hadley doing when he was governor of Missouri?

Of course the inference is plain from the fact that Porter Charlton is to start back to Italy on the 13th.

THE RIGHT SPIRIT.

Congressman Kent of California has investments in Mexico.

His investments in Mexico give him a kind of reason for wishing to see this country intervene and invade, on a mission of "broad humanity" but with the result of conquest and acquisition of valuable territory.

But his patriotism and public spirit give him very much better reasons for not wishing for intervention.

If there is among American investors in Mexico enough of the spirit disclosed in this paragraph from a speech by him, there is no danger whatever of intervention:

> For my part, I would go all lengths to sustain our right; to name the qualifications for citizenship; to declare who should own the soil of our country; to protect the integrity of the race and to avoid the troubles certain to arise by the introduction of those who cannot be assimilated. But the lives of American soldiers should not be sacrificed, the people's treasure should not be wasted in protecting "the property rights" of those of our citizens who, having gone beyond our borders, have "taken a chance" on the laws and conditions of peoples beyond our control. As one financially interested in Mexico, inasmuch as I would not jeopardize my own life nor the lives of my sons to protect my property, I would be a coward and a murderer if I should send any of my countrymen to death in behalf of that property.

If the "personal representative" were of a certain other nationality, Mr. Dooley might be tempted to say he was persuaded to "lind" his assistance to the president.

But Australia is going to take part in the exposition, anyway. Probably she'll send at least a few kangarooters for more trade through the Panama canal.

Lansing, Iowa, reports the finding of a valuable pearl by a clam-digger. That's what La Crosse gets for being idle a few days.

CHRISTIAN SCIENTIST REPLIES TO PASTOR.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I notice in a report of a sermon in your issue of July 21 by Rev. Fish of the Central Baptist church a statement with reference to Christian Science.

I desire to say that Christian Scientists have nothing in common with the devotees of New Thought, spiritualists or theosophists. They respect the right of these people to believe in their particular faith or doctrine and do not assume to judge or condemn them therefor. While we do not agree with their views or practices, and there is nothing in them that is in any way related to Christian Science, yet we concede to them the respect to which they are entitled in their religious beliefs, as guaranteed to all American citizens under the Constitution of our country.

So far as the further statement about Christian Science is concerned, I might say that mere words or personal statements are not proof. Our Master said, "Love your enemies," and it is a very simple question to determine which are the greater enemies of the Christ—those who consistently follow and earnestly and sincerely strive to emulate the teachings and works of the Master, or those who profess to do so and spend their time in condemnation and persecution of those who are unfortunate (?) enough to be unable to agree with their particular creed or doctrine. It must be remembered that Christianity derives its name from Jesus the Christ, and a Christian is described as one who follows the teachings of Jesus. He defined what constituted, in his judgment, a true religionist or one to whom might be guaranteed eternal life, which is the summun bonum. When he was asked, "What shall I do to inherit eternal life?" He did not prescribe any creed or doctrine, or a belief, but he referred his questioner to the rule of the elder Scripture: "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy strength, and with all thy mind; and thy neighbor as thyself."

It must be remembered also that when he was asked by the disciples sent by John whether or not he was the Messiah or Christ, he did not formulate a doctrine or creed or make any statement of tenets or belief; his answer indicated the test of the Christian, "Go and show John again those things which ye do hear and see. The blind received their sight, and the lame walk, the lepers are cleansed, and the deaf hear, the dead are raised up, and the poor have the gospel preached to them."

At another time He exemplified the fact that others besides Himself or His followers might also be manifesting the God spirit as shown in the passage in Mark 9:38-40:

"And John answered Him, saying, 'Master, we saw one casting out devils in Thy name, and he followeth not us; and we forbade him, because he followeth not us.'

"But Jesus said, 'Forbid him not; for there is no man which shall do a miracle in my name, that can lightly speak evil of me. For he that is not against us is on our part.'"

Christian Scientists have neither the time nor the inclination to quibble over words or forms of faith. They are striving to follow both in the letter and in the spirit, both by profession and by works, the injunctions of the Master, and by their fruits to prove the correctness of their faith. That they should bring attack and persecution upon themselves is merely consistent with the experience of the Master and the prophecies with respect to his followers that we find throughout the New Testament. Self constituted critics and those who in their vanity arrogate to themselves the judgment seat as to what is not a Christ follower manifest no originality, but simply repeat in this day the example of the Pharisees and scribes in the time of Jesus. Christian Scientists are faithful, loving, law-abiding citizens and followers of the Master with the best light that they have, and that has been sufficiently illuminating to enable them to repeat the marvelous works of the Master and his apostles; to bring in this age in a slight degree at least the healing of the sick and the redemption of the sinning in the manner which the Master prescribed.

The Christian Science religion has its God and he is one of love and, therefore, there is no room for enmity either against mankind or anything except error and evil, which we seek to destroy by the realization of the allness and omnipotence of God. How much nearer we would come to the millennium if our good friends in the pulpit would refrain from criticism and condemnation and instead expend their time and assiduously devote their labors to ushering in the reality of "peace on earth, good will toward men." Very cordially yours,

HENRY DEUTSCH.

WHY NOT TRAP DOORS ON ELEVATOR SHAFTS?

To the Editor of The Herald:

While the Binghamton, N. Y., disaster is fresh in our memory I would like to ask why they do not have some sort of damper on those elevator shafts, so when a fire starts in the basement they could be closed. It would keep the fire from going to the top story so quickly, it seems to me. I have read of so many cases where the fire went up the elevator shaft. Yours truly, M. H. O'SHEA.

CIVIL WAR LOSSES.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Would you kindly state in the Open Court column the total number of "killed and missing men" on both the Union and Confederate sides during the American Civil war, 1861-1865, and oblige "JACK."
Duluth, Aug. 4.

Total casualties on the Union side are given as 349,944 and on the Confederate side 133,821, but the latter is admitted to be only a partial statement.—The Editor.

You and Your Value

John A. Sleicher in Leslie's.

Young man or young woman, you are worth something. Don't sell yourself too cheap. Your health, strength, intellect, industry, application, morals, principles and high character—all of these are an asset.

They are worth something if you have any of them. They are priceless if you have them all, for they are what make our foremost men and women. They make great teachers, workers, preachers, leaders, generals in war, captains of industry, managers of railroads and heads of corporations.

Such men as these are not chosen for their good looks or fine clothes. Certainly not! Neither are they ever chosen because of their dishonesty, immorality, thoughtlessness, selfishness or disbelief in the hand of a divine Providence. Some men of this kind succeed but the exceptions are rare.

Remember, in this frivolous time, that the one thing you really have as long as you live is your body. That is yours. That stays with you to the end. You must live with yourself. Where you go, it goes with you. When you pass away it is in your casket. There is only the hope of immortality left to console your friends.

If this be true—and it cannot be denied—make the priceless gift of your Creator a sanctuary, clean, sweet, wholesome, spiritual as well as physical, living a life that you know you should live, putting a high value on the human frame in which you make your home.

Beautify it with all the graces of deportment, courtesy, kindness and affection. Do not cheapen it with vice, licentiousness, greed, intemperance, sordidness, unbelief and all the train of sorrow and suffering that follow in the path of sin.

Keep yourself worth all that you can. Hold yourself in the world's market at the highest price.

As the farmer seeks to win the prizes with the best products of the soil and breeding stable, as the manufacturer strives for the finest work of the loom, the forge or the spindle, as the young housewife delights in the most delicate embroidery and the artist in the highest example of his art, so let everyone, however humble, seek the best for what he has to offer and he will get the higher price.

There is a public market always open for our varied talents. We need go to no pawnshop with them. We need not cut prices. We need not sell at a sacrifice. There is no bargain counter for soul and body. "The life is more than meat and the body more than raiment."

The young man who thinks that the world owes him a living, that he must have it regardless of what he gives in return, makes a fatal mistake.

The young woman who believes that a pretty face, a graceful figure with beauty unadorned and the display of many jewels, will win her way is following the leadership of the blind. She will pay the price with bitter repentance.

Avoid the primrose path of dalliance. Take the beaten way, though it be straight and narrow, for the end is peace.

The discoverer must sail over many troubled seas. He must climb the highest peaks and break his tortuous way through many a jungle, but if in the end he reaches the goal, he will be satisfied.

There is a goal for you!

Overturning Expectation.

New York Evening Sun: A recent election at Mount Auburn, Ill., seems to contradict two fallacies with regard to woman and the ballot.

1. That the majority of women are not sufficiently interested to use the ballot when they get it.

2. That women will vote in a solid body to close up the saloons.

It was on a rainy day that the Mount Auburn municipal election was held. Many male voters stayed away from the polls. But the woman voters were not daunted by wet weather. They turned out in force.

There were more women at the polls than there were men.

And did they elect a prohibition mayor! Not they! This female majority blithely voted into office a "wet" mayor.

We await further news from the states where women have the ballot with eagerness. We continually expect some indication that female suffrage has made a great deal of difference, in one way or another, in those commonwealths. Our continuing expectation is continually disappointed, but we go on hoping against hope.

Can it be possible that woman is just about as wise, just about as stupid, just about as earnest, just about as trivial just about as "good" and just about as "bad" as man?

That would be a pretty howdy-do, wouldn't it? A terrible jolt, ladies and gentlemen, for many well-known members of the two well-known sexes!

The Sea.

The sea! the sea! the open sea!
The blue, the fresh, the ever free!
Without a mark, without a bound,
It runneth the earth's wide regions round;
It plays with the clouds; it mocks the skies;
Or like a cradle creature lies.

I'm on the sea! I'm on the sea!
I am where I would ever be;
With the blue above, and the blue below,
And silence wheresoe'er I go;
If a storm should come and awake the deep,
What matter? I shall ride and sleep.

I love, O I love to ride
On the fierce, foaming, bursting tide,
When every mad wave drowns the moon
Or whistles aloft the tempest tune,
And tells how goeth the world below,
And why the sou'west blasts do blow.

I never was on the dull, tame shore,
But I love the great sea more and more,
And backward flew to her billowy breast,
Like a bird that seeketh its mother's nest;
And a mother she was, and is, to me;
For I was born on the open sea!

The waves are white, and red the morn,
In the noisy hour when I was born;
And the whale, it whistled, the porpoise roll'd,
And the dolphins bared their backs of gold;
And never was heard such an outcry wild
As welcomed to life the ocean-child!

I've liv'd since then, in calm and strife,
Full fifty summers, a sailor's life,
With wealth to spend and a power to range,
But never have sought nor sighed for change;
And Death, whenever he comes to me,
Shall come on the wild, unbounded sea!

A Fish Story One Can Believe

Stephen Chalmers in Outing.

I am no fisherman. I have come to that conclusion, and herewith confess the fact. It has cost me some struggle, but—we will let that go. I have been living in a fool's paradise for years. Worse, I have sailed under false colors before friends who may (or, possibly, may not) have drawn the inference that I am an angler of some skill and experience. But this is the bald truth. I am no fisherman.

Experience? I have had more of that than I care to think about. I have caught tarpon, salmon, deep sea fish, great Northern pike, lake trout and all the rest of them, but if you asked me what tackle I used for this and what lure for that I should be constrained in common honesty to answer:

"I don't know. I bought it in a shop. It looked good to me but I couldn't tell you the name of it. I wouldn't know a Montreal Doctor if called upon to identify one, or a Royal Coachman, or a Red Ibis——"

You see I know the names of them all and can reel them off like a veteran, but just what a Parmacheene Belle is good for I could not say until I had held a short conference with somebody who happened to know.

I sometimes wonder if there are other fishermen like me—fellows who go out and catch big fish and lie awake o' nights burdened with the secret consciousness that they hadn't the remotest notion that that particular fish would take that particular lure—until he took it. Then of course it was perfectly clear to their friends that it was forethought—forethought!

I suppose your real scientific angler is the kind of man who goes out in the morning with a mysterious prescience glowing in his eyes, specified flies in his hat and a certain point of a certain stream in mind. And he returns in the evening, not "smelling of strong drink and with the truth not in him," but nonchalantly carrying a string of speckled beauties—which is just what he went after.

Alas! I am not that man. I grab a rod—any old rod—and a reel—any old reel. With two ham sandwiches and a banana in one pocket, and another pocket stuffed with a tangle of spinners and spoons and woddlers and minnows and plain snell hooks and bass flies and trout flies—and old duffle—I make for the nearest wet place.

I don't know what, if anything, I may bring back. It may be a lone sucker, or a string of bullheads, or bass, or a lake trout, or—or a something that I have to have identified before I take it home, so that I can explain the precise method of catching it.

So you see I am no fisherman; but—although this is aside from the point—I sometimes have a glorious time in spite of it. I can keep my face straight, too. As I wend my way home—real fishermen always "wend" home—and I meet the "any luck?" fellow I can shake my head with that veteran air of "too bright" or "wind's wrong today." Or if I have a big fellow dangling alongside—a fairly decent fish is always too big for the creel—I can stride along absent mindedly, leaving a trail of awe on Main street and an atmosphere which seems to whisper:

"Oh, that's nothing—for him. He does it every day!"

The Revel

(Written during the cholera ravages in India about the middle of the last century.)

We meet 'neath the sounding rafter,
And the walls around are bare;
As they shout back our peals of laughter
It seems that the dead are there.
Then stand to your glasses, steady!
We drink in our comrades' eyes:
One cup to the dead already—
Hurrah for the next that dies!

Not here are the goblets flowing,
Not here is the vintage sweet;
'Tis sold, as our hearts are growing,
And dark as the doom we meet.
But stand to your glasses, steady!
And soon shall our pulses rise:
A cup to the dead already—
Hurrah for the next that dies!

There's many a hand that's shaking,
And many a cheek that's sunk;
But soon, though our hearts are breaking,
They'll burn with the wine we've drunk.
Then stand to your glasses, steady!
'Tis here the revival lies:
Quaff a cup to the dead already—
Hurrah for the next that dies!

Time was when we laughed at others:
We thought we were wiser then;
Ha! Ha! Let them think of their mothers
Who hope to see them again.
No! Stand to your glasses, steady!
The thoughtless are here the wise:
One cup to the dead already—
Hurrah for the next that dies!

Not a sigh for the lot that darkles,
Not a tear for the friends that sink;
We'll fall, midst the wine-cup's sparkles,
As mute as the wine we drink.
Come, stand to your glasses, steady!
'Tis this that the respite buys:
A cup to the dead already—
Hurrah for the next that dies!

There's a mist on the glass congealing,
'Tis the hurricane's sultry breath;
And thus does the warmth of feeling
Turn ice in the grasp of Death.
But stand to your glasses, steady!
For a moment the vapor flies:
Quaff a cup to the dead already—
Hurrah for the next that dies!

Who dreads to the dust returning?
Who shrinks from the sable shore
Where the high and haughty yearning
Of the soul can sting no more?
No, stand to your glasses, steady!
The world is a world of lies:
A cup to the dead already—
And hurrah for the next that dies!

Cut off from the land that bore us,
Betrayed by the land we find,
When the brightest have gone before us
And the dullest are most behind—
Stand, stand to your glasses, steady!
'Tis all we have left to prize:
One cup to the dead already—
Hurrah for the next that dies!

Duluth and The Herald

Bouquets and Brickbats from the State Press.

Boosting Will Bring It.

Greenbush Tribune: Duluth should have a population of a million in a few years if boosting will do any good. The Duluth Herald is a born booster and never ceases in sounding the praises of its home town.

It's the Duluth Spirit.

Windom Reporter: The Duluth Herald was mad with joy last Saturday at the recent decision of the interstate commerce commission that Duluth had won its fight before that body and has gained its geographical position as the Head of the Lakes. The Herald is nothing if it isn't patriotic.

Trusts Bob Henry.

Little Falls Herald: The Duluth Herald is afraid Congressman Henry may make a mistake in suggesting changes in the financial bill. We would trust the stout heart and clear brain of Bob Henry under any and all circumstances. We undertake to say that the amendments he proposes would help the bill. Otherwise he would not propose them.

After Richardson's "Goat."

Aurora News: It is understood that a new deal is planned in the weather bureau and some new faces in that department of the government are looked for. That Duluth man can now expect to get his, for the weather he has been handing out for some time has been entirely unsatisfactory hereabouts. We want more sunshine when it is raining, and some rain once in a while when the sun is shining.

Not the Big Moose.

Wabasha Herald: A moose was caught in the streets of Duluth. It wasn't the big moose, however, for he is down in the wilds of Arizona. This was merely a frightened, unsophisticated baby moose which had wandered too far away from the lordly pines and the sheltering thickets.

Duluth is Wide Awake.

Virginia Enterprise: The Duluth Herald last week printed a very creditable story under the caption: "How Duluth WOke Up; Story of a Four-Year Fight to Revive a City That Had Lost Its Grip." If Duluth has really "woke up," after she rubs her eyes and yawns a time or two, the towns and cities of the range would like her active co-operation to the end that the concrete highway the Duluth Rotary club is discussing between that city and the ranges becomes a reality.

Sour Grapes.

Red Lake Falls Gazette: The people of Duluth should be permitted to blow about their cool weather all they want to now, for other people do more than their share of talking about it the other eleven months.

More of the Same.

Stillwater Gazette: Cool in Duluth—in fact so cool that it was necessary to have fires in the stoves or furnaces in order to keep warm yesterday, while here it was an ideal day. We have often wondered why people would go away from home when such a beautiful variety of weather is served us right at home.

Buttermilk in Summer.

Dr. W. A. Evans in Chicago Tribune: Milk contains about eighty-eight parts water and twelve parts solids. Of these twelve parts, four are fats. The use of the fat is to make heat. As it is burned up in the body it has no power to repair waste and only moderate power of furnishing energy.

Recognizing it as a heat maker, why pay good money for it when you are paying other good money for things to keep you cool? You buy ice to put in your glass of milk to keep you cool, and you buy cream with your milk to keep you hot.

Skim milk contains every particle of the milk except the fat. At that, about one-tenth of the fat is left behind, if the milk is creamery skimmed, and even more if hand skimmed.

A pint of skim milk will repair more tissue and furnish a little more energy and make about half as much heat as a pint of whole milk—and it will cost less. Five pints of skim milk will furnish as much food value as a pound of round steak, and cost a quarter as much. A glass of skim milk and a half pound of bread will furnish one-third enough nutriment for an entire day, and will cost five cents. And skim milk is good for babies in extremely hot weather.

Another advantage is that the cream always contains three times as many bacteria as whole milk. Therefore, where cream is skimmed from milk a large proportion of the bacteria is carried with it, and the skim is left with but few bacteria.

However, a better form of milk for hot weather is buttermilk. It, too, is skim milk. If the butter man has been after results he has left but half of one per cent of fat in the buttermilk.

Buttermilk has still another advantage. Its albumin is more easily digested than the albumin of sweet milk. The albumin of sweet milk is mildly alkaline. When it is swallowed it always curdles in the stomach, so that the stomach muscles must break up these curds. Occasionally they are leathery and tough.

The albumins of buttermilk are acid. They do not form leathery curds. They are more easily digested. When babies are fed buttermilk they do not pass the so-called curds composed of masses of fat.

Buttermilk is always a better hot weather food than whole milk for grown people, and sometimes it is for babies. On a hot day it is better to drink buttermilk than beer over a bar.

If the saloonkeepers want to do the right thing let them keep buttermilk on tap until October next.

The Shame of the Steel Trust

New York World: By what right does the steel trust presume to report larger net earnings for the quarter ending with June than in any other year in its history except 1907?

If ever there was a body of American citizens who by every rule of patriotism and public duty were under a profound moral obligation to boast of their poverty in the prevailing hard times, it is the steel trust directors. If ever there was an association of leaders of finance and industry bound together by the closest ties of honor to land their concern in bankruptcy as soon as possible, it is these same steel trust directors.

In the face of such a base betrayal it is hard to speak with moderation. In the annals of human treachery there are very few instances of such utter depravity. It is disheartening, it is downright criminal, when so many unselfish people in the business world are trying to block tariff reform and persuade the public that the country is going to smash under a Democratic administration, that the steel trust should disregard their desperate warnings and pile up its earnings at a record-breaking pace.

Terrors of the Tariff.

Philadelphia Inquirer: From our esteemed contemporary, the Congressional Record, we get some information occasionally, but with all its merits that journal seems to lack a sense of humor. Occasionally it crops out unconsciously and this makes a mighty green oasis in a very arid desert of disputation. On Thursday the Republicans prepared to unmask their batteries on the chemical schedule of the new tariff bill. Every inch of ground was to be contested. Not an opening was to be shown to the enemy. It was formally announced to the senate that the pending question was on the adoption of paragraph 24 of Schedule A, dealing with chemicals. Senator Gallinger arose in his capacity of father of the senate and asked the secretary to read the paragraph clearly, as it was a matter of vital importance. The secretary proceeded:

"Coal and tar products known as analin oil and salts and various other articles." The secretary hesitated, but Dr. Gallinger protested against stopping there and the secretary proceeded to read as follows:

"Toluidine, xylidin, cumidin, bintrotoluol, binitrobenzol, benzidin, tolidin, dianisidin, naphytlamin, diphenylamin, benzaldehyde, benzyl chloride, nitrobenzol and nitotuluol, naphtylaminisulfoacids—"

By this time the secretary was getting groggy and looked appealingly at Senator Gallinger, whose face was as adamant as that of a cast-iron statue of Nero. Taking several long breaths the secretary coontinued:

"Naphtolsulfoacids, amindonaphtolsulfoacids, amidosalicylic acid, binitrochlorbenzol, diamiddostilbendisulfoacid, metanilic acid, paranitranilin, dimethylanlilin."

At least that is what he is reported to have read, but how he pronounced the words is not known. By this time the senate was in roars of laughter, so much so that even Vice President Marshall was shocked, and banged for order. The secretary was in a state of exhaustion and an ambulance was hurriedly sent for. After extracting fifty-seven consonants from his throat the secretary recovered, but has not yet been able to learn what was done with the tariff on these things. Neither have we. The Congressional Record report breaks down just at the crucial moment, and for the life of us we don't know if these things are on the free list or subject to a 1,000 per cent duty.

What we know is that the senate had a good laugh, something it has long needed and which may be expected to do it good.

Can Fight—Another Day.

TRYING TO EXTEND STRIKE TO EVERY PORT ON LAKES

Efforts are being made to extend the ore dock strike, now involving Duluth and Superior, to every ore shipping point on the lakes.

F. H. Little, the Industrial Worker of the World, who has been active in the Superior strike, this morning drew up a proclamation, declaring the fact of the strike at Duluth and Superior and appealing to all ore dock workers at all points to join it. The proclamation was sent out by the Superior committee to Two Harbors, Ashland, Marquette and Escanaba.

Nothing has been heard from any of the points this afternoon. The Two Harbors workers are expected to go out, but there is a question as to the other ports, even in the minds of the Duluth and Superior strikers.

No progress was made at the conference between the strikers' committee and Supt. C. O. Jenks of the Great Northern at Superior, this morning, except that the men added a demand to their long list. They require now that if they return to work, all employes taken on the docks since the strike began, be discharged.

F. H. Little, the I. W. W. leader, claims that he will have I. W. W. workers at every lake port in the next few days and will attempt to have the men organized.

POOR COST LESS MONEY

Decrease in Expenditures of Poor Board During Last Quarter.

Some Money Derived From Sale of Farm Produce.

St. Louis county spent less money in caring for her pauper population during the second quarter of the present year than during the first three months, according to the quarterly report of Charles Shogran, clerk of the poor commission, which was filed yesterday with the county auditor.

The net expenditure for the first three months, January, February and March, was $16,931.55. Mr. Shogran's figures for the second quarter, April, May and June, show a net expenditure of $15,708.90, or a decrease of $1,222.65. This is not taking into consideration the fact that during the second quarter of the year improvements costing $1,259 were paid for. No money was spent for this purpose during the first quarter.

Expenditures for the first six months of the year by the poor commission are itemized as follows:

	First Quarter.	Second Quarter.
Poor farm	$ 8,838.87	$7,991.14
Improvements at poor farm	.....	1,259.00
Care of sick	1,977.51	2,037.88
Groceries	2,632.00	2,248.00
Fuel	1,284.90	601.30
Clothing	64.62	91.08
Transportation	196.52	324.29
Burials	228.00	289.17
Salaries	960.00	1,010.00
Miscellaneous	230.37	247.72
Total	$17,120.35	$16,099.58
Receipts	188.80	390.68
Net total	$16,931.55	$15,708.90

Grand net total, six months, $32,640.45

The receipts of the poor commission consist chiefly of money received from the sale of produce at the poor farm. During the past month among other things, 200 bushels of potatoes and six pigs were sold.

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

LYCEUM—Kinemacolor.
EMPRESS—Vaudeville.

Amusement Notes.

The Kinemacolor and de luxe pictures will be shown at the Lyceum commencing today for several weeks. The Kinemacolor program today is headed by "Stage Struck," a comedy which briefly tells the story of a young wife who leaves her husband and seeks fame and fortune on the stage in New York. It is a comedy with a big moral. A one-reel Kinemacolor film, showing curious pets, among which are the kinkajon, makes up the balance of the Kinemacolor program.

The black and white program for today is headed by a three-reel broncho feature, "Mammy's Secret Code," a massive military production in which an old negro woman uses a prearranged code of wearing apparel on a clothes line to appraise the Confederates of the Union operations. It shows a spectacular and awe-inspiring scene as a bridge is blown up, also a thrilling rescue of the defeated Southern army by the cavalry, which hurls itself upon the advancing enemy.

The bill at the Empress theater comes to a close with the two shows tonight. The headline position is accorded the Hayward Sisters, two girls of remarkable ability in the musical line. The sisters give the best that can be obtained in musical selections and present them in an able and charming manner. Early and Laight are the two comedians on the bill. They have an act that, while it is one of the singing and talking order, is somewhat different. Ollie Young and April are two very clever jugglers and manipulators. Their soap bubble manipulations are very pretty. Lucille Tilton, a young woman of charming personality, gives some neat songs, while clad in male attire that is very becoming. The photoplays are gems in the picture display line. The dramatic film, "The Reward of Courage," and the comic film, "The Speeders," are two reels representative of the best in moving pictures.

A new program will open with the matinee tomorrow for an engagement of three days. The acts are: "The Abrew Family of Cuban Wonders;" Lydell and Butterworth, with their "Dark Town Oddity;" the Bowery Trio, three very clever boys who know how to sing in harmony and do it; Turner and Grace in a novelty in pantomimic juggling. The display of photoplays will be liberal.

CASH DRAWER IS CLOSED

City Auditor Refuses to Countersign Storm Sewer Contract.

Commissioners Working to Get the City on Cash Basis.

The brakes have been put upon any further payments of money from the permanent improvement fund.

City Auditor B. J. Campbell has refused to countersign the contract for a storm sewer in Glenwood street and acting under the instructions of Finance Commissioner F. J. Voss, he has refused to approve the first estimate which has been asked on the work, amounting to approximately $300.

The contract for the storm sewer in Glenwood street was awarded to Rogers & McLean on their bid of $4,079.50. The contract was signed June 25 and the date specified for completion was Sept. 15, as shown by the engineer's monthly statement on contracts. Up to the end of last month the same statement shows that 10 per cent of the work had been done.

From the permanent improvement fund must come the money for the street intersections and storm sewers as well as what are considered permanent improvements. This is the arrangement specified by the new charter, which combines what was formerly two funds into one fund, already obligated for nearly $56,000 more than will be paid into it this year.

Other Expenditures.

The action of the finance division on this contract leads to a query of what is going to happen when demands are made for money for the many other expenditures which have been authorized against the permanent improvement fund. These amount to many thousands of dollars. Among the most recent are the repairs to the city hall, the graveling of the Eighty-first avenue fill, the purchase of lots for a road to Bay View Heights, graveling the Farrell road, repairing the sewer outlet to the First avenue slip and the purchase of material for the intersection at Twelfth avenue west and Michigan street and Twenty-first avenue west and Superior street.

The people who furnish material, labor or property to the city expect to get their money promptly, and have valid claims against the city. From present indications some of them will have to wait, but the officials trust that arrangements can be made which will be satisfactory to all concerned.

The situation illustrates the necessity of the commissioners fully informing themselves of the standing of the various funds so that they will not act blindly in voting appropriations. Much of the present indebtedness was contracted under the old regime and had to be taken over by the commissioners when they took office. Matters were complicated and the commissioners were new to their duties but the situation is being clarified and plans are now being formulated to get the city on a cash basis as soon as it can be done. Arrangements will also be made for getting complete statements of all the funds, so that the commissioners will at all times be informed of the total amount available for the year, the liabilities which have been incurred, the money in the fund and the amount available for the balance of the year. The treasurer's report can only show the actual money received and spent, but a full statement will be secured by combining this with statements from the office of the auditor.

CROSS-EXAMINATION FAILS TO SHAKE HIM

Negro Sticks to His Story of Mary Phagan's Murder.

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 6.—Cross-examination of James Conley, chief witness for the prosecution in the trial of Leo M. Frank for the murder of Mary Phagan, was concluded today and redirect examination was begun. The negro maintained his composure throughout the ordeal, which was begun Monday afternoon.

When court reconvened today the court ordered that the jury withdraw. He then announced that he would not tell that body of his ruling, made yesterday, eliminating from the record Conley's testimony attacking Frank's character, until later in the day, and possibly not until his charge to the jury.

On redirect examination the witness testified that a small mesh bag carried by the Phagan girl on the day of her disappearance was locked in the office safe by the accused superintendent.

Defense's counsel made Conley the target of cross-examination, but repeated questioning, apparently failed to break down the negro's testimony concerning his alleged knowledge of the murder.

He was well known in Duluth, having visited here and having a host of friends among former Saginaw residents of Duluth.

TWO MEN ROB MAIL CAR ON L. & N. TRAIN.

Birmingham, Ala., Aug. 6.—The mail car on the fast Louisville & Nashville passenger train No. 4 northbound from New Orleans, was boarded and robbed early last night by two unknown white men, who held up the mail clerks. All the registered mail was taken, but no estimate could be made of the amount obtained.

The train reached Birmingham on time at 8:37 o'clock and two of the mail clerks, George Hoover and E. G. Yerk, were found handcuffed together in such a way that the irons had to be filed from their wrists. The thumbs of Chief Clerk Harry Everett were securely bound together with heavy twine.

The robbers boarded the mail car at Calera, on the side opposite the station, as the train began to move. The clerks said they immediately were covered with revolvers and ordered to turn their faces to the wall. Everett looked around once and was fired upon, the bullet just missing his head. The robbers jumped from the train at Fourteenth street in Birmingham.

No one besides the mail clerks on the train, apparently, knew the robbers were aboard.

County Board Increases the Size of Two Towns.

Contractors Working on Big Drainage Project Ask Extension.

Few matters of more than routine nature were taken up for consideration at the August meeting of the county board which was held this morning at the courthouse. Chairman Neil McInnis of Eveleth, owing to a recent illness, was not able to attend the session. Alex Frazer, vice chairman, presided.

The board at its morning session increased the size of the town of Balkan by adding thirty sections of the town of Stuntz, 58-20, and all of the village of Chisholm. The petition asking that 54-21 be added to the town of Cedar Valley was also granted. This afternoon, the board will consider a petition asking that the unorganized territory described as 56-21 be added to the town of Stuntz.

The Butler-Coons Construction company, which has the contract for the digging of Judicial Ditch, No. 3, which will drain 84,000 acres of swamp land lying in several townships in St. Louis and Aitkin counties at a cost of $195,000, applied to the board today for an extension of time from Aug. 15 to Nov. 15 for the removal of the first 250,000 cubic yards. The company claimed to be materially delayed with a new machine which had been installed. The board will probably grant the extension at its meeting this afternoon.

The town of Great Scott, through D. T. Collins, this morning presented a claim against the county of $11,285.31 for money expended by the town for the building of the Buhl-Cary Lake road during the years 1911 and 1912. The town paid for that portion of the road running through its own limits and also for that portion outside, under an agreement made with the county that it was to be reimbursed after the work was completed. The town now asks that the money be paid agreeable to the original understanding. The matter is being considered by the county board.

Several appropriations from the county special road fund for road improvements in the several commissioners' districts will be made at the afternoon session. In the Fourth district $5,100 will be expended for work on the following roads: International, Johnson, Everson, Miller Trunk, Tower and Itasca, Beatty, Ashawa, Brown, Tower and Hinsdale and Sherman. The work on each road will cost from $300 to $800.

Among the roads to be legalized by the county board today is a three-mile extension of the Peterson road in section 30, 62-21, and a yet unnamed road which runs through townships 62 and 83-19.

The board acted favorably on the proposition of detaching sections 1 to 18, 56-18, from School District No. 31 for the purpose of making a new school district, to be known as District No. 80.

At the afternoon session the board will take action on the request of Sheriff John R. Meining for authority to appoint C. J. Shannon as a deputy sheriff at Chisholm and a paid member of his staff.

POURED GASOLINE ON GOODS IN THE STORE

Firebug Says He Was Paid By a Chicago Firm.

Chicago, Aug. 6.—John Danles, self-confessed "firebug," today described how he had set fire to the store of W. A. Harris and Max Covitz, who are on trial under indictment for arson. He said that he received $700 for the job.

"Harris and Covitz told me they wanted a total destruction," Danles testified. "They said they had more insurance than goods."

After some delay Danles said that Harris and Covitz sent word to him in New York that they were ready for the fire, so he came back to Chicago to do the work.

"When I arrived here Harris and Covitz told me everything was ready for the following Sunday night. I bought twenty-five gallons of gasoline and poured it over the goods in the store. I went out in the alley then and threw a match through a back window I had left open. Then the fire started.

"I met Covitz and his brother-in-law, Nudelman, next morning. Nudelman paid me $400 in cash and Harris and Covitz gave me a note for $300 which Nudelman later cashed."

WILSON FIRM FOR CURRENCY ACTION

Talks With James, Hughes and Owen About Bill.

Washington, Aug. 6.—President Wilson talked currency to a number of his callers today, and made it plain that he intends to stick to his determination to have a bill passed at the extra session.

Senator James told the president today that the Democrats would put the bill through. Senator Hughes took a similar view. Senator Owen, chairman of the banking committee, pointed out that in his poll of the senate only Senators Hitchcock and O'Gorman were flatly opposed to legislation at this time. All the other Democrats but five were earnestly in favor of the legislation, he said, and they, though preferring to defer the task to the next session, would abide by the wishes of the president and the majority.

IF DETROIT sends its eight to the National, watch 'em. This may be the eight we will have to beat in the National sweepstakes in the event the home boys with the blue shirts expect to bring home the first prize.

All of us have heard powerful much regarding the Argonauts. Justly these club boys have enjoyed the reputation of being one of the greatest eights in North America. All of the followers of the rowing game wanted to see the Argonauts and the Winnipeg eight tear into one another.

At St. Catherine's last Saturday this event took place and the famous Argonaut eight finished fourth in the senior eight event, Detroit came home second and the Argo lightweights actually finished ahead of the crew that only recently all but won from the Leanders.

Winnipeg won with ease and also captured the senior four event. One of the distinct surprises of the Canadian Henley events was the defeat of E. B. Butler by R. Dibble of the Dons and A. F. Culver of the Winnipeg Rowing club, many of the followers of rowing here being familiar with the work of the latter.

This emphatically and for all time, let us believe, does away with the dope that Butler was ever the equal of Ned Ten Eyck, brother of coach James, and perhaps the fastest amateur this country ever developed.

All the world loves a lover, so fiction and Clyde Fitch used to inform us. Likewise all the sporting world dearly loves a winner.

When Eddie Butler won at the National that was held at Saratoga, two years ago, he was hailed by some of the Eastern followers of the rowing game as the peer of the departed Ten Eyck. That was but two short years ago. Note the time. There is a change of scene, and the sporting fervor has cooled.

Now at St. Catherine's in the good year of 1913 we find Butler discredited and beaten. Ned Ten Eyck was never decisively beaten in all of his career, and, moreover, he won the diamond sculls his first time out when he was but 17 years of age. Butler has tried twice, if memory is not at fault, and has failed to cop the coveted honor.

Back to where the trail forked. Detroit is probably the crew we will have to beat in the senior event at the National, or the championship eight. The Argonauts will in all probability not go, and it is not believed that the Winnipeg eight will be sent down East, though we 'uns here would welcome the test of speed.

Let us say, in closing, that Riley, Aldous, Henderson, Eadie, Baker, Patton, Denison, Carruthers and Bugh, the latter being the cox, composed this eight, which with the two eights we have here, make up, we believe, three of the greatest eights in the country.

NEWS is occasionally wafted this way, leaping the blue Atlantic, regarding the activities of Alexis Jarvinen, the gigantic Finnish wrestler.

After he wrestled here in several matches, showing that he was one of the greatest of all his countrymen, Jarvinen returned to Europe and was the winner of one of the big tournaments in Germany.

Only recently the big fellow won one of the big tournaments of Austria, and is now held as one of the greatest of all the big wrestlers of Europe.

HELLO people, Uncle Horace Fogel is climbing on the baseball wagon. What ho, you say—why yes, the vilified, the poor scape goat, wants to put a team into New York city for the Federal league.

The old golden rule thing has been fine for speeches and has rung down the curtain in many a melodrama; but just the same the revenge thing remains sweet to many a frosted soul.

Up in the higher political sanctums of the National league they stacked the pack and then got Horace to draw to fill a flush. Murphy held four aces and won because the thing was cut and dried. Fogel is Dutch and perhaps slow to wrath and also thought. But he has started now, so watch out.

Incidentally it might be remarked that George Tebeau has threatened to join the Federals at Kansas City and make life miserable for former confreres.

It is said that said former loving mates told George to hop to it, wishing him all the luck in the world.

True it is, Bill, that the despised Feds, the one good laugh among the baseball men of the country some six short months agone, are these sultry days causing some to search the baseball heavens in search of squalls.

EMIL KLANK, former manager of the greatest of all American wrestlers, Frank Augustus Gotch, is applying his shrewd managerial brain to the direction of the affairs of little Freddy Beell. Emil is German and writes as follows:

"Dear Bruce:—Freddy is as good as ever—well, almost. I motored up from Chicago in my car and found the Dutchman busy getting in some of his crops. Fred wants to have just one real whirl at the wrestling game and then quit for good. Mike Yokel and Fred at catch weights would make one of the greatest contests this country ever saw, and the chances are that they will get together this season."

And Emil is right. Mike and that little squat built Dutchman would make some match.

CLAUDE ELLIOTT, the umpire, was a pitcher with the New York Giants. Later he was with the Louisville team of the American association. Suter Sullivan was the manager of the team at that time.

"Sullivan could never take anything seriously," said Claude one day at Athletic park, while he was watching the Sox warm up.

"We had lost thirteen straight games on the road. Then there came a telegram from George Tebeau, who at that time was the owner of the club.

"Sullivan told all of us after the game to gather in his room at 8 o'clock. Naturally we expected that there would be some calls and possibly some blue slips.

"With solemn face Sullivan opened the telegram and read it. Then he turned to us, and we fancied that there was gathering wrath in his quiet manner.

"'Gentlemen,' he said, 'I propose that we pooh pooh this message.' We did.

"Sullivan was the funniest manager that I ever saw, much less worked under."

TAKE it from us, these bushers are getting wise. There is Cunningham and also Quarders. Darby O'Brien tried to sign both of these boys. Spent money in telegrams and long distance messages, all to no avail.

Then we read of Cunningham signing for a trial with Connie Mack and Quarders being signed with the White Sox.

Not so long ago any one in the bush would have joyously jumped at the chance to play with a class C team. Now they figure it out in a very business like manner and skip the bushes and land in the big show.

Verily the baseball times are changing.

FRANK SLAVIN IS ALIVE AND WELL

Duluth Man Meets Former Great Pugilist on Pacific Coast.

While spending his vacation in Vancouver recently, a Duluth man met Frank Slavin, once one of the greatest heavyweights in all the world. This will prove a surprise to many, as it was some year or more ago that the report circled the globe that the man who gave Peter Jackson one of the greatest battles in all the spectacular career of the giant black, had been lost in exploring one of the wildest regions of Alaska.

Slavin is alive—and he has money. Prospecting for years has brought the fruits of labor to the former Australian, and from what the once great pugilist told the Duluthian, he is at the present time on easy street, or at least in the block around the corner.

Old Chris Person of this city, the Lester river farmer, was in the Klondike when Slavin was foraging around that country. Chris fought the former invincible, and put the veteran of many a terrible battle away with a right swing to the stomach.

Slavin today looks well and carries his age with little marks of the conflict with life, according to the Duluth man. Life in the open has evidently acted as a tonic, for the man who once defied the mighty John L. Sullivan looks far from being the wreck he was reported to be.

ST. PAUL WANTS POWER REGATTA

Saintly City to Go After Big Motor Boat Meet.

Keokuk, Iowa, Aug. 6.—Aside from the interest displayed in the Mississippi valley races at Keokuk, Aug. 26, 27 and 28, Middle West motor boatmen are watching developments in the promised contest over the next annual regatta. Several cities are in the field, including Muscatine, Burlington, Rock Island and St. Paul. The St. Paul and Minnetonka motor boat clubs, the latter of Minneapolis, are combining their delegations to pull for the racing classic on the upper river in 1914. They believe that a regatta should be taken north to satisfy the clubs on the northern portion of the river. Burlington staged the original regatta several years ago, and club members there say the money has been as good as pledged to guarantee the 1914 event.

Another matter of interest will be the annual election of officers at the Keokuk convention. Charles P. Hanley, present vice admiral of the association, one of its organizers and most industrious promoters, is being prominently mentioned to succeed Joseph Kelso, Jr., of Bellevue, Iowa, as admiral. Mr. Hanley is city attorney at Muscatine, Iowa, and is a recognized authority on boat racing.

WHITE SOX TAKE OPENER FROM VIRGINIA RANGERS

Blancke in Fine Form and Dooks Romp Home, 9 to 2.

Dusty Rhoades Hit to All Parts of Lot By Old Pals.

Virginia, Minn., Aug. 6.—The Duluth White Sox started their road trip with a winning game, taking the first from the Rangers here yesterday by the count of 9 to 2.

Blancke, the star of the Duluth team, was on the mound for the White Sox and he had little difficulty in keeping the hits of the locals widely scattered. Nine hits were gathered off the delivery of the big fellow, but they were so widely scattered that little damage was done.

A wild pitch by Blancke was responsible for one of the runs of the rangers, and two bunched hits brought in the other.

Dusty Rhoades was on the mound for Virginia and was greeted warmly by his former comrades. Rhoades was hit hard when the paths held runners, Monahon, Smith, Sweeley and Moll doubling with men on. Some of the fielding of the locals was not of the stellar order. The score:

HORACE LEVERETT WINS DUEL FROM WILSON.

Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 6.—Leverett and Wilson had one of the prettiest pitching duels of the season here yesterday, the former star of the big leagues having slightly the better of the argument, the little Millers winning out by the score of 3 to 1.

But five hits were gathered off the twirling of each pitcher. Leverett was the steadiest in pinches and in addition received better support than that accorded to the Dakota flinger. The score: R. H. E.

TEN SOUTHPAWS FIGURE IN SCORES

Five Lose Games, Four Are Winners and One Is Derricked.

Chicago, Aug. 6.—Ten left hand pitchers figured in seven of the nine major league baseball games played yesterday, five sustaining defeat, four winning and one retiring without a credit or discredit. The winning southpaws were Pierce of Chicago, who defeated Rucker of Brooklyn; Wellman of St. Louis, victor over Collins of the Boston Americans in the second game, and Leonard of Boston, conqueror of St. Louis in the first game of the double-header.

Marquard, Rucker and Sallee went down to defeat in the National, while Plank and Collins were being beaten in the American. Russell pitched a fraction more than one inning for the Chicago Americans and gets credit for a victory. Boehling, the Washington left-hander was neither winner nor loser being relieved in the tenth inning with the score tied.

"Rube" Marquard's winning streak was broken by the Pittsburg Nationals after the New York star had achieved nine straight victories. "Slim" Sallee was returned a loser against the rushing Philadelphia Nationals, although he pitched a better game than any of the luckless five, allowing only one run.

The Adams team will go to Crosby Sunday and meet the team of that place. The three A. team is going strong and a fast game is expected.

WISCONSIN GOLF TOURNAMENT OPENS.

Kenosha, Wis., Aug. 6.—Play in the qualifying round of the Wisconsin state golf tournament began early this forenoon with the teeing off of W. J. Cavanaugh, Kenosha, state secretary, and W. J. Kohler, Sheboygan, one of the state directors.

They were followed by 112 other players who teed off in pairs at three-minute intervals. The best thirty-two scores of today's play will qualify for the match play tomorrow morning.

BELL SHOWS GREAT FORM

Winona Southpaw Blanks Superior By 7 to 0 Score.

Red Sox Play Without the Services of Cullis and Benrud.

Winona, Minn., Aug. 6.—Winona and Superior met yesterday for the first game of the most important series that has been played between the two teams this season, or in the entire league to date, and the locals outplayed the visitors in every department of the game and won by the score of 7 to 0.

Cyrus Augustus Dahlgren, one of the pitchers whom the visitors dependcd upon to bring victory to their banner, was hit hard, and this at critical times. On the other hand, the great Bell held the visitors helpless, and except for one stage of the game, where the bases were full, and no one out, was never in danger.

This was the one opportunity that the Red Sox had to win. Bell faced the situation without a tremor. The first two batters went out on weak infield hits, and then the southpaw put all he had on the ball and whiffed the third man.

Cullis and Benrud are out of the line-up of the visitors and played the bench. Fred Chicken, one of the regular pitchers of the Red Sox, went to the shortfield position and Burke was behind the bat.

While the shift undoubtedly weakened the attack and defense of the visitors, it is not believed that Superior could have won the initial game of the series on the form exhibited by both teams yesterday, had its two stars been in the game.

Only four hits were gathered off the flinging of the Winona star, and but one error marked the game, this falling to Bell. Sensational fielding marked the contest and cut off several hits for both teams.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

St. Louis Shut Out.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 6.—Alexander was at his best yesterday afternoon and held St. Louis runless while Philadelphia bunched hits in one inning for the lone run of the game. But two local players reached first base after the first inning, in which Philadelphia scored its run. In this round Cravath got a triple when his line smash to right field caught in the screen around the pavilion. It looked like a home run but Cather leaped up and extricated the ball holding the hard-hitting visitor on the far corner. Cravath crossed the plate when Luderus bounced a single off Huggins' shins. In the ninth inning Alexander issued his first pass but he retired the side in order, one fanning and the other two locals popping to Paskert. Manager Huggins returned yesterday from Cincinnati where he spent two days trying to arrange a trade with Joe Tinker. Huggins said that no deals were made but that something probably would develop in a few days. Score: R. H. E.

Marquard's Streak Broken.

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 6.—Pittsburg broke Rube Marquard's string of nine consecutive victories yesterday afternoon by hammering him out of the box in the third inning, and winning from New York, 5 to 1. Adams, for the Pirates, pitched a fine game, allowing only six hits. He was given good support. All of Pittsburg's runs were scored at the expense of Marquard, Fromme, who succeeded him, being able to hold the Pirates down. Score: R. H. E.

Easy for Cubs.

Chicago, Aug. 6.—The Chicago team, under the leadership of Acting Manager Leach, defeated Brooklyn, 13 to 2, in a batting bee yesterday. Rucker started the game for the visitors and was forced to retire under a fusillade of hits. Curtis, who succeeded Rucker, was also hit in bunches, but finished the contest when the locals eased up. Cy Williams, the Notre Dame recruit, was the Chicago star with the bat. He drove in two runners with a single in the first inning and made a homer in the second inning with the bases full. In his four times at bat he made as many hits. Bridwell also batted 1,000, in four times up, getting two bases on balls and making two hits. With the bases full in the fourth, Needham doubled and scored all three runners. Brooklyn's scores were made when Bridwell fumbled Cutshaw's grounder and Wheat followed with a homer. Manager Evers was out of the city with the president of the Chicago club. Ed Reulbach and Ed Stack, the two pitchers who figured in the Brooklyn-Chicago trade today, appeared with Brooklyn and Chicago uniforms respectively. Score: R. H. E.

Reds Win Another.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Aug. 6.—Cincinnati by bunching hits won the third straight game from Boston yesterday, 5 to 1. Boston could do nothing with Brown who pitched in old-time form, not allowing more than one consecutive hit in any one inning. Perdue who started the game for Boston was touched up for a single and two three-baggers in the first inning which scored two runs. He was hit for a three-base hit in the fourth that eventually scored, and in the seventh was relieved to allow McDonald to bat for him. Strand, who relieved Perdue, was not only hit hard but was wild. Score: R. H. E.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Athletics Are Blanked.

Philadelphia, Aug. 6.—Cleveland's hard hitting in the early innings, Blanding's excellent pitching especially with men on bases and Chapman's sensational fielding gave the visitors the victory over Philadelphia yesterday 5 to 0. Plank lasted only one inning, Cleveland scoring three runs off him in a fumble by Barry of Champan's grounder, singles by Olson and Turner, Lajole's double and a sacrifice fly by Jackson, of which Oildring made a wonderful leaping catch which robbed Joe of a home run. Houch pitched the second inning. He was taken out to permit D. Murphy to bat for him with the bases filled, but Danny failed to produce a hit. Pennock opened third session until Brown warmed up. He gave Olson a pass and fanned Jackson. Brown then went to the rubber. After he was hit for a home run by Lajole Brown settled down and pitched first-class ball. R. H. E.

Divide Double-Header.

Boston, Aug. 6.—St. Louis and Boston divided a double-header yesterday, Boston winning the first game, 3 to 0, and the visitors taking the second, 4 to 2. Leonard held the St. Louis team to two hits in the first contest and not a visiting player reached first base until the seventh inning. Lewis batted in Boston's three runs.

Collins was batted hard in the second game and in the sixth inning, three-baggers by Pratt, Austin and Brief, and a sacrifice fly by Williams gave the visitors their winning run. Wellman was effective when Boston had men on bases.

Yankees Beaten Badly.

New York, Aug. 6.—Detroit overwhelmingly defeated New York in the second game of the series by a score of 10 to 5. The locals played bad ball in the field behind mediocre pitching. Detroit hammered the ball hard. Keating started for New York and the visitors scored four runs in the first inning on four hits, a pass, an error and a steal. After Keating walked Bush in the second, Schulz replaced him and Bauman, the first batter to face him, hit a home run. Caldwell finished the game and was a slight improvement. Dubuc, the Detroit pitcher, was effective early in the game, but eased up in the closing innings. Moriarty made a clean steal of home in the fifth inning. R. H. E.

Sox Take Another.

Washington, Aug. 6.—Chicago made it two straight against Washington here yesterday, winning, 4 to 2, in the tenth inning after Benz, who had been pitching shut-out ball, weakened in the ninth and paved the way for two Washington runs and a tied score. Boehling had the visitors puzzled, errors being responsible for the two runs scored against him before he was taken out in the ninth to make way for a pinch hitter. R. H. E.

Hens Take Final.

Toledo, Ohio, Aug. 6.—Toledo won the odd game of the series from Columbus, 9 to 7, here yesterday afternoon, although outbatted and outfielded. Several scratch hits gave the visitors a flying start, but Toledo caught up in the same round on consecutive hitting, a pass to Jones and Miller's error. In the last inning Collamore's support wabbled, which coupled with a pair of infield scratches and Jones' clean single gave Columbus three more runs. Score: R. H. E.

FINALS AT ONWENTSIA

Pacific Coast Champions Meet Easterners in Tennis Doubles.

Great Battle Between East and West in Opening Round.

Chicago, Aug. 6.—Tennis experts from the Coast will play the champions of the East this afternoon at Onwentsia to decide who shall compete in the challenge round for the national doubles title at Newport, Aug. 18. Low-hanging clouds threaten showers at any minute but a gallery as large as that of yesterday, which is said to be the largest which ever witnesesd a match in this city, is expected.

The contest today is expected to produce high-class tennis of widely different styles. The dash and enthusiasm of John Strachan and Clarence Griffin, the San Francisco pair, will meet the cool, steady, persistence of Gustave F. Touchard and W. M. Washburne, who hold the Eastern title. The Far-Western players were not forced to extend themselves in defeating the Southern champions yesterday and they played no harder than they had to. Their matches here have not brought out their best play, their opponents being easy to dispose of, but it is the general opinion that they will be called upon today to produce every trick they know. They have the advantage of seeing their opponents tested to the limit, while the Easterners have had no chance to gauge the play of their adversaries under stress.

Washburne and Touchard have played a cold, conservative game with a determination that has been wearing. These two are favorites with many, but the styles of the two teams differ so much few have attempted to pick the winner.

Great Exhibition.

In the greatest exhibition of tennis ever played in the West, Gustav Touchard and W. M. Washburne, the Eastern champion pair, yesterday defeated Heath Byford and Ralph Burdick, the Western champions, 6-4, 5-7, 6-3, 9-7.

In a match noted in contrast for its one-sidedness and lack of brilliancy, Clarence Griffin and John Strachan, the Pacific champions, disposed of Robert Shelton and J. B. Adoue, who bore the hopes of Dixie, 6-1; 6-4; 9-7.

Of the eight men who took part in the rounds yesterday, Burdick and Touchard furnished the most spectacular exhibitions.

The Chicagoans made their play most of the time against Washburne, but Touchard covered not only his own side but helped his partner when the fire directed against him by the Western pair became too hot.

Burdick's game was erratic to the point of producing heart failure among those in the gallery rooting for the local team.

Masters at the net, the Eastern pair won the opening set despite efforts of the Chicago team to keep them back. Burdick's terrific smashes frequently got by for points, but backhand strokes stopped some of them and Washburne as well as Touchard banged Byford's lobs back over the net.

WINONA GETS JUMP ON RED HOSE BY WINNING OPENER

As was predicted by this esteemed sheet, Bell pitched the opening game of the series with Superior, and he won.

The chances are that he will come back for Thursday's contest.

As stated in these columns yesterday, Cullis and Benrud are out of the game and the handicap is a severe one for the Red Sox.

Advices received from Winona early today indicate that Rube Schauer, the $7,500 beauty who hasn't beautied sufficiently since acquiring fame, is the mound nominee for the second game.

Not so many days ago Will Sommer, being oppressed with the exceeding ennui of Superior, came to Duluth and went out to our baseball plant. Many of the citizens of Superior thus occasionally long for the sights of a city and come over for a day or two. But, anyway, Bill came.

During the course of a conversation, Billyum came through to Harry Blume, our worthy and peerless president, and said that his club was going to take three straights from the Corsairs.

It seems that Cyrus Augustus Dahlgren had it doped out that he could win two of the games. Then he modestly informed Will Sommers that Schauer could win the other.

Cyrus Got His.

Cyrus Augustus, genial soul that he is, has started and failed. We will see by The Herald extra of this evening just how the expensive piece of pitching machinery that soon is to become the property of Johnny McGraw will fare at the hands of the hard-driven Pirates.

Darby O'Brien with all the tenacity of an Irishman refuses to admit that he is out of the race. The Dook confided this information to one of the real fans of this city, Lefty Louie. The Irish Orator is of the opinion that while the two leaders are meeting with non-progress his team will be climbing the ladder. We all hope that the surmise of the Dook as to the outcome of the race is eminently correct in all the premises.

Sure it is that the race in this league is a beauty. If the fans of Winona don't turn out for the series that is being played in their city at the present time they would refuse to give 10 cents to see a miracle.

Look over the leagues of the country, brother fans, and you will fail to discover a race that has the sulphuric intensity of the gallop of our little circuit.

What we and most likely the rest of the followers of baseball are hoping for, is that the final meeting between Duluth and Superior will have the deciding of the pennant.

That is, either that the Sox are in the running—if that is possible—or that the outcome of the three games between the Head of the Lakes teams will decide the winner betwen Winona and the Red Sox. That would give us a grand windup to the season and would also pack the largest crowd in the history of the game in Duluth into the park to see the double-header on Sunday, Aug. 24.

There are six more games during the home season. The contests between the Sox and Winnipeg may have a bearing on the holder of posish No. 3 in the race. The Peggers may be pressing us hard at the time of the meeting here for the windup clash of the present season, and in that event the games should be one of the most interesting series of the year.

The drafting season of the Northern will open in a few days and there may be news for the fans in the way of those passing on to fields of higher baseball endeavor.

ly and it is planned to have the clubhouse completed in time for fall hunting.

Next Sunday will be the final clay bird shoot of the season. As it will also be the final trophy shoot of the season the members have decided to make it one of the big events of the year and plans were laid with this end in view.

One of the features of the day will be a shoot between A and B class men. There will also be a shoot-off between those tied for the grand trophy prize. Dinner will be served on the grounds and provision will be made for the entertainment of the club members and their friends.

SIGN TO FIGHT FOR WORLD TITLE

Willie Ritchie and Freddie Welsh to Meet at Vancouver Sept. 1.

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 6. — The next lightweight match with a title of the ring at stake will be for the championship of the world. Willie Ritchie the American champion, made this a certainty yesterday when he agreed to meet Freddie Welsh, champion of Great Britain and Australia, in Vancouver, B. C., for twenty rounds on Sept. 1.

Welsh already has one decision over Ritchie awarded in November, 1911, when Ritchie substituted at the eleventh hour for Ad Wolgast, then the champion, who was stricken with appendicitis on the eve of a match with Welsh. Ritchie had never fought a long distance bout and went into the match untrained.

His surprising showing won him later his chance at the title from Wolgast.

Articles stipulated the weight and division of the purse will be signed in ten days or a fortnight.

Ritchie Given Guarantee.

Vancouver, B. C., Aug. 6.—Hugh Springer, promoter of the Willie Ritchie-Freddie Welsh fight said yesterday that the arrangement was to give Ritchie a guarantee of $15,000 win, lose or draw. In other words Springer guarantees him 50 per cent of the house and guarantees that the house will contain $30,000. Ritchie is also to get 60 per cent of returns from pictures, the remainder going to Welsh and the Vancouver promoters.

WORLD'S RECORD SET AT KALAMAZOO

Peter Volo Makes New Mark for 2-Year-Old Trotters.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Aug. 6.—When Peter Volo, driven by Murphy, won the 2-year-old trotting division of the Horseman Futurity and the purse of $3,000 at yesterday afternoon's Grand Circuit meet, he established a new world's record for 2-year-old trotters, going the first mile in 2:09. The distance was made with ease.

Etwah had an easy time in taking the 3-year-old trot for the Horseman Futurity, $10,000 purse. At no time was the Geers entry in danger, leading the field in every heat. Frank G. Jones, the Memphis, Tenn., millionaire owner of Etwah, who is an old-time telegraph operator, climbed into the press box and personally transmitted a message to his daughter telling of Etwah's victory. Besides the $7,500 won by Etwah, the owner also won a $500 cup.

It required four heats for Tommy Horn to win the 2:10 trot.

There were only two entries in the 3-year-old pacing division of the Futurity, and Tilly Tipton ran away from Homer Baughman in all three heats, leading from wire to wire in each.

LA CROSSE GIVES TEAM ROYAL WELCOME.

La Crosse, Wis., Aug. 6.—Elaborate was the formal opening of the Northern league season in La Crosse today. A public holiday was declared by the mayor, stores and factories were closed and an enormous crowd turned out. A parade and exercises at the park preceded at the game, which began after Mayor Sorensen unlimbered his "salary wing" and hurled the first ball. La Crosse took the place of St. Paul, which gave up its Northern league franchise.

WAIDNER MEETS SOUTH DAKOTA MAN

John Adams May Clash With Three Times Champion.

Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 6.—Interest in the annual tournament of the Northwestern Lawn Tennis association, being held on the courts of the Deephaven club, Lake Minnetonka, centers in the game between Harry Waidner of Chicago, three times champion of the association and Enright of South Dakota. These two are the only remaining players in the tournament from outside the Twin Cities.

John Adams of St. Paul, twice state champion, will be in two matches today, and if he wins, will clash with Waidner tomorrow.

The women's events will start today. Only Twin City players are entered.

Waidner advanced to the third round yesterday, defeating R. Kennedy of Minneapolis. Enright eliminated Wingate of Minneapolis after a hard fight, 2-6, 6-1, 6-1.

O'Brien of Chicago defeated Edsell of Minneapolis, 9-7, 6-1, but was unable to stay the progress of J. J. Armstrong of St. Paul, who won as he pleased, 6-1, 6-1.

Other matches yesterday were as follows: Wingate, Minneapolis, defeated Gallaher, St. Paul, 6-1, 3-6, 6-2; Burr, Minneapolis, defeated Leslie, Princeton university, 6-2, 6-2; Jackson, St. Paul, defeated G. Wyer, Minneapolis, 8-6, 6-3; also Sullivan, Minneapolis, 4-6, 6-2, 6-3.

ENGLER GETS THE POSTMASTERSHIP

Washington, Aug. 6.—An unsuccessful fight was waged in an executive session of the senate yesterday against the confirmation of E. J. Engler as postmaster at Ipswich, S. D., because the president had not recognized a preferential primary for postmaster in which Frank J. Tracy won by a vote of 140 to 16. Senators Crawford and Sterling of South Dakota and Bristow of Kansas fought off confirmation for nearly an hour. Many Republicans voted with the Democrats for the confirmation of Engler, however, and the opposition registered only a half dozen votes on a roll call.

Democratic leaders asked for the postponement of the consideration of the nomination of James Coffey as internal revenue collector for the division of North and South Dakota. Republicans have fought the confirmation, contending that Coffey should resign as chairman of the Democratic state committee, before taking office.

DOUBLE CRIME IS LAID TO SUITOR.

Kirksville, Mo., Aug. 6.—A formal charge will be placed against St. Henry Thorington in connection with the murder of Mrs. Ivy Chevalier and her 12-year-old daughter, Ella, early Monday morning.

Two bloodhounds twice followed a trail from the Chevalier home to Thorington's lodging place after they had been given the scent by a club with which the woman and her daughter were murdered following a brutal assult in their home. He had expected to marry the woman, but was disappointed.

Thorington is on the verge of a collapse in the jail at Macon, Mo., where he was rushed in an automobile by Sheriff Willes before the results of the dogs' hunt became known.

RESOLUTION CALLS FOR BATTLESHIPS.

Washington, Aug. 6.—An emergency appropriation sufficiently large to begin immediate construction of three additional battleships of the dreadnaught type is asked for in a resolution introduced by Representative Britten, Republican, of Illinois.

The resolution declares in a preamble that the administration apparently has been unable to cope with the unsettled condition of affairs in American relations with Japan and Mexico, and declares it is imperative to begin immediate construction of additional battleships to prepare the United States for the contingency of war.

CITY SEGREGATION OF RACES IS LEGAL.

Baltimore, Md., Aug. 6.—The Maryland court of appeals, in a preliminary opinion, holds "that the mayor and city council of Baltimore may, in the exercise of its police powers, validly pass an ordinance for the segregation of the white and colored races without conflicting with the provisions of the Constitution of the United States or of the State of Maryland." The opinion, however, declares invalid on technical grounds an ordinance approved by the mayor in 1911.

It was announced that an ordinance will be drawn up to meet the legal exactions.

FULL BULL MOOSE TICKET IN NEBRASKA.

Omaha, Neb., Aug. 6.—The Nebraska state Bull Moose committee has decided to place in the field at the next election complete state, congressional, legislative and county tickets. The state chairman was ordered to prepare the organization for an educational campaign to inform the people of the doctrines of progressiveism. The committee concluded its deliberations by calling on the state railway commission to enact a tariff reducing the existing freight rates between points in the state.

CONTINUOUS SESSIONS

City Commission Holds Four Meetings in One Day.

Surety Company Will Complete Paving—No Extension This Year.

Duluth's city commission set a new record for continuous sessions yesterday.

The council met four times, twice officially and twice unofficially and was constantly engaged most of the day.

The two official meetings were called to take action necessitated by the abandonment by P. McDonnell of his city contracts for street improvements. At 11 o'clock in the morning the council received his notification that he had given up his work and passed a resolution declaring him to be in default and calling upon the National Surety company, which is on his bonds, to complete his contracts.

At 4 o'clock in the afternoon the council was informed that the surety company had arranged with D. H. Clough and company, local contractors, to take over and complete McDonnell's contracts. The commissioner thereupon voted to allow the bonding company two estimates due for work performed by McDonnell, amounting to approximately $11,000. Of this amount the city will withhold about $1,400, of which the city claims $800 for material furnished McDonnell while the balance is segregated because of a garnishment against McDonnell filed with the city.

First Meeting.

The first meeting was started shortly after 9 o'clock to listen to N. F. Garbo of Minneapolis, explain the new system of voting and counting ballots which he has perfected. The commissioners were greatly impressed with Mr. Garbo's method, as under it mistakes are eliminated and the returns computed rapidly and accurately.

At 2 o'clock in the afternoon the council met with Herbert Warren, general manager of the street railway company, relative to the proposed street car extension to New Duluth.

Mr. Warren informed the commissioners that the company will not build the line so long as the suit against the company's franchise is pending in the district court. He stated that the action makes it impossible as the money could not be raised on the company's securities and because it would not be businesslike to increase the company's indebtedness upwards of $250,000 in the face of the present uncertainty.

Grade Crossing.

Manager Warren was very much opposed to crossing the tracks of the Northern Pacific at grade at Smithville, as it would be extremely dangerous, nor did he feel that the company should be expected to contribute towards the cost of building a subway or an overhead crossing.

The city officials are not at all in favor of a grade crossing, as one situated as would be that at Smithville would be a near deathtrap. At the meeting yesterday it was suggested that an underground crossing be built to hasten the construction of the street car line, leaving the litigation to determine who should pay the cost until later. City Attorney Harvey Clapp expressed the opinion that the city can compel the Northern Pacific railway to pay for it.

Manager Warren said that it is not impossible to cross the fill at Eighty-first avenue this fall but that it will not be in nearly as satisfactory shape for tracks this year as it will be next spring. He also pointed out that the roadway which property owners agreed to substitute for that portion of the road which was vacated three years ago, is still uncompleted, with some uncertainty as to whether it will be used or not. He said that the line would probably not pay expenses for some time, estimating that 4,000 to 5,000 people would have to be carried to meet the daily fixed charges, not to mention any profits. He added that it is not as though New Duluth were cut off from the city, as the suburb is getting train service, although he agreed that the service of steam roads is not equal to that furnished by trolley roads.

NOT WILLING TO LET LARK DIE

East Fourth Street Merchants Will Give Band Concerts.

The merchants of East Fourth street refuse to let the Lark o' the Lake leave the job just yet, and with the object in view of keeping it going will give the first of a series of celebrations on East Fourth street next Saturday evening. They thought that the Lark in the downtown district was fine, but the East Fourth street business men could not see where they got any benefit from it; so they have adopted the much maligned bird for their own use.

The idea is that on each Saturday evening for the remainder of the summer, band concerts and parades will be given on East Fourth street. The committee in charge has worked hard to make the first concert a success and is anxious that people from other parts of the city take advantage of the concerts and parades to be given, for the having of a good time.

The Third Regiment band has been engaged, and will head the parade on Saturday evening from First avenue west to Sixth avenue east on Fourth street. This will take place between 7 and 8 o'clock, and after that the band will give a concert at Sixth avenue east, where a stand has been built, the program being continued to 11 o'clock.

IS SENT BACK TO CANADA

Immigrant Not Allowed to Land in the United States.

Robert Devard, aged 19 years, was sent back to Port Arthur yesterday because the immigration officials believed that he would become a public charge if allowed to enter this country. The closest he got to the United States was the deck of the steamer America. He had $10 and no luggage.

At first he refused to answer the questions asked by the immigration officials believing that it was "none of their blawsted business" and when he finally found that he had to answer them or return, he misrepresented the amount of money he had; and became very angry when ordered returned to Port Arthur.

GET REPORT OF ENGINEER

Eveleth Council Learns What It Will Cost to Improve Water System.

Matters Moving Favorably for Establishment of Public Market.

Eveleth, Minn., Aug. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Improvements in the present city water plant that will cost about $35,000 were contained in recommendations made to the city council last night by Edward P. Burch, a consulting engineer of Minneapolis, engaged by the city to pass on the present system and recommend changes.

Mr. Burch recommended against using a storage reservoir as the city would have to pump water therefrom to the storage tank. He also opposed the city accepting the offer of the Mesaba electric railway to furnish the electric power for pumping water from Ely lake to the tank, claiming the price is more than steam pumping would cost. He favored laying a new 12-inch force of main from St. Mary's lake to the water tank, 1,350 feet, also larger pumps to increase the pumping capacity about 30 per cent. The city accepted the report and will begin some of the changes proposed this year, but will not complete them until next year because of lack of funds.

Public Market Place Assured.

City Attorney Boyle reported that he had conferred with the Oliver Iron Mining company, the lessees, and with Murphy, Dorr and Flynn, the fee owners of the tract of land at the end of Grant avenue desired by the city for a public market and the matter is progressing so favorably the city will send someone to other cities to investigate public markets and plan to start one here. Plans were also set on foot to move the Presbyterian church off the site to which the Episcopal church was also moved. The park will be improved at once.

The park board reported expending $9,401 during the past six months on the three parks, and asked for $1,000 more to complete work under way, which was allowed. The recommendation of a committee for $1,700 for improving the quarantine hospital was adopted.

The city was asked to send a delegate to the meeting to be held in Minneapolis Aug. 21, to organize a state league of municipalities and it was practically decided to send the mayor and city clerk.

Lawrence McCann was given the contract to lay a block of cement walk on Grand avenue opposite the More hospital.

Action upon the petition presented at a previous meeting against renewing the liquor license of Theodore Oakman, once convicted of law violation, was not taken, although members of the Civil league were present in the hope something would be done. It is understood the city council attorney has not finished preparing his opinion as to the power the city has to cancel the privilege.

The committee on streets, alleys and bridges reported in favor of trying calcium chloride on the streets and if found satisfactory to use that substance in Eveleth quite generally on unpaved streets. The report was adopted.

IS FINED $100 FOR PACKING BIG KNIFE

Hibbing Man Mulcted for Carrying Weapon With Long Blade.

Hibbing, Minn., Aug. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—One of the largest fines ever given by the municipal court here was imposed upon Sam Vukich by Judge Brady because he was arrested by Officer Albertini for carrying a concealed weapon, a knife. The knife had a ten-inch blade. Vukich was disorderly before being arrested and had threatened several at the point of the knife. Judge Brady fined him $100.

Took Impounded Cow.

Because she wanted her cow, which had been placed in the Alice pound, Mrs. Peter Norma broke the lock and took the animal out. She was brought before Judge Brady and given a strong lecture as to the rights of the Alice authorities to lock all animals astray up, and after promising to refrain from interfering again her sentence was suspended.

GRAND RAPIDS WEDDING.

Chicagoan Leads Wisconsin Girl to Altar in Itasca County Seat.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Aug. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The marriage of Miss Lydia Wheelock of Stevens Point, Wis., and William Campbell of Chicago, Ill., was celebrated at high noon today at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. A. L. Thwing. Rev. E. S. Sutherland, pastor of the Presbyterian church officiating. There were no attendants, and the only guests were sixteen of the close relatives of the couple. The bride wore a shadow lace robe, and carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley. Immediately after the ceremony, a wedding dinner was served, and Mr. and Mrs. Campbell left on the afternoon train for Madison, Wis., where they will spend their honeymoon, going on from there to Chicago, where they will make their home. The bride is very well known here, having spent much of the time for the past two years, with her sister.

J. Robert Lyons and Mrs. Vola Harry, both of this village were wedded last Friday afternoon, Rev. E. S. Murphy performing the ceremony. It was kept quiet until Tuesday.

NEW MINE WORK FOR VIRGINIA

Council Gives Permission to Proceed With Columbia Open Pit.

Virginia, Minn., Aug. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The city council last night closed negotiations with the Interstate Mining company that will permit of the Columbia mine for five blocks on North Mesaba avenue and the intersecting street for two blocks on each side being opened for pit working, the city to vacate the streets and alleys for $4,000, covering the surface of about seventy city lots.

The mining company has closed a deal with the W. T. Bailey Lumber company, which also objected so the work can go ahead.

Final readings were given to ordinances regulating shows, also pertaining to fortune telling.

The Oliver Iron Mining company submitted a blue print of the property where the proposed swimming pool that will be managed by the park board will be constructed. On recommendation of C. E. Everett, probation officer, the council will have printed for posting in all stores where tobacco is sold, the law against the sale of tobacco and cigarettes to minors.

Mayor Murphy was appointed delegate to a municipal league convention at Minneapolis.

New Road to Country.

The council will direct the city engineer and the street commissioner to go ahead and finish another mile of the Wolf road which will connect the part now built within the city with that the township of Nichols has built and give a highway which will make an artery into the city and give service to 300 or more farmers in the Wolf district and further south.

Frederick Bass, director of the engineering department of the state board of health advised by mail that what is needed to improve the sewer system, to prevent back flooding in times of heavy rains is a large main sewer and a deepening of the creek from the sewer outlet to Three-mile lake, where the sewage eventually lodges. The letter was referred to the board of health.

The finance committee and the mayor were delegated to determine the value of the improvements made by the Virginia Electric Power & Water company since the appraisal by Burns & McDonnell, on which appraisal the deal for the plant was made at $490,000 plus the value of later improvements. The supreme court will pass on the injunction within a few weeks and the council wants to be ready to close the deal in case the decision is in favor of the city.

BREAKING GROUND FOR NEW LIBRARY

Work Has Started on Proposed New Building at Chisholm.

Chisholm, Minn., Aug. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Howard Winslow, who has the contract for the foundation for the new municipal library, broke ground Tuesday morning. The building will be seventy feet square and occupy the greater portion of the four lots purchased about six months ago for $8,500, after a special election. The building with heating, plumbing and electric wiring will cost $25,000 and that amount was set aside by the council last spring.

Bell, Tryle & Chapman are the architects, and they claim to have worked out a plan that will answer all needs for years to come. The site which is just across Lake street from the city hall, holds an advantage in its location in that the heating of the building can be accomplished through the city hall heating plant and a maintenance item saved in that manner. It is expected that the building can be dedicated by Dec. 1.

FIND WALSH NOT GUILTY

Former Virginia Police Head Acquitted in Municipal Court.

Alleged to Have Interferred With Police While Making Arrest.

Virginia, Minn., Aug. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Declaring that public sentiment has reached a pitch where some of the people are stark mad over factional differences, Attorney M. H. McMahon made an appeal for the forgetting of bitterness for the public good and the public welfare in municipal court here today. The impassioned address was in case preferred by Police Chief Richard Rice against Former Chief Ellis Walsh charged with resisting an officer. After Chief Rice and two other witnesses were heard, Judge Carey found the late chief not guilty and dismissed the case. The courtroom was packed to the doors by interested citizens.

Arrested Tuesday Afternoon.

Walsh was arrested yesterday afternoon on a warrant secured by Chief Richard Rice, charging the late chief with interfering with an officer in the discharge of his duties. The arrest was the aftermath of the battle royal on the street at midnight Monday. It is charged that Walsh attempted to keep Rice from requiring Nelson to submit quietly. Walsh claims he only did his duty in attempting, without using force, to keep the present chief from beating Nelson up, contending that Rice was enraged and not conscious of the pounding he was giving the man under arrest.

For his assault on Pat Sullivan, late saloonkeeper and former police chief, H. E. Bently was fined $100 and costs by Judge Carey.

GILBERT PLANS FOR FIREMEN

Tournament to Be Held There Aug. 18-20 Expected to Be Fine.

Gilbert, Minn., Aug. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Great preparations are being made for the Iron Range firemen's tournament to be held here Aug. 18, 19 and 20. The various committees all have their work well in hand and promise that the tournament will be the best ever held on the Mesaba range. Over $1,400 have already been subscribed to the fund and the cash prizes given alone will total well over $500. The first day will be given to a reception of the various departments, a business meeting and the firemen's parade to the high school auditorium where addresses will be given.

The speakers will be Mayor Barrott, J. J. Hurley, County Attorney Warren E. Greene. Governor Eberhart has promised to be present if he can possibly spare the time. Other members of the visiting departments will also be called upon. One or two races will be run that day and a baseball game will be played between the all-star team under the direction of P. J. Boyle and the Virginia & Rainy Lake team. The band will give a concert from 7 to 9 after which a special firemen's show will be given at the Lyceum theater, closing the festivities for the first day.

Races on Two Days.

The second and third days' entertainment will be devoted to the firemen's races up to 4 p. m. after which on Tuesday, the Gilbert "Outlaws" will play a game of baseball with the team from Buhl. An entertainment will be given at the high school auditorium Tuesday evening. On Wednesday after 4 p. m. the Gilbert Butchers' baseball team will play the Elba team. After the band concert a grand firemen's ball will be given in the Finnish hall as a close to the celebration.

The intention is to have all entertainments free to the visiting firemen and arrangements have been made with the local hostelries so that no meals will be sold for more than 35 cents during the tournament.

Another feature that will appeal especially to people who wish to bring their children is free restrooms at different places along Broadway which will be provided with signs indicating their use, and attendants will be in each place. The Gilbert people are not doing things by halves and wish to have the people leave with a good impression of the place.

Teams Now Entered.

The teams that have entered the association at present are Gilbert, Schley, Genoa, Elba, McKinley, Buhl, Tower, the Virginia & Rainy Lake Lumber company, Mountain Iron and Winton will probably also be present. Ex-Mayor Cosgrove will make a trip to Ely and Winton and will probably induce both teams to participate. The building of the Mesaba Electric line has made the attendance of a large crowd an assurance and the enthusiasm already worked up by the various teams participating means that all the races will be closely contested and exciting at all times.

MANY SIGN PLEDGE.

Temperance Rally in Two Harbors Church Brings Result.

Two Harbors, Minn., Aug. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The temperance meetings being held by A. C. Rankin at the M. E. church continue successful, many boys and young men coming forward and signing the pledge after hearing the speaker tell in vivid style of the evils of drink. Mr. Rankin is one of the noted temperance evangelists of the country and his meetings here are arousing much interest. The word pictures he paints of the misery and suffering in the homes of drunkards sway the audience at each meeting and result in many coming forward to sign the pledge. In his addresses he scores the saloons for encouraging Sabbath desecration and commends Mayor Towl for trying to make them obey the law. He said that the church could get along without the saloons but that the saloons could not get along without the church, and drew a startling picture of what this town and state and nation would be if there were no churches.

The youngest person to come forward was little Harriet James about 6 years old. The meetings will close next Friday evening. Rev. Mr. Pickard, pastor of the M. E. church and Rev. L. B. Sherwin, pastor of the Presbyterian church, are assisting.

Blood is Purified Quickly in Summer

Here is a Remedy that has Wonderful Action and Promotes Health.

Mingling with your food, arousing stomach action, absorbed immediately into your blood, the famous remedy known as S. S. S. has a wonderful action. Its main purpose is to stimulate cellular activity or that peculiar process which instantly changes the worn-out cells for the new red blood corpuscles.

The medicinal value of the components of S. S. S. is relatively just as vital to healthy blood as the nutriment obtained from grain, meat, fats, sugars or any other part of our daily food is to the natural reconstructive requirements of the tissues. And there is one component of S. S. S. which serves the active purpose of stimulating the cellular tissue to a healthy and judicious selection of its own essential nutriment. Thus, in cases of skin disease such as eczema, acne, herpes, tetter or psoriasis, first purify your blood with S. S. S. so it will enable the tissues to rebuild their cellular strength and regain their normal health.

You can get S. S. S. at any drug store, but take no other so-called blood purifier.

S. S. S. is purely a botanical product, and you will make a great mistake to have some enthusiast palm off a mineral preparation that may do you irreparable harm.

S. S. S. is prepared by The Swift Specific Co., 191 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., and if you have any obstinate skin trouble, write to their Medical Department for free advice. It will be worth your while to do so.

NON-UNION COPPER MINERS OFFERED WORK

Copper Country. No attempts were made by strikers to prevent men going to work last night or today. The strikers have called off most of their pickets, and there were no brushes with troops last night.

Six Hundred Deputies.

Sheriff Cruze today, acting on permission given him yesterday by the county board of supervisors, is recruiting 600 additional deputies, whom he will arm. It is anticipated he will be unable to secure the men wanted in this district, and will make a call for outside help. This looks like a first step towards the withdrawal of the state troops, for the sheriff has been authorized to secure a sufficient force to adequately guard mining and other properties. The non-union committee met again this morning with a committee of mine managers in regard to the men not sympathetic to the strike going to work, and although the Calumet & Hecla management yesterday afternoon practically told the men they would act with or without the miners and independent of the miners' wishes as to opening the mines and hiring employes, it is understood the companies will depend largely on this committee to spread the gospel of dissatisfaction among the Federation of Miners and recruit workers. "Mother" Jones will address a mass meeting this afternoon at Palestra rink.

WIVES MAY ATTEND WHITE SLAVE CASES

Diggs and Caminetti Both in Court at San Francisco.

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 6.—Maury I. Diggs, the young Sacramento architect whose elopement to Reno, Nev., with Miss Marsha Warrington in company with Drew Caminetti and Lola Norris precipitated a nation-wide scandal, sat behind his attorneys in the United States district court today in his usual faultless attire. Facing him when court opened were eleven jurymen temporarily passed yesterday. None of the defense's ten peremptory challenges had been exercised.

Of the eleven men in the jury box, seven are married and have twenty-two children between them, one is married but is not a father, and the remaining three are single men, living with their parents.

Drew Caminetti also sat with Diggs, among the attorneys conducting their defense.

No Women on Jury.

Among the scores of spectators yesterday there were only three women. It developed, after a deputy marshal had called loudly through the corridors for B. E. Donaldson and N. J. Abbott, that the two missing veniremen were women.

"It is just as well," said Judge Van Fleet. "No women would be accepted as jurors in this court."

It was rumored in court today that the wives whom Diggs and Caminetti deserted on their trip to Reno would sit beside their husbands when the taking of testimony begins.

Attorneys for both sides inquired particularly into the family life of the veniremen yesterday, the unfailing questions being, "Are you married?" "How many children have you?" "How old are they?" and "Are they boys or girls?"

BIPARTISAN RESERVE BOARD PROVIDED FOR

Revised Draft of Currency Bill Circulated at Capital.

Washington, Aug. 6.—Copies of the revised draft of the Glass currency bill, containing amendments adopted late yesterday by Democrats of the house currency committee, were in circulation about the capitol today and were the subject of careful scrutiny by friends and opponents of the president's currency reform plan.

An amendment adopted by the house committee Democrats making the Federal reserve board to a partial extent bi-partisan, by having the appointive members divided between political parties, is expected to allay somewhat opposition based on fear of "political control" of the proposed new currency system.

Antagonists of the Glass bill expect to direct their chief attack in next Monday's Democratic caucus toward securing amendments to establish an agricultural currency, secured by actual supplies of corn, wheat and cotton. Friends of the currency measure here urged that this proposed legislation be considered later, and not as a part of the general currency reform plan.

CROOKSTON SIGN STARTS TROUBLE

Its Removal By Street Commissioner Furnishes Cause for Litigation.

Crookston, Minn., Aug. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—An electric sign in front of A. C. Anderson's drug store has started litigation that will probably reach the supreme court. Attorneys Vaule & Murphy asked Judge Watts yesterday for an injunction restraining Street Commissioner Sanders from removing the sign.

The application was resisted by F. A. Grady, who acted for City Attorney Rowe, and the hearing was adjourned for one week pending the return of Mr. Rowe to the city.

As a matter of fact the sign was removed several days ago by the street commissioner, who disregarded the threats of the proprietor.

Not an Obstruction.

The contention of Mr. Anderson is that as one of the white way posts recently installed by the city, is but a few feet distant, with an electric light pole a few feet in the other direction, and located at the outer edge of the sidewalk, and that the electric sign post, an exact duplication of the white way post, is therefore not an obstruction. The street commissioner removed all sign posts from the sidewalk when the white way was installed, and Mr. Anderson had his placed early one morning after this. The feeling over the matter is very bitter.

Why should any city waste money in experimenting when by co-operation it might share the results of the experience of other cities? The time has come when it seems absolutely necessary that the cities and towns of Minnesota unite in forming an organization for the common benefit for the interchange of ideas on municipal affairs and for co-operation in obtaining needed legislation."

Several Inmates of State School Have Made Request.

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dr. A. C. Rogers, superintendent of the state school for the feeble-minded at Faribault, has asked Attorney General L. A. Smith for an opinion whether it would be illegal to sterilize inmates of the institution, provided their consent first is obtained.

The attorney general's office is preparing an opinion.

SLEEPINGEAR TAX POSTPONED A YEAR

Error By Legislature Delays Time When It Takes Effect.

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Because of an error made by the last legislature, the gross earnings tax on sleeping car companies in Minnesota will not become effective for another year, according to the opinion of W. J. Stevenson, assistant attorney general. The law passed by the last legislature provides that on Feb. 1 each year the companies shall report their gross earnings for the previous year. On this amount must be paid a 5 per cent tax.

Mr. Stevenson held that because the law does not become effective until the next year, taxes on a gross earnings basis can not be levied or collected for 1913.

EXTERMINATING HOUSE PESTS.

New York Tribune: An old-fashioned housekeeper, who can tell a great many valuable things about house cleaning, says the time to kill insects is in March. Turpentine is excellent to destroy most pests, and it is well known that formaldehyde will kill moths, carpet bugs, bed bugs, roaches and practically all house insects. If used in closets to kill moths, pour a quantity into a saucer and close the door, allowing the odor to penetrate all crevices for twenty-four hours.

The odor of cedar is as much protection against moths as is that of ill-smelling camphor balls, and is far more agreeable. If you have no cedar chest, strip off young twigs and prickles of cedar, put them into cheesecloth bags, and lay the bags among your clothing. Cedar oil sprinkled on bits of cloth tucked in corners will have the same effect. Moths do not like the odor. Another good remedy is to place in bureau drawers and other places blotting paper well saturated with turpentine. To kill moths in carpet, saturate cornmeal with gasoline, cover the carpet well with the mixture and scrub with a broom.

BANTAMS FOR CROWDED PLACES.

Farm Journal: Where space is limited a few bantams will furnish fresh eggs for the family use. They will require less room than large fowls, eat less and their eggs are large in proportion to the size of the bird. A dry goods box can be made into a coop. The scraps from the table, with a little grain, will feed them and a half-dozen hens will furnish a good supply of eggs.

DULUTH MAN TIES LEGG

R. S. Patrick Equals Course Record Set By Minneapolis Star.

Low Scores in Qualifying Round of State Golf Tournament.

Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 6.—Low scores were in evidence in the first half of the qualification play in the championship fight for the state championship golf tournament on the Interlachen course today.

From the returns early this afternoon it appeared that the qualification mark will be around 165 for the championship flight.

R. S. Patrick of Duluth played the most sensational golf of the day. He missed breaking the course record by twenty-four hours.

Yesterday Harry G. Legg trimmed the course record of 72 down to 70, and in today's play, Patrick equalled the mark set by Legg.

Wendel Hertig of Minikahda was second and high with 75. Lynn Johnson, from the same club, was 34 out, 42 in, total 76.

Legg's score today was 84.

PLAYMATE OF THE ALCOTTS

Beth's Pathetic Death Recalled By a Comrade of the Real "Little Women."

Lydia Hosmer Wood in Harper's Bazar: When my grandchildren see the tears roll down my cheeks, as I read "Little Women," they think I am just a little foolish and sentimental, because they don't understand what it meant to me to follow my own old playmates, the Alcotts, and to experience again the sorrow and the grief that came to me with the death of the dearest of them, "Beth." The children laugh and cry, too, but they don't take every word to heart as I do, because they are not living the past over again as I am, nor are they being flooded with memories of people and times long past recall. To them it is an interesting book—to me it is some of my girlhood brought back with all its sad and its merry memories.

For I was Lydia Hosmer, one of the little girls of Concord town who played beneath its famous old elms in the days when it was building the foundations for the literary shrine it has become today. My mother's house where my childhood was spent was built by Maj. Hosmer, my great grandfather, who took part in the Concord fight of 1775.

The cottage next door, where the Alcotts lived for one year and where Amy was born, was originally owned and occupied by some of the Hosmer family. It was the first of the five houses in which they lived in Concord, and the one which is described in "Little Women" as "Meg's dovecote." It has been said that they moved twenty-one times within twenty-two years, but just how much foundation there is for that statement I do not know. I do know, however, that they were very poor.

In Spite of Poverty.

In spite of poverty, theirs was one of the most hospitable households I ever knew. We always felt welcome and happy in this home which fairly radiated sweetness and wholesomeness. The house may have been scantily furnished, but it was always neat, and whatever they had was good and pretty. As the mother and girls had to do all the housework themselves (the Hannah of the March household was a myth in the Alcott home), they were always very busy about the house, but never too busy to romp and play.

Louisa, of course, was always the leader in the fun; it seems to me that she was always romping and racing down the street, usually with a hoople higher than her head. That was the best way in which she could give vent to the exuberance of her spirits, I suppose. She was continually shocking people, just as Joe does in the book, by her tomboyish, natural and independent ways. Louisa and May (Amy) were the unruly ones; Anna and Lizzie were by nature more quiet and subdued.

Whenever people have asked me what the Alcott girls really looked like, I have always said. "Quite a little like the March girls in the book," and now I add, "and like the March girls in the play." I don't remember the details of their coloring—you see, it was over sixty years ago that I used to play with them—but I think that Anna was the darkest, Louisa had the chestnut colored hair of "Jo," May was blond and Elizabeth, with light brown hair, was between these two.

Two Incidents.

Perhaps the incidents I remember best of all are Amy's birth and Beth's death. I can see Beth now running across from her house to ours on that bright sunny morning on which Amy was born, to bring me the glad tidings that a new little sister had arrived at their house I was 9 then, and Lizzie (you know her best as Beth) was about a year and a half younger.

I remember equally well the day the sad news was brought to us that that same sunny little Beth had been taken from us. I had just returned to Concord, and though I had known for some time that she was very ill, the news came as a great shock to me. When I went to the Alcott house—they were then living on Bedford street—I saw Louisa, who was almost overcome with grief. I remember so well how she said to me, "As her spirit left her body I saw it rise and floating in air, leave the room," and she said it with such firm conviction that no one could dream of doubting her.

After Beth had been laid away they found among her treasures a number of little keepsakes which she had made for her family and her friends as a last remembrance. She must have known that her end was near, because for months before she died she was always busy sewing, but she would never say what she was sewing for, and it wasn't until she was silenced forever that anyone knew. Each little thing, so perfectly made, was carefully wrapped and labeled with the name of the person to whom it was to go. For my brother Henry she had made a pen wiper of two leather disks with twelve little leaves of black taffeta between, all tied together with a cerise ribbon; for Cyrus a pinblock covered with green checked silk on one side and a purplish brown on the other; for my sister Sarah, a blue needle book lined with white silk, and for me one of purple silk with a yellow lining. These I count among my most precious possessions.

WHEAT HAS GOOD RISE

Reaction Starts But Overcome By Legitimate Conditions.

Corn Continues to Advance—Oats Off and So Is Flax.

Duluth Board of Trade, Aug. 6.—September and December options in spring wheat each gained ⅝c during this morning's session and September durum advanced ½c.

Oats fell off ¼c and corn gained 1½c. September puts, 87¼c bid; calls, 88¼@88¾c.

Bad crop reports had an effect upon the wheat market this morning that looked most peculiar to say the least. Wheat opened ⅛c off and it was supposed the liquidating that started yesterday was about to be resumed. This held for a moment or so, and then there was a recovery and later a gain. The cause of this, it is said, is not that corn again influenced the market but that as a matter of fact it is realized that the advance on the corn strength was a false one and yesterday was a drawback, but that today the natural strength of wheat has caused a rally that is more healthy than that before. There are also bad reports from the Northwest and there seems to have been some damage to the crop that is material enough to cause a mild scare and a return to legitimate levels.

The gain up to the last hour was ⅝c in both September and December options and ½c in September durum.

Quiet Day in Flax.

Flax had a very quiet session. Scarcely anything happened and the seed was very steady for the most part. There was little demand and few offers. The net conclusion of the sessions was that flax lost a fraction. September and November each lost ½c, October lost 1½c, and December dropped ⅜c.

Each year the Continental and Commercial National Bank of Chicago issues a crop report. This year the annual report is just about to come out and it is announced in advance that the following is the bank's correspondents' summary of a crop estimate for the current year:

Crop.	Bushels.
Wheat	739,730,000
Corn	2,800,000,000
Oats	1,003,266,000
Rye	36,854,000
Barley	200,527,000
Hay (tons)	66,610,000
Cotton (bales)	14,702,000

Taking the conditions by sections, following is the gist:

Eastern states—Good average yields of all grains, no damage to any particular product.

Central West—Average returns only on oats, and corn promise average; wheat exceptionally large; hay fair. Fruits short on account of dry area in the Ohio valley.

North Central states—Excellent in all crops, save lighter spring wheat yields on the western border. Corn the most flattering prospect in years; oats promising more than normal yield. Potatoes and other vegetables excellent.

Western states—Drouth conditions impaired oats yield and causing considerable damage to corn. Wheat yield above usual, exceptional results, save in the western third of Kansas and Nebraska. Potato crop badly hurt, and much under average yield indicated in the big productive region of the Kaw valley.

South Atlantic and Gulf states east of the Mississippi—Excellent crops of all kinds, cotton promise the best in years. Corn somewhat below record yields on account of the early planting having been damaged by dry weather, late planting in splendid condition.

Southwest—Very dry for some time; wheat only large crop thus far, oats good in Texas, poor elsewhere, corn suffering over the best part of the region. Cotton needing rain to maintain present condition, but not badly hurt.

Pacific coast—Poor southward on account of drouth and crops largely failure, splendid northward, and average yields of grain, with promise of good fruit yield.

Mountain states—Wheat chief commercial crop and good yields reported. On eastern slope dry farming not as successful as usual on account of light moisture during the winter. Irrigated lands giving large crops.

Northwestern states—Wheat hurt by poor start, but damage checked; oats same; excellent corn and hay crops promising record yields.

to 68⅞c, jumped to 69⅞c and then snapped back to 68⅞c.

Statements that even with plentiful rain tonight Kansas will not yield half a crop influenced prices to make another upward swing. The close was firm with September 1⅛c to 1¼@1⅜c net higher, at 70⅜c to 70⅜@70½c.

Wheat and oats reflected the course of corn. Fluctuations, however, were not so violent. September wheat started at 85¾@85⅞c to 86c, a loss of ⅛@¼c to ⅜c, rallied to 86⅝@86¾c, and sagged to 86⅛c. September oats at the outset was 41⅛c to 41⅜c, off ¼c to ⅛c, rose to 41¾c and later steadied around 41⅜c.

Wheat prices subsequently took a bullish turn, helped by reports that country sales were next to nothing. The close was steady, ¼c net higher for September, at 86⅜@86½c.

Provisions as well as grain sympathized with the changes in the price of corn and showing much irregularity. First sales were unchanged to 7½c lower with September options as follows:

Pork, $20.42½; lard, $11.40; ribs, $11.25.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Corn Trading Is Heavy, With Sentiment Divided.

Chicago, Aug. 6.—Whip-saw action of the corn market today kept traders on edge. Transactions were again on a big scale, but sentiment instead of being one-sided gave evidence of sharp division. The issue undecided was whether scattering rains of last night and others predicted today would be sufficient to make a radical change in the discouraging crop outlook. September opened ¼c to ⅝c lower at 68⅝c

ADVANCES WIPED OUT

Union Pacific Starts Higher But Loses Practically All Its Rise.

Prices Shade Off to Lowest Figures in the Final Hour.

New York, Aug. 6.—Union Pacific was the feature of today's early session, adding 2 points to yesterday's close on unconfirmed reports that a cash dividend will follow the sale of the company's Southern Pacific holdings. Other market leaders were laggards, Steel, Amalgamated and Reading making very slight improvement and soon yielding back.

The movement brought out some inconspicuous issues; Colorado and Southern first preferred and American Locomotive gaining 2 points, La Clede gas 1¾ and Western Union 1. Virginia-Carolina Chemical preferred fell 2. Profit-taking followed the rise and much of the advance was lost before noon, when the market became very dull.

Bonds were steady.

Prices manifested an irregular tendency at the opening of today's market, although most of the leading stocks were above yesterday's close. The Hill and Harriman issues as well as New York Central, Reading and Western Union showed gains ranging from fractions to a point. Lehigh Valley, Canadian Pacific, Louisville & Nashville and Amalgamated Copper registered moderate declines.

Union Pacific rose briskly in the first hour, gaining 2 points over yesterday's close on a revival of rumors of an extra dividend from the proceeds of the sale of Southern Pacific certificates. American Locomotive was the strongest specialty, also rising 2 points and Canadian Pacific made up a greater part of its loss.

Reading, Lehigh Valley, Amalgamated, Smelting and Can were all lower during the mid session, losses averaging a point. Among the specialties Texas Oil was up 2 and Pittsburg Coal preferred down 1. Dealings in this period were negligible.

Stock transactions between 1 and 2 o'clock were scarcely in excess of the first hour's business, and the market drifted idly within the narrowest limits. Such interest as was shown by traders centered almost entirely around the crop situation, concerning which there were no definite developments.

The market closed heavy. Prices shaded off to the lowest of the day in the final hour. Union Pacific lost practically all its rise and other leaders were fractionally under yesterday's close. The decline was attended by slightly more activity with some signs of bearish aggression.

DULLNESS IN THE COPPERS

Extreme dullness is the mark of the market today, and no stock has more than a "stickful" of quotations. The general tendency is toward strength, particularly in Butte & Superior and in Chino and Granby. These show an advance and a well entrenched position. Others show strength also, but Amalgamated is in decline.

INTERESTING RELICS.

Harper's Weekly: The archives of the United States treasury are rich with relics. In the treasury department may be seen the canceled check showing the payment of Lafayette in 1824 of $200,000 by the United States "in consideration for services and sacrifices in the war of the revolution." William H. Crawford, then secretary of the treasury signed the warrant, and in the characteristic French handwriting on the reverse is the indorsement of Layfette. A cancelled check or warrant for $15,000,000 represents the payment for the Louisiana purchase under the treaty of 1802. The purchase under the treaty, characterized at the time as "Seward's Folly," of Alaska is evidenced by a warrant for $7,200,000 signed by F. E. Spinner, who at the time was secretary of the treasury. The wording of the warrant begins and runs: "Pay to the undersigned envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of his majesty the emperor of all the Russias." This warrant called for payment in coin and was so paid throught the Riggers bank, then a private banking institution of Washming ton, after being indorsed by Edward de Stoeckl, the Russian minister at that time.

The purchase of the Phillipine islands from Spain is represented in the important financial transactions of the government by four warrants of $5,000,000 each. As a treaty can not be entered into by one country directly with one with which it is at war, the warrants were indorsed by Jules Cambon, the French minister, who had delegated authority to represent the Sjanish government.

The Panama canal purchase represented the largest financial transaction of the government. The payment was made by a common draft, payable to "J. Pierpont Morgan & Co., special disbursing agent," through whom it was paid to the French company, the former owner. The late J. Pierpont Morgan himself indorsed the draft. A short time previous there had been issued a warrant for $10,000,000, covering the cost of the canal zone, an area of ten miles on each side of the canal. As these canceled checks are held as receipts, it could happen, in case of their loss, that the government might not be able to show that the moneys were actually paid.

Not less interesting as relics are "Accounts: G. Washington with the United States. Commencing June, 1775, and ending June, 1782, comprehending a space of eight years." Under this caption are three or four dilapidated calf-bound account books in the handwriting of the great American patriot. These accounts were mostly kept while he was on the march, but they were brought up with great accuracy from day to day. At the end of each book there is a comprehensive recapitulation. Individual money and funds of the government expended by him are specifically indicated. In a footnote he calls attention to a particular item which he appeared to have paid, but f r which he had no voucher. He deducted the amount of the item from his credit until the matter could be definitely settled. All of his accounts are expressed in English money. A contemperaneous account book kept by Caleb Gibbs shows the personal expenses of Washington and his military "family," meaning, no doubt, his immediate staff. The entries are usually headed, "Headquarters, on the march." For the most part they cover purchases of food supplies, but now and then are such entries as:

"To cash for a broom that Peter bought some time ako, 6d."

"Cash made for mending the chariot, 1s."

"Agreed with Peggy for 4s per month for the general's washing and 4s per dozen for the gentlemen of the family."

Among other things of interest in the auditor's office are books showing allowances to members of congress to and from Washington. In the Thirteenth congress $963 for mileage is receipted in a faint, uncertain hand "D. Webster." A payment of $560 for 111 days' attendance is shown to have been made to Henry Clay.

REMEDY FOR NOSE BLEED.

Family Doctor: There are two little arteries which supply the whole face with blood, one on each side. These branch off from the main arteries on each side of the windpipe, and, running upward toward the eyes, pass over outside of the jawbone, about two-thirds of the way back from the chin to the angle of the jaw, under the ear. Now, suppose your nose bleeds by the right nostril; with the end of the forefinger along the outer edge of the right jaw until you feel the beating of the artery directly under your finger, the same as the pulse in your wrist; then press the finger hard upon it, thus getting the little fellow in a tight place between your finger and the jawbone. The result will be that not a drop of blood goes into that side of the face while the pressure continues; hence the nose instantly stops bleeding for want of blood to flow, and the ruptured vessels in the nose will probably by that time contract, so that when you let the blood into them they will not bleed. Bleeding from a cut or wound anywhere about the face may be stopped in the same way.

COURT REFUSES TO MIX IN ARMY FUSS

Denies Maj. Ray's Request for Injunction Against Garrison.

Washington, Aug. 6.—Maj. Beecher B. Ray's application for an injunction to prevent Secretary Garrison from promoting another officer in the army pay corps over his head, was denied here today by the district supreme court. Although Ray is in line of seniority, the war department, in view of disclosures before a congressional committee, asked Attorney General McReynolds if the president might nominate another man. Mr. McReynolds held that the president could. Ray appealed to the court.

In its decision today, which is looked upon as having a great importance to army and navy officers, the court held in part:

"The court recognized that someone must have some discretion in the selection of officers to be promoted or appointed to higher grade and that it would be difficult to pass a law that would operate automatically without such discretion. The personal equation is one that must be considered and personal fitness for an office should be determined by those who are responsible for the proper execution of the duties of such office. The question seems to be one for an executive or administrative officer rather than one for the courts."

CLAIM HE SOUGHT TO DODGE CREDITORS

George Blackwood Deeded Farm to Brother Before Going Into Bankruptcy.

That the deeding over of an 80-acre farm to his brother just a few days prior to his going into bankruptcy was a move on the part of George E. Blackwood to evade the creditors of his bankrupt estate and that the transfer of the property was made without any valid consideration is the claim of William Bergren, trustee in bankruptcy for Blackwood, in an action filed in district court today.

Bergren is suing John H. Blackwood, the bankrupt's brother to whom the farm was deeded. He asks the court to annul the deed of conveyance and cancel it from the records in the register of deeds office. The suit is brought on behalf of the creditors.

It is represented that George E. Blackwood owned the land for the past eleven years prior to his deeding it over to his brother, John H. Blackwood, on June 11, last. The deed was filed with the register of deeds on June 21. Four days later, George E. Blackwood was declared a bankrupt in the United States district court.

It is claimed that the transfers of the property was made in anticipation of the bankruptcy proceedings. Courtney & Courtney are attorneys for the trustee in bankruptcy. The farm is described as the east half of the northeast quarter of section 11, 50-20.

REVENUE MEN AND MOONSHINERS FIGHT

One Defender of Still Is Killed and Brother Fatally Wounded.

Lexington, Ky., Aug. 6.—With the arrival here today of Sherman Lewis, deputy United States marshal, news of a battle yesterday between revenue men and moonshiners became known. The fight took place in the mountains of Morgan county, and Morgan Kidd was killed and his brother, John Kidd, was fatally injured. Both were defending an illicit still.

Lewis was shot through the shoulder and is in a serious condition. The still was destroyed.

RURAL SCHOOLS GROW.

Increase in Beltrami County Population Shown in Census.

Bemidji, Minn., Aug. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Reports received at the office of W. B. Stewart, county superintendent of schools, show that during the past year there has been an increase in the rural school attendance in Beltrami county of 240 pupils.

Nearly all of these pupils are children of settlers who have come here from Southern Minnesota, Iowa, Illinois, Missouri and other states.

At Washkish, near the Red lakes, there is a colony of more than fifty families known as the "Show me" brigade, all having come from Missouri.

FAIR SITE TO BE LEASED

County Will Give Agricultural Society Possession of Hibbing Grounds.

Annual Appropriation to Be Made for State Fair Exhibit.

J. J. Cox and R. L. Giffin, both of Hibbing, president and secretary of the St. Louis County Agricultural society, are in the city today conferring with county officials on the proposition of securing a lease of the newly-acquired county fair site at Hibbing for the agricultural society, which has for a number of years been conducting the annual county exhibitions.

At the meeting of the county board this afternoon, formal ratification of a lease running from St. Louis county to the agricultural society will be made. The lease involves only a nominal consideration as yearly rental. Provision, however, is made for paying over to the county the sum of $3,000 to apply on the purchase price of the land. The fair ground site was acquired for $8,000. The county under a recent enactment of the legislature is authorized to spend but $5,000 for this purpose. Before the land was acquired it was agreed that the agricultural society pay the balance.

Under the terms of the lease, the society is bound to maintain the buildings which are on the property and to conduct a county fair annually. The fair must extend over a period of three days at the least.

Annual Appropriation.

Today the board will make its usual annual appropriation of $580 for state fair purposes. The resolution embodying the appropriation provides that the money shall be intrusted to A. B. Hostetter, superintendent of the Northeastern Minnesota agricultural district, and expended in accordance with his best judgment in maintaining a county exhibit at the fair.

Secretary Giffin of the agricultural society is firm in the belief that the county fair at Hibbing this year will be one of the best in Minnesota if not in the country. The fair will be held for four days, Aug. 28, 29, 30 and 31. Saturday, Aug. 30, will be Duluth day at the fair and special attractions have been arranged, according to Mr. Giffin.

The evening entertainments will be featured this year by moving pictures of farming methods in St. Louis county, including demonstrations of stump pulling, road making, etc. The racing card, says Mr. Giffin, will be a great one. A number of handsome premium catalogues are now being distributed.

That Isle Royale may take its place among the foremost summer resorts of the country, Earl Neutson of Park Place, Rock Harbor, Isle Royale, has interested officials of the Booth fisheries in a movement for better advertising and better boat service for the island.

Mr. Neutson returned from Chicago today where he was in conference with the Booth officials. The latter said they would make a trip to the island within a few days and make suggestions on a probable advertising campaign and look into the advisability of giving better boat service.

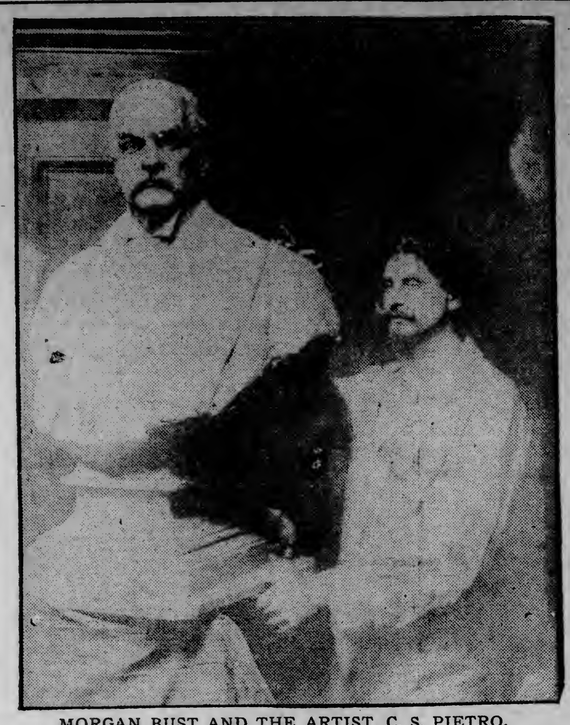
IN MEMORY OF THE GREAT FINANCIER



MORGAN BUST AND THE ARTIST, C. S. PIETRO.

C. S. Pietro has done an excellent bust of the late J. P. Morgan for the Italian town of Ascoli Piceno, to which Mr. Morgan returned a stolen cope of great antiquity and value which he had bought as a collector after it had passed through various hands. So pleased was the Morgan family with the bust that it commissioned Mr. Pietro to do two replicas, which will be placed, one in Mr. Morgan's office and the other in the Morgan library.

RAILROAD NEWS

EVERYTHING INCLUDED

Railroads Will Make Physical Valuation as Complete as Possible.

Northwestern Roads to Check Up on Government Figures.

ARTICLES THAT FIGURE IN RAILROAD VALUATION.

Pens, pins, pencils, pen points.
Books, blotters, barrels, boxes.
Tacks, rivets, nails, bolts.
Nuts, screws, staples, brads.
The little checks the conductor punts in your hat.
The little slip you throw away after your ride in the chair car.
The dining car menu and the order blanks.
The envelope the ticket seller puts your two-yard ticket in when you go to the Coast.
The punch the conductor uses and the cash fare receipt slips.
These and many other things that cost thousands of dollars when used in large quantities.

The railroads of the Northwest intend to "beat the United States government to it" when it comes to a physical valuation of the railway properties in the Union.

The Great Northern, Northern Pacific, Milwaukee, Soo, Omaha, Minneapolis & St. Louis, Rock Island, Burlington and Great Western roads will begin the work as soon as they can get valuation departments organized.

An inventory of this kind has never been taken before by these roads and it will be a big undertaking. The government, at a probable cost of $15,000,000, over a period of probably ten years, is going to estimate the value of the 245,000 miles of railroad in the United States. But the railroads in the Northwest are going to do it first.

Legal heads of the railroads have been discussing the matter in Minneapolis and St. Paul for several days. It was pointed out that after the government had completed its work and had reported the valuation of the roads, any road that thought its valuation too low would have thirty days in which to file objections. Unless the roads are prepared to come forth with their own figures they will be in a bad way, say the law sharps.

So the railroads in this part of the country are taking no chances. They will have a basis to make a protest on if they think the government figures are unjust.

In making a valuation of the property of the roads everything will be counted. Every rail and spike, every car and wheel, and every pencil and pen in every office will be counted as well as the bridges, cuts, fills, roundhouses, etc. It will be an undertaking that will keep "several persons busy for some time."

GRAND TRUNK SOON INTO NORTH DAKOTA.

Bowbells, N. D., Aug. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Grand Trunk trains will soon be running into North Dakota. The Great Northern completed its line from Niobe to the International line some time ago. The Grand Trunk, coming from the other direction, is now within five miles of the international line and will reach New Gate, the new town on the boundary, Aug. 10. It is claimed that within two weeks a train service will be inaugurated. The Great Northern has completed its interlocking system of switches at this point.

First Minnesota Pellagra Case.

Rochester, Minn., Aug. 6.—The first case of pellagra in the history of the state has been discovered here, according to members of the state board of health, who were here Tuesday to conduct an investigation. The patient is a resident of Rochester.

SAFETY WORK IS SPREADING

Railroads Organizing to Prevent Accidents in Systematic Manner.

Latest Order Is Directed Against High Loading of Logging Cars.

High loading of lumber and log cars has been forbidden by officials of the Canadian Northern railroad on its lines. In a bulletin to the shippers and trainmen the following order is given:

"To check the growing and dangerous tendency to increase loading heights of logs and lumber this will advise that the extreme height of load permitted will be fifteen feet above the top of the rail. Stakes may be extended two feet higher. Agents and conductors will refuse to accept loads not in conformity with these rules."

This is one more move for "safety first" on railroads. The Canadian Northern has a regular weekly "safety" class in Virginia, at which employes of the road are instructed in the best rules of railroading.

Other roads running into Duluth are drilling the safety idea into their employes and the public as well. The Soo Line has the safety slogan printed across its stationery in red outline type, where it is always a constant reminder.

The Northern Pacific, Great Northern, Missaba, Iron Range and all the other roads entering Duluth also are constantly watching for dangers that can be eliminated. Cars are being kept in first-class shape and the trainmen are asked to report on any defective equipment. Then if there is an accident the trainmen will not be to blame.

"Safety First."

Railroads are organizing departments for "safety first" work along the lines presented by the committee on transportation to the American Railway association. The outline of the committee's plan of organization is as follows:

"Central Safety First Committee—A committee to be known as the central safety first committee should be organized, to be composed of the general and division officers of the road, chosen in such a manner that all the different departments of service shall be represented on that committee. This committee shall have general supervision of the safety first organization and the final decision of all matters, where the same are beyond the authority of the division or shop officials.

"Division Safety First Committees—On each division shall be formed a subsidiary committee, known as the division safety first committee, which shall be composed of the division officers, one of whom shall act as chairman, and one or more representatives of each of the different classes of labor on that division.

"Shop Safety First Committee—In all shops shop safety first committees shall be formed, composed of the principal officers of the shop, and one or more representatives, according to the number employed, of every class of labor working at the shop. Where the shop is under the jurisdiction of the division superintendent the shop safety first committee shall report direct to the central safety first committee.

"Terminal Safety First Committees—In all large terminals a terminal safety first committee shall be formed, which shall be composed of the officers in charge of that terminal and a representative of every class of labor employed at the terminal and in the yards, including track, car and station men. Where a terminal is under the jurisdiction of the division superintendent this terminal safety first committee will report to the division safety first committee, but where a terminal is not under the jurisdiction of the division superintendent this committee shall report direct to the central safety first committee.

"Meetings—All safety first committees, including the central safety first committee, shall meet once a month, and a report of the minutes of each subsidiary committee shall be forwarded immediately after each meeting to the central safety first committee.

"Term of Service of Members — The principal officers of the division, shop and terminal committees shall hold their positions on the committees permanently, but the employe members shall be rotated a few at a time in order that eventually all employes may serve on the committee and become familiar with the work of the safety first organization. No employe member shall serve longer than one year.

"Payment of Committeemen — The employe members of the various committees attending the meeting shall be paid their regular wages and such expenses as they necessarily incur in coming to and from a regular committee meeting.

"Co-operation and Discipline — The safety first organization should invite the fullest and freest co-operation of every employe in calling to the attention of the various committees practices and conditions which operate against safety, but no information communicated direct by any one to these safety first committees should ever be used as a basis of disciplinary action.

"Safety First Officer—Every road employing a sufficient number of men to justify the expenditure should employ at least one man who shall be a member of the central safety first committee, and whose sole duty it shall be to attend to the business of the safety first organization, compile statistics of accidents, attend as many of the subsidiary committee meetings as is possible, issue bulletins and keep the interest in the organization alive among the employes."

ARCTIC EXPLORERS IN MORE MISFORTUNE

Relief Ship Sent to Schroeder-Stranz Is Reported Sunk.

Christiania, Norway, Aug. 6.—A further mishap in connection with the ill-fated Schroeder-Stranz Arctic expedition was reported in a telegram today. The message told of the sinking of the relief ship Loevenskiold, which set out in search of Lieut. Schroeder-Stranz and his party, many of whom disappeared in Spitzbergen and some of whom are known to have perished.

The relief expedition was commanded by Capt. Lerner and comprised five German explorers and a crew of eight sailors. They reached land safely and are continuing their search in the ship's small boats and on sleds. They have thus far found no traces of the missing explorer or his companions.

Capt. Staxrud, the Norwegian leader of a second relief expedition, sent a wireless dispatch to the foreign office yesterday also reporting he had found no tract of Schoreder-Stranz in Northeast Land.

Lieut. Schroeder-Stranz with three companions, left the other members of his party last year to make a practice trip on sleds across Northeast Land and they have not been heard of since. The object of the expedition was to try to discover a northeast passage.

GOT THEIR COIN BACK.

But Method Chosen Is Expensive for Gully, Minn., Pair.

Crookston, Minn., Aug. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Telef Haugon and Knute Knutson of Gully, Polk county, choose a poor method of getting back the money they paid for beer as they learned when arraigned before Judge Gossman here yesterday on a blind pigging charge. They were fined $50 and costs each, amounting to $76.16 each, and were given the alternative of thirty days in jail. They expect to raise the money.

The young men claimed that four of them agreed to order a shipment of beer for their own use. After the order had been sent in, two of the fellows backed out, and Haugon and Knutson claimed they sold seventy-six bottles, which was the share of the two fellows who backed out, and they wanted to get their money back. They got it—by paying $2 per bottle in addition to paying the brewery.

Ed Reopelle, arrested for assault and battery was fined $5, which he paid.

Archie Grant, one of the actors in the Alabama Minstrels, was arrested on a drunk and disorderly charge, and fined $5 and costs. He was released when the fine was paid.

Frank Zlever was arrested on a charge of drunkenness, and was given twenty days in the county jail.

LIPPITT OPPOSES COTTON SCHEDULES

Says South Is Favored in the Underwood-Simmons Bill.

Washington, Aug. 6.—Attacking the cotton schedule of the tariff bill in the senate today, Senator Lippitt of Rhode Island declared it discriminated against the luxuries of the New England mills in favor of Southern-made necessities.

"It is a bill made by Southerners," said he. "I do believe that in the consideration of these schedules the gentlemen of the South have had the ear of the committee, and the result is shown in this bill with the products of the South protected. I do not in the least object to that, but I also think they should at least have been willing to give consideration to the luxuries of the cotton trade, even if they are made in New England.

"The rates are out of balance. They are just the capricious and haphazard result of a desire to do something and in the shuffle cotton got the worst of it, very much the worse than was meant or understood."

Senator Lippitt proposed as a substitute for the cotton schedule the rates of the Dingley bill less 20 per cent, which would leave the average duties of 30.4 per cent as against the rates in the pending bill, ranging from 7½ to 30 per cent.

SHOSHONE, WYO., IS FLOODED BY RAIN

Water Two Feet Deep Runs Down the Main Street.

Shoshone, Wyo., Aug. 6.—A cloudburst early today above this city sent a flood of water through the streets and did much damage to property. Two houses were completely destroyed by lightning, but no loss of life occurred. Every cellar in the city was flooded and at once time two feet of water was running in the main street. Two railroad bridges were carried away.

RICH MANUFACTURER COMMITS SUICIDE

Addison R. Wright Shoots Himself at Norristown, Pa.

Philadelphia, Aug. 6.—Addison R. Wright, member of a shoe manufacturing firm, killed himself in a railroad station at Norristown, Pa., today by shooting himself through the head. Mr. Wright was 60 years old and wealthy. He had recently returned from a trip around the world with his wife.

DIVES INTO RIVER.

St. Cloud Assistant City Engineer Gives Crowd Thriller.

St. Cloud, Minn., Aug. 6.—John Roth, assistant engineer, startled a crowd Monday evening when he dived from an iron girder, about seventy feet high, on the railroad bridge, into the Mississippi river, where the water is about twenty-five feet deep.

Roth was on the bridge, standing on an iron beam, which was so high that it enabled the young man to steady himself by holding onto the ties.

The distance was nearly seventy feet, according to the opinions of several people who were present when the young man performed the daring feat.

The dive certainly was a sensational one and it is said that Roth is the first man in the city to have the nerve to make the plunge.

AITKIN MAY GET ROAD.

Reported at Brainerd Minnesota Central May Change Terminus.

Brainerd, Minn., Aug. 6.—It is currently reported that if the city council does not grant the Minnesota Central railway the franchise it is seeking to build an electric line from this city to Cuyuna range points, Aitkin may be made the terminus of the Cuyuna range interurban system. President Reid, of the company, Joseph Ferrier, vice president of the company, next week will tour Aitkin county and the Cuyuna iron range from Deerwood to Riverton in an automobile and will ascertain sentiment relative to franchises and right-of-way from Riverton to Deerwood and thence to Aitkin.

It is reported on apparently good authority that the Minnesota Central Railway company is completing plans to make Aitkin the starting point of its electric lines in case it fails to secure a franchise here.

AUTO IS BRINGING COMMUNITIES TOGETHER

Grand Forks, N. D., Aug. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The automobile as a means of bringing cities into closer touch with each other is being employed very effectively by a number of North Dakota cities with remarkable results. To the Grand Forks Commercial club belongs the credit of launching the movement when it made so-called "fellowship" tours into Traill and Walsh counties, since which time other cities have taken up the plan.

Inkster, Park River and Larimore Commercial clubs have made auto trips to Grand Forks; the Bottineau Commercial club used the automobile as a means of exploiting its fair, while Edinburg and Willow City, in advertising local celebrations, conducted automobile tours.

Dr. Daneff Not Arrested.

Sofia, Bulgaria, Aug. 6.—There is no foundation for the reports published abroad of the arrest of Dr. S. Daneff, former Bulgarian premier, at the instance of the Bulgarian government.

Eagles Will Change Bylaws.

Baltimore, Md., Aug. 6.—Consideration of proposed changes in the by-laws consumed the greater part of today's meeting of the fifteenth annual convention of the Fraternal Order of Eagles in session here. Later in the day the delegates were given a steamboat excursion on Chesapeake bay.

ARMY OF 5000 WORKMEN

QUICKLY DELIVER MESSAGE INTO OVER 25,000 HOMES!

When a merchant places an advertisement in The Duluth Herald he immediately sets in motion an organization of over 5,000 skilled workmen. Printers, stereotypers, pressmen, carriers, newsboys, street car men, clerical help, mailing clerks, postmasters, trainmen, agents and hundreds of others take up the work as rapidly as if they were in the individual employ of that merchant himself.

The services of this entire gigantic human machinery can be put into motion at a moment's notice for a nominal sum, and without effort on the merchant's part.

This system of distribution enables the merchant in a few hours' time to send an announcement to an average of over 25,000 thrifty, enterprising homes that take a live interest in what he has to say.

No other means of communication as yet devised by man is at once so economical, so efficient or so speedy as this great modern method for reaching the people.

COPPER MINE MANAGERS TURN DOWN PROPOSALS OF NON-UNION MEN---FEDERATION STRONGER

Requests Do Not Include Recognition—New Terms Asked.

Troops Will Begin to Leave Copper Country Next Week.

Two Attempts at Dynamiting Are Foiled—Gompers to Meet Ferris.

Calumet, Mich., Aug. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—As a result of the non-union men's committee's failure to gain any concessions from the Calumet & Hecla management, their failure being reported to a meeting of 1,000 anti-strike men in a mass meeting this morning, there are large accessions today to the ranks of the federation of miners, while the position of the operators is weakened. It means the prolonging of the strike at the very least, for now practically every man in the district is with the federation in its stand for an eight-hour day, a minimum wage of $3 and better working conditions.

The committee asked the Calumet & Hecla for everything asked by the federation before the calling of the strike, excepting union recognition, and the company refused to grant a single demand.

The military board met this morning to plan the removal of the troops. Probably the evacuation of the district will start the first of next week, but the whole force will not be taken away, because of fresh activities of strikers.

Non-union Demands.

The non-union men asked an eight-hour day, a minimum wage scale of $3 to $3.50, double time for Sunday work, and employment of boys over 16, although the state law will not permit employment of boys under 18. A movement, however, is on foot to secure legislation which will permit the securing of employment for boys of 16 or over through application to the

BIG AMOUNTS FOR BUILDING

Loan Association's Assets Grow $100,000,000 Annually.

Receipts for Year 1912 Are Reported at $779,-479,200.

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 7.—The assets of the building and loan associations of the United States are now growing at the rate of a little over $100,000 annually, according to the report of H. F. Cellarius of Cincinnati, secretary of the United States League of Local Building and Loan Associations, presented at the twenty-fifth annual convention of that body in Milwaukee today.

The report further states that there are now in the United States 6,279 associations, with a total membership of 2,518,442 and having assets amounting to $1,136,949,465. The total resources increased $106,262,434, or a little over 10 per cent, for the year, and the membership increased 185,613, or a little less than 8 per cent, during the same period. The average amount due each member is $451.45, an increase of $9.64 per member for the year.

Year's Receipts $779,479,200.

The receipts for the year 1912 aggregated $779,479,200, an increase over the previous year of $71,294,068, or 10.6 per cent. The weekly dues increased $28,461,854 or 12.1 per cent; paid up stock $2,657,922, being 11.2 per cent; deposits, $3,832,888, being 5.8 per cent; interest, $5,824,868, being 9.5 per cent.

Premium receipts were $169,258 less than in 1911. The mortgage loans made last year were $15,880,888 in excess of those of the previous year, or 5.6 per cent; stock withdrawals increased $21,371,168, or 10.9 per cent; paid up stock withdrawals were $5,015,546 more than in 1911, being an increase of 26.3 per cent, while deposits increased $4,490,544, or 7.8 per cent.

The ratio of expenses to receipts was a fraction under 1 per cent.

Extracts from the annual reports of various state supervisors show a generally healthy condition.

ENGLISH-AMERICAN AVIATOR IS KILLED

MULHALL WAS MONEY RAISER

Emery Says Colonel Got Over Half Million Together.

Tells Senators Fund Was "for Legislative Work."

Washington, Aug. 7.—James A. Emery, principal Washington representative of the National Association of Manufacturers, continued today to tell the senate lobby committee of the steps that led to the formation in 1908 of the Council of Industrial Defense.

"A collector" for the organization, Martin M. Mulhall, he testified, raised between $500,000 and $700,000 for "legislative work."

Senator Reed tried to get Emery to testify that the council had its origin at a convention of the manufacturers in 1907 when James W. Van Cleave appealed for a fund of $500,000 for three years. The witness denied that the $500,000 fund was raised.

Emery testified his duties in Washington were not secret, but that he obtained and analyzed bills in con-

QUEER RECORD OF FAMILY REPORTED

One Survivor Left of Missourian Who Took Much to Twins.

Washington, Aug. 7.—What is regarded by the pension bureau as the history of one of the most remarkable families ever coming beneath its notice was contained in a letter received from Dr. William Warren of St. Joseph, Mo. Dr. Warren wrote:

"I do not know whether there was a family record of the births of all my father's children, of whom there were twenty-five in all, by three wives, who were sisters and of whom the first two wives were twins and the third wife also was one of twins.

"My mother had triplets, three boys, of whom I was one. She had no other children. All the other wives' children were twins. By all of the three wives there were thirteen boys, all of whom were soldiers. All of the twenty-five children are dead but myself."

The veteran is 76 years old. He will get an increase in pension.

MYSTERIOUS MURDER IN CHICAGO BEDROOM

One Man, Supposed Dead, "Revives" and Can Show No Wound.

Chicago, Aug. 7. — A mysterious shooting in a West side rooming house today resulted in the murder of one man, the probably fatal wounding of another and the arrest of a score of occupants of the building. Dio C. Moreno, 22 years old, is being held by the police in connection with the murder of Anthony Pucco, 20 years old, and the wounding of David Cozza, 26 years old.

Pucco, Cozza and Moreno occupied one bedroom. When the police arrived they found Pucco dead in bed, Cozza lying unconscious on the floor near the door, and Moreno on the floor between two beds. At first the police believed he also was a victim of the shooting. Investigation failed to disclose any wounds, and after vigorous prodding Moreno "revived." The police said he feigned death. A revolver with all the cartridges discharged was found in a clothes press, and Moreno later admitted ownership of the weapon.

AVIATOR CODY IN FATAL FALL

Former American Cowboy Is Victim of Aeroplane.

Is Dashed to Death With Companion on British Field.

London, Aug. 7.—Col. F. S. Cody, the famous Anglo-American aviator, was killed in an aeroplane accident at Aldershot today. With him was a passenger of the name of Evans, who was also killed.

Cody's neck was broken in the fall. His sons, Leon and Frank, were eye witnesses of the accident, which was attributed by experts to faulty construction, the body of the craft proving too heavy for the wings.

Cody was trying out a new aeroplane when he met his death. They were flying over the open country, most of which is government land, in the Aldershot district, and had just reached the government house when their aeroplane began traveling badly, and finally fell with a crash to the ground. Several officials rushed to the spot and found the bodies of Cody and Evans lying beneath the aeroplane.

The aeroplane was flying between 200 and 300 feet up when it fell. Members of the Royal flying corps removed the bodies to the military mortuary and an inquest is to be held tomorrow.

Cody was the most interesting figure in aviation in the British isles. He was a real soldier of fortune, with a very varied career behind him. He was well known to the public in Engand, and very popular. He wore a sombrero, a long mustache, an imperial and

BULLETS FLY IN THE PERSIAN CAPITAL

Bakhtiaris and National Authorities Having Fierce Fight.

Teheran, Persia, Aug. 7.—Fighting has been in progress in the streets of the Persian capital since midnight, when the smouldering feud between the Bakhtiaris clansmen and the national authorities burst into flames.

Firing is going on in the main street of the city, where the foreign legations are situated. In other districts also there have been numerous conflicts between the military police and the Bakhtiaris, armed bodies of whom patrol the streets.

The Bakhtiaris are a nomadic, semi-independent people who inhabit western Persia, near the Turkish frontier. They are allied to the Kurds. The clansmen were a potent factor in the last revolution, causing great trouble to the government.

ORE SHIPPING IS HALTED; CITY CONDEMNS THE I. W. W.

AGITATORS WILL NOT BE TOLERATED

Commissioners Adopt Resolution Condemning Presence of Agitators.

Squad of Police at Station Ready for Any Emergency.

All Meetings Must Be Reported and Officers Allowed to Attend.

Branding the Industrial Workers of the World as inciters of riots and violence and a menace to lives and property, Duluth's city commission at an informal meeting this afternoon passed a resolution calling upon Commissioner W. A. Hicken to take all steps necessary to preserve peace and order.

The commissioner was further directed to cause the arrest and prosecution of any person coming to the city to incite riots or encourage violence or unlawfully interfere with business or property.

The resolution directs that all public meetings shall be reported to the commissioner during the strike, and that all such meetings shall be attended by sufficient policemen to cause the arrest of anyone uttering words or acting in any manner calculated to incite violence or riot.

The commissioners were in session at the office of Mayor W. I. Prince most of the forenoon considering the aspects of the strike which has broken out at the Missabe ore docks.

The unanimous opinion was that the city officials would leave no stone un-

ST. PAUL'S DAYLIGHT BURGLAR IS CAUGHT

Exciting Chase and Revolver Duel Led By George McNamara.

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—After an exciting chase through Midway district, during which revolver shots were exchanged, police last night arrested George McNamara, who entered more than a score of houses here during the last two weeks. McNamara, who committed all the robberies in the daytime, made a complete confession. The police recovered some of the stolen articles.

NO ROOM IN DULUTH FOR I. W. W. AGITATORS

There is no room in Duluth for agitators of the I. W. W. tribe. No honest reputable labor organization will have any affiliation with the I. W. W. crowd, which respects neither contracts nor law. It has been found necessary in other places to deport the I. W. W. agitators. Duluth people may find it necessary to take similar steps to rid the city of their presence, unless they take the hint and get out.

The strike at the Missabe ore docks was caused solely by the I. W. W. agitators who induced the men to break the contracts they signed at the beginning of the season—contracts which provided good wages during the summer, increased wages in October and November, and with which wages and other conditions the men were satisfied.

Having violated their agreements, the dockmen must take the consequences of their folly. They have still a chance to return to work under the old contracts. If they decline to do so, their places will be filled by others. St. Louis county's chief industry cannot be throttled by agitators.

WHAT WILL HAPPEN IF MEXICO SNUBS LIND?

GOVERNORS AFRAID TO LEAVE STATES

Cruce and Cox Cancel Dates to Speak at Madison.

Madison, Wis., Aug. 7.—Governor Lee Cruce of Oklahoma has cancelled his engagement to address the governor's conference on "A State Department of Economy and Efficiency," at the sixth annual meeting to be held at Colorado Springs, Aug. 26-31. Notice to this effect has been received by Miles C. Riley of this city, secretary of the conference. Governor Cruce wrote that, judging from past experiences, he had reason to fear his absence from the state would give the lieutenant-governor opportunity to perform gubernatorial acts contrary to the chief executive policy.

Governor James M. Cox of Ohio offered similar reasons, stating that because of referendums on several progressive measures which are sought to be overturned, he will stay at home to discuss them before the people.

A committee sent to Europe by the Southern Commercial congress to study the problem of rural credit will report to the committee of the governors' conference upon its work. United States Senator Duncan U. Fletcher of Florida probably will address the conference on that subject.

Sugar Prices Raised.

New York, Aug. 7.—All grades of refined sugar were advanced 10 cents a hundred pounds today.

Washington Gossip Suggests "Recognition" of Rebel Faction.

Minnesotan Will Reach Mexican Capital on Saturday.

Washington, Aug. 7.—President Wilson and Secretary of State Bryan do not believe there will be any "snubbing" of John Lind by the Mexicans. They do not think it at all likely that the Huerta faction in that country will feel its dignity damaged when the special emissary of the president has stated his mission. But if there really is any trouble—

Right there is where the secretary and the White House officials declined to say anything more. It is generally regarded, however, that there are two courses open to the Washington government in such a contingency. One is the removal absolutely of the embargo on the shipment of arms and ammunition into Mexico from this country. That would mean that the two factions are to be supplied with all the implements of killing they are able to buy, and will be allowed to go at each other as long as they do not interfere with the property or lives of foreigners.

Might Recognize Rebels.

The other course is that of recognition of the revolutionary party as the real force in the Mexican government.

Secretary Bryan declared he had not received the Huerta government's declaration, said in last night's newspaper dispatches to have been forwarded to Washington as well as to Europe. Mr. Bryan explained that a message he sent yesterday to Charge O'Shaughnessy instructing him to advise Huerta to await the coming of Envoy Lind instead of proceeding on colored reports

TRAIN HITS AUTO; EDUCATOR KILLED

John W. Campbell of Chicago Dead—Companion Badly Hurt.

Chicago, Aug. 7.—John W. Campbell, head of the Windsor Park Academy for Boys, 7750 Bond avenue, was instantly killed today, one man was hurt seriously and two others narrowly escaped injury when an Illinois Central railroad freight train struck Campbell's automobile in Melrose park, a suburb. The injured man is Harry Goldman, 28 years old. He was taken to a hospital and may die.

THE DAY IN CONGRESS

SENATE.

Met at noon.

Report from Attorney General McReynolds was read denying that department of justice maintained espionage system over Federal courts.

Senator Borah, speaking on report, flatly charged agents of the department of justice had investigated Federal judges to influence action; Senator Norris indorsing his views in part.

General debate on tariff bill was resumed with Senator Warren attacking agricultural schedule.

James Emery of National Association of Manufacturers, told lobby investigating committee of formation of National Council for Industrial Defense.

Senator Owen introduced a bill to authorize the treasury to buy outstanding government 2 per cent bonds at par and interest.

Senator Pearose introduced amendment to tariff bill to prevent foreign countries from "dumping" surplus goods in the United States at low rates.

ULTIMATUM IS PUT OUT BY COMPANY

President W. A. McGonagle Defines Position of the Railroad.

Says Docks Will Be Operated Regardless of Strikers' Course.

Little, Chief I. W. W. Agitator, Disappears and Cannon Leads.

Ore movement from the mines as well as from the docks completely tied up.

Strikers' demands not yet submitted to the company, but they will not be met when submitted.

Few men working at the Duluth, Missabe & Northern docks, but no ore is being shipped.

F. H. Little, chief organizer of Industrial Workers of the World, reported missing by members of organization.

City commissioners adopt resolution of hostility to I. W. W.

Precautions taken by Commissioner of Public Safety W. A. Hicken and Chief C. H. Troyer to prevent violence and disorder.

President W. A. McGonagle of the Duluth, Missabe & Northern offers work to all men who want to return, but declares that docks will be operated, regardless of strike.

James P. Cannon, I. W. W. agitator, is chairman of meeting of strikers.

Vessel managers say that if strike is long continued crews will have to be disbanded and ships laid up.

The Duluth, Missabe & Northern Railroad company will not submit to the demands formulated and adopted by the striking ore dock employes at the suggestion of I. W. W. agitators.

W. A. McGonagle, president of the company, issued his ultimatum this morning. The loyal men may return to work or not, but the docks will be operated. A few men are at work today. Although no boats are being loaded company officials say they expect fifty men to be at work by tonight.

"We are going to give our loyal men a chance to return and carry out their part of the contract made with us when they went to work and if they won't do that we will get other men to take their places," was the statement this morning of Mr. McGonagle. "We are going to operate the ore docks."

The I. W. W. agitators are active. They are working with the men urging them to stand firm. They are leading the strike at the Allouez docks at Superior. They have made several unsuccessful attempts to get the men at Two Harbors to strike. They openly boast that they are intent on tying up ore shipping from every dock at the Head of the Lakes.

Last night the night crew followed the example of their fellow workers and walked out.

An I. W. W. worker harangued the laborers on the Two Harbors docks last night without success. The men there told the speaker they did not want to listen to him, that they were satisfied with their work and pay and that they wanted to be let alone. An-

YOUTH MURDERED IN ST. PAUL STREET

Dead Man May Be Fred K. Vanne of Lead, S. D.

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Police are endeavoring to solve the mystery surrounding the murder of a young man, supposed to be Fred K. Vanne of Lead, S. D., whose body was found early today with three bullet wounds in it. The body was lying on a street corner in lower town. Robbery is believed to have been the motive for the crime.

KEEP UP HUNT FOR SULZER'S FINANCES

Legislative Committee Trying to Trace Campaign Fund.

New York, Aug. 7.—Contributions to William Sulzer's campaign fund while he was a candidate for governor of New York were the subject of further inquiry today at the hands of the joint legislative investigating committee. Having yesterday carried the war into Wall Street, in an endeavor to show that the governor had used funds unaccounted for in his sworn statement in stock speculation, counsel for the committee, it was expected, would continue this line of questioning today. No list of witnesses to be called was given out prior to the convening of the committee.

Efforts to elicit from stockbrokers yesterday admissions that a mysterious "account No. 500" was William Sulzer's were met with refusals to answer. The committee directed such recalcitrant witnesses to remain under subpoena, and indications were that steps would be taken to force them to testify.

A YOUNG MAN'S FEELINGS THE VERY FIRST TIME HE EVER CARRIED A CANE.

—From the Chicago Evening Post.

GERMAN "COMEDIAN" CAN'T SEE THE JOKE

Hibbing Man, Who Was Deported, Wants Uncle Sam to Right the Wrong.

Max Moss Jessner, composer of "The Banana Peel Slide" and other "well-known" operas—the young German genius who, in his own estimation, created a sensation and gained such favor with his original interpretations of his own "song hits" that the immigration authorities sent him abroad—has just discovered that he is the victim of a cruel hoax.

With an air of injured dignity and wounded pride, he has written from Berlin, Germany, to Brown McDonald, immigration inspector, of this city, who secured an order for his deportation. Jessner, writing in a fine German hand, suggests that in view of the fact that he has been "fraudulently" debarred from the country, the least that the United States government might do to right the wrong would be to send him a prepaid ticket from Berlin to Duluth.

He requests the immigration inspector to inform the imperial German consul at New York city that he is coming back, and to forward him the necessary permission with the ticket. Jessner insists on returning in order that he may be able to fill several important engagements for which he has been booked in the leading theaters of the country.

Visions of Greatness.

Jessner was deported from Duluth in April on the grounds of insanity. His particular hallucination was that he was a renowned song writer and vaudeville performer. He spent most of his time writing operas. He was brought to Duluth from Hibbing. Although he entertained and amused the doctors who examined him for symptoms of insanity, their verdict was unanimous against him. He was ordered deported shortly afterwards.

In order to keep him in good humor, the immigration officials told him that they would take him to New York in order that he might get in touch with the leading theater men and arrange a booking for the Orpheum circuit during the coming season. When Jessner arrived in New York the plans were changed, and Jessner was sent abroad to entertain the crowned heads of Europe.

Jessner writes the immigration officer that while in transit he lost one of his grips. In it were several copies of his unpublished music, worth in his estimation several thousand dollars. Jessner also states that he is losing money daily in not being able to keep his engagements, and asks for immediate compliance with his request for transportation back to Duluth.

Before Jessner went insane he was a traveling salesman.

HOG CHOLERA IS RAGING AT MIZPAH.

Bemidji, Minn., Aug. 7.—Reports have reached Bemidji from Mizpah that farmers have lost pigs from cholera, which appears to be spreading. Farmers in that vicinity have been warned to be on their guard and prevent any further spread of the disease. Seventy-five pigs have been reported dead in that vicinity.

Farmers claim that the malady was the result of meat which was shipped in and was affected with the disease and that the swill was thrown to the pigs. Efforts are being made to prevent any further spread.

WEATHER—Unsettled and warmer weather tonight and Friday.

COLD STORAGE ON LAKE LINES

Prof. N. E. Chapman Says Refrigerator Service Would Help Duluth.

Poultry Expert Says This Could Be Great Center for Products.

If refrigerator facilities for the transportation of butter, eggs and poultry are provided on the Great Lakes, Duluth will become one of the greatest markets for those products in the country, according to Prof. N. E. Chapman, head of the poultry extension department of the state agricultural college.

Mr. Chapman is in Duluth today conferring with local people and R. L. Giffin of Hibbing, secretary of the St. Louis County Agricultural society, in regard to the boys' and girls' poultry contest at the St. Louis county fair. He will leave on the Tionesta tonight for Atlantic City where he will attend the meeting of the American Poultry association. From there he will go to New Brunswick, N. J., to attend the meeting of the International Association of Poultry Instructors and Investigators. Mr. Chapman will also visit the egg and poultry markets of the East and study conditions.

To Study Transportation.

"On my trip down the lakes I will also study transportation conditions with a view to determining the feasibility of the transportation of butter, eggs and poultry by water without refrigeration," said Mr. Chapman. "However such studies may be unnecessary as I understand a complaint against the boat lines, petitioning the interstate commerce commission to require refrigerator service on the boats, has already been filed by a Duluth firm.

"Minnesota has been shipping about 3,000 carloads of eggs yearly, with 400 cases to the carload and 30 dozens to the case. Much of the movement has been westward, but the Western states are now developing the poltry industry to such an extent that the bulk of the movement must be East in the future.

Cheap Transportation.

"The Great Lakes furnish a cheap water highway and the transportation of poultry, eggs and butter by the lakes is almost essential to the proper development of those industries. Northern Minnesota is a natural poultry section and the movement of products naturally tends to Duluth. I believe that if refrigerator facilities are provided for transportation by lake Duluth will become in a very short time a great market for butter, eggs and poultry."

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

LYCEUM—Kinemacolor.
EMPRESS—Vaudeville.

Amusement Notes.

"The Scarlet Letter," Hawthorne's great American romance is the kinemacolor feature on the bill which opens at the Lyceum today.

"The Scarlet Letter" is said to be a kinemacolor masterpiece. Forceful acting and beautiful character shading are necessary to bring out the story effetively in pantomine and the kinemacolor artists are said to have achieved a triumph in their presentation of it.

The black and white program is headed by a two reel Reliance feature, "Ashes." Irving Cummings is featured and he is said to have brought out a remarkable feat of character acting. Several comedy pictures fill out the bill, which will run today, Friday and Saturday.

The bill of vaudeville for the last three days of this week at the Empress theater is one of feature acts and surprises. The headline position will be filled by The Abrew Family, a group of Cubans going through a series of feats in rapid succession and with wonderful grace. The six Cubans are well trained and show remarkable agility in the manner they go through the hazardous feats. They perform handbalances intricate jumping, somersaults of many descriptions and other stunts that show the careful study as to time and distance.

An act relished and termed the best yet seen is that of Lydell and Butterworth who present their skit "A Dark Town Oddity." The laughs this mixed team give are unusually numerous. The dancing of Mr. Lydell is eccentric and he has been conceded the best eccentric dancer in vaudeville, while Miss Butterworth wears some very stunning and pretty gowns. She makes a very able assistant to Mr. Lydell.

Singing of the better kind and in harmony is put on by the Bowery Trio, a trio of boys who know how to sing. They have a good selection of songs, rag, popular and classical. One of the boys is made up in Rube style and his funny antics are very entertaining.

A juggling novelty with laughable injections is one given by the clever duo, Turner and Grace. The act is a pantomimic laugh feast. The stunts creating laugh after laugh and not a word is said in the entire act. Turner and Grace carry their own special scenery and the act is named "Ten Minutes on Main Street."

The display of moving pictures is liberal and of the kind that go far in the pleasing line.

TERM WILL NOT BE LONG ONE

September Grand Jury Expected to Return Thirty Indictments.

Between twenty-five and thirty criminal cases will be brought to the attention of the September grand jury which will convene next month, according to Mason M. Forbes, first assistant county attorney, who will attend the sessions of the jury at the approaching term of court.

"The calender will be no larger than usual," says Mr. Forbes, "owing largely to the fact that we have had a large number of prisoners pleading guilty on information. The grist of cases is of the ordinary kind."

Among the more important cases to be disposed of at the next term of court will be the trial of Joseph Starficio for the murder of Frank Rossi and prosecution of A. J. McLaughlin for attempting to kill his wife. He is held on a charge of assault in the first degree.

SECOND DRUNK TO MEAN JAIL VISIT.

Grand Forks, N. D., Aug. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Straight jail sentences for "drunks" probably will become the rule here as a result of the adoption of new tactics in dealing with inebriates. First offense prisoners will be allowed to pay fines, but for their second offense they will have to serve time.

CHESTER PARK TO GET NEXT CONCERT

Normanna Male Chorus Will Assist in Free Program.

Mayor Prince says the next, and probably the last, open-air band concert will be given at Chester park.

The band program will be combined with selections rendered by the Normanna male chorus, recognized as one of the foremost singing societies in this section of the state.

Gust Sodahl, secretary of the Normanna chorus, requested that Chester park be selected, as it forms a natural ampitheater, enabling the chorus to appear to the best advantage.

Mayor Prince plans to make the last concert the best of the series. He has not decided upon the date, but will announce it shortly. Combining the band concert with the singing of the Normanna chorus will provide an attraction of unusual merit and draw a crowd bigger than any which has attended any of the previous outdoor entertainments, the mayor believes.

NO WOMAN ON THE FORCE IN OSHKOSH.

Oshkosh, Wis., Aug. 7.—Mayor John Mulva of this city today decided that the application of the suffragettes for the appointment of a woman on the police force will be denied. The mayor is of the opinion that in a city of this size regular patrolmen are competent to regulate civic affairs.

The suffragettes will continue their efforts, and are encouraged by the news from Milwaukee that the state board of agriculture may appoint women officers to keep order at the state fair.

SURETY COMPANY TAKES UP PAVING

Will Have D. H. Clough & Co. Finish City Work.

Mayor Prince was today informed by the National Surety company that it accepts the city's demand to take over the paving contracts abandoned by P. McDonnell. The bonding company makes the condition, however that it shall receive all moneys which are paid or due on the contracts.

The surety company has closed an agreement with D. H. Clough & Co., local contractors, whereby they will finish up the work from the point McDonnell left off. Clough is familiar with McDonnell's organization and equipment as well as with the work, having laid much of the curbing and sidewalk under a sub-contract. Commissioner Murchison said this morning that the work was progressing favorably and that he anticipated no further delays or complications.

Each policeman was allowed to shoot ten times, thus making a score of fifty points for a perfect event.

Sergeant Weber was in charge of the practice, which was held on the lake shore at Fifth avenue east, a government target having been used.

GOPHER GOES ON CRUISE

Minnesota Naval Militia to Take Part in Perry Celebration.

Will Visit Milwaukee, Chicago and Green Bay for Maneuvers.

The U. S. S. Gopher left at 4 o'clock this afternoon to take part in the Perry centennial celebration at Milwaukee, Green Bay, Wis., and Chicago.

Two divisions of the naval reserves from Duluth and the entire division from Pine City, in all 175 men, left on the boat and will be gone nearly three weeks. The Pine City marines came here on the Northern Pacific at 2 o'clock and immediately joined the local divisions. Guy A. Eaton of Duluth is in command.

From here the boat will go to the Soo, where it will receive instructions by wireless from the naval officers in charge of the government boats at the Perry celebration. Milwaukee is celebrating the Perry centennial this week, the festivities having started there Monday.

It is probable that the Gopher will be ordered to Milwaukee and there take part in one or two maneuvers Saturday and Sunday. Next week the Perry fleet will sail to Green Bay, accompanied by eight other ships of the Great Lakes fleet which have been detailed for the celebration. At Green Bay there will be special drills and sham battles by the nine boats and the naval militia of the lake states.

The final week of the celebration will be in Chicago, the week following Green Bay, and it is there that the largest affairs are planned. The Gopher will take part in the festivities the early part of the week, leaving there in time to arrive in Duluth the Monday following. About two and a half weeks in all will be spent in the celebration.

REPUBLICANS WILL LET THE BILL ALONE

Mann Says They Will Not Oppose Currency Measure.

Washington, Aug. 7.—No determined opposition to the administration currency bill will be made by the Republicans in the house, according to Leader Mann. He declared today that amendments proposed by Democrats of the currency committee would be supported, and that other amendments in the causus and in the house would perfect the measure so that many Republicans would vote for it.

Representative Mann expressed the opinion that while the house would pass the bill at the extra session, it would be held up in the senate, and that an agreement probably would postpone a final vote until the December session.

Physicians Recommend Castoria

CASTORIA has met with pronounced favor on the part of physicians, pharmaceutical societies and medical authorities. It is used by physicians with results most gratifying. The extended use of Castoria is unquestionably the result of three facts: First—The indisputable evidence that it is harmless: Second—That it not only allays stomach pains and quiets the nerves, but assimilates the food: Third—It is an agreeable and perfect substitute for Castor Oil. It is absolutely safe. It does not contain any Opium, Morphine, or other narcotic and does not stupefy. It is unlike Soothing Syrups, Bateman's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial, etc. This is a good deal for a Medical Journal to say. Our duty, however, is to expose danger and record the means of advancing health. The day for poisoning innocent children through greed or ignorance ought to end. To our knowledge, Castoria is a remedy which produces composure and health, by regulating the system—not by stupefying it—and our readers are entitled to the information.—Hall's Journal of Health.

Letters from Prominent Physicians addressed to Chas. H. Fletcher.

Dr. B. Halstead Scott, of Chicago, Ills., says: "I have prescribed your Castoria often for infants during my practice, and find it very satisfactory."

Dr. William Belmont, of Cleveland, Ohio, says: "Your Castoria stands first in its class. In my thirty years of practice I can say I never have found anything that so filled the place."

Dr. J. H. Taft, of Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "I have used your Castoria and found it an excellent remedy in my household and private practice for many years. The formula is excellent."

Dr. R. J. Hamlen, of Detroit, Mich., says: "I prescribe your Castoria extensively, as I have never found anything to equal it for children's troubles. I am aware that there are imitations in the field, but I always see that my patients get Fletcher's."

Dr. Wm. J McCrann, of Omaha, Neb., says: "As the father of thirteen children I certainly know something about your great medicine, and aside from my own family experience I have in my years of practice found Castoria a popular and efficient remedy in almost every home."

Dr. J. R. Clausen, of Philadelphia, Pa., says: "The name that your Castoria has made for itself in the tens of thousands of homes blessed by the presence of children, scarcely needs to be supplemented by the endorsement of the medical profession, but I, for one, most heartily endorse it and believe it an excellent remedy."

Dr. R. M. Ward, of Kansas City, Mo., says: "Physicians generally do not prescribe proprietary preparations, but in the case of Castoria my experience, like that of many other physicians, has taught me to make an exception. I prescribe your Castoria in my practice because I have found it to be a thoroughly reliable remedy for children's complaints. Any physician who has raised a family, as I have, will join me in heartiest recommendation of Castoria."

other attempt will be made today to influence the men to strike.

Ore Shipping Tied Up.

Ore shipping is completely tied up in the Duluth-Superior harbor. But two cargoes of ore went out last night and none was shipped today. The boat crews have been trying to load ore but it has stood so long in the cars that it is becoming caked.

The strike is affecting other lines of industry affiliated with ore handling. Some steamshovel crews on the range have been called in and the machines closed down. The railroad men also are affected, the ore train crews being laid off. This affects about 500 men. It is a question of only how long the strike will last. If it continues very long it will affect practically all mining work on the range and the mines will have to be closed.

I. W. W. Man Leader.

At the meeting this afternoon the strikers, led by James P. Cannon, an I. W. W. agitator, formally adopted the demands outlined by a committee and they will present them to the officials of the Missabe docks this afternoon. A committee representing the various nationalities on the docks will present the demands.

The demands are as follows:

Workers are to select one man on each shift whose duty shall be to supervise switching of cars on each dock and to give proper signals for transmission of trains.

Ore docks between tracks, which are now open, shall be closed when not in use, to insure safety to workmen, and all possible safety appliances are to be installed.

Workers are to have the right to enforce the discharge of foremen, whom they consider objectionable by majority vote.

Wages shall be increased from $2.35, day shift, to $2.75, and from $2.60, night shift, to $3, an increase of 40 cents a day.

Workers shall not be required to be on duty in wet weather or in thunder storms.

No worker is to be discharged unless the employers give just reason.

Employers shall not discriminate against workmen because of their previous strike activities.

All non-union men shall be discharged when strikers return to work.

That the contracts signed with the company for a sliding wage scale be abolished.

When asked if he would receive the strikers' committee Mr. McGonagle said: "If the committee is a body from the I. W. W. organization I will not let it within gun-shot of my office." He would not say what reception he would give the committee if it was made up of dock workers.

Statement by Mr. McGonagle.

The following statement was made by Mr. McGonagle:

"Our ore dock men declined to go to work yesterday. They gave no reason for same and have presented no grievances or demands for additional pay. We have an individual contract with each man for the full season, and, as our company has always honored similar contracts under all circumstances, we naturally feel that the men should honor their agreement with us, and we believe they would do so cheerfully if the influence of strangers was withdrawn, and they be permitted to use their own good judgment. Our men honored their agreement with us last year when somewhat similar troubles prevailed that were brought on as now by the dockmen at Allouez bay.

"More than 80 per cent of our men want to continue work now, being fully satisfied with their wages and the conditions at our docks, but have been intimidated by a few strangers who have come to our city recently with the avowed purpose of causing this trouble.

"We expect to begin shipments of ore again very shortly, with the aid of our loyal employes, and to do everything in our power to prevent the loss of earnings to many thousands of honest laboring men, who are being deprived of the means of subsistence by the work of a few strangers, who have no real interest whatever in their welfare, and who are seeking here, as elsewhere, to cause trouble, sorrow and all the suffering incident to a strike that never had any right to be called."

Little Disappears.

F. H. Little, I. W. W. agitator who led the strike at the Allouez docks and who has been active in inciting the men at the Missabe docks has disappeared. He was not at the meeting this morning, where he was scheduled to speak, and he was not at his boarding place. He was last seen in Superior last night when he boarded a car for Duluth.

Various solutions to his mysterious disappearance have been advanced. Some of the I. W. W. men claim that he was spirited away by hostile forces. Others think he was bought off and left the city when he was given a sum of money. Still others say he might have been arrested and held on some minor charge so he will be out of the way.

The police laugh at the last theory as being absurd. No one knows where he is and any guess is as good as another. At any rate he was not at the meeting this morning. Cannon ably filled his place, however, with a violent speech against the Missabe officials and the newspapers.

Pickets at Docks.

Picket lines have been thrown around the docks and the strikers are questioning all laborers who attempt to go to work. They try only persuasion and have not resorted to force.

At the meeting this morning Cannon had trouble to get men to serve on the various committees. The men were not forward in pushing their case. They seemed to be wondering what the fiery man was talking about. The speaker called them "Pollocks" and the Poles could not figure out whether the slur was intentional or whether the man did not know better. About 400 men attended the meeting and they were addressed in four languages.

The strikers held an open air meeting last night at Thirty-second avenue west and Superior street. Leaders had emphasized the necessity of peace and order prevailed excepting when a man was found talking to the Poles, trying to induce them to go back to work. When he was discovered he was forced to leave the grounds, being threatened with violence if he refused.

Another mass meeting will be held by the strikers at 6 p. m. today near the ore docks.

Many Willing to Return.

The Missabe railroad reports that many of the men appearing to be strikers are willing to go back to work. Officials of the road report that it is the younger men on the dock that are the most enthusiastic listeners to the I. W. W. organizers.

It is pointed out that the older men, the men that have been in the service of the company for years, own their own homes and have acquired modest bank accounts. These men, it is said, are not in sympathy with the strike and will return as soon as the company is ready to resume operations with new crews.

The company declares it could have reduced the wages 50 cents a day in 1908 and 1911, when there were many men and little work, but that it kept its contract with the dock workers and went on paying them a higher wage than was paid to any other laborers in the Northwest at that time. Officials of the company now say that the men ought to take the same attitude toward the contract.

Improvement at Allouez.

The strike situation at the Allouez ore docks in Superior is much improved today and indications point to a normal condition by Saturday.

There are seventy men at work at the docks today. Forty more having started this morning. Officials at the docks stated this morning that more men will be placed at work this evening and a much larger crew tomorrow morning. They claim that the conditions at the docks will be normal by Saturday noon.

No violence has been reported at the docks up to the present time. A large squad of police has been on the scene of the strike since Tuesday and the entire affair has so far been void of trouble.

A meeting of the strikers has been called by the I. W. W. leaders for 2 o'clock this afternoon at the ore docks.

CHILDREN DANCE IN PERRY'S HONOR.

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 7.—Patriotic exercises participated in by children in six public parks featured the closing day's celebration of the Perry centennial celebration in Milwaukee today. The exercises consisted of singing, stories, marching, folk dancing and the presentation of Perry memorials to all who took part in the grand flag parade. An illuminated exhibition by Milwaukees newest fireboat and a big display of fireworks are planned for the evening.

New Candy Flesh Reducer Popular Here

Heretofore the corpulent have undergone all sorts of hardship and risk in the effort to lose their excess adipose. Weakening baths, exercises, and starvation diet are harmful to many. Most internal medication plays havoc with digestion, circulation, nerves or kidneys. Now, thanks to the genius whose experiments have made it possible, one may discard the irksome and injurious things and just eat the harmless and delicious "boranium jujube" instead.

The idea hails from Germany, where obesity is so prevalent and where sweetmeats are much indulged in. It seems already to have become popular in the United States, from what several druggists have told me. The active constituent of the boranium jujube is a kind of seaweed extract which has the power to break up and partially absorb, partially eliminate, fatty and oily matter. As but one jujube need be eaten after each meal and one at bedtime, the new method is quite inexpensive. The fleshy ones now have good reason for rejoicing.—Mildred St. Albans in Household Guest. TO Grow Hair on A Bald Head

BY A SPECIALIST.

Thousands of people suffer from baldness and falling hair who, having tried nearly every advertised hair tonic and hair-grower without results, have resigned themselves to baldness and its attendant discomfort. Yet their case is not hopeless; the following simple home prescription has made hair grow after years of baldness, and is also unequalled for restoring gray hair to its original color, stopping hair from falling out, and destroying the dandruff germ. It will not make the hair greasy, and can be put up by any druggist: Bay Rum, 6 ounces; Lavona de Composee, 2 ounces; Menthol Crystals, one-half drachm. If you wish it perfumed, add half to one teaspoonful of To-Kalon Perfume, which unites perfectly with the other ingredients. This preparation is highly recommended by physicians and specialists, and is absolutely harmless, as it contains none of the poisonous wood alcohol so frequently found in hair tonics.

WARREN PREDICTS HELL FOR FARMERS

Republican Senator Talks About the New Tariff Bill.

Washington, Aug. 7.—"According to the declaration of one of our great war leaders, 'War is hell,'" said Senator Warren today in a speech discussing the agricultural schedule of the tariff bill.

"This never has been denied; and therefore I beg the liberty of saying that this bill is to be indeed hell, so far as the farmer of the Northwest is concerned.

"About everything he has to sell, the use of his capital and his labor, the product of both, with but few exceptions, must meet the competition of the world with its cheap, peon, pauper labor, while everything he has to buy, barring certain occasional purchases, is taxed."

Alluding to declarations of the Democrats that the Republican senate leaders through their tariff speeches were trying to bring on a panic, Senator Warren said:

"Sometimes, when one doubts the successful outcome of a proposed enterprise or policy, he throws out hedges in the way of straw men or bogeymen, laying the blame beforehand on the other fellows for what he fears might happen to his policy. Can it be possible that our Democratic friends are thus hedging?"

AGITATORS WILL NOT BE TOLERATED

turned to protect property and to prevent any interference with men who wish to resume or continue work at the scene of the trouble.

Special Police Hired.

Commissioner Hicken and Chief Troyer have already started the hiring of special policemen for service during the pendancy of the strike. All regular men will be summoned to the central station, where they will be immediately available for service at the ore docks should occasion arise. Automobiles will be constantly on hand to rush them to any quarter at instant's notice. Others will be kept on patrol duty at the docks, co-operating with the specials of the company and with the deputies who may be sworn in by Sheriff Meining. In the meantime the new men hired by the police will be utilized for patrolling boats in the outlying sections of the city.

The commissioners strongly approved the steps which have thus far been taken to prepare for any possible trouble or violence.

Resolutions Adopted.

To strongly emphasize their position they met in informal session this afternoon and passed the following resolution:

"Resolved, That whereas, representatives of an organization known as the Industrial Workers of the World are reported to be in the city of Duluth, whose avowed purpose has been to encourage violence and excite riots among persons engaged in labor; and

"Whereas, in view of the history of the said reputed organization and of its operations in other cities, the presence of any representatives of that organization in this city renders it necessary that the fullest steps be taken to preserve the peace and to protect the lives and property of the citizens; and

"Whereas, the said reputed organization has for its only objects, the encouraging of violence and the exciting of riots and unlawful interference between employer and employes; and

"Whereas, said reputed organization has no connection whatever with any proper and legitimate labor organization of any kind,

"Now, therefore, we, the commissioners of the city of Duluth, do hereby declare that any person in any way connected with the said organization known as the Industrial Workers of the World, or any person or persons whatsoever who shall, in any way or by any words, incite or encourage any person or persons to engage in riot, or to do any act of violence, shall be dealt with to the fullest extent of the law, and that the peace of the city shall be preserved at all hazards;

"That the commissioner of public safety is hereby authorized and directed to take all steps necessary to preserve the peace, and to cause the arrest and prosecution of any person coming to this city with intent to excite riots, encourage violence, or seek to intimidate by threats of personal violence or other methods of coercion any employe who desires to perform his usual work, or cause unlawful interference with any property or business whatsoever.

Meetings Must Be Reported.

"That all public meetings of any kind, while any strike exists in the city of Duluth, or while any representatives of said organization known as the Industrial Workers of the World are reported to be in the city, shall be reported to the commissioner of public safety; and that the commissioner of public safety shall have present at any such public meeting a sufficient force of officers to cause the arrest of any person or persons uttering any words or doing any act calculated in any way to encourage any unlawful act of violence or riot.

"Be it further resolved, That it is not the intention of these commissioners to in any way interfere with the business of any proper and lawful labor organization of this city; and that it is the desire of these commissioners to at all times work to the end of properly and fairly adjusting any dispute that may arise between employers of labor and their employes."

Firemen to Be Called.

Should disorders become prevalent Commissioner Hicken has made preparations for summoning a detail of firemen to aid the police and the deputies. The efficiency of heavy streams of water in dispersing mobs has been demonstrated upon other occasions.

Police and fire lines will probably be established along the full length of the docks and the possible trouble zone. Rigid orders will be given to allow none but properly authorized persons to cross them. Should any insist and not be able to produce proper credentials he will be promptly taken into custody and his acts and motives investigated.

Chief Troyer is hiring as many men as he can get for special service. These men will not be utilized at the docks unless emergencies arise. The purpose is to use them to replace the regulars, who will be called in for strike service.

Special policemen will be paid $3 a day and any able-bodied man out of a job can get temporary employment by applying at once to the chief at the headquarters station.

Thus far no trouble has been reported at the docks. But the officials do not propose to be caught napping and from the present until the strike is finally ended they will be prepared to meet any conditions which may arise.

Police to Attend Meetings.

All meetings which may be held by the strikers or the agitators will be attended by policemen. At the first signs of disorder the meetings will be broken up and those responsible will be arrested. Under the council resolution the police are instructed to arrest any known agitators of the Industrial Workers of the World, whose agitators are said to be responsible for the refusal of the men to go to work yesterday morning. It is claimed that the organizers are now busy among them but they will have a short shrift from the minute they come to the attention of the local police. The orders are to arrest them and send them to jail. The merits of their cases will be settled in the courts at a later date.

Duluth is determined that the agitators of the Industrial Workers are not to have any freedom or sway in this city. They will spare no effort to nip their schemes in the bud. The commissioners declare that Duluth doesn't want them and that they are not to be allowed to obtain any foothold here. They are acting on the theory that "a stitch in time saves nine," and they foresee a continual seething turmoil of labor troubles if the agitators are not cut off short. In their intention of ridding the city of this class of undesirables they have the united support of the good citizens of Duluth.

Word was received in Duluth this morning that the people of Superior propose to drive the Industrial Workers out of Superior and the same sentiment is prevalent on this side of the bay.

Senator Owen Introduces Bill to Readjust Currency.

Washington, Aug. 7. — Chairman Owen of the senate banking committee introduced a bill today to authorize the treasury to buy outstanding 2 per cent bonds from banks at par and interest, if the banks owning them so desire. The measure is intended to prevent depreciation of the two's.

Senator Owen's plan is to cancel outstanding gold certificates as they come into the treasury; issue treasury notes, redeemable in gold, in their stead; transfer the gold represented by the gold certificates to the redemption division; cancel the 2 per cent bonds; issue 3 per cents in their stead; and supplant national bank notes with treasury notes.

LEGISLATORS' BILL FOR DRINKS IS HIGH

Wisconsin Has to Pay Over $1,000 Just for the Water.

Madison, Wis., Aug. .. — The drink bill of the Wisconsin lawmakers in the session just closed foots up to $575. The drinks consisted of a special brand of water—five carloads in all—which the solons fancied over the piped fluid of the Madison municipal waterworks. The water cost $115 per carload and was shipped in glass containers. To this expense must be added $210 for 150,000 individual drinking cups. Expense of cartage and other incidental outlays makes the legislative thirst bill, exclusive of the kind the state will not stand for, upwards of $1,000.

CLOQUET TO INSTALL FIRE ALARM SYSTEM

Council Names Committee to Gather Information on Matter.

Cloquet, Minn., Aug. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The city council last night considered the offer of the American District Telegraph company to install a new system of fire alarm and police patrol. The proposal includes forty-three boxes at a rental of $150.50 per annum, and $495 extra to cover the cost of installation. Aldermen Danielson, Mattinen and Nelson were appointed a committee to ascertain the number of boxes needed, location, etc., and report at the next meeting of the council.

Licenses permitting the handling and sale of cigarette supplies were granted to T. H. Bertram and Frank Izzard. Milk licenses permitting the sale of milk were granted to C. W. McDonald and W. E. Meisner. This makes thirty-five milk licenses issued by the city.

Will Remove Old Barn.

It was decided to authorize the city clerk to advertise for bids for the purchase of the old Selmser livery barn which stands on the corner of Avenue B and Vine street, next door to the new city hall, and on land owned by the city. The barn is an old landmark. According to the resolution authorizing the bids, the barn must be removed by the successful bidder within fifteen days after bids are accepted.

The appointment of Abel Anderson as assistant fire chief by Fire Chief Selmser was confirmed and his salary fixed.

Plans and specifications for a continuance of sewer and water mains to be laid on Eleventh street from Avenue F to Carlton avenue and on Carlton avenue from Seventeenth to Nineteenth street were adopted and bids will be advertised for. A number of petitions for sidewalks cannot be granted this year, as the city has all the work that can be possibly accomplished this season and they will have to go over until next summer.

The girl was standing too near the target when Mike pulled the trigger of a 22-caliber rifle, claiming he "did not know it was loaded." The bullet went through the fleshy part of the child's right thigh, but the wound is not considered serious.

LAND DISTRIBUTION

Among the Fond du Lac Indians Soon to Be Made.

Cloquet, Minn., Aug. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—G. W. Cross, agent for the Fond du Lac reservation, expects that very soon the distribution of land to the Indians of the local reservation will be made. The distribution is in accordance with the act of congress in July of this year by which each Indian of the Fond du Lac reservation not already possessing eighty acres is to have given him enough of the ceded lands to make his possessions eighty acres, the distribution of the land not to interfere with any existing timber contracts.

Mr. Cross spent part of the week looking over the farm work that the Indians are doing on their allotments and found very gratifying conditions. twenty Indians being busy at the present time clearing land, aside from those who are conducting successful crop growing and building operations.

The visitors were warm in their praises of the beauties of the boulevard drive and were much impressed with the evidences of prosperity which they saw on every side. They left last evening for Winnipeg on the Canadian Flyer.

Want Pure Seed Grain.

Fargo, N. D., Aug. 7.—(Special to The Herald).—With the large amount of wild mustard and wild oats in the grain in this state the farmers are becoming more interested than ever in the inventions for cleaning seed grain. Changes are being made in the methods of farming the land for the purpose of cleaning the fields of noxious weeds, but the farmers have concluded they must go to the fountain head of the matter and secure absolutely pure seed grain.

CAP GOES OFF; FINGERS GONE

Boy Playing With Dynamite Loses Part of His Hand.

Finds Shining Plaything and Hits It With Rock.

Fred Bujold, 13-year-old son of Mrs. Laura Bujold, 6512 Polk street, had the two first fingers and thumb of his right hand blown off in the explosion of a dynamite cap. He considers himself lucky to escape with his life. The boy found the cap near the Canadian Northern railroad.

The boy was unconscious for a few minutes following the explosion. On recovering he walked three blocks before he met friends who took him into their home and called for a doctor. Dr. David Graham dressed the wounds. The boy had also sustained a serious flesh wound in his left arm and small cuts in his chin.

According to the story told by the boy he had climbed out of a swimming pool near the tracks onto a rock and noticed a small shiny object on the stone. Taking it in his fingers he hit it against a stone. When he woke up after the explosion, his hand was bleeding.

The police were notified of the dynamite cap having been found and are now investigating whether it had been stolen by small boys in the vicinity or whether it had been left carelessly around by workmen.

VEGETABLES DRUG IN NEW CITY MARKET

Garden Truck Fails to Attract West Duluth People.

West Duluth people apparently overlooked the public market today.

Five farmers came from the Midway and Hermantown districts this morning and at noon still had a large quantity of vegetables on hand. Trade, they said, had been very poor.

"We can hardly afford to spend the entire day in the city staying in a market place where no one comes," said one of the farmers. "It appears that the West Duluth people do not know that we are here. There should be some way of attracting the traffic to the market place on days when the farmers come to town."

The gardners intend coming to the city on Tuesdays, Thursday and Saturdays of every week. This morning the tables at the market were loaded down with the produce. Some of the farmers managed to dispose of their wares to the grocers after waiting several hours for the consumers to appear.

COMMISSIONERS TO GIVE VIEWS

West Duluth Commercial Club Will Confer With City Officials.

The city commissioners and the city attorney will be guests tomorrow evening at the meeting of the West Duluth Commercial club. Members of the club have invited the city officials to attend, and have assurances that all will be there.

A number of important subjects will be brought up before the commissioners. Among them will be highways, bridges and parks. It is proposed to ask the commissioners their stand regarding the proposed extension of the street railway line to New Duluth, and also what part they will take in getting the Proctor road completed.

A number of complaints have also been made regarding the bridges in this end of the city. Some of these, especially on Oneota street and on Grand avenue, are said to be in an unsafe condition and should be replaced with fills.

It is probable that the commissioners will also be asked regarding their stand on the proposed water-front park at the mouth of Kingsbury creek. Much of this property was appraised about a year ago by the park board and a valuation exceeding $50,000 was set on the property. The city commission will be asked to take immediate steps to acquire this property.

Boston Coal Dock Laborer in Suit Against Employers.

Because he was left a cripple through injuries which he received while employed on the Boston coal dock at West Duluth more than a year ago, George Arveson, laborer, has started suit in district court to recover $21,000 from his former employers, the Boston Coal Dock & Wharf company.

On May 29, 1912, while employed at the work of oiling a hoisting rig which was not in action, Arveson claims, John Peterson and Gust Olson, fellow workers in charge of the hoisting apparatus, started the machinery. It caused him to be crushed in the superstructure, he says, resulting in a fracture, permanent shortening of his right leg and internal injuries.

Peterson and Olson are made co-defendants with the dock company in the action.

BIG PIKE CAUGHT ON BUTTON HOOK

That it requires little experience or any special kind of hooks and bait to catch fish in St. Louis river is vouched for by some West Duluth people. The fish in the river are so plentiful, they say, that even an ordinary button hook will suffice when others are lacking.

Yesterday afternoon Miss Sullivan with a couple of friends went up the river in a launch. Asking what kind of a hook was required to induce the finny tribe to bite, she was told that anything with a bend on one end would do.

Acting on this advice she inquired if an ordinary button hook would do, and being told that it would, she tied one to the end of a shoe string and let it drag in the water.

Whether the attraction to the hook may have been the young lady owner or whether it was the shiny appearance of the hook, at any rate, and the story is vouched for by Frank H. Wade and Lyndon Lunch, a pike, said to have weighed nearly four pounds, bit on it. The pike was easily landed and was shown by Miss Sullivan to several of her friends.

NATURALIZATION LIMIT IS FIXED

Prospective Citizens Must Get in Within Seven Years.

Capt. Thomas H. Pressnell, deputy clerk of the United States court, has received word from the department of labor regarding the recent ruling on the invalidity of declarations of intention for citizenship made after Sept. 26, 1906.

The announcement is to the effect that all declarations made "after Sept. 26, 1906, become absolutely void and useless seven years after that date." A United States court recently ruled that the seven-year period of limitation began to run on Sept. 27, 1906, against all declarations of intentions executed prior to that time.

It means that the intention of any alien who filed a declaration after Sept. 26, 1906, and who has not secured his second papers by Sept. 26 of this year, becomes null and void and he will have to start all over again, waiting two years before he will be able to file the declaration again.

MUST STAND CITY TEST

Employes Taken on Since Charter Was Adopted to Be Examined.

Civil Service Commission Given Wide Range of Authority Under Rules.

The next city civil service examination will be held Wednesday, Aug. 27, at the high school.

The examination will be taken by all city employes who have been appointed since the charter was adopted, Dec. 3, last. These number approximately thirty, but as the examinations are open to all and as some of the positions to be filled are considered quite desirable, it is very probable that the number taking the tests will be considerably in excess of that total.

The positions to be filled include stenographers, clerks and stenographers, bookkeepers, health inspectors, assistant librarians, telephone operators, drivers and firemen for the fire department and perhaps patrolmen for the police force. Because of the strike at the ore docks the eligible list of patrolmen has been exhausted.

The announcement of the examination was made today by Ruben Johnson, secretary of the civil service commission. At the last meeting of the commission he was authorized to make the arrangements and call the examination at the earliest possible date.

Employes Apply.

Practically all of the present employes of the city whose positions come within the civil service regulations have filed their applications. It is generally recognized that civil service in Duluth is to be more than an empty form and all officials have expressed a desire to co-operate with the commission to the end that it may be established on a firm footing, without doubtful precedents and exceptions which might cause trouble and dissension in the future.

The nature of the examinations will vary according to the positions which are to be filled. The applicants will be tested as to their knowledge of the duties pertaining to the position, spelling, composition, city information, arithmetic, verbal orders, physical fitness, literature, history, library science and general information.

The rules which were submitted by the civil service commission and which have been approved by the city commission give the civil service commission considerable authority. Under them the commssion has the power to make a survey of all city departments to ascertain the efficiency of the different employes, the nature and extent of their duties, compensation, etc. By working along that line the commission can be of much service to the city, ascertaining where there is duplication of work, leaks and waste of effort. The job is a big one and to be thoroughly done would require a much greater organization than now available for the civil service commission, even with the co-operation of all city officials. But it could make a start which could later be continued on a broader basis to give the city a complete investigation conducted along the lines prosecuted by the bureaus of efficiency and economy of other progressive municipalities in the country.

Superior

BUSINESS MEN MEET STRIKERS

Effort Will Be Made to End Labor Trouble at Allouez.

A large committee of Superior business men left at 8 o'clock this afternoon for Allouez to meet with the striking ore dock workers with the view of effecting a settlement between them and the railroad. The Great Northern railroad imported this morning seventy strike-breakers and put them to work loading the boats. At present there are thirteen boats tied up at the dock.

No disorders of any kind have been reported from the vicinity of the docks. Officials of the company state that they do not expect any of this kind of trouble.

After Superior Mayor.

Rev. D. B. Cheney, general secretary for the Superior Y. M. C. A. will commence to collect the pledges recently subscribed for the building fund for the new association building. As soon as the subscriptions are collected a site will be chosen and plans for the building made.

Collecting Money.

Socialists of Superior will continue the circulation of the petition for the recall of Mayor Konkel, following the opinion rendered by the state's attorney general. The opinion is to the effect that the state law does not in any way conflict with that of the commission form of government. It is said that about 1,000 names will be required and that it is now necessary to get about 400 names in addition to what those back of the movement have already obtained.

M'GOVERN VETOES THE INSURANCE INQUIRY

Says State Boards Have Power to Do That Work.

Madison, Wis., Aug. 7.—The bill for a legislative investigation of sickness insurance, introduced by Senator Scott, was vetoed by Governor McGovern today, who declared the industrial commission, board of public affairs and state board of health are clothed with sufficient power to conduct such inquiries. He also objects to the appropriation of $20,000 as excessive. The senate members of this committee already had been appointed, with the expectation that the bill would be signed.

GEN. DIAZ WILL NOT RETURN TO MEXICO

Also Says He Is Not Going to Meet Nephew in Tokio.

Paris, Aug. 7.—Gen. Porfirio Diaz, former president of Mexico, authorized today the publication of the statement that he has no intention of going to Japan. It was reported abroad he proposed proceeding to Tokio to meet his nephew, Gen. Felix Diaz, whom it was alleged he would accompany back to Mexico.

Gen. Porfirio Diaz appears to be in excellent health. He is well informed as to conditions in Mexico through correspondence and by means of conversation with visitors from that country. He, however, declines resolutely to express any opinion on the situation.

WIFE GRANTED DIVORCE IN CONTESTED ACTION.

Judge Dancer has granted a divorce to Rose T. Shaleen, wife of Ernest H. Shaleen, formerly of Duluth, but now a Chisago county farmer, in a contested action which was tried before the court a few weeks ago. Mrs. Shaleen is given the custody of the only child, Ruth, a girl of 6, with the right of visitation reserved to Shaleen. The child must be kept in the state.

The Shaleens were married in this city on June 7, 1905. A few months ago Shaleen instituted habeas corpus proceedings against his wife in order to get the custody of his daughter, who with her mother was visiting in Duluth. The case was compromised and dropped and the question of custody of the girl left to the court in the divorce case. Mrs. Shaleen sued on the grounds of cruel treatment.

ANTI-SNUFF LAW WILL BE TESTED

Case Is Started at Dickinson, N. D., Attacking Flickertail Law.

Dickinson, N. D., Aug. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—North Dakota's anti-snuff law is to go to the state supreme court and possibly to the United States supreme court to secure a decision as to its constitutionality. For this purpose Judge Crawford entered a pro forma decision here without going into the merits of the case, deciding in favor the state so C. J. Olson, a traveling man, arrested here on the charge of selling "right out," a substitute, could appeal at once. Counsel, representing Weyman-Bruton company of New York will appeal. They contend the law is unconstitutional in that it is broader than its title and has no authority to restrict anything but snuff and cannot prevent the sale of substitutes.

Attorney General Miller gave an opinion sustaining Commissioner Ladd in the latter's contention that he could prevent the sale of the substitutes as easily as snuff itself. The case will be bitterly fought and should the state supreme court sustain the law an appeal will no doubt be taken to the United States supreme court.

long hair, and was almost an exact replica of "Buffalo Bill."

Once American Cowboy.

He came to England a number of years ago from the United States, where he had been a cowboy in the West.

He had a severe struggle to obtain a start in England. After living precariously for a while he attracted the attention of the experts in the British war office on account of his display of natural gifts of construction, particularly in aerial machines. He was said to be able to build anything in the way of a flying machine or balloon.

His first experiments were made with box kites. These he developed on the British military training grounds at Aldershot, where 30,000 of the finest troops in the British army are always kept in readiness to march off at a moment's notice on any expedition. He achieved such success with his kites that the British war office attached him to its aviation staff.

Became British Subject.

His theatrical appearance and methods created some prejudice against him, which, however, was largely dispelled when he foreswore American allegiance and became a British subject. The public in England only began to take him seriously when he carried off the military prize of $20,000 open to the world at Salisbury Plain in August, 1912.

Following that triumph he built several machines and was constantly experimenting with improvements. All of his aeroplanes were heavy biplanes, which his rivals, considered crude in their construction, but he nevertheless made successful flights with some of them.

He leaves a widow and son in England.

Evans was a member of the Indian civil service who had obtained leave of absence to come to England to study aviation.

gress concerning relations between employer and employe.

Prodded the Congressmen.

How the National Association of Manufacturers "prodded" members of congress to support legislation the association favored, and opposed those who threatened its interests was explained to the house committee yesterday by James A. Emery, general counsel for the association. Emery, earlier in the day, began a preliminary statement to the senate committee on the objects and aims of the association, and on the house side he concluded the identification of the 200 letters culled from the organization's files by the committee.

Discussing the political activities of the association, Emery said that the body itself did not engineer congressional campaigns. The association kept track of the records of congressmen, he added, and when the time for their re-election came notified its members in the individual districts and the campaign work was done by the local members.

Prodded Bartholdt.

A letter written by Emery to F. C. Schwedtmann, secretary to the president of the National Association of Manufacturers in 1910, commented on the fact that "Congressman Bartholdt was very effectually prodded from St. Louis" in connection with a vote on a proposition to exempt labor unions from prosecution under the Sherman law.

Members of the committee conducted a rather lengthy examination to determine what the method of "prodding" was employed by the association. The witness explained that letters and telegrams were started from the constituents of the congressman sought to be influenced, by communicating with the members of the association in the congressman's district.

As an instance of this sort of activity there was introduced a telegram sent by Emery during the fight against this same labor union proposition in 1910 to A. V. Williams of the Minnesota Employers' association in St. Paul, which urged him to "please get as vigorous protest by wire as possible to Congressmen Davis, Nelson, Stevenson, Miller, of your state. All are supporting Hughes amendment preventing enforcement of the Sherman law against labor organizations."

Activities Outlined.

Activities in relation to the Hughes amendment, the investigation of the tailor shop management system by the house committee, the bill to allow the formation of unions among government employes and various other legislative propositions, as well as the interest of the association in the presidential platforms in 1908, were outlined in the letters presented. F. C. Schwedtman, Former Representative John W. Weeks, now senator from Massachusetts, Henry R. Towne of a New York manufacturing firm, and others figured in the documents.

One of the letters disclosed what Representative Willis characterized as "everlasting and eternal war" between the National Association of Manufacturers and the National Civic federation. In a letter dated Jan. 27, 1910, Mr. Schwedtman wrote to John Kirby, president of the National Association of Manufacturers:

"May the continuation of your campaign bring about the thing which is most desirable at the present time in our economic situation, that is, the downfall of the civic federation."

The house committee excused Emery for the present.

COPPER MINE MANAGERS TURN DOWN PROPOSALS OF NON-UNION MEN

probate court in cases where families are destitute, or the boy's mother is widowed and has no other support.

As a result of a warning given by a woman to Capt. Evans, in command of the guard at Calumet Shaft No. 7, a plot to dynamite the mine office, where militia men, non-union watchmen and a dozen deputies were sleeping, is believed to have been foiled. An outside skirmish line was formed and swept the marshes and timber yards towards the inner line, scaring up a score of men. No arrests were made. The building and soldiers were stoned.

An attempt to dynamite the Red Jacket shaft also was prevented last night when a quantity of dynamite stored in an outbuilding at the residence of a strike sympathizer at the shaft location was seized.

Men Ask for Terms.

At a second meeting of non-union men, held just before noon, a second committee to interview the management was named and was instructed to present no demands, but to request the company for work and for a wage and hours proposition. All men desirous of returning to work must register during the coming two days.

Non-union leaders claim fully half the workers of the district will join their forces.

Chairman Joseph Heaton appointed a committee of eleven, representing as many nationalities, to confer with General Manager McNaughton relative to what protection could be offered if the men returned to work. This action is taken to mean that the men are willing to return at the company's own terms provided they can do so safely.

Militiamen Fired Upon.

Two members of Company H, Detroit were fired upon at dusk last night, according to a report that reached brigade headquarters. One bullet struck a rock and glanced within a few inches of the sentries. The other struck the shafthouse. There was more firing at that place, sentries reporting that prowlers were numerous and disinclined to heed orders to halt.

Direct appeal for a senatorial investigation of the copper miners' strike has been made by the Western Federation of Miners. Resolutions asking such action were adopted at a mass meeting which, with "Mother" Jones as the magnet, drew to Laurium several thousand strikers and other residents of the copper fields.

The resolution extolled Senators Kern, Borah, Martine and Reed for their part in the recent West Virginia inquiry, and condemned the county and state authorities for ordering troops into the local strike zone.

"Mother" Jones counseled the strikers to avoid trouble and remain sober, and her witticisms at the expense of the employers aroused her usually phlegmatic hearers to roars of appreciation. So vehement did the woman become that at the end of her speech she was exhausted.

Gompers to Meet Ferris.

Lansing, Mich., Aug. 7.—President Samuel Gompers of the American Federation of Labor and Vice President John Mitchell of that organization are expected to be in Lansing Monday to investigate the working of the industrial accident board. It is also believed they will confer with Governor Ferris relative to the strike situation in the Upper peninsula, and that they will visit the Copper county before leaving the state.

William Harry, president of the New York Federation of Labor, and Cyrus W. Phillips, member of the New York legislature, will be in the party, and Secretary Drake of the industrial accident board has received word that they will represent the American Federation of Labor and the National Civic federation.

Check on Sheriff's Plans.

Today Governor Ferris wired Brig.-Gen. Abbey that he approved his plan of withdrawing the troops gradually from the strike district. However, the question of employing additional deputies caused Governor Ferris to send a copy of section 2596 of the compiled laws to Gen. Abbey and Sheriff Crune. Section 2596 follows:

"No sheriff in this state shall appoint any under-sheriff or deputy sheriff, except the person to be appointed shall have been a bona fide resident of the county in which the appointment is made for three months next preceding the time of appointment."

WHAT WILL HAPPEN IF MEXICO SNUBS LIND?

published in Mexico, was dispatched before news of Huerta's declaration had been received, and therefore, it was in no sense an answer to the announcement that Mr. Lind's presence in Mexico would be undesirable.

Anti-American Demonstrations.

Anti-American demonstrations and attacks on American property about Acapulco have been renewed, according to today's state department advices. The last attempt was made by bandits on Stephens Bros.' ranch. Money was demanded and horses and cattle were stolen. Consul Edwards says little protection is being afforded outside of the larger towns.

Official dispatches from Guaymas confirm reports that the town is in a state of siege, with the streets barricaded and the food supply short.

Threat of Snub.

Administration officials do not believe the Huerta government in Mexico really intends to snub Lind, as would seem to appear in last night's official statement by the Mexican acting minister of foreign affairs. This was to the effect that ex-Governor Lind will be persona non grata to the Huerta government unless he brings credentials in due form, "together with recognition of the government of Mexico."

Manuel Garza Aldape, the minister of public instruction, who is acting as minister of foreign affairs, issued the statement and had it transmitted to the United States embassy. It was also dispatched by the Mexican government to the United States and to Europe.

At the White House the impression put out was that when the Huerta government was fully apprised of President Wilson's views, as transmitted by Mr. Lind, a different construction would be placed upon Lind's errand, and Mexico would realize it as a "mission of peace."

President Wilson and Secretary Bryan are disposed to await the arrival of Mr. Lind in Mexico City before taking any further steps in the situation. This was made clear today at the White House.

Will Not Deal Directly.

It was pointed out again today that Mr. Lind goes merely as adviser to the American embassy in Mexico City, and carries credentials to neither the Federal nor the Constitutional governments. He will deal with the Huerta government only through the charge d'affaires of the American embassy so that there will be no necessity for his being received by President Huerta.

While the broad intimation from the Mexican capital that Mr. Lind would be persona non grata attracted attention today, officials were confident that no contingency would occur which would afford an opportunity for any overt remonstrance against Mr. Lind's presence.

The envoy is expected to transmit the opinions of the American government in such fashion as to reflect only the friendliness of the United States government toward the Mxican people, and no political interest in the factional warfare. He will make clear that what the American government desires to see established is a constitutional government, legally set up, and it has no concern with the personnel of the candidates.

Americans Released.

Charge O'Shaughnessy at Mexico City has notified the state department that he has been advised by the Mexican foreign office of the release of Biesel, MacDonald and Harrel, the Americans who had been held in Chihuahua prison since July 18. The foreign office assured the charge that the matter of an equitable compensation for the loss of an automobile, taken from the Americans, had been referred to the minister of finance with the recommendation that the "most liberal settlement permissible under law be made."

The men were charged with infraction of the law in taking bullion out of Mexico. Their release was demanded by Consul Letcher at Chihuahua and by the embassy staff in Mexico City, acting under instructions from Secretary Bryan.

Have Reached El Paso.

El Paso, Tex., Aug. 7.—After being held prisoners by the orders of Gen. Pasquale Orozco for nine days, witnessing the execution of their guide, a Mexican cowboy, and being fired upon by Federal soldiers at Rancheria, Charles Biesel, manager of the Mines Company of America, a Chicago man; Bernard J. MacDonald, manager of the San Chatricio Mining company of Parral, and Ray Harrel, their automobile driver, reached El Paso late last night. MacDonald said he is an American citizen, not an English subject. Harrel's automobile was taken from him in Chihuahua.

Seventeen Executed.

Mexico City, Aug. 7.—Seventeen Mexicans have paid with their lives for maltreating the daughters of Matthew Gourd, an American farmer, near Tampico, last Monday. American farmers participated in the execution of the penalty, according to information, regarded as reliable, received here.

The Americans, joined by Mexican land owners in the district of Atascador, near Tampico, organized a posse and rode into the hills in search of the band of outlaws who tied Gourd and robbed him and afterwards offered indignities to two daughters, in sight of their helpless father. The band was located and defeated in a fight, and several of its members were captured. The seventeen men killed by the posse included those slain in the fighting and those put to death by the vigilantes afterwards.

The government here does not yet admit the truth of the assault upon Mr. Gourd and his daughters.

Antagonism Increased.

Increased antagonism has been aroused among Mexicans toward President Wilson's plan for the pacification of the republic by news from Washington that the object of John Lind's visit here as the personal representative of President Wilson is to consult with prominent Mexicans and advise them that the only basis on which Mexico will be recognized by the United States is the elimination of President Huerta.

Earlier reports that Mr. Lind purposed to deal with Huerta perhaps by making the direct suggestion that he resign were received with indignation by Mexican officials, and the new angle of his visit makes it not probable that he will be treated with even less consideration than otherwise would have been accorded him.

Huerta Will Not Quit.

It was pointed out by a prominent Mexican that in the former case the government might not consider itself obliged to act until the suggestion was actually put forward by Mr. Lind; but that in the second case, the government would be justified in characterizing him as one who is inciting Mexicans along lines of sedition, and in applying the "pernicious foreign expulsion clause" of the Constitution.

Mexicans familiar with international law are reluctant to believe that Mr. Lind's instructions are for him to deal with others than the authorized officials of the de facto government. These officials are still firm in their assertion that no suggestions whatever involving mediation or the resignation of Huerta will be acceptable.

Has Sailed on Battleship.

Galveston, Tex., Aug. 7.—The United States battleship New Hampshire, bearing Former Governor John Lind of Minnesota to Mexico, as the personal representative of President Wilson, sailed en route to Vera Cruz at 11:16 o'clock this morning. The warship is due at Vera Cruz tomorrow night, and Mr. Lind will reach Mexico City twelve hours later.

Former Governor Lind arrived in Galveston before daylight and immediately boarded the battleship New Hampshire.

No civilian was allowed on board the battleship.

Has Nothing to Say.

Houston, Tex., Aug. 7.—Delayed several hours by the derailment of his train near Nome, Tex., last night, Former Governor John Lind of Minnesota arrived here early today and immediately proceeded to Galveston en route to Mexico City, where he goes as presidential representative.

The governor was shown dispatches from Mexico City containing the official statement that his coming in an unofficial capacity rendered him persona non grata to the Huerta government. Beyond characterizing it as news, he refused to comment.

FAMOUS PARTNER OF WANAMAKER IS DEAD

Robert C. Ogden, Noted as Philanthropist and Merchant Prince.

Kennebunkport, Me., Aug. 7.—Robert C. Ogden of New York, a philanthropist, died last night at his summer residence here. He was born in Philadelphia in 1836 and amassed a fortune as a member of the firm of John Wanamaker. He retired from active business six years ago.

Robert Curtiss Ogden was born in the city of Philadelphia June 20, 1836, the son of Jonathan Ogden, who died at a very advanced age in 1893. His ancestors were among the Puritans who sought refuge in the New World from religious persecution. Richard and John Ogden, brothers, emigrated from England about the year 1630, and settled in Connecticut, near the present town of Stamford, and became prominent men in the community.

Mr. Ogden was a descendant of Richard Ogden, elder of the two brothers. His father, in 1830, took up his residence in Philadelphia, where the son received his education in the public schools. This was supplemented by a course at the Academy for Boys in New London, Chester county.

Began Work at 15 Years.

In his 15th year he began life as a bread-winner in his native city, having chosen a mercantile career. In his 19th year he went to New York city, where his splendid business qualifications soon earned him a partnership with Devlin & Co., which he retained until 1885, when he disposed of his interest an dreturned to Philadelphia to become a leading member of the house John Wanamaker. Mr. Ogden continued in charge of the New York house until he retired, April, 1907.

He was a Republican in politics and a leading layman of the Presbyterian church. He had a decided interest in the affairs of the Presbyterian board of publication of Philadelphia, and it was largely due to his energetic effort that much of the work of the board has been effective. In 1885 he was a commissioner to the Presbyterian general assembly. He was in hearty accord with the progressive element of the church. He was a member of the famous conference of Liberal Presbyterians held in Cleveland, Ohio, in November, 1893; was a signer of the Cleveland declaration, and served on the committee for its dissemination. In the field of Philanthropy, Mr. Ogden has been equally active. Probably his greatest interest in this direction has been elicited in the behalf of the Institute for Afro-American and Indian Youths at Hampton, Va., near Fort Monroe. For twenty-five years and more he was a member of the citizens' permanent relief committee of Philadelphia, and at the time of the Johnstown disaster gave his personal attention to the collection and forwarding of supplies to the survivors. In 1892 he was made chairman of the finance committee for the relief of the famine sufferers in Russia.

In the educational field Mr. Ogden has been particularly active in the South, and for several years he was president of the Southern education board and the general education board. Yale conferred the degree of M. A. and Tulane university that of LL. D. upon Mr. Ogden.

He was a veteran of the Civil war. When the invasion of Pennsylvania by Gen. Lee's army in 1863 occurred, Mr. Ogden joined the Twenty-third regiment of the New York National Guard and continued with the regiment in the field until it was ordered home in connection with the suppression of the draft riots. He was a commissioned officer, and was for some time on the staff of the commander of the Eleventh brigade. He was a member of the Grand Army of the Republic, and also the military order of the Loyal Legion.

He was a director of the Union Theological seminary of New York; trustee of the Tuskegee institute, Tuskegee, Ala.; president, Conference for Education in the South; honorary member, Clio Society of Princeton university.

Four Auto Victims Buried.

Johnson and Willie Johnson who lost their lives Sunday when their automobile plunged into the Red river at Joliette, N. D. Rev. P. W. Erickson of Minot stood before the four coffins and spoke feelingly of the tragic deaths.

He was taken to a hospital, where his recovery is regarded as doubtful.

North Dakota Board Plans to Carry Out Law's Provisions.

Fargo, N. D., Aug. 7.—(Special to The Herald).—The state board of control in charge of the charitable and the penal institutions of the state have arranged to carry out the law enacted at the last legislative session, providing for the sterilization of insane and criminals who commit assaults on women.

At the state hospital for the insane an outside physician was named to consult with the superintendent and the hospital physicians relative to such treatment.

In the hospital now are five members of one family. An investigation disclosed the fact there are forty-three living members of that family, half of whom are already married. It is not difficult to estimate the number of additional insane that will result from the same family, all of which might have been prevented had the new law been in force a generation since.

SAYS JUDGES ARE SPIED ON

Senator Borah Accuses Department of Justice of Espionage.

Charge Is Denied in Report Made By McReynolds.

Washington, Aug. 7.—The flat charge that department of justice agents had investigated Federal judges to influence their action in cases in which the government was interested, was made in the senate today by Senator Borah and indorsed, partially at least, by Senator Norris.

Senator Borah's charge was brought out by a report from Attorney General McReynolds, responding to a senate resolution asking where Federal agents were investigating judges. The resolution reflected some sentiment aroused in the case of Federal Judge Speer of Georgia, whose court had been investigated and who had attacked the department of justice in a public speech.

The attorney general replied that any report that the Federal department of justice was maintaining a system of espionage over judges "was entirely without foundation."

Mr. Borah responded with his charge.

"Reliably Informed."

"I know this is a very serious charge," said he, "but I am so reliably informed that I make the statement that within the last four or five years special agents have carried on such investigations with a view to influencing judges."

Senator Norris declared he did not have all the information Senator Borah had, but he believed his statements were based on fact.

The attorney general's report declared that only three judges had been investigated, one of whom was Robert W. Archbald.

Senator Works, who introduced the resolution, denounced the attorney general's report today as "evasive" and unsatisfactory, and announced he would make a further demand for information.

Senator Borah's charge was characterized as "startling" by Senators Crawford and Sutherland. The latter declared it "needed investigation," and that if such "sinister influences" continued, "the end of the republic was in sight."

Asked for the Time.

Senator Hoke Smith asked Senator Borah for the exact time when Federal agents had been making efforts to influence judges in behalf of government cases.

"I think it has been going on more or less continuously for the last four or five years," responded Mr. Borah.

"These judges are practically under the control of the department, as far as promotion and demotion is concerned," said Senator Borah. "They have been mute to know even what kind of a decision the government desires handed down. If we are going to have a judiciary subject to secret influence, I am in favor of popular election and recall of judges."

Sun Yat Sen Has Fled to Island of Formosa.

Canton, China, Aug. 7.—Five hundred were killed or wounded in the fighting between the northern government troops and the rebels at the east gate of Canton, which was attacked by two divisions of the Northern army yesterday. The position of the city is regarded as serious.

Reinforcements, consisting of a detachment of an Indian regiment from Hongkong, have arrived to guard the lives and property of foreigners in the Shameen district.

Japan Lending Money?

London, Aug. 7.—A dispatch to the Daily Telegraph from Pekin says it is reported that a Japanese loan of $75,000,000 to the province of Hu Nan has been signed.

The correspondent asserts that Admiral Tseng, commanding the government squadron in the south, has issued a proclamation offering promotion to officers and cash as recompense to rebel soldiers who surrender.

Rebels Fight Among Themselves.

Shanghai, Aug. 7.—A desperate fight among the rebels themselves occurred at the Wu Sung forts yesterday. The famous rebel regiment called "Dare to Die," whose commander, Lufu Phoo was suspected of having plotted to capture the fortifications by stealth from the revolutionists in order to sell them to the government, attacked the forts in the afternoon. The forts opened fire upon the attackers, and simultaneously the northern troops executed a flanking movement which literally mowed down the "Dare to Dies."

Sun Yat Sen Has Fled.

Pekin, Aug. 7.—Dr. Sun Yat Sen, former provisional president of the republic, but now one of the leaders in the southern revolution, has fled the country on board a Japanese steamer bound for Formosa, an island belonging to Japan in the China sea, off the province of Fu Kien.

JURY TO TRY DIGGS CASE IS COMPLETED

Marsha Warrington May Be Called as a Witness.

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 7.—The twelve men who will try Maury I. Diggs of San Francisco, former state architect of California, for violation of the Mann white slave act, were sworn in today shortly before noon. The government followed with its preliminary statement of the case.

When court opened this morning only one juryman was to be selected. The questions asked talesmen showed that the government did not care for bachelor clubmen to pass on its case, and that the defense was not favorabel to grey-bearded fathers of families.

Marsha Warrington may be called to the stand, chief counsel for the prosecution said.

CANNOT FIX WAGES OF WOMEN AS YET.

St. Paul Minn., Aug. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Believing that fixing wage scales for women and children under the new minimum wage law is impractical in Minnesota at the present, the commission charged with enforcing the act has determined to pursue a campaign of education. Announcement to this effect was made today by Miss Eliza Evans, secretary of the commission which has the power of fixing wage rates after making an investigation.

Buttermilk Better Than Soap and Face Cream

(From Woman's Tribune.)

Those who use much soap seldom get their skins really clean. Soap is so apt to just wash over the surface, not cleansing the pores at all. Often, in fact, it leaves greasy deposits in the pores, encouraging blackheads and eruptions. The alkalt roughens and coarsens the skin.

If everyone used buttermilk instead of soap there would be fewer complexion complaints. It is more cleansing, especially in the form of presolated buttermilk paste, and of course there's nothing better to whiten and soften the skin. It is so easy just to spread it over and gently rub it into face, neck, arms and hands, washing it off when dry with plain water. Those who once get the presolated buttermilk paste never do without it. Almost any druggist can supply good presolated buttermilk paste. It keeps the skin soft and white and it is cheap because it makes soaps and creams unnecessary. Adv.

THIRD BALKAN WAR REGARDED POSSIBLE

Roumania Is Only Nation Satisfied With Terms of Peace.

London, Aug. 7.—The second Balkan peace conference having concluded peace on a basis of compromise which is unsatisfactory to all the states concerned, except possibly Roumania, the question is being asked how soon a third Balkan war will break out.

Bulgaria has obtained, under the agreement reached in Bucharest yesterday, a considerable portion of Northern Macedonia—much more than the allies were at first inclined to give her—and also about sixty miles of the Aegean seaboard, which will enable her to build her projected railway from Philippopolis to the Aegean sea.

Bulgaria, however, deeply resents being deprived of Kavala, a port of Kavala bay, which goes to Greece. Also she is confronted with the task of expelling the Turks from Adrianople.

Bulgaria will seek to introduce in the peace protocol a reservation practically appealing to the European powers for a subsequent revision of the peace treaty.

CITY OWNS A THEATER

Scheme Undertaken By Northampton, Mass., a Success---Good Plays Acted By a Competent Cast.

In Northampton, Mass., a city of about 20,000, is the only municipal theater in the United States. It was started as an experiment, and as a relief from the wretched road shows which were being sent in there, but so successful has been the experiment that the municipal theater is an established institution.

About twenty years ago a theater costing about $100,000 was given the city of Northampton by one of its residents, E. R. H. Lyman. Since that time the house has shared all the woes and difficulties of theaters in small towns which do not lie on the road taken by the better productions.

Each year the city leased the theater to a manager, who procured what attractions he could. One night it might be a thrilling melodrama of the cheapest type, and the next it might be Sothern and Marlowe, and the next night the house would be dark. The general effect was a mixture of the best of the argument, and the manager and the city were running in debt.

Asked Henry Miller's Advice.

A number of the residents believed that the city's theater should not be a drain upon the municipal treasury. A year ago they sought the advice of Prof. George Baker of Harvard, who is regarded as an authority on things dramatic. At his suggestion Henry Miller, the actor, was called into consultation to discuss the advisability of having one company, owned, managed and directed by the city, to play for the city whatever and whenever it desired. Bertram Harrison, an experienced stage manager, and Miss Jessie Bonstelle, for many years manager of her own stock company in Buffalo and Detroit, were asked to be the directors of the new enterprise. Thoy chose a good company, and on Oct. 1 the Northampton players opened the season with 'Old Heidelberg."

The men who were responsible for the new scheme put up the money to tide the company over a certain number of weeks. If at the end of that time the enterprise gave promise of being self-supporting the city should assume all responsibilities; if in debt, the company should be disbanded. At the end of the sixth week the credit side of the company's ledger loomed up larger than the debit, and since that time the balance in the treasury at the end of each week has been growing steadily.

All this was accomplished not without difficulty. The old inhabitants viewed with horror the city's going into the theatrical business. Others, the mill hands, factory workers and shopkeepers, declared that the stuff the city would produce would be too high-brow; the faculty and students of Smith college, on the other hand, believed that a stock company would play only stale and worn out dramas. But all these factions have been won over to the civic theater, and everyone is an enthusiastic supporter. For 25, 50 and 75 cents Northampton sees plays for which Broadway is paying $2.

Sure of Good Shows.

The attendance at the new theater has grown a week by week, and Northampton has got the habit of going to the theater. The residents are certain of seeing a good play acted by a competent cast, and do not run the risk of seeing an indifferent road show played by mediocre actors. They don't care so much what they see now; they are interested in how their company plays. The two front rows every Friday night are occupied by the members or an honorary sorority at Smith college; the top gallery is practically sold out every Saturday night to the employes of one of the big factories, and every Wednesday afternoon a number of gray-haired women occupy an entire row. Everyone speaks of the actors as "the boys and girls," and are as much interested in them personally as they are theatrically.

The street car company places large placards announcing the next play on the front platform of all the cars, free. The shopkeepers vie with one another in their offers to lend the properties, and residents beg the directors to allow their ancestral portraits and cherished heirlooms to appear as parts of the stage settings. One public-spirited family, hearing that the company lacked a player, lent its butler to play the part of a butler in "The Fortune Hunter" one week. In return the directors have expressed their willingness to produce what the people would like to see and what the faculties of Smith and Amherst colleges would like their students to see. The comedies of Sheridan, Shakespeare and Moliere are already down on the list of future attractions, as well as a series of Ibsen dramas.

The people have been initiated into all the mysteries of producing a play. They may attend rehearsals, if they wish; they may go behind the scenes; they may make suggestions and ask for plays. One night, that they might better understand conditions, the curtain was raised between the acts and everyone in front was allowed to see how a scene is struck and how a new one is set up. Again, when some crabbed and parsimonious resident complained that the theater was spending too much money on scenery, the municipal scene painter transferred his studio to the side street on which the theater stands, that the town might see how he converted a castle in Scotland into a street scene for the cost of the paint. The municipal idea has so taken hold of the people of Northampton that there is a possibility of a civic center being built around the civic theater.

Advantages of the Plan.

A municipal theater has its advantages from a managerial standpoint also. When the directors were looking for a play appropriate to the Christmas season, and hit upon "The Little Town of Bethlehem," they were told that since the sudden death of Spencer Trask in 1909 it had been taken off the boards and the rights withdrawn. Nevertheless, because of the way in which the municipal theater's requests had been received elsewhere, Miss Bonstelle was encouraged to approach Mrs. Trask herself in the matter. She obtained not only the right to give the play, but was lent the costumes and the scenery which had been made for the original production. It is this production which the Northampton players took to Boston to demonstrate what a city-owned company could do. For the Boston performance the municipal company charged its regular prices, though they played in a house that usually charges $2 for the best seats.

Miss Bonstelle declares that she has received kindly interest and hearty cooperation from everyone—even the managers. They have reduced royalties and send the company innumerable new plays to try out. They are in favor of municipal theaters, as they realize the need for schools of acting. And the only schools generally recognized are the stock companies.

FARM PHILOSOPHY.

Farm Journal: We get our pay for what we do, and we get it as we go along. Kick the old brindle cow and she will kick you back. Why shouldn't she? It is a law of nature. "Action and reaction are equal and in opposite directions." Did we not learn that in the old philosophy many years ago?

It works in everything we do about the farm. Go down to the barn with a song on your lips and a great chorus of delight will greet you from the horses and the cows the minute you swing the door open. Even the old dog will creep up to you and laugh out his joy at your coming.

It is the way these dumb creatures take of paying you for the tune you are singing. They like it and want you to know it.

Tickle the earth in the right place and she will fill your basket full to overflowing at harvest time. Poke fun at her, and say you don't believe in her, and you will go begging next winter.

Try to fool this old earth of ours and you will get back as good as you sent. Slipshod, half-hearted farming pays off no mortgage. Work must be done with honest purpose to win.

TROPHY OF LAST BUFFALO HUNT.

New York Sun: A. C. Wendell, known as "Captain Jack," an old employe of the Minneapolis postoffice, a Civil war veteran, is the possessor of an odd relic in an old silver watch presented to Chief Ouray, a Ute Indian, by the late Grand Duke Alexis of Russia, following a buffalo hunt in America, Mr. Wendell being a member of the party.

A party composed of many celebrated men left Omaha in 1872 on what was known as the "last buffalo hunt." The party consisted of the Grand Duke Alexis of Russia, Count Donhoff (aid to the duke), Col. William F. Cody (Buffalo Bill), Gen. Philip Sheridan, Gen. George A. Custer, Chief Ouray, the Ute Indian guide, and six aids, including Wendell.

On returning to Omaha after the hunt each member of the party was presented with some remembrance by Count Donhoff, in the name of the Duke Alexis. Some received watch charms, medals, gold pieces, and the Indian was given the silver watch. All the officers received valuable gold watches. The Indian's watch is an open-face, Swiss movement, in a silver case. The inscription on the watches was as follows: "In memory of the last buffalo hunt, from Grand Duke Alexis and Count Donhoff."

On the death of the Indian chief Ouray, his squaw, Chipta, sold the watch to a scout, who sold it to Capt. Wendell in Omaha in 1880. He has carried it for thirty-three years, and it has been running all the time. The watch is now in good condition and Mr. Wendell is carrying it daily.

NOT WASTING ANY COIN.

Philadelphia Telegraph: The conversation led to a certain parsimonious party a few days ago when Senator William P. Dillingham of Vermont broadly smiled. Here is the fountain of the smile:

In a pretty little town in the East, so avers the senator, there is a golf club. Everybody who has the price of a bag of junk and can fuss up a bit on style proudly totes around a membership card. Great games, of course, and the rakeoff the caddy gets is 10 cents an hour.

One afternoon a member of the club was seen darting around to beat the busy bees. He approached first one member and then another. Finally he stacked up against Smith.

"Look here, old fellow," he earnestly cried, "have you got change for a dime?"

"No," replied Smith, a little wonderingly; "what on earth do you want a dime changed for?"

"It's for the caddy," came the surprising reply. "I owe him 29 cents."

CAUTIOUS HIRAM.

Youth's Companion: Two farmers met in a Western town a day or two after a cyclone had visited that particular neighborhood.

"She shook things up pretty bad out at my place," said one, stroking his whiskers meditatively. "By the way, Hi," he added, "that new barn o' yourn get hurt any?"

"Wal," drawled the other, "I dunno, I hain't found it yet."

The little red schoolhouse on the hill will be one of the features of College day at the boat club Saturday, arranged by boat club members who are not college men. Those in charge will not tell their plans, but a mischievous smile always lurks around the corners of the mouth when they are asked. The girls are hoping they will pass out red apples and sticks of candy or "all-day suckers" of schoolday fame.

All Invited.

About 1,900 invitations were sent out by the boat club to former college men and women and the girls and men who are now in school, but the list, although as complete as the committee could make it, did not include all, and the boat club wishes to extend a most cordial invitation to all who are graduates of any university or college, or who spent some time there, whether graduates or not, to be guests of the club on Saturday.

The celebration will start at 4 o'clock in the afternoon with an automobile parade from the Spalding hotel to the bridge, and then there will be shows on the pike arranged by the different schools, a picnic supper in the grove, athletic stunts and a bonfire on the lake shore, with college songs and yells.

A SPINSTER AND PROUD OF IT

Business Women Better Off Than Those Who Marry, Says One.

Any one, be he author, minister, lecturer, statistician, who has the temerity to criticize, or, what is worse, to pity the unmarried woman, must take issue with Miss Adaline Fogg Norcross, who is a spinster and proud of it, says the Boston Post.

To the unmarried women of any age, Miss Norcross, who is a Boston author of many years' experience, sends a message of advice, admiration and congratulation.

The unmarried girl is advised by Miss Norcross not to be in too big a hurry to get married; the unmarried woman, who has reached that age where the world has applied to her that hateful term, "old maid," is told that she should be thankful she has passed through all the years successfully without the encumbrance of a mere man.

A story published last winter in Boston has brought Miss Norcross forward as the spinsters' champion. The state actuary, Mr. Montgomery, in the article, was quoted as saying that married women live longer than unmarried women. If that is so, how is that so many single women become second wives?

"You understand, now, that I am not condemning marriage, just because I myself am not married. I believe that is what we women were put on earth for, to be married. But I do not think that every woman should take any chance to marry that she gets, just, as so many of them put it, 'to get a home so we shan't be lonely in our old age.'

Take a class of girls graduated from one of the public schools thirty years ago, says Miss Norcross. The single women of that class today look younger by some ten years than their married sisters. Further, she adds, of that class more than half the number who married early are dead, while the single ones, or those who married later, are all alive. Some of those who put off marriage are now the second wives of men who first married girls who have passed on.

"This is a contradiction of the statistics, isn't it?" she queried, triumphantly.

The widows of the class to which she refers show their age even more than the present married women, she believes.

"That fact," she said, "goes to prove, I suppose, that the habit of matrimony, once formed, needs to be kept up to the bitter end if one hopes to avoid premature and lonely old age."

There is no doubt, according to Miss Norcross, that a bachelor lacks a home, but she says a woman, married or single, can make a home—even in one room.

"The prettiest homes, the most comfortable and the best managed," she asserts, "are owned by the spinsters of our cities.

"And most of the married women envy them their quiet little menage, with no men's pipes, or newspapers, or old boots scattered about. They also envy the spinsters their freedom from waiting—waiting for some one to come home to dinner."

The Sharing of Worries.

"A married woman who shares her sorrows," Miss Norcross continues, 'does have some advantage over the unmarried woman who has no sorrows to share. But it often happens that she is called upon to share only her husband's worries, and very inadequately, as she can do nothing to help. And, being a woman and seeing things only from a feminine standpoint, her advice usually is useless.

"That is one reason why more and more men are choosing business women as life partners."

Two parallel examples, purely imaginary, rather a collection of composite cases, are cited by Miss Norcross, to prove that the unmarried state is indeed the blessed one.

"Alice B. was one of the prettiest girls in the class of the G. high school. She was talented, a good musician and with some genius as a china painter. Her suitors were numerous from the time she was out of short skirts.

"Her boon companion, her 'pal,' was Marian J., a year older. Like Alice, Marian was pretty, but in a stronger, more rugged way.

"Yet, unlike Alice, she could not play, nor did she care much for social affairs. She had, however, a 'head for figures,' and led her class in many of her studies. Alice was not a brilliant student. In fact, Marian helped her through several examinations by persistent coaching.

"When Alice was graduated she began a round of social activities that lasted usually from noon until early the next morning. Bridges, teas, motor rides and dances were a part of her daily program. Then for a year she went to a noted finishing school, returning to take a leading part in the life of the town in which she was born.

The Rise of Marian.

"Although her parents were fairly wealthy, Marian insisted upon going to work after graduation. She entered the largest department store in town as assistant to the buyer of women's shirtwaists.

"She received the salary of $7 each Saturday night for her previous week's work. She was clever, had a good personality, and these qualities, coupled with her before mentioned 'head for figures,' enabled her to advance in her profession. Within three years she was buyer in another store, receiving $30 a week.

"As to Alice, two years after she graduated she married. Her husband was a young lawyer of good family, but with little more than his prospects in the way of worldly goods.

"The third year after her graduation—the same twelvemonth that Marian was enjoying $30 a week and her independence—she bore a child. Her health, never good, was practically shattered.

"After three more years Marian had an offer from a Chicago store, at triple the salary she was receiving. She accepted it and moved to the larger city. Now, 15 years after her graduation, she is 33 years old, looks 23, gets $100 a week as a buyer of silks, takes three trips abroad each year, has a beautiful small apartment and her personal maid, and wouldn't marry the best man on earth.

"Just after Marian moved to Chicago Alice had another child. She became an invalid. Her husband never has been successful, and their income is not sufficient to support them with the many little luxuries she should have.

"Their children are strong, but they are considered by Alice in the light of an affliction because she can't give them the proper care on account of her illness. She never has been able to travel and is discontented and fretful. She is a year younger than Marian and looks old enough to be her aunt."

On all of this Miss Norcross makes no comment, except to remark that the double story speaks for itself.

AN ELECTRIC HOTEL.

Harper's Weekly: In the Boulevard des Italiens, one of the most elegant streets of the French metropolis, there is a marvelous hotel. It is called "La Maison Electrique" and is the result of the genius of its proprietor, George Knapp. It has the unique quality of not using servants of any kind. From porter, bell boy, chambermaid and waitress to bootblack, all the work is done and all the calls are answered by electricity.

On getting out of his motor at the door, the arrival puts his feet on a movable carpet which carries him to the hotel office. Here, instead of a key, he is given a magnetic combination which opens his room. His baggage is taken to his room in an electric hoist and dumped into a position in his closet.

The traveler ascends in an elevator which is furnished with a series of buttons containing the numbers on the various floors; he presses the one which corresponds with the number of his room and the car stops to let him off.

This hotel has no fixed staircases whatever. Everything is either elevator, moving platform or escalator; and the person who gets into one or finds himself standing upon the other has not to move until he gets to the top.

Each room is furnished with bootcleaners, and by pressing the necessary button one can get all desired toilet articles, from brush and comb to shaving soap and face powder. The buttons are arranged with reference to meals as well. Coffee and rolls, for example, can be had by pressing the button which has written over it the words "Light Breakfast." Some of the other buttons read: "Wine," "Beer," "Breakfast," "Menu," "Hour," etc. By pressing the "Hour" button a panel appears in which is marked the exact time of day. When a meal is ordered in this manner a door under the button opens presently, and a table is pushed forward with a tray on it containing the desired supply.

Each room has telephone, electric light, electric appliances for bath and massage, cigar lighters, etc.

Nor are there any waiters in the dining room, nor "tips" required. The guest seats himself at a table, takes up the bill of fare, writes his order with an electric pen he finds at his side, and his order is carried automatically to the kitchen in the basement, where the "chef" does the rest—with the aid of electric buttons and the cook. The dishes are sent up to the guest by a dumb-waiter which buzzes, and he has only to press another button to have everything deposited in order before him.

And, to cap the climax, there is a pianola in the room that will play for him any time he desires.

A CANDY KID, SO TO SPEAK.

Pharmaceutical Era: In the station at St. Margaret, Etyria (on the frontier between Germany and Austria), an elegantly dressed couple passed through the customs office, the man carrying a child in swaddling clothes, a very elaborate outfit. Only when the pair had taken the train for Bregenz did any doubts as to the genuineness of the child come into the customs officials's mind. He immediately instituted search, and discovered that the infant was a carefully concealed receptacle containing a large quantity of saccharin. The "sweet baby" was at once confiscated and the pair of smugglers held.

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

Business Men Make as Good Husbands as Others.

Two Englishwomen of rank have gone on record with the assertion that business men make poor husbands.

Says Lady Cowdray: "The business man may not have as much time for demonstrating his affections as an idle man." And says Lady Alexander: "The more efficient he becomes in business, the less so he becomes in love."

Of course!

Well, I suppose we ought not to expect any more of an Englishwoman with a "Lady" tacked onto the front of her name.

Of course! The business man naturally would not have as much time for "demonstrating his affections" as an idle man. And of course these dear English ladies, having idle lords for husbands, know whereof they speak. And business, anyway, is decidedly vulgar, so who would want a husband who is in business? Who, indeed!

Really the matter is too absurd for argument, so why should I feel any obligation to fly to the defense of the business man as a husband, from an attack by two English ladies who apparently are seeking to devise new ways and means to relieve their ennui?

I am sure I should not have noticed it had not a responsible newspaper printed these statements, and then published interviews with a number of leading American women, in a particular city, making light of them.

I suppose it is a difference of ideals here and among our English cousins that is responsible for the difference of opinion here; although I doubt if sensible Englishwomen of the middle class would agree with any such ridiculous indictment of the business man as a husband.

We are all familiar with the business man, here in America, who allows himself to become so much engrossed in his business affairs that he neglects, to a greater or less degree, his home and family. There are many such men. But happily, as compared with the great majority, they are few. The business man makes as good a husband as the professional man or the English lord—considerably better than the average of the latter, no doubt. And who would want an idler for a husband, anyway?

The Home Beauty Parlor

By Betty Dean

Molly O.: You can't expect to keep your hair healthy or free from dandruff without care or by brushing only. For years I have treated my head regularly with this simple, home-made tonic, which keeps my hair and scalp both perfectly healthy and so has given me a fine growth of lustrous hair. Dissolve one ounce quinzoin in ½ pint alcohol and add ½ pint water. Massage this carefully into the scalp once a week. It will induce a natural, healthy, luxuriant growth of hair and give it richness and glossiness. For an excellent, home-made shampoo see recipe given Golden-Hair.

Mrs. J.: Yes, you are over-fat, and I am glad I can tell you how to reduce without the risk of dieting or the discomfort of walking long distances. Try this remedy: To 1½ pints of hot water add 4 ounces of parnotis. Let dissolve and cool. Take a tablespoonful before each meal. This is a safe and sure treatment and has the big advantage of reducing the flesh evenly and gradually, so there will be no sagginess or loss of tissue-strength.

Mercy: I think you are unduly worried about your skin. Most users of face powders have more or less similar troubles. Here is a simple, home-made lotion which is better than face powder and when on seems part of the skin, to which it gives a soft, velvety texture and a beautiful, natural color. Get 4 ounces of spurmax, dissolve in ½ pint hot water and add two teaspoons glycerine. Stir well. You may apply this freely to face, neck and arms. It is a cheap, safe, liquid beautifier which will work wonders to purify your skin and hide its imperfections.

Worrier: Your letter leads me to believe that to remove the yellowness of neck and chin all you need is a good blood tonic. Here is a fine one that will brace you up and clear your complexion and (like everything I recommend) is easily made at home at slight cost: Mix together ½ cup sugar, ½ pint alcohol (not whisky) and one ounce kardene. Add enough hot water to make a full quart, and take a tablespoonful before each meal. I know nothing better for the general run-down condition.

Golden-Hair: No, the canthrox mixture is a simple home-made shampoo and is not a hair bleach or a dye in any sense. The "blonde" effect your friend spoke of was probably due to the fact that this preparation takes out all excess oil and dirt and cleans each strand so thoroughly as to keep the lightest hair from turning dark. To use it simply dissolve one teaspoonful in a cup of hot water. This is plenty for a thorough cleansing with beautiful, fluffy results. I know no shampoo which compares with it.

Mrs. Bly: Your wrinkles can be quickly, easily and permanently removed by the use of this stimulating jelly-cream. It is a vegetable preparation which will not grow hair where used and is easily made at home at small cost. From your druggist get one ounce almozoin and dissolve it in ½ pint cold water, adding two teaspoonfuls glycerine. Stir and let stand one day. This is fine to fill out wrinkles and hollows, and will also tone the skin to fine, clear health and beauty. You will feel its stimulating power on the first application.

Pearl: You are on the road to serious eye-trouble if you continue to neglect that weak, dizzy vision. Try this tonic for a while and it will remove the red appearance and give back the clearness, strength and sparkle of your eyes. Mix one ounce crystos in a pint of water. Use 2 or 3 drops in each eye, night and morning. This natural tonic will soothe the tired nerves, rest inflamed lids and beautify the eyes.

SCHOOL AT COUNTY JAIL

Board Makes Provisions for Educational Work Among Prisoners.

Judges of District Court Asked to Appoint Industrial Home Attendants.

At its meeting yesterday afternoon, the St. Louis county board passed a resolution presented by Commissioner Swanstrom providing for educational work at the county jail among the prisoners. The authority for the "jail school" is given by a law passed by the 1913 legislature.

Mrs. A. B. Siewert will serve without pay as supervisor of the educational work and Mrs. W. C. Johnson will be engaged as an assistant instructor at $25 per month.

Sheriff Meining, while not opposed to educational work among the prisoners, is not impressed with the idea of having too many prisoners in the jail corridors at the same time, necessitating a heavy guard to be stationed nearby to prevent a possible jail delivery.

The county board also adopted a resolution requesting the judges of the district court to appoint at their convenience, a superintendent, matron and other employes for the Industrial Home School for Girls which the county has established at 1530 London road, and to fix their salaries.

The board appropriated $7,500 as a fund for the newly created joint city and county work farm commission to draw upon for the remainder of the year. The commission will need about $15,000 and the city is expected to appropriate the other half, as is provided by law.

DULUTH BANKS TO GET CROP FUND DEPOSITS

Treasury Department Includes City in List of Those Announced.

Washington, Aug. 7.—Three more cities—Duluth, Minn., Lexington, Ky., and Fort Worth, Tex.—have been named as places where the treasury department will deposit funds to help in the movement of crops. It was explained that these three cities were in the original list, but were not announced with the other fifty-nine.

Secretary McAdoo's plan to deposit an additional $50,000,000 of government funds among the banks in the agricultural sections has met with prompt approval from the bankers in the Southern, Western and Far Western states invited to attend the conference at the treasury department regarding the distribution of the funds.

The banks of all five Far Western cities included in the plan have replied they will send representatives to Washington. Out of the nineteen Western cities all but three have sent favorable replies, and all of the thirty-seven Southern cities have been heard from. Several of the latter, however, said they felt no need of joining in the conference because they felt satisfied they would be fairly treated in the distribution.

More than seventy-five Southern bankers will gather in the office of Assistant Secretary Williams for the first conference. Secretary McAdoo and E. B. Bascom, chief of the division of public moneys, will be present.

The conference with Western bankers is scheduled for Friday and that with the Far Western bankers for Thursday of next week.

A number of cities have sent protests against their not being included in the proposed distribution, and some pressure, it is said, is being brought to bear through representatives in congress to have Secretary McAdoo revise his list. While no definite announcement of the department's intention has been made, indications are the list will not be altered.

PERSONAL INJURY ACTION SETTLED

Administrator Accepts Sum of $2,232 as Damages for Death of Joseph Sheehan.

William A. Watts, special administrator of the estate of Joseph Sheehan, Proctor railroad man who was killed while at his work last October, has accepted $2,232 in settlement of a claim for wrongful death against the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railroad company. Watts sued the company for $15,000, for the benefit of the heirs, two brothers and two sisters. Judge Ensign in district court yesterday signed an order setting Sept. 15 as the date for the hearing on an order for distribution.

Judge Ensign yesterday ordered distribution of the $6,500 received by Frances McNulty, widow of the late Thomas McNulty, from the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic railway in settlement for a claim for wrongful death. McNulty was a locomotive engineer and was killed in a wreck at Saxon, Wis. The money, after expenses are paid, goes to the widow and her seven children.

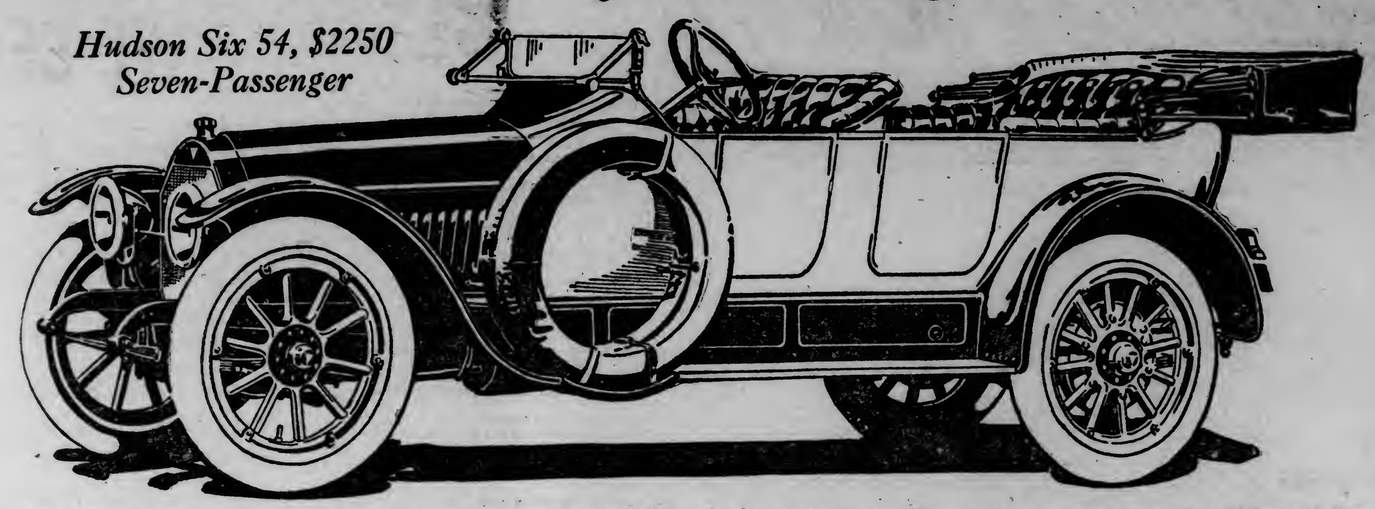
The New Ideal of a Distinguished Car

Hudson Six 54, $2250
Seven-Passenger



HERE now is a car which typifies the ideals of the time. This streamline body—this long, sloping hood—this absence of angle at the dash—this low-hung chassis—these crowned fenders—this placing of extra tires so the front doors are left clear—these things belong to the car of today.

The consensus of the world's best opinion is that this type of car marks the coming ideal car. These are radical changes but they are coming as surely as foredoors came—and as suddenly.

All the best foreign cars—English, French and German—will this year exhibit exclusively this new streamline body. And all men know that what they adopt in body design becomes the world-wide vogue.

Our designers have added a hundred minor effects. They have Americanized—have Hudsonized—the type. So the car is distinctive. There will be no other just like it. But it embodies what we regard as the highest conception of the modern trend in bodies.

And we believe that every connoisseur will consider this new HUDSON Six the handsomest car exhibited.

Engineering Pauses

We can claim in this car no great advance as regards fine engineering and no HUDSON owner expects it. Fine engineering has limits. For the past four years Howard E. Coffin and his able engineers have given their best to the HUDSON. Last year they brought Sixes pretty close to perfection. So close that the HUDSON Six jumped in one year into the foremost rank among Sixes.

These men have worked out in this new-model car a vast number of minor engineering improvements. They have added scores of new mechanical features—some of them quite important. But we never expect to build a much better chassis than we built in our last year's Six.

This year's advances lie mainly in beauty, in comfort, in conveniences, in room. We have combined the best in lines, finish and equipment with the best in engineering. We have succeeded in making the HUDSON Six the masterpiece it is.

Now the Ideal Car

We now feel that this HUDSON 54 offers the utmost in every wanted feature. It has the staunchness of steel Pullmans. It has the comfort of Turkish lounging chairs. It has the speed of express trains. It is free from all the troubles which annoy the inexpert.

No man knows how to build a car more handsome and impressive. No conveniences are absent, no modern features lacking.

And all these things are here included in a Six 54, with seven-passenger body, at the record price of $2250 (f.o.b. Detroit, Michigan).

The New Features

These are among the new features we bring out in this model. No mention is here made of the countless features in previous HUDSON models which we still retain.

Seven-passenger body.

135-inch wheelbase.

36x4½-inch tires.

Extra tires carried—as never before—ahead of the front door. This leaves both front doors clear.

Four forward speeds.

Pure streamline body.

Low-hung body.

No angles at the dash.

Wide tonneau doors.

Gasoline tank in dash.

Electric self-cranking, with the rapid type of the Delco system built especially for this car.

Powerful electric lights with dimming attachment for city driving. They also act as ordinance lights.

Extra seats in tonneau fold into back of front seat, entirely out of the way.

Jeweled magnetic speedometer in dash, with new concealed noiseless gears.

Every operation and control placed within reach of the driver's hand. Gasoline and oil control, lights and starter.

Individual Yale lock and ignition control, prevents theft of car.

Rain-vision windshield built as part of the car.

Genuine Pantasote top. Curtains that are carried in the top can be instantly adjusted.

Electric horn—trunk rack—tire holders—license carriers—everything.

Come See It—Come Today

Come to our showrooms and see this new achievement. It is not merely an improved car—it's a real innovation. It will display to you all the best thought of the day in automobile designing.

Come see it while it's new.

This Week's Sunday School Lesson

WRITTEN FOR THE HERALD BY REV. J. S. KIRTLEY, D. D.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON: AUG. 10.

Exodus xii, 21-31: The Passover.

CONNECTION.

The tenth plague is about to fall upon them, and God is arranging to save the children of Israel, while the firstborn of the Egyptian people and cattle will be slain. The angel of death will pass over the homes where the blood is sprinkled on their lintels and doorposts. That will give them passover rite to commemorate this wonderful deliverance forever. The family will eat of the slain lamb and sprinkle the blood as directed.

THE LESSON.

I.

The Passover Instituted. 21-23.

"Then Moses called for all the elders of Israel, and said unto them, Draw out, and take your lambs according to your families, and kill the passover. And ye shall take a bunch of hyssop, and dip it in the blood that is in the basin, and strike the lintel and the two sideposts with the blood that is in the basin; and none of you shall go out of the door of his house until the morning. For Jehovah will pass through to smite the Egyptians; and when He seeth the blood upon the lintel and on the two sideposts, Jehovah will pass over the door, and will not suffer the destroyer to come in unto your houses to smite you."

1. STUBBORNNESS.—Three times Pharaoh had seemed to repent, but when the hand of affliction was lifted from him he resumed his hardness. Now, when this last plague shall invade the palace and take away his firstborn, he will be crushed into submission, for a while at least. The reason for his stubbornness was partly that he didn't like to lose such valuable workmen, partly that he didn't like to be personally defeated, but chiefly because he considered himself a god, and to be defeated by another God was to help prove that God was true and his own gods false and himself no god at all.

2. BLOOD.—The outer purpose of the blood on the doorpost was to show to the destroying angel which houses belonged to the Hebrews, and which to the Egyptians, so as to pass by the former. But the blood was really not needed for that purpose. An angel that had sense enough to see the blood would know the houses apart anyhow. And if the destroyer was merely some messenger like a disease sent by God, He could send it only where He wished without the outer sign of the blood. So there was a subjective as well as an objective purpose in that blood. To the occupants of the house it meant that their right of choice was respected, God would not work in this case without their choice or consent. It also was designed to teach them and all who would ever know about it that as life is only produced by life, so it can only be preserved by life, life that yields up its own rich streams of blood; not only preserved but nourished by life, for they ate of the lamb whose blood claimed their protection. This meaning was in the Passover at the first, but they didn't see it, couldn't. It took generations to bring out its whole significance, and it took the sacrifice of Christ.

3. METHOD — It was celebrated by families or by groups of families. The lamb was selected and kept up four days. The lamb was required not for its strength or its valor, but for its sanity as food and its symbolism of innocence. The blood was sprinkled with hyssop, a small shrub, and they were to remain indoors till the hour had passed in token of complete acquiesence in God's arrangements. The bitter herbs were a token of their bitter bondage now ending, the unleavened bread expressing unmingled gratitude and submission. They were to be girded and dressed ready for speedy departure from bondage, and thus trained in the virtues of faith and hope and prompt obedience. The "elders," or officers were to prepare for this with great care.

II.

Passover to be Perpetuated. 24-27.

"And ye shall observe this thing for an ordinance to thee and to thy sons forever. And it shall come to pass, when ye are come to the land which Jehovah will give you, according as He hath promised, that ye shall keep this service. And it shall come to pass, when your children shall say unto you: What mean ye by this service? That ye shall say: It is the sacrifice of Jehovah's passover, Who passed over the houses of the children of Israel in Egypt and delivered our houses. And the people bowed the head and worshipped."

1. COMMEMORATIVE — The nation was to last, so was this rite; and it was to be woven into the thought and spirit of the nation. Three great national festivals would arise—this passover, the Pentecost fifty days later to celebrate the giving of the law on Mt. Sinai, the feast of Tabernacles in the autumn, a sort of "Harvest Home," when the people would live in tents seven days in memory of the tent life in the wilderness. Later there grew up other national festivals, of more or less importance, but these three stood out in transcendent importance. Two things were required, the object lesson of the lamb and herbs and bread, and the instruction that would go along with it. The children would be sure to ask what it meant every time as long as it would be celebrated, and the parents would tell the story and have the children girded and ready for obedient action. Thus it would get into their life and fiber.

2. PROPHETIC — The nation was taught that this lamb was prophetic of another, the perfect Lamb who would deliver from worse than Egyptian bondage. It looked both backward and forward, teaching history and faith and hope and love and purity. Its last real observance was "the last supper" in the "upper room."

III

That Awful Night. 28-31.

"And the children of Israel went and did so; as Jehovah had commanded Moses and Aaron, so did they. And it came to pass at midnight, that Jehovah smote all the first-born in the land of Egypt, from the first-born of Pharaoh that sat on his throne unto the first-born of the captive that was in the dungeon; and all the first-born of cattle. And Pharaoh rose up in the night, he, and all his servants, and all the Egyptians; and there was a great cry in Egypt; for there was not a house where there was not one dead. And he called for Moses and Aaron by night, and said, Rise up, get you forth from among my people, both ye and the children of Israel; and go, serve Jehovah, as ye have said."

1. JOY.—Those were more or less barbaric days. The Hebrew mothers pressed their children to their bosoms with all the more joy for knowing that Egyptians were losing theirs. Their preparations were complete and they had gained their first lesson in a series of disciplines that were to develop them into the greatest people beneath the stars.

2. AGONY—It was all through Egypt or that group who opposed the going of Israel. It was the plague of plagues. It penetrated the palace, took Pharoah's all and shattered for the time his sense of divinity. He at last urged the Jews to leave and the Egyptians rose up and offered them jewels and clothes to get out. He probably was sorry he hadn't dismissed them sooner. Though he sent them away, he is sure to be vindictive for what he had suffered on their account and to take it all back. We shall see in the next lesson what an infatuated fool he was.

WHAT THE MASTERS SAY.

Orientals have always attached special importance to the door of a house. Only members of the family and friends pass through the door. A burglar would carefully avoid it, preferring to make his way with the help of the window (if there was one), or by digging through the back wall. A modern Arab, when crossing the threshold of a house is expected to say: bismillah—"in the name of God." A similar feeling must have suggested the custom of inscribing the front of a house with the words "good house," or some other inscription, which was current in ancient Egypt.—W. T. Smith.

The Egyptians had more left than was taken, far more, though probably they did not think of that just then. God is not dealing with the world in judgment, then or now. That is being reserved to the very last. God may be ignored, as He is so much; but He never ignores. He is never absent. His breath still breathes in the forgetful lungs. His air still purifies the blood in the forgetting heart. His sun and rains still feed and clothe and house forgetful, profane, defiant men. And when, by a bit of withdrawal, as here, that comes which seems to us like judgment, it is an earnest God lovingly trying to attract our attention. For if a man persists in leaving God out, by and by God must let him have his own way in full, and that is the worst thing that could come to any man.—Gordon.

PERTINENT QUESTIONS.

1. If they had failed to make use of the blood what would have happened?
2. If we forget the blood of "the lamb of God" what do we lose?
3. What is the duty hero disclosed to parents about teaching their children?
4. What is the value of curiosity in children?
5. How promote the religious solidarity of the family?
6. What is the lesson about obedience?

CHARGE COMPANY WITH UNFAIRNESS.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 7.—The strike investigating committee of the lower branch of the municipal assembly has again been called upon to act in the local Bell telephone strike. Edwin Wood, secretary of the executive board of the local electrical workers' union, in asking a conference with the house committee, declared the telephone company was making unfair discrimination in taking back the striking telephone operators. Contrary to the terms of the agreement, he said, girls had been asked whether they belonged to the union. Only four of twelve girls who applied for reinstatement were taken back. Two were offered positions at a lower wage than they were getting before the strike, the girls said.

General Manager Hissis of the telephone company, in a statement to Edward H. Deffa, chairman of the municipal strike investigating committee, said he would welcome an investigation by that body of the charge that the telephone company was not living up to its part of the strike settlement agreement.

Yesterday indignation meetings were held by the telephone girls, who were given no vote on the settlement agreement.

LEA INTRODUCES NEW MONEY BILL

Washington, Aug. 7.—Senator Lea of Tennessee has introduced a bill to provide for a revision of the Aldrich-Vreeland emergency currency act. Senator Lea announced he would speak within a few days in support of his bill, which differs radically from the administration currency measure soon to be taken up in the house.

The Lea bill would establish a currency association of local banks in each of the large cities, with authority to issue currency, under regulations made by the secretary of the treasury, up to $750,000,000. Each association would be required to guarantee its circulation. The bill would limit the issue of an association to 50 per cent of its capital stock.

OSTEOPATHS TELL OF THEIR WORK.

Kirksville, Mo., Aug. 7.—Manipulation of the bones will cure gall stones, poisoning of the kidneys or liver, and the diseases for which serums and vaccines are being used, according to members of the American Osteopathy association in convention here.

Dr. J. Deacon, director of the A. T. Still Research institute, said that by exhaustive research and subsequent experiments he had determined that the organs of the body, under osteopathic treatment, could be made to manufacture their own fluids for fighting off disease germs.

A dramatic feature of the day's program was the reversal of a severe spinal curvature, the backbone being twisted to the opposite side and retained there in a plaster cast. The operation was performed by Drs. George Laughlin of Kirksville, Otis Aiken of Portland, Ore., and Kendrick Smith of Boston.

Catholic Abstinence Union Meets.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 7.—The forty-third annual convention of the Catholic Total Abstinence Union of America began here with the celebration of solemn pontifical mass at the Cathedral. Delegates from all sections of the country attended the services. Bishop McCort of Philadelphia was the celebrant.

BOAT DAMAGED; 500 IN PANIC.

Philadelphia, Aug. 7.—More than 500 picnickers, mostly women and children, were thrown into a panic when the river steamer Bristol, which was conveying them from Burlington, N. J., to an amusement park on the Delaware river, struck a submerged piling and had a large hole stove in her bow. The boat, which was within a mile of its destination, began to settle rapidly. Reassurances from the officers quieted the fears of the passengers and a fast run was made to the park landing, all hands being discharged without accident.

After being relieved of its burden the Bristol almost turned turtle.

"FOSS STRIKERS" REFUSED HEARING.

Boston, Mass., Aug. 7.—Two hundred strikers from two Hyde park manufacturing plants controlled by Governor Eugene N. Foss stormed the state house yesterday, demanding an immediate hearing of their grievances by the state board of arbitration. Chairman Howland refused to receive the party, explaining that the board was occupied with other matters.

The strikers then appealed to Governor Foss, insisting that he order the state board to receive the petitioners forthwith. The governor replied that he had no authority in the matter.

The strikers arrived at South State late in the forenoon and paraded up Beacon Hill. A few young women bearing American flags headed the line. Others carried signs reading "We want a living wage," "We want justice," "We demand arbitration" and "We are the Foss strikers from Hyde park."

WOULD PENSION OLD EPISCOPAL CLERGY.

New York, Aug. 7.—A pension approximating half pay for every Episcopal clergyman more than 65 years old, and financial aid for widows and orphaned children of clergymen, are recommended in a preliminary report of the commission on pensions of the Episcopal church, of which Bishop Lawrence of Massachusetts is chairman.

The pension plan, which has been framed by Monell Sayre, an expert of the Carnegie Foundation, after an exhaustive investigation by the commission of every pension system in the world, embraces in its scope the entire body of 6,500 clergymen employed in domestic and foreign fields. A fund of $7,000,000 would be necessary at the start, and $500,000 would be expended annually thereafter.

DEFENDS VOTING MACHINE DEVICES.

Chicago, Aug. 7.—Frank Kehr, an attorney employed by a voting machine manufacturing company, defended the mechanical principles of the machine when he was called to testify before the Butts' legislative investigation committee. Kehr said he had invented the interlocking device on the machine. He also said he had written the voting machine laws of several states.

OVER 4,500 PEOPLE ON THE IMPERATOR.

New York, Aug. 7.—With more cabin passengers aboard than ever crossed the Atlantic before in any vessel—2,116—the Imperator, the biggest of ocean liners, arrived late yesterday. Counting her crew the Imperator had more than 4,500 persons aboard. Of these 803 were in the first cabin, 519 in the second and 794 in the third. In the steerage were 1,522 more. The Imperator crossed from Cherbourg in 5 days, 19 hours and 8 minutes.

Birmingham, Ala., Aug. 7.—The magneto used in the initiation of Christopher Gustin and Donald Kenny into the local lodge of the Loyal Order of Moose in administering the "branding stunt," as a result of which the two candidates died, was capable of generating 2,000 volts of electricity, enough to kill a man, according to testimony offered before the coroner's jury.

BURLESON STOPS DEAD LETTER SALES.

Washington, Aug. 7.—"Dead letter sales," which have been an annual feature of Washington for years, have been abolished by Postmaster General Burleson. Matter of manifest value will be held for one year, subject to reclamation, and then sold at auction.

Morton of Boston, convicted of using the mails to defraud, must serve their terms in the Federal prison here, despite the recommendations of the Federal board of prisons. With good behavior Hawthorne and Morton will be liberated in October.

The DOCTOR'S HELPS

By DONALD McCASKEY, M.D.
Member of Staff, General Hospital, Lancaster, Pa.; Fellow of the New York Academy of Medicine

ABOUT MENTAL DEPRESSION AND UNEASINESS

A Texas correspondent, Mr. "J. A. W.," in his need, has written as follows for advisory counsel:

"I hope you will write me candidly and tell me what you think of my symptoms. I want you also to suggest a line of treatment. The inception of my disease was five years ago. It followed an attack, I have always felt, of severe biliousness. I shall describe to you my exact feelings as well as I can.

"There seems to be a thick fog or mantle which is continually hanging over my brain. My mind is clouded all the while. I cannot look back over the past years with a clear vision. My memory seems to be all gone. Neither can I look out ahead into the future and even enjoy picturing and guessing what might happen. There is no ambition within me. I am discontented and extremely restless. There is a feeling of uneasiness and fear. It is a sort of dread, and has taken complete possession of me."

There is a story attributed to an old hermit who lived to a great age. He had spent some sixty-odd years of his life in the complete solitudes of the desert. One day a young man came to him for advice. The youth wished to know how best he could live his growing life. The old hermit replied to the youth's questionings: "I am an old man. I have had many, many troubles. MOST OF THEM NEVER HAPPENED."

The feeling which your letter describes of mental uneasiness and fear has grown in you into the form of a nerve-exhausting dread. Your mental notions have grown into premonitions which have now begun to emphasize more than ever your self-consciousness and your timidity. You have asked for my candid opinion. I shall give it to you in the spirit with which you have come to the Doctor's Helps for counsel.

You are permitting your highly and acutely organized brain to be scared by bogey-boo phantoms. Like the old hermit, you have been letting yourself borrow troubles which will never happen. There are certain actual and real feelings which you possess. So does everybody else. Absolutely none of your notice is deserved by the great majority of these feelings. Yet in your case, you have persuaded and convinced yourself that your feelings mean some insidious and grave type of disorders. You have let yourself think about your feelings until there has occurred this contorted and twisted view of things.

There has been growing steadily a mental fatigue in your case as a result of your giving away to your fears and dreads.

In order to get rid of your discontent and restlessness and to revive your lack of ambition, follow the advice of the old desert hermit. Avoid borrowing trouble which never happens. To accomplish this you must stop thinking about your feelings. Help to cheer and brighten the lives of others. Each day DO SOMETHING FOR SOMEBODY. Cultivate a hobby. Concentrate such mental strength and clearness of vision as you possess along some one definite line of interest. Don't say you can't. You can try. You really must refuse to think of any such thing as discouragement or disappointment or of the impossible. YOU CAN TRY TO BRIGHTEN THE LIVES OF OTHERS SOMEHOW EACH DAY. You must depend upon yourself. Don't be afraid. Don't lean on anybody else. Look about you for something which really you would like to do. If you are interested in dogs—breed them. If chickens, raise them. Cultivate flowers, study horses and stock generally if you are interested in live stock. Fix up the fence in your back yard, trim the trees, clean the cellar, etc., etc. DO SOMETHING FOR SOMEBODY. DO IT EVERY DAY. BE HELPFUL EVERY HOUR. Use your thoughts to plan along these lines. Take things slowly and patiently. Don't think about yourself or your feelings. Plan for others. Write to me again.

Editor's Note.—A poor boy one time applied for a job in a bank in Paris. He was refused. As he left and passed through the door he noticed and picked up a pin. It was a small detail, but the bank president is said to have noticed this act. He called the boy back and gave him a job, from which he rose to be the greatest banker in Paris—Lafitte. Little details are important, especially so in disordered health. Write if we can aid you.

DULUTH MUST STAND FIRM.

The cities at the Head of the Lakes are face to face with a situation that demands a firm stand.

Due to the agitation of emissaries of the Industrial Workers of the World, a band of trouble-breeders not recognized by the honest and reputable labor organizations of the country, the dock workers at the Duluth, Missabe & Northern ore docks refused to go to work yesterday. Under the same influence the striking dockmen at Allouez declined to return to work, after the greater part of their demands had been granted. These same agitators have tried to call out the ore dock workers at Two Harbors and have announced their intention of calling all dock hands at the Head of the Lakes to quit work.

The citizens of Duluth cannot afford to permit these agitators to thus disturb the peace of the community and to create labor troubles that, if continued, must disastrously affect the prosperity and well-being of the whole Head of the Lakes, including the iron ranges.

These agitators from the outside, who have not a dollar of their own at stake, must be shown that there is no room for them in Duluth, that their endeavors to create strife and stop the industrial work of the city will not be tolerated.

There was no trouble at the Missabe ore docks until these agitators put in an appearance. The workmen were being paid good wages under a contract which each man had signed on entering the employ of the company, and they were satisfied with the conditions. They had no thought of breaking this contract until misled by the inflammatory talk of a "I Won't Work" agitator, and President McGonagle of the Missabe road states that more than 80 per cent of the men want to continue work now but have been intimidated by the methods of the agitators from the outside.

The duty of the city authorities and of the whole community is plain. Full protection must be given to all men who desire to work, and the agitators must be suppressed.

Duluth cannot afford, especially at this stage in its industrial career, to become known as a center of labor troubles. With the early opening of the steel plant, the attention of other manufacturers is being directed to this city, but they will naturally hesitate to locate industries in a city that permits labor agitators to induce workmen to break contracts and stop the progress of industry. They will be averse to entering upon enterprises in a community where such labor troubles are tolerated.

It is now up to the business men of Duluth, to the honest union labor men of Duluth, to every loyal citizen of Duluth, to stand firm in opposition to the efforts of these agitators to create trouble.

Fashionable women are said to be wearing watches on their ankles. Not for hours!

THERE IS NO BANN ON ENTERPRISE.

Brazil, by calling on American engineers equipped with American enterprise and grit, has opened a vast empire in its back country by driving a railroad through the jungle.

Speaking of it, the Toledo Blade says: "To build this line, jungles had to be cleared, swamps had to be filled or drained, allowances had to be made for rain that rusted iron and insects that ate railway ties and telegraph poles, camps had to be guarded from wild beasts and from what is worse, disease, and the workers had to be kept contented long enough to bring the job to completion. American engineers and contractors were the only ones who would attempt the work and to them credit is now given by Brazilians for a conquest they had neither the gift nor the heart to attempt for themselves.

"The enterprising among Americans are not in the best of standing with their countrymen in this time of social regeneration. It is refreshing to discover that there is a place where they are admired and honored."

That's strange talk from a Bull Moose newspaper. Since when were "the enterprising among Americans" refused the credit and honor they earn?

A careful distinction must be drawn between constructive enterprise and enterprise in using the ingenuity and inventiveness of others in stock-jobbing schemes and the balloon ascensions of high finance—which is now flying low. The Toledo Bull Mooser loses this distinction entirely.

There has been no reproach and no criticism, for instance, of railroad men who WERE railroad men; though there has been much criticism of those so-called railroad men who operated wholly in Wall Street and who used the railroads merely as pawns in the game of high finance.

There is no quarrel between the people and the men who manage—operatively—the great industrial enterprises and who have made them capable of infinitely greater service to society; though there has been and is an irrepressible conflict between the people and those men who have used these enterprises as the basis of Wall Street schemes to exploit all the people for the inordinate profit—gained without any public service to warrant it—of a few.

For real constructive enterprise there is as much public honor and as high rewards as there ever were in the history of the nation.

With the lobby investigators playing a simultaneous double-header the fans ought to be in the seventh heaven.

WILL THIS BECOME NECESSARY?

Recently a woman was arrested in Richmond for wearing a slit skirt.

More recently still another woman was arrested in Chicago for wearing a skirtless bathing suit.

These incidents, together with a casual glance at current fashions, prompt a query:

Are we approaching—or perhaps entering—an epoch in which the policeman must become the arbiter of fashion, and set a limit on the enterprise of the dressmakers and the cagerness of femininity to follow the ignis fatuus of fashion wherever it leads?

Col. Hicks of Oshkosh says the church and the newspapers are in the same class. One great difference is that new hats are advertised in the newspapers before they are sold, and in the churches afterwards.

PLURAL VOTING.

The British house of commons has passed a bill to reform the franchise which limits each citizen to one vote.

This is almost as prodigious a revolution as the Liberals effected when they curbed the power of the house of lords.

Of course the lords haven't accepted this bill, and it may be some time before it becomes a law. But it will become a law ultimately. There can be no doubt about that.

The abolition of plural voting will be a long step forward for British democracy. It will put suffrage on a basis of humanity. It will no longer be on a basis of property.

Under the plural voting system property-holders were entitled to vote in any district where they owned property. If the system prevailed in Minnesota, a man owning property in Duluth, Minneapolis, St. Paul, Winona, St. Peter, Luverne, Redwood Falls, Crookston, Little Falls and Anoka would be entitled to vote in each congressional district in the state. The congressional elections, instead of being all held on one day, would be scattered over a period long enough to give him a chance to vote in each of these districts.

It wouldn't be the man that was voting, but his property.

The bill passed by the house of commons gives each elector a single vote. A man owning property in several districts would have to elect which district he would vote in, and he could vote in no other district.

This is a wise step and a forward step, and though the lords will delay it as long as they can, it is certain to go into effect sooner or later.

ARE LIFE SAVERS VIGILANT ENOUGH?

To the Editor of The Herald:

I sat in an office in the First National bank building yesterday looking out over the bay, when I saw a sailboat tip over, spilling the occupants into the water.

I endeavored to get the life-saving station on the telephone immediately, but could not raise them and after about ten minutes I saw them put out in their surf boat. It took them fully fifteen minutes to go to where the people were hanging on to the boat. Afterwards I endeavored to get information as to whether the people were saved or not, as I could not see details that far, but I could not gain any information from the life-saving station.

I believe the crew here is neither vigilant enough nor swift enough in those cases. It may be due to the crew or to the system. I do not know which, but there is something wrong somewhere. They should have a tower out in the water so as to give them a better view of the whole shore line. They should have a fast gasoline launch, ready at all times to put out if a canoe or other boat should go over in the bay. The people are entitled to such service, and it should be given. If action at Washington is necessary it should be obtained.

ASSISTANCE!!! THE JAP AGAIN.

Hon. Editor of Japanese Section of Herald paper, what had receded to English lately:

Your Hon. paper has missed such contributions from me of lately on account of my sojourn in county jail for twenty days on account of Hon. Judge having paragraphed me there because Hon. Irish man committed suicide by attempting to shoot me in head with brickbat.

Intellectual atmosphere in county jail are not so strong as other varieties of atmosphere, such as onions and snoos, which are chewed with rank odor by forcibly sober inhabitants what don't wish to be, but must. While during sojourn here, I have learned much puzzling things concerning American lawishness which I do not understand, but which I wish to know, therefore this contribution which should make up for past contributory negligence.

Hon. Swedish log-hewer, what get drunk, is living on room on other side of me for thirty days, being sent to jail for that period by Hon. Judge according to law for such drunk; but Hon. Gentleman what pay him for hewing logs are drunk three or four times per the week and never get in jail. Why are this? I ask for answer to this law.

Across hall from me are Hon. Gentleman what get arrested to jail for non-supporting of family. Wise law are punishing him by providing him with place to sleep and three meals per day for three months for nothing, and rewarding his family by no place to sleep, nothing to eat, and nothing to burn to keep warm or cook. This are perhaps no doubt wise law, but why are it so? I ask for reply also to this question.

Hon. Hungarian Nobleman, what are living across in upstairs room from me are going to be sent to prison of state for putting poison in coffee of mother-in-law what get sick, but don't die; while in next room to him are man what are sent to jail for one month because Hon. Bowery saloonkeeper put poison in his whisky what make him crazy and sick. But neither Hon. saloonist or Hon. mother-in-law is arrested. Why are it so? I await reply with interest.

In room behind me are man what get in fight with other man, and fight so hard that other man is died. Wise law are such that this man's wife are sentenced to hard labor for twenty years to support herself and six small children while her Hon. husband are supported by inhabitants of state. These are doubtless perhaps also wise law. But why? I pause to be shown.

I would write beautiful poem also, for Japanese editor's and reader's delight, but these county jail are no poetical place to write poems. I am resolve my self never to go to jail again. It are too sad a place. Respectfully,

OYESI SOAKUM,

Graduate from Nosucha Japanese College. Also from County Jail.

P. S.—I would rather go to Congress, Duluth, Aug. 7.

"Nevers" for Children.

New York Herald: Containing many "Nevers" and "Always," a pamphlet has been sent out by the American Museum of Safety to be distributed among families where children are numerous, bringing home to little girls and boys the danger of not thinking when they run into the streets. Dr. William H. Tolman, director of the museum, believes it will be a great thing toward saving child life. Some of the instructions read:

Never jump on or off a moving car.

Never stand or sit on the car step; nor put your head or hands out of the car window.

Never get off a car facing the rear. With the left hand take hold of the grip handle, left foot to the step, right foot to the ground; face forward.

Never fail on leaving the car to look out for passing wagons and automobiles.

Never run in front of a passing car.

Never hitch on and steal rides behind street cars or wagons.

Never play on the car rails.

Never cross a street except at a regular crossing.

Never take chances.

Always in passing behind a car look to see if another car, automobile or wagon is coming from the opposite direction.

Always look both ways before crossing a street.

Always safety.

There instructions will be helpful for grown persons and children as well, in the opinion of Dr. Tolman.

A City of Bald Heads.

Portland Oregonian: Seattle men lead the Pacific coast for baldness, according to Sam Corenson of Los Angeles, whose principal business in life is to relieve the billiard-ball effect in the pates of those who, while they have lost their hair, are still possessed of a burning desire to affect a natural beauty in the hirsute line. Corenson has been here for a week and left today for his home in the South. He represents a London hair company, and during his sojourn here disposed of nearly fifty toupees at about $50 a throw, not to mention 100 pounds of switches, curls, etc., for milady.

The latest thing in hirsute accessories for women is the "twin switch," whatever that is, and Mr. Corenson announced that Seattle women have taken keenly to the innovation.

The Breaking Day

By Sacoyard.

Washington, Aug. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The bottom appears to have dropped out of the opposition to the Democratic tariff in the United States senate, and it shows that even that dignified council is sometimes amenable to public opinion. I have not been very much in love with Furnifold M. Simmons, United States senator from North Carolina, who has the tariff bill in charge, but no true Democrat has any fault to find with his management of the measure in committee, in caucus, or in the senate. I had the idea that Mr. Simmons was a little too tolerant of the protective dogma, but I find I was mistaken. Not even Carlisle, nor Vest, could have done better, and in 1894 Voorhees did not do nearly so well. The country in general and the Democratic party in particular are deeply indebted to Senator Simmons.

There is a frankness in the following, taken from the North Carolina senator's remarks, that did much to hasten the enactment of the tariff bill:

"If the bill proves not to be for the benefit of the country, it will demonstrate that our ideas of tariff are wrong; if it proves to be well for the country, it will demonstrate that the opposition is wrong. That is all there is to that proposition, and we are ready and anxious now to pass the bill."

Exactly. That is all there is to it. If, after business adjusts itself to the new tariff, the thing fails to work well, then the people will choose a president and a congress with orders to return to the policy of high protection.

But the country is determined to rid itself of the Payne-Aldrich tariff, which would better be named the tariff writ by the wool trust, the steel trust, the sugar trust, and the other grinding private monopolies. The country, I say, is resolved to supplant the present tariff for the trusts and try a tariff for the people. By 1916 we shall know whether taxation for public purpose is better than taxation for private graft. The Democratic party exultingly welcomes the test and is serenely confident of the result.

On the other hand the opposition in the senate has nothing but a tale of woe to tell. They argue that our people are inferior to other peoples, that they cannot compete with any foreigners anywhere, that the 7,000,000 Canadians will crush the 100,000,000 Americans if they trade with one another in market overt, that beggar Mexico will pauperize Texas, New Mexico, Arizona, Oklahoma, Kansas and Nebraska if our livestock feeders are allowed to buy cattle across the Rio Grande, drive them over here and fat them for the slaughter houses of Kansas City, Omaha and Chicago.

The people are not only tired of such stuff as that but they are disgusted with it. The people have some pride in their country, some faith in our energies and skill, some reliance in our resources and industrial plants. Even the manufacturers are impatient and have ordered their henchmen—the standpatters of the senate—to hasten the bill by refraining from useless and vicious factious opposition. As long as the bill is before congress manufacturing will be on the verge of standstill. Importations will go into bond; but the day the bill becomes a law every plant that is not equipped with antiquated machinery will give forth the hum of industry and the glee of prosperity. In the fall of 1894 we had that very situation after the passage of the imperfect Wilson tariff, but everything hushed as soon as Isham G. Harris brought 16 to 1 to the fore and made it paramount the following winter and spring.

Some ado is made over this here Eugene Foss, governor of Massachusetts. Some three years ago he deserted the G. O. P. and got into the camp of the Democracy. He was sent to congress as a Democrat and two or three times elected governor of the old Bay state as the candidate of that party. He is very rich, as is altogether natural, being a New England manufacturer. For a long time he has been at loggerheads with the labor of his shops, mainly foreign, and he is very much dissatisfied with the proposed Democratic tariff, which, he claims, cuts too deep. The opposition to the Democratic administration is delighted with Governor Foss, and professes to think that all our manufacturers will emigrate to Canada as soon as the Democratic tariff is enacted.

But they will not. Secretary Redfield is a manufacturer with the clearest head of them all. He has been remarkably successful. His speeches on the subject are not academic speculations, but the recital of actual experiences, and here is his idea:

The best plant that skill and money can erect, the most skillful and effective labor that high wage can employ, untaxed raw materials, business sagacity in the management and operation of the enterprise.

Given these, and Redfield will conquer every foreign neutral market he assails, and drive from them the merchant flags of Great Britain and Germany. And that is the only way to do it. That is the way we intend to do it.

"O ye of little faith!"

A Lobby's Libel Suit

New York World: The National Association of Manufacturers cannot hope to wipe out Col. Mulhall's testimony, for it is a matter of record. It cannot expect to destroy his letters, for many of them have appeared in the World and the originals are in possession of congress.

It must be, therefore, that in instituting suit for libel against a Philadelphia newspaper which referred to its operations as "a criminal conspiracy" it entertains the idea that it can intimidate the American press; that it can prevent full public discussion of its purposes and methods and that, taking refuge behind a fine array of lawyers and demands for big damages, it can convince some people that it is a sorely wronged institution.

The courts are open, and even the lobby has rights therein, but libel suits without end will hardly change the judgment that has been passed upon the organization which Col. Mulhall served and has now exposed. To say that the activities of this association amounted to a criminal conspiracy is to characterize them mildly. While many of its incidental offenses, such as collecting money from corporations for political uses, were undoubtedly indictable, its main purpose, whether indictable or not, was an offense worse than many crimes that are penned in the statutes.

Newspapers ought to rejoice in libel suits by this fraternity of secrecy, graft, false pretense, treachery, bullying and corruption. The more suits the more publicity; and the more publicity the greater the condemnation of the upstarts who undertook to govern this country in the dark.

Making a Snub a Pleasant Affair

Rupert Hughes in Collier's Weekly.

That snub was a complete success. It was meant for just what is accomplished.

The audience—or rather the spectators, for there were no auditors—saw a girl of glowing beauty strolling idly about a front yard and reaching the purple flamed lilac bushes at the corner just as a young man came along and lifted his hat. They saw the girl stare at him, whirl on her heel and stand with her back to him till he passed. They saw him drop his hat in evident chagrin, stoop and fumble for it, put it on hindside foremost and hurry past the house without daring to look toward the mother who stood watching from the porch. * * *

The lilacs were never so glorious as the day of the snub. The day was so warm that Audrey had sat at an open window reading a book. It could not have been a very fascinating book, because she looked up from it so much, looked up from the book and looked down the street.

Her mother sat crocheting and watching her. After a while Audrey put aside the book, rose and yawned; it was a very soulless yawn, for she was trembling with sweet hypocrisy. She murmured:

"Aren't the lilacs wonderful this year, mamma? I'll get you a bunch, mamma."

"I'll go with you."

"No, no; the ground is damp—your rheumatism." Audrey made needless haste, it seemed to her mother, who followed to the porch, her suspicions roused by the laborious yawns and the intense tone of indifference. She watched Audrey move lazily from the oleander tub to the peonies, to the little cluster of upward pleading tulips.

She saw her reach the lilac bush, and then Mrs. Moulton quivered with rage, for she saw Harley Teele coming up the street. And next the mother was rejoiced to see the snub.

And such a snub!

The treacherous girl had plucked a little spray of lilacs and flicked it over the fence at Harley's feet before she turned her back on him. Before she turned her back on him she had swept him with a look like a shaft of sunset sunbeams breaking through a cloud. He had lifted his hat and received the snub in the form of a softly murmured phrase:

"I love you, Harley, honey!"

It was then that he dropped his hat—she was so all-fired pretty he could hardly keep his foothold on this swirling planet. He stooped for his hat and for the lilac spray that he valued more, and he sent a shrill whisper through the pickets of the fence:

"I love you, too. And I've got a client!"

"No!"

"Yes. A client at last."

By now he had stuffed the lilacs in his hat and he must march on, not daring to risk another word, for he saw Mrs. Moulton glaring from the porch. He did not lift his hat to her. She would have given him a real snub, and the lilacs would have fallen out.

In view of the perfect smoothness with which this double-eyed villainy was performed, it is not unreasonable to wonder if it had not been practiced. One wonders if, during the long winter with its prayer meetings, sociables, straw rides and bobsled parties, this Missouri Romeo and Juliet may not have exchanged other messages. A very cynical or very sportive person might even be willing to bet that on some of those cold nights, after Jere Hutter had gone, a girl with a hasty shawl over her head may have tiptoed from that Moulton front door and hastened out to the gate to press those warm, red lips to the cold, white mouth of her sentinel.

The Man Who Frets at Worldly Strife.

The man who frets at worldly strife
Grows sallow, sour, and thin;
Give us the lad whose happy life
Is one perpetual grin;
He, Midas-like, turns all to gold—
He smiles when others sigh,
Enjoys alike the hot and cold,
And laughs through wet and dry.

There's fun in everything we meet—
The greatest, worst, and best;
Existence is a merry treat,
And every speech a jest;
Be't ours to watch the crowds that pass
Where Mirth's gay banner waves;
To show fools through a quizzing glass,
And bastinade the knaves.

The serious world will scold and ban,
In clamor loud and hard,
To hear Meigs called a congressman,
And Paulding styled a bard:
But, come what may, the man's in luck
Who turns it all to glee,
And laughing, cries, with honest Puck,
"Good Lord! what fools ye be."

—Joseph Rodman Drake.

A Vindication for Wilson.

Washington Times: When President Wilson declined to back the American bankers' participation in an international loan to China, there was a good deal of criticism on the ground that this country had withdrawn from its part in sustaining the new republican government in China. The loan was concluded as a five-power loan, and one of its immediate results is the present rebellion in the south of China.

Yuan Shi Kai, dictator of China by dint of a career of treachery and murder marvelously parallel to that of Huerta in Mexico, has been using the money which this loan brought him to strengthen his dictatorship and rivet the shackles of a worse than Manchu despotism on his nation. He has betrayed the national cause and the republican movement.

This is the specific charge which Dr. Sun Yat Sen makes in a remarkable cabelgram sent by him from Shanghai yesterday. It is a complete justification of the position which President Wilson took, and it makes clear a situation which careful students of the Chinese situation have strongly suspected for a long time. Yuan is the last man deserving to be trusted with the financial backing of the civilized powers. He will betray and ruin the liberal movement in China if he holds power long enough. He has buttressed his rule by the pleasant process of murdering the real patriots, and it is not unlikely that he will at length put away Dr. Wu and Dr. Sun, the two men whom true friends of China look upon as its safest leaders.

Minnesota Opinions

Comments of the State Press.

Minnesota Should Advertise.

Biwabik Times: Those farmers who passed through Northern Minnesota and settled in Canada have many times realized that they passed over the finest acres obtainable, looking for the gold at the end of the rainbow. With the same amount of advertising given the Canadian lands, Minnesota would have every eighty-acre tract settled with a happy and prosperous farmer.

The Big Boss.

Fairmont Sentinel: The one most entitled to credit for the victory in the Minnesota rate cases was the Honorable Mr. Public Sentiment. He is the best and biggest boss of all.

Wealth in the Cow.

Elk River Star-News: The gentle and unobtrusive Minnesota cow has brought into the coffers of Minnesota farmers the tidy sum of $29,000,000 during the past year, according to statistical information, and the best part of it is the farmer still has the cow, and that same cow has enriched his farm, provided sustenance for chickens, hogs and probably supplied another cow. In many instances also, if the owner belongs to a co-operative creamery, there is a good fat dividend added to her products. The cow is certainly a good friend to the farmer, and for that reason it is distressing when they have to be sold for beef or to some other farmer who better realizes her value. Let the cow be the last thing to be disposed of from the farm.

Let Them Come.

Madison Western Guard: It is said that Canadian immigration is on the decrease. That means that the tide will turn back to this country, especially to Minnesota, the real food state. Let them come, there is all kinds of room yet for the right sort of farmers.

Iverson's Attitude.

Breckenridge Telegram: State Auditor S. G. Iverson is circularizing the state press to the effect that he is not in the confidence of the "organization" and denying that he has said he will not be a candidate for governor next year. The fact that Mr. Iverson has always been "in" with the organization but now protests that he never knew them looks very much as if he plans to announce himself as the only original people's candidate for governor.

Fine for the Railroads.

Fergus Falls Wheelock's Weekly: Two-cent fare is as welcome as the flowers in the spring. Everybody will now begin to save money by traveling.

Sage Advice.

Bemidji Sentinel: Pull out the stumps and what's left will pull off the mortgage.

Sure and Steady.

Brown's Valley Tribune: Minnesota is the sure and steady state, when the matter of crop yields is considered. Not always big, but always a fair average.

The Grab for Gold

Indianapolis News: There is, a recent writer assures us, a well-defined attempt by the big bankers to include a 50 per cent gold reserve in the new banking act. They have also been piling up reserves far beyond any need. The movement seems to be very marked in Europe. The Bank of England's reserve is almost 54 per cent, while the Bank of France holds 160,000,000 more francs in gold than it held two years ago. And now we are asked to provide for a 50 per cent legal reserve in this country, though we have been doing business for years under a law requiring a reserve of from 25 to 33 per cent.

What is the motive for this absorption of gold by the banks, and the consequent contraction of the circulating medium? The writer already quoted—the Cincinnati Enquirer's New York correspondent—says:

> If the Federal bank bill can be made to provide for a gold reserve of 50 per cent it will help this scheme along, keep increased percentage out of circulation, and if there is a strong call for gold outside, it will place the government under the necessity of securing gold from bond syndicates, before it can issue notes.

So the volume of currency in circulation will be "smaller and more easily controlled by those in money control of business." Our bankers often complain of the general ignorance of the nature and function of a reserve, as is shown by the law that makes it a crime to use it at the times that it is most needed. But we fear that some of them need a little elementary instruction on the subject. A reserve is not, as some of them seem to think, a hoard of money held merely as such in their vaults. It is not a stock withdrawn from circulation for the purpose of affecting financial transactions. A reserve is nothing more than insurance of deposits. And experience has shown that under a sound banking system and in average times a reserve of 25 per cent is sufficient, and 35 per cent liberal and ample. Therefore this idea of writing a 50 per cent reserve requirement into the law is utterly absurd.

Merchants and manufacturers do not put their money in banks in order that it may be used to rig the market, or to influence legislation. The money that is left with banks is intended to be lent, not piled up in vaults. A bank is part of the machinery of credit. It does not exist in order that it may accumulate a reserve. The reserve exists in order that the bank may be safe, and no large one is needed if the bank is properly managed. The great idea back of currency reform is that banks may keep on lending even in times of stress, and never be compelled to deny credit to proper borrowers. This object, of which the bankers have had so much to say, would be largely defeated by the requirement of a 50 per cent reserve. There is nothing at the present time that calls for an enormous accumulation of reserves. If money is tight it is because the banks have made it so. There are many who believe that it is all part of a campaign against any currency reform other than that offered by the Aldrich bill.

Sprinklers as Life-Savers.

Boston Globe: In 1911 fires in clothing factories caused a loss of $2,000,000 and in 1912 a loss of $1,000,000.

Taking those eloquent figures as its text, Safety Engineering, a technical magazine, proceeds to say:

> Probably the Binghamton fire or the Asch building fire would have been stopped before it had spread ten feet from the point of origin if a carefully designed and carefully installed automatic sprinkler system had been on the premises. Such systems have operated in scores of thousands of fires in buildings as hazardous as that of the Binghamton factory, and no loss of life by flames has occurred in a building equipped with sprinklers.

To neglect the installation of the described protective apparatus, proved efficient by severe tests, is but to court disaster and the remissness should not be permitted by the laws or authorities of any state.

The committee on safety in New York goes a step farther and demands that the legislature, when it meets next month in Albany, shall compel builders of factories between four and six stories high to provide at least one inclosed fireproof stairway.

National Marriage Law.

Cleveland Leader: The announced intention of the Central Conference of American Rabbis to campaign for national uniformity of marriage and divorce laws must meet with wide approval as the movement when inaugurated will be accorded wide support. The object aimed at is one of the things universally admitted to be necessary, but lacking, nevertheless.

Efforts thus far made have not been conspicuously successful. Nevada has taken action to abate the Reno divorce spectacle, as the South Dakota exhibition was stopped some years ago. But the marital laws in force in this country are still in such a state of chaos that persons legally married in one state cannot so consider themselves in another. Worse still, there is no present prospect of better things to be obtained by present means. No noticeable success in this direction has been achieved by such organizations as women's clubs, bar associations or even the congress of governors.

It cannot be doubted that the best, if not the only, way to effect uniformity of law on these subjects is through national legislation. If this is not compatible with the Federal form of government it can be made so by amendment of the Constitution, as other things have been.

The Pure Food Law.

Louisville Courier-Journal: Firms that are in the business of putting up food products should by this time be reasonably familiar with the provisions of the law. Adulteration is possible. In fact, it is a very common practice. The best protection the consumer has is in reading the label. The intention of the law is that the label should state the truth about the goods. That being done, those persons who do not care to use adulterated food may govern themselves accordingly.

The manufacturers should be compelled to tell the truth about their products even though they put it in such small type that a microscopic examination is almost necessary to find it. The law as it now stands is favorable to fraud, for the great majority of consumers do not take the trouble to read labels. It requires a discriminating purchaser to find "the bug under the chip," but if the law is complied with the discovery may be made by intelligent and persistent search.

The penalties under the pure food laws are not excessive and the administration of the laws has not been unduly harsh. Indeed there are times when the consumer has a good reason for believing that his interests are not as well safeguarded as they should be. It seems to be time for impressing the manufacturers with the lesson that laws are made to be obeyed. Some of them evidently do not appreciate leniency and are good subjects for heroic treatment.

KOUDELKA OPPOSES TEACHINGS ON SEX

New Bishop of Superior Diocese Talks at Reception in Chicago.

Chicago, Aug. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Bishop Joseph Maria Koudelka, recently appointed to succeed Bishop Schinner in the diocese of Superior, made an address in opposition to thee teaching of sex hygiene at the congress of Bohemian priests here last night. The bishop was tendered a reception by the congress.

Bishop Koudelka is a Bohemian and 61 years old. He was ordained to the priesthood in 1875 and his first charge was over a Cleveland, Ohio, parish. Later he was at St. Louis. He has been auxiliary bishop of Milwaukee since 1911.

The new prelate is noted as a linguist and is the author of books in the Bohemian and German languages. Among the best known of these are various text books for Catholic parochial schools, a prayer book for chil

Grand Forks, N. D., Aug. 7.—The appointment of F. E. Burchard as postmaster at the University station here by President Wilson, was made over the protest of President Frank L. McVey of the university.

Mr. Burchard was secretary of the Democratic county central committee in the recent campaign and had the indorsement of the prominent politicians of the city and county. President McVey, as well as President Robertson of Wesley college, favored another candidate.

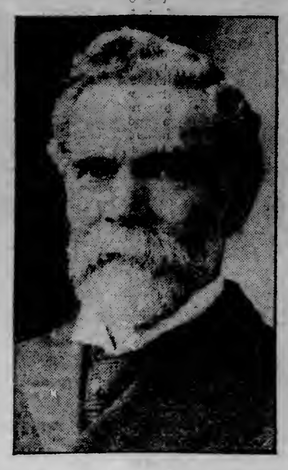
How to Lose Your Tan, Freckles or Wrinkles

(From Woman's Tribune.)

A day's motoring, an afternoon on the tennis ground or golf links, a sunbath on the beach or exposure on a sea trip, often brings on a deep tan or vivid crimson or, more perplexing still, a vigorous crop of freckles. A very necessary thing then is mercolized wax, which removes tan, redness or freckles quite easily. It literally peels off the affected skin—just a little at a time, so there's no hurt or injury. As the skin comes off in almost invisible flaky particles, no trace of the treatment is shown. Get an ounce of mercolized wax at your druggist's and use this nightly as you would cold cream, washing it off mornings. In a week or so you will have an entirely new skin, beautifully clear, transparent and of a most delicate whiteness.

Wrinkles, so apt to form at this season, may be easily and quickly removed by bathing the face in a solution of powdered saxolite, 1 oz., dissolved in witch hazel, ½ pt. This is not only a valuable astringent, but has a beneficial tonic effect also.

TWO LEADERS IN BUSINESS WORLD TO VISIT DULUTH



WILLIAM LIVINGSTONE,
President, Lake Carriers' Association.

HENRY FORD,
President, Ford Motor Company.

Duluth will tomorrow entertain two of the most distinguished business men in the United States. They are William Livingstone and Henry Ford, both of Detroit, Mich.

They and their families, it is announced today, will arrive tomorrow on the steamer James A. Farrell, the flagship of the Pittsburg fleet, and will remain until the return of that steamer to the East. In case the Farrell should be diverted to Two Harbors on account of the strike here, Messrs. Livingstone and Ford and their families will be brought to Duluth by train, most likely by a special, for which tentative arrangements are being made today.

While in Duluth they will be guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. Ashley Tomlinson, and tomorrow noon Mr. and Mrs. Tomlinson will give a luncheon in their honor at the Kitchi Gammi club.

Mr. Livingstone is one of the leading financiers of the country and has been variously honored by business organizations and political bodies because of his business prominence and personal popularity. He is now president of the Lake Carriers' association, and is one of the leading vessel owners of the world. In marine circles he is dominant and his advice is sought in all maritime matters. His word has great weight in congress in regard to navigation legislation, and he is one of the most thorough sticklers for observance of the navigation rules. He was one of the chief organizers of the Lake Carriers' association, an organization that has done much to alleviate the former conditions of the lake employes, which, in some cases, were not of the best; and he is consequently held in honor by the crews of the Great Lakes from master to deckhand. The new Livingstone channel at Detroit is named after him.

Mr. Livingstone is president of the Dime Savings bank of Detroit, and as one of the leading bankers of Michigan was, a few years ago, elected president of the American Bankers' association, the highest honor the bankers of the United States can pay.

Mr. Livingstone, by the way, is a prominent Scotsman, and has promised that he will deliver the principal address at the annual Burns banquet to be given next January by Clan Stewart of Duluth. He is one of Michigan's greatest orators, excelling in this as he has in other lines.

Great Automobile Business.

Henry Ford is as prominent in the automobile business as is Mr. Livingstone in banking and shipping. Mr. Ford organized and developed the greatest automobile business in the world, and is still its head. That is the Ford Motor company. In the development of this company he has indulged in a bit of financing that is one of the wonders of the financial world. He organized the Ford Motor company ten years ago and brought it through trials and tribulations to the position of leader in the motor world. The company has grown in ten years from a capital of $28,000 to $30,000,000, and turns out 200,000 cars a year.

Mr. Ford celebrated his fiftieth birthday a week ago yesterday. He was born in Dearborn, Mich., and has never deserted his native state. He went to Detroit when 18 years of age to learn the machinist's trade, and his thorough knowledge of that trade was a prime factor in the organization of his company, coupled with which was a surprising knowledge of finance.

ARKANSAS CHANGES GOVERNORS AGAIN.

Little Rock, Ark., Aug. 7.—Judge George W. Hayes of Camden took the oath of office yesterday as governor of Arkansas, succeeding Senator J. M. Futrell, who had been acting governor for several months.

Judge Hayes is the fourth man to take the oath since Jan. 13, 1913. On that date George W. Daghety's term expired; he was succeeded by Congressman Joe T. Robinson, who a few weeks later resigned to qualify as United States senator.

Senator Oldham, president of the senate, then qualified, but the title of office was sought a few days later by Senator J. M. Futrell, pro-president pro tem of the senate, and he won in court. Judge Hayes was elected on July 23, at a special election.

CHARGED WITH THEFT OF SEVEN HORSES.

Nanton, Alta., Aug. 7.—Fred W. Ings, millionaire rancher, was arrested last night on charges placed against him by Robert Dillworth and Edward H. Hill of Delhart, Texas. It is alleged Ings took seven horses which he and Hill were racing in Great Western circuit events and had them shipped out of town.

Two horses, Peanut and Butten, are owned by Dillworth, two more, Leah and Sir Falkland, are owned by parties in Delhart, Tex.

It is also charged that Ings had removed three horses belonging to Mrs. Jean Mueller of Fresno, Cal., which were entered in the races to be held here soon. They are valued at $4,000.

The horses were traced to Ings' ranch where Ings was arrested by the mounted police. He was released on $20,000 bail and ordered to appear in court Friday.

TERRIBLE ITCHING OF SKIN TROUBLE

Small Red and Yellow Spots on Leg. Covered with Dry Scale. Had to Walk Floor Nights. Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment Cured.

R. F. D. No. 3, Clarkfield, Minn. — "My trouble was of long standing. It started with some small red and yellow spots about the size of a pin head on my leg and every morning there was a dry scale on top covering the affected part and when those scales were falling off the itching was more than I could stand at times. The first year I did not mind it so much as it was only itching very badly at times, but the second year it advanced all around my leg and the itching was terrible. I had to be very careful to have my clothing around the affected part very loose. At night time I often happened to scratch the sore in my sleep. Then I had to stand up, get out of bed and walk the floor.

"Then I read the advertisement of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and I wrote for a sample and got it. To my surprise I was feeling relief after the second application. So I got a cake of Cuticura Soap and a fifty-cent box of Cuticura Ointment and when I had used them I was nearly over the itching, so I got another box and that healed it all up so it looked smooth and fine, but I kept on with the Cuticura Soap for six weeks and the cure was complete." (Signed) S. O. Gorden, Nov. 20, 1912.

Cuticura Soap 25c. and Cuticura Ointment 50c. are sold everywhere. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

☞Men who shave and shampoo with Cuticura Soap will find it best for skin and scalp.

Washington, Aug. 7.—Complaints from many railroads against alleged inadequate compensation for increased weight of mail matter under the parcel post system has culminated in a notice to the postoffice department from the Toledo, St. Louis & Western company that at the end of sixty days it will discontinue the transportation of mail.

This company's contract will not expire for two years, and the department has informed the management that discontinuance will not be permitted; that the interests of the government and of the public as well as those of the railroad must be considered.

The Toledo, St. Louis & Western, popularly known as the "Clover Leaf Route," operates between Toledo, Ohio, and East St. Louis, Ill.

NEAR RIOT AT VICTIM'S FUNERAL.

Marysville, Cal., Aug. 7.—The funeral of District Attorney T. E. Manwell, who was killed last Sunday in the riot of hop pickers at Wheatland, was held here under the auspices of the Masonic lodge. A riot was narrowly averted while the funeral was in progress when a body of men, alleged to have been Industrial Workers of the World, shouted insults at the passing militiamen. Citizens threatened the men and they departed.

Builders Refuse to Work Until Objectionable Man Is Discharged.

Fargo, N. D., Aug. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—For two hours this morning all work on buildings being constructed by a local firm was stopped because of the engagement of an electrical worker to whom the men objected. The men on all other buildings and trades' unions refused to work with him. The trouble was the result of a split in the Electrical Workers' union. The man against whom the protest was made belongs to the Eastern split. He was finally discharged and the carpenters, bricklayers and electricians resumed work.

FRANK A. GOTCH and Stanislaus Zbyszko may wrestle on the evening of Sept. 5 at the huge Hippodrome at the state fair grounds at Hamline. If this contest is staged, it will be one of the greatest attractions of the Minnesota state fair, the biggest and best in the United States.

This exclusive information came to The Herald today in a long distance message from George A. Barton, sporting editor of the Minneapolis Daily News.

J. H. Herman held a long conference with Barton in Minneapolis, and the result of this conference was that negotiations have been started with Gotch at Humboldt, Iowa, and every effort will be made to secure the consent of the champion to cast aside the robes of retirement and meet what is generally recognized as the greatest piece of grappling machinery in the world, next to the man Gotch was when he wrestled last year in Kansas City.

If Gotch is going to continue in the game Zbyszko is the man he should meet. The Pole is the greatest wrestler in the world, barring possibly Gotch, and the struggle is the one the public wants to see.

OUR esteemed friend Mickey MacDonnell of the Superior Telegram is at the present time in the long and uncut of Winona, covering the games for his paper.

Before the call to battle Micedemus came through with some advance stuff. Verily we read it with interest.

Mickey said: "It is a fact that the daubers of the high brows are down. They are more afraid of Dahlgren than Schauer, and when Davis and his bunch learned that Dahlgren was going to face them this afternoon, there was little joy. * * * "

It has always been held that dope is liable to leap the barrier at any turn of the track. Surely Mickey's did. Dahlgren was expected by Will Sommer, Mickey and some of the optimistic members of his team to stand the Pirates on their heads—and alas and alack, he received one of the choice beatings of his young career.

Mister Bell rang true and sweet of tone. There wasn't a crack in the pure notes of that sweet young flinger. Some pitcher take it from us, and were he going to face the $7,500 piece of pitching goods that has been carefully nurtured in the Sommer shop this season, the chances are that Bell would continue to chime forth with triumphant notes.

AN OLD pal dropped in the other day to say a word about the Cubs. Said pal had taken the trip to Chi and speared time from precious business to watch the pastime on the West side.

"They have sort of soured on Johnny Evers," he said. "Johnny is showing the cares and worries of his position, I sat in the box over the dog house of the home team, and plainly saw the lines of wear and worry in the face of the Trojan.

"The Cubs are not the old Cubs. I watched the games of this once great team for years when it was at the very height of its prime. Now—oh well, years have ever been the relentless foe of the athlete.

"In Williams the Cubs appear to have uncovered a find; a real star. He is slim and lank and looks on the order of those things resembling men that were pictured by Old Man Darwin. But he can play ball.

"Williams is as fast as a streak and he sure can belt the pill. Looks like he is going to tumble on his onion every move he makes—but he doesn't. A continual source of heart trouble and then again a continual source of pleasant surprise.

"Otto Miller worked that day and he is the same old wonder that we knew and loved here—only more so. He catches them as easily, as if he were merely closing his hand around a tossed ball, and throws to second or first or third with the easy and airy grace that used to make the faithful at Athletic park wonder."

THERE is a story of a ball player wrestling a bear in the region of Baudette, Minn., the story has gone the rounds of the press the country over.

We wonder at our old friend W. T. Noonan of the Baudette Region. Bill is one of the best press agents for Baudette that the hustling town has ever had. He is some sport promoter, too. When mayor of the thriving little burg he promoted both of the Hackett-Durnan sculling races and in various other ways contrived to get the name of the border town on the lips of those following current events.

Here is Leslie Bush, the kid pitcher of the Philadelphia Athletics who was secured from Brainerd, Minn. Oddly enough Bush comes from the same Minnesota town that produced the famous Chief Bender, and strange as it is, these two men are proving the mainstay for Uncle Connie Mack. Bush learned the game on the lots of Brainerd and then went to the Union association, being a member of the Butte club. Connie Mack heard of the prowess of the youngster and signed him for a trial. Bush shares honors with our George Dauss and one or two others of being one of the greatest young twirlers in baseball.

McLEAN TRADED FOR OTIS CRANDALL.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 7.—The first move to shake up the local National league club came yesterday when President Britton announced that he had traded Catcher McLean to the New York club for Pitcher Otis Crandall. McLean, who joined the local club this spring, left last night to join the league leaders in Cincinnati. Crandall is expected to report to Manager Huggins here today.

Huggins announced that he had several other deals pending, and said he hoped to close them in a day or two.

HANK BRACKETT HOLDS RANGERS TO THREE HITS

Sox Show Grand Form and Take Second Game 3 to 0.

Little Sweeley Is Batting Hero With Homer and Double.

Virginia, Aug. 7.—Hank Brackett held the rangers to three hits yesterday and Duluth won the second game of the present series by the count of 3 to 0. The gilt-edged flinging of the visiting moundsman was backed by brilliant support in the field, while the White Sox did some effective slugging when hits counted the most.

In the fourth round, after the battle had gone along on even basis, old Sam Meniece doubled to center and scored when Bunny Schreiber clouted one down the left foul line for a single. Little Sweeley doubled in the fifth and scored when Brackett helped with the winning of his own game with a long single to right field. Sweeley hit for a homer in the ninth round when the paths were depopulated, thus ending the scoring for the visitors.

The exhibition of the game was one of the best given here during the present season. On the form shown by the Sox in their appearance yesterday the fans are wondering why the Zenith City aggregation is not leading the race at the present time. There was snap and precision to the playing of the Sox, and some of the plays in the field were of the stellar order. The rangers had little chance with the sort of playing that the visitors exhibited. Brackett had everything, one of the hits of the locals being of the scratch order.

WINNIPEG GIVES RECRUIT BEATING.

La Crosse, Wis., Aug. 7.—The locals used Anderson, a graduate from the corner lots, in the game of yesterday and the Maroons took kindly to the offerings of the youngster, winning out by the score of 10 to 4. The visitors gathered eighteen hits during the pastime, thirteen being off Anderson. The game of yesterday opened the Northern league season and a holiday marked the event. KEOKUK CLUB MUST PAY PLAYER'S AWARD.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Aug. 7.—The national baseball commission yesterday issued a note to all national agreement clubs in which it said the Keokuk club of the Central association has failed to settle the award by the commission against that club for $175 in favor of Player R. A. Madigan and that unless the amount is paid by Aug. 8 the club will not be permitted to exercise the privilege of reserving its players, all of whom will become free agents on the termination of their 1913 contracts.

The commission also promulgated a finding in which it sustained the award of the national board and disallowed the appeal for the Green Bay club of the Wisconsin-Illinois league in the case of Player Parker, who, the board decided, was entitled to six days' salary from the club.

KAHANAMOKU BREAKS SWIMMING RECORDS.

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 7.—Duke Kahanamoku, the Hawaiian swimmer who holds the championship of the Pacific coast, broke three world's records—the 25, 50 and 75-yard—in an exhibition at the Olympic club last night.

Kahanamoku lowered the 25-yard swim from 11.6 seconds, held by Daniels, to 11.3. He lowered the 50-yard from 23.6, held jointly by Wickham, Sullivan and Kuszagh, to 23.4. In the 75-yard he broke his own world's record of 39.6 and fixed a new mark of 37.4. The new records are official.

SNOW HOLDS SAFE LEAD

Glass Outpitched and Superior Loses to Winona 6 to 1.

Pirates Outplay the Visitors in Every Department of Game.

Winona, Minn., Aug. 7.—Glass, the former Winnipeg flinger, was sent to the box yesterday by Manager Curtis of the Red Sox in the effort to win the second game of the series. Snow opposed the former Maroon and held the visitors to five scattered hits, while the Pirates were nicking the offerings of Glass for ten blows and the Corsairs took the second game of the all-important series by the score of 6 to 1.

The visitors started like winners and crowded the first and only run scored by them over in the first round. Fred Curtis walked after Persch was down and scored when Bell and ancient Bill Dunn singled. This was the last stand made by the Red Sox, for after this Snow tightened and only three hits were secured during the remainder of the game.

Hits were bunched off Glass in the fifth, and bunched with the errors of the visitors gave the locals three runs and cinched the game.

Superior was outplayed in every department of the game. The base running of the visitors was very poor, while several costly errors were made, both by the substitutes.

Rube Schauer is expected to pitch the final game of the series and will most likely be opposed by Bell. This should be a grand heaving duel and it is expected that one of the greatest crowds that ever witnessed a game here will be on hand.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Matty Given Beating.

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 7.—Pittsburg made it two out of three yesterday in the series with New York and gave Christy Mathewson one of the worst beatings of his career, thereby checking the winning streak of another New York pitcher. The score was 9 to 1. McQuillan pitched a steady game for the locals and but for an error by Carey on Murray's single in the eighth the Columbus "come back" would have scored a shut out.

Pittsburg hit Mathewson hard from the very start, fast fielding, however, saving him. The terrific batting became in the fifth when the locals scored seven runs. Everything the Pittsburg players hit went safe, and at the same time the New Yorkers made several fielding slips which aided in scoring runs.

Mathewson retired after his disastrous fifth inning and George Dlitse went to the mound in the sixth holding the locals runless in the succeeding innings. The score:

New York	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	1	0	1	8	0
Pittsburg	0	0	2	0	7	0	0	0	x	9	12	1

Cubs Win Out.

Chicago, Aug. 7.—Chicago was forced to go ten innings yesterday to defeat Brooklyn, 4 to 3. The winning run was made when Schulte singled and went to second on Zimmerman's sacrifice. Saier followed with a hit to the sign board in right field which would have gone for his second home run, but as Schulte scored the winning run from second, the Chicago first baseman got credited for a double. The game was a pitchers' battle between Cheney and Wagner. Walker was benched in the second inning for arguing the decisions of Umpire Brennan. Manager Evers appeared in uniform yesterday but did not participate in the game. The score:

											R.	H.	E.
Chicago	0	1	1	0	0	0	0	0	0	1	4	9	1

Batteries—Wagner, Walker and Miller; Cheney and Archer, Needham. Umpires—Brennan and Eason.

Rixey Is Invincible.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 7.—Eppa Rixey was almost invincible yesterday while Harmon was hit hard and timely, Philadelphia winning the final game by 7 to 1, and making it four straight games on the series. Rixey held the locals safely in all but one inning, the seventh, when one run was scored on two hits. The score:

										R.	H.	E.
St. Louis	0	0	0	0	0	0	1	0	0	1	4	0

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Easy for Nationals.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 7.—By bunching hits with two bases on balls off Smith and O'Brien in the second inning yesterday, Washington scored six runs and settled the third game of the series with Chicago, the final score being, 11 to 2. After the sixth the exhibition was one-sided and uninteresting.

Chicago was unable to do anything with Johnson during the four innings he was on the mound and Gallia, who succeeded him, was just as good, holding the visitors to two hits in five innings.

Lathrop took up the pitching for Chicago in the third and his wildness, coupled with two singles, a hit batsman and two sacrifice flies were responsible for the remainder of Washington's runs.

Chappelle and Collins collided in the second. Collins was knocked unconscious but recovered sufficiently to walk from the field. Chappelle remained in the game until the next inning, when he was relieved by Rader. Neither was hurt seriously. The score:

											R.	H.	E.
Washington	0	6	0	0	3	0	1	1	x	11	8	0
Chicago	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	1	1	2	3	3

Batteries—Johnson, Gallia and Ainsmith; Smith, O'Brien, Lathrop and Kuhn. Umpires—Evans and Hildebrand.

Browns Are Beaten.

Boston, Aug. 7.—In a fast game Boston defeated St. Louis, 4 to 1, yesterday. The locals hit Baumgardner's pitching consistently and bunched hits in the first, second and eighth innings.

The Boston team has obtained two new pitchers, Fred Anderson having been purchased from the Brockton, New England league club, and William Byers, a Minneapolis semi-professional player, having joined the local club for a try-out. The score:

										R.	H.	E.
St. Louis	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	1	0	1	6	0
Boston	1	1	0	0	0	0	0	2	x	4	12	1

Batteries—Baumgardner and McAllester; Bedient and Thomas. Umpires—Dineen and Egan.

Dauss Wins Again.

New York, Aug. 7.—George Dauss, the sensational young pitcher of the Detroits, won a pitchers' battle from New York yesterday, the score being, 2 to 1. Dauss held the locals to only four hits, two of which were flukes. A home run drive by Crawford won for Detroit in the third inning. Crawford's drive scored Dauss ahead of him, the visiting pitcher having reached first base when Knight made a bad muff of his little pop fly.

New York's lone run came in the sixth inning when Ford and Wolter drew passes and Hartzell's single scored Daniels, who had forced Ford. The score:

New York	0	0	0	0	0	1	0	0	0	1	4	2

Batteries—Dauss and McKee; Ford and Sweeney. Umpires—O'Loughlin and Sheridan.

Athletics Continue Streak.

Philadelphia, Aug. 7.—Cleveland put up a very aggressive game against Philadelphia yesterday until the fifth inning, when a bunch of errors by the visitors, a safe bunt by Collins and a home run by Baker gave the home team four runs, the visitors eventually being defeated by 7 to 1.

Johnston was ordered off the Cleveland bench by Umpire Ferguson for yelling remarks and Umpire Connolly ordered Graney off the field for disputing a decision at the home plate. The score:

										R.	H.	E.
Cleveland	0	0	0	0	1	0	0	0	0	1	7	6
Philadelphia	0	0	1	0	4	0	1	1	x	7	10	0

AMERICAN ASSN.

Fourteen-Inning Tie.

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 7.—Louisville and Kansas City played a fourteen-inning game yesterday, the score standing 3 to 3, when darkness put an end to play.

Morgan was put out of the game for arguing with Umpire Johnstone on called balls to the first batter up in the thirteenth inning and Vaugh relieved him and held the locals hitless the remainder of the game.

Northrup was taken from the slab in the seventh inning and R. Clemons proved a stumbling block to the visitors. Errors by Morgan and Barbeau

MOTHER MADE A GIRL OF HIM.

Baltimore Sun: "After keeping Charles home all his life in order to make him gentle and because I had no daughter, I think it outrageous that people should call him Percy and Sissy and he nearly 19 years old," complained Mrs. Ameda Heiss, 2041 East North avenue, before Justice Dean of the northeastern district.

She accused neighbors of worrying her son with the above epithets and wanted them arrested.

"I know he is girlish," she continued. "But I never had a girl, so I determined that he should be my girl. He never went out to work, but does all the cooking, makes the beds and sweeps the house. In that way he saves me money."

When asked why she didn't bring her son to the station with her, she said he was too bashful to appear before strangers.

"Every day, as soon as he goes out to wash the steps, the neighbors begin to tease him," she said. "They call him 'Willie Boy' and even suggest that he wear curls. One had the audacity to tell me to put his hair in curl papers. And, of course, he comes in mortified and blushing to death.

"One woman said he followed one of her daughters. And I want you to know," said Mrs. Heiss, shaking her fist, "my Charles don't follow girls."

She said her son was a perfect little gentleman and wanted him protected. She gave the names of several women and asked that they be locked up.

Justice Dean advised her that her case was a civil one and she walked out vowing to take her complaint highor.

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 7.—After pitching a good game Works eased up in the eighth inning yesterday and allowed a walk and three hits which netted Minneapolis three runs, enough to win from Indianapolis by 4 to 3. The visitors scored first in the fourth, when Krug booted F. Delahanty's grounder. The runner was sacrificed to second by Williams and scored when Krug overthrew first base. In the eighth, Altizer walked, went to second on F. Delahanty's out and scored on William's single, J. Slapnicka, who was wild, retired in the sixth after Hinchman had tripled with two runners on. Pitcher Ferry had perfect control and was given excellent support, particularly by Shortstop Gerber. TOLEDO OFFERS O'BRIEN A BERTH, SAYS RUMOR

There Is a Chance That Darby May Manage Mudhens.

Winona Looks the Best Bet as Northern League Flag Winner.

President Blume being out of the city no direct confirmation could be secured of the story that Darby O'Brien, the grand old man of the minor leagues, the patriarch, so to speak, was going to the Toledo club as the bench manager.

Certain it is that the directorate of the Ohio club has been casting about for a leader since the early part of the present season. Topsy Hartzel failed to deliver the goods and resigned as manager of the Mud Hens. Bronke was given the post of leadership, but it is generally believed in American association circles that the appointment of Bronke was only a temporary shift.

However, when it comes right down to brass tacks, it is doubtful if O'Brien accepts the offer—if it has really been made. Only recently the Dook outlined some of his plans for the Duluth club for the coming season, and if he has received an offer from the Toledo club it has come within the past few days.

You have to hand it to O'Brien in one respect—he knows the value of a ball player and is one of the best judges of young talent in the country.

Has Picked Beauties.

When the Minnesota - Wisconsin league was organized in 1908 O'Brien was made the manager of the Duluth team, the Orator having been riding in the saddle of authority during the latter part of the old Northern league season. Dave Williams having departed from the post of local leadership.

That season the Orator signed a team of youngsters—Miller, Marion, Dauss, McCrone, Kohl and Jimmy Breen. Of the Duluth team six players were drafted or sold, which comes near being a record for a minor league club.

Otto Miller is now with the Brooklyn team. Merry McCrone at last accounts was in the International league. Dauss, as everyone hereabouts knows, is one of the finds of the American league. Don Marion is with Wilkesbarre, according to last reports, after having his little fling at the big show and then playing for two seasons in the American. Breen is in the Southern association, according to the last reports that were received here.

Elmer Miller, Elmer Smith, Shorty Anderson, Eva Leber and Bunny Schreiber are some more of the stars that have been dug from the verdant tall and uncut by the Orator. As a successful hunter among the ivory plantations his efforts have been crowned with rich reward.

There are some of the fans here who are on Darby. Baseball is one of the most ungrateful professions in the world. There is the type of fellow who delights to sit in the bleacher, protected by the police and the ethics of the game, and hurl vituperation at the head of a player. O'Brien has gone through this, as have others. But there are fair-minded men here who appreciate the efforts of the Dook, who has given this town two flags, and it is quite possible that the appreciation of these men is quite sufficient to counterbalance the abuse of the knockers.

Winona Shows Strength.

Two of the games of the big series between Winona and Superior have been played. Two have been won and that decisively by the Corsairs. As it looks today it is up to Rube Schauer to go in and attempt to win one of the series.

There is the alibi of the injured Cullis and Benrud and this will be used, as is quite natural. It is most unfortunate for Superior and the rest of us that the Red Sox did not enter the most crucial test of the year with the full strength of the team.

After a long consecutive run of victories it is generally the case of a pitcher or a ball club breaking badly. There are nerves and reaction to be heard from. Perhaps Superior is getting the reaction at the present time, for it is quite true that Winona has won these two games with infinitely more ease than any of us imagined before the start of the opener.

By the exhibition of yesterday it would seem that Snow has recovered. With this youngster back in form the chances favor the Corsairs for the flag.

Good Pitching Staff.

Davis has a rather sweet flinging staff in Snow, Bell, Toraason and Myers. Some ball players profess to believe that Toraason, the Blair, Wis., recruit has nothing but a prayer and a glove. The fact remains however that he has won the majority of games he has worked in, including the last contest he flung here.

Withers has left Superior Trouble was the cause of the departure of the flinger who did some nifty work for Superior in the early part of the season. This leaves Fred Curtis with Schauer, the $7,500 beauty; Glass, Chicken and Dahlgren. Schauer and Dahlgren are stars, but Glass and Chicken are not in the same class with Toraason and Myers, and it is doubtful if Schauer and Dahlgren can prove as effective as Bell and Snow.

Winona is about the best team in the league. It is difficult to beat any small town team in its own park, and this has been especially true of the Pirates during all of the present season. Winona has the majority of its games at home, and this will help a lot.

Duluth Going Strong.

The White Sox are going well at the present time. Maybe it is simply because the Sox are opposed to a spineless bunch, but the box scores would indicate a general classy article of baseball.

It will require some real baseball playing from now until the end of the season for the Sox to keep up in their present position. There is a chance for second place—a fighting chance, and the fans are watching closely the progress of the Dooks on the present trip.

We open at Minneapolis tomorrow for three games and go from the Mill city to Winona. With the Sox pitchers going the way they are at the present time, we should make one of the best road trips of the present season, if not the very best.

TENARA WINS RICH STAKE

Kentucky Mare Wins All Four Heats of Paper Mills Stake.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Aug. 7.—The Kentucky mare, Tenara, driven by Andrews, easily won the $12,000 Paper Mills stake, the features of yesterday's Grand Circuit card. The event was raced on the four heat plan, $3,000 for each heat and the drivers drew for positions before each start.

In the fist heat Tenara and Judson Girl, who will meet again in the M. & M. in Detroit, raced even to the half, when Judson Girl broke. Rousens and Santos Maid also broke, and Andrews had no trouble in bringing Tenara under the wire an easy winner, with Fan Patch second and Rousens following closely.

In the second heat Tenara lay back until the half mile post was reached. Then she went out in front and came under the wire eased up. In the next two heats Andrews kept the mare in front all the way around.

Th's is the third rich stake won by Tenara this season, she having captured $10,000 events at both Fort Erie and Grand Rapids.

Geers Springs Surprise.

In the 2:16 trot, the first race of the day, Frances Graham had no difficulty in beating Grand Marshal, which was thought to have the race at his mercy. Geers sprung a surprise when he drove his mare under the wire first in every heat in the race. Sienna and Bingarian raced closely in the third heat, but a break by Sienna caused her to drop to third place in the last quarter.

In the 2:10 pace there were only four starters. MacThistle easily won the first heat. In the second heat he was in a pocket all the way around and View Elder won without serious difficulty After this heat the judge declared all bets off and Hoffman was given the mount behind MacThistle in place of Steadman The shift had no effect in the result of the race, as View Elder took the next two heats in easy fashion.

COAST TEAM IS WINNER

California Tennis Players Win From Easterners at Chicago.

Chicago, Aug. 7.—California earned a monopoly of honors in the national tennis doubles yesterday. By a well deserved victory over the Eastern champions, Clarence Griffin and John Strachan, the Coast's clever pair, won the right to meet Bundy and McLoughlin, the San Franciscans, for the championship of the United States at Newport on Aug. 18.

Outplayed in every department of the game, and out-generalled, the Eastern team, Gustav Touchard and Watson M. Washburne, owes its defeat in more than a small measure to a lamentable lack of team work. From appearances this was due to a certain amount of discord between the men. Both worked hard but there was an absence of the unity that usually marks the successful doubles team and points that might have won games were lost through it.

On the Western side there was no such lack. The California youths, who have played together since childhood played as one man yesterday and their team work gave them the victory in straight sets, 6-1, 8-6, 6-4.

Attack on Washburne.

Of the Eastern pair Touchard played the better game. He lent active support at times to Washburne, but the latter, who was made the target for his opponents' attack as he was Tuesday in the match with the Western team had more than he was able to take care of, and was worn down by it. Washburne's drives supposed to be the complement of Touchard's cross court smashes, failed to be effective against the clever covering of the Coast players. His partner's cross court shots on the contrary probably saved the Eastern team from an ignominious defeat.

The Coast team outplayed the Easterners at the lobbing end with which Touchard and Washburne began the first set. They broke up the attack by playing back and smashing, and their easy victory in the opening set was due to the demoralization of the Eastern pair which resulted when their offensive game was upset.

Playing every possible point against Washburne, the Western team wore him down and broke through his serve for the first time in the thirteenth game of the second set. A double fault helped them and the server lost the crucial point when he weakly returned into the net a drive of Strachan's which nearly tore his feet off.

The East made its best showing of the day in the third set and led 3-1 at one time. Strachan, whose service is a duplicate of McLoughlin's and was a feature all day, kept up his good work in the final set. Some of the cleverest covering of the match helped the Coast team cut down the advantage of the Easterners.

YACHTING CLASSIC ON AT NEWPORT

Newport, R. I., Aug. 7.—The activities attending the Astor cup races, the principal feature of the annual visit of the New York Yacht club squadron to Newport, were somewhat dampened today by light showers and lack of wind. Four schooners and ten sloops were entered for the racing. Nearly all the yachts had to be towed out to the start, which was fixed for 10:30 a. m.

The Goelet-Astor cup race, which because of its long and interesting history, is now held to be one of the American yachting classics, had its inception in 1882, when Capt. Ogden Goelet offered two trophies for schooners and sloops for a race off Newprt.

The race became so popular and the cups were won by so many famous yachts that upon the death of Capt. Goelet in 1898, Col. John Jacob Astor became a prize donor and for thirteen years contributed many valuable pieces of silver and gold. Through a provision in his will the Astor cup race is perpetuated although the trophies this year are contributed by his son, Vincent Astor.

During the past thirty-one years there have been sixteen Goelet and fourteen Astor cup races. Many of the winners subsequently successfully defended the America's cup.

The races are sailed over a triangular course of about thirty-five miles without time limit and the yachts in racing trim which means hoisting club topsails instead of the working topsails used in cruising.

Golf Play Opens.

Kenosha, Wis., Aug. 7.—The qualifying round for the state golf championship was played yesterday, with a total of over 100 starters, and the feature of the day was the wonderfully low score made by R. P. Cavanaugh, who did the thirty-six holes in 147, eleven stroke under bogey, on the most tempting, and most dangerous course in the West. All day was devoted to the qualifying round and the match play starts today. Thirty-two qualified for the championship.

The Peoples' Choice

THE people's choice in beverages is good beer. The people of Duluth and surrounding territory have re-elected this choice for a period of more than 30 years or ever since Fitger's Beer has been brewed. Constant regard for purity and the peculiar "knack" in brewing that produces that different and more delicious Fitger flavor have been the reasons for the public's unchanging loyalty to

Fitger's Beer

Its clear, sparkling color, its creamy foam, its "different" flavor, delicious and satisfying, have won for it a remarkably loyal patronage. The way to enjoy it is to keep a case in your cellar, so that you and your family can open a bottle and serve it with a meal or as a healthful refreshment, any time the "mood" is on you. Just try it.

ON THE IRON RANGES

TRAVELING BY TROLLEY LINE

Few People Patronize Great Northern's Hibbing-Virginia Service.

So Railroad Commission Allows Discontinuance of That Train.

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Competition by the Mesaba Range Electric line has killed the passenger business of the Great Northern between Hibbing and Virginia, according to an order issued by the state railroad and warehouse commission.

For several years the Great Northern has operated two trains each way a day between these stations, but on account of the rapidly decreasing business the service was cut in two May 9. Citizens of Virginia protested and the matter was heard by Commissioners Mills and Staples.

The commission holds that it would be unreasonable to compel the Great Northern to maintain its service.

MAYOR MURPHY IS TAKING VACATION

Is in Woods and May Not Have Heard of Virginia Affairs.

Virginia, Minn., Aug. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mayor M. A. Murphy has been absent from the city for three weeks and during that time has not communicated with his office. None of his friends have been advised when he will return. Before he left for the woods in the region of Split Rock on the north shore he appointed President Michael Boylan of the council, acting mayor and the chief executive may be so far from sivilization that he does not know how the city has been in the limelight during the past two weeks, furnishing an almost daily sensation. It is expected the mayor will return before Aug. 27, the date set for the hearing before the supreme court in the water and light plant case of Backus against the city.

During the summer lull City Attorney Morgan is also taking a vacation, being away at his old home at Youngstown, Ohio. The city's legal business is in the hands of J. J. Giblin of Mr. Morgan's office and the council may also at any time call upon E. M. Morgan, brother of the city attorney, who resides in Minneapolis, but who is spending the summer in Duluth.

ANOTHER ANIMAL IN VIRGINIA ZOO.

Virginia, Minn., Aug. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—A buck deer about a year old, captured at Chisholm, has been brought to the Olcott park zoo and placed in one of the enclosures. With the animals recently acquired and the births this year, this city has probably more animals than any other zoo in the Northwest.

TOURISTS' PARADISE.

State Forest Ranger Bessette Boosts Northern Woods Section.

Virginia, Minn., Aug. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The forest and lake region of the northern part of the state is destined to become more popular with the people of cities and states farther south than the Adirondacks, the woods of Maine, or the Muskoka lake region of Ontario according to Fred Bessette of Orr, state forest ranger who probably knows more about the Northern wilds than any other man in the state. He says that the number of tourists this year greatly exceeds that of any former year and that from year to year the number will increase. He gives the Duluth & Iron Range road much credit for advertising that attracts the tourists toward Vermilion lake region, the National forest and the whole northeastern part of the state.

Mr. Bessette says much is being done by the forestry department in the way of building telephone lines through the woods. A line is under construction which together with the government line to Bois Fort reservation will give a connection from Orr to International Falls. A line is also being built east of Orr which will connect up with the lines through the National forest and thus give connection with Ely and Tower. The men of the forest service are also doing a lot in the way of keeping the water courses open, breaking up jams so that canoeing parties may have a clear route.

Burgess of Cohasset spoke of the work being done by school district No. 1. Professor Corwin, a Cornell university man, who has recently come to Grand Rapids to have charge of the agricultural work of the schools, closed the speaking.

In the afternoon there was some sports including an exciting ball game which necessitated three changes of umpires and resulted in a victory for the Blackberry farmers. The committee of arrangements consisted of F. A. McCalister, chairman; Neil McKinley and Joseph Murphy.

BUMPS INTO BOULDER.

Cohasset Youths, Motoring Near Coleraine, Are Shaken Up.

Cohasset, Minn., Aug. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Albert Jandreau sustained a broken nose and Charles Gerry, Clarence McGuiness and William Lohner, all of this village, were painfully bruised Tuesday evening while motoring on the Coleraine road, when they missed the curve at the Grand Rapids end of the viaduct just outside of Coleraine and struck a boulder.

They were returning from Coleraine in Arthur Closler's car. Young Gerry was at the wheel, and in the darkness he failed to make the turn. The forepart of the car was wrecked. With the exception of Jandreau, who was stunned by the shock, none were seriously injured. The boys took Jandreau to the Coleraine hospital, where he was given medical assistance, secured another car and returned to Cohasset.

BUILDING WOLF ROAD.

Virginia Has Men Putting New Highway Into Shape.

Virginia, Minn., Aug. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The city engineer and the street commissioner have commenced building the extension of one mile of the Wolf road, which will carry the part the city will build one mile beyond the city limits. The work outside the city is done on account of the great benefit the road will be to Virginia, diverting a great amount of traffic from the farming region to the southwest of the city which now goes to Eveleth. During the winter the street commissioner had teams hauling material for the road by sleighs over the swamps, thus gaining several miles over the haul that would be required in summer over the built roads. The road building material is donated by the Oliver Iron Mining company and is obtained at the dump of the old Auburn mine, half way between Virginia and Eveleth.

NEW HUDSON SIX.

Notable New Model Now on Exhibition at Kleyn Auto Company.

The 1914 Hudson Six-54 7-passenger body, complete car, at $2,250 is on exhibition today at the salesrooms of the Kleyn Auto company, 529 East Superior street, local dealer for the Hudson motor cars. Beauty is the keynote of the new car. The most important feature is the pure streamline body. No angles appear at the dash. The running boards are clear. It conforms to the latest European practice. Germany originated the streamline body. By some it is known as the Prince Henry type.

Reliable information from leading factories of Europe indicates that at the Paris show next October practically every European manufacturer will exhibit bodies of this type. This has been adapted by Hudson designers to American use and modified to suit American ideas. The long, sloping hood merges into the lines of the dash. The graceful sweep and smoothness is unbroken from radiator cap to tail light. The new car is designed for seven passengers. The two extra seats are of the folding type and permanently attached. They fold into the back of the front seat entirely out of the way. Yet owing to the great length of the car—135-inch wheel base—there is ample room for all passengers and all may have the greatest possible ease and comfort.

Provision has been made for entrance to the driver's section from either side of the car. The steering wheel is at the left, with control levers in the center at the driver's right, and tires are carried in advance of the left fore door. Thus access is obtained from either door.

The motor has ben improved by making the crank shaft heavier and the fly wheel lighter. The pistons and connecting rods are made extremely light. This adds to the liveliness of the motor and it increases its power. Having the parts so much lighter decreases the inertia that must be overcome before maximum speed can be obtained. There are four forward speeds, direct drive being on third. Fourth speed is for use on level roads when the car is driven over thirty miles per hour. It decreases gasoline consumption. The starting device is much faster in its operation than that used last year. It turns the motor over almost 100 revolutions per minute. This assures more prompt starting in cold weather. The lighting arrangement is simpler. By doing away with side lights the headlights are used to serve for both city and country driving. The operation of the dimmer is interesting.

The frame is heavier and stronger. Some have referred to this car as "the indestructible car." It is built to stand abuses that no other kind of machinery is ever subject to. The brakes this year are provided with equalizers and the brake drums are machined to fit perfectly. This saves in tires. The speedometer is driven from a concealed noiseless gear integral with the left front wheel. The gasoline tank is in the dash. All control switches, speedometer, lighting switch, gasoline indicator and oil pressure gauge are on the dash apron immediately before the driver.

The rear springs are placed beneath the axle instead of above. This lowers the body of the car. It insures steadier running. It avoids tendency to sideslip or skid. Timken roller bearings are used in all wheels, in rear axle and in steering knuckle. This provides, among other things, much easier steering. A mere touch of a finger controls the steering wheel.

The top is of Pantasote. It is fitted with quickly adjustable curtains that may be dropped into place in a moment without leaving the car. Thus, they avoid exposure to rain or storm. No cotter pins are used.

The car is splendidly ventilated. Ventilators are in the dash. The doors to the forward compartment are staggered and may be hooked upon. No detail of comfort has been overlooked. In perfection of mechanical detail, no less than in its beauty and gracefulness, the 1914 Hudson Six-54 is surely a notable advance in automobile construction.

ASK RECEIVER FOR SUGAR FIRM.

Hartford, Conn., Aug. 7.—A receiver for the Central San Cristobal, a Porto Rico sugar-growing concern incorporated in Connecticut, was asked for yesterday in the United States court by Welch & Co. of New York and San Francisco, who are creditors to the extent of $927,000. They set up that the defendant concern owes considerably over $1,000,000, and that its vast properties at Port of Nagaubo, Porto Rico, will be dissipated unless a receiver is appointed.

Will Survive Accidental Wound.

Minot, N. D., Aug. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mary Weed, aged 5, of Surrey will recover from injuries received by the accidental discharge of a shotgun in the hands of a farm laborer. The bullets entered her side, but lodged in such manner as not to prove dangerous. The laborer was placing the gun on a nail on the wall when it exploded.

Muffins

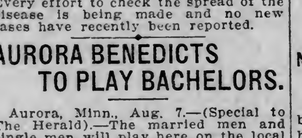
By Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill, Editor of the Boston Cooking School Magazine.

When muffins are on the breakfast table, nobody cares for meat or eggs and they would be served more often if this meal were not prepared so hurriedly that there is no time to make them. If K C, the double-raise baking powder is used, the batter may be stirred up the night before, put in the pan ready for baking and nothing to do in the morning but bake them.

One-Egg Muffins

2 cups flour; 2 slightly rounded teaspoonfuls K C Baking Powder; 1 teaspoonful salt; ¼ cup sugar; ¼ cup melted butter or lard; 1 egg; 1 cup water or milk.

Sift dry ingredients together three times. Add to this the unbeaten egg, melted shortening and water or milk. Then beat all together until perfectly smooth. Oil muffin or gem pans and have oven slow until the muffins come to the top of the pan, then increase the heat to bake and brown the muffins. This recipe makes 12 large muffins. Raisins or currants may be added if desired.



28

Graham Muffins

1 cup graham flour; 1 cup pastry flour; 2 level teaspoonfuls K C Baking Powder; 1 to 2 level tablespoonfuls sugar; ½ teaspoonful salt; 1 egg; 1½ cups milk or water; 2 to 3 tablespoonfuls melted butter; mix and bake as One-Egg Muffins.

Graham batter should always be quite soft to insure light and moist muffins.

To get 88 other recipes as good as these, send us the certificate packed in every 25-cent can of K C Baking Powder, and we will send you "The Cook's Book" by Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill. Handsomely illustrated. Jaques Mfg. Co., Chicago.

Mother's Advice To Her Daughter

A Real Live Doll to Fondle is Woman's Greatest Happiness.

She is wisdom itself who knows of or learns of that famous remedy, Mother's Friend. It is an external application for the abdominal muscles and breasts. It has a wonderful influence, allays all fear, banishes all pain, is a grateful encouragement to the expectant mother, and permits her to go through the period happy in mind, destined to anticipate woman's greatest happiness as nature intended she should.

The action of Mother's Friend makes the muscles pliant and responsive to expansion. Thus all strain and tension upon the nerves and ligaments is avoided, and, in place of a period of discomfort and consequent dread it is a season of calm repose and joyful expectation.

There is no nausea, no morning sickness, no nervous twitching, none of that constant strain known to so many women.

This splendid remedy can be had of any druggist at $1.00 a bottle. Write to Bradfield Regulator Co., 232 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for their book to expectant mothers.

BILL MEETS APPROVAL

National Citizens' League Heartily Approves Banking and Currency Bill.

Says Adverse Criticism Is Based on Misapprehension of Intention.

Washington, Aug. 7.—The National Citizens' league, an organization representing the banks and merchants of nearly all the large cities of the country has announced that it is heartily in favor of banking and currency legislation at this time. It also expressed the view that the administration bill, in the main, meets the approval of business men.

These announcements are the outcome of the conference the executive committee of the league held with the secretary of the treasury and the chairman of the committees on banking and currency in congress. The committee prefaced its statement by stating:

"Adverse criticism of the administration efforts seems to have been based rather on misapprehension of intention and fear of radical innovations than on facts warranted by the bill as it now stands."

Representatives of the Committee.

The league committee here is composed of John V. Farrell, of Chicago; John H. Rich, of Red Wing, Minn.; Charles A. Morse, of Boston; Irving T. Bush, of New York; L. C. Boyd, of Indianapolis; H. G. Chatham, of Winston Salem, N. C.; William A. Scott, of Madison, Wis., and A. D. Welton, of Chicago.

The committee set down on paper its views as follows:

"We believe that there would be much less difficulty in starting the system with a smaller number of Federal reserve banks than is contemplated. In doing so we recognize the strong political sentiment against the smaller number. We think, however, that the larger number should not be obligatory in the initiation of the new system, but that the organization committee should be trusted and given some latitude on this important subject so as not to produce too great a disturbance of business in the consequent shifting of large balances in a short time.

Gradual Increase Suggested.

"Increase from this smaller number should be made gradually, as was done in the case of the postal savings banks. Such a provision would also obviate the possible, if not probable, difficulty in getting in all the banks that would be required to make up twelve districts.

"The second point considered was the taxation of the notes. This provision seems to have been the subject of much misunderstanding or misinterpretation.

"Considerable time was devoted to a discussion of the fear now entertained by the bankers both in the reserve cities and in the country that compliance with the reserve requirements of the bill in its present form will be expensive and burdensome, and that it may result in at least a temporary contraction of credits.

Changes Recommended.

"Whether or not there be just grounds for this fear, the committee felt sure of its existence and of its widespread, if not universal character. It expressed the belief that this fear is likely to deter many banks from entering the new system, and that if a considerable percentage does not enter the proposed plan will fail.

"In order to prevent the possibility of such an outcome the following changes in the reserve requirements of the present bill were suggested: That the total reserve for country banks be reduced from 15 per cent to 12 per cent, which shall include the 5 per cent redemption fund against national bank notes.

"That the total reserve for reserve cities be reduced from 20 per cent to 18 per cent.

Danger of the Present System.

"This reduction in the reserve requirement seems to be entirely safe. It is now conceded by bankers, and also by the framers of the bill, that the large percentage now allowed to redeposited reserves and the direct deposits of country banks, now in the shape of balances in reserve banks, constitute one of the great dangers of the present system.

"If, however, these reserves are on a safer basis, as they would be in the new bill, there is no reason why the requirements should not be reduced. Cash reserves are not now used, and, perhaps, would not be used under the new bill. The real reserve would be the rediscountable commercial paper which every bank should arrange to have on hand.

Reserve Requirements.

"When this is available the present cash reserve requirements can be easily reduced all along the line. The reduction of the reserve requirements for the reserve cities seems to be reasonable, because they will not have nearly as large free bank balances, which are likely to be drawn in times of stringency, as in the case of banks in the central reserve cities.

"This lessening of the above requirements will necessitate the shifting of smaller amounts of balances, and also by withdrawing from use that much less cash in organizing the system will prevent consequent contraction of credit or a forced rediscounting, both of which are feared by so many careful students of the present bill.

"The league is heartily in accord with the administration in urging the enactment of a banking and currency law at this session. The league committee believes the bill has been greatly improved by recent amendments and expressed as the policy of the organization and intention to help the administration and all others to secure sound legislation on this subject."

USE "MOVIES" IN CAMPAIGN

Grand Forks Women Patronize Picture Houses to Enlighten Voters.

Give Views of Sanitary Slaughter Houses as Argument for City Abattoir.

Grand Forks, N. D., Aug. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The "movies" will be worked by local women in their campaign for the establishment of a municipal slaughter house, and on which the people will vote next Tuesday when the question of bonding for its construction will be submitted.

Pictures showing conditions in Grand Forks slaughter houses will be offered during the regular performance of the moving picture theaters, and in this manner first hand information of the actual methods of handling meat by local butchers will be shown.

The pictures also will depict sanitary slaughter houses, and modern meat handling methods in contrast with the old method.

The Women's Civic league is behind the movement, and it has required several years of agitation to bring on Tuesday's election.

To Bond City for $12,000.

It is proposed to bond the city for the construction of a slaughter house costing approximately $12,000. A committee of the city council made a tour recently of several Minnesota cities, and on the information gathered fixed the amount at $12,000.

Recently the civic league used the moving pictures in the anti-fly crusade, and very good results were obtained. In this campaign it is believed that even more striking results can be secured, as the women say they have an object lesson of no mean value to offer the people.

The moving picture house managers are featuring their slaughter house pictures as "head liners" until the evening before the election.

Another feature of the campaign is the bringing of Prof. E. F. Ladd, head of the state pure food department, to the city to deliver an address on general sanitation conditions as affecting the handling of meat.

LONE MAN GIVES ANOKA EXCITEMENT

Barricades Self in Barber Shop and Shoots Officer Before Surrendering.

Anoka, Minn., Aug. 7.—A stranger, believed from a memorandum in his pocket to be M. Engen, barricaded himself in the basement of Horace Hupschin's barber shop last night and for several hours held the police and fire departments at bay and gave the town the biggest thriller it has had in years. He was dislodged shortly after 1 this morning after wounding the chief of police. He is in jail, and is believed to be insane. He refuses to talk. He had $125 in his pocket.

For four hours the fire department poured streams of water into the cellar in an effort to dislodge the man, and every move to induce him to come out was answered with a bullet from a revolver. Chief of Police James Foley, although wounded in the head by a bullet fired from the basement, continued in charge, directing the work of endeavoring to bring the man out, dead or alive.

Secured Shave First.

Early in the afternoon the man appeared at the barber shop, secured a shave and a haircut, after which he said he was tired and asked permission to remain. He sat in the shop until closing time, when Mr. Hupschin requested him to depart. Refusing to go, Hupschin attempted to remove him by force. Fighting the barber off, he entered the basement. Policeman Foley was then called, but his efforts to induce a vacation were answered by a shot that resulted in a severe flesh wound.

Althought the firemen filled the basement nearly full of water, the stranger stood on the steps, with his head and arms above water and continued to shoot at his attempted rescuers.

Its buildings are not skyscrapers by any means, most of them being but one story in height, but the city has beautiful parks or plazas, pretty trees and beautiful flowers, statuary, etc. However, Mr. Frawleigh states that while he was much interested in the Argentine republic, he will take America for his. Mr. Frawleigh does not expect to return to South America for a time.

When arrested the boy claimed that he was shooting at a bird when the bullet went astray and struck his playmate. The Gale boy is hovering between life and death at a hospital. Young Heidleberger is in jail pending the outcome of the wounded boy's injuries.

SCORES CREAM LAW.

St. Paul Judge Says Mileage, Not Time, Is Important Point.

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 7.—The new law prohibiting the shipment of cream on railroads within the state for more than sixty-five miles without being refrigerated or accompanied by a certificate of pasteurization, was severely scored in a decision by Judge Catlin in district court Wednesday.

Judge Catlin held that the law was unreasonable and that upon the filing of a bond by the plaintiff in the case, a temporary injunction shall be issued restraining the railway companies from refusing to accept shipments of cream and restraining the attorney general from bringing action to force the railroads to comply with the requirements of the law.

The decision pointed out that time and not mileage was the most important point to be considered in the shipment of cream.

Those portions of Ramsey street, Forty-ninth avenue west, and the alley in block seventeen (17) of Oneota, as shown upon the recorded plat thereof on file and of record in the office of the register of deeds in and for St. Louis county, Minnesota, which lie within a strip of land one hundred (100) feet wide, the center line of which strip intersects the southerly line of Ramsey street at a point 59.3 feet westerly from the center line of the main track of the Wisconsin Central railway, as now constructed and operated, and 578 feet easterly from the easterly line of Fiftieth avenue west; and runs thence northerly by a curve to the left with a radius of 421.256 feet to the southwesterly line of said block 17; said center line intersects the northerly line of Ramsey street at a point 23.7 feet westerly from the southwesterly line of Forty-ninth avenue west; said center line also intersects the southwesterly line of Forty-ninth avenue west at a point 29.0 feet northwesterly from the northerly line of Ramsey street.

NEW BUILDING FOR OMAHA

Structure to Take Care of Immigrant Movement to Be Erected.

D. A. Blakeney Appointed Depot Master and Other Changes Made.

The Omaha is to build within the next thirty days an immigration building in the vicinity of the Omaha station that will cost $10,000.

Announcement of the plans of the Omaha officials in regard to the construction of the new building were made today.

According to the plans now in the hands of the architects, the building will be 103 feet in length by 30 feet. It will have offices for the handling of the express and baggage of the immigrants that pass through Duluth over the Omaha, and will also contain bath tubs, complete toilet facilities, including a restaurant, for the care of the immigrants while held over at this point.

The new building will be of brick or cement blocks, the plans provide, and will be used until the completion of the Eastern Canadian line of the Canadian Northern, which will obviate the necessity of bringing immigrants around by the Duluth traffic gate, or allowing them to go to the great Canadian rival of the Canadian Northern, the Canadian Pacific.

Blakeney Promited.

In line with the present plans for caring for the increased traffic at the Omaha depot, is the announcement that D. A. Blakeney has been appointed depot master.

Mr. Blakeney has been in the employ of the Omaha road for the past ten years, and is one of the best known railroad men at the Head of the Lakes. At the present time he is the city icke and passenger agent of the Omaha. The change is a promotion for Mr. Blakeney, who has come to the new position through long and efficient service with the company.

G. B. Ballou, at the present time assistant to Mr. Blakeney, will be promoted to the position of ticket agent, and L. W. Dickinson, another assistant in the officee, will be made passenger agent.

E. A. Dietz, at the present time employed in the city ticket office of the Northern Pacific at St. Paul, will be assistant city ticket agent here.

All of the changes will become effective on the tenth of the present month.

Mr. Blakney is to have two assistans in the new position, this beeing in line with the desire of the Omaha officials to take care of the growing business at the depot.

Hosts of warm personal friends of Mr. Blakney will be genuinely pleased at the announcement of his promotion. The appointee to the new position has perhaps as many friends as any railroad man in this section of the country, and through his courteous treatment he has won the friendship of a large portion of the traveling public of Duluth.

RAILROADS PROPOSE TO FILE NEW RATES

Daniel Willard Issues Statement—Denies Clash With Commission.

New York, Aug. 7.—Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad and chairman of the rate commission of the presidents of Eastern railroads, has issued a statement saying that while it was proposed shortly to file new tariffs with the interstate commerce commission contemplating an increase of approximately 5 per cent in freight rates, this action would not be taken for the purpose of "forcing early action" on the part of the commission.

He explained that when the commission recently refused the request of the railroad to open the case known as "I. C. C. 3,400," in order that they "might be given an opportunity to show the reasons which in their opinion justify the increase," the commission stated that it would order an investigation of the case on its own initiative, but that two members in a minority report had stated that in order to do this the tariffs in question would have to be filed and before the commission as evidence.

No Sign of Friction.

"In spite of the objections raised by the members of the commission, above referred to," Mr. Willard said, "the railroads concluded to go ahead with the preparation of new tariffs along the lines indicated in their application, and to file such tariffs as soon as they could be prepared in order that actual tariffs might be before the commission when the matter comes up for consideration, thus meeting the objections raised in the minority report.

"The filing of the tariffs as now contemplated does not in any sense indicate friction between the railroads and the commission, but quite the contrary. It indicates, if anything, a desire on the part of the railroads to comply fully with the expressed wishes of the commission, and should be so understood by the public. The tariffs to be filed will likely be suspended by the commission until an inquiry of the whole question can be conducted."

NORTH DAKOTANS OBJECTED TO RATES

Claim Railroad Charges Are Much Higher Than in South Dakota.

Fargo, N. D., Aug. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The shippers of Fargo and other North Dakota points are greatly interested in the special meeting of the North Dakota railway commission to be held here Tuesday when the facts regarding freight rates will be presented by Traffic Expert Gibbs of the Fargo Commercial club.

According to his investigations the freight rates in this state are nearly one-third higher than in South Dakota.

Unfair Coal Rates.

Among the other facts brought out was the recent discovery that it cost 40 cents per ton more to get coal delivered in carload lots into Fargo than into Moorhead a mile east. Other discrepancies of a similar nature as compared to the new rates in Minnesota have been found.

It is probable the facts will also be sent to the interstate commerce commission and a hearing sought before that body.

BARGE CRETE GOES DOWN AT DETROIT

Wooden Vessel Collides With Unidentified Steamer on River.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 7.—Colliding with an unidentified steamer in the St. Clair river early today, the barge Crete went to the bottom a short distance from the Star Island dock. No lives were lost, and the steamer Roumania, which was towing the barge, escaped injury.

The Roumania and Crete are wooden vessels, operated by W. C. Richardson of Cleveland. The Crete is 288 feet long, has a gross tonnage of 2,084 and was built in 1897.

It is believed the position of the sunken bargo may partially block the channel for the time being.

STRIKE TIES UP HARBOR TRAFFIC

Ore Boats Forced to Stay Idle for Want of Cargoes.

There is but little activity in the Duluth harbor today. There is some loading reported at the Allouez docks, but no boats are loading at the Missabe docks.

Out in the harbor there are a number of boats riding at anchor, and before many hours, should the strike continue, there promises to be a large fleet awaiting developments.

According to certain vessel men, the strike, if protracted, is bound to send the price of wheat tonnage down. It is intimated that as far as the vessel men are concerned, a delay of two weeks or so will work little hardship, as it will serve to increase tonnage later on and send the price of wheat cargoes up. The J. W. Moore left light today. The Alfred Mitchell came with coal, the Sierra with coal, the Cherokee light and the Holland and Goshawk with lumber, this being the extent of the movement in the harbor.

WHEAT SAGS; FLAX QUIET

Lack of Past Strength in Corn Lets Wheat Down a Notch.

Little Interest Shown in Flax ---Two Options Unchanged.

Duluth Board of Trade, Aug. 7.—The initial loss of the day was maintained, and not gained upon in wheat. September spring dropped ⅝c for the session and December lost ⅛c. Durum declined ½c. Oats gained ⅜c and corn advanced ⅛c, rye and barley remaining unchanged.

September puts, 86⅞c bid; calls, 87½@87⅝c asked.

Wheat opened unchanged this morning but soon a sag set in and continued until into the last hour of trading. The weakening of the corn market had most to do with the weakening in wheat, and while there have been many offers to sell, with profit-taking the main point, the price has not sagged as much as was expected. Reports from the Northwest concerning spring wheat have not been the most favorable, and therefore the natural decline in price that might be expected has been checked. However it is believed that before very long there will be something of a sag because the reaction from the corn rise is almost sure to come. As to the actual condition of wheat itself, it is believed to be a trifle bullish. Just now, however, it is controlled by the coarse grain condition.

September opened unchanged and in the last hour was ½@⅝c off; December opened unchanged but is ⅛@¼c off. Durum mostly inactive, is ½c off.

Dull in Flax.

Flax was dull all session and the two near options closed unchanged, while November lost ¼c, and so did December. There was not much activity at any time during the day.

Souris, Man.: With three binders, W. Edwards started cutting 240 acres of marquis wheat this morning. Harvest should be general by latter part of next week.

* * *

Indian Head, Sask.: Commenced wheat cutting today. The yield is estimated at 30 bu to the acre. This is fully two weeks earlier than any other wheat in the district.

* * *

Moose Jaw, Sask.: Before the end of the week many farmers will be cutting wheat in the Moose Jaw district. Several were cutting marquis wheat around Eyebrow, Marquis and Elbow today. Several dozen farmers are now harvesting barley and rye. Some phenomenal yields are expected, for the crop beats all records for the district.

* * *

Winnipeg, Man.: The Telegram says this morning: "Farmers are cutting early wheat in many districts. Generally believed yield averages 20 to 30 bu per acre."

* * *

Grosse Isle, Man.: All kinds of grain have ripened up very quickly these last few days and a quantity of rye, barley and oats have already been cut. wheat harvesting is well under way. Cutting will be general early next week. The prevailing idea is that wheat will average over 20 bu per acre; oats between 40 and 50 bu; barley 30 to 40; rye about 25 bu.

Winnipeg: The flax crop in Saskatchewan for 1912 was 18,931,000 bu from 1,463,000 acres. The government estimate for 1913 is 13,539,719 bu. This shows quite a decrease. There does not seem to be any reliable estimate for the flax crop in Manitoba and Alberta but the consensus of opinion seems to be that there will be a decrease from last year.

Lecount wires from Regina, Sask.: "Weather clear and favorable. Wheat looking generally good and will make full crop if it fills well. Needs two weeks more favorable weather to mature. Lots of summer fallow and breaking. Will make 30 bu.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Corn Suffers Sharp Break as Result of Rain.

Chicago, Aug. 7.—Corn suffered a sharp break today as a result of continued light rains in the northern part of the belt. It was still dry and hot elsewhere, however, and especially southwest and there was a quick rally. Topeka reported the weather today sizzling after the hottest night of the year. The market opened ⅞c to 2⅛@2¼c. September which started at 69@69½c, a loss of ⅞c to1⅜@1½c recovered to 69⅞c.

A fresh decline following owing to reports of good rains in Illinois, but the downpour did not prove widespread and the market again bounded upward. The close was nervous at 70½ for September, a net gain of a shade to ⅛c.

General selling of small lots carried down wheat. The break in corn was the principal influence. September opened ⅛@¼c to ¼@⅜c off at 86⅛@86¼c and sagged to 85⅞c.

Increased estimates of the spring crop kept the crowd bearish. The close was steady with September at 88¼c, a new decline of ⅛@¼c net.

Sentiment in oats was less one-sided than in corn so that prices were relatively steady. September which at the outset was 41⅝c, showing a setback of ⅛@⅜c, reacted soon to 41⅞c.

Provisions appeared to be mainly governed by corn, weakening at first and then turning upgrade. First sales varied from a shade to 7½@10c down with September options as follows:

Pork, $20.60; lard, $11.40; ribs, $11.12½.

CHECK TO SULZER GIVEN TO BROKERS

The Legislative Committee Looks for Deals in Wall Street.

New York, Aug. 7.—A check to the order of Governor Sulzer, alleged to have been given him for campaign purposes, was deposited with a Wall Street stock exchange firm, according to testimony received today by the Frawley legislative investigating committee.

The check was for $500, made out by one John Lynn and indorsed by "William Sulzer." From this same firm, Boyer, Criswold & Co., Frederick L. Colwell, said to have been acting for Governor Sulzer in stock transactions, purchased 200 shares of "Big Four" stock, according to the testimony, sometime during the last state campaign.

Colwell refused yesterday to admit that he acted for Governor Sulzer, and refused also to testify concerning other alleged purchases of Big Four stock in other brokerage concerns.

That Peter Doelger, a millionaire brewer, contributed $250 to the Sulzer campaign fund, which like some other contributions was unreported by the governor in his sworn statement, was another feature of the day's testimony.

MODERATE ADVANCES

Stocks Open Higher, React But Recover Part of Gains.

Steel Reaches the Highest Prices for Several Months.

New York, Aug. 7.—Manipulation was evident in the early dealings on the stock exchange today. Opening quotations, which showed general gains on the more favorable European situation, gave way to profit-taking and increased short selling with resultant setbacks. Union Pacific again was the leader rising and falling within a point of yesterday's close, while Reading, Steel, Amalgamated and Smelting were equally erratic. There were two to three-point declines in American Tobacco, American Snuff and the preferred shares of American Writing Paper and International Paper. Texas company gained three points. Bonds were steady.

A number of moderate advances were recorded in the early dealings on the stock exchange today. The prominent issues with the exception of Canadian Pacific, were up from ¼ to ½ while Delaware, Lackawanna & Western gained 5. Trading was dull and of small volume.

Realizing and renewed short selling met the initial advance and some gains were almost effaced by the end of the first hour. Union Pacific and Great Northern preferred were strongest of the high grade issues but the market as a whole relapsed to dullness.

Trading became more animated during the noon hour, Steel making a new high price for some months. Southern Pacific, Baltimore & Ohio, Atlantic Coast line and Western Maryland were up a point or more. Union Pacific rose 1½ and the preferred 1⅝. The weakness in specialties included a nine point drop in General Chemical and a total of 5 points in Writing Paper preferred.

Gains of the early afternoon were well sustained, but trading slackened as the supply met the demand. Traders were evidently impelled to cover short contracts on news from the Middle West.

The market closed strong. Following its custom, the market became increasingly dull in the final hour with moderate recessions from best prices of the afternoon. The leaders, however, retained a greater part of their advantage.

MARKET STRONG; VERY DULL

The market in copper and other stocks has been quiet all day, and yet there has been an unmistakeable tone of strength shown. Just why this is is not plain even to the "experts" in the East and they give it up. So therefore the uneffete West must do likewise.

The stock wires are heavy today with messages of congratulation to the noted firm of Hornblower & Weeks of New York, Boston, Chicago and other places. This is the twenty-fifth anniversary of the forming of the company. The firm consists of Henry Hownblower and John A. Weeks, the latter a United States senator from Massachusetts.

PROMOTERS OF BIG EXPOSITION

Plans for Curling Club Show Are Submitted to Boosters.

The committee in charge of the second annual Duluth Exposition week, Sept. 22 to 27, to be held at the curling club, met this afternoon at the Commercial club. Plans for the construction of booths was submitted, showing large places to accommodate 110 manufacturers on the second floor. The first floor is planned out for the livestock exhibit.

Considerable enthusiasm has been shown by manufacturers, many of whom have already sent in requests for floor space, some asking for larger quarters than retained by them last year. The committee to solicit exhibitors will be out visiting the manufacturers within a few weeks.

A carnival feature to the exposition will probably be carried out during the week. Various organizations have presented requests to be allowed to put on amusements.

LINDBERGH HAS CURRENCY BILL

Provides for Currency Board Composed Partly of Cabinet Officers.

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, Aug. 7.—A new currency bill of sixteen sections designated to help the agricultural interests of the country will be introduced tomorrow by Representative Lindbergh of Minnesota. It provides for the creation of a currency board of eleven members, six of the president's cabinet. Another part of the bill permits banks to use their own reserves in time of stringency, depositing in lieu thereof United States currency carrying a heavy rate of interest.

MERCURY ONLY 108 IN PARTS OF KANSAS

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 7.—Although temperatures in the Southwest averaged a few degrees lower yesterday than Tuesday, Kansas felt little relief from the heat, as in many parts of that state thermometers registered above 100 degs. The heat centers were Salina and Junction City, where the maximum temperatures were 108. At Independence, a new record for the year was established when the mercury climbed to 106. Topeka reported a temperature of 103.

Young Paper Suspends.

Chippewa Falls, Wis., Aug. 7.—The Chippewa Journal-Tribune, afternoon paper, after an existence of nine months and eighteen days, suspended publication today. William R. Dobbyn, formerly of Minneapolis, was editor and Congressman James Frear was one of the backers.

CATS AND GARDENS.

Lucy E. Keeler in the Atlantic: Cats dearly love a garden, and, though because of the birds I deprecate their presence, I can yet take aesthetic delight in the way pussy picks her path delicately among the growing plants. I caught a mother one day in the act of teaching four kittens the approved method of making a day couch, feline version doubtless of man's hemlock bed. Tabby, closely followed by the kittens, walked into the border of young, feathery cosmos, and with tail stiffly extended turned about until she had gathered in a considerable number of stalks. She was about to lie down thereupon when fate in the shape of a small apple thrown by a practiced hand drove the quintette forth. So far as cats are concerned, daytime cats, the gardener has it mostly her own way—"she makes the rain and the fine weather," as the French phrase neatly puts it.

PETITION MAY BE DEFICIENT

Many Signers of Application for Referendum Are Disqualified.

City Clerk Has Checked Over About Half of the List.

Doubt exists as to whether or not the petition asking a referendum of the Hicken liquor code will be found to contain the required 1,029 names of qualified voters.

"It will be very close," said City Clerk Charles S. Palmer this morning, "and I question very much whether or not I shall be able to attach a certificate of sufficiency to the petition when I submit it to the city commission at its regular meeting next Monday afternoon."

Thus far the clerk states that a little better than half the names have been checked. Thus far he estimates that between 40 and 50 per cent of the signers can qualify. Up to noon he figured roughly that about 1,200 names had been checked and that of that number between 500 and 600 had been found which would pass. At that rate it will be a nip and tuck proposition if the requisite 1,029 names are found.

Under the charter the petition must contain the signatures of qualified voters equivalent to 10 per cent of the vote cast at the last city election. At the last election the official figures show that 10,286 votes were cast, necessitating 1,029 qualified voters on the petition in question.

Ten Days for Amendment.

Should the clerk certify that the petition is insufficient the charter allows the petitioners ten days in which to amend it. In that time the deficiency may be made up, should it be found that one exists.

The charter specifies that the clerk shall ascertain from the voter's register whether or not the petition is signed by the requisite number of qualified voters. In addition to using the register of the last municipal election the clerk is also referring to the register of the presidential election of last fall to aid him in checking the names. Any name which fails to appear in either of them is not considered that of a qualified voter.

City Clerk Palmer states that his examinations of the petition has shown that bunches of signatures were obtained in boarding houses and hotels. He explains that they may be qualified voters but that he has no means other than the election registers, as provided by the charter, to determine whether they are or not. The hotels and boarding houses contain what is known as a floating population and it is not improbable that many of the signers of the petition have never voted in this city. Since he started checking the petition the clerk has found numerous groups where but a very small percentage of the signers' names appear in either register.

CLARK ASKS ACTION ON HIS RESOLUTION

Wants Senate to Order Probe in Mexico Right Away.

Washington, Aug. 7.—Further demand for passage of his resolution for investigation of Mexican conditions by the foreign relations committee was made today by Senator Clark of Wyoming. Chairman Bacon asked that the resolution be referred to his committee before being acted upon, but Senator Clark objected.

Senator Bacon said that conditions in Mexico and relations between the two countries were such that no hasty action should be taken by the senate.

ONE THING HE DID KNOW.

Los Angeles Times: Lord Dufferin, says the Toronto Mail and Empire, delivered before the Greek class of McGill university an address about which a reporter wrote:

His lordship spoke to the class in the purest Greek, without mispronouncing a word or making the slightest grammatical solecism.

"Good heaven," remarked Sir Hector Langevin to the late Sir John A. MacDonald, "how did the reporter know that?"

"I told him," said the Conservative. "But you don't know any Greek."

"True, but I know a little about politics."

There are 180 known lepers in the United States, fifty-six of them in Pacific coast states.
